PREFACE.

This book was planned and the first two parts of it issued fifteen years ago. During this time it has been used widely; also continuously in the church whence was appointed the Committee of Revision. Thus the Committee has had the guidance of direct and prolonged experience, together with much helpful counsel from many others who also have used the book a long time. Our work in revision has been sincerely a labor of love, done slowly and carefully. The revised form has been sent in print (page-proofs) to several ministers for criticism, and has profited much from their counsel. After this, the concluding part of the work as originally planned was prepared, consisting of one more service (XIV) and seventy-five songs. The additional one service was prepared first by one of our Committee of Revision, submitted then to the criticism, very helpful, of two ministers who gave faithful thought to it, and finally brought under the care and discussion of the whole Committee. All the new songs have been submitted to the judgment of an accomplished musician who has supplied the harmonies.

After our long experience in the use of this book, in the present revision founded on that experience we trust we may hope no important point has been left unconsidered, and may offer the book to the churches, not indeed as perfect nor nearly perfect (how could that be in a Book of Worship?), but as, we trust, one more step toward a beautiful means of congregational expression in prayer, praise, trust and aspiration.

The following have been our guiding rules:

1. To use all Scriptures, of whatever race or tongue.
2. To use most our own Bible, because to us the most dear, familiar and beautiful.
3. To attain the different but accordant helpfulness of both variety and repetition. Variety is sought in the readings;

repetition, in regularity of form and in the constant recurrence of a few chorals, musical responses and chants throughout the services.

4. In the responses to have the readings really responsive to each other, so as to make the responsive-reading a manner of devout converse, and not a merely formal alternate recitation.

5. To have a considerable and marked difference in character between the music of the songs and the service-music.

6. To provide at least two songs specially adapted to each service.

7. To have the songs melodious and attractive, but also highly and truly musical, and the words poetical and elevated; and to permit not one song to enter the collection which we ourselves would not incline to use. Indeed, out of the 115 songs, including a few choral hymns, there are barely three or four not already used by us, or in some of our churches, with unfailing delight a long time.

I. GOD THE FATHER.

Praise ye the Lord!
It is good to sing praises unto our God.
The Lord lifteth up the meek;
He casteth the wicked down to the ground.
He healeth the broken in heart
And bindeth up their wounds.
Sing unto the Lord with thanksgiving.

—Ps. cxlvii

All standing and singing.

*Praise ye the Lord, who with majesty ruleth in all things;
Who thee preserves and upbears as on pinions of eagles;
Who thee upholds when by thyself thou wouldst fall.
Verily, hast thou not known it?*

All seated.

Responses.

Bless the Lord, O my soul,
And all that is within me, bless his holy name!
Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits!
Who crowneth thee with loving kindness and tender mercies;
Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him.
Bless the Lord, all his works, in all the places of his dominion! —Ps. ciii.

Prayer.

To us there is one God, the Father, from whom are all things, and we in him. —1 Cor. viii.

All standing.

Heavenly Father, in whose name we have come together, help us to quiet our minds, that in stillness and reverence we may think of thee.

All reading.

O Thou who gavest us life, and every day dost give us blessings, we thank thee for thy loving kindness, for homes and friends, for daily bread and nightly rest. Our Father, bless the teachings of this day. What is spoken in our ear, may we take to our heart. Amen.

Thine is the kingdom,

THE PARTING.

Psalmody—Pleyel.

Fa-ther, hear our humble pray'r! Tender Shepherd of thy sheep,

Let thy mer - cy and thy care All our souls in safe-ty keep.

*In thy strength may we be strong;
Hallow every cross and pain;
Give us, if we live, ere long
Here to meet in peace again.*

Benediction—responsive.

The Lord be with you.

The Lord bless thee.

—Ruth ii.

The Lord bless us and keep us:
The Lord make his face to } shine upon us: { The Lord lift up the light of } his countenance upon us, And } give us peace. Amen.

—Num. vi.

II. JOY.

Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands!
Serve the Lord with gladness.
Come before his presence with singing!
Be thankful unto him and bless his name!
For the Lord is good; his mercy is everlasting.
And his truth endureth to all generations.

—Psalm c.

Responses.

O come, let us sing unto the Lord; let us make a joyful noise to the Rock of our salvation.

Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving and make a joyful noise unto him with psalms!

In his hand are the deep places of the earth; the heights of the hills are his also:

The sea is his, and he made it; and his hands formed the dry land. —Ps. xcvi.

Let the sea roar, and the fullness thereof; the world and they that dwell therein.

Let the floods clap their hands; let the hills be joyful together before the Lord!

With righteousness shall he judge the world, and the people with equity. —Ps. xcviii.

The wilderness and the parched land shall be glad, and the desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose.

It shall blossom abundantly, and rejoice even with joy and singing.

23

The eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped:

The lame man shall leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb sing.

In the wilderness shall waters break forth, and streams in the desert:

And the parched ground shall become a pool, and the thirsty land springs of water.

There shall be joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

Prayer.

The Lord is our Shepherd, we shall not want. He maketh us to lie down in green pastures, he leadeth us beside the still waters.

—Ps. xxiii.

All standing.

O Thou who hast brought us to this hour, we pray Thee to bless it. Help us to be faithful, that it may be good for us to be here. Make us strong in duty and brave in trial. And may thy peace be with us all.

All reading.

We thank thee, O Father, for the light of day, the stillness of night, the beauty of sky and earth, the stars and the flowers, the dear faces of those we love, and the gift of immortal life. Let thy blessing be with us, heavenly Father. What we shall learn, may we remember; what we remember, with thy help may we do. Amen.

The Lord is good to all;
All thy works do praise thee, Lord;

His tender mercies are o - ver all his works.
Thy ser-vants all do bless thee.

All seated.

—Ps. cxlv., 9, 10.

THE PARTING.

Psalmody—Azmon.

Fair are the feet that bring the news Of gladness un - to me:

How many messengers God hath, If we had eyes to see!

*Lo! all things are thine angels, Lord,
That bring my God to me:
O for the ear to hear thy word!
O for the eye to see!*

Benediction—responsive.

The Lord be with you.

The Lord bless thee.

—Ruth ii.

Ye shall go out with joy and be led forth with peace.

—Isa. lv.

The Lord bless us and keep us:
The Lord make his face to shine upon us: } The Lord lift up the light of his countenance upon us, And } give us peace. Amen.

—Num. vi.

III. DUTY.

O magnify the Lord with me;
Let us exalt his name together.
Come, ye children, harken unto me;
I will teach you the fear of the Lord.
Keep thy tongue from evil,
And thy lips from speaking guile.
Depart from evil and do good;
Seek peace and pursue it.

—Ps. xxxiv.

All standing and singing.

Praise ye the Lord, who with ma-jes-ty rul-eth in Who thee pre-serves and up-bears as on pin-ions of all things; } Who thee upholds when by thyself thou wouldst fall. Ver - i - ly, hast thou not known it?

*Praise ye the Lord, who prepareth thy way in his wisdom;
 When thy strength faileth, he keepeth thy feet for his love's sake.
 In what great need hath not the merciful God
 Spread his wings over his children?*

All seated.

Responses.

How much better is it to get wisdom than gold!

Yea, to get understanding is rather to be chosen than silver.

He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty, and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city.

Better is it to be of a humble spirit with the lowly than to divide the spoil with the proud.

Many are in high place and of renown;

But mysteries are revealed unto the meek.

Honor thy father and mother both in word and deed;

A blessing cometh upon thee from them.

My son, help thy father in his age, and grieve him not as long as he liveth:

The hoary head is a crown of glory, if it be found in the way of righteousness.

Let no man think lightly of evil, saying in his heart, It will not come near me:

Let no man think lightly of good, saying in his heart, It will not benefit me.

If any live a hundred years ignorant and unrestrained, a life of one day is better if a man be wise and reflecting:

If any live a hundred years not seeing the highest law, a life of one day is better if a man see the highest law.

Prayer.

Let the words of our mouths and the meditation of our hearts be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, our Strength and our Redeemer. —Ps. xix.

All standing.

Heavenly Father, thy blessings rest upon us, and give us strength. Help us to know thy laws, and to obey them, not with eye-service, but heartily. Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, may we think on these things.

All reading.

Father, may we love and speak the truth. May we be kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving, holding no anger or malice. Help us to overcome our faults and the sin which easily besets us. If we be tempted to do wrong, may the thought of thee keep us from the evil. Amen.

Blessed are they whose ways are pure;
Blessed are they who keep his precepts,

Who walk in the law of the Lord.

IV. TRUST.

It is good to pray unto God, for his sorrowing children
 Turns he ne'er from the door; but he heals and helps and con-soles them.

It is good to pray when all things are prospering with us;
 For do ye know, ye children, one blessing that comes not from heaven?

Love is the source of creation—God's essence. Worlds without number

Lie in his bosom like children.

All standing and singing.

My son, if thou come to serve the Lord, prepare thy soul for temptation. Set thy heart aright, and constantly endure, and make not haste in time of trouble. Whatsoever is brought upon thee, take cheerfully, and be patient when thou art changed to a low estate. Believe in him and he will help thee;
 order thy way aright and trust in him.

—Ecclesiasticus ii.

Worship the Lord in the beau - ty of ho - li - ness, —Ps. xcvi.

Look at the generations of old, and see: did any ever trust in the Lord and was confounded? or did any abide in his fear and was forsaken? or whom did he ever despise that called upon him? Woe unto you that have lost patience! and what will ye do when the Lord shall visit you? Woe unto him that is faint-hearted! for he believeth not.

Responses.

O Lord, thou hast searched me and known me; thou knowest my downsitting and mine uprising; thou understandest my thought afar off. Thou compassed my path and my lying down, and art acquainted with all my ways. For there is not a word in my tongue, but lo! O Lord, thou knowest it altogether.

Thou hast beset me behind and before and laid thine hand upon me. Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; it is high, I cannot attain to it.

Whither shall I go from thy spirit, or whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there; if I make my bed in the grave, behold thou art there:

If I take the wings of the morning and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea, even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me:

If I say, Surely the darkness shall cover me, even the night shall be light about me:

Yea, the darkness hideth not from thee, but the night shineth as the day; the darkness and the light are both alike to thee.

I will praise thee, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made; wonderful are thy works, and that my soul knoweth right well.

—Ps. cxxxix.

The Eternal God is our dwelling-place, and underneath us are the everlasting arms.

Prayer.

All standing.

Lord, thy peace be with us, the peace that passeth understanding, that spreadeth out like the heavens, like a tent to dwell in. Peace be in us with our lot; peace be in our houses, that works and words of love be in them. Let us hear what God will speak; for thou wilt speak peace unto thy people.

V. NATURE.

O give thanks unto the Lord;
Talk ye of all his wondrous ways.
He covereth himself with light as with a garment:
He stretcheth out the heavens like a curtain:
He layeth the beams of his chambers in the waters:
He maketh the clouds his chariot:
He rideth upon the wings of the wind.
Praise ye the name of the Lord.

The heavens declare the glory of God,
 And the firmament showeth his handiwork.
 Day uttereth speech unto day,
 And night showeth knowledge unto night.
 They have no speech nor language,
 And their voice is not heard;
 Yet their sound is gone out through all the earth,
 And their words to the end of the world.

For the wealth of pathless forests whereon no ax may fall;
for the winds that haunt the branches, the young bird's timid call; for the red leaves dropped like rubies upon the dark green sod; for the waving of the forests—

We thank thee, O our God!

For the lifting up of mountains in brightness and in dread; for the peaks where snow and sunshine alone have dared to tread; for the dark of silent gorges whence mighty cedars nod; for the majesty of mountains—

We thank thee, O our God!

For the hidden scroll o'erwritten with one dear name adored;
for the heavenly in the human, the spirit in the word; for the tokens of thy presence within, above, abroad; for thine own great gift of Being—

We thank thee, O our God!

It is he that maketh all things:

But he himself is more excellent than all which he hath made.

They are beautiful,

VII. FREEDOM.

FREEDOM, FELLOWSHIP AND CHARACTER IN RELIGION.

Freedom in Religion is to think and speak about religion freely and reverently, unfettered by any power, or by any person, or by our own passions or prejudices: and to claim the same liberty for all men.

Let the counsel of thine own heart stand;
For a man's mind is sometimes wont to tell him more
Than seven watchmen that sit above in a high tower:
And above all, pray to the Most High,
That he will direct thy way in truth.

—Ecclesiasticus xxxvii.

VIII. FELLOWSHIP.

“FREEDOM, FELLOWSHIP AND CHARACTER IN RELIGION.”

Fellowship in Religion is to bring the brotherhood of man into religion, so that the bond of humanity is put above that of creed or church or any other thing. This will teach us not to set bounds anywhere, as to say, We will receive all Christians, but not a Jew, or, We will receive Jews and Christians, but no others; but to say, as Paul did, that we receive all, being made of one blood, and walking under the common sky of the One Creator and Father.

Say not, I will love the wise and hate the unwise; thou shalt love all mankind.

—Talmud.

Religions are many and different; but reason is one. We are all brethren.

—Chinese Scripture.

Let us not love in word, neither in tongue, but in deed and in truth.

God is love; and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God and God in him.

This commandment we have, that he who loveth God love his brother also.

—New Testament.

All standing and singing.

God that made the world and all things therein, the Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands, neither is worshiped with men's hands as though he needed anything, seeing he giveth to all life and breath and all things, and hath made of one all nations of men, to dwell on all the face of the earth, that they should seek the Lord if haply they might feel after him and find him, though he be not far from any one of us.

—Paul.

Responses.

God speaketh in the secret places of the soul, and says:
Thou art a man; all men shall be thy neighbors and thy brothers.

We are members of one great body; each was born for the good of all.

When brothers are unkind, it is as if the two hands which God has formed to aid each other, neglecting this duty, should hinder each other:

Or as if the feet, formed by God to act together, should forsake this office and obstruct each other.

God hath designed brothers to be of greater service to each other than hands or feet or eyes or other members which he hath given in pairs to men. —Socrates.

Behold, how good and pleasant it is to dwell together in unity!

There are differing gifts,
 But the same spirit;
 And there are different kinds of service,
 But the same Lord;
 And there are different ways of working,
 But it is the same God that worketh in all.

—Paul

IX. CHARACTER.

"FREEDOM, FELLOWSHIP AND CHARACTER IN RELIGION."

"Character is Nature in the highest form." Character in Religion means that what we are is the supreme matter: not the prayers we utter, still less the creed we accept, but what we are in the heart. Also it means that all true worship springs from love of goodness, and that no man's religion can be better or purer than he is in the depths of his soul.

He who does a good deed is instantly ennobled. The safety of God, the immortality of God, the majesty of God do enter into a man with justice. —Emerson.

Who shall ascend the hill of the Lord and stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands and a pure heart, who hath not inclined his soul to falsehood nor spoken deceitfully. —Ps. xxiv.

Teach me wisdom in my inmost soul: create in me a pure heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me. —Ps. li.

Two things command my reverence, the starry universe around me, and the law of duty within me.

Duty! It makes the sky and the hills sublime, and the silent song of the stars is it.

The rose and the lily of the field, the green hills, waving woods, singing birds, and sparkling waters, the sun in the heavens and the multitude of stars by night—these things are beautiful.

These things are glorious, but a good man is more beautiful and glorious.

Fear God, and where you go, men shall think they walk in hallowed cathedrals:

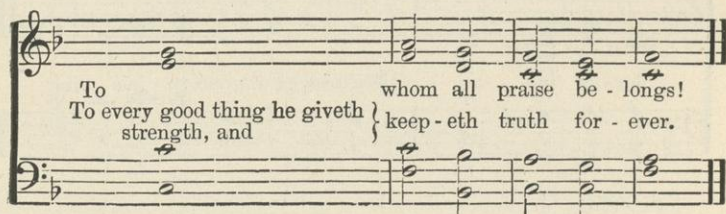

When a man lives with God, his voice shall be as sweet as the murmur of the brook and the rustle of the corn.

Jesus taught the law of Religion,

To love the Lord our God with all our heart and mind
and strength:

And the law of justice,

To love our neighbors as ourselves:

And the law of Love,

To love our enemies, to bless them that curse us, to do good to them that hate us:

That we may be children of the Father in Heaven,

Who maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good,
and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust.

Jesus was a high and holy seer,

Our teacher, friend and brother.

His youth was unknown; afterward the world saw him but a little time, while he preached in the synagogues and by the wayside, and went about doing good. Many heard him gladly and found strength and new hope in his words; but others reviled him and received not his teachings. He was scourged, mocked, crowned with thorns, and put to death upon the cross. But he was faithful to the end, and victorious over death, bearing all things, hoping all things, rejoicing in the truth.

Thanks be to God for his holy saints; thanks be to him who giveth wisdom, which in all ages entering into holy souls, maketh them friends of God and prophets.

Gloria.

1. Be thou exalted, O God, a - - bove the heavens,
 2. All the ends of the world shall wor - ship thee,

And thy glory be o - ver all the earth!
 And glorify thy ho - ly name for - ever!

Jesus loved the beauty of the earth,
 Saying, "Consider the lilies of the field how they grow."
 He loved children and the child-like heart,
 Saying, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of heaven."
 He loved the outcast and the wicked,
 Saying, "Neither do I condemn thee; go and sin no more."
 He was merciful and prayed for his enemies,
 Saying, "Father, forgive them; they know not what they do."
 His trust was in God and in the unseen things which are eternal. He taught that religion is not in words or forms, but in the thought of the heart. When we labor, or if we be sorrowful or heavy-laden, tempted, sinful, cold-hearted, the thought of him may be strength unto us to be faithful, cheerful and kind.

Thanks be to God for his holy saints: thanks be to him who giveth wisdom, which in all ages entering into holy souls, maketh them friends of God and prophets.

Come, hear the wise and good, the saints and seers of the world, Whose sacred words teach us truth, whose holy lives give us strength.

Zoroaster said:

Adore God by means of sincere actions.

Give me, O God, these two desires, to see, and to question myself.

Him whom I exalt with my praise I now see with my eye,
knowing him to be God,

The reality of the good mind, the good deed, the good word.

Moses said:

Thou shalt not kill, nor bear false witness, nor covet, nor steal, nor profane the name of God. Thou shalt not oppress any one, but love thy neighbor as thyself. Thou shalt honor thy father and thy mother. Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honor the face of the old man:

Ye shall be holy, for the Lord our God is holy.

Confucius said:

To see what is right, and not to do it, is the part of a cowardly mind.

If one cannot improve himself, or serve men, how can he improve others, or serve God?

He who requires much from himself and little from others, will save himself from anger. Only he who has the most complete sincerity, can transform and inspire others.

Treat not others as you would not wish them to treat you. Love to speak of the good in others.

Make happy those who are near, and those who are far will come.

Thanks be to God for his holy saints: thanks be to him who giveth wisdom, which in all ages entering into holy souls maketh them friends of God and prophets.

1. Be thou exalted, O God, a - - bove the heavens,
2. All the ends of the world shall wor - ship thee,

And thy glory be o - ver all the earth!
And glorify thy ho - ly name for - ever!

Buddha taught thus:

Overcome anger with love, evil with good. For wrath is not stilled by wrath at any time:

Anger ceases by love—this is an everlasting law.

Not in the sky, nor in the midst of the sea, nor in the clefts of mountains is any place known where a man may escape from his evil deed. For the evil-doer burns by his own deeds, yea, as if burnt by fire.

But there is no evil for one who does no evil.

Socrates said:

To want as little as possible, is to make the nearest approach to God; and let any man be of good cheer about his soul who has followed knowledge and goodness in this life:

Be of good cheer, and know this of a truth, that no evil can happen to a good man, either in life or after death.

Mohammed taught thus:

The East and the West are God's, and whithersoever ye turn yourselves to pray, there is the face of God.

It is he who foldeth you to himself at night and knows what ye merit by day. He also awakens you that the appointed time be fulfilled.

The servants of the merciful are they who walk meekly on the earth, and when the ignorant speak to them, say,
Peace be with you.

What ever good ye shall do in your life, ye shall find it with God.

Jesus said:

Blessed are the pure in heart,
For they shall see God.

Blessed are the peacemakers,
For they shall be called the children of God.

By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples,
 If ye have love one to another.
 God is Spirit, and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.

Thanks be to God for his holy saints: thanks be to him who giveth wisdom, which in all ages entering into holy souls, maketh them friends of God and prophets.

Zoroaster. Very little is known of this very ancient religious teacher, and some scholars have doubted or denied his existence. His name was Spitama Zarathushtra, changed to Zoroaster by the Greeks. He seems to have lived in Central Asia as early as 1000 B. C., or possibly as early as Moses (1300 B. C.) or even as Abraham (1800 B. C.); but the different dates assigned him by tradition differ as much as 5000 years. He is the prophet of the religion of the Parsees: the Scriptures that rest on his name and teaching are called the Zend-Avesta. He spoke of himself "as a messenger of God." In the old Scriptures, prayers and laws, he appears as a supernatural personage, surrounded with legends, miracles and signs; but in the very oldest of all the Parsee Scriptures, he appears simply as a great and good man. Few Parsees are now to be found in Persia. This remnant is in a miserable condition, debased by constant persecution. But in India they are wealthy, energetic, multiplying and improving, and pushing education among the girls as well as the boys, contrary to Oriental prejudice and to their own previous custom. They are gathered mostly in and near Bombay. They are called Fire-Worshippers; but the Fire or Sun is looked on as the best SYMBOL of Deity. They worship BEFORE fire in their temples, but they adore God, as taught by Zoroaster, under the name Ahuramazda (Ormuzd), which means The Living One who is Creator of All.

Moses. The first unquestionably historical character of eminence in Hebrew history. He freed the Israelites (The Exodus from Egypt about 1320 B. C.), gave an imperishable impulse to the development of their national unity during their wanderings for fifty years over the desert in detached bands, founded their worship of one holy and austere God (Yahweh) and connected with their religion a high code of morals (Ten Commandments). But the greater part of the so-called Law of Moses in the Old Testament grew up hundreds of years after his time. Very little is known of him, his birth, life and death being covered all over with miraculous legends; but enough can be made out to show a strong, grand figure in those far-away mists of time.

Confucius. Born about 550 B. C. He was poor and compelled to work for his livelihood. Began to teach at twenty-two years of age. He was made magistrate of a town and reformed its morals even to the quality of the handiwork: was made minister in the government, but was so strictly just and upright that he was driven into exile. For many years he was poor, hungry, slandered, and his life was attempted. At last, when he was seventy years old and had but five years to live, he was recalled, and during those five years did most of his writing. To the Chinese he is the ideal of humanity, and his effect on their life has been very great. All the cities and even small towns in China have a temple sacred to him. He spent the years of his exile in wandering about, trying to find some ruler who would listen to him and learn to make the people good and happy. He had great reverence for old persons, and also for the ancient saints of his country: he said, "It may simply be said of me that I strive to become like them." He was respectful to the young also, saying, "We know not but their future will be equal to our present." He was very gentle to the sick, the weak, the helpless: if he angled, he would not use a net; if he hunted, he would not shoot at a perching bird. He was continually warning people both to study and to think, to be fair and just, to keep a calm mind, and to beware of narrowness and one-sidedness. He taught that everything should have JUST ITS OWN PLACE, and said, "The best country is that in which the Emperor is Emperor, the minister minister, the father father, and the son son." He was charitable and inclined to see the good and beautiful: a disciple said, "If the master sees one good in a man, he forgets a hundred faults." "His answers to all policies of hopelessness or indifference were always noble, and his acts fearless of evil tongues." He admitted no antagonism between heaven and earth; he said: "If you are not able to serve men, how can you serve God?" and "The secret of the whole way of heaven and earth is that they are one and undivided." He is a noble, calm, lofty and inspiring figure in that strange country and distant land.

Buddha. Called also Gautama, Sakya-Muni, Siddartha: lived in northern India probably about 550 or 450 years B. C.; but his time is stated by different traditions with a difference of 2000 years. Very little is known of him, and the tradition is crusted all over with miraculous stories. Some persons have even denied his existence. Said to have been a prince who was so affected by the ills of humanity that he deserted his rank and family to seek a remedy for human sorrow. At first his preaching failed; he was charged with heresy and insanity, and driven from his native country. But soon he triumphed; for forty years he wandered about in a beggar's dress, preaching in northern India, drawing multitudes of all classes by his eloquence and saintly character; died at about eighty years of age. He founded the religion called Buddhism; very little is known of its history during its first 100 years. It spread widely in India, but finally it nearly died out there, so that very little of it remains in its birth place, but it spread over China, Japan, and many other regions, and is now the religion of about one-third of the human race. Gautama led a high and saintly life of self-denial, labor and poverty, to help his fellow men, for pity of their sorrows and pains.

Socrates. Lived at Athens, 469 to 399 B. C. We know but little of the circumstances of his life of seventy years. Was at first a statuary like his father; served as a soldier, and was once a member of the Athenian Senate. He is famous and beloved for his long career (thirty years) of apostolic conversation, walking about all day in the streets, market-places and public resorts, talking with any one who would converse with him. His aim was to teach men to think, so that they might learn what virtue REALLY was and then practice it. His power of rousing men to think was unparalleled. But he encountered much enmity and abuse, was finally brought to trial on charges of impiety and of perverting the minds of young persons, and condemned to death. His address to his judges is one of the world's treasures, so lofty is it. He told the judges that even if they spared him, he should go about conversing just as before, because it was his mission, and he preferred to obey God rather than men. He believed himself to be under constant divine guidance, and spoke of a voice continually attending him which he always obeyed; this voice, he said, did not point out to him things to do, but always warned him when he was in danger of doing any thing wrong or unwise. He was very simple in habits, just temperate, independent, contented in poverty, strong in body, going barefoot summer and winter, and wearing the same homely clothing at all seasons. "He made those who associated with him better before he let them go. * * * To God he simply prayed for good things, believing that God knows best what things are good. * * * So frugal was he that perhaps no one could earn so little by the labor of his hands as not to procure enough to satisfy Socrates." (Xenophon.) He founded no religion, but his disciple Plato put the substance of his teaching into his own philosophy (Plato's Dialogues of Socrates) and they became the foundation of other schools of Greek thought which practically spiritualized the old Greek and Roman Religions and helped prepare the classic world in due time to receive Christianity.

Mohammed. Also spelled Mahomet. Born about 570 A. D., at Mecca. He came of a noble family in the most influential of the Arabian tribes. He was left an orphan while yet a young child, and also poor. His character as a youth was very high, so that he was known commonly by the name El-Ameen, meaning "the Faithful." Afterward, by reason of his virtue and good sense and valuable service in business transactions, he was raised to wealth by marriage. He continued till he was forty years old to adore the Idols worshiped by his tribe and ancestors. Then he discarded them, and faithfully to the end of his life (A. D. 632, or near that date) he preached to his countrymen the adoration of the One God, and declared the Idols to be nothing and the worship of them a degradation. For this he suffered great derision, contempt and neglect, and at last persecution, danger and threatenings. But he never wavered, and finally triumphed. He had armies of followers and became very powerful. But he maintained his simple manners and nature to the end. At first he inculcated only peace and patience, but at last he seems to have encouraged the spreading of his teachings by the sword; in which he differed from all the others of THE GREAT SEVEN. He composed the Koran, which is the Bible of his disciples, a large Scripture in 114 chapters, greatly venerated by the Moslems for its teachings and for poetic beauty. It enforces continually the Unity of God, his Immanence in all Nature, his Holy and Perfect Providence, the Immortality of Man, and much ethical instruction that is very high and pure. Mohammed averred the Koran to be a direct revelation from God. He acknowledged Moses and Jesus with reverence, and the value of the Hebrew and Christian Scriptures. Islam (as he called his religion) made his followers better men, and is professed now by about two hundred millions of people in Asia and Africa.

XII. FAITHFUL IN ALL THINGS.

Come, let us sing together!

It clears a way for prayer, disperses dullness of heart, purifies the soul from poor and little passions, opens heaven and carries the heart near it, to sing these songs of praise. They kindle a holy flame, they turn the heart into an altar, prayer into worship.

Let us strive earnestly to be faithful in all things. He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much; And he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much.

— Jesus.

If we are to live unto God at any time or in any place, we are to live unto him at all times and in all places:

If we are to use anything as the gift of God, we are to use everything as his gift:

If we are to do anything by strict rules of reason and piety, we are to do everything in the same manner.

Reason and wisdom and piety are as much the best things at all times and in all places, as at any time or in any place.

The future needs us. Though no one heed or praise, let us work faithfully with heart and strength to help our time to take its stand.

Let us join hands and help; for to-day we are on earth together.

However things may seem, no good thing is failure and no evil thing success:

God stands within all shadows and keeps watch above his own.

Gloria.

O praise the Lord, all ye his people: And all that is within us, praise his holy name.

He is One God and Father, Almighty and merciful: Give praise to him with song and holy psalm.

Let us be truthful:

He that speaketh the truth from his heart shall never be moved. —Ps. xv.

Let us be courageous for the right:

Watch ye, stand fast in faith, quit ye like men, be strong. —Paul.

Let us be just:

Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. —Moses, Jesus, Buddha, Confucius, Zoroaster, Talmud, etc.

Let us return good for evil:

Blessed is he who loveth God, and his friend in God, and his enemy for God. —Augustine.

Let us rule our own spirit, putting away anger:

Be stern to ourselves and gentle to others. —Confucius.

Let us be generous and considerate.

Waste not thy substance: but help the poor and the wayfarer; and if thou have naught to give, at least speak kindly to them. —Mohammed.

Let us not be slothful in business, but fervent in spirit: —Paul.

My Father worketh hitherto, and I work. —Jesus.

Let us be obedient:

Honoring them that are in authority, and hearkening to the commandment of God, which is not hidden from thee, neither far off, but in thy mouth and in thy heart that thou mayst do it. —Bible.

If we seek what is true, what is honest, what is just, pure, lovely and of good repute, and strive sincerely for them, we are not left alone: all things work together for good to them that love God.

Gloria. Music as before.

XIII. THANKSGIVING AND PRAISE.

The Lord reigneth; let the earth rejoice!
 Let the multitude of isles be glad!
 The heavens declare his righteousness,
 And all the people see his glory.
 Light is sown for the righteous,
 And gladness for the upright in heart.
 Rejoice in the Lord,
 Give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness.—Ps. xcvi.

All standing and singing.

When ye glorify the Lord, exalt him as much as ye can;
 Put forth all your strength and be not weary,
 For ye can never go far enough;
 There are yet hid greater things than these be,
 For we have seen but a few of his works. —Ecclesiasticus xliii.

Thy name I will praise for-ev-er, And bless thee ev'ry day!

The Lord is ver-y great And shall greatly be praised:

All the angels shall praise thy acts And declare thy mighty deeds:

I will talk of thy great glory, And of thy wond'rous works.

—Ps. cxlv.

Show forth the praise of the Lord with songs,
 And in praising him say after this manner:—
 All the works of the Lord are good,
 And he will give every needful thing in due season:
 So that a man cannot say, This is worse than that;
 For in time they shall all be well approved.
 Therefore, praise ye the Lord with the whole heart,
 And bless the name of the Lord.

—Ecclesiasticus xxxix.

Response—Music as before.

*The Lord is good to all,
 Over all his works is love;
 All thy works shall praise thee, O Lord,
 Thy children shall bless thee.*

*They tell thy glorious rule
And they talk of thy might,
To make known to the sons of men
All thy majesty of power.
Thy kingdom is everlasting,
Thy glory hath no end.*

—Ps. cxlv.

God giveth to the beast his food
And to the young ravens which cry.
He healeth the broken in heart
And bindeth up their wounds.
He telleth the number of the stars,
And calleth them all by their names.

—Ps. cxlvii.

Response—Music as before.

*Thou holdest all that fall
And dost raise up those bowed down.
The eyes of all wait upon thee,
Thou givest them their food.
Thou openest thine hand,
And dost satisfy all.
For the Lord is nigh unto all
That do call on him in truth:
O, let all men bless his holy name,
Now and forevermore!*

Canst thou by searching find out God? Canst thou find out the Almighty unto perfection? --Job xi.

Lo! thou goest by us and we see thee not; thou passest on also, and we behold thee not. I go forward, but he is not there; and backward, but I can not perceive him: on the left where he doth work, but I can not behold him: he hideth himself on the right hand that I can not see him. But he knoweth the way that I take. --Job xxiii.

Manifold are thy witnesses, O God, and the angels of thine invisible presence; else had we never known thee. Thou unsealest the light for all that lives, and lookest through the doors of the shadow of death; thou causest the day-spring to know his place, and sayest to the sea, Here shall thy proud waves be stayed:

The firmament declareth thy glory, the prophets proclaim thy judgments, the righteous wonder at thy law in their hearts, the patient find thee in the secret places of their sorrow, and their songs break out in melody to thee.

Chant.

My soul, wait for the Lord, More than they that watch for the morning:

He wakeneth morning by morning! He wakeneth mine ear to hear.

—Ps. cxxx., Is. l.

Know ye not that ye are of God? Have ye not in you the presence of divinity? Will ye not remember it?

The soul to whom all things are One, who bringeth all things to One, who seeth all things in One, is able to remain steadfast in spirit and at rest in God.

By thinking first of myself I lose myself, but by seeking sincerely unto thee, O God, I find both myself and Thee:

Unto the lowly of heart God revealeth his counsels, and inviteth and draweth them unto himself.

In God we live and move; in him we have our being.

Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God.

RING THE BELLS--Concluded.

With their pleasant call to prayer, Gen - tly glide a - way,
 Call from gar - den and from field, Him who tills the soil,
 Calls the wayward sons of earth, From all strife to cease,
 Call the wor-ship-ers to praise, Near and far a - way.

O'er the towering granite steeps, O'r the wooded dells,
 Welcome to the ar - ti - san, Is the sound which tells,
 Sweet the soothing mel - o - dy, In the si - lence swells,
 Heads are bowed and prayers ascend, All of wor-ship tells.

Let the tones the echoes wake, Ring the Sunday bells.
 That a res-pite he may know, Ring the noontide bells.
 While the stars are gleaming forth, Ring the ves-per bells.
 Bless-ings to our Fa-ther's name! Ring the Sunday bells.

No. 40. NATURE'S ENDLESS SONG.

Moderato.

German.

1. There's mu-sic in the midnight breeze, There's music in the morn;
 2. The winds that sweep the mountain-top Their joyous echoes bear;
 3. The heart, too, has its mel - o - dies, A con-se-cratt - ed spring,

The day-beam and the ger - tle eve, Sweet sounds have ever borne;
 Young Zephyrs on the streamlet play, And make sweet music there;
 From which mysterious voic - es flow, And songs of gladness ring.

The val-ley hath its welcome notes, The grove its tuneful throng,
 With rustling sound the for-est leaves Bend to the passing breeze;
 Why Nature's mu-sic—but that man May join the myriad throng

And o-ccean's mighty caves resound With Nature's endless song.
 And pleasant is the bus-y hum Of flow-er seek-ing bees.
 Of all her glorious works in one Har-mo-nious burst of song.

LOWELL.

J. FRANKLIN HUGHES.

1. Men whose boast it is that ye Come of fa-thers brave and free,-
 2. Is true freedom but to break Fet-ters for our own dear sake,
 3. They are slaves who fear to speak For the fall-en and the weak;

If there breathe on earth a slave, Are ye tru-ly free and brave?
 And with leathern hearts for-get That we owe man-kind a debt?
 They are slaves who will not choose Hatred, scoffing, and a-buse,

If ye do not feel the chain When it works a broth-er's pain,
 No! true freedom is to share All the chains our brothers wear,
 Rath-er than in si-lence shrink From the truth they needs must think;

Are ye not base slaves indeed, Slaves un-worth-y to be freed?
 And with heart and hand to be Earn-est to make others free!
 They are slaves who dare not be In the right with two or three.

Nor let one note of sad-ness Be min-gled in our lays;
 Proud men shall rule no long-er, For God, the Lord is near;
 And peace, like gen-tle fount-ains, Shall shed its vir-tue round.

For 'tis a hal-low'd sto-ry, This theme of freedom's birth;
 And he will crush op-pres-sion, And raise the hum-ble mind,
 O God, we would a-dore thee, And in thy shad-ow rest;

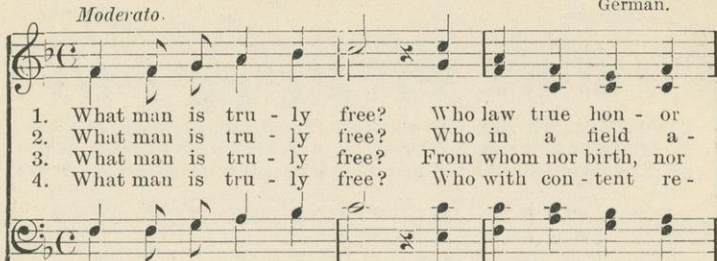

Our fa-thers' deeds of glo-ry Are ech-oed round the earth.
 And give the earth's pos-ses-sion A-mong the good and kind.
 Our fa-thers bowed be-fore thee, And trust-ed and were blest.

MORNING SONG.

- 1 When the morning bells are ringing,
 To the chapel we repair.
 Where our voices join in singing,
 And our hearts unite in prayer.
 Thanks to God for his protection,
 While in helpless sleep we lay;
 When in darkness, his direction
 Brought us to this holy day.
- 2 In our childhood's morning, Father,
 While the world is bright and fair,
 We would in thy temple gather,
 Find a holy blessing there.
 Fain would we, upon thy altar,
 Lay the hearts that should be thine;
 But our feeble footsteps falter—
 Guide us by thy light divine.

 rocks and rills, Thy woods and tem - pled hills;
 land - be bright With Free - dom's ho - ly light;

From ev - 'ry mount - ain side Let Free - dom ring!
 My heart with rap - ture thrills Like that a - bove.
 Pro - tect us by thy might, O God, our King!

OUR COUNTRY.

1 God bless our native land !
Firm may she ever stand
Through storm and night!
When the wild tempests rave,
Ruler of wind and wave,
Do thou our country save,
By thy great might!

2 For her our prayers shall be,
Our fathers' God, to thee:
On thee we wait !
Be her walls, Holiness;
Her rulers, Righteousness;
Her officers be Peace;
God save the State!

OUR NATION.

1 Gone are the great and good,
Who here in peril stood
And raised their hymn.
Peace to the reverend dead!
The light that on their head
The passing years have shed
Shall ne'er grow dim.

2 We now, our fathers' God,
Stand where our fathers trod,
Where sleeps their dust:
Their high fidelity,
Their love of liberty,
The faith that made them free,
Our sacred trust!

3 And on, from sire to son,
O High and Holy One,
That faith descend!
While life shall ebb and flow,
New centuries come and go,
Still may our children know
Our country's Friend!

1. To thee, O Fa - ther-land, Bond of our heart and hand,
 2. And thou, O God of Right, The Lord, whose arm of might,
 3. Free as our riv - ers flow, Pure as our breez - es blow,

From love deep, pure and strong Rolls our high song.
 In storm and bat - tle roar, Our fa - thers bore—
 Strong as our moun-tains stand, Be our broad land!

May all thy path-ways be High-ways of Lib - er - ty,
 Thou mad'st their children strong To break the chains of wrong,
 Bright home of Lib - er - ty, High hope of all the free—

And Jus - tice, thron'd in thee, Reign a - ges long!
 Till rang the Free-man's song, From shore to shore.
 Our love thy watch-tow'r be, Dear Fa - ther - land!

By J. FRANKLIN HUGHES.

No. 103. CLEAN HANDS AND A PURE HEART.

Psalms xv and xxiv.

Lord, in thy tem - ple who shall stay, Who shall dwell in thy ho - ly hill? He that up-right-ly walk - eth And right - eous-ness that work - eth

And speak-eth in his heart the sim - ple truth.

Lord, in thy hill who shall ascend: Who shall stand in thy holy place:
He that clean hands upholdeth: And he whose heart is simple: Who unto empty things gives not his soul.

No. 104. PRAISE THE LORD ALL YE HIS WORKS.

1. An - gels ho - ly, high and low - ly, Sing the prais - es of the Lord, Earth and sky, all liv - ing na - ture, Man, the stamp of his Cre - a - tor, Praise ye, praise ye God the Lord.

2 Sun and moon bright, night and noon-light,
 Starry temples azure-floored,
 Cloud and rain, and wild winds' madness,
 Sons of God that shout for gladness,
 Praise ye, praise ye God the Lord !

3 Ocean hoary, tell his glory;
 Cliffs where tumbling seas have roared !
 Pulse of waters, blithely beating,
 Wave advancing, wave retreating,
 Praise ye, praise ye God the Lord !

4 Rock and highland, wood and island,
 Crag where eagle's pride hath soared,
 Mighty mountains purple breasted,
 Peaks cloud-cleaving, snowy crested,
 Praise ye, praise ye God the Lord !

PRAISE THE LORD ALL YE—Concluded.

5 Rolling river, praise him ever,
From the mountain's deep vein poured;
Silver fountain clearly gushing,
Troubled torrent madly rushing,
Praise ye, praise ye God the Lord!

6 Bond and free man, land and seaman,
Earth with peoples widely stored;
Wanderer lone o'er prairies ample,
Full voiced choir in costly temple,
Praise ye, praise ye God the Lord!

7 Praise him ever, Bounteous Giver!
Praise him, Father, Friend and Lord!
Each glad soul its free course winging,
Each glad voice its free song singing,
Praise ye, praise ye God the Lord!

BEGINNINGS

According to the LEGENDS and according to the
TRUER STORY

By Allen Walton Gould.

PRESS NOTICES.

Mr. Gould's "Beginnings" ... has already received much praise, but not half as much as it deserves. It is peculiarly well adapted for Sunday school work.... especially for younger pupils.... being methodical, clear and simple in its presentation, and accompanied with very pertinent and suggestive questions and with helpful notes and references. But it is no less valuable for general reading, and most adults will find in it a great deal that is interesting, instructive and new to them.—Rev. H. M. Simmons, in Unity.

One is struck at once, even in a rapid perusal of this manual, with the vast amount of knowledge it contains concerning the origin of life, belief and religious usages. The plan of the book is highly suggestive, and calculated to make the reader or student think.... The page is set in very clear type, the divisions of the subjects are generally good, and questions and references are judiciously interspersed. This text-book is destined to serve most valuable needs in our Sunday schools.—Rev. E. A. Horton, in Every Other Sunday.

The notes and book references are choice and ample. Each lesson is followed by a dozen or so wise questions. The spirit of the work is reverent, its teaching clear.... This course of study promises more nobly than anything else I have seen.—Rev. W. S. Crowe, in The Universalist Monthly.

It is exceedingly well done, and in the hands of a capable teacher cannot fail to arouse interest and ground the pupil in an orderly and intelligent conception of both primitive thought and present conclusions.—The Pacific Unitarian.

We certainly should be glad to learn that it has found its way into some of our schools. The tone is reverent, and if it be destructive in one sense it is eminently constructive in another, for it seeks to rear an edifice of truth upon the ground formerly occupied by myth and legend.—The Inquirer, London, England.
