DEANS CONFER ON STUDENT HONESTY AT MEETING HERE

Representatives of Liberal Arts Colleges Gather for Twentieth Time

Student honesty is one of the perplexing problems which confronts the deans of 14 state universities who are meeting in Madison today for the twentieth annual conferences of deans of colleges of liberal arts.

The visiting deans, who are guests of the university, and of Dean George C. Sellery, will discuss the question of student cheating in an effort to devise some satisfactory method of dealing with student parasites. Some effort will be made to curb the practice.

Many Deans Attend

The conference will also consider the question of the readmission of deficient students who have been dropped once. Following is the list of deans who are here from universities throughout the Mississippi valley:

K. C. Babcock, University of Illinois; P. P. Boyd, Kentucky university; J. G. Brandt, Kansas university; J. R. Effinger, University of Michigan; W. E. Henderson, Ohio State university; H. G. James, dean elect at the University of Nebraska, now at the University of Texas; G. F. Kay, University of Iowa; S. W. Reaves, University of Oklahoma; E. S. Sparks University of South Dakota; V. P. Squires, University of North Dakota; S. E. Stout, Indiana university; F. M. Tisdell, University of Missouri; and J. B. Johnston, University of Minnesota.

PLAN TO TRANSPORT HORSE SHOW CROWDS

Madison railroads have arranged a special transportation schedule to accommodate the Horse show crowds. Besides the regular motor coaches leaving Tenney park and Naloma at 6:55 o'clock today, two extra coaches will leave those points at 7:25 o'clock, arriving at the Stock pavilion 20 minutes later. They will be marked "University." There will be six coaches at the pavilion when the show ends to carry the crowds down town. Extra street cars will also be run.

PLAN ON VENETIAN NIGHT FEATURES

Piers Will be Decorated and Orchestras Organized for Big Event

Personal visits to all the fraternities having property fronting on Lake Mendota have been started of which Charles Decker '27, is all the fraternities will be visited by the Venetian night committee chairman. Within the next week and their cooperation asked in erecting piers and decorating them for Venetian night, May 22.

Visits are also made to fraternities having orchestras in the attempt to get them to play on the piers Venetian Night. In the event one house does not have enough for an orchestra an endeavor is being made to get them to join with some other groups. Decker is planning on having three prizes for the best decorated piers as well as separate prizes for the best orchestra on the piers. These prizes will be announced next week.

"The best encouragement that I have received yet toward the success of Venetian Night this year," Lincoln Frazier '26, general chairman, said yesterday, "is the large number of inquiries that I have received concerning piers and floats and barges for the floats and arrangements that will be made for them."

PLAYERS PLANNING ON COMEDY NIGHT

The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife is Clever Farce

Comedy Night, the annual festival of Wisconsin players to be put on May 15, this year, will feature three one act plays, Rocking Chairs, Speaking to Father, and The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife.

The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife by Anatole France is as amusing a farce as the name indicates. The set will be specially designed and the costumes colorful. Alfred D. Ludden, grad, is directing the cast.

Agatha McCaffery '25 as Mrs. Botal has the feminine lead in the comedy. She has had considerable experience in dramatics, having played the part of Miss Roberts in The Mollusc, produced in December, and several other roles in club plays. She plays a character part in Dear Brutus, the senior class play.

The leading man will be Herman Wirke '25 as Master Leonard Botal. Jean McGregor '28 plays the part of Alison. Master Adam Fumee, a lawyer, will be impersonated by Lowell Frautschi '27. Harold Konnack '27 has the role of Master Simon Collme, a doctor. The surgeon, Master Jean Maugier, will be played by Gordon Abbott '25. Alfred D. Ludden grad has the part of Master Serafin Delaurier, an apothecary; and Wells Sherman '25 has the role of Giles Boiscourtier, a secretary.

DEAN NARDIN SPEAKS AT CASTALIA BANQUET

A talk given by Dean F. Louise Nardin on the opportunity that women in literary societies have for passing on to others the breadth of view that contact with the arts gives, was a feature of the banquet held by Castalia literary society in the Crystal room of the Loraine hotel, Wednesday evening.

Alberta Johnson '26, president of the organization, was toastmistress at the dinner which more than 50 people, including members of Castalia, Junior Castalia, and patronesses of the senior society, attended. The decorations were purple and gold flowers.

Lances, Banners, Coats of Arms Give Stock Pavilion Tournament Aspect

Horse and rider will take possession of the campus tonight and tomorrow. Twenty-five thoroughbreds, the pick of southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois, along with 75 local mounts are ready for the bugle signal which at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the stock pavilion will announce the opening of Wisconsin's fourth annual spring Horse show.

Previous to the formal opening, the regimental band from St. John's military academy will parade on State and Langdon streets before leading the way out to the pavilion. That structure will cease to be a twentieth century barn, and will take on the aspect of a medieval tournament field when mounts and riders enter the banner drapen arena. From every point and pinnacle there will be lances and shields, coats of arms of knights who may or may not have existed, while over the doorways will hang clusters of flags surrounding the insignia of the Caisson and Prince of Wales clubs.

Blaine Presents Trophies

Governor and Mrs. John J. Blaine, Mayor and Mrs. I. Milo Kittleson, and Major O. L. Brunzell will be among the honor guests and will present the trophies which they have offered to winners of three events. John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction, and Mrs. Callahan will present the trophy which the university board of regents has offered for the winner of the interfraternity event. Other guests of honor will be Dean F. Louise Lardin and Dean Scott H. Goodnight.

The ten events of this performance will be started off by the open three gaited class for both men and women riders. The number of entries received for this event forecast keen rivalry among the entrants. Following this event will come in order the pen jump, pony class, ladies' three gaits, five gaits open, jumping class, exhibition by Belle of Spring Brook, a high school horse ridden by George Stuart.

Registrations for Y. M. C. A. Cottage Conference Opened

Registration for men wishing to attend the annual Y. M. C. A. outing at the association's cottage across Lake Mendota this week-end are now being taken, according to Edwin Morganroth '26.

Plans were originally made to have the meeting at Lake Kegonsa, but owing to inconvenience, the annual retreat will be held at the city Y. M. C. A. camp across the lake.

"The outing is open to any member of the Y. M. C. A. and serves as the time at which plans are made for next year, a number of members of the faculty are coming out for the conferences and for the general good time which is planned," Morganroth said yesterday.

FISH WILL SPEAK AT DE MOLAY'S BANQUET

An all-university De Molay banquet will be held on Wednesday, May 13, at 6 o'clock, in the authors' room of the Y. M. C. A. Prof. C. R. Fish will be the principal speaker. At this meeting, brief plans for the next semester's activities of the club will be made, and suggestions from the floor will be received. The affair will terminate the activities of the club for this semester, or until registration begins next fall when it will join with the other campus organizations university, and helping them in any necessary manner.

A banquet to conclude their activities of the year will be held by the players on May 20, it was decided at the meeting.

PHI BETA KAPPA HEARS MERRIAM

Chicago Professor in Annual Address Says Politics is Unscientific

"Jungle politics and laboratory science are incompatible and one is bound to gain precedence over the other in modern society," was the statement made by Dr. Charles E. Merriam of the University of Chicago, who gave the annual Phi Beta Kappa address last night in Music hall before new initiates of the fraternity. Prof. C. E. Mendenhall introduced the speaker.

Dr. Merriam pointed out the fact that politics is the last of the political sciences to use scientific methods in dealing with its problems. Analytical statistics are found to be of greater value and are being used more and more as the new kind of scientific politics gains ground, he showed.

"Political students have too often dreamed and then set their dreams into literary form as a working guide to political problems without any basis of practical observation," he said.

"This does not mean that there is no place for reflection and insight in the political field. The mere collection of facts without constructive analysis means nothing, but when handled with the right scientific technique political statistics may be the means through which new relations in society and new ways of meeting governmental problems may be discovered," Dr. Merriam said.

CORA R. EVANS LEAVES $5,000 FOR LOAN FUND

A trust fund of $5,000 from the estate of the late Mrs. Cora Rodermond Evans, Madison, has recently been given the University of Wisconsin by her will, to be known as the "Cora Rodermond Evans Loan Fund for Medical Students."

The fund is to be held in trust by the Regents and the income loaned to needy students. Since the death of Mrs. Evans, the money has earned $76.02 interest, which is available for loans now.

COIF ELECTIONS MADE LAST NIGHT AT LAW BANQUET

Justice Jones Advises Conciseness and Brevity in Appealing Cases

Elections to Coif, honorary law fraternity, were made at the annual law banquet last night at the Hotel Loraine. Seniors elected are Lucius Peter Chase, Madison; George Currie, Monticello; Egon Peck, Milwaukee; and Arthur C. Inman, Whitewater. Membership is based entirely upon scholarship and is awarded only to exceptional law students. It is the highest honor a law student can receive and it signifies great promise.

Justice Burr W. Jones, of the Wisconsin supreme court was the principal speaker of the evening, gave valuable advice to the lawyers.

Brief Cases Recommended

He recommended that they be concise and brief in appealing their cases. Training for the supreme court begins in the circuit court, he said. The lawyer who holds up the court because he has not prepared the case thoroughly is a discredit to the profession.

The trials of a young lawyer were described by Phil La Follette, district attorney; John C. Thompson L3 and an assemblyman, promised a new law building within three years; and "A Freshman's Fling," a talk by Virginia North L2, covered the activities of the law school association.

Dean H. S. Richards discussed the tendencies of legal education toward requirement of at least two years of regular college work previous to entrance in the Law school. The law school quartet concluded the program with several vocal selections.

GUYER NOW LECTURING AT KANSAS AG SCHOOL

Prof. M. F. Guyer, of the zoology department, is giving a series of lectures on heredity at the Kansas Agricultural College in Manhattan, Kansas. The lectures are daily and will include all of this week and a portion of next week. He will return to Madison the latter part of next week.

OFFER GLEE CLUB TRIP FOR SUMMER

Contract for 12-Week Concert Tour Submitted by Chicago Company

A trans-continental tour of twelve weeks, with one-week stands in the larger cities between Chicago and the Pacific coast has been offered members of the Men's Glee club by the Master Attractions company of Chicago, which is willing to book 26 men for the entire summer vacation.

The members of the club will travel as the Wisconsin Glee club, making one-week stands in the moving picture theaters of the cities they visit. The offer was made Tuesday evening by Mr. Potepski, manager of the company, who came from Chicago to hear the club sing.

Contracts covering the details of the proposition arrived here yesterday. The members of the club will vote to reject or accept at a meeting and serenading practice at noon. The offer provides a salary of $50 each week, in addition to all transportation expenses.

A second plan was proposed by Mr. Potepski, which provides a ten week travel tour. The club, according to the terms of the contract, would tour through the southwest, through New Mexico, and Texas to California; then up the West coast to Portland, and return by the northern route through the Dakotas and Montana.

Uteritz Picks Best Freshman Ball Nine After Month Work

Many Good Men Uncovered for Future Varsity Material

The list which comprises the best possible freshman baseball squad was issued last night by Irwin C. Uteritz, coach of the freshman diamond team. According to Coach Uteritz the prospect for next year's varsity team is good.

Best Yearling Lineup

Murphy, 1b
Ellerman, 2b
Decker, ss
Seneca, 3b
Holdenwick, lf
Mossey, cf
Burbridge, rf
Carlson, Balkansky, c
Hawker, Haggerty, Blakenfield, Severson, Broesker, p

Probably the outstanding characteristic of the frosh squad this year is the strong and goodly amount of hitting they exhibit. The work done by the infield is no less praiseworthy; the outfielders also furnish good support to the team.

Five Hurlers Work

Blakefield and Severson are doing effective work on the mound along with the only southpaw hurler, Broecker. Haggerty and Hawker, however, are doing the best pitching at this stage of the season. Haggerty, a small right hander, has nice form and uses his body well, and Hawker has plenty of stuff in him that brands him as a sure comer.

Clarence Carlson has the best arm among the catchers, and has a healthy left hand style of hitting to add to his credit. Christensen, another receiver, shows possibilities. Balkansky is another recruit among the catchers. Earl Burbridge, besides having the ability to catch, can also play an outfield position.

Ellerman, Good

Mike Murphy, who holds the position on the initial sack, is a good receiver of throws and a fair hitter. Ellerman, who plays second base, has a good arm, a nice pair of hands, is a good right hand hitter, and a real prospect for the Wisconsin diamond team of next year.

Schover and Seneca are working on second third base, respectively. Harold Kretschmer, who played either short stop or third base, is out for the remainder of the season because of sinus trouble. John J. Decker, small but very fast, is doing fine work at short. Decker covers plenty of ground in fast time and is a good right hand hitter.

Massey Best Outfielder

Leo Baldenwick, substitute third baseman, is going good in left field. Massey appears to be the best outfielder. Massey has a good arm, covers plenty of ground, and combines good hitting with good fielding. Pezonoski, outfield man, is a good batsman.

Among the other frosh who are working on the squad are, Don Pahl, outfielder; Frank McCarthy, outfielder and 1st baseman; Jean Kinkhead, outfielder; G. D. Hohnback, outfielder and 2nd baseman; Francis Heidt, outfielder and 1st baseman; and B. Ace, short stop.

New York sailor was awarded $75,000 damages, so now he can spend a week or ten days ashore.

JONES SPEEDS UP FOR QUAD MEET

Tressler Wins Hammer Throw Trials; Coach Dopes Duel With Ohio

Coach Jones' Cardinal tracksters are all keyed up for the week of strenuous training before the important quadrangular meet a week from tomorrow at Chicago. Everyone of them realizes the hard test to which they will be put when they clash with Ohio, Chicago, and Northwestern on the Midway track and are preparing for it accordingly.

The first trials for the meet were held this week in the hammer throw. Willis Tressler, varsity hammer thrower from last year, won the event easily and although the mark is being withheld it seems to bring a smile of joy to the face of Coach Jones. Gramlin recorded the second best throw followed by Muegge and Sauger in order named. The quadrangular meet is the first this year in which the Badger throwers will compete and Coach Jones is planning on his men to garner a few points in this event.

In putting the meet down on paper yesterday the Badger mentor doped it out that Wisconsin and Ohio would fight a bitter duel for high honors closely followed by Chicago and with Northwestern liable to cut in for several first places.

McAndrews, who was kept out of the Drake Relays on account of leg injuries, is back in uniform again and will be in shape for the meet May 16. He is doped to win points in the two dashes and broad jump. He will be hard pressed by three crack speed merchants from Ohio and a star each from the Maroon and Purple squads.

The rest of Coach Jones' squad is in good condition and will be all set by next Saturday. All that is needed is a little warm weather to allow the men to put in more strenuous work without danger of straining a muscle.

SCHOOL ORCHESTRA TO PLAY FOR CONTESTANTS

The University orchestra will give a complimentary concert to the visiting contestants in the high school music competition, which will hold its finals at the School of Music next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. This is the orchestra's last appearance this year. The feature numbers of the program will be Schubert's "Rosamunde Overture" and two movements from Dvorak's "New World Symphony."

CHAD REVIEW GOES TO PRESS ON SATURDAY

The Chad review, the annual magazine published by the residents of Chadbourne hall, will go to press on Saturday. The style of this issue will be humorous. Every resident of Chad has been mentioned in some way. The Gossip Issue, as it is called, will feature the intimate and humorous side of the life in the hall. WHO RATES?

Who rates? The invitation list for the Gridiron banquet is all drawn up but finding out who is in there and who isn't seems to be impossible. We may put Strat Corbett on the trail.

The word "gridiron" refers to the oldstyle kitchen utensil used for roasting and has no connection with the football field. The banquet draws its name from this word because it is a roast- ing affair.

Whoever receives the "cardinal derby" will be expected to make an acceptance speech. A bottle of nerve tonic will go with the derby because it is to be worn on all special university occasions.

It seems rather ludicrous to picture a university president dressed in formal clothes with a paper sack tied over his head sliding down a wooden chute in the dark. This occurred at one of the Minnesota Grid banquets. Other guests, including a governor and a mayor were treated similarly and thought they were having a good time.

The "roastmaster" for the banquet has been chosen and has accepted the task with a promise that he will spend a week preparing to direct all the ceremonies. He will be masked.

FIRST TRIALS TODAY FOR EFFICIENCY CUP

First trials to decide the winner of the silver cup donated by George Little to the best all-around man in the university are scheduled for today.

Tests today to be given in the gymnasium annex at 4:30 o'clock include the dip and push up, forward dive and roll, and running broad jump. Tomorrow at 1 o'clock trials in the sit-up, fence vault, and rope climb events will be held on the third floor of the gymnasium.

This is the first competition of its kind ever given at Wisconsin and both director of athletics, George Little, and Coach Fred Schlatter, who is managing the tests, hope that it will be a success.

Even if Hindenburg is president of Germany, we used our tin helmet for a flower pot long ago.

Decided to make this year's issue a direct contrast to last year's magazine.

BADGER BALL MEN FORGET TRIMMING BY MICHIGAN NINE

Wolverines Weakened by Loss of Captain, Star Infield Man

Forgetting the 8-0 defeat at the hands of the Wolverine crew last Monday Coach Lowman and his pastimers are putting on the final touches for Saturday's tilt with Michigan.

After a brisk batting practice and fielding workout Lowman sent two teams against each other in a snappy scrimmage. The work of Tangen at the third sack stood out especially well. The scrappy third baseman has improved since leaving on the long Ohio-Michigan jaunt. He handles the ball well and has developed his throw to first to a high point of accuracy.

Lefty Wieland at short had an off day yesterday both in the practice game and in fielding drill. He muffed practically every chance. The only good work on his part yesterday was his throws to first which were just as accurate as ever. If he hopes to cope with the heavy hitting Michigan nine he will have to polish up his fielding before Saturday's game.

Lineup Undecided

Lowman is still undecided who he will start in the opening inning. Stoll was used a while on the mound last night but gave a miserable exhibition of fielding the bunts that came his way. Out of nine chances he only handled one in anywhere near high class baseball style.

Barnum and Lamboley are putting up a hot battle for the job behind the log with neither one having any particular advantage. Barnum's throwing arm is his best bet while Lamboley's all around ability stands him in good stead.

It was just learned today that Captain Dillman of the Wolverine nine would be out of the game Saturday on account of injuries received this week in practice. Dillman is one of the main cogs in the Michigan infield and rates as one of the best short stops in the Big Ten. His loss will be a severe blow to the Maize and Blue chances for victory.

Wisconsin Will Turn Out for Green-Black Grid Battle Today

Game to be Played on Varsity Field in Randall Stadium

Every Wisconsin man and woman, every Madison citizen and every inhabitant of the surrounding countryside is invited to come to Camp Randall this afternoon to see the final scrimmage of the spring football practice which has caused such a sensation throughout the collegiate sport world.

Never before has Wisconsin known such a turnout for spring football as has responded to Coach Little's call for gridiron candidates this year and stuck it out for over two months of intensive drill. Right now the Badger gridiron machine is as far advanced as they usually are in the middle of the fall season. It behooves every Badger to turn out this afternoon and witness the fourth real 40 minute scrimmage that Coach Little has put on this year.

A hot battle is in store for the men. Up to this time the men have been divided into two camps—a Red and a Black team representing tentative varsity and reserve material. Today the teams have been divided into Black and Green camps with the strength about evenly divided.

Teams Work

Both teams have been working like beavers all week to get in top form for this afternoon's fracas. Very little raggedness remains in their play and they run signals with machine-like precision.

What the Blacks have in a strong line is made up by the Greens in a powerful backfield. The result is that an even battle is guaranteed for the afternoon.

In the black line Bob Sikes and Putty Nelson will be playing side by side which will make the going tough for any set of backs. On one wing Blackman will offer a big obstacle to the Greens while Wilson at center is no slouch on either offense or defense. In the Black backfield Bartlett is the outstanding man. Goodlad at quarter is a classy field general but cannot compare quite equally with Crofoot, the Green pilot.

Green Backs Strong

In the Green line McCartney at center, De Haven and Boma at the tackles and Campbell at one of the ends are the strongest forward wall men that they will depend on. The Green ball toters are far superior on the whole to the "dark horses." Crofoot at quarterback has already proved his ability as a passer, punter and ball carrier in previous scrimmages this spring. Muegge is a plunging fullback that it will take the best of them to stop while Hawley and Wiswold are a neat pair of halfbacks.

The game will be played on the varsity gridiron inside the Camp Randall stadium with full 10 minute quarters.

RELAY MEET PLEASURES MASON CITY COACH

Word has been received from clear out in Iowa complimenting the athletic department on the fine way in which they conducted the second annual Mid-West Relays. The letter is as follows:

"Mr. George Little,
Director of Athletics,
University of Wisconsin.

My Dear Mr. Little:
I want to take this opportunity to thank you and the men of Wisconsin for the courtesies shown Coach Allen and Grimsley, and the Mason City track team while in Madison last week end. We enjoyed the Relays and the pleasure of competing with other schools.

With kindest wishes to you and the men of Wisconsin who helped make our visit a pleasant one, I am,
Very sincerely yours,
J. LEONARD KLINE,
Director of Athletics,
Mason City H. S., Mason City, Ia.

CREW GOES BACK TO MENDOTA AS WIND DIES DOWN

Badgers Last Shell to Enter Regatta; Navy Back Again

For the first time since early last week, the Badger oarsmen were able to venture forth on Lake Mendota, four crew strong, for a hard workout last night. Two shells manned by varsity men and two by freshmen traveled over the choppy waves.

A cessation in the violence of Lake Mendota's waves brought relief to Coach Vail and the crew men. "Dad" could follow the shells with the Isabel instead of sitting on the bank and shouting instructions. The oarsmen's joy lay in the elimination of the long trudge to Lake Monona with a shell on their shoulders.

Vail Worries

The unusually long period of Lake Mendota's roughness this spring has caused Coach Vail considerable worry. With the extra time necessary in the portage over to Lake Monona to be taken out of practice, the men have not been able to take the long rows which serve to get them in condition for the long grind at Poughkeepsie. Four miles instead of three on the Hudson this year will be a more strenuous grind than crews of before have met.

Entries of the Wisconsin varsity and freshman eights were received at Poughkeepsie Wednesday, the Badger entries being the last ones filed.

Pennsylvania, Cornell, Syracuse, Columbia, Navy, Washington and Wisconsin will compete in the varsity event. The first five named will row in the junior varsity event and all except Washington and Navy will race in the freshman contest.

Navy Back

The Navy, victors in 1921 and 1922, will compete this year after a lapse of a year. This will be the sixth appearance of the Navy crew in the intercollegiate regatta.

For the first time since 1916, the varsity event will be over the four mile course, the distance which prevailed from 1895 to 1916 with one exception. During the interval from 1916 to 1924, the varsity event was rowed four times at Poughkeepsie over the three mile course and once on Lake Cayuga over a short two mile course.

HESPERIA

A regular meeting of Hesperia will be held tonight in 402 Bascom hall. Beginning tonight, the meetings will begin promptly at 7:15 o'clock.

Masely Sends Men Through Work for Hawkeye Net Match

Coach Masely sent his men through a hard afternoon of practice yesterday afternoon in an effort to round the men into form for the matches with Iowa tomorrow. The tennis men will meet the Hawkeyes tomorrow afternoon at the varsity courts on University Avenue and Breeze Terrace.

At the matches played this week several new changes resulted. Foster is liable to play number three on the team and Gissell will play number four with Manierre and Durand occupying the first two berths. Judkins has not been at the top of his form in the last week and as a result Foster has good chances of playing in the matches tomorrow. The doubles may also be changed before the men face the invaders tomorrow.

The men have been showing much better form in the past week and the chances against Iowa are favorable. Coach Masely had Peter Sah the star of last year's team playing Durand today and the two had several fast sets.

Brown Wins Historic Gavel At Illinois Meet

Charles E. Brown, curator of the Wisconsin State Historical museum at Madison, at the annual meeting of the American Anthropological society, Middle West section, at Springfield, O., was the first person to wield the wooden gavel, made of a limb of the famous Chief Logan elm, in Lewiston. His gavel is now in the hands of the State Archeological society of Ohio. Mr. Brown was elected president.

A head necklace which was obtained from one of the oldest cave savitians in France, estimated to be 75,000 years old, was exhibited by Mr. Brown and now is on display at the Wisconsin State Historical museum.

Mae Rey Rejoins La Vern Stock Players In City

Mae Rey, a popular member of the Dorothy La Vern players during their previous engagement in Madison, has rejoined the company, according to an announcement made by Al Jackson, manager. She will play for the first time in the comedy, "The Goose Hangs High," beginning Sunday afternoon at the Orpheum theater.

FROSH TRACKMEN FACE STIFF WORK FOR REST OF MAY

Meet Sophomores at Randall and Ohio in Telegraphic Meet Tomorrow

The Wisconsin yearling cinder team faces a doubleheader tomorrow afternoon in the Camp Randall stadium. At 4:30 o'clock they will clash with the sophomore fleet men in the traditional frosh-sophomore track meet held at Camp Randall every year. The marks set up by the freshmen in this meet will count as the yearling Badgers' showing in the telegraphic meet against the Ohio frosh which also comes tomorrow afternoon.

The exhibitions tomorrow will show the result of the weeks of outdoor practice through which the frosh have gone since they took to Camp Randall in April. From all indications the meet will be replete with thrills and excitement.

Frosh in Cross-Country

On Thursday, May 14, the frosh will compete against the Minnesota freshman track team in a telegraphic meet. The results of this meet will also count in the wire meet with the yearling runners of Ames, which comes on the following day.

The freshmen will compete in the annual spring cross country races which are scheduled for Wednesday, May 20. There will be one race for non-varsity men and one for freshmen. The course, which will be along the lake shore, is approximately 1½ miles in length.

Meet Iowa, Ancient Rival

The Iowa freshman team, ancient rivals of the Badger frosh, will meet Coach Burke's men on the afternoon of May 27. Iowa has carried the laurels only in 1920 and 1924; Wisconsin swept all meets in 1921, 1922, and 1923. The outcome of the 1925 meet is looked forward to with interest.

The results of the Iowa meet will be used against the Michigan frosh in a meet which comes the day after. Michigan won the 1924 meet 41-1-3 to 23-2-3, but with the recent showing of the Badgers the count should be different when the two clash again.

Look to S. D. P. Tryouts

Probably the biggest event in the cinder horizon for Coach Mead Burke's men is the Sigma Delta Psi tryouts which are to be held on June 1, 2, and 3. This is the national athletic fraternity in which Wisconsin has a membership. Wisconsin's representation in the fraternity is approximately 30.

SARATOGA AND RODEO

Tonight Wisconsin enters an interesting week-end; in truth, one of the most interesting and varied week-ends of the year. The Horse show is making it so. Beginning four years ago as a minor activity sponsored by the military department, it has this year been given a new character through the efforts of the Caisson club, and now it is bidding strenuously for high honors as a spring entertainment.

There are many horse lovers here at Wisconsin who welcome the growth of this "sport of kings". It is pleasing to note that this university is the first in the country to develop a horse show of such magnitude, and the event is therefore deserving of the support of students and townspeople alike. This Horse show week-end at Wisconsin. Some of the finest stables in the west are sending their best jumpers and hurdlers to Madison for tonight's and tomorrow's events, and if the owners are given a fine reception they will carry back with them a feeling of good will toward the Wisconsin Horse show, and university horse shows throughout the country.

Perhaps, one of the most welcome changes over previous horse shows at Wisconsin is the addition of a night show in the nature of a society event. The foreign riders particularly appreciate an affair of this kind. The show has also been given considerable national significance because all of its events will be run under the rules of the national association and will therefore be recorded as official.

The popular feature of the Horse show week-end is the rodeo nature of the Saturday afternoon performance. Many new events are scheduled which will put the show on a par with many of the largest independent shows in the country, and certainly in the lead as compared to other university affairs of a similar nature.

The Caisson club is to be particularly congratulated for its efforts in making the Wisconsin Horse show an all-university event. The addition of foreign riders will certainly add considerably to the interest in the show, and if successful it will be a progressive move toward making university shows events of national importance, as well as university interest.

A NEW MOVE

The announcement that Paul Cret, Philadelphia architect who was to inspect the campus here and advise on a future building program for Wisconsin, will be unable to come to Madison should cast no gloom among the ranks of those who are anxious to see the construction of the Memorial Union building in particular and the others also started.

For the regents, fully determined to secure the authority's advice, have acted promptly and wisely in sending Arthur Peabody, state architect and designer of the Memorial Union building to Philadelphia for a conference with Mr. Cret.

And so it is that the work on the building will not be postponed, that it will probably start just as soon as it would have had Mr. Cret been able to come to Madison himself. Mr. Cret knows the Wisconsin campus thoroughly so that he will have little difficulty formulating an opinion on the proposed plans.

A further indication that every one concerned is in earnest about getting construction under way at the earliest possible date is the sign in front of the Union building—Watch '25. '24 thinks this sign is a horse on it and intends to retaliate in some gentle manner or other. But the sign means business, just as "Watch '24" last year meant business.

We have started and we are going to keep the wheels moving as fast as they can until the job is finished.

BY YOUR LEAVE

Whether or not the old fogeys and pessimists, old and young, are correct when they stretch forth their terrible arm and, pointing a warning finger, declaim in Billy Sunday tones that the world is going to everlasting damnation with fire, brimstone and all the pleasant trimmings is a matter of conjecture—for a few people.

It isn't for the pessimists; they know they're right. And, thank goodness—or badness, as Grant Overton would say—there are a host of Rotarians alive, their numbers increasing by leaps and bounds, who form more than a balance for the other side. The professionally optimistic Rotarian! Ah, there is a real savior!

But be this as it may, certainly suicides are having a bad time of it. Whether or not the noticeable falling off of suicides means that the world is a better place to live in than it used to be—or that business and its prevailing optimism, grasps firmly the keys to men's heart strings and will not relinquish them, is another matter for speculation. We trust that it indicates an improvement in the general state of things, anyway.

Really, you know, the ancients must have been in a frightfully bad way. If newspapers had been published in those days, they would have doubtless run a suicide page opposite the sport page—or in collusion with it.

And why do we blatantly declare that suicide is the only business which is suffering a serious depression? Simply because we have learned from historians to take the literature of an age as a fairly good indication of its times.

Think of the suicides in Shakespeare, for instance, Poor Romeo and Juliet, with no absolutely sensible reason (and that is no tautology) suicide, the one, as the song goes, via the knife through the corset route, the other by cold poison. And, to mention the other best known case, Cleopatra, although she did offer spice for a play, needn't have occurred to Shakespeare unless contemporary suicides had suggested her to him. Each of his tragedies dealt with suicides—whether they were direct or indirect.

And look at history. Socrates drank the hemlock when he might just as well have slipped out the back door of his cell and chased for the tall timbers, the martyrs allowed themselves to be dispatched in various and sundry unpleasant manners when they could have avoided such fate,—nothing but downright suicide.

But instances are too numerous to mention here. And today we scarcely here of a real suicide. On the stage, so far as we know, Shaw's "Saint Joan" is the only play which has appeared in sometime dealing with suicides, and indirect one like the martyrs'. And have you read a novel written this side of 1910 in which a character has run a dagger through himself or the like? No.

We haven't anything to make us think of suicides—anything such as they must have had before 1800, let us say, and so we don't write about them.

And as for murders, the Chicago Tribune thinks its home town is suffering from an acute case of murderitis. But it should really rejoice, as the Rotarians with every right in the world, do at the beautification and reforming of this world.

The senate, it is said, has heard of its own weakness. Perhaps this was a case of inside information.

The lawyers dined at their annual banquet the other night. But they wisely picked the Loraine hotel for the occasion. The engineers, for one reason or another, thought the Loraine wasn't the best place for it.

Senior song writers are ticking away at their typewriters, and, betimes, communing with nature in search of inspiration for words for the senior graduation song.

We were talking to an Alpha Phee just this A. M. and she went into a tirade on the subject of the present day man, and told us that clothes do not make the man,—it's personality. And we ask you, what would you think of a man who went own the street with nothing on but his personality.

Little did I ever dream,
When first I came to school,
That Co-ed, Spring, and a Canoe,
And I would be a fool.

The accompanying cut is entitled "After the Recent Exposal," or "What the Dean Had to say."

Hard Hearted Hannah tells us that she has ordered her canoe for Venetian night, and that any one who is interested should get in touch with her at once. We don't know, Hannah, but you might call the Phi Gamm house.

KID BIFF SAYS

"If they had only had steel wool in the middle ages, they would have been able to make much warmer armor for the knights."

Readers Say So

To the English Department:

I took about a 30 per cent perfect set of notes at a lecture the other day. In order to complete them after class, I tried to borrow a good set from some one else.

One fellow let me use his, but they were so vague and incomplete that I could not make out their meaning. I asked him to explain them, but he did not seem to explain much about them either. I asked another chap to see his, but he said he did not take notes.

Then I secured a set from a girl who had written three pages; but headlines and details were in such a conglomeration that I could not find head nor tail to anything. She asked to see mine, but I was ashamed to show them to her.

Seriously, I think the English department is the most worthy one in the university; but if it were to give every first-semester freshman a course in note taking and note filing, it would improve its service to the individual students, and in the meantime raise the scholastic standings of the whole institution. And finally, it would be giving something of permanent value; for when people once learn to take and file notes properly, they keep it up the rest of their lives.

Well, how many invitations are YOU sending out?

"There is an element of doubt as to how long it will take to get out subsequent orders, depending entirely on the condition of our plant at the time the quantities reach us," writes the factory.

The class cannot, of course, risk ordering extra invitations in the vague hope that you will want them at the last minute!

Think ahead—and order while the ordering is good—TODAY!

STATE AT FAIRCHILD

Two Fashion Questions
Were Answered

What is the Smartest
Dress Fashion for Sports
Wear?

The two-piece frock was a 20 to 1 favorite at the races. The becomingness of the convertible collar and the practical freedom which the ingeniously inserted fullness gives to the skirt make it a perfect dress for sports wear.

This is the type of dress created by Chanel and introduced in Madison by Kessenich's. In cashmere, flannel or jersey, in all the loveliest pastel shades, you will find it in our moderately priced Apparel Section.

What is the Smartest
Way to Wear the Silk
Scarf?

A silk scarf well calculated to harmonize with her mannish sports costume is the inevitable choice of the fashionable woman at the races. And almost always it is worn tied closely to the neck, looped at the side, slip-knotted or even tied in the back.

Timothy Crawley's famous scarfs in a riot of gorgeous colors, printed silks, Camieu designs, Roman stripes and hand blocked motifs, are priced at $3.50 up.

$119,790 PLEDGED IN HOSPITAL DRIVE

Announce Donation of $15,000
From Mrs. R. H.
Jackson

With a total of $119,795 raised in special donations and public subscriptions to date, the greater Methodist hospital campaign, aimed to make Madison the hospital center of Wisconsin, is rapidly nearing its goal of $250,000, it was announced at the banquet of all the workers in the Y. M. C. A. last night.

A special gift of $15,000 to the hospital from Mrs. R. H. Jackson in memory of Elizabeth Stevens Jackson was announced by E. B. Steensland.

Reports for divisions and towns surrounding Madison are:

- Emil Frautschi—$21,161.
- Oswald Neesvig—$19,352.
- Mrs. E. B. Steensland—$36,470.
- Rev. J. W. Irish—$20,635.
- Haswell and Cooper—$21,001.
- Mazomanie—$158.
- Belleville—$228.
- Cottage Grove—$111.
- Brooklyn—$179.

Reports of amounts raised so far were given by the division leaders and captains and by workers from nearby villages. Enthusiasm reigned at the banquet as more than 200 workers dedicated themselves to the task of enabling every Madisonian to subscribe to the proposed hospital expansion.

Expressing his pleasure that the hospital is to be built by contributions of all the people of the city, Emerson Ela, Madison attorney, asked for the support of members of every religious creed.

A special advertising and publicity campaign for the hospital project has been undertaken by A. Ivan Peltier, director, assisted by Dr. Arnold Jackson. A large, painted thermometer placed on the capitol square will inform the people of the progress of the campaign.

A letter from Bishop C. E. Locke of the St. Paul area, was read by W. D. Curtis, chairman of the meeting, in which Bishop Locke promised to contribute $500 to the campaign if the $250,000 was raised.

At a meeting Wednesday noon, in the Madison club, of the special committee working on large gifts from the wealthier people of the city, organizations, and industrial

three gaits riding team, triple bar jump, and a three gaited sweepstake event.

Pen Jump Spectacular

The spectacular element will be added by the feature pen jump. Contestants will be required to hurdle over a board fence four feet high into a pen 24 feet square, continue straight through and hurdle out over the opposite wall. Then they will re-enter the square and hurdle out over a side. Finally they will ride up to post and rail, throw off the top rail, turn and jump the remaining rails. All this is completed in less than half a minute. Eleven entries will compete for the silver trophy and ribbons which have been offered as prizes. And then tomorrow afternoon on the lower campus the rodeo atmosphere of the western plains will prevail. The "water jump," inter-sorority, and interfraternity events will bring together the best riders of the organized groups of the campus as other competitors for the $1,000 in cash prizes and 20 silver trophies to be given the winners of the 25 events.

The University of Wisconsin appropriation bill, carrying more than $7,000,000 for capital and operation during the next two years was introduced in the senate yesterday by the joint finance committee.

The provisions of the bill are substantially as previously reported by The Capital Times including $2,800,000 annually for operation and more than $1,500,000 for capital for the biennium.

Before offering the bill on the floor of the senate, the committee added $12,000 for a fire protection pump, and increased the appropriation for a heating plant boiler from $47,000 to $97,000.

Slow Motion Films Illustrate Talk on Saddle Horses

Slow motion pictures of horses in action, slides of bridle paths, and others of the different types of saddle horses were used by Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse Association of America, to illustrate the talk on "Bridle Paths and Saddle Horses" which he gave last night in the Engineering building. Mr. Dinsmore outlined the various types of bridle paths which are situated in parks throughout the country. In this connection he showed special slides and maps of the parks of Chicago and the riding paths in the Cook county forest preserves. This system extending some 175 miles throughout the reservations, is the longest in the country.

As for saddle horses, Mr. Dinsmore displayed pictures of each of the many breeds, distinguishing between them and noting their peculiar characteristics.

SECRETARY SCORES BLAINE POLICIES

Zimmerman Demands Non-partisan Investigation on Subject of Taxes

Advocating non partisan, non political investigation of the tax situation in Wisconsin, Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman, yesterday afternoon the policies of Gov. John J. Blaine, in an address before the Builders' Monthly Noonday Luncheon at the Milwaukee Athletic club.

"The people demanded that our income tax law be reformed, he has deformed it," the secretary of state declared.

"I have always been a progressive but I confess that if he is a progressive I am something else."

Mr. Zimmerman's open declaration in opposition to the governor comes at a time when attention is being given at Madison to politics. It is generally agreed at the state capitol that Gov. Blaine will be a candidate for United States senator. Mr. Zimmerman is contemplating becoming a candidate for governor or senator, it was learned from an authoritative source close to the secretary of state. If, Mr. Zimmerman becomes a candidate for governor, this person asserted, he will run as an "anti-Blaine republican."

"Our income tax law was advocated by Gov. La Follette and Gov. Davidson, it was formulated and enacted under the direction of Gov. McGovern and it was retained without modification by Gov. Philipp," Mr. Zimmerman told the builders. "Under these circumstances is it not permissible to say that, in a broad way, it meets with the approval of the people?"

"All agree that it is not perfect, and that it should be revised to meet the changed economic conditions, but, it is too big and too important a subject to be made a political football to enable a designing politician to steal a political goal."

"Our tax laws should be revised after an investigation has been made by a non-partisan, non-political commission composed of representatives of all the important economic groups — manufacture financiers, farmers, laborers and artisans; republicans, democrats and socialists."

"The final proposal by such a commission will be fairly equitable. It will not be entirely satisfactory to all, and perhaps not to any of the economic groups, but every just law is a compromise, and no just tax law can be enacted without compromise."

"We must not confuse the principles of government which characterized the administration of the four governors I named with the political gyrations and contortions of the present executive. I have always been a progressive but I confess that if he is a progressive I am something else. The people demanded that our income tax law be reformed, he has deformed it. Not a single piece of progressive or constructive legislation has been enacted during the last three sessions of our legislature. Neither has anything been accomplished by way of reconstruction. The evils and inequalities that existed when he was first elected are still with us, and he has added others."

"Our industries must not be taxed so as to make it difficult for them to compete readily with similar industries in other states.

His administration has acted like a malign disease gnawing at the vitals of our economic and social life. It has led to a great deal of unjust and uncalled-for criticism of our state. This is a serious mistake. It ought to be possible to cure the disease without killing the patient. Surely, it cannot be necessary to crucify the state of Wisconsin in order to prevent the re-election of a political pettyfogger.

"There has been persistent propaganda to the effect that business has been driven from the state because of unjust tax laws, and because the cost of government is too great. That is not true of the past. The cost of government in Wisconsin has not been greater than in any other states."

"The per capita cost of government in the past, compares favorably with Iowa, and very favorably with Michigan and Minnesota, while the per capita indebtedness of Wisconsin and all subdivisions is only $39 compared with $62 for Iowa and $94 for Michigan and $110 for Minnesota."

"This is the history of the past up to 1922. What the effect of the present muddle may be in the future I am unable to say. But up to the present time no business enterprise worth mentioning has left the state on account of the tax laws. A few have moved their offices to larger cities for business reasons, but the net earnings of their factories are taxed in Wisconsin and all we lose are the few dollars of income tax on the salaries of the office force, the total of which is so small that it is not worth mentioning."

"This unjust propaganda about business being forced out of Wisconsin will do more harm than the iniquitous tax law that was recently passed. It certainly cannot improve your business to tell the world to keep away from Wisconsin."

Declaring that Wisconsin has been a well-groomed state and that it ranks among the foremost in dairying, agriculture, and manufacture, Mr. Zimmerman lauded the builders of Wisconsin, who, he said, had produced a great state.

Comedies on Stage and Screen Make Up Next Week's Shows

By H. E. R.

Long live the present run of good shows! Next week finds us with a schedule equally as good, or possibly better than our present week's program.

"Sally," starring Colleen Moore, will be the main feature at the Strand for the first five days of next week. This show, it will be remembered, was Flo Ziegfeld's great success on the stage. According to Liberty the movie is as fine a production as could be desired. Colleen is supported by Lloyd Hughes and Leon Errol. Errol has long been a favorite entertainer in a waiter's outfit on the legitimate stage, because of his funny fall. Then for the last two days, "In Every Woman's Life" will be the feature. The stars in nocence abroad. Then on Wednesday and Thursday the Knights of Columbus will be in full possession of the stage when they produce their annual Frolic. This year the cast contains 180 people. On Friday, Herbert Rawlingson and Madge Bellamy will appear for the day only in "The Man in Blue," a thrilling melodrama concerning a policeman, and containing a raid with its characteristic fight. Saturday will bring still another change of program, when Louis Mann, comedian of undeniable worth, will make one of his final appearances in "Milgrim's Progress" before sailing for Europe.

Another comedy will be shown at the Madison the first four days of the week, when Raymond Griffith, recent "comer" in the movie world, will appear in his first starring production, "The Night Club." Starting Thursday, Betty Compson will be starred in "The Ramshackle House," a love melodrama in which she is assisted by John Davidson. Betty succeeds in getting herself into messes as usual, and is rescued by John at the crucial moment, as usual, but we always enjoy seeing her.

The two stock companies are loath to leave the fields of humor also, and consequently we find that the Majestic is playing "Step Lively, Hazel," with Mervyn Hesselberg and Miss Irene Homer being held over for another week. At the same time the Dorothy Lavern players will be producing "The Goose Hangs High," the comedy of undergraduates at home, which has just closed a successful season in Chicago.

Nice going, playhouses, nice going.

Pneumonia Is Fatal English "Soap King" Women Lead Parade In Lisbon Riot; Call Troops

LISBON, Portugal—Disorders have broken out again in Lisbon. Today the streets are patrolled by cavalry, occasional revolver shots are heard, a few persons have been wounded and many arrests have been made. The disorders began Sunday as a result of the elections. Yesterday women led a street parade, followed by male demonstrators who occasionally fired shots. Troops charged the demonstrators.

CORNELL, Wis.—Lawrence Tolleson, who nightly rings curfew at Cornell, may die from injuries received when the 200-pound bell dropped from the top of the city hall Tuesday and struck him. The bell has never in the last decade, until last night, failed to sound curfew in Cornell.

Mask and Wig By CHATTY

After the outburst I had reprinted Tuesday morning, perhaps a little salve would go well on the wound—if a wound was made. If the outburst was only a source of amusement, as it should have been, here is something of a little more serious order.

If Haresfoot is "designed to resemble Mines" perhaps it may do its little, unpretentious bit to lead its little, unpretentious bit to lead spire some other organization to form resembling it.

THE HARESFOOT ORGANIZATION

Fresh from viewing "Ivan Ho!" the 27th annual musical comedy of the Haresfoot club at the University of Wisconsin, we cannot help but wonder what every happened to Hermit and Crow, and why.

While not quite up to the usual Haresfoot standard, so far as book is concerned, "Ivan Ho!" was a good show and showed ingenuity in several places. In fact, "Saracen," by Jesse Cohen, '24, is probably one of the prettiest pieces heard for a long time in a college show. And Haresfoot is a college show! There are awkward chorus girls (or rather men) as well as graceful ones. And they will take part with a great deal of zest, regardless of how good or bad the result is. Which is a spirit to be admired.

Northwestern is one of the few Big Ten universities without a men's musical comedy club. Up until two years ago, Hermit and Crow flourished. Then, for some reason, it died out. It should be revived, or a substitute found. There is plenty of talent here as well as at Madison. It should be put to use. Hermit and Crow had a date this year and let it slide by.

If the W. A. A. can put on anything so good as "The Tenth Attempt" (and you must admit that it was good), then there should be a similar club for men.

This is no time of year to be starting it, but it is something for the men who will be back next year to ponder, and ponder hard. Hermit and Crow should be revived or a new organization founded. We should have all-men musical comedies here as well as at other universities. Think about it!

Horse Racing Film Provides Thrills and Swift Action

"Gold Heels"
Featuring Robert Agnew and
Peggy Shaw
Presented at the Parkway

Full of thrills and swiftly moving action with plenty of hair-raising episodes is the picture "Gold Heels" showing at the Parkway. With the fun-loving, likeable Robert Agnew as the lucky hero of chance in the horse racing game, and with his two close companions, "Push" Miller (Lucien Littlefield), as the typical roister, and "Rabbit's Foot" Toby, played by Harry Tracy, we have a trio which can well-high evoke laughter from anyone.

Although the picture harks back to "Checkers" of past fame, and merges close on to the slap-stick comedy where everyone tumbles about in a desperate attempt to elude the pursuer, it redeems itself in the splendid acting of its cast, as well as in the touch of drama which this production are Virginia Valli,

Lloyd Hughes, and Stuart Holmes. Johnny Hines is going to cut up for us the first three days at the Parkway next week in "The Crackjack," a comedy based on a revolution in South America, and in is discloses.

A small town where the up-keep of the orphanage is the immediate concern of the lovely Pert Barlow (Peggy Shaw) forms the setting for the most part. The constable, played by James Douglas, does all in his power with is little book and pencil to keep the place free from treachery. But, wherein he fails and how finally everything is cleared up to the satisfactory perpetuation of the orphanage project offers much in the line of amusement.

Lucien Littlefield, at his best when twirling his hat on the back of his head and snapping his William Tell bow-tie, adds much to the humor of the situation. Not close behind him in point of amusement comes the faithful little colored fellow with his rabbit foot ready at hand for any emergency. The character of Mr. Barlow (Carl Stockdale) likewist contributes to the fun of the picture.

On of our big cities is getting rough. A public official there was reprimanded for taking bribe.
