JEAN DAVIES, UNIVERSITY COED, explains some of the rigors of college life to a group of Fond du Lac high school students who toured the campus yesterday. The group of five students came to Madison with 200 of their classmates Wednesday to gain a partial acquaintance with the university.

The high schoolers spent the morning at the state capital watching the current legislature in action, visiting the governor's office, and touring the capitol building.

Later in the day the group moved to the campus where they inspected various buildings and the Union. Miss Davies was chairman of the committee which planned the tours.

Another group of 200 Fond du Lac students is scheduled to visit the university today.

Student Court To Hear Election Charges Today

By ALAN SELTZ

Four candidates in the recent student election will appear in student court this afternoon to answer charges brought by Frank Ornstein, elections chairman.

Richard Gillick and Don Bowman, candidates for Senior class president; and Phil Ash and Robert Schmid, candidates for MHA president and vice-president respectively, will face the court on charges of defacing campus property.

Pictures which Ornstein has in his possession will be used as evidence against the defendants.

Barr Says:

Europe Fears Economic Ruin

Western Europe fears an economic collapse rather than a Russian invasion this spring, Stringfellow Barr said at a press conference yesterday. Barr, noted author and educator, just returned from a trip to Europe.

Barr, author of "Let's Join the Human Race", a post-war pamphlet dealing with world economic and political problems, will speak at the Union theater tonight at 8 p. m.

The new president of the Foundation for World Government, Barr, declared that while West Europeans don't like Communism, "they believe you have to think about it, not just scream."

Barr said "if the president believes of his Asian policy what he says he does, his firing of General MacArthur was long overdue." He said the West Europeans were "scared to death of MacArthur" and

Student Groups Act To Sponsor Lerner

Young Dems Seek YGOP Help To Bring Speaker

By JERRY SCHECTER

Student plans to bring Max Lerner, noted author and journalist to campus, got underway yesterday after the refusal of the Kemper Knapp committee to finance Lerner's speech here on May 13 was made public.

John Flanagan, chairman of the university Young Democrats, last night asked the Young Republicans to join with his group in sponsoring Lerner's appearance on campus.

"This is not a partisan issue," said Flanagan. "The decision of the Knapp committee, in refusing to sponsor an appearance of Lerner, makes a mockery of academic freedom."

Karl Meyer, Athenaeon editor, said that he had raised $50 in pledges to finance Lerner's trip to Madison. Meyer said he would continue to pledge funds for a Lerner appearance here.

Jerry Churchill, acting chairman of the Union forum committee, said the group at its meeting this afternoon, would discuss the possibility of bringing Lerner to campus. Churchill is acting in place of Don Reich who is out of town.

John Searle, student board president, said board would "give moral and financial support to any reasonable plan to bring Lerner here."

Ben Rosenthal, chairman of the Young Republicans, said his group would discuss the joint sponsorship of Lerner with the Young Democrats.

'U' May Lose Proposed Lab

The university will lose a proposed $103,000 "M" vaccine laboratory under the provisions of an amending bill which received no opposition before the joint finance committee hearing Wednesday afternoon.

The supplementary bill, introduced by Sen. Melvin Olsen (R.-South Wayne) and Sen. Chester E. Dempsey (R.-Hartland), provides $100,000 to rent, lease, or commercially manufacture the vaccine.

The original bill, introduced earlier, would provide for a $103,000 laboratory on campus where the

Faculty To Vote On New Pact For Rose Bowl

Wisconsin's stand on the signing of a new Rose Bowl pact will be voted on at the regular faculty meeting Monday, May 7, it was learned yesterday afternoon.

Kenneth Little, university faculty representative to the conference committee, said yesterday that the question here "will probably be whether or not to allow the Big Ten to sign another Bowl contract." A suggestion of the Big Ten faculty group was to allow a school to travel to the Pasadena, Calif., classic once in two years, instead of once in three years, which was the provision of the agreement that ended Jan. 1.

The university athletic board met last night to discuss the matter. Athletic director Guy Sundt said the meeting was "to find out what the feeling of our group is on the matter."

The vote of the faculty will decide which way Little casts his ballot at the faculty representatives meeting, set for Chicago on May 25 and 26.

Thus far, only one school has announced a decision on the question. The University of Illinois faculty has voted to continue the Big Ten-PCC pact, but only if the Western Conference school goes to the game once in three years.

In an earlier meeting, Little was KOREA —(U.P.)— A NEW COMMUNIST DRIVE on the west front, 18 miles from Seoul, forced UN troops to withdraw to a straight defense line with Allied forces on the central front yesterday. The new eighth army commander, Lt.-Gen. James Van Fleet, threw his forces into a counter-attack on the central front, however, and stopped the enemy just short of Kapying.

Meanwhile, Allied planes flew more than one-thousand sorties for the third successive day, claiming some fifteen-hundred enemy casualties. Conservative Allied reports place Communist casualties at twenty-three thousand since the beginning of the Red counter-offensive. The air force says the low-level bombing and strafing attacks are "decimating" the Reds' front-line troops.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—SECRETARY OF STATE DEAN ACHESON revealed that the United States is sending arms to Formosa. He added that "The Chinese government will use the material to maintain its internal security of its legitimate self-defense."

Acheson said the first arms shipment, made in December, came as a result of the report of a United States military survey mission to Formosa. In January, the United States sent the Nationalists a note specifying that the aid was "for the defense" of Formosa, and the Chinese agreed to the conditions the following month.

Yesterday, deputy secretary of defense Robert Lovett said the policy of shipping arms to Chiang Kai-Shek's six-hundred thousand troops does not mean any change in the "neutralization" policy toward the island.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—PROPOSED CHANGES IN THE ECONOMIC CONTROL LAW will be submitted to congress by President Truman tomorrow, it was disclosed today. The recommendations will include a one-year freeze on farm parity prices to hold down food costs.

Economic stabilizer Eric Johnston told reporters that the freeze on parity will be geared to the various crop years. Johnston, in a ruling today, said that it will be perfectly legal to raise wages for some railroad workers. He approved a six-cent hourly pay increase for one-million non-operating railroad workers. This was the first exception to his rigid 10 per cent wage increase ceiling. The rail workers granted the increase hadn't had one in two years.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—THE DRAFT PERIOD WAS EXTENDED YESTERDAY from 21 to 24 months by a house-senate conference committee. The senate had previously agreed on a 24 month period, but the house had passed a draft bill calling for a 26 month term. Committee members reported privately that the conference was still dead-locked on the question of universal military training.

Marked Progress Reported in Latest University Manual

University Vice Pres. A. W. Peterson today reported "marked progress" in the compilation of the new manual being prepared by the National Committee on Preparation of Manual on College and University Business Administration.

Peterson, vice president of business and finance, is chairman of the executive committee of the National Committee.

The new two-volume manual will expand and bring to date the information in Financial Reports for Colleges and Universities, which was published in 1935 by the National Committee on Standard Reports for Institutions of Higher Education.

Peterson credits the 1935 publication with bringing uniformity into higher education financial reports required for institutional purposes and by governmental, accrediting and controlling agencies.

Accounting methods have improved and financial reports are more understandable as a result of the adoption of these principles, he said.

The revamping of the 1935 publication, he indicated, will be included in Volume I of the new manual, together with new chapters on organization, budgets, audits, and on distribution of indirect expenses.

Volume II, he said, will contain information on other phases of college and university business management not covered in the 1935 publication, which stressed accounting and financial reporting.

Harvard, Yale, Chicago, and Columbia are the universities participating in this program which is being sponsored by the Carnegie corporation.

Dr. Ihde will spend one-third of his time teaching, and the rest in study of the general education program at the school he is assigned to.

Knapp Decision: A Threat To 'U's Future

THE DECISION OF the Knapp committee in refusing funds for the sponsorship of a campus speech by Max Lerner smacks strongly of the sort of thing we're sure Kemper Knapp never intended.

In his $2,000,000 bequest to the university, Knapp said:

"I desire that a part of the income of such fund . . . be used to cultivate in the student body ideals of honesty, sincerity, earnestness, tolerance and social and political obligations."

This is the statement Knapp committee members claim guides their decisions on speakers. But, there has been no explanation by any committee member just how these provisions rule out Lerner.

THE COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN implied Lerner's rumored membership in the Communist party along with criticisms of visiting Knapp scholar Edward C. Kirkland's "academic freedom" speech earlier this semester had influenced the decision.

While other members of the committee have not agreed that it was Lerner's "liberalism" that was objected to, they could give no concrete reasons for the rejection. They merely pointed to Knapp's will as if it contained a clear prohibition against Max Lerner.

As one of this nation's intellectual leaders who has constantly provided a penetrating as well as an unhysterical criticism of Communism, Max Lerner is certainly worthy of Knapp fund sponsorship.

IT IS UNFORTUNATE that faculty members of the Knapp committee appear to have acted under direct pressure from some of their higher ups and from the hysterical minority who have lately come to insist on conformity of ideas.

The notion of not bringing controversial figures to the campus is in direct conflict with what we have always thought was the purpose of an educational institution. No speaker is "worth his salt" unless he is able to present something different from run-of-the-mill thought. It's intelligent ideas, not mere conformity, which must be encouraged.

The net result of incidents like this can only lead to a nibbling away at Wisconsin's reputation as a great institution for free thought.

IT IS NOW up to students, themselves, to raise the necessary funds to bring Lerner to the campus. And there must be further protest, as student board has put it, to any further "restrictions on academic freedom." members claim guides their decisions on the Knapp committee's decision be avoided.

A CHALLENGE TO JAMES B. QUINN

To the Cardinal:

One of the letters to the editors (April 11, 1951) written by a student, complained of subversive groups active in Prom promotions under its new system of advertising. This new system of advertising, the student, James B. Quinn, was referring to is the set-up of two committees, promotions and publicity, and an advertising co-ordinator to correlate ideas taken from both groups. This method is an experiment and quite successful, I might add.

Why subversive groups would wish to gain control of an affair like Prom — what advantage it would give them — is far beyond my comprehension.

Mr. Quinn professes to have made an "intensive study" of the entire matter. I met Mr. Quinn and I deeply regret that I made a Communistic impression on him. However, the day I spoke to Mr. Quinn I was wearing a red plaid shirt and it is highly possible that an association was made by him, and in the fervor of discovery, he made his findings known through the Cardinal.

He asks that the campus police department take immediate action to quell these subversive movements. I have it on the "inside" that Joe Hammersley wears red underwear in the winter, and for this fact, cordially invite Mr. Hammersley to become an honorary member of the promotions committee of the 1951 Junior Prom.

I would like to issue a challenge to James B. Quinn and at the same time express a desire that he accept. Please meet me with your argument prepared, at any time or place you specify; let us mutually select judges, and we shall have a verbal battle to prove our points.

And may I also state, Mr. Quinn, that if you win the decision, it will be my fond delight to give you a complimentary ticket to Prom in red ink. However, if you lose, the promotions and publicity committees would deem it a great pleasure to rapidly immerse you in the murky waters of Mendota. I await your call.

LET'S GET ON THE BALL

To the Cardinal:

Several weeks ago the Inter-Fraternity council had its annual elections. The candidates had interest and some ability but as far as being leaders in the fraternity system they were unknown. It is my opinion that they do not possess the ability to enable IF to become the effective instrument on campus that it should be.

This is not the fault of the individual candidates but of the fraternities who do not send their most able and strongest leaders to be IF representatives.

The election of the treasurer had to be postponed because so many members left early that there was not a quorum present when this election came up. This, along with the election of men who are largely unknown as leaders to the average fraternity man is ample evidence of the lack of interest in IF. This appalling acquiescence is traceable directly to the fact that IF is mired in the mud of insignificant and trivial nonentities.

IF should not have as its main concern, small and inconsequential activities that the university statistics department or student activities office could do better. They should be the spokesmen for the fraternity system where policy is concerned. They should also do the meting out of punishment to wayward fraternities. However, their main concern should be the writing and interpreting of the rules by which the fraternities are governed, and not have this power usurped by the student life and interest committee.

This is not being done by the present IF and it appears that it will not be able to be done by future IF's. Make IF the power it should be. Fraternities, let's get on the ball!

Karl Meyer Says

In Rebuttal To Regent Campbell On MacArthur

BEFORE I REPLY to your letter printed in Tuesday's Cardinal I would like to compliment you on the temperate and unhysterical tone of your arguments. It is a happy contrast to the technique of another Wisconsin Republican, Joe McCarthy, who, upon hearing of MacArthur's firing immediately called the president a drunkard and a S. O. B. It is good that there are some of the general's backers who can speak like civilized Americans instead of demented politicians.

But I must profoundly disagree with your arguments in defense of MacArthur. They are based on the naive premise that if we follow the general's advice we would not get into a Third World War. MacArthur himself says that a world war would not result, but did not that same general tell the president at Wake Island that the Chinese Communists would not enter the Korean fight? MacArthur may be a brilliant general, but he is no prophet.

On the other hand, there is ample evidence that a war would result. Harry Truman thought so, along with Pope Pius (whose beliefs were published through the Vatican paper), the Joint Chiefs of Staff and our most important allies in the United Nations.

The main support for MacArthur's beliefs come from Republican politicians — and many of them are the same ones who were so tragically wrong about Adolph Hitler and the Japanese. They are not prophets either.

I, along with thousands of American college men, do not want to risk a major war in China merely because some Republicans think they can win an election by clinging to a hero's coattails.

IT IS INTERESTING that you should raise the issue of the legality of Harry Truman's sending troops to Korea for the United Nations. You say he did not, as required by law, get the backing of congress.

That is not so. Congress voted to back Harry Truman and at the time Republicans praised him for his prompt and decisive action. It was not until we were losing in Korea and the Republicans saw a chance of making political capital out of those tragic losses that the issue was raised.

If anything, the man who acted illegally was General MacArthur. He defied the civilian authority of the president and the military authority of the Joint Chiefs of Staff by his flagrant and repeated disobedience of orders.

You say that the general has been discharged "for the simple reason of trying to advise this administration." This is completely untrue. A general does not advise the administration by writing to Joe Martin, a leader of the opposition, or by making unauthorized statements or by personally usurping civilian authority in trying to negotiate a peace. The general was fired because he tried to force, not advise, his superiors to change their minds.

BUT MORE IMPORTANT than these factual errors, of which I have mentioned only a few, are the many facts which you have omitted in your argument.

You have omitted describing Chiang Kai Chek as the corrupt despot that he is. It was not the state department but Chiang who lost China to the Reds. We supplied Chiang with guns and his troops surrendered them to the Reds; we supplied him with materials and much of it ended only by enriching his corrupt clique. It was Chiang Kai Chek who sold out China—not Dean Acheson.

You have omitted the important fact that our best friends—the western European countries — were against MacArthur. Would you have us lose our most dependable allies by following a policy which would lead to a Third World War? Unlike Chiang Kai Chek, the troops of England and the Continent would fight for us and not give their guns to the enemy.

Finally, you have omitted the whole moral issue at stake — an issue which the Vatican paper has been pointing out repeatedly. Force alone cannot solve our world problems—the rightness of our moral position is the only real guarantee of our eventual victory. Starting a Third World War is not a moral act.

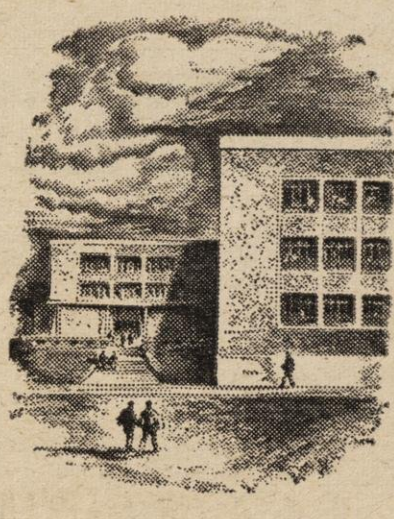

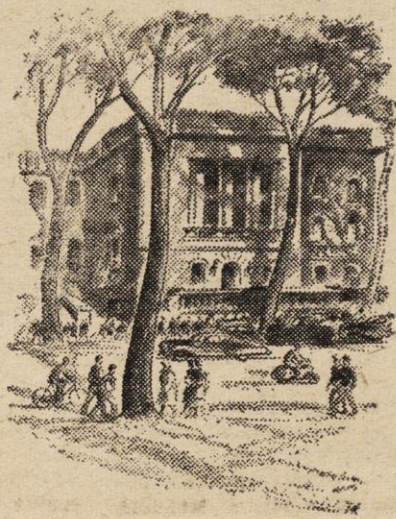

The MacArthur myth that might makes right will never die but we can pray that it will fade away before it destroys us all.

Grid Practice On 'Mud Sea'

By HERB ROZOFF
Cardinal Sports Editor

The Camp Randall practice field was nothing short of a sea of mud last night, but Coach Ivy Williamson, who has had few breaks from the weatherman since football workouts began, held the first of two scrimmages scheduled for this week.

Former Milwaukee Lincoln high griddier Gust Vergetis called signals for the red-shirted squad and whipped out some coach-pleasing passes. Vergetis, a freshman numeral winner, is considered a leading contender for a position on the offensive platoon.

Another highly regarded sophomore halfback, Harland Carl, slogged through the soggy turf and showed signs that all that has been printed about his terrific speed will be proven next fall.

The line work was a little ragged in spots, as noted by the coaches, but it was difficult to expect too much from the players with the field in such poor condition.

Williamson plans to hold another scrimmage Saturday — and with a little luck—have a dry field for the workout. Practice closes with the May 19 intra-squad battle.

Card Relay Teams To Compete In 42nd Carnival at Des Moines

By BUD LEA
Assistant Sports Editor

Wisconsin will enter three relay teams in the 42nd running of the Drake Relays at Des Moines, Ia., this weekend. The 17-man squad will leave by bus this afternoon and return Saturday night.

Coach Riley Best will enter teams in the sprint medley, two mile, and four mile relay. Other Badger tracksters will enter the individual events.

In the four mile relay, Best named Jim Urquhart, Walt Deike, Tom Ward, and Don Firchow. Urquhart and Deike will also compete in the special two-mile race.

Wisconsin's sprint medley squad may be the surprise of the Carnival. LeRoy Collins will run a 440, Keith Carlson and Roy Burks will sprint a 220, and Sam Greenlee will run anchor with a halfmile. The Badgers have won this event at the Drake Relays for the past two years.

The two mile relay team represents the Badger's strongest entry. Dick Lione, Walt Mars, Don Soe, and Sam Greenlee will team up for the Cards.

Frank Duis will run unattached in the special invitational mile. Duis cannot run under Wisconsin colors because he is a freshman.

In other individual events, Lyle Levenich and Ted Bleckwenn will throw the discus. Bleckwenn will compete in the shot put event.

Dick Kellman and Al Cherne have been named for the high jump, while Bob Johnson will enter the broad jump.

The Badger's strongest competition in the two-mile relay will come from Oklahoma, Michigan, Illinois, Oklahoma A.&M., Washington State, and Michigan State.

In the sprint medley, Ohio State, Oklahoma, Illinois, Oklahoma A. & M., and Notre Dame will be toughest opposition.

The Drake record of 17:29.6 in the four-mile relay could very easily be broken by a crack Washington State squad. The Cougars are also eyeing the American college record of 17:16.1.

'U' Tennis Team In Action Today

"We might be able to squeak out a 5-4 win if they have the same team as last year—but if they have some new stars, I don't know."

That's what tennis coach Al Hildebrandt said concerning today's meet with Notre Dame. This is the first home meet for the team this season.

Today's lineup will be the same as last week's trip. Jim Deloye will play No. 1. Ken Ohm is in the No. 2 spot, and Don Negendank is at No. 3.

The No. 4 singles man is Carl Rudelius, and the No. 5 is Bob Reagan. Bill Grunow will play No. 6. In the doubles, Deloye and Negendank are at No. 1, and Ohm-Rudelius are the No. 2 doubles team. Reagan and John Endres are the No. 3 team.

The meet will start at one o'clock and will be played on the hard surface courts near the IM fields. In case of rain, the matches will be played in the fieldhouse. Tomorrow at two-thirty, the Cards will be host to Michigan State.

'U' Senior Cops Billiard Tourney

Leonard Stein, a senior from Madison, took first place in the national intercollegiate straight rail billiard tournament last weekend at Ann Arbor, Michigan, who was host for the meet, took team honors.

Stein, who learned to play billiards at Wisconsin, had been high point man from this area in the sectional meet held last March by the Union Games committee and was facing other sectional winners in his bid for the national championship.

During the tournament Willie Hoppe, Willie Mosconi, and Charlie Peterson, all world famous billiard experts and trick shot artists, gave exhibitions.

Name Coach For Prep Game

Bill Schwoegler, former South Milwaukee high school football coach, has been named head coach of the South squad for this year's annual Wisconsin all-star football game in Green Bay.

The game will be played on May 12. His selection was announced by Al Reed of Green Bay East high school. Reed announced that a panel of southern coaches had named players for the South team. Names were disclosed. Schwoegler, who was replaced six weeks ago at Madison Central high school and La Crosse State Teachers.

First Crew Race Scheduled May 5

Coach Norm Sonju's varsity crew opens the 1951 season Saturday, May 5 against Yale on Lake Monona.

Sonju has arranged a mile and three-quarter course, starting at the Yahara river outlet and finishing at Broow st., near the railroad bridge. If the water is rough at the starting time, set for 3:45 p. m., the race will be shifted to Lake Mendota.

The frosh crew will row St. John's Military in a special one-mile race preceding the Wisconsin-Yale race. No race is planned for the junior varsity. The frosh meet is set for an hour before the varsity race.

Yale will have had two races before it comes to Madison. The Bulldog crew lost its opener to Cambridge of England. This Saturday, Yale race Columbia university in New York.

Previews Depict Social Problems

Dating, marriage, parent-child relationships, and consideration for the other fellow will be the subjects included in the film preview session Thursday, April 26 at 3:30 in 116, Education building.

Four films will be on the program sponsored by the Bureau of Visual Instruction of the Extension division of the university.

The films are: "What to Do on a Date," which presents various ideas for enjoyable dates; "Marriage Is a Partnership," a study of the feelings of young married couples; "Answering the Child's Why;" and "The Other Fellow's Feelings."

Riflemen Awarded at Banquet; Season Considered Outstanding

Medals, sweaters, and emblems were awarded to the top marksmen of the varsity rifle squad last night, as the university riflemen closed their most successful season in years with an award banquet.

Team coach, Lt. Col. Arthur Swisher, called it "one of the best I've had in a long time." The team ranked third among all rifle squads in the nation after the Intercollegiate sectional matches April 7.

Medals to the ten marksmen with the highest average scores during the season went to John McNall, first; Arvy Pluntz, second; Lee Thompson, Roger Russell, Byron

Badgers Head For Minnesota; Radke, Moore Slated To Pitch

Wisconsin's varsity baseball team leaves Madison late this afternoon by bus for Minneapolis where they will meet Minnesota in single games on Friday and Saturday. The team will hold a short workout before leaving.

Coach Mansfield says the team will stay at Eau Claire tonight and then move on to Minneapolis early Friday morning. Mansfield will take the same squad that made the Spring trip with two exceptions.

Jack Adams, who is still having sore arm trouble, will rest his arm while Ted Baumgarten, veteran outfielder, will make the trip.

Coach Mansfield last night nominated initial conference win. Minnesota who is still looking for a Big Ten victory will probably throw Lloyd Lundeen and Ken McGonagle against the Cards. Wisconsin is in fair physical shape after nursing injured Gene Radke as his choice to pitch the first battle against the Gophers. Diminutive southpaw, Ronnie Moore who threw a three hitter his last time out, will pitch the Saturday contest.

The Badgers will be seeking their juries received on the Spring trip.

The traveling squad includes: Tom Cooper and John Schnurr, catchers; Gene Radke, Ron Moore, one of four representatives to vote against the continuance of the pact. The vote was 6-4 in favor of the game.

Wisconsin's position on the Rose Bowl, as given to the Cardinal after the first conference vote, is that the conference season is sufficient, and post-season games tend to draw away from the original purpose of the football program.

Lerner...

crisis at its meeting on Tuesday, May 1.

Rosenthal said his group had a program for May 13. The Cardinal learned the Young Republicans plan to bring Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, here on that date, and McCarthy is tentatively scheduled to speak in the Union theater. Rosenthal said he didn't think a debate could be arranged between McCarthy and Lerner.

Reached by telephone in New York, Max Lerner's secretary said he was away on vacation in Jamaica, British West Indies and would not be back in the States until Saturday, April 28 or Monday, April 30.

Lerner was refused financial support by the Kemper Knapp bequest committee "partly on the grounds that he is alleged to have been a communist in 1938."

Dr. Edgar S. Gordon, chairman of the Knapp Committee, said the decision not to sponsor Lerner was made "after deliberation and advice from a great many people." Gordon left Madison yesterday afternoon for 10 days to attend Medical conventions throughout the country and would not comment on the committee's decision.

Lerner's secretary, said he was "fairly anxious" to come to Wisconsin. She explained that Lerner was scheduled to speak in Madison last spring but that the talk was cancelled because of a conflict in scheduling dates.
