CADET OFFICERS LAY PLANS FOR IMPROVED CORPS

Wisconsin Will Probably Get Distinguished Rating,
Maj. Brunzell Says

At a meeting of the cadet officers held yesterday at the armory, plans were formulated for active cooperation with Major O. L. Brunzell, obtaining for next year an A. C. corps which will in every way and spirit, if not in number, surpass any university corps. The corps has gone through its year of optional training with success which indicates that another distinguished college rating will be granted to this university, and from the spirit of the cadet officers as expressed at this meeting next year's work will place us again in the ranks of those few colleges who obtain this coveted honor," said Cadet Colonel Klos '25.

Plan Summer Publicity
Next fall members of the corps will be on hand during registration to give information of the work taken up in both the basic and advanced courses of every branch of the corps.

The active participation of all cadet clubs was enlisted in a plan of summer publicity whereby the aims and purposes of the corps will be placed before the parents in such a way that the incoming freshman will be in a position to decide which option he will elect.

Lauds Corps Spirit
"The fact that each unit of the corps has an active semi-social organization is evidence enough of the spirit of the present corps," according to Major Brunzell, and with these organizations working under the direction of the central organization of Scabbard and Blade and the Cadet officers the success of the second year of optional training is assured."

SENIOR PARAPHERNALIA MUST BE ORDERED NOW

Seniors that have not ordered their caps and gowns are requested to do it immediately at the Co-op in order to get them in time for graduation. The majority of caps and gowns will arrive with the first order which will be ready for distribution June 16.

Seniors who will not be sure of their marks until after examinations may have a chance to receive their gowns on time if their orders are sent by wire.

Eleven hundred seniors have ordered their caps and gowns to date according to Marvin A. Schaars, chairman of the committee.

SOUTH HALL REPAIRS TO START NEXT WEEK

Repairs on South hall will begin next week under the direction of Findorff and Son, contractors, according to George A. Chandler, secretary of the faculty. Examinations which were scheduled for this building will be held in other buildings.

Y. W. C. A. Student Conference Held at Lake Geneva

The annual Y. W. C. A. Student conference will be held this summer at College Camp on Lake Geneva from August 15 to 25, and will include delegates from the colleges in the west central states, of which Wisconsin will send 18 representatives.

Each section of the United States is divided into districts which send delegates to their respective conferences at different times in the summer.

The object of the conferences is to inspire the girls to high ideals of social relationship with their associates at college, and to imprint some of the treasured principles of American womanhood deeper in their souls by intimate recourse with other women of a refined social sphere.

Must Register All Parties Held After Examination Period

All parties to be held after the examination period must be registered just as such affairs during the regular terms according to a ruling issued by the office of the dean of men. The regulation passed by the life and interests committee is as follows:

By faculty enactment, the regulations of the committee on student life and interests are in effect from the first day of the regular year until the close of summer session, including all vacations. Social affairs held after the conclusion of the examination period will be held in conformity with the customary regulations and must be registered with chaperones four days in advance, as usual.

S. H. GOODNIGHT,
Dean of Men.

MAKE FINISHING TOUCHES ON PLAY

Student Actors Will Rehearse Production Daily Through Exam Period

The cast for "Rollo's Wild Oat," the senior play, will rehearse daily throughout the examination period in a final effort to make this play the best of its kind that has ever been presented. All of the characters have learned their lines and are adding finishing touches to the production under the direction of Olivia Orth '24, director.

The foremost character part in the play is handled by Alethea Smith '24 as Aunt Lane, the aunt of Rollo, who takes his side in all controversies with the wealthy old grandfather who does not approve of Rollo's aesthetic Shakespearian ideas.

Aunt Lane heartily approves of Rollo's producing Hamlet in New York and many of the scenes between her and Grandfather Webster provide a good share of the comedy of the play.

The play will be presented in the open air theater on June 19 and 20. Thursday night will be senior night and the Friday performance will be given for the benefit of the alumni.

Tickets for either performance can be obtained from Eliot Sharp '25 or Gordon Brine '25.

SENIOR INVITATIONS READY AT PRINT SHOP

The senior invitations are ready for delivery at the Print shop. About 1,000 orders have been placed. A large number of extra ones have been made and are available for those who did not place orders.

VICTIMS OF AUTO CRASH IMPROVING, AUTHORITIES SAY

Parents of Charles Gallagher
Arrive; Mrs. Cowan Expected Today

Charles Gallagher '27 and Martha Cowan '26, who were injured in an automobile accident Wednesday night, are both improving rapidly and as well as could be expected according to information received from the Methodist hospital authorities late last night. It is impossible to tell when they will be able to leave the hospital, the authorities stated.

Gallagher's right leg was crushed and had to be amputated while Miss Cowan suffered from scalp wounds and the loss of blood. Both were resting quietly last night.

Parents Arrive

Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher arrived from Superior this afternoon and Ms. Cowan is expected from Kansas City early this morning.

"Gallagher was driving the car about 25 miles an hour on a road near McFarland when he turned aside to pass an approaching car. We were on a curve and hit a tree and the car turned on its side. We were all thrown out but none of us in the back seat were hurt. Gallagher knew the road we were driving on but I had never been on it before. The doctors are surprised at the rapid recovery that Gallagher and Miss Cowan are making," Owen Lyons '26, who was in the car, stated in an interview late last night.

Gallagher a D. U.

Other members of the car were John Murphy '24 and Catherine Davis '26. All three of the men are members of Delta Upsilon while Miss Cowan belongs to Kappa Alpha Theta and Miss Davis to Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Dr. Arnold Jackson and Dr. L. R. Head were called to the scene of the accident and administered first aid. Dr. Jackson accompanied police cars to the scene and took the injured students to the hospital.

DISTRIBUTE BADGERS AT MUSIC HALL SATURDAY

Distribution of the 1925 Badgers will begin at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at Music hall. The first carload of about 2,800 will arrive today and the second one Monday. Each carload contains a day's supply. The distribution will be continued at the same place Monday.

INSTALL OFFICERS AT GUN AND BLADE MEET

Installation of officers for next year took place at the regular monthly meeting of the Gun and Blade club last night in the Union building. John F. Jones '25, president, was installed at a meeting May 8. The other officers installed last night were Walter H. Leukel, grad, vice-president; E. W. Welch '24, secretary; Cleo W. Thomas '25, assistant secretary; Leon A. Gutowski '25, treasurer; Selmar A. Sylvester '27, historian; H. J. Kuchuk '27, sergeant-at-arms.

Already the familiar thump thump of heavy bodies descending the staircases of our campus houses announces the fact that anxious students are impatiently turning their thoughts toward going home, and in anticipation of the event, have begun hauling their trunks and cumbersome boxes from the attic to the study, from the basement to the third floor.

Nor can it be denied that these enthusiasts are wise in showing foresight at early packing. For what can be more hectic than the last, mad dash and scramble to gather up a favorite fish line, cigarette holder, or ukulele to cram under an already overstrained trunk top before the bagageman arrives to claim his spoils. GRAD TO CONSIDER Y. M. C. A. POSITION VACATED BY WOLF

Carlisle Hibbard '00 Meets
With Board of Directors
June 14

Carlisle V. Hibbard '00 will meet with the board of directors of the University Y. M. C. A. on June 14 to consider the position of general secretary, left vacant by the resignation of Frederick E. Wolf, it was announced yesterday.

Mr. Hibbard was the first choice of the board when they accepted the resignation of Mr. Wolf, but he was prevented from considering the offer because Dr. John R. Mott, with whom Mr. Hibbard is associated, was in Asia studying conditions. With the return of Dr. Mott to this country, Mr. Hibbard is able to reconsider the offer and to meet with the board next week.

Associated with Mott

At present, he is associated with Dr. Mott on the International committee of the Y. M. C. A. having charge of the extension of the association work in Europe.

"In personality, in breadth of experience, Mr. Hibbard is recognized as one of the outstanding association men in America," said Dr. A. B. Hall, chairman of the university association board of directors.

When the annual association breakfast is held at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning, June 21, for members, their parents and the alumni who have been associated with the university Y. M. C. A., Mr. Hibbard will be a guest of honor.

Wolf Gets Pencil

The breakfast will not conflict with other arrangements that have been made for the later part of the morning, it was said. It will be held in the parlors of the university association. At the last meeting of the board of directors, Mr. Wolf was presented with a gold pen and pencil of appreciation for his services for the seven years that he served as secretary here.

Mr. Wolf will furnish a Mothers' room in the new association building that is to be erected in the future, dedicating it to his mother, Mrs. Mary Fels Wolf, who died this winter.

SENIORS ARE SLOW IN CLASS DUE PAYMENTS

George Finkle '24, treasurer of the senior class has announced that only 40 per cent of the members of the senior class have paid their class dues. "We want to get everything straightened up as soon after Commencement as possible," he said. "I hope that those who have not paid their money will do so as soon as possible."

STUDENT FRIENDSHIP PLEDGES STILL UNPAID

Several pledges made during the student friendship drive are still outstanding and are needed so that Wisconsin can make her final report along with other Big Ten schools. All checks for the pledges should be made payable to the drive and be sent to James Vallee '27 at 625 N. Henry.

Keystone Council Elects Alice Corl and Dorothy John

Alice Corl '25 and Dorothy John '25 will hold the respective offices of president and secretary-treasurer in Keystone council for the coming year. Twenty-five presidents of women's organizations were installed as members of the executive council of S. A. G. at a meeting held yesterday afternoon.

"Keystone should meet only when adequate campus problems require sessions," was the recommendation of Lois Jacobs '24, retiring president.

Members of Keystone will act as hostesses at the annual fall party for freshmen women. By an automatic ruling in the organization, the president of the Women's Self Government association automatically becomes president of Keystone Council.

UNIVERSITY CLUB AIDS WISCONSIN

Chicago Alumni Organization
Gives Athletic Banquets
Twice Yearly

The University of Wisconsin club of Chicago is an organization to which all persons holding university degrees or who have spent one year as resident members may belong. The object of the club is to bring together all graduates or former members of the University of Wisconsin who are in Chicago.

Luncheons are held every Friday noon at Mandel's, Madison and Wabash. An annual football dinner is given the night before the Chicago game and this is the outstanding event of the year. A second annual athletic dinner is given in April.

The University of Wisconsin club of Chicago is much interested in the announcement that President Birge is to retire. It is vitally interested in the welfare of the university and at the next meeting it will discuss the appointment of a successor and what action the club should take on this question.

Ag Freshman With Best Scholarship Will Be Honored

The freshman in the College of Agriculture who receives the highest scholastic record for this year will be the first to have his name inscribed upon scholarship cup which Alpha Zeta has recently purchased. The silver cup will be placed in the exhibition stand on the first floor in Agricultural Hall, and as soon as the semester grades are received, the name of the highest person will be placed on it.

The cup remains permanently in the rotunda of Agricultural hall, and each year the freshman receiving the highest average grade for the year will have his name inscribed on it.

"Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, wishes to recognize worthy scholastic attainment among the freshmen and in order to promote scholarship among the yearlings the active, alumni, and honorary members have seen fit to provide this medium of recognition," Walter F. Renk '24, ex-chancellor of the active chapter said. The cup will be on display Saturday morning in Agricultural hall.

Student Exchange Pays Highest Rate For Second Books

Highest possible rates for all educational books will be given at the Students Book Exchange, 522 State street. The exchange has been opened for the benefit of students who wish to dispose of their books or to get new ones for the coming year.

There is a list of all books which will be used in university class rooms next year, and for such books higher rates will be given than for those books which will not be used. In case a student wishes a higher price than is offered the book may be left and sold if possible by the management.

If the exchange venture is a success this year, it will be opened in a new State street building nearer the campus next year.

Barnard Women Raise Funds For Co-operative Idea

The girls of Barnard Hall are raising money to establish a co-operative house next fall. They have taken this step to show their appreciation for being able to live in a girl's dormitory and wish to extend the privileges which accompany dormitory life to as many more girls as possible.

Several sales and stunts have been given to increase the fund. Five hundred and fifty letters appealing for help have been sent out to Barnard alumnae. Both personal and organization loans are being made. In time the house will pay back the money, and it will be used to establish another house of the same order, thus maintaining a perpetual fund.

Several cooperative plans have been investigated, but the girls who live in the house will decide on their own plan. Preference will be given to those on the Barnard waiting list but will accommodate as many more girls as possible.

Badger Pictorial and Satire Sections Are Well Handled

(Editor's note. This is the concluding section of a review of the 1925 Badger).

By SATYRICUS

What heresy is this on page 186 and 187? University honors indeed! The Badger staff is to be congratulated on many of the new ideas in annual building which it has innovated. But isn't it a bit thick to be giving two whole valuable pages to such an unimportant matter of history as scholastic attainments? What becomes of our sacred pose that we "didn't come here for knowledge?" What a false idea the outside world will get of our universities if we encourage this sort of thing. Badgers have always been produced in the past without making any reference to scholastic honors. Why carry the mania for new ideas so far? Personally we think some step should be taken to prevent its being done again. A petition to the student senate might be in order or even something more drastic like a communication to The Cardinal signed right out with initials and everything.

It is a great relief to find a pictorial section of a year book which isn't a hodge podge. In this one the usual mass of unrelated pictures have been put together cleverly and with imagination. Regrettably we refrain from discussing some of the more obvious of these pictures.

For the first time in any annual we find a real satire section. You probably don't burst out with wild guffaws as you read it. You may even deny that it is funny but you'll have to admit that it is satire—honest-to-goodness satire from beginning to end. Maybe you miss the jokes on booze, the cartoons of hairy legged monstrosities in track pants, the time worn he and she wit, the frequent references to necking parties, and insinuating innuendos about sex that might cleverly be slipped past the dean. We hope you are glad to miss them. Even the parody on Greek poetry is good and we have seen Greek poetry attempted in every college and school publication for years and years with most distressing results. The best praise we can offer is to repeat, it is a real satire section.

One readily understands why Alpha Sigma Phi (page 444) and S. A. E. (page 439) show internal rather than external views of their lodges. It is a good idea. Beta and Tri Deltas might well follow this example for next year's book.

And now a word to the editor.

Ellis, you may be, as you yourself have so often said, a social oil can. We don't know about that. We do know that you wear the most comical hat, when you wear any, to be found on this hill, and that is some statement after viewing some of the others. We know too that advertising was merely invented so that you could have something to perfect when you leave school—if you ever do, after the scholastic ski jump you have probably taken this year. We have to hand it to you for one thing. Many annual editors make bulls in six-point type, but when you set out to make one you use box car letters as your medium of expression. You dedicate your book to Richard Theodore Ely, Ph. D., when all the world knows that your own university bestowed the degree of LL. D. on Dr. Ely last spring.

But one thing is sure. You have produced an annual as is an annual. It's different. Why it's just what you have said it would be—it's POTENT. (We've looked up the word in the dictionary—we've sometimes wondered after hearing your loose use of the word all year if you ever have) We'll praise it further. Well borrow your other pet expression. "The 1925 Badger is a knockout."

Messrs Wiese and Anderson will now "try and beat it."

NEW SIGNS PLACED ON
3 HIGHWAYS BY JUNE 10
Highways 12, and 41, and 13 to Middleton will be marked with new signs by June 10, according to N. M. Isabella, assistant maintenance engineer of Wisconsin. There has been some delay in getting the routes marked due to breakage in the factory where the markers are manufactured, but now the important tourist routes will be charted without delay.

BIG TEN ATHLETES IN PRELIM TRIALS AT STAGG FIELD

Final Events Today Will Decide Saturday Competition; Nearly 500 Entered

What Wisconsin's chances for a Big Ten track title are, will be determined in the preliminary trials in every event except the one-mile and two-mile races at Stagg field, Chicago, this afternoon.

Although the number to qualify in each event has not been decided by the rules committee of the conference meet, it is expected that the six athletes who make the best marks in the trials will enter the finals Saturday afternoon.

With nearly 500 college athletes competing for a conference championship and a chance to represent the United States in the Olympic games at Paris during the summer months, records will undoubtedly be lowered in several events.

Illinois Strong
Illinois appears to have the strongest group of cinder path men, while Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio State, and Northwestern will press Harry Gill's athletes for conference honors.

In the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, Evans and Ayers, Illinois; Whitman, who won the 100-yard run in the 1923 conference meet, Michigan; Barr, Notre Dame; Bond, Missouri; Anderwert, Washington; Higgins, Michigan; and McAndrews, Wisconsin, are the outstanding contestants.

Most of the runners in the 440-yard dash have completed the distance in less than 50 seconds. A record will probably be shattered in this race with such participants as Coulter, Iowa; Biers, who finished second in 1923, Washington; Fesenden and Smuts, Illinois; Calhoun, Northwestern; and Flueck, G. Smith, and Kennedy, Wisconsin.

Valley Runs Half-Mile
While Valley won the one-half-mile event in the 1923 conference meet, he will encounter much more competition this year. Morrow, Iowa, ran the race in 1 minute and 54 seconds recently, while Valley's time was 1 minute 55 1-5 seconds in 1923. Other half-milers are: Hilberts, Wisconsin; Cole, Northwestern; Reinhard and Hattendorf, Michigan; Hammerly, Ames; Cox, Notre Dame; and Spradling, Purdue.

Cassidy, Bergstresser, and Schneider will represent Wisconsin in the one-mile run against Hall and McKeever, Illinois; Kreider, Ohio State; Kennedy, Notre Dame; Martin, Northwestern; and Bierbaum, Ames.

In the two-mile run, Read, Piper, and Wade will compete. Pogue, Missouri, has completed the race in 9 minutes 19 seconds, while Phelps, Iowa, is present conference champion. Other runners in the distance event are Doolittle, Butler; Brown, Minnesota; and Marzulla, Illinois.

In the weight events, the Badgers will depend upon Harmon and Limberg, shot putters; Tressler, hammer throw; and Aller, discus. Tuhtar and Donohue will enter the high jump while Muzzy will participate in the broad jump.

Hamman will Pole Vault
Captain William Hamman '24, Krieger, and either Schmidt or Jones will be counted upon to score points for the Cardinals in the pole vault. Hamman and Krieger have cleared the bar at 12 feet 6 inches.

PLAYERS INITIATE 12 AT BANQUET TONIGHT

Twelve new members will be initiated at the annual spring informal banquet of the Wisconsin Players to be held at the Woman's building at 6 o'clock tonight. Those who are being initiated are Eliot Sharp '25, Ralph Meade '27, Jackson Taylor '26, Carolyn Hinsdale '26, Ruth Oberndorfer '26, Wilson Moran '25, Anna Best, grad, La Verne Morrison '25, Harold Beeman '26, Lowell Frautschi '27, Bernice Klug '26 and Harold Delahunt '26.

CARDINAL SPORTS

ATHLETICS IN THE COLLEGIATE WORLD

Crewmen Have Four Workouts an Hudson At Poughkeepsie

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. — The University of Wisconsin's varsity eight entered in the annual regatta here June 23, has had four long workouts on the Hudson since their arrival Tuesday night, and coach Vail's men seem none the worse for their long journey from the midwest.

Coach Vail is showing much concern over the No. 5 position in the boat, and Schuman, who held down this place in the shell before arriving here, has been replaced temporarily at least by Grunts. With only four workouts to his credit in the regular shell, it is too soon to tell how he will work with the rest of the eight.

Appreciate Send-off

Every other position in the boat is settled, as far as coach Vail is concerned—unless illness or accidents to some of the oarsmen necessitate a change at the last minute.

During their trip to the east in their special car, the crew men talked of the wonderful send-off given them by the student body. The spirit of the men in the workouts is noticeable, and Wisconsin alumni in these parts are counting on this to bring them honors in the regatta.

Badger Crew is "Darkhorse"

The Badger eight is the "darkhorse" in this year's race. The other five crews, Washington, Navy, Columbia, Syracuse and Cornell have all been represented at Poughkeepsie during the past five years and something is known of their relative strengths. The Wisconsin oarsmen, however, have not been in a race this season, and although last year the Washington eight stopped off at Madison and defeated coach Vail's men, no significance is attached to this fact. Eastern coaches are aware of the fact that when Washington raced Wisconsin the Badgers were not in the form they will be for the Poughkeepsie race. They maintain that a coach of Vail's calibre can work wonders with his men in a period of two weeks, and especially over the course on which they are to race.

Coulter Showing Up Well

Capt. Ralph Schuetz and his boat mates are having the time of their lives here, and easterners, upon learning that they are members of the Wisconsin party do everything to make their visit a pleasant one. Headquarters for the Badgers is the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie.

Harold Coulter, coxswain, who was awarded the position in the boat four days before entraining for the east, is showing up well, and is perhaps the most popular member of the Wisconsin delegation.

Co-ed's Summer Clothes Denote Spring at Last

Expert Tennismen Will Play in Clay Court Tennis Meet

Stronger players will participate in the National Clay Court Tennis Championship, to be held at St. Louis beginning July 5, than are to represent America in the Olympic tournament at Paris. At least six men of first ten ability, and probably more, will be seen in these matches.

Among the stars already entered are: William T. Tilden II, star of stars and holder of the national and clay court singles championships; Brian Norton, the sensational young Englishman who was born and reared in South Africa, and who with Tilden holds the National doubles championship; and Clarence J. "Peek" Griffin, of San Francisco, a former clay court singles champion, and a former national doubles champion, with William M. Johnston.

Johnston's Entry Expected

Joe Armstrong of St. Paul, former intercollegiate champion and first ten player will play as will "Sandy" Weiner, a protege and doubles partner of Tilden, who is considered a coming champion although only 16 years old.

Preliminary advices indicate a flood of entries from all parts of the United States as the date for the opening of the tournament approaches. Among the entries expected daily, is that of William M. Johnston, second ranking player of the United States.

VARSITY BALLMEN END SEASON WITH MINNESOTA GAME

Clash Saturday Closes Successful Schedule; Batting Average of Team Near .300

With the season drawing to a close, the varsity nine is still practicing hard for its final game with Minnesota here Saturday. Coach Lowman put the men through a hard practice yesterday afternoon.

This has been one of the best seasons any Wisconsin ball team has had for some time, and if they win the final game with the Gophers, the team will finish up high in the conference standings.

Practice Batting

Yesterday's practice consisted of batting and infield work. Most of the men are hitting the ball hard, and the batting average of the team is close to the .300 mark. Several of the men are in the select .300 class. Goss, Tangen, Emanuel and Luther are well over this mark and have caused a lot of worry for many of the pitchers in the Big Ten this year.

The infield, outside of first base, plays practically errorless ball. Tangen on third, Goss on second, and Ellingson at short have been playing bang up baseball. The first base position has been rather weak at times, and the coach has tried Steen, Radke, Freuschwanger, Coleman and Shafe at the initial sack. Skaife may get a chance to play it on Saturday.

Christianson on Mound

The outfield has also been shifted some this year. Left field has been played by Servatious, Johnson, and Christianson. Emanuel has played the center garden all season, and will probably play in the final game. Dugan and Varney have been performing in right field with the former having the edge.

The batters for Saturday's game will undoubtedly be Captain Aschenbrenner behind the bat and Christianson on the mound. This will be Christy's last game, and if the weather is warm, he should put down the Northerners with very few hits. Johnson and Luther may also get in for an inning or two.

The time for the game has been changed from 3 to 4 p. m., Aschenbrenner having an exam and not being able to get out before.

at Eau Claire Wednesday. It is estimated that 300 of the roadmen attended the meeting.

“THE GANG'S ALL HERE”

Things are undoubtedly moving at Wisconsin, all pessimists to the contrary. This last fall there was a splendid turn-out of rooters the afternoon before the Minnesota football game. The crowd marched to camp Randall where the rooters took their places on the grand stand and, with plenty of cheering, watched the final practice before the tilt. Members of the team said that such a demonstration made a great difference. It seems obvious that it would.

A cheering section at every game—at least, at every conference game, would also make a difference. The matter has received some agitation throughout the year but has met with little success. Almost every other conference institution has its cheering section. Those who have attended games at Michigan have been impressed by the maize and blue cheering section.

It is not so much a question of winning games as it is one of winning spirits. Just as the senior sing Wednesday night meant much for the spirit of the senior class—and in a way of the entire student body, for members of the other classes attended—so could a cheering section mean much to the spirit of the university. Psychology is an important matter in this question of a cheering section. Noise—just pure straight-forward, if you will, barbarous, noise at a football game gives the noise-makers as well as the listeners feeling of warmth and good-heartedness.

The best seats on the stand should be saved for the cheering section. If they are the section will be filled to overflowing, a much desired state of affairs. The women, furthermore, should be excluded from it.

And there comes in an argument which some people bring against this idea. They say that then the women should have a section themselves. And most assuredly they are right. A cheering section of men, a cheering section of women and those concerned will have the times of their lives trying to out-cheer each other. Right there competition will be a big factor in rousing spirit. And the cheering section for the women should be in just as good a position in relation to the field as that for the men.

For the good of the team, the game and the general spirit of the institution, then, a cheering section by all means. And that right quick, before the tickets for next year's tilts are sold-out.

SCRAPS

An over-alled man with a stick, walking aimlessly about the campus, putting one end of the stick on the ground, carrying a basket half full of nasty papers, watching the ground, looking, looking for something.

Strange. Surely an idiot escaped from over yonder. Foolish to let anybody like that roam around loose. Might kill somebody.

Yes, he might kill somebody indeed, but mentally, not physically. For he is the scrap man, and with his sharp-pointed stick he picks up the scraps of paper—discarded notes, cigarette packages and stubs, chewing gum wrappers, newspapers and what not—, puts them in his basket and, at the end of the day, leaves a campus fairly well free from litter, leaves the grass showing and the shrubbery unburdened of its messy weight.

And why might the scrap man kill somebody? Because that somebody, contemplating his work, might suddenly realize that surely the time spent by this man is not very little, that it need not be spent if people like himself, people who had scattered the paper, had not—

Oh, but then; why harp on a simple little moral like this? You get the idea.

“NO PARKING”

The parking situation on the campus is becoming serious and must be remedied shortly if the number of student cars is to increase in the same proportion that it has this year. Any one who has parked behind Bascom hall knows that the situation there has been well taken care of. But it has become necessary to employ a director of parking there, and it would be too much of an expense for the university to employ policemen in five or six different places about the campus. Even behind Bascom hall congestion is bad at certain hours. Along Linden drive, the cars are parked helter-skelter, any old way. Because there is no order there, it is impossible to park a capacity number of cars. Drivers leave their automobiles on the grass and tear the sward to pieces as a result.

Perhaps a system of marking, such as the city uses, might solve the situation. A policeman could make the rounds every now and then unexpectedly and fine the owners of cars who had not parked according to the markings.

But there is another difficulty which would not be cared for with such a system. Instructors who teach in the rooms in the back of Bascom hall complain that at the close of the hours cars coming in and going out make so much noise that it is impossible for them to teach during the last five minutes of each hour. The same case holds in regard to Ag hall.

Perhaps the system which has been employed very successfully at Ohio State might be inaugurated here. That is, only those students and teachers who have special permits are allowed to park on the campus. Special permits would be granted to those who live far enough from the campus or who are physically incapacitated so that they would have sufficient excuse for driving to school. Reports from Ohio are in favor of this system.

At any rate, it is urgent that some new system be established. Perhaps during the summer session experiments in this regard will be tried with the hope that a definite system may be set up in the fall to relieve congestion.

CAMPUS SONG FESTS

Amid the numerous spring activities on the campus, two of the most enjoyable and worth while are the inter-fraternity and inter-sorority song contests. To assemble out-of-doors in the cool hours after sunset and to listen to or join in an evening of singing is a delicious relief from the noisy rush of events just before the end of the school year. This, if nothing else, makes the “sings” of more value than many of the more practical events.

Music is inherent in every man and is one of the natural mediums of self-expression. It plays a major part in life wherever it is found. The baby in the cradle sleeps to the crooning of a lullaby; youth loves most intensely under the spell of music; the soldier on the field of battle charges to his death to the strains of martial airs; and his dying thoughts are soothingly carried back to home and loved ones on the magic carpet of music. It is the universal language—a priceless treasure.

The songs of fraternities in their dining halls serve to bind the brotherhoods closer together. Solemn, loyal, harmonious and mirth-evoking ballads enliven the courses during the dinner hour every evening. Yet only a casual guest dining at a fraternity house knows how the members can sing their musical praises to “the best of all fraternities.” Through the spring contests, thousands of people hear and enjoy the talent otherwise hidden.

Moreover any inter-fraternity or inter-sorority activity serves to bring the organizations into a closer fellowship and quickens a united spirit. Such a spirit probably reigns more completely at a song service than at any other event, especially because of the fact that no prizes are given and competition is eliminated. For the individual organizations, for the outside public and for the spirit of the school, the song fests are highly desirable and the promoters of them deserve commendation.—Daily Northwestern.

FAST WOMEN'S MEET OCCURS AT RANDALL

says the deet. The varsity village was practically deserted for some time.

Extracts from Joswell's Bhonson. It's three o'clock in the morning We've bluffed the whole year through Joswell: This song carries a patriotic tone.

Johnson: You are confounded sir—it expresses the truth! The teachers do not comprehend the purpose of their teaching while the students deceive themselves by believing both that knowledge is attained by memory and that their purpose here is to obtain social advancement or a more lucrative position than their worthy parents held.

We see that the deet says that canoeists are human thermometers. Our engineer friend says that some are thermo-dynamic couples, too.

Yea, says the Goof, and some are human giraffes.

This is the last time for us, little friends.

Good-bye, Cardinal, we're going home.

Good-bye to frantic searching through the Yale Record and Judge for little quips.

Good-bye to the razzing which we have received for each and everything we have ever indited, and Lord knows that we have been in hard straits.

Good-bye, university, we're going home!

Good-bye to State street on a sunny afternoon.

Good-bye to malts and idle conversations. Good-bye to dashes up the hill to eight o'clock. Good-bye to yellow slickers, and the laws in a frenzy over a pair of knockers.

Good-bye to dances at Lathrop.

Good-bye to temporary crushes on newly met kweds. Good-bye to the frantic bucking before midsemesters. Good-bye to canoes, to Lake Mendota on a warm moonlight night, to hours of talk with the most congenial friends in the world. Good-bye.

Good-bye, university, I'm going home.

I'm going to a place where they have never seen knickers except in the rotogravure section, where you are crazy if you don't wear a hat. I'm going to a place where a man is measured by his ability to collect the filthy lucre, not by whether he is a good fellow or not. I'm going home.

Good-bye to the evenings spent in the Libe, sometimes for study, sometimes not. Good-bye to drives, to the Union, to Beardsley's flamboyant appeals for something.

Good-bye to the place where the Prom-chairmanship is the big thing of the year. Good-bye to food consumed late at night in Lawrence. Lawrence—oh heavens yes.

Good-bye Lawrence. Good-bye to the jams in Lawrence between 12 and 12:30 of a week-end night. Good-bye to toasted cheese sandwiches, and cake a la mode.

I am going to a place where it is the tradition that you will be sick if you eat after dinner.

I'm going home.

Good-bye, Lit. Here's luck—you need it.

Good-bye, Octy, don't be too good.

Good-bye to the custom of standing in front of Bascom, watching one's friends going by.

Good-bye, university, I'm going home.

Good-bye, good-bye.

Good-bye, Venetian night. I shall never see you again this side of Venice.

Good-bye to the place where one makes friends every week. I am going to a place where everyone knows my family and how much I weighed at birth.

Good-bye, I'm going home.

Good-bye to the roaring fall crowds, around the bonfire or in the stadium.

Good-bye to the yelling shriek when Taft breaks through.

I'm going to a place where horse-shoes and pinochle are the great sports, and inter-village baseball.

I'm going to a place where pins on the vest mean nothing.

I'm going home.

Good-bye to the four-year impressed memories.

Good-bye, Wisconsin, I'm going home.

Members of Inner Gate held a luncheon yesterday noon in the Authors' Room of the Y. M. C. A. at which they discussed the question of late rushing for next fall. Their decision will be referred to Skull and Crescent officers to get the opinion of the organization on the idea.

This is the first luncheon of this kind which has been held, but plans are being made to hold more of them next year, and in the future, for the purpose of bringing up business and also for get-togethers of the club members.

Camp

For those to whom vacation time means long tramps in the hills, perhaps a long auto trip through the mountains or just camping leisurely at the lake—the kind of rough-and-ready apparel you need is here. MOVIE VERSIONS OF POOR BOOKS ARE CONDEMNED

By H. E. R.

As a follow up to the article concerning the motion of one of Madison's theater managers, Mr. F. J. McWilliams made to picture theater owners of Wisconsin that producers be asked to refrain from producing pictures made from books that are banned from public libraries, it was announced today that the motion had been taken up at the national convention of theater owners and unanimously adopted.

Apparently the feeling that the featuring of censorable movies is detrimental to the exhibitors is not fully felt. A recent article in a distributed movie magazine quotes figures from producers to the effect that the most profits are made from "quiet" pictures, and the sensational types that women's leagues to rise up in protest.

It is true that many of the banned books that are used for scenarios are in their situations so changed that the "sensations" of them are obscured and acceptable. Yet, the fact that the picture is adapted from the book is enough to bring crowds to the theater the first few nights. Some of these pictures are excellent; most of them are not. The producer figures that the name is enough to bring the thrill-seeking public within the walls of the theaters.

Contrary to all general trends of such pictures, "Cynthia," which was here recently, was actually good. Not of the type that appeals to the happy ending, happy throughout public, but a picture that could be and should be praised for the superb acting of its characters. Alma Rubens was a type that fitted wonderfully well into the hard role that she had to take, and Lewis Stone was an excellent representor of the type of man that he was supposed to portray.

But this was one successful picture of the many that we all feel should be suppressed. Were our theaters to limit their audience to such crowds that would have to intelligence to fail to adopt the theories and situations of these pictures, then everything would be well and good. As it is, audiences are filled to the majority with persons who are impressed by some of these acted scenes, and they accept their fallacies for things that are good.

A meeting of the special athletic field committee will probably be called Friday night to adopt plans for the installation of a diamond, gridiron and track, it was announced Thursday by Ald. D. C. Sullivan, chairman.

Upstage Bits

BY ZENOBIA

The Passing Show—the day by day of coeds, eds, books, instructors, classes, malteds, etc.—is just about ready to pass out.

In fact this is the passing out number for this column.

It really is about time, because if there were a few more numbers we might be involved in a libelous suit with some irate soul whose lack of humor had been indiscriminately outraged.

Dick Bellak has already threatened action in defense of Sid Thorson. An editor of the Octopus really ought to have a deeper sense of humor than that. If only there were one more issue, the world might learn what we think of you poet from Columbus, (Wis.)

The fact that "Rollo's Wild Oat" is going to be a good play is doubly demonstrated by the fact that Olivia Orth's picture broke all rules and precedent and made the edit page of yesterday's deet.

TWO STICK PORTRAITS

No. 3

If you ever start a class at the beginning of the semester and a medium sized blond male with perhaps a three days stubble on his beard walks in about fifteen minutes late and continues to do the same every day thereafter and never seems to get in wrong for it, why that's him. He has a queer conglomeration of names, both masculine and feminine, — Leonis, M. E., Delicia, Isabel Tingling, and Editor, but he usually answers to "Swedish Nightingale." He is not only always late to classes, but he has never been known to be at an appointment on time. In the matter of girls he is one of the strangest persons on two legs. He can even take a girl to prom, having got the date in the afternoon, and forget her name before the next week is over. He consistently maintains a supercilious air toward women, and while inwardly he has a secret passion for feminine comradeship, he is at a loss as to how to find a girl without strings on her.

Women as a rule consider him conceited, but they are crazy to have a date with him until after the first time. As he passes by a crowded front porch there is always a craning of necks to see who he is with. One of his dominant characteristics is to be overly-critical. No one but himself is perfect and can do good work and be it prom chairman or president, this man has something to find fault

"Simon Called Peter" Displays The Vamp Again in Full Glory

By A. S. G.

The old-fashioned vamp, who has recently been taboo in the best books and plays, appears in all her glory in the stage version of "Simon Called Peter," and sways her sinuous way all through the play.

The vamp in the cast of the Chicago production is a beautiful creature with her white make-up and scarlet mouth. She wears the regulation black satin sheath-like gown, with a scarlet rose on one hip and a scarlet rose on one ankle.

The vamp is not as bad as she is painted, nor are the other women of the cast. The play, in this respect, is much more delicate than the book, which took a naughty delight in advertising the iniquities of the characters.

Audiences in Chicago are displeased with the ending of the play. Why is it that theatrical producers seem to think that they must have the inevitable happy ending? Those who have read the book are invariably surprised when they discover that events turn out movie fashion, in the most obvious manner.

One of the best features of the Chicago production is the French accent of the actors. Those in the audience who understand French are "both pleased and thrirrified" to find that they really know what the actors are talking about.

This play was expected to very with. He is overly scrupulous in the matter of work and detail and neglects some of the finer and more leisurely things of life for the stern call of duty. His friends would appreciate him more if he would be more human. On the campus he is best known for having shown off his big hands in the Haresfoot shows. Every spring he blossoms out in a complete new outfit.

naughty, and it really turned out to be more or less mild. The wicked scenes of the book have been cut down, and everything objectionable has been eliminated. The managers even went so far as to invite prominent clergymen of Chicago to attend a special performance. Perhaps they did give a "special" performance for the gentlemen of the cloth, but at least, no objections were made to the play. Some ministers gave their hearty endorsement.

"THE DARING YEARS"

At the Majestic

Despite its being termed another picture of "this jazz-mad age" its tendency to drag excessively at times, and the use of some stale theatrical devices, "The Daring Years" is a most acceptable production, largely through the fine efforts of Charles Mack, Mildred Harris and Tyrone Power.

"THE LONE WOLF"

WILD WEST AND SOCIETY MIX IN COMING SHOWS

By H. E. R.

With the exception of three productions, Madison theaters will show the result of slack season expectations next week.

The Strand will present "The Rejected Woman", a melodrama with Alma Rubens, the perfect "loveress" and Conrad Nagel. Wyndham Standing also holds one of the leads in this production that had ought to please theater-goers. The last half of the week will bring Hoot Gibson, our Western play sheik, in "40 Horse Hawkins."

The Parkway will feature "Triumph" with Leatrice Joy and Rod LaRogue. This is another society melodrama with old-time cabaret scenes, n'everything. There will be a week of that.

"How to Educate a Wife" will probably interest more or less of the student body, masculine and feminine, especially when it finds that the play was written by Elinor Glynn. Fooled again, the picture is not a drama, but a comedy with Marie Prevost, Claude Gillingwater, Monte Blue and Creighton Hale holding leads. Attention is also called to the fact that this is the first appearance of the picture anywhere.

Through the Capitol to the Majestic will mean that one will see Harry Carey Sunday and Monday in "The Lightning Ride"; Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, James Kirkwood in "Discontented Husbands"; Friday and Saturday, Pauline Garon and Alice Lake in "The Marriage Market."

The Dorothy LaVern Players will present a comedy melodrama named "Thank U". This is said to be one of the best plays of the year. See you in the happy hunting grounds.

at Los Angeles. Dr. Charles P. Mitchell, former bishop of this area, will go to Manila.

MAGAZINE OFFERS PRIZE TO STUDENT

Wisconsin Publication Will Give $50 Award For Best Story

Hardy Steeholm, editor of the Wisconsin magazine, offers a prize of $50 to the university student who has published the best article in his magazine. All student stories which have appeared since last fall and which appear this summer will count.

The only requirement is that the article pertains to Wisconsin people, history, industry, or scenery. The contest is not limited to journalism students. Mr. Steeholm points out that many students come from particularly interesting towns.

The June number, which will come out the tenth of the month, will contain articles by seven journalism students, most of whom are at present studying special feature writing. They are:

Donald E. Hollister '25, "The Norris Farm for Boys"; Helen J. Baldauf '25, "This Wisconsin—The Athlete"; Thelma I. Roach '24, "The Silhouette Artist—A Story about Miss Bernie Oehler" and "By Way of the Highway, Wisconsin's Patrol System"; Alice E. Cummings '25, "Honeybees in Wisconsin"; Joyce M. Larkin '25, "Analyzing Yourself into Success"; Mary E. McClun '26, "What Wisconsin Does for Its Blind"; and Catherine S. Wilson '24, "The Wisconsin University Players."

A journalism graduate, Mrs. Mary James Stark '23, wrote "The Curio Line, The Story of the Pine River Valley and Steven's Point Railroad, a Dream That Only Partially Materialized."
