ENTRIES DUE FOR VENETIAN NIGHT FLOAT PARADE

Prizes Will Be Offered For Best Entries in Women's and Men's Groups

Entries for the float parade which will form an important part of the 1924 Venetian night program have been called for by Helen M.
Wyckoff '24, chairman of the parade.
Prizes will be offered for the best float from both women's and men's groups.

Send Many Letters

Letters have been sent to all organizations asking that they give serious consideration to the decorating of a float for the evening parade. Boats of any description, whether elaborate or simple in their costumes, are to have a place in the line, according to Miss Wyckoff.

No Entry Fee

"Our object this year will be to secure more entries in the parade than formerly, making it a long procession of light and color, rather than a short line of elaborate displays," was the comment of the float chairman.

No entry fee will be charged for contestants in the parade and it is expected that no charge will be made for the boats that are used for decorations. Plans are being made by the committee for the leasing or borrowing of scows and barges from the three lakes. The boats that are secured for the purpose of decorating will be turned over without charge to houses making application for them.

Lights Cared For

Lighting for the floats will be secured through cooperation with the committee in charge of electrical decorations under the supervision of Robert Moore '25. Unless individual entrants want special lighting effects, the wiring and illuminating will be taken care of by the electrical committee, according to Moore.

Float entries and application for boats to decorate may be made to Helen Wyckoff at the Tri Delt house, 120 Langdon street. Barges, boats and scows will be assigned in the order of application.

Those assisting Miss Wyckoff are Rachel Haswell '24, William Henry '26, and Frank Stuart '25.

LAST TWO PROMS HELP UNION FUND

Total of $1630 Turned in By 1924 and 1925 Prom
Heads

The Union Memorial fund was increased by $1630 yesterday when the prom chairmen of the 1924 and 1925 proms issued a financial statement upon the proceeds of the two proms.

Clifford Nolte '25 reported a check of $650, while Gordon Wanzer, chairman of the 1924 prom recently returned a check for $980 to John Dollard '22, secretary of the Union building committee.

"I am mighty glad to turn in this check of $650 on behalf of the class of 1925," Nolte told the union.
"Every campus activity should bend all efforts to increase the Union Memorial fund."

The difference in the total of the two returns is due to the fact that the "prom of history" charged fifty cents less per couple than the 1924 prom, Dollard said.

The class of 1924 feels that it has made a record to be proud of in making this much money for the Union. "I feel that every class should do as much in boosting the Union as these two classes have,"
Gordon Wanzer '24 remarked.

It has been the custom for each class to turn over the proceeds of the prom to the Union ever since its organization.

INDIAN STONE RELICS GIVEN TO LIBRARY

Implements obtained from the "Stone Worker" sites located along the Buffalo River, Arkansas, which were recently presented to the Wisconsin Historical society, are now on exhibit on the fourth floor of the Historical library. The donor is Edward C. Volkert, a former Wisconsin man who has taken up land in Arkansas.

The exhibit consists of buffalo scrapers, war axes, stone hatchets, tannings tools and pottery fragments.

The pieces are of blue Trenton limesone. C. L. Harrington, archeologist, estimates their age at 800 years.

May Number of Engineering Mag is on Sale Today

The May issue of the Wisconsin Engineer, which will be the last one this spring, will be distributed today in the Engineering building.
The leading article by Professor Terry is "Elimination of Static Interference." In the article Professor Terry describes the kinds of interference, theories concerning their origin, and methods by which they may be partially eliminated.

In a special article Dean F. E.
Turneaure gives the history and the ways of administering the loan funds available to engineering students.

"Sparks from an American Engineer's Life in France" is the title of a story by Norman Lee, '04, describing his 20 year's experience in that country. The story is filled with interesting anecdotes of French life and comparisons of French and American engineers and their methods.

The annual index will be distributed today.

FRENCH CLUB HOLDS ELECTION TONIGHT

Election of French club officers for next semester will take place at 7 o'clock tonight in Lathrop parlors. Following the election Agnes Phillips will give a vocal solo. Lucille C. Morrissey '26 will give a reading by Frederic Lesevre entitled,
"Une Heure Avarie". Professor
E. M. Lebert of the French depart-in France.

R. O. T. C. REVIEW THIS AFTERNOON ON LOWER CAMPUS

War Department Officers Go Over Wisconsin Unit;
Band Gives Concert

The annual inspection of the military forces of the university is scheduled to start at 1 o'clock this afternoon on the lower campus.
The two officers of the regular army staff who are here for the inspection are Lieutenant Colonel H. Glade and Major W. Goodwin.
Colonel Stillman of the R. O. T.
C. of Chicago will assist in the inspection.

Following the review a regimental drill by the command system will be given, which will be followed by a formal guard mount by the President's guard.

Will Give Medals

Six companies will engage in a drill contest to determine which one will be honored in receiving gold, silver, and bronze medals. The medals will not be given out until Memorial day.

Following the drill contest, 24 cadets will compete for honors in the manipulation of arms and general drill. Medals will also be given to the winners of these events.

"Drill classes will be inspected this morning," according to Major O. L. Brunzell who is in command here. An inspection of horses, guns, and general equipment was made yesterday afternoon as a preliminary to the review today.

This review ends the military activities for this year with the exception of the march 1 Memorial day which will start at 8:30 o'clock in the morning.

Small Enrollment Decline

According to statistics at the army office, there has been little decline in the drill enrollment this year in spite of the fact that it is optional.

"The optional idea eliminates those who would be little interested in army tactics and who would only prove to be more or less of a hindrance," was the statement made by Major Brunzell.

For four consecutive years Wisconsin has won the distinguished rating honors and the chances are good for this year. The percentage of advance course men has some influence in winning the honors of being an advanced rating school and Wisconsin ranks among the highest in this percentage.

The First Regimental Concert band gave an open concert last night in Music hall in honor of the visiting United States army officers, who are here to make the annual inspection of the R. O. T. C.

This compliment was extended to Colonel Glade, Major Brunzell, commandant of the university department, and Major Goodwin. The members of the university instructional staff, who were also honored, are Major Lester L. Lampert, Capt.
Joseph H. Comstock, Capt. Stanley
E. Reinhart, Capt. Fred C. Borden,
Lieut. Richard Z. Crane, Lieut.
Eric A. Erickson, Lieut. Harry L.
Rogers, and Lieut. Edwin H. Sutherland.

tional Y. W. C. A. convention in New York which was held recently.

Cold Air Wave From Arctic Cause of Yesterday's Snow

"April showers bring May flowers" but what brings May snows?
Yesterday's near-freezing temperature and flurries of snow were as unexpected as they were untimely, but Eric R. Miller of the United States weather bureau in North hall yesterday explained just what caused them.

"There is nothing between us and the Arctic ocean but a mass of cold air," said Mr. Miller. "This mass has moved down this far with the winds and striking the rather warm air that has prevailed here, has caused this precipitation of snow and sleet."

The temperature has been from six to 19 degrees below the normal

BARNARD AND CHAD FILLED FOR SUMMER

Many Sororities and Rooming Houses Still Have Vacant Rooms

Barnard and Chadbourn halls are completely filled for summer school session according to the office of the dean of women, but there are plenty of S. G. A. houses and sorority houses which have not been filled. A few of the sorority houses will serve meals during the summer session. The demand is mostly for cheaper rooms and for rooms near the lake.

Rooms for women vary in price from $3 to $5 for a double and from $3.50 to $6 for a single.

Unlike women, the men do not as a rule, rent the rooms in advance. The maximum price on men's rooms one half of a double room is $5 and for a single room $6.

The office of the dean of men is handling all applications for furnished houses and furnished apartments. Approximately 75 houses and apartments are listed. They vary from two room apartments to ten room houses. The prices run from $40 to $100 a month.

The tent colony with thirty-eight platforms for tents, is all filled.

Steamship Lines Make Plans For Cut Rate Trips

Officials of the United States steamship lines are actively engaged in making preparations for the development of tourist and other traffic in order to offset the loss of immigration traffic, according to B. Lundberg, district passenger manager of the line, who is visiting Madison from Chicago.

"In our plans for an $85 trip to Europe the third class quarters of the steamship President Harding, Republic and George Washington are to be turned over to students, alumni and teachers, and there will be no reason for passengers taking these trips to feel that they are relegated to the steerage, as the quarters are clean and comfortable and the food is excellent," said Lundberg yesterday.

The special trip rates are Plymouth, $85, Cherbourg $90; Bremen, $105. Special attractions in Europe this summer in addition to the cultural and social advantages will include the Olympic games and the British empire games.

American Legion Will Sell 10,000 Poppies May 24

The William B. Cairns post of the American Legion has ordered 10,000 poppies which will be sold on Saturday, May 24th, by the high school girls of Madison.

The money raised by the sale of the poppies will be placed in a memorial fund and will be used to defray expenses of decorating the graves of veterans of the world war, for the erection of bronze Legion markers, and for other purposes of like nature. These Legion markers have engraved on them the name and rank of the soldier, his military organization, and the date and manner of his death.

Seventy-five of these markers were placed in Madison cemeteries last year, according to Spencer Lu, member of the committee in charge of the local campaign.

SLEMBER PARTY FOR SOPHOMORE WOMEN

Stunts, eats, and sleep are a part of the plans for the all sophomore girls slumber party to be held Wednesday night, May 21, at the Y. W. C. A. cottage.

This is to be the big wind-up of the Sophomore luncheons, and everybody is invited. Groups will leave Lathrop Hall at 4:30 and 5 o'clock. All girls desiring to go are asked to call Frances Porter B. 6988, in order that food may be provided.

Each girl must bring her own blanket to the Y. W. C. A. office where they will be collected and taken out in cars.

TOMAH—James Bowen, an old employee of the Milwaukee road here, died at his home following an aggravated case of hiccoughs. Mr. Bowen has been baggage agent for the road for many years.

Editing Class Picks Best Duplicated Newspaper Page

The Indianapolis News was chosen as the best front page reproduction of the six newspapers designed and made-up by the sections of Prof. E. M. Johnson's class in newspaper editing by a vote of the entire class this morning.

The championship page remains undecided, however. Two more events in this complicated race are still to be run.

The second event involves the rating of the efficiency of each section by Roy L. French, instructor in the type laboratory. The basis of the decision in this case is on the capability of the section in setting up the headlines and making up the page form.

Advanced Music Students Will Play in Recital

Constance P. MacLean '26, pianist, and Lucille Scott, violinist will play in an advanced student recital at 8:15 o'clock tonight in Music Hall. The recital is open to the public.

Miss MacLean was recently elected president of Clef club. She is also accompanist for the Girl's Glee club. Miss Scott is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary music sorority, and of the university orchestra.

Numbers on the program are as follows:

1—"Sonata in C Minor," Grieg, by Miss Scott and Miss MacLean; 2—"Vogel als Prophet," Schumann, "Si J'étais Oiseau," Henselt, "Berceuse in D Flat," Chopin, and "Etude in D Flat," Chopin, by Miss MacLean.

3—"Melody," Gluck-Powell, "Gavotte," Mozart-Auer, "Minuet in G" Beethoven-Burmeister, "Like Melodies Arising," Brahms-Kramer, and "Mazurka," Mylnarski, by Miss Scott; 4—"Rhapsody Number 12," Liszt, by Miss MacLean.

After Professor Johnson, the judge of the third event, has placed each page according to the selection of news stories and the skill of the headline writing, the total score of each page will be added up and the one rating the lowest will be declared the championship front page.

Each section of this contest chose its paper and several weeks ago picked the news stories for its front page and arranged them after the fashion of the paper it was reproduced.

Long hours in the type laboratory where one sets up headlines, letter by letter, from pieces of type have followed on this but, at last, the finished masterpieces are on display.

Winners of the special events which are to feature the Agric-Home Ec playday tomorrow will receive a gallon of ice cream and cookies was announced by William Osius '24, yesterday.

Among the events which have been added to the program recently are a tug of war between instructors and professors of the Agricultural college, and a singing contest in which all of the Ag. Campus organizations and societies will take part. Special music has been provided.

The picnic will be held in Dean Russells grove on Wednesday, May 21, at 4:30 o'clock. Tickets will be on sale to-day and tomorrow.

BOILERMAKERS SMOOTHER WISCONSIN NINE, 11 TO 3

JOHNSON HIT HARD
IN FIRST INNING BY
PURDUE SLUGGERS

Errors By Badgers Give Opponents Five Free Runs and Game

(Special to The Cardinal)
LA FAYETTE, Ind., May 19—Bunting six hits off Johnson in the first inning for a total of six runs, the Boilermakers romped away with the long end of an 11 to 3 score over the Badgers here yesterday afternoon. The return engagement between the two teams was featured by the fine hurling of captain John Campbell of Purdue.

Tangen Hits Hard

Three of the six hits in the first inning were extra base blows. Two homers and one three bagger. Errors on the part of Coach Lowman's men figured in the last five runs made by Purdue. Tangen made two of the six hits gathered by the Badgers and scored two of the three runs. Luther relieved Johnson at the start of the seventh.

Errors by Goss, Steen and Johnson were very disastrous. Tangen, Wisconsin's young third baseman, played an errorless game and hit the ball hard.

Badgers in Second Place

This puts the Badgers back into second place in the conference standings. Illinois now holds the lead again.

Register For Big
Tennis Tournament

Wednesday will be the last day open for registration in the All-University tennis tournament, it was announced yesterday by George Berg, director of intramurals.

"We will have to call the tournament off," Berg said, "If there is not a better response." Registration has been very poor, especially in the doubles entries."

It is desired that the students get in back of the tournament and make it go. Any student may enter competition and make his bid for one of the rackets which are to go to the winners of the singles and doubles. No fee for entry is being charged.

Entries may be made with either Proc Wright or John Petaja in Joe Steinauer's gym office where the regular tennis court registrations are made. The hours are 8 to 9, 12 to 1:20, and 3:30 to 6.

FROSH TRACKSTERS
MEET IOWA SQUAD

First Year Men of Both Schools to Hold Telegraphic Meet

For the second time this semester the yearling tracksters will go up against the Iowa frosh in a dual telegraphic meet. The Badger first year men have always defeated the Hawkeye runners in previous meets and this year's team hopes to repeat the performance of past teams.

The Wisconsin freshmen won from Iowa in the indoor telegraphic meet held in February by a comfortable margin but Iowa has developed a well rounded team that will give the Badger frosh a close race for first honors. The Hawks are especially strong in the dashes and the broad jump. In Evergreen, Coach Bresnahan, Iowa mentor, has a star sprinter that will lead the Wisconsin speedsters a merry chase. This boy steps the hundred under even time and does the furlong in creditable time.

The frosh are in good condition after their meet with Illinois last week and will fight hard to uphold the honor of the class of '27. Good time was made in some events in the Illinois telegraphic meet last week but the men were weak in the dashes and broad jump. Hard practice has been the program this week in an effort to iron out the wrinkles and the team will be in the best of shape for the meet tomorrow.

The Badgers will depend on Captain "Chuck" McGinnis to garner points in the high jump, pole vault and possibly the hurdles. The Badger freshman leader is one of the most dependable men on the squad and he gives the varsity jumpers some real competition in the practice sessions.

Other men looked on to gain points for the first year men are Ralph Schilke, star half miler, Annis, Frackleton, Voight and Dougan, 440 men, and Burdick and Francis, dash men. Charles Meissner and Ray Kubly are expected to place well in the distance runs while Klinger should score in the hurdle events.

In the field events, Herb Schwartz, premier weight man, should add to the total of points in the Badgers favor. Several other men have also been developed in the weight events that should aid the frosh to win from the Hawks. Firtle, star hurdler, will be out of the meet on account of injuries received last week. This will weaken somewhat the power of the Badger cinder path men.

Lovers might discover and study some of the 300 odd birds which are located in and around Madison. Seventy-five varieties were listed on the trip. During the last three years Mr. Brandenburgh has been conducting these tours, taking the children on Saturday afternoon and the adult classes on Sunday.

PLATTEVILLE—W. H. Smith, for many years a hardware merchant here, died at his home after a brief illness.

Intramural Heads

GEORGE BERG

Berg, as athletic trainer and director of intramural athletics, has been doing a valuable work for Wisconsin sports. He has supervised the organization and operation of intramural leagues in various sports, which has been the means of interesting many non-sport men in athletics and in training many for interscholastic competition.

RESOURCE POLICY
IS OLD PROBLEMUsed in Europe Long Ago,
Says John Graham, Mining Professor

There is nothing new in the present demand for nationalization of natural resources, but simply a continuation of the policy in vogue in Europe centuries ago, and which was in practice in early American history, according to John F. Graham, professor of mining.

"The United States as a nation was not 20 years old when it acquired the Louisiana territory with all its valuable, though undeveloped, mineral deposits," said Professor Graham. "It tried to secure for the direct benefit of the nation a fair proportion of the mineral wealth."

"That the natural resources belonged to the crown had been long established in Europe, and the king could dispose of them for royalties or other compensation," he declared.

"When our government tried to put this theory in effect, it found that the people were intolerant of landlordism. Scandal and injustice were most prominent in the enforcement of this act and evasion of the law became more common than fulfillment."

WIS.
Versus PURDUE

For the first time within the memory of the oldest student we are on the top of the heap in baseball. By defeating Illinois on Saturday we replaced the Illini, who had previously held the lead.

* * *
Christianson went the full route for the Cardinals and did it easily. Roettger, Sucker pitching ace, was replaced in the sixth inning. Roettger is another conference player who is going to the big leagues after graduation in June, as he is said to be practically certain of joining the New York Americans.* * *
It is about time for the optimists to yell championship and for the pessimist to growl, "Wait and see."* * *
Wisconsin demonstrated its superiority over three opponents in the quadrangular meet last Saturday in a most convincing manner. The marks were exceptionally fast and the events were far more hotly contested than is the case with the usual dual meet.* * *
Valley turned in his fastest time in the year in the half mile when he went the route in 1:58 1-5 on Saturday. It is our opinion that Lloyd would make a most welcome addition to the American Olympic team. In team. In his first year of Big Ten competition he won the 880 in the conference meet in the fast time of 1:55 1-5.* * *
Reid surprised everyone by his sensational showing in the two mile. Should he continue to improve he will cause no end of trouble in future meets.* * *
Chicago's quarter milers getting tired up in a traffic jam while trying to make a train is another angle to the "Subways for Chicago" movement.* * *
Joe Steinauer is disappointed, nay worse, he is hurt. For two days Joe has walked recklessly about the Latin quarter in his new steel B. V. D.'s and he declares that not once has anyone shot at him.* * *
The American Rugby team won its final match from France 17-3. Incidentally they gave France a few lessons in sportsmanship when they held their tempers in the face of the most unsportsmanlike crowd that ever viewed an Olympic contest. France seemed unable to endure losing the match in which they were heavy favorites to win.* * *
Have anything up on Black Gold?* * *
Emerson Norton, one of the best athletes on the coast lost an eye in an automobile accident two hours after he had won the 40 yard dash, the low hurdles and run anchor man in the Stanford-California meet. The Stanford athlete may never run again.* * *
Football will end Saturday with a passing and kicking contest. On either Thursday or Friday a game will be played between the frosh and the varsity.* * *
Coach Ryan's only advice to the prospective players was: "Choose your weapons and wire your folks."OLYMPIC MAN ELECTED
TEXAS TRACK CAPTAIN
AUSTIN, Texas, May 19—Jim Reese of Comanche, who bids fair to make a place on the American Olympic team which will contest with the other nations of the world in Paris next summer, has just been unanimously elected captain of the University of Texas track team for 1925. Reese succeeds Dick McNatt of San Saba, who has lead the Longhorns through the successful season just past.THIRD ROUND OF
GREEK BASEBALL GAMES FINISHEDBETAS LEAD FIRST DIVISION WITH FIVE VICTORIES AND NO
DEFEATS

The third round of the interfraternity baseball tournament is nearly completed and the first division have already finished their games. The Beta nine leads the first section with 5 games won and no defeats.

SCHEDULES COMPLETED SOON

The Phi Mu Deltas, Square and Compass and Farm House nines are tied for second place. These teams will play off the tie for second place. Phi Mu Delta will go up against the Square and Compass nine and the winner of that game will play the Farm House team for the right to enter the finals of the tournament. The other divisions will also complete their schedules this week and the teams named to enter the finals.

All postponed games must be played off by Sunday and the scores reported to Chairman "Ez" Crane or else the teams failing to report will be credited with a loss in the team standings. There were several errors in the last standing of the teams but these have been corrected and all teams have been rated properly.

FINALS NEXT WEEK

In the recent games played this week, the Betas whitewashed the Alpha Deltas 5-0, Farm House defeated Square and Compass 6-3, Delta 7-5, Alpha Gamma Rho beat the S. A. E. nine 6-1, Delta Chi won from Phi Psi 5-0 by a forfeit, Phi Mu Delta defeated Alpha Delt 11-9, Acacia romped over Kappa Psi 7-0, and the Phi Mu Deltas won their third game by defeating Farm House 7-4.

The drawings for the finals of the baseball tournament will be made Monday and play will begin sometime next week.

SURVEY OF YEAR
SHOWN IN EXHIBITPUPILS OF WISCONSIN HIGH SCHOOL WILL DEMONSTRATE OWN WORK

Wisconsin High school pupils will show the work done in each class in school, at the seventh annual exhibit which will be held Thursday and Friday afternoon and Friday night.

A concert will be given Thursday showing work done in the music department. In addition to solo numbers, girl's and boy's choruses, a 50 piece band and a 30-piece orchestra will play.

Exhibits to observe the accomplishments along the line of project work will also be given. Throughout the exhibit each pupil will demonstrate by charts, drawings, photographs and experiments, the project for which he is responsible.

Projects in every department of school, including new experiments in the sewing classes to projects in general science and physics are being prepared.

An interesting feature of the exhibit will be a marionette play, "Knave of Hearts" with dolls and costumes made by members of S. A. Leonard's English class.

OUR SPORTY ALLIES

As a news story has said, the American Olympic rugby football team won two victories Sunday. It won a victory over the team France put on the field to the tune of 17 to 3 and it won a victory over itself in losing its temper under great provocation from what was termed by spectators as unfair and unjust a crowd as ever attended a sporting event. The short and the long of it is that the French booed and hissed the Americans throughout the game.

Strange goings-on, indeed! It was the second occurrence of its kind, for when the Americans won an earlier game a similar demonstration took place. Is it that the demonstrations were justified? It hardly could be that, for not matter how unsportsmanlike the Americans may have played, it is not sportsmanlike for their opponents to boo and hiss them. And it is a matter of great doubt that the Americans were rough. Two years ago when Wisconsin played football at Michigan, one of the ends was tackled hard along the sidelines and severely injured. The Badger rooters were angry, saying that the runner was already off-side and should not have been tackled. Four years ago, when Wisconsin played Chicago, the Badger captain tackled a Chicago player on the sidelines likewise severely injuring him and the Maroons rose up in loud indignation. The Badgers said that their captain was justified in tackling the runner, for he could not afford to take a chance. Thus such incidents in football are looked upon differently from different sides of the rooting sections, and it may have been natural for the French to be angry at hard tackling. But they are in no way justified in acting as they did.

Three summers ago in England you could hear the Britisher on every side boo-hooing and waxing indignant because American teams were defeating English teams at every turn.

If we can not have sportsmanship in our international athletics, let us call quits and do away with them for good and all. If we are to go on with the Olympics, on the other hand, let us remember the action of the French and, when they come here, show them that at least Americans can be sportsmanlike and gentlemanly whether they are being defeated or not.

ITS NOT FOR KNOWLEDGE

Said a professor on the hill, "There used to be a time when few could go to college. The man who had obtained a bachelor's degree had attained a high pinnacle in intellectual life. Then as education advanced and more and more people began to attend college, bachelor's degrees became more and more common until they were no more a mark of distinction and a master's degree was necessary to be a little better than the next fellow. But nowadays, master's degrees are becoming very common and the next step of Ph. D. is becoming quite frequent also. Colleges are now open to the rank and file. Not that the fact is regrettable, for beyond all question it is for the common good and advancement. But even so, there is no question that the change in attendance has lowered somewhat the high purposes of college life."

People, to a very large degree do not come to college purely for the things that college life has to offer them. They come for the social and the practical gains they may acquire. College attendance is necessary for social position, so they come to college. The college man has better opportunities offered him in the business world, hence, the practical reason for college attendance. College life as such interests very few. Men and women come and take the immediately usable things that it has to offer and leave. Having served their purpose, they promptly forget it. They seem to be utterly aware that there is something more in life than the mere struggle and strife of getting rich or growing poor in business life.

Now and then one hears talk of a possible college for the elite,—a College for those whose interest in life is that of learning alone. But such a college would hardly be possible, for all would want the distinction of attending it. The solution lies better, perhaps, in the Oxford plan, where two sets of degrees are given, one for those who come for a degree only and the other for those who come for the joys of intellectual life and the furthering of human knowledge.

THE FAST MAIL

There used to be a time, not so long ago, when mail service from Madison to elsewhere was all that could be desired, but it is no more. Time was when a letter to Milwaukee could be mailed in Madison Monday morning and read Tuesday morning at its destination, but now the letter is lucky if it reaches its destination by Thursday or Friday. Letters to Portage that once took only one day now take two or three, and the same in many other cases. Nor is this the trouble with the mail-service elsewhere; it is in Madison, for letters mailed from elsewhere to Madison make the trip in a normal length of time. The situation may not be the fault of the Madison postal department, there may be an overrush of work with an undersupply of workers, and then again, it may be just a slipping of the cogs. What ever it is, it is hoped that it will be straightened out soon.

Other Editors Say—

TO OUR JOURNALIST VISITORS—WELCOME

The University of Illinois will be host today and tomorrow to editors and business managers of Big Ten publications. They are coming, the newly appointed juniors and the veteran seniors, to discuss and solve through joint discussion some of the problems they face in their daily tasks. They expect to be helpful and to receive help; they will contribute and they will take away.

We of Illinois who are striving for proficiency in the Fourth Estate consider it a signal honor that these journalists should pay us the visit. We are well aware of the responsibility of the positions they are filling and it will be our only hope that their stay here will be worth while.

The journalist occupies a unique place in the activity life of any college or University. He is the one who is looked upon as the backbone and mainstay of every student effort upon the campus and his co-operation is invaluable to the success of any project. His work acts as a stimulus to everything of worth in student life so he must be willing to sacrifice much in time and pleasure in order to do his job well.

Work on college publications is in most cases more than an activity in the common sense of the term; it is a real job. The student editor or business manager takes up the task where the rest leave off and his bit is invaluable. Thus it is that honesty, patience and increasing ability are cardinal virtues of any who would be successful in college journalism. The technical knowledge involved is in itself prodigious while the other essential things in the way of judgment and determination prove the importance of a high purpose in the man who would serve in this capacity. The university journalist cannot know too much about his profession.

We hope that the time spent at Illinois will be profitable in every way to these middle western students who are following a profession of unlimited possibilities. We bid them welcome.—Daily Illini.

The Reader's Say-So

TURNING THE TABLES
Editor, The Cardinal:

Why is it that so many supporters of Wisconsin's teams, both students and townspeople, feel justified in expressing their indignation at officials or opponents in the most vile manner possible, namely by hissing the object of their displeasure?

Regardless of the innocence or guilt of the one to whom the condemnation is directed hissing, it seems to me, is not only unsportsmanlike, but is the most ignorant and vulgar method of expressing disapproval that there is. What could be more disgusting to the sight than a group of supposedly grown-up rooters spitting and slobbering in an effort to hiss into oblivion the object of their wrath?

Last Saturday the most recent example of this sort of action occurred during the quadrangular track meet. An Ohio runner had lost his temper and, taking an unfair advantage of a Badger runner, had pushed him in such a way that he was thrown violently to the ground. A blackguard trick on the part of the Ohio man, no doubt, and one that every man on the Ohio team regretted.

The Wisconsin man got up fighting mad, but, greatly to his credit, he soon controlled himself and walked away. So far Wisconsin had kept her hands clean. Then unfortunately, part of the crowd starting to hiss and a miniature Eckersall affair developed. It took several minutes for the appeals of Wisconsin athletes and coaches to quiet the crowd. The tables were turned, Wisconsin had dirtied her hands as much as Ohio. In fact, perhaps even a little more so since we were hosts for the day and owed a special consideration on that account.

Those sport fans who have felt themselves flaring up with indignation when reading that French rugby fans had hissed the American players and flag would do well to consider whether they have first "cast the beam" out of their own eyes before they try to "cast the mote" out of the eyes of their French brother fans.

Leave hissing to the snakes. Let our motto be: There are no "hissers" at Wisconsin.

A VARSITY MAN

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS
Editor, The Cardinal:

I wish to inform the so styled "conscientious objectors" that we have a republican form of government. When congress declared war on Germany, and nearly everyone put his shoulder to the wheel, it showed that a majority were in favor of the war. Since the fundamental principle of a republican government is a rule of the majority, it was only just that Mr. Hassler and his disciples should be punished.

The only thing to be regretted is that the government was so lenient with those people. In such a situation as there was in 1917, the objectors were no different than a small group would be today that conscientiously objected to paying income taxes if their incomes were taxable. The government would punish objectors of the latter kind, then why not punish the objectors in case of war?

Let everyone look at this question of World Peace with a little forethought. There must be international co-operation instead of students organizing "we won't fight clubs". If the doctrine of these clubs were carried out, it would fall nothing short of suicide. We all want peace, but it is the duty of every man to defend the country that has made him what he is if it is endangered.

"Conscientious objectors" let me quote those beautiful lines of Stephen Decatur, and perhaps it will help strengthen your backs.

"Our country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country right or wrong."

German Club Will Present New Play on Thursday Night

The prudish governess with her spiritualistic tendencies, the whimsical uncle who wants his nephew to sow his wild oats, the snobbish tailor who insists that he is a gentleman, and the sissified librarian-tutor who is so easily gulled are all contained in the cost of the German play which will be given Thursday in Lathrop concert room. The comedy, "Der Bibliothekar" by Gustav von Moser, will be given by students of German under the auspices of the German club. Erwin Mohme is directing the play. The old favorite dramatic scheme of mistaken identity gives rise to complications and comical situations in which the characters find themselves. The play is easy to comprehend, since the language is mainly the colloquial German spoken in America.

Tickets are 35 cents and may be gotten from members of the cast or any instructors in the German department.

HAROLD REIGNS KING OF MIRTH AT THE STRAND

"GIRL SHY"

Featuring Harold Lloyd
Presented at the Strand

By J. F. W.

It isn't only the little boys who flock to the Strand this week to see Harold Lloyd do his stuff. All fans young and old, are gathering around the shrine of mirth to do homage to this lord of comedy and master of trick photography.

"Gir-Shy" is downright funny—for everyone except the highbrow who sits back in his seat and yearns for the "high seriousness" of venerable Greek tragedy. All others must hold on to the arm of their seats and howl. They simply can't help themselves.

The plot concerns an ambitious young author who decides to do a little uplifting among the just-passed adolescent males of the age by exposing the wiles of women as he knows them to be. For his method he decides on a confession book based on his own experiences. So far there is nothing strange. But the marvelous part of the whole proceeding is that the author hasn't had any experiences; in fact, he has never even been kissed. But he learns before the picture is over; a decidedly pretty girl sees to that.

As to the trick photography—well, if there is any, it's so well done that it can't be detected. But the wonderful trip the hero makes to rescue the heroine from an unhappy marriage is nothing short of miraculous. At any rate it is a survey of methods of transportation, old and new.

OPTIMIST CLUB HEAD SPEAKS IN MADISON

E. H. Wenzel, district governor of the Optimist International clubs, spoke at the noonday luncheon of the Madison Optimist club Monday.

Mr. Wenzel outlined the aims of the Optimist organizations, stating that the chief aim was to work for the betterment of delinquent boys.

He urged Madison Optimists to attend the convention in Milwaukee the first week in June. About 22 Madison Optimists plan to attend.

The Wisconsin Optimist clubs are growing rapidly, according to figures given out by Mr. Wenzel. There are clubs in Kenosha, Racine, Milwaukee, Sheboygan and Madison. The organization is working to establish clubs in Baraboo, Reedsburg, Janesville, and Manitowoc.

Plans for an Optimist picnic at which Optimists' wives will be guests were discussed.

PRIZE PLAY CONTEST
WILL END AUGUST 15

The intercollegiate prize playlet contest which is being held by Milton Hockey and Howard Green, vaudeville producers, and which was scheduled to close May 30, has been extended until August 15. It was found that owing to the pressure of final examinations many students were unable to get their manuscripts ready.

The producers are offering a prize of $250 to the winner in addition to a royalty of $50 for every week that the playlet appears in public.

For those not familiar with the conditions of the contest, a copy of the original announcement and rules will be sent if a request is made to Milton Hockey and Howard J. Green, 110 West 47th street, New York city.

SENATORS LENROOT AND GREEN BACK ON JOB

WASHINGTON—Sen. Lenroot, Rep., Wis., returned to the senate today after an illness of two months.

Senator Greene, Rep., Vt., who has been confined to his home since he was accidentally shot last February, appeared in the chamber to sustain President Coolidge's veto of the bonus bill.

Mr. Greene recently has been able to leave his bed and has not appeared in public since the accident. His support for the veto gave administration forces an unexpected additional vote.

Movies Are Good If You Pick Out the Right Films

By N. M. J.

At last—we have had a few good movies in town. The movies really are good if you pick out the right ones.

Some time ago we gave a list of pictures which had been received as the best of the year with the faint hope that Madison theaters would book some of them. Five of them have already been here, thanks to the local managers.

The Strand leads the list with three, "The Love Master", "Wild Oranges", and "Girl Shy". The Parkway brought two, "If Winter Comes", "The White Sister", and the Madison one, "Our Hospitality". And good news—"Beau Brummel" begins at the Parkway Sunday.

But there are more than a score of others which we did not mention and which should have been here a long time ago. They are not suave productions like "America" recently released, and most of them have been out for many months, but we will wager our last waistcoat that they will bring crowded houses.

Marian Davies in "Yolands" has been hailed as the screen's greatest comedienne. Not only is the picture a magnificent costume drama with Joseph Urban settings, but it is a hilarious satire on the costume picture, itself.

Once in a while there comes a so-called "scenic" that is so true an extract from life that all the make-believe dramas seem feeble puppet shows by comparison. Such a picture was "Nanook of the North", and now movie audiences have responded as enthusiastically to another, "The Cruise of the Speejack" a film which pictures the cruise of a honey-moon yacht around the world.

"Secrets of Life", an educational, is nothing more than a microscopic peek into the homes of spiders, bees and ants, and it too has received comment as being drama of the most thrilling sort.

In the comedy field Ernst Lubitsch, the German director, has revealed himself as the Oscar Wilde of the movies, in his production for Warner Brothers, "The Marriage Circle." Douglas MacLean has at last stepped into the Chaplin-Lloyd class with "The Yankee Consul."

One last plaintive cry—when, oh when "A Woman of Paris", "The Hunchback of Notre Dame", and—and—"The Covered Wagon." Of course we can't expect "The Ten Commandments", "America", "The Thief of Bagdad" or "Dorothy Ver-

Upstage Bits

By TORMENTOR

First Chapter done and in—only four to go. Besides that, a history topic, and a play to write. Guess we'll graduate though.

Funny how the stage always figures in everything. Now they are trying to blame the "Cat and the Canary" for Posey's death.

Speaking of the C. and C. observant students in the audience report that a Madison audience is of a distinctly low grade. There was so much talk and anticipatory shivering and yelling that all the effects of "The Cat and Canary" were spoiled.

Harold Lloyd is in town again. Tormentor still insists that the best comedy ever made was "A Sailor Made Man". Wonder if he's still as good.

India took the day last week end. Not only was a play of Tagore's given Saturday night by the students from India, but a sermon on the same poet was preached Sunday morning by Doctor Haydon of the Unitarian church.

If you think you can't write a play, just look at the mimeographed formula (a young book) gotten out by Haresfoot and everybody will be doing it.

Morony reports that one completed book for next year's Haresfoot show is already in.

Eight girls and a kitchen stove in a run-about. The Ford didn't like it, but it certainly is stagey enough to make this column.

"THE PASSING SHOW"
COMING HERE MAY 30

At least one more legitimate stage attraction will be here before the summer movie season. "The Passing Show of 1923" will be at the Parkway for three performances May 30 and 31, according to Walter Dean Nealand, manager of the Fischer theaters.

On tour for more than nine months, the company has played in about every part of the country. The performance in Madison will non of Haddon Hall", until another year or so.

LAVERNE ACTORS GIVE CHARMING MARITIME PLAY

By M. C.

Cappy Ricks, Dorothy La Verne's presentation at the Orpheum this week is decidedly slow after the Cat and the Canary. But although it has inert, almost sleepy moments it is always pleasant and it is sometimes charming. On Sunday nights there is a family rather than a university audience and it demonstrates a familiar contentment with every turn of the plot.

The play is full of an heiress, her upstanding poor young man and her redoubtable father over whom they triumph lovingly. The father is also, to add to this irresistible combination of factors, a snorting, swearing extravaganza of a sea-captain.

Mr. Phipps as Cappy Ricks and Mr. Astor as Mr. Skinner do some very good acting. Mr. Hesselberg, perhaps because he is usually cast for the lover, suffers more than any other member from Broadway tricks; the tapping of the clenched fist to denote any one of a number of things; the quick right about face, the drooped head.

In choosing plays of proved popularity, Miss La Verne is choosing plays of approved morality and obvious and pleasant humor. She presents nothing beyond the possible experience of the audience. Compare her hold upon her audience with that of the pretty Elaine Hammerstein in Rupert of Hentzau, who made one wonder if Helen of Troy was not possibly a moron. It is more than the difference between the spoken and the silent dialogue, Miss La Verne has both brains and sympathy.

conclude the tour before final dispersion in New York.

The original cast consisted of Jobyna Howland, Joan Hay Walter Woolf and George Hassel surrounded by a chorus of 100 girls. How much of the original cast will be here is open to speculation. The advance agent of "The Passing Show" was that "Dreamy Melody", which every theater organist once knew by heart.

AMERICAN ACADEMY SCHOLARSHIP OUT

Fellow From Minnesota is Awarded Two Years' Study in Rome

To spend her first year of research work in Rome is the purpose of Miss Inez Scott who received the two-year scholarship from the American academy at Rome. While there, she will study old reliques and inscriptions that will help her in her research work in the classics. The students who do this work are expected to publish the results of their investigations.

The American academy at Rome grants two scholarships each year, one for one year and one for two years which enable students to carry on research work in archeology.

NATURE LOVERS MEET IN MICHIGAN

Landscape Societies From the States of Wisconsin and Illinois Plan Outing

The annual meeting of the Wisconsin chapter of the Friends of Native Landscape will be held this year in conjunction with the Chicago chapter at Big Sauble Point near Ludington, Mich., May 30 and 31 and June 1.

The purpose of the Michigan chapter of the Friends of Our Native Landscape in Michigan and to stimulate the movement for the creation of a state park to include the dune region near Ludington, which is said to be the most extensive and beautiful wilderness to be found anywhere in the Great Lakes region.

Jens Jensen, Chicago, architect, is founder of the society.

"This annual meeting will be distinctly a visit with nature. Although we shall be comfortably housed in two hotels and smaller cottages, we shall be fourteen miles from civilization, and sole masters of a far-reaching virgin area for the three days we are there," Mr. Jensen writes. "Our camp site is on a picturesque Lake Hamlin, and we shall have two big launches constantly at our command to take us to any landing spot we wish.

"The program will be in keeping with the character of the place. Friday morning and afternoon will be devoted to plant study expeditions under the leadership of Dr. Henry C. Cowles and other botanists, to or hiking trips, or to short walks that lead to beautiful spots for contemplation; in fact, you may do anything you please by yourself, or in other congenial company. Friday evening in the dunes, we shall have a camp-fire meeting. We shall eat fresh black bass baked in hot ashes. We shall have songs and dancing and general merry-making. Saturday morning we shall hike to Nordhouse lake, a land-locked pond of special interest, and at sundown we shall have unfolded before us again Kenneth Sawyer Goodrich's lovely masque, the 'Spirit of the Wold.' Then will follow our annual council fire, which is our missionary message for the preservation of worthy bits of native landscape. Residents of the whole neighborhood, including native Indians, will be invited to this gathering.

"Sunday afternoon we shall motor to Ludington, and at the outskirts of the town participate in a ceremony that shall give this meeting of the Friends an historic significance in the annals of this region. After this ceremony, we shall embark for the homeward journey.

"The Wisconsin chapter will join with us as usual, and groups from Ann Arbor, Lansing, Detroit and Grand Rapids have already signified their intention of attending."

The Wisconsin and Chicago members will leave Milwaukee Thursday evening, May 29th on steamer, landing at Ludington the following morning. Prof. F. A. Aust of the University of Wisconsin, a former pupil of Jens Jensen, has been secretary of the Wisconsin society since its organization.

WAUKESHA—Prof. Jacob E. Boethius, instructor of romance language at Carroll college here, will not return next year, having accepted a position at Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tenn.
