HOOSIER POET

APPEARS AT FULLER OPERA HOUSE SATURDAY NIGHT.

Will Present a Program of His Own
Poems—Unusually Successful
This Season.

James Whitcomb Riley, or, as he is more commonly known, "The Hoosier Poet," is coming Saturday; and will render a reading in the Opera house under the auspices of the Ladies Guild of the Grace Episcopal church. For a number of years Madison has expected this treat, but has never been able to secure it until now. No one can well afford to miss this golden opportunity for there is no poet in this country whose rhymes have such a strong flavor of the rank, rich soil from which they have sprung as James Whitcomb Riley, who is now claimed as one of our national bards. He is certainly the "Bobby Burns of America." As Burns, he sings sweetly and in the time of childhood, or nature, of simple emotions. And like Burns he sings in the homely words of his own people.

He is the one poet of all our poets "who has drawn the common heart of all toward the confines of a better time." He has sung the songs of our life as no one else has done.

The charm and pathos of his simple themes has won a lasting place in the hearts of old and young. In his readings his scenes live and throb before us. "He is the dreamer of dreams that woo us gently backward to the 'days gone by.'"

His humor is immeasurable; but he does not possess that quality of mind which delights in sting and satire. "In Riley all suffering and all calamity run, if possible, thro the shadows of pathos into the sunny places of humor."

Nor does he mainly dwell upon humor, "for the very extremes of life and human nature have, as it were, been touched and sung by our poet." It has been well said that: "the cycle of Riley's poetry becomes an orbit. He swings out into space and returns to us at intervals, ever brighter and warmer."

On the whole Riley has a personality which would inspire the whole world of poetry lovers.

He will be greeted by an immense audience in Chicago. The first day's sale of tickets amounted to $2000. There has never been such a demand to hear Mr. Riley as has been witnessed the past days. The immense audience in Chicago will be one of the greatest tributes ever given a literary man.

It is hoped by all that Mr. Riley will meet with a similar greeting here on Saturday night.

Every student of literature should consider it as a duty to attend this reading.

"The delight in the poet's visit to our city will make the occasion memorable in every way—an oration worthy of his genius and the imperishable melody of his song."

This is the response to the announcement of Mr. Riley coming in our metropolis: "The mere announcement of the fact that he is to be here will create almost a stampede in the direction of the box office, for Riley is a man whom we all love—men, women, and children."

Sophomores Elect Officers.

The regular semi-annual meeting of the sophomore class was held yesterday afternoon in Main Hall. Election of officers for the ensuing semester was first in order of business. There were three nominations for president, and after a single ballot R. G. Stevenson was declared elected. It being customary to give the office of first vice president to a young lady of the class, Miss Genevieve Mihills was declared elected after the first ballot. Other officers were elected as follows: Second vice president, J. H. Friend; secretary, E. W. Thuerer; treasurer, J. T. Hahn; sergeant-at-arms, W. J. Bertke; historian, Miss A. C. Johnson.

After the election of officers the report of a committee on constitution was read and accepted. The subject of canes was discussed and a committee appointed to look into the matter. After some further minor business the meeting adjourned.

New Editorial Staff.

The following have been elected to the editorial staff of the Wisconsin Engineer.

F. E. Washburn, Editor-in-chief; Associate Editors, F. A. De Lay, W. C. Berg, J. Wittemore and J. A. Manning; Business Manager, A. Meyers; Assistants, A. J. Quigley and A. C. Fricke.

The representative from the freshman class has not yet been elected, but an election will be held Friday at 3 o'clock in the assembly room of the Engineering building at which time a freshman will be chosen.

—Grant Showerman delivered the seventh of a series of lectures on Roman life in room 38, Main Hall, yesterday afternoon. He spoke on the Palatine Hill and its relations to Rome, and illustrated his lectures with a number of beautiful lantern slide views. The next lecture in the series will be given next Thursday on the Capitoline Hill.

—A Copenhagen paper of recent date, "Samfundet," announces that Prof. Freeman, U. S. Consul in Copenhagen will address the English society of Copenhagen on Oliver Wendell Holmes.

—New pictures for the Engineering building are being received daily.

VOTE FOR PRESIDENT

DAILY CARDINAL WILL HOLD
MOCK ELECTION.

All Male Students and Faculty Members Eligible to Vote—Conditions for Balloting.

Political interest has been unusually active in the University this fall and as a consequence the Daily Cardinal is planning to hold an election calculated to ascertain the political preferences of the student body. It is intended to have all male students of whatever age, as well as members of the faculty, participate in the election which will take place Thursday and Friday, October 25 and 26, of this week.

The election will continue between the hours of 8:30 and 12:30 on these two mornings and it is intended that every student shall have an opportunity to vote. The polling-places will be at Main Hall, the Law school, the Engineering Building, the Historical Library and the Co-op. Each will be in charge of a Cardinal represen-

SECRET PRACTICE.

Coach King Puts 'Varsity Through Several New Plays.

The 'Varsity practiced behind closed gates at Camp Randall last evening. From all reports, the object of this practice was to try some new plays which Coach King has invented. It is certain that the Grinnell game Saturday is not of sufficient importance to warrant such secrecy and the general impression is that the coaches consider the outlook for the Minnesota game to be of such a dubious nature that strenuous efforts must be put forth in order to turn out a winning team. The second team was exceptionally lively in the practice and the 'Varsity were worked to their limit in order to make headway against them. Remp, a new 180 pound center, came out for the first time Monday afternoon and in yesterday's scrimmage showed up in excellent form.

Grinnell is not expected to furnish more than a practice game. The real contest will be to equal the score made by Minnesota against them last week. This will beyond doubt insure some hard work by the regulars and will prove an index to the comparative strength of the two teams.

tative and every voter will be required to sign and fill out his ballot as in a regular election. The Cardinal will tabulate and publish the results and it is expected that these will be of great value as reflecting the political sympathies of students.

Yale and other representative universities are at present holding such elections and the results are attracting universal interest. Wisconsin has never been slow in doing her part towards maintaining an active interest in politics and here is an opportunity to manifest this interest. The election is not undertaken in a joking spirit but is a bona fide attempt to get at the student feeling on the great national issues. To this end the vote is to be taken on the national tickets only.

No ballots will be counted that are not properly signed and filled out. And students who may not care to put down their age may simply indicate whether they are entitled to vote or not. The question of age does not enter as the statistics are desired from every student whether of age or not. It is hoped that the student body will co-operate with the Cardinal so that the results obtained may be complete and accurate.

—Miss Eolien Smith, ex-'00, of Wheaton, Ill., is to be married this evening to Mr. David Lewis at her home in Wheaton.

Miss Jenny Awarded Prize.

The third of the four competitions for the prize offered by The Century Magazine to American college graduates was closed on June 1 of this year, the competitors being Bachelors of Art of 1899. The prize essay, entitled "Tolstoi's Moral Theory of Art," is by Mr. John Albert Macy, of Cambridge, Massachusetts, of Harvard University. The prize story, entitled "An Old-World Wooing," is by Miss Adeline Miriam Jenney, A. B., class of '99, Huron, South Dakota, of the University of Wisconsin. As the awards are made in ignorance of the authorship of the manuscripts submitted, it is wholly accidental that one of the winners proves to be a western woman and the other an eastern man. In conformity with the terms of the competition, the prize for poetry is not awarded this year, no contribution being thought to reach the standard.

—President and Mrs. Charles Kendall Adams, and Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Farnsworth left to-day for New York. They will sail the 27th of October on the steamship Werra for Naples, where Dr. Adams will endeavor to regain his health.

—Miss Hull, who has been visiting Theta friends for a few days, has returned to her home in Milwaukee.

A Suggestion.

Since the copies of the different college and university annuals are to be given to the public in the library it would be a good move if the fraternities and sororities would also place their monthly magazines on file in the historical library. These volumes would soon become valuable to the library for historical research and would be very interesting reading matter for many.

Awakening in Language Study.

Whatever may, on the whole, have been the justification of our national expansion it has had one indirect effect, that is to be hailed with joy as a sign of better things. This effect to none other than the development of the practical character of the study of the language in this and other universities. A large number of young men and women are now taking Spanish, Italian and French, not as formerly with the intention of obtaining a smattering for the sake of "polish," but for the purpose of using them in every day contact with the people speaking these tongues. Particularly is this true of the study of Spanish, and the large classes and great interest are tokens of the fact that the great institutions of learning are keeping en courant with the world's progress and will play their part in the new life of the nation that seems to be opening.

The School of Commerce is another valuable adjunct in the line of fitting students for lives of usefulness in foreign lands. Its establishment will give an impetus to the study of modern languages that nothing else could have brought about. Those having in charge the courses of study are to be congratulated on having taken time by the forelock and the result cannot but redound to the glory of Wisconsin.

The first football game ever played by a team representing the University of Wisconsin was against the Whitewater Normals who were smothered by a score of 106 to 0.

Germanistische Gesellschaft.

The first meeting of the Germanistische Gesellschaft for this semester was held at Room 3, North Hall last night. The meeting was more of a social than a literary function.

A short program was rendered. The first number was the singing of "Die Wacht am Rhine," after which a pleasing piano solo was rendered by Mr. Kastenholz. Dr. Roeder then gave a very interesting talk on "Eine Hochzeit im Schwarzwald." More songs were sung by the society and a time was devoted to social enjoyment, after which the meeting was adjourned.

The society will be divided this year into two sections, the new section being for the benefit of the scientific students and the members of the Germanic Seminary.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The "Induction" reception announced for next Saturday night has been postponed one week.

The State Convention of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in Janesville Nov. 23-25. It is hoped that the University will send fifty delegates.

Regular mid-week prayer-meeting tomorrow night at 6:45 in the Y. M. C. A. house.

A New York gentleman has given $100,000 for the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building for the Columbia University Association.

ENGINEERS' CLUB.

Organization is in Most Flourishing Condition.

It is seldom that we find an organization attaining in a few years the prominence and value to others as well as itself as the U. W. Engineers' society. Organized in 1849 with a membership of twenty, a limit which had soon to be extended to fifty, it has won for itself the distinction of being almost indispensable to engineers.

There are many details to engineering which on account of lack of time cannot be taken up in the regular course. This society furnishes a very important course in this kind of work.

Side issues such as experiments, applications, etc., are the principal topics of discussion. In the preparation of these discussions different periodicals are reviewed, professors interviewed and whole books studied. In this way every phase of the subject is presented, every branch studied and every application considered. From this it will be seen that the value of training in this society is inestimable for engineers.

ANNUAL JUNIOR EX.

Representatives of the Various Societies.

Members of the various literary societies who will appear in the Junior Oratorical Exhibition are now engaged in selecting their subject and getting their material in shape. Athenae will be represented by J. C. Miller. Mr. Miller's home is in Marinette where he graduated from the High School in '97. After teaching school for a year he entered the University and became a member of Athenae and last year was on the Semi-public.

T. W. Bucklin will speak for Hesperia, taking for his subject "Civic Patriotism or the Duties of the Citizen in Politics." Brodhead is Mr. Bucklin's home, where he did a good deal of debating and literary work in the High School.

Harry Sauthoff, Philomathia's representative, has not yet selected his subject owing to the short notice he has had of his appointment. He is a graduate of Madison High School and was salutatorian for his class.

Castalia will be represented by Miss Louise Loeb of Appleton. Miss Loeb took her freshman year at the Milwaukee Downer College, entering the University as a sophomore.

T. P. Abel of Kenosha will be the representative of the Forum society and J. C. McKesson of Burlington will speak for Columbia. Both of these gentlemen have been prominent in the Law School, and are both speakers of ability.

Dean Upton's report to the President of Brown University contains some ideas which are worth meditating upon. Among these are that there is too great frequency of examinations, that the number of studies carried at the same time by each student is too many for the best work and that there is too great a diversity in the number of college exercises assigned any particular student for the different days of the week. Such irregularity fosters a lack of methodical habits of study.

A Request Number From Carberry.

A request has been made of the management of the City Lecture course that Mr. Carberry, who appears in the Carberry-Durno recital, the first number of the course, Thursday evening of this week, be asked to sing "The Prodigal Son." It will be remembered that Mr. Carberry sang this selection when he was here with the Max Bendix Company last season.

The course tickets for the City Lecture course have been going at a lively rate during the past two days. Inasmuch as the lowest price that will be fixed for single admission to any number of the course is fifty cents, the purchase of the course ticket for one dollar, which takes in the recital Thursday evening, Maro, the magician, the rival of Herman, on Nov. 12, Dr. Cadman on Nov. 20, Mrs. Beecher, the popular reader, on Dec. 4, Professor Moulton in January, and Jahu DeWitt Miller in February, is the most economical. There has probably never been so excellent a group of entertainments given for one dollar, in the state.

The Carberry-Durno recital will begin at the Methodist church Thursday evening Oct. 25 at 8 o'clock. Ladies will probably be asked to remove their hats during the concert.

Fuller Opera House Sat. Oct. 27th.

Everybody loves to remember, and if there be one author in this country more than another who can turn the mind backward to the fond recollections of childhood, that author is James Whitcomb Riley. His program consists of many choice selections. It is an event in the life of anyone to hear him read such productions as "The Discouraged Farmer," "That Old Sweetheart of Mine," "Tradin' Joe," "Out to Old Aunt Mary's," "Down to the Capital," "Little Orphan Annie," "The Tree Toad," "The Educator," "The Bear Story," and others of such delicious humor and tender pathos. Which of these is the best? Well it is hard to tell. The old farmer, Indiana born and bred; the pedantic, pompous, empty advocate of the new educational plan; the bad little boy, whom we all know and most of us live with; the American soldier, brave, modest, heroic, dying as he lived humbly for his country; the familiar things of nature, the every day good in men and women; all these Riley sings and interprets.

Met the "Boys."

Dear Father:—After bucking hard all the week I took a constitutional around the pack up town and met several of the boys at the One Minute Coffee House. One fellow ordered "Adam and Eve on a raft" and a cup of fierce coffee. We all followed suit. It proved to be poached eggs on toast and the best Mocha and Java. Send me that V which ma is saving—that "calf money."
