5 CENTS

COUNCIL OF 40 FORMED TO AID STUDENT NEEDS

Membership to be Composed of Leading Men in Campus Affairs

Believing that there exists a need for a centralized body of organized student opinion upon all matters directly affecting the life and interests of the university, an organization known as the Council of Forty, composed of the leaders of all substantial student activities, has been formed to fill that need. The body has been recognized by the student senate.

The idea for the society was conceived by several ex-service men who returned to the university in the fall and felt a change in the spirit of the school, evidenced by an over-emphasis of social affairs, "tea dancing," and a tendency not to stay and support the football team until the end of the games. The council will endeavor to maintain the Wisconsin spirit and to unite all student activities so that they will not work at cross purposes.

The nature of the work already planned may be seen in the stated purposes of some of the committees. The athletic committee will "assist the university in securing the registration of desirable athletes; secure work for needy athletes; keep in touch with the eligibility of men in university athletics with a view to reducing the number of men ineligible for scholastic reasons; and assume charge of whatever projects may be undertaken for securing the complete and wholesome support by the men and women of the university for Wisconsin athletics."

The hazing and traditions committee will "aid the student senate in the popularization and enforcement of student traditions."

The economy committee, a special committee, will "determine by statistics, charts, and general information, the trend of the cost of obtaining an education at the University of Wisconsin, with and without certain objectionable features of our present day college life."

The membership of the council will consist of the men student leaders of the chief student activities, the presidents of societies, the

COMMERCE MEN TO HEAR ENGLISH AUDITING EXPERT

Francis R. Roberts, western manager of the American Audit company and one of the ablest men of his profession, will address the Commerce vocational conference at 4:30 Thursday in the Physic-Economics building. Mr. Roberts is an English accountant and received the thorough and expert training that men of his profession are required to have in that country.

Since coming to the United States, he has made a name for himself because of his remarkable tact and foresight in keeping disputes out of court. He is a natural diplomat and uses his personality to bring about an amicable settlement between parties in dispute over accounting problems. "He is a great enemy of lawyers," one of his friends has said of him. He hates to see people fighting in court about questions that can be settled outside of court with much better justice to all.

"Medical School Can Hardly Live Without State Hospital" --Bardeen

"Unless we have a general state hospital of the kind proposed by this bill, I do not see how the Medical school can go on," said Dean C. R. Bardeen, of the Medical school, in speaking before a committee of the whole of both houses of the Wisconsin legislature last night. The lawmakers had under consideration a bill by Senator Pullen to establish in Madison a general state hospital similar to those now in operation at surrounding state universities for the care of sick children.

Dr. Bardeen further pointed out that under present crowded conditions "young men and women of necessity leave here to complete their medical education elsewhere to the detriment of the state, in view of the fact that too few of them return when they have attained their degrees." That Wisconsin urgently needs such a hospital, and that Madison, in the center of scientific research, is the place to build it was the opinion of the many noted medical authorities who spoke in favor of the bill. President E. A. Birge made a few introductory remarks in showing how immediate establishment would place Wisconsin one year ahead.

Dr. W. R. Boyd, of the Iowa Board of Education, read a statement of Iowa's accomplishment since the hospital was established there in connection with the medical school. He showed how his state was thoroughly committed to the work and how it had been a prime factor in lessening the infant mortality in that state. The expected opposition to placing the hospital in Madison and giving it rather to Milwaukee failed to materialize. In fact a number of the Cream City's leading medical men, including Col. Gilbert Seaman, of the Board of Regents; Dr. Louis Germain, dean of the Marquette Medical school, and Dr. Geo. B. I. Brown, noted specialist, strongly urged putting the hospital close to the university.

The further fact that not a single speaker appeared in opposition to the bill gives every indication that it will pass almost unanimously.

If Mr. Goth Can Re- turn All These He's a Wonder

What did you lose on the university tennis courts? Those who have lost articles are advised to call F. W. Goth at the Service station to reclaim their property. Moral: Read Cardinal Ads.

"I lost my good 'rep,'" complains the dark gentleman with the sylph-like figure. "I went out too often, and now they call me a tennis-hound."

"My one and only heart got mislaid on the courts," mourns another. "She was a physical ed., and I couldn't take even a gentle interest in her till she beat me a love set of all love games. Then it was all over with me."

"I lost my—well, you know," says the girl who wears half-hose. "And I nearly lost my sock, and I certainly lost my poise and composure for good. I lost interest in tennis, too."

"I'd been saving my milk-white skin for many a day by wearing a big hat," puts in our pet blonde baby-vann, "and I went out and played in the sun one day. Well, I lost the set, and I lost the man I played with—and I'd been stringing him along for a month—and I lost all the skin off my nose. All I got out of it was the worst coat of sunburn I ever experienced. If Mr. Goth can give me back all I lost, he'll be doing well."

CADET SOCIETY ELECTS 8 OFFICERS

Scabbard and Blade announces the election of the following officers on the cadet corps:

R. Sorenson, W. Thiel, L. A. Carlson, G. E. Wood, L. P. Warner, D. M. Russell, F. W. Nolte, W. Brill.

Ten alumni assisted the active members in an all night initiation which was held at Picnic Point.

INTER-FRATERNITY BASEBALL

The results of yesterday's inter-fraternity baseball games were as follows:

Phi Gamma Delta 4, Delta Tau Delta 3.

Phi Kappa Sigma 7, Kappa Sigma 6.

Phi Delta Phi 5, Theta Delta Chi 3.

Alpha Sigma Phi 7, Phi Kappa Psi 2.

Delta Kappa Epsilon 9, Phi Delta 0 (forfeit).

"BARB" GROUP MAY ASK VOTE ON FRAT ISSUE

250 Attend Meet Called by Groves; Committee to Shape Policy

The issue of abolition of fraternities and sororities at Wisconsin may be carried to a general student plebiscite if suggestions made and action taken at the massmeeting called by the Order of the Barb and attended by 250 persons in 165 Main hall yesterday afternoon get the approval of the campus.

All shades of opinion, radical, temporizing and conservative, were voiced in a discussion session that lasted an hour and a half.

Elsie Gluck Vote

The only action finally taken was to empower Harold Groves, publicity director for the Order of the Bars, who acted as chairman, to appoint a committee of seven that will draw up a program of procedure to be submitted at a second Barb meeting. It is likely that this program will incorporate the suggestion of Elsie Gluck for a general student referendum on the fraternity issue.

An amendment proposed by I. Arnold Perstein providing that fraternity men as well as non-fraternity men representing different shades of opinion be included on the committee was defeated, by a vote that resulted in the only close divisor of majority and minority of the 250 present. A few members of Greek letter organizations who attended the meeting did not vote, under a ruling of the chair, which the gathering sustained.

Explains Barb Activities

Groves in opening the meeting said its purpose was to get a tangible expression of majority opinion on the fraternity situation. The Order of the Barb had existed sporadically on the campus for a score of years, he asserted. In its present phase it was organized just prior to the last student election. Subsequent to the election the order investigated a report to the effect that the fraternity question would come up in the next legislature, and substantiated this information. Interviews with legislators and other state officials revealed a desire on the part of some for indication as to how students lined up on the issue, and to this end the massmeeting was convened.

"I think we have a cause for action in asking abolition of fraternities," declared the chairman, in throwing the meeting open to general discussion. "As long as we have groups organized as they are now, a genuine Wisconsin spirit is impossible."

Explains Frats Boost Spirit

Lawrence Murphy challenged the statement that there was lack of a live spirit at Wisconsin, saying that fraternities by generally boosting activities had materially helped maintain the existence of spirit.

"Alumni discriminate against non-fraternity graduates," declared C. A. Hollatz. "In fraternities a man has the idea drummed into him that he must belong to a fraternity in order to amount to anything, and he comes to judge men not by what they are, but by the pin they wear."

Indorses "Secessers"

Elsie Gluck charged Greek letter organizations had created a caste system which absorbed the attention of students in a manner that was "neither cultural nor edifying." She indorsed the move of 17

SONG WITHOUT WORDS
(Warm weather version)

Speaking of warm weather, what was our great surprise yesterday but to see Reg Garstang spring off the wall next to Singers' onto State street, clad in the original "Blossoms of Spring" costume. "Aha," we thinks, "Carl Russell Fish outdone. C. R. F. doesn't dance."

LAST night we was awakened from a sound slumber to be told that the Badger would be out in a few days. If it is only three weeks late it will still finish several laps ahead of Who's Who, which is now a month behind publication date.

Dear Ed:

For the want of a ten of hearts a hand was lost; for the want of that hand my money was lost; for the want of that date my girl was lost, and all for the loss of—Oh, honest, that's bunk. But what we started to say, haven't you noticed how weary-eyed Deirdre and her sisters are getting? Have a heart, men! Lay off them serenades, and let the gypsies catch up with their more or less beauty sleep.

MOONSHINE.

YOU'LL excuse us for mentioning it, but we couldn't help noticing that down at Iowa City, in the women's tennis tournament, three contestants will be Wava Smith, Bertha Shore, and Dorothy Barefoot.

Co-eds Fear Mere Men May "Shy" at Senior Swingout

Fearing that men may be bashful about attending the senior swing-out Friday night, June 4, junior women in charge of the event yesterday issued a blanket invitation to all male students to be present, pointing out that the affair is by no means to be limited to co-eds, and that there will be much in the program that the men will enjoy.

Announcement of elections to Mortar Board, the senior women's honorary organization, will be made, according to custom at the swing-out ceremonies. Elections are based upon the triple qualifications of scholarship, service, and womanliness.

"Bun and Blade, a university overseas organization, will take part in the Decoration Day parade."

Several new features have been introduced and a different line of march will be followed. The university band will provide music for the procession, and for the program of dances, which will be given under direction of Eleanor Riley.

Forming at either side of the campus near North and South halls, the procession will march down the upper campus and back up the center. The senior women in caps and gowns will be followed by the juniors carrying the daisy chain and the sophomore and freshman women dressed in white.

The program this year will be limited to dancing and pageant numbers because of the difficulty of putting on a program of speaking parts. After the pageant the company will adjourn to Muir Knoll, where songs will be sung.

The women of the university are co-operating whole-heartedly to make the swingout a decided success. Many houses have made arrangements to change the dinner hour to avoid a conflict with the early hour, 6:15 p. m., which has been set for the ceremony.

YELLOW TASSEL

There will be an important meeting of Yellow Tassel Friday, 12:45, Concert room, Lathrop. Plans for Swingout will be discussed and rehearsed, and every junior girl is urged to be there.

EPISCOPAL SOCIETY MEETS LAST TIME

The last meeting of the year of the St. Francis society of the Episcopal church will be held tonight at 7 o'clock in the green room of the Y. M. C. A. This is to be an important meeting, as matters of policy for the next year will be taken up. There will be talks by both the Rev. Mr. Lumpkin of Grace church and the Rev. Mr. Kimball of St. Andrew's church. Whitney Seymour will also outline the plans for the new university chapel. Any Episcopal students not members of the society will be welcomed at this meeting as things of general interest to the entire Episcopal student body will be taken up.

PUBLICATIONS OF CAMPUS TO BOOST RATES

Editors and Business Managers Favor Standard Sizes

University publications are combining to maintain the high financial standard that Wisconsin has had during the past year in spite of high prices and increased rates, if the plans made at a meeting of the business managers and editors of the various magazines materialize. All other schools in the United States have either suspended issuing or limited the number of copies because of the rise in rates of printing. Wisconsin is one of the few schools whose publications have remained unchanged in size, price, and number.

It was decided that the subscription rates for all publications on the campus will have to be raised next year. The feasibility of changing the size of the Engineering Magazine, the Country Magazine, and the Commerce Magazine to conform to the size of the Octopus was discussed. It was pointed out that the regulation size throughout the country was that of the Octopus, and the changes would aid materially in getting national advertising. The meeting also discussed the question of these publications using the same paper stock, and printing in the same building. If this were done, the cost of production would be greatly lessened.

All publications are faced with increased printing rates next year. The senate took up the question of promiscuous advertising around the campus, such as programs and handbills. The publications committee will investigate the number of such promiscuous programs and determine which are really needed. All others will be excluded. The policy of every magazine is to aid the merchants and other advertisers.

It has been suggested by several sources that all magazines combine in one departmental magazine. This plan has been tried but with only meagre success. It was found that each magazine served a different field that could not be served by one publication.

The next meeting of the editors and business managers will be held in the Union building Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

AT THE GRAND

A masterpiece of comedy has been revived. "Tillie's Punctured Romance", Mack Sennett's first big super-comedy, will be shown at the Grand for the rest of the week, starting today.

Marie Dressler plays opposite Charlie Chaplin and the two constitute a rare team of fun makers. Chaplin outdoes Chaplin—that's all there is to it! His marvelous right-footed skidhighway or parlor floor is just as funny in the last reel as it is in the first. Chaplin's serious face is seldom crossed by a smile. With perfect confidence he leaves laughter to others—and well he may.

Marie Dressler, the famous woman of the legitimate comedy stage, suffers not a whit by comparison. She breaks into the story at the first jump and is in the scene with Charlie every minute. She is inimitable. Trouble follows in her ample wake. If at any moment there seems an insufficiency of disturbance she beats a strategic retreat and takes a fresh stranglehold on everything and on everybody and starts something new. It is inexplicable that these boneless, but never spineless, players live to play another day.

Mabel Normand is the third principal in the large cast. She has the role of the unsuccessful rival for Charlie's hand; that is, she is unsuccessful for a short but exceedingly lively period. "Tillie's Punctured Romance" is a side-splitting comedy with a million laughs—an appeal for every man, woman and child.

HOLCOMBE TO HEAD PRODUCTION STAFF FOR SENIOR PLAY

The entire production staff for "The Jesters" has been completed and the members are already planning for the event of June 21 and 22. Ray Holcombe, production manager of the senior play last year, has again been selected for that position. "Bozz" Whitney will act as stage manager with Lee Bacon, Bonnie Hawthorne, and Mary Black in charge of stage setting and costumes. Dorothy Dennett has been chosen to manage all music in connection with the play and Frank McAdams, electrical engineer, has promised to secure the best lighting effects that electricity can produce.

The business end of the performance will be handled by Henry Metz and Wayne Morse, assistant manager; and Baron De Hirsh Meyer will be publicity manager.

Miss G. E. Johnson of the public speaking department and coach of various plays given in the past by classes and university organizations will also coach "The Jesters." Ray Holcombs will act as her assistant.

This list may be modified from time to time. In addition to this list there will be "not over 12 men selected to membership each year from among those students of the university who are potential forces for the best interests of the school but who do not for the present hold any of the above positions."

$50 GIFT TO WRITER OF BEST LIT STORY

That the best story of the year would be published in the June Lit, a statement which happened in The Cardinal yesterday, is slightly erroneous.

Perhaps the Lit has already published the best story of the year. There lies the interest. What, in the opinion of the faculty committee, is the best Lit story will be announced before the June Lit goes on sale. The winner will receive a $50 prize given by Prof. O. J. Campbell.

In the next issue of the Lit will appear the Vilas prize essay, which was written by a member of the staff. The winner of the second prize is likewise a member of the Lit staff. These names will be made public before the appearance of the June Lit.

THE SPECIAL SESSION—AN OPPORTUNITY

A VERY student program, however, busy, ought to allow for attendance at one of the meetings of the Wisconsin legislature now convened in an extraordinary session.

The coming week will see the university given a decided impetus in its advancement or witness the placing of insurmountable barriers. Bills which seek to advance funds for needed improvements, higher salaries, a four-year medical course and a state hospital are listed for consideration.

There will obviously be considerable opposition. Some legislators seem to want retrenchment and economy even if it has to be done at the expense of state-wide education. The recent findings of the Russell Sage Foundation about education in this state show the fallacy of such a move. The question properly is, how can this false economy opposition be overcome?

Active campaigning on the part of the student body furnishes the best answer. The men who compose the supreme law-making body of the state represent students. They are our neighbors throughout the commonwealth; they want information on these matters and no one is better equipped to give it than we who know the situation.

Those whose votes will be registered against university appropriations will say that their constituents wanted them to vote the way they did. If your legislator comes in that category, be a party to disillusioning him before it is to late. At any rate find out how he stands.

Still another advantage that can come to students attending the sessions is a training in the fundamentals of governmental procedure. To be in the midst of the machinery of government and fail to perceive of its workings is indeed unfortunate. It has been a long time since students have had such an ideal opportunity to be of real service to their state, their Alma Mater, and themselves. Get posted on legislative sessions.

CAP NIGHT AND TRADITIONS

TOMORROW night is the big time for the yearlings.

Hundreds of the green caps which have enhanced the beauty of the campus landscape for weeks will be consigned to flames in due and ancient form.

In past years cap night has occupied a place in the life of a freshman unequaled by any other in his tempestuous but romantic career. It meant deliverance from a long reign of terror instigated by ruthless sophomores. It meant a return to the "piping times of peace" after a period of unrelenting class war fare. Little wonder that cap night came to be celebrated with wild and frenzied joy.

But what of cap night in this good year of grace 1920? Will it have the same significance that it had in the past?

This year the occasion comes at the close of a spring season devoid of hazing—a situation almost unprecedented in the history of the university. The placid waters of Mendota have not been disturbed this spring by ducking except a few authorized by the student senate. Bubblers along State street have not served as seats for '23 men. Even the cry of "button frosh!" soon died off the hill.

There is no doubt that the campaign against promiscuous hazing has been effective up to date. But what has been the price of the victory? Lax enforcement of traditions has been one result. A decided slump in school spirit has been another result. The machinery set up by the senate to enforce traditions was not called into action sufficiently to handle any but the smallest part of the violations.

Has it come to such a pass that traditions must go along with the passing of promiscuous hazing? The experiment so far this spring certainly has not shown that traditions can be upheld effectively by the present substitute for wholesale lake parties.

If traditions are to live it seems that some "kick" should be put into the enforcement machinery. A return to the old days of rough and tumble hazing and indiscriminate duckings is impossible. But some effective but harmless substitute to keep traditions alive is in order.

The BULLETIN BOARD

OUTING CLUB

The last meeting of Outing club will be held Thursday at 7:15 p. m., in the concert room at Lathrop. This will be the last time this year that pins will be awarded, and those who have the necessary points are urged to report to Louise Fritsche as soon as possible before the meeting.

AIRMEN'S DINNER

The Agriculture Literary society will hold its regular meeting Friday night, 7:30, in Agriculture hall.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

The Mathematics club will elect officers for the coming year at a meeting which will be held in 209 North hall at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

HESPERIA

No meeting will be held on Friday evening because of freshman cap night. The statement yesterday that a meeting would be held was a mistake.

The last meeting of the semester will be held Friday, June 4, and all members are requested to be present at that time as there is much important business to transact.

METHODIST OUTING

Methodist students and their friends will have a boat ride to Waubesa beach Saturday afternoon, May 29. Tickets for the trip and picnic supper are $1. Phone reservations to B. 2825, or call at Wesley hall. The party will assemble at the church at 1:45 p. m. The boat will leave the Wirkra pier at 2:30 p. m. The return trip will be made about 7:30 p. m.

OFFICERS' SMOKER

Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, will entertain the officers of the cadet corps at a smoker this evening at 614 Langdon street. All officers of the corps are requested to be present.

AMERICAN LEGION

The university post of the American Legion will hold a short snappy meeting at 6:30 tonight, Engineering building. Important business. Everybody out. Application blanks for membership can be had in 151 University hall.

"AG" WOMEN MEET

The Agricultural Women's association will hold a regular meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in Lathrop. There will be an election of officers.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Inter-fraternity council will meet tonight at 7:30 at the A. T. O. house.

RED ARROW PARTY

Red Arrow men who are going to the Orph tonight will meet on lower campus at 8:15. Band men are to meet in front of Music hall at 7:50 sharp. Tickets will be taken off sale at Hinkson's and Morgan's at 10:00 o'clock this morning. A limited number will be available on the campus tonight.

KEYSTONE MEETING

There will be a meeting of Keystone at 12:45 this noon in the S. G. A. room at Lathrop hall. All old and new presidents are requested to be present.

ST. FRANCIS SOCIETY

There will be a meeting of the St. Francis society, Episcopal students, at 7:00 p. m. in the green room, city Y. M. C. A., tonight.

BLUE DRAGON PICNIC

Blue Dragon will hold its picnic at Monona park this afternoon. Cars will leave the front of Lathrop hall at 4:30 and 5:30 this afternoon. Those who find it impossible to leave at that time can leave at any time they wish. There will be a short business meeting on the program. The admission is to be 35c.

Seniors! haven't you felt—That strange sinking sensation in your starched shirt (or shirtwaist) at the thought of leaving the ol' school for good

Most of the time you are glad to get through, but now and then you do sorta hate to think of passing up the fun you've had these four gay years.

And you don't have to! The Octopus editors claim to have discovered a way to take all the fun with you. They give you three guesses. Right the first time! Subscribe to the Octopus for next year.

All the seniors will be personally canvassed during the next few days, and if you aren't a senior, but just aren't coming back—just let the Octopus office know it, that's all. You will receive scintillating communications and satirical agents every now and then just to let you know that the Octopus will be in existence next year.

Sometime soon you will have the opportunity of a lifetime, when a blank is shoved in front of you and you are allowed to sign the dotted line, and guarantee yourself a year of giggles and guffaws.

MEN AND WOMEN TO CLASH IN BASEBALL AT PRESS PICNIC

A baseball game between men and women journalists will be one of the attractions at the Press club picnic to be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Monona park.

Teams are being prepared under the management of "Mac" MacGinnis and "Dick" Loewenthal. Though the lineups are not yet complete, the game promises to be a live one.

The picnic party will assemble at the library steps at 4:45 p. m. and will take the South Madison car to the park. Supper will be served at about 6, after which there will be dancing in the park pavilion.

Fifty cents will be collected from each person at the picnic. All journalists are invited.

to Hear Numbers Before
Semi-Finals

As the Music Memory contest is drawing to a close, the community music class is now bending its efforts for a thorough review of the 28 selections which have been presented daily. Members of the class are personally taking charge of the review programs which are to be held as listed below.

Those who have been unable to hear the entire 28 numbers, as well as those who have closely followed the papers in this connection, will be given a last opportunity to acquaint themselves with the music before the semi-final contests which will be held next Wednesday and Thursday. These review concerts are study periods of selections which are still unknown or hazy in the memory of those who wish to contest. They are open to the public. The place, time, and person in charge are listed below:

Madison High school, Thursday, 10:00 a. m., Professor Dykema.
Rotary club, Thursday noon, Miss Chandler.
Hawthorne school, Thursday, 1:00 p. m., Miss Turner.

YELLOW TASSEL TO DISCUSS SENIOR SWINGOUT PLANS

First Event of Commencement in Hands of Junior
Women

Plans for Senior Swingout, to be held June 4, will be discussed and rehearsed in detail at a meeting of Yellow Tassel, Friday at 12:45 in Lathrop concert room. It is important that every junior girl be present at this meeting, because there are several matters to be discussed which must have the sanction of the whole organization.

The Senior Swingout is the first of the commencement exercises and the first time that the senior women assemble in cap and gown to participate in the closing ceremonies of their college career. The affair is managed exclusively by the women of the junior class, and the success of this year's program depends upon the co-operation of the members of Yellow Tassel.

Swingout is an all-university function which has grown to be one of the traditions of the university. Hitherto the men have not been extended a special invitation to attend, but this year the junior girls are asking the men of the university to feel welcome at the ceremonies which will take place on the upper campus on the evening of June 4.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN
MABEL NORMAND
and MACK SENNETT

WERE MADE FAMOUS BY THIS
RIOTOUS COMEDY

Some six years ago Miss MARIE DRESSLER contracted to appear in a BIG SIX PART SPECIAL COMEDY for which, if it proved successful, she was to receive $140,000.00.

Charlie Chaplin, then unknown, and Mabel Normand were engaged to appear in supporting roles and MACK SENNETT was secured as director.

When the finished picture was screened it was recognized as a SCREEN TRIUMPH. Miss Dressler sought to retain the rights to the picture but the courts ruled that she must live up to her contract, accept the $140,000.00 and relinquish the film.

The work of CHAPLIN, the unknown, was so excruciating funny that he instantly became famous. HE WAS MADE. In fact it was CHAPLIN the unknown instead of MISS DRESSLER, the famous comedy star, who was featured wherever the picture was shown—and justly so.

SENIORS

Your committee on membership in the General Alumni association asks you to read the following statements carefully:

12. CONSERVATION

If you desire to realize to the full the value of your college days, you must take advantage of the natural means of keeping in touch with the associations which have made those days so valuable and so dear to you.

The monthly magazine affords you a means, at slight cost, no matter where you may be, of keeping in contact with your college world and friends.

Do not delay until you think you can afford it—the cost is slight and the years, once gone, never return.

13. HAS BEEN WORTH WHILE

There are few state universities in the country today that are profiting more on account of the activities of their organized alumni.

14. THE FUTURE

Naturally you want to know what the future has in store—are there any big jobs which the association proposes to undertake?

15. THERE ARE

(1) The Memorial Union building and dormitories for men can be secured through co-operative effort.

(2) Regularly published directories of our graduates can be secured through co-operative effort.

(3) Increased power exercised by graduates in control of our university can be secured by co-operative effort.

(4) But more important than any of these specific things to be done, is the need of alumni organization for the sake of the help needed by the university in the days of reconstruction.

No. 5 of a Series of Articles.

Speed the day when every man and woman who ever attended the university is enrolled as a member of the General Alumni association. It is one very practical way of showing your faith in the university and your desire to stand behind it.

N. B.—Seniors who join now will be credited with membership until July 1, 1921.

WEATHER

Highest temperature during the past 24 hours was 75 at 5 p. m. The lowest was 57 at 5 a. m. The sun will set at 7:25.

NOTICE TO BONUS STUDENTS

Bonus students whose applications for renewal of the bonus during summer session have been approved are requested to hold their approval cards until registration days for summer session, June 26 and 28, at which time the same procedure will be followed as at the opening of the second semester. Students will bring their received summer session fee cards (showing the subject elected) to Bonus headquarters, 151 University hall, together with their cards of approval from the State Board of Education. Approval cards for the academic year 1920-21 should be held until registration week of the first semester of next year.

GEORGE A. CHANDLER.

AT THE FULLER

New York is made glitteringly attractive even in the scenes portraying its wickedness in "On With the Dance," the picture at the Fuller theater this week. Seldom has a more colorful photoplay been offered screen lovers. In the brilliant scenes in Broadway cabarets, the luxurious apartments of the rich, and the myriad-lighted skyline of the great city, a dazzling spectacle has been filmed.

The story bring to the front the excellent dramatic talents of Mae Murray, the erstwhile dancer of the Follies and now a screen player of more than ordinary charm and ability and the suave and affable David Powell. The plot concerns a Russian immigrant girl, selfish and pleasure-loving, who, suddenly injected into the atmosphere of New York "high life," at first yields to the temptations of easy money that are offered her on every hand, but later in a big crisis redeems herself.

"On With the Dance" is described as the first personally produced picture bearing the name of George Fitzmaurice. It is a meritorious effort. The scenario, adapted from Michael Morton's stage play, was written by Ouida Bergere. It is a Paramount Arclight picture.

The Fuller management has booked for next Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday a most unusual photoplay called "The Great Air Robbery" in which Lieut. Locklear, the daredevil of the skies is featured. It is a drama staged in the clouds in which you see Locklear do all the stunts, such as jumping from plane to plane, for which he is famous.

UNIVERSITY FINANCE BILL IN HEARING

Assembly Adopts Measure Raising Minimum Wage of Supervisors

A plan to raise the additional funds needed to support the university and normal schools of the state by taxes on incomes instead of by mill taxes was presented in the upper house of the legislature Wednesday morning by Sen. H. J. Severson of Waupaca county.

At the present time the university is supported by a three-eighths mill tax which falls on the general property of the state, and the normal schools are supported by a one-sixth mill tax. Gov. Philipp has recommended an increase of these mill taxes in order to finance these institutions. Sen. Severson has offered a bill which provides no increases in mill taxes but provides for a levy on the incomes of the state sufficient to raise the same amount as would be raised if Gov. Philipp's mill tax plan were adopted. The rates in the Severson bill are the same as those which appeared in the soldier educational bonus law which raised upwards of $1,500,000.

Sen. Olson has offered a bill to further help in the solution of the university financial problem by providing that the $1,000,000 excess now in the soldiers' cash bonus law fund shall be used for the erection of the state hospital asked for by university authorities. Because the money is to be taken from the soldiers' bonus fund, the Olson bill provides that the institution shall be known as the Wisconsin Soldiers' Memorial hospital.

The bill provides that the money raised by surtaxes seven-tenths shall go to the support of the university and three-tenths shall go to the support of the normal schools.

The senate session Wednesday morning was brief and an adjournment was taken until 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to permit the finance committee to consider appropriation measures.

Memorials were adopted by the lower house on the death of Hugo Jeske, Milwaukee, and John B. Heim, Madison. The assembly adopted a resolution providing for a joint hearing Wednesday evening on the university hospital bill. Dr. Victor Vaughn of Ann Arbor and W. R. Boyd, Iowa City, will address the meeting, explaining how such a measure has worked in Michigan and Iowa.

So far as passing of bills little progress will be made in the Wisconsin legislature Wednesday. The day will be devoted to hearings on important propositions advanced by the governor with the prospect of getting down to passing legislation some time Thursday.

The joint finance committee Wednesday morning started the consideration of the university finance bill. Ray J. Nye of Superior has introduced the bills for increasing the mill tax for the normal schools and university. The increase of mill taxes at the university will amount to approximately $1,200,000 annually and the increase of mill taxes for normal schools will amount to $670,000 annually. These two bills will be considered today. Consideration will also be given to the bill appropriating $90,000 for the erection of a wing to the chemistry building at the state university.

Wednesday afternoon the legislature is expected to take up Senator Jennings' bill for regulation of rents. This bill will be heard by the senate committee on public welfare. The corresponding assembly committee of the house will meet with the senate committee. A delegation of Milwaukee real estate men arrived in Madison at noon to present arguments in opposition to the measure.

Plans are being made for holding a hearing in the assembly chamber

STAGE IS NOT HARMFUL TO MORALS, SAYS PROMINENT AMERICAN ACTRESS

Mary Nash.

The general impression that the stage is harmful to morals is all wrong, according to Mary Nash, the American actress who is now making a hit in London in the American play, "The Man Who Came Back." "An actress must succeed by hard work," says Miss Nash, "but to do so she must be healthy mentally, morally and physically. It is positively amusing to think of such a thing as loose living in connection with most of the successful actresses I know. They are more like Sunday school women."

Tim Burke Says Anti-Fraternity Legislation Will Be Defeated

GATHERING public sentiment on the question of abolishing fraternities at the University of Wisconsin, is continued today by The Capital Times, by interviews with a number of senators and assemblymen. They follow:

Charles Zarnke, Wausau—I have heard some opposition to the fraternities, but a good deal more about hazing, and throwing students into the lake. I can tell you there is strong opposition to this business. Nobody objects to a little innocent sport. If the fraternities are nothing more or less than societies to make friendship, nobody objects to them, but I think they are apt to set a pace which a good many of the poorer students can't afford to keep up with, and if they foster a sentiment for hazing they ought to be abolished or reformed.

George Ansorge, Oconto—I haven't given this matter consideration and am not well enough informed to give an opinion about it at this time and so far as I know there is no sentiment one way or the other in my district.

L. L. Pierron, Belgium—I judge they have been overdoing it in forming fraternities here and in their way of conducting them. I have seen discussions in the papers, but have heard no talk in my district about it.

Timothy Burke, Green Bay—I have had a letter from one of my constituents about this matter, a paper manufacturer. He writes that he thinks this is something that should not be regulated by the legislature, but by the students themselves and by the college authorities, and I agree with him. I was in the legislature in 1913 when Douglas Anderson brought this matter up. It was defeated then and would be again. If these fraternities are doing harm there is a remedy without abolishing. There are extremists always out for abolishing something and seeing dangers where none really exist. A lot of people were much afraid of Halley's comet in 1910, but it didn't hurt anybody.

L. A. Fons, Milwaukee—These little organizations have their place in college life. They build up friendships. We all join fraternities if we are in business, or in professional life or in politics and we find them helpful in making acquaintances and friends. I would encourage and help the college fraternities rather than interfere with them. I have a boy at college. He joined a fraternity and I am glad he did. I see no harm in them.

Wednesday night to be addressed by Dr. Victor Vaughn of Ann Arbor, and W. R. Boyd, Iowa, who favored establishment of a hospital at the state university. Senator Olson of Iowa county has drawn a bill providing that the $1,000,000 cash balance in the soldier cash bonus law fund shall be used for the erection of a memorial hospital at the state university instead of levying upon the people for this hospital.

BARB GROUP MAY ASK REFERENDUM

sorority women in resigning from their organizations two years ago.

Margaret Craighill asserted that Greek chapter interests were put ahead of interests of the university when the two were in conflict. She said effective Barb organization to overcome fraternity political activity was impossible because of lack of common interest among the Bars.

Fears Strict Rules

Irwin Meier said he feared that supplanting fraternities with university-controlled dormitories would result in taking away student freedom and in imposition of harsh dormitory administrative rules. He proposed more non-fraternity representation on Union board as a remedy for alleged social discriminations.

"If dormitories come, they must be run, owned and regulated by the students," declared Fred Guerner, who said the only reason Bars did not get their share of political plums in campus elections was that their campaigns were not conducted effectively. He offered to manage the campaign of any good Barb on whom the non-fraternity element would unite, on a sound platform, for senior president next year, and guaranteed success in the election.

Alumnus Gives Talk

Q. L. Jones, Law '13, who was a leader in the abolitionist movement in 1913, charged that on principle, executive social organizations existing in a public-supported institution was an anomaly.

"The farmers and merchants out in the state are paying taxes to support this university, and here we have the fraternities and sororities setting up false standards of wealth and social exclusiveness," he declared. "That is the reason why Greek letter chapters were abolished at Kansas and Mississippi."

Charges Political "Jeb"

Sterling Tracy charged that the meeting was not representative of non-fraternity opinion, and that the Order of the Barb would be going out of legitimate bounds in purporting to represent any large majority abolitionist sentiment.

"I feel that fraternities are the nuclei about which Wisconsin spirit is built," he said. "To put fraternities on the blacklist and hold them up in disrepute before the state is not a movement in line with progress."

Would Delay Vote

To Tracy's charge that the Order of the Barb seemed to have gone to a state political faction to enlist its support in seeing fraternity abolition put into effect, Groves made an emphatic denial.

Theodore Handy expressed the belief that there would be hardly enough time before the end of the semester for student opinion to become sufficiently educated on all points of the problem to vote intelligently in any proposed referendum, but Elsie Gluck disagreed with him, holding that students had had adequate opportunity to make up their minds on the question.

Gives Fraternity Figures

A demand for information as to constituency of the student body resulted in figures from the deans' offices being submitted by Hugh Riordan, showing 1,169 fraternity men and 720 sorority women, or a total of 1,889 in a student body of 6,832.

Groves last night had not appointed the committee of seven that will suggest a program of further procedure for the Bars, but they will be named shortly.

U. W. PROFS. WILL TALK AT SCHOOLS

Members of the university faculty will speak at some 39 Wisconsin high school commencement exercises, to be held during the present week. They include: Profs. F. D. Crawshaw, J. C. Elsom, J. L. Gillin, S. W. Gilman, E. A. Gilmore, Dean S. H. Goodnight, Profs. A. P. Haake, M. V. Haertel, A. B. Hall, B. H. Hibard, Joseph Jastrow, Thomas Lloyd Jones, W. H. Kiekhoffer, H. L. Miller, J. M. O'Neill, M. C. Otto, D. S. Robinson, A. T. Weaver, George Wagner. Prof. Waldemar von Goeltz will give a violin recital at Baldwin.

MANY FACULTY CHANGES MADE BY REGENTS

Largest Number of Shifts Occur in College of Agriculture

The following changes in the faculty and instructional staff of the university were acted upon by the Board of Regents Wednesday afternoon:

In the College of Agriculture: John S. Donald was appointed specialist in agricultural extension with the rank of assistant professor; Erwin M. Tiffany was appointed assistant professor of agricultural education; E. A. Stodyk, instructor in agricultural extension and assistant state leader of boys' and girls' club work; Miss Doris F. Lake and Mrs. Edna Sherman, instructors in home economics; W. W. Clark, agricultural representative in Portage county; E. M. Nelson, instructor in agricultural chemistry; L. A. Kauffman, instructor in animal husbandry; Henry Keller, assistant in agricultural economics; E. C. Sherwood, A. J. Riker, and L. K. Jones, assistants in plant pathology; A. E. Koehler, Samuel Lepkovsky, and C. A. Hoppert, assistants in agricultural chemistry. The following resignations were accepted: Miss Esther L. Ord, and Mabel J. McMurray, instructors in home economic; P. W. Boutwell, assistant professor of agricultural chemistry; and P. O. Nyhus, agricultural representative in Waupaca county.

In the College of Engineering, the resignation of Prof. J. G. Calnan, of steam and gas engineering; fellowships were granted to Julian D. Conover, mining engineering; and Delmar W. Nelson, mechanical engineering.

In the Extension division, H. E. Pulver was appointed assistant professor of civil engineering; S. A. Marsh was promoted from instructor to assistant professor of business administration; J. G. Bennett, instructor in civil engineering; W. J. Fuller assistant professor of civil engineering - 666TAAA civil engineering, was granted leave of absence for the year, 1920-'21.

In the College of Letters and Science, the resignation of Prof. F. D. Crawshaw, chairman of the manual arts department, was accepted.

In the Library, Miss Catherine Higgins and Miss Mildred Devine were appointed library assistants, in place of Miss Sarah Miner and Miss Rose Hardloff.

In the Medicinal school, Theodore N. Bast was appointed assistant professor of anatomy; Dr. H. Kent Tenny, instructor in clinical medicine; Chauncey D. Leake and Miss Ethel Ronzone, instructors in physiology; Michael Kasak, clinical assistant; Miss Frances U. Kupperman, and Warner S. Bump, assistants in physiology.

Pedro A. Casus was granted a South American scholarship for the year, 1920-21.

SURPRISES AWAIT SPECTATORS AT DOLPHIN MEET

The apex in accomplishment in dolphining will be perpetrated tonight at a final aquatic exhibition of the Dolphin club. Each of six groups will give a surprise stunt, and the evening will culminate in one large novel splurge executed by the entire organization.

The events of the evening are veiled in deep, dark mystery disguised as a bathing suit. The mystery refuses to disclose any item of news value, and on being questioned the only answer were the following words, uttered in the most sepulchral of tones, but which, nevertheless convey some meaning when correctly associated: "Fancy diving — Dixie Davis, Grace Gleerup, Mabel Winters, Olga Anderson, Betty Waterman, Eleanor Graves, and Evelyn Voss."

STATE ATLAS TO SHOW PIONEER SETTLEMENTS

Names of Original Families of Every Community to be Shown

To complete the history of Wisconsin in its earlier years, as well as its later periods, a plat-book or atlas of the state, showing the names of first settlers in each section, together with the lands they occupied as they are located upon the plats and other local history facts, is being projected by the Wisconsin Historical society under the direction of Dr. Joseph Schafer, superintendent.

This detailed pioneer history of the state will be obtained through the local agencies, such as historical societies, schools, and high schools, which will be asked to furnish data concerning every one of the original families of their community, through the efforts of a field secretary who will report on the survey of the county's early settlers, and through material gathered by the local workers and by the historical society, newspaper files, and other records.

A similar atlas of the period in Wisconsin history between 1865 and 1875 and another based on the atlas issued in 1915 will be embodied in the work eventually, it is planned, so that the shifting of population, the change in size of farms, the substitution of American settlers by settlers of foreign birth, may be determined. Separate monographs on the religious, industrial, agricultural, and educational history of the state may be incorporated in a text to accompany the atlases.

Relief maps of each county, indicating certain historical facts, a checklist of Wisconsin publications, and bibliography of publications will be included in the work, which it has been suggested to name "The Wisconsin Domesday Book."

BAPTIST FIELD MEET

The Baptist Young People, under the auspices of the Philatea and Mixer Bible classes, will hold a field meet at Vilas park, Saturday, May 29 at 2 p. m. There will be mass games and stunts. Lunch will be served on the lawn at the home of Mrs. John M. Linden, 1716 Hoyt street, at 6 o'clock. The mixer basketball boys will be guests of honor at this lunch.
