BADGER CINDER MEN WILL MEET CHICAGO TODAY

Track Team Clashes With Maroons in Last Home Dual Meet

EVENT BEGINS AT 2 P. M.

The Wisconsin track team will clash with Chicago university in the last home dual meet of the season today. The event will begin at 2 o'clock on Camp Randall cinder-path.

The Badgers lost their first meet of their outdoor season to Illinois last Saturday, but their showing excelled that made by any other squad against the champion Sucker outfit. With Capt. "Al" Knollin leading his Badger speedsters for the last time in a dual meet at Randall, the Wisconsin outfit will attempt to swamp Chicago.

Maroons Improve

Although the Maroons have not shown brilliantly in track this year, they have steadily improved until they are ready to offer close competition to Wisconsin in several events. C. and A. Brickman are two of the best Maroon point-getters. Both have won places in the two hurdle events and the sprints.

Krogh, a distance runner, has had two years of Conference competition. He will be pitted against Mark Wall, who has defeated him before, and against other Badger distance men in both the mile and two-mile events.

Redman is Consistent

"Charlie" Redman, Maroon field man, is sure to gather points in his events. The Big Midwayite places consistently in the hammer throw and is one of the best men in the Conference in this event. Pyott, a football halfback, is entered in the two dash events. He is one of the speediest men who performed on a Western gridiron this year. "Death" Thomas, Maroon plunging halfback, is another member of the track team. He has been listed to participate in the 220-yard dash and the century.

Frat Orchestras to Play Venetian Night

Eight or 10 fraternities have signified their intention of having individual orchestras on their piers on Venetian night, according to John D. Babcock '22, chairman of the piers committee.

This novel feature of the 1922 festival has been made possible through the co-operation of the various organizations that will have piers on that night and the piers committee.

To avoid confusion each orchestra will have a specified time to play so that the music will not be marred by discord.

Some of the organizations will hire orchestras for that evening, and others will provide them made up of their own members. A loving cup will be awarded to the organization having the best orchestra.

Vacation Question Answered In May Country Magazine

"See Wisconsin First" is the theme of the May issue of the Country Magazine which is due to appear on the campus Tuesday morning. This is to be the feature issue of the year, consisting of 40 pages of feature stories and illustrations that will answer the question "Where shall I spend my vacation?"

The campus sale is to be conducted by the girls of the Euthenics club, and the profits are to aid in the foundation of the Dorothy Roberts' scholarship fund.

"We want to convince Wisconsin students that our own Badger state is not easily surpassed in natural beauty," declared the editor, Walter Ebling, in discussing the Magazine.

"With stories by state authorities on parks, roads and sporting grounds, and with pictures of rare scenic beauty, this issue should be of real service to the lover of outdoors."

An order for 500 has already been received and the staff is making plans for the distribution of at least 2,000 copies.

BED-TIME STORY

Grandmother was very fond of little Jardina, her four-month old grandchild. The two were inseparable. One day grandma went away and stayed longer than a month, and with great expectation she came back to resume her companionship with the little darling. As she tumbled into the old home, she ejaculated, "Where is the che-e-ild? My little Jardina. Where is it that she is?"

Imagine her surprise when the mother spoke rather casually, "Oh dogs. We'll pursue her to the end."

little Jar? Why she got so mean we had to shoot her. Won't you have a bowl of soup "

Tomorrow we shall tell you all about Uncle Wiggly and his adventure with the can of raw dynamite. Now g'wan to bed!

JUST finished listening to a radio concert. Heard what kind of weather it is going to be today and how much Gr-r-r Gr-r-r Gawk Preferred is selling for. The speaker thought we figured he was kidding us, and so he repeated everything at least five times to show us that he was sincere.

THEN some bimbo talked for half an hour about the effect of papier mache on the shoe and sugar industry.

JIMMY BRADER just walked by and whistled at us, but what we started to say is where did he learn the Kappa whistle?

PA BLEYER bloomed forth yesterday in a brand new straw chapeau, thereby getting much rise out of the crude lawyers browsing comatosely in front of the Torts building.

Monte Carlo Set in "Foolish Wives" Is Most Costly of All

The costliest and most elaborate set ever constructed for a moving picture, is conceded to be the Monte Carlo plaza set built at Universal City, Cal., for the production of "Foolish Wives," the million dollar photodrama.

The set is 400 feet long and almost 300 feet wide and includes three full-sized buildings, two circular parks, and many yards of concrete sidewalks and oiled roadways. The Hotel de Paris, at the head of the Plaza, is 100 feet long and 65 feet high. At its left is the Casino, 174 feet long and 74 feet high, and on the right side of the plaza is the Cafe de Paris, 120 feet long, with its crystal fronted ground floor, and its shining dome, 36 feet in diameter and 50 feet high. Forty-eight plates of glass, 12 by 4 feet, were used for this building.

Even the Monacan trolley cars were reproduced for this set, actually running on regular tracks and carrying passengers.

MOTHER'S DAY

ALL that I am or ever hope to be I owe to my angel mother," was the tribute paid by Abraham Lincoln to the woman who gave him birth.

To the mothers of the race we can never be too considerate, too kindly. Our reverence for them should be a constant appreciation of all they have done for us—all they mean to us. From the days when as boys we ran to mother's knee and there poured out the childish troubles and there received consolation and absolution—from that day to the end of the chapter, mother will be, as she always has been, the best friend we have on earth.

Tomorrow is Mother's Day. A letter on that day will take to mother the word that she wants to hear—the word that you are well, and happy, and that in the midst of your worries and pleasures and work, that you have always remembered her and that you love her now as when a child.

Write the letter and mail it now.

THE POINT SYSTEM

IN ORDER that there may be some method of regulating the number of activities engaged in by any one student, the Minnesota Daily is zealously advocating a Point System. Many of the difficulties that Minnesota has found under the present method of unregulation may be found as well on the Wisconsin campus.

There is an old adage that seems to fit the case very well. It is "Do one thing at a time and do that well." It is obviously impossible for the average student to engage at the same time in more than a limited number of campus activities and to still do justice to all of them.

Neither will he be able to do justice to the main purpose of his college life—the scholastic curriculum. In too many cases the studies are relegated to the background and activities are given major interest and major time. Such a system works no good to the institution nor to the students involved. The activities suffer, the college suffers. For these we may feel sympathetic. But no sympathy need be wasted on the student who so delights in hearkening to the call of public duty that he loads himself up with extra-curricular work.

Campus politics may often be blamed for the over-loading of work onto the shoulders of a few. The student politician may feel that, in this way, he is serving his organization, his fraternity, or his class. And undoubtedly he is so doing. But when such service becomes so extended that it is irksome and burdensome, then it benefits no one. On the other hand, such over-loading is sure to hurt the activities. Some of the details of the work will be hastily skipped over or perhaps neglected entirely. Much of the work will be half done, if done at all.

And what of those students who would be willing to serve the school but who find that there is little opportunity for more than a few to serve?

The Point System hopes to abolish these evils by limiting the number of activities in which any one student may engage. Under the proposed system no student would be allowed to amass more than a definite number of points. Each activity would be awarded points in accordance with its importance and the work it involved. Thus one, or at the most, two, major activities would be the maximum amount allowed any one student.

The Minnesota Daily presents in the following paragraphs the merits and its comments on the system:

1. More students take part in activities.
2. Those who do take part are saved from themselves by the ever-ready check provided by the system.
3. The activities themselves benefit when the men and women who participate in them are not overburdened with work.

As to the first point, Minnesota is a big university in a big city. Due to the fact that few of the students know any large proportion of their fellow students personally, the man who once gets his name before the campus has a tremendous initial advantage over all others. The result is that the number of his activities, if he is a moderately astute politician, is limited only by his ambition and the danger of flunking out. The point system makes it possible for other students who are anxious to take part in activities to get in without waiting for the incumbent of two or three major jobs to make his exit.

The second consideration, that of saving the over-active student from himself (or his fraternity brothers) is likewise important. The man who gets nothing out of college except college activities is just as superficial, just as one-sided, as is the man who does nothing but study the books for four years. The really successful individual is the one who is able to make a go of both activities and studies.

The third point advanced by the Daily as a merit of the point system is the most vital of all. Without the point system, the ambitious officeholder tends to spread himself so far and wide that each of the organizations which he nominally guides receives but little of his precious attention. The organizations suffer.

A total of 1,478 different classes or sections meet as a part of the 767 courses of study given at the university this year.

Eau Claire county is represented by 54 students, including 16 women and 38 men, at the university this year.

CADETS FINISH EQUIPMENT FOR MODERN ARMIES

Trenches, Dugouts, and Lookout Posts Now on Exhibition

Trenches, dugouts, lookout posts, and other equipment of modern warfare have been competed by the junior advanced course men in the R. O. T. C. This exhibition of actual size models has been prepared under the direction of Lieut. Edwin M. Sutherland, U. S. A., and will be passed on by a group of inspecting officers from Washington, D. C., during the annual inspection week.

The trenches are situated in the rear of the gymnasium and are being inspected by many interested spectators.

Besides the standard type of trench with its fire step and sand bag parapet, there is a machine gun emplacement with a large standard wire net, camouflaged with leaves so as to hide the gun and crew from the enemy. This net serves as adequate protection both from the air and from the front.

A periscope, camouflaged within a hollow stump, leads into an underground lookout station, which has been covered with grass and leaves so as to leave no trace of the defensive position.

Various incidentals and accessories to trench warfare have been prepared and are on exhibition at the same place.

The class has also prepared small miniature models of every type of trench, entanglement, and other instruments of warfare and these will also be a part of the work that will be inspected next week.

For Freshmen and Sophomores there is no compensation for attending camp, but car fare, board, room, laundry, and uniform are furnished by the government.

Members taking the advanced course are paid $1 per day for the six weeks.

Golf Men Tilt With Maroon Team Today

The Wisconsin golf team will today meet the University of Chicago quartet in the first Big Ten dual meet ever scheduled for a Badger squad. Play will begin at 8:30 this morning on the Maple Bluff club course.

It will be the second match of the season for Wisconsin, Capt. "Mort" Frost and his mates having defeated Beloit college at Beloit last Saturday.

Frost, Capen, Bauer, and Bach will each play 36 holes for Wisconsin, while Capt. Hartman, one of the best Mid-West golfers, "Tom" McGuire, "Chuck" McGuire, and Ford represent Chicago. The results will be scored according to the

Presenting--- "AL" KNOLLIN

CAPT "AL" KNOLLIN

Capt. "Al" Knollin will lead his Badger track squad in a Conference meet at Camp Randall for the last time when Wisconsin meets Chicago at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

One of the best track men that has ever worn the Cardinal and White will be lost when "Al" completes his three years of Big Ten competition in June. For the past three seasons he has been one of the mainstays of indoor and outdoor track squads.

The Badger leader has defeated every hurdler of note in the middle west and has shown himself superior to the majority of Eastern speedsters when he took third in the sticks event at the Penn relays held recently in Philadelphia. In the American track classic, Knollin finished close behind Thompson, Canadian star and Dartmouth wonder, and Barran, of Penn State.

Knollin holds the record in the 40-yard high hurdles jointly with Carl Johnson, Michigan. He carried the event in both the 1921 and 1922 Big Ten indoor meets.

The Badger leader started his career of victories in the 1919-20 season. He won the Conference 220-yard low hurdles by defeating Wright, Nebraska, Gallagher, Kansas Aggies, and Andrews, Wisconsin.

He won both the indoor and outdoor hurdles championships last year. Knollin tied Johnson's record in the indoor high hurdles. At the outdoor track meet held in Chicago last June, Capt. "Al" won both the low and high hurdles. He does the high timer event in 15 seconds flat and negotiates the 220-yard low distance in 25 seconds.

Knollin has also won points in the sprints. He is usually individual high point winner in Big Ten dual meets. "Al" is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity, Iron Cross, and White Spades, and is president of the athletic board.

Gun and Blade Nine Trims Mills Street

The Gun and Blade nine won a 7 to 2 victory over the Mills street in an Independent baseball league game played Thursday. The ex-soldiers had no difficulty in hitting the ball and they captured an easy contest.

Other results in the Independent league follow:

St. Frances club 7, Y. M. C. A. 5. Johnson street 6, Square club 4. Toggery shop vs. Lutheran brotherhood (Toggery shop failed to report.)

Nassau point system.

Taking advantage of the good weather during the past week, the Badger outfit has rounded into good form and will offer close competition to the Maroons.

Although Chicago has the strongest team in the Conference, its players will be forced to extend themselves to defeat the Wisconsin aggregation. A fair sized gallery is expected to follow the players around the course.

RACQUET TEAM TESTS STRENGTH WITH GOPHERS

Tennis Men Engage in Second Conference Match of Season

The Wisconsin tennis team will engage in its second Conference match of the season when it meets the University of Minnesota quartet at 2:30 this afternoon on the Breeze terrace courts.

The Northerners are reported to be in excellent condition, although they have played but one Conference match this season. They will come to Madison this morning from Chicago where they stacked up against the Maroons yesterday.

The Badgers travelled to Minneapolis last week-end for a meet which was postponed after each team had won two matches. Coach George E. Linden put his men through a light work-out yesterday afternoon in preparation for today's matches.

"I cannot make any predictions as to the outcome of the match with Minnesota," Coach Linden declared yesterday, "because the two teams are so evenly matched. Norton of Minnesota plays a wonderful game of tennis, and it should make a thriller for fans when he meets Gottfredson. If the team, as a whole, is working good, our chances for victory are more than even."

A faster match than that with the U. S. C. doubles team is predicted when Gottfredson and Tredwell stack up against Norton and his speedy partner, Pidgeon.

Chairs will be placed around the courts for the games.

Tekes, Sig Phis Win In Frat Baseball

Only two games were played in the interfraternity baseball league yesterday. The Tau Kappa Epsilon nine walloped the Chi Phis, 9 to 2. The Tekes were able to find the offerings of Barwig and hit the ball consistently.

Sigma Phi Epsilon defeated Theta Xi, 3 to 2, in the closest game. Hertz and Emanuel engaged in a pitcher's duel with Hertz having a little the best of it.

The A. T. O.-Alif Mim contest was postponed until 8 o'clock Sunday morning and the Delta Upsilon-Theta Chi game was also postponed until Sunday.

BASEBALL NINE PLAYS ILLINOIS FOR 2ND TIME

Game at Urbana May Decide Conference Championship

The Wisconsin baseball team will meet Illinois for the second time within a week when the two nines clash at Urbana this afternoon. Coach Lowman and his men left Madison yesterday and the players were given a light practice late yesterday afternoon.

The outcome of the game today will decide whether or not the Badgers can remain in the running for the Conference championship. Both Illinois and the local nine have another chance to beat the Wolverines, but it does not seem that both will be able to accomplish the feat, so a second defeat would put Lowman's men out of the running.

Badger Combination Good

Illinois will, of course, make a mighty effort to avenge the defeat which they took from the Badgers last week. The Suckers know just what to expect from their opponents, and they may be able to solve Paddock's offerings early in the game. In addition the Illini will have a stand full of enthusiasts who will expect victory.

The Badger combination which has worked so well in the past few games will probably remain intact today. Combacher appears to be on the inside track for the second base position, although a substitute second baseman was carried along.

Meet Iowa Monday

Coach Lowman will not select his hurler until a few minutes before the game is called. The fact that the opposing batsmen are somewhat used to "Paddy," is against him and it is possible that Mills will draw the assignment. The latter is more apt to be the case if "Lefty" Barnes is on the mound for the Suckers, since Mills is the only southpaw on the Wisconsin squad.

As soon as the Illinois game is over, Coach Lowman and men will entrain for Iowa City, where they are scheduled to appear against the Hawkeys on Monday afternoon. Although the Iowans are out of the running for the championship, their class was shown by the manner in which they led Illinois until the last inning when the two teams met three weeks ago.
