REORGANIZATION OF THE COURSE IN JOURNALISM

I.

- l. Beginning with the academic year 1927-28, the present four-year Course in Journalism shall be reorganized as the School of Journalism with a course of study for the junior and senior years leading to the degree of bachelor of arts, School of Journalism, and one graduate year leading to the degree of master of arts, School of Journalism.
- 2. For admission to the School of Journalism students must be eligible for junior standing in the Gollege of Letters and Science as a result of having completed satisfactorily the first two years of the general course leading to the degree of bachelor of arts.
- 3. Students entering the University as freshmen or sophomores should undertake to complete not only the studies required in the freshman and sophomore years of all candidates for the degree of bachelor of arts in the general course, but also such other courses open to freshmen and sophomores, as must be completed before the student in the School of Journalism may be recommended for his degree. The following is the list of all these courses, of both types:

	이 가슴 하는데 마다 가지 그 않는데 하는데 그 보는데 그 그 그 사람들이 되고 있는데 되는데 되었다.	Credits
(a)	Freshman English (English la and lb)	6
(b)	Two years of foreign language, preferably
	French or German (if the student does not complete the foreign language requirement in his freshman vear)	14-16
(c)	A freshman history course (History 1, 5 or 10),

4. Students who desire to enter the School of Journalism from other colleges and universities must meet the same requirements as students who take the first two years of their college work at the University.

- 5. The general requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, School of Journalism, in the matter of grade points, foreign language, and English, are the same as those necessary for the degree of bachelor of arts in the general course, except that candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, School of Journalism, shall secure 124 credits and grade points and fifty per cent (50%) more grade points than credits in required and elective courses in journalism, inclusive of the thesis.
- 6. The required courses in the School of Journalism (in addition to those freshman and sophomore courses listed in Section 3) are:

	Credits
(a) Journalism (2), 3, 104, 105 (2 credits), 110,111	22
(b) Economics 15 (retail advertising)	. 2
(c) Thesis	. 4
(d) Fifteen (15) or sixteen (16) credits from at least three of the following groups: Credits	3

Political Science 125 or 137, and 114, 115, or 135 6
Philosophy 11, 21, 25, or 41 3
Sociology 139 or 140 3

- 7. Students in the School of Journalism, except candidates for the teachers certificate, may include Economics 13 and 16 in the 124 credits required for graduation.
- 8. Candidates for the teachers certificate in journalism are advised to complete a minor in English.

DOCUMENT 302 -- MAY 1927

The Graduate Faculty present for approval the following requirements for the Master's degree in Journalism under the plan for the reorganization of the Course in Journalism into a School of Journalism, the undergraduate work of which was adopted by the University Faculty at its meeting of April 4, 1927:

- 1. Graduates of the University of Wisconsin and of other institutions whose requirements for the first degrees are substantially equivalent to those of the University of Wisconsin may be admitted to the Graduate School. Such students may be admitted as candidates for the master's degree in journalism provided that (1) they have completed the equivalent of the requirements in journalism for graduation from the school of Journalism, or (2) they pass satisfactorily a comprehensive examination on the technique of journalism based on their practical journalistic or teaching experience.
- 2. The requirements for the master's degree in journalism shall be one year of approved graduate work, (or the equivalent in a minimum of four summer sessions and three in absentia assignments), at least one-half of which shall be in journalism, including a seminar course and a thesis, and the remaining part in one or more of such subjects as history, economics, political science, sociology, psychology, and English.
- 3. An oral examination on the undergraduate and graduate work in journalism and on the graduate work in other subjects shall be required of all candidates for the master's degree in journalism.

The Graduate Faculty presents for approval the following requirements for the Master's Degree in Physical Education:

A. PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR WOMEN

The approximate equivalent of the undergraduate major in physical education at the University of Wisconsin must be completed in order to enable one to become a candidate for this degree. The undergraduate major may be either in general physical education or in the major in dancing. In addition to the requirements of the Graduate School, candidates will be expected to offer a minimum of seventy-five credits in academic subjects out of the total undergraduate curriculum. The requirements include a thesis and one year of graduate courses pursued in residentations university. Three summer sessions of six weeks or two of nine weeks may be offered in lieu of one semester of residence. The privilege of working for the Master's degree on the in absentia basis is not open to students in physical education.

Two possibilities are open to students of physical education who wish to acquire a Master's degree: (1) Those interested in the educational field may take their second degree in education, with part of the work in physical education. This arrangement is especially desirable for those who have a thorough background in physical education and who wish to take courses in such allied fields as the psychology of learning, supervision, research, the psychology of teaching, and motor learning. (2) Students who wish more advance work in physical education than was possible in their undergraduate curriculum may obtain their Master's degree in physical education.

B. PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR MEN

The substantial equivalent of the undergraduate major in physical education at the University of Wisconsin must be completed in order to enable one to become a candidate for the Master's degree. In addition to the requirements of the Graduate School, candidates will be expected to offer a minimum of seventy-five credits in academic subjects out of the total undergraduate curriculum in subjects other than physical education. The requirements include a thesis and one year of graduate work pursued in residence at this institution. Three summer sessions of six weeks or two of nine weeks may be offered in lieu of one semester of residence. The privilege of working for the Master's degree on the in absentia basis is not open to students in physical education.

Two possibilities are open to students of physical education who wish to acquire a Master's degree: (1) Those interested in the educational field may take their second degree in education, with part of the work in physical education. (2) Students who wish more advanced work in physical education than was possible in their undergraduate curriculum may obtain their Master's degree in Physical education.

Joint Major

Graduate work for a Master's degree is provided for by a joint major in education and physical education. Certain courses given by the Department of Physiology and Clinical Medicine are also listed as courses in physical education and may be counted toward the graduate major.
