FORENSIC BOARD FILES COMPLAINT AGAINST UNION

Alleges Violation of Contract;
Court to Hear Case
January 8

Forensic board has filed complaint with the Student court preparatory to bringing a suit against Union board for violation of the former's right to bring speakers and all forensic talent to the students of the university.

Union board is alleged to have exceeded the time limit of a contract between the two bodies regulating this activity. Trial has been set for January 8.

Claims Disunion Created

With the power of a contract, Union board has been bringing famous speakers and lecturers to Madison during the past two years. The contract has now expired and it is alleged that the Union has made arrangements to bring further forensic talent to the campus without the permission of the Forensic board.

The complaint states in part that the action of Union board has created disunion and inefficiency in conducting the forensic program; that it has deprived the student body of advantageous prices which the Forensic board could obtain, and that it has created unnecessary conflicts in student government.

Subpoena Board Members

The court is asked in the complaint to make the Union desist from all activity within the proper province of Forensic board and to take necessary action to enforce the student ruling.

The Student court has issued subpoenas to the members of Union board to appear at the trial.

W. S. G. A. RULES IN EFFECT OVER RECESS

The rules regulating women's closing hours are in force as usual during the vacation period, according to Dean F. Louise Nardin. All women staying in their rooming houses during the holidays will be expected to keep the 10:30 o'clock rule from Sunday to Thursday inclusive and 11 o'clock Friday and Saturday nights but house mothers may give special week-end privileges on any night except Sunday.

GILMAN HAS STORY IN COMMERCE MAG

Professor Writes on "Business Coaching" in Publication
Out Today

By F. C. V.

"Nowhere in the world is there such a chance for a thoroughbred as now, when the commonplace people are so numerous," says Prof. Stephen W. Gilman in "Business Coaching for Resourcefulness," the outstanding story of the December issue of the Commerce magazine, which is on sale today.

W. K. Lunt, vice president of Sherman Service, Inc., Chicago, in "Man Engineering," tells what can be done in business with cooperation rather than competition between management and wage earner. This story contains just a few suggestions in regard to what can be accomplished if good will in business was also applied to the employees.

"Opportunities in Field" by Alexander Shapiro, commercial manager of Wisconsin Motor bus lines, Milwaukee, will be of interest to the college man who is interested in motor bus opportunities.

"Conducting School Affairs in a Business-like Manner," and "Coaching Our Faculties," two striking editorials of this issue, will appeal to other than commerce students. There is a splendid alumni news column arranged in chronological order, and a Co-Ed's corner containing news of former co-eds and Women's Commerce club.

Engineers Enjoy Annual Sing; Ags and Home Ecs Mix Today

Birge Tells Engineers of True Christmas Spirit; Hymns Sung

More than 500 engineering students met last night in Lathrop concert room under the direction of Dean A. V. Millar to sing Christmas songs and hear President Birge speak on "The Correct Christmas Spirit for a Student."

Many members of the engineering faculty were in attendance, and a majority of the engineering students, all of whom were invited, made this the largest of the three preceding Christmas get-togethers.

Prof. E. B. Gordon of the School of Music led the singing by the engineers as a group. Mrs. E. L. Witte gave a vocal selection accompanied by Russell A. Nelson '26. The engineers choir joined with these two in singing "Oh Come All Ye Faithful," "Silent Night," and "First Noel."

The singing was accompanied by an orchestra composed entirely of engineers and sons and daughters of engineers. Decorations were in green and red, with lighted Christmas trees in the corners of the room.

Dean Millar expressed the hope that get-togethers of like nature uniting the engineers in a Christmas spirit might become a tradition with others of the College of Engineering, and that these mixers might be held before each Christmas recess.

SOPH DEBATE SET FOR FEBRUARY 20

Announce Closers in Annual Contest Between Three Societies

The sophomore semi-public debate, on the question "Resolved, that the manufacture of light wines and beers should be permitted by Congressional legislation," will be held February 20, according to tentative plans made by the Forensic board at its meeting yesterday.

Closers for the respective societies who will take part in the contests are Robert McArthur and William Rahr for Philomathia; Leo Diamond and John Kyle for Athena; Gustaf Winters and Myer Cohen for Hesperia.

The debate, which was won last year by Hesperia, was originally set for January 9, but was postponed to allow better preparation and so as to not interfere with final examinations.

Judges have not been chosen yet, but will probably be selected from the speech department and local law firms.

Each society sends a negative team to debate the affirmative team of its opponent which remains at home. The opponents are chosen by lot. A majority vote of the judges is required to choose the winner.

To Hold National Meeting of Alpha Kappa Lambda Here

Delegates from universities throughout the middle and far west will come to Madison during the holidays to attend the fifteenth national conclave of Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity, which is being held here with Epsilon chapter, December 28 to 31.

Men coming the greatest distances are three delegates from the California and Leland Stanford university chapters on the Pacific coast, according to word received from Howard T. Beaver, Chicago, national president of the fraternity.

Three sessions of the convention will be held, ending with a formal dance New Year's eve.

Members of the local chapter who are in charge of arrangements for the conclave are Lyle Gage '25, Ervin Gerber '25, Hugh Folsom '25, John Thompson '25, John Gillin '27, and Lester Senty '26.

Students in Various Courses on Ag Campus Unite For Program

Christmas songs, community singing, an address by President Birge, and a varied musical program will be offered to agricultural and home economics students at 11 o'clock this morning in the auditorium of Agricultural hall.

The people furnishing the entertainment for the Christmas party are either students of the various courses or members of the faculty. The agricultural faculty and the Agricultural College Federation board are sponsoring the party, the first of its kind in the College of Agriculture. All agricultural and home-economics classes have been dismissed for the 11 o'clock hour, by acting dean Prof. F. B. Morrison. The program for the party includes community singing of Christmas carols, led by Prof. T. L. Bewick; violin solo by Arlene B. Kinkaid '27; a message by President Birge on "Christmas Spirit;" a vocal selection by Mary Eldredge '26; and lastly the distribution of presents by Prof. W. McNeel, who will act the part of Santa Claus.

Both agricultural and home-economics students have long felt a need for more friendly and co-operative union on the College of Agriculture campus, and the A. C. F. board and faculty felt that the Christmas get-together will serve to more firmly unite the various types of students," explained W. J. Zaumeyer '25, president of the A. C. F. board.

The singing was accompanied by an orchestra composed entirely of engineers and sons and daughters of engineers. Decorations were in green and red, with lighted Christmas trees in the corners of the room.

Dean Millar expressed the hope that get-togethers of like nature uniting the engineers in a Christmas spirit might become a tradition with others of the College of Engineering, and that these mixers might be held before each Christmas recess.

Santa Claus visited the little tots at Bradley Memorial hospital yesterday afternoon, leaving a check for $50 to buy toys, games, books and candy, nuts and oranges for Christmas day.

The check, which is the proceeds from the Thanksgiving Charity dance given by Mystic Circle, inter-sorority organization, was given to Miss Mary McGoveran, in charge of child welfare work at Bradley, by Maxine Walker '26, treasurer of the organization.

Each year Mystic Circle gives a charity dance at Thanksgiving time and the proceeds are turned over to a charitable organization or to needy persons. This is the first year that the profits have gone to Bradley Memorial hospital to brighten Christmas day for the 100 little children.

The next dance will be given on Washington's birthday, February 22, and the disposal of the profits will be determined at a meeting after the dance.

New Color Organ to Have Special Theater of Queer Design in East

Mr. H. J. Rupert, manager of Thomas Wilfred, who will appear here January 20 with his color organ, the clavilux, came to Madison yesterday bringing with him the reports of a strange new theater that will soon be built in New York city, a theater that will house 5,000 people and be constructed especially for the recitals of a new and immense clavilux.

The proposed theater, according to Mr. Rupert, will be entirely without lights, except for those of the color organ, and the ceiling and walls will be a curious egg shape of a light hue, on which the colors of the organ will play constantly as a part of the performance.

The audience will be immersed in moving light and color, coming from above and all sides. Sixty men under the direction of one conductor will be required to operate the organ controls.

Such a theater, Mr. Rupert pointed out, is what the immediate future holds for Mr. Wilfred's amazing invention, said to be the first instrument to make possible the

Old Hausmann Bar to Have Home in New Union Building

The 40-foot mahogany bar which saw so many years of faithful service in Hausmann's establishment at State and Gilman streets, will, at some time in the future, resume its activities in the taproom of the Memorial Union building, according to a statement made yesterday by John Dillard, secretary.

The heirs of Carl H. Hausmann, proprietor of the former brewing company, presented the bar to the Memorial Union and have made it possible to keep pace with the taprooms of the unions in other universities.

The tradition of having such a room in the union buildings was started at Michigan when an alumnus fitted up a taproom after a model of the familiar meeting places of yesteryear.

SELECT CHAIRMEN FOR EXPOSITION

Gustorf, Blackman, Fabera, Schaefer and Gladfelter Chosen For Positions

The first announcement of committee chairmen for the university exposition was made last night by Eugene Tuhtar '25, general chairman.

Fred Gustorf '25 is in general charge of the exhibits. The colleges have been divided into four groups in order to facilitate the work of developing the exposition. Thane Blackman '26 has been put in charge of Letters and Science, Wenzel Fabera '25 has charge of the Engineering, Herbert Schaefer '25 has charge of Agriculture, and Lloyd Gladfelter '26 is responsible for the special schools which group includes the Law school, Medical school, and the Course in Journalism.

The exhibits will present a clear cross-section of the work being carried on by the students in the university. The chairmen are starting work immediately and have arranged conferences with the heads of the schools in order to develop plans and possibilities for the exhibit.

BLUE SHIELD FEASTS 25 ITALIAN CHILDREN

"Naw, my maw ain't buying Christmas presents, she's gotta buy our spuds and spaghetti."

The speaker was a 6-year-old little Italian boy, one of the 25 children from the Italian settlement church whom Blue Shield entertained at a Christmas dinner party last night at Wesley Foundation.

Singing and recitations by the children themselves furnished the after dinner entertainment. Lucile Lehrbas '25 assisted by Ruth Hardaker '26 led in singing Christmas carols.

KLATH IS FREED BY STUDENT COURT, POSER IS GUILTY

Two Weeks of Deliberation Brings Decision in Elec- tion Case

Karl O. Klath '26 was found not guilty and Frederick Poser '26 was declared guilty in two decisions reached by the Student court last night after two weeks of deliberation in regard to alleged irregularities in the last election.

The penalty inflicted upon Poser is that "he shall refrain from participation in any general student election whatsoever either as voter, candidate, campaigner, or in any other capacity during the remainder of his career at the University of Wisconsin."

Defendant Confesses.

Klath was first brought to trial December 1 on three charges, namely, that he had solicited votes within the precincts of a polling place, and second, that he had written or caused to be written the names of two candidates on a slip of paper and that he had given them to a voter to influence his vote. The third charge is a combination of the first two. The court in its ruling found the defendant not guilty on all three charges.

The charge against Poser was similar to the second against Klath and the decision of guilty was reached upon consideration of the testimony of H. Chun Wu '26 to whom the slip with the names written upon it was handed, and upon a signed confession of the defendant admitting the charge.

Handbills Barred.

The court held that handing a voter a slip of paper as was done in the case in question goes beyond the bounds of personal solicitation as meant by section 12, article 6 of the Student senate election rules.

The ruling said in part, "The Student senate regulation was drawn originally to prevent the use of money in campaigns and to prevent unintelligent voting by those who cannot remember for whom they wish to vote. If the present case were allowed to go unpunished there would be no reason why unlawful campaign material might not be used in future elections and the court would be powerless to distinguish between cases that might arise then and the one under consideration now."

ASSISTANTS NAMED FOR ICE CARNIVAL

Munkwitz, Cushman, and Klath Picked to Direct Winter Sports Event

Assistant chairmen for the joint ice carnival and state interscholastic skating meet to be held February 14 on the lower campus, under the direction of the Winter Sports club have been named by Arthur E. Timm '25, general chairman of the event.

George A. Munkwitz '25 is chairman of the ice carnival, Helen Cushman '26 will have charge of women's arrangements, and Carl O. Klath '26 is chairman of the state interscholastic skating meet.

The state interscholastic is an experiment which is being tried this year with the intention of attracting high school students to the university, according to Timm. Similar meets, of a more local nature, have been tried out with much success in northern Wisconsin, and if the event is a success at Madison, it will become an annual affair.

"This new event should receive the hearty support of the student body. There is no reason why Dartmouth should be the only school in the country to foster winter sports, when Madison is so ideally situated for such sports as skiing, skating and tobogganing," said Timm.

The committee chairmen who will assist in developing the work of the Winter Sports club will be appointed immediately after vacation.

ATHLETICS IN THE
COLLEGIATE WORLDBADGERS LIKELY TO ENTER RELAYS
AT I. A. C. MEETSchwarze and MacAndrews in Special Events; Will See
Nurmi Run

It is possible that the Wisconsin track men will be represented at the Illinois Athletic Club relays and track meet that is to be held January 16. Coach Jones stated last night that he hoped to enter a two-mile relay team and probably MacAndrews and Schwarze in the special weight and dash events.

Nurmi, the great Finnish distance runner, will run at this meet against Ritola, his countryman, and Joe Ray, the American distance star. It would be a great experience for anyone to see this human machine grind out the miles without showing any signs of fatigue. The only one who has a ghost of a chance of defeating the little Finn is Ritola, the man who forced him to the limit in one of the distance runs at the Olympics last summer.

In addition to this main attraction will be several relay races in which the Badger two-mile team would stand an excellent chance of placing high. Captain Valley, Hilberts, Carter, Cassidy or Schilke would form a quartet of 880 men that would be hard to beat. The only other teams that have entered from Big Ten camps are from Northwestern and Michigan.

Enter Special Events

There is no doubt but what the two special event men from the Badger squad would rank high in the competition. Schwarze can be depended upon to toss out along with the rest of them while it would take a fast speed merchant to beat Pat MacAndrews to the tape.

However, there are certain difficulties that will have to be overcome before the Cardinal jerseyed tracksters appear at the I. A. C. games. First, the I. A. C. track is a board affair and Coach Jones' protégés are accustomed to running only on a cinder track. The change from the cinders to the hardwood is disastrous to a track man and oftentimes results in a bad case of

So It Seems

The "housewarming" party of Tuesday night given by the Association of Commerce for the football men and cross country runners is our idea of something constructive in athletics. If this spirit of "we're behind you" continues throughout the year on the part of the students, alumni, and townspeople generally, there would be a better athletics at Wisconsin, it seems to us.

The underdog always has a chance, it is true, but the underdog does not snap and bite and show his teeth if he thinks he is a lonely doggie on a lonely sea and that nothing much matters.

The business men of Madison certainly are behind athletics at Wisconsin and are of the boosting sort. The first big example of this was a double page spread printed in a local newspaper, at the expense of Madison merchants, on the eve of the Chicago game. The banquet and Orph party of last night is another example.

The Big Ten weekly to the contrary, the alumni of the university can do a lot by directing high school and prep athletes of their communities to Wisconsin. Wisconsin has as large an appeal to athletes as any Big Ten university. The educational standards are high, and Wisconsin teams are always feared, whether on the gridiron, track, basketball, in the tank, on the gym floor, or on the ice or in tennis.

"shin splints," and affliction or soreness of the shins that hampers a track man to such an extent that he is practically useless to the team. On his arrival in this country Nurmi, who had never run on boards before, was bothered by this affliction but has now become used to traversing the timbers.

In the second place the date of the meet is so near exam time that unless the men who will be taken are up in their scholastic work the Badgers will not participate. This meet is not of enough importance in Big Ten circles to risk the eligibility of the men by taking them out of school to take part in it.

"New Athletic Director Will Be Selected January 6," Says PyreMoving Picture Camera to Be Purchased; Will Employ
Hockey Coach

Wisconsin's new athletic director will be selected by the athletic council before its next meeting January 6, it was announced today by Prof. J. F. Pyre, chairman of the council, following a meeting of that body Tuesday night.

Recommendations of a man for the position will be made by the council to the board of regents before the latter group assembles January 21.

The council's choice must be ratified by the regents and by President E. A. Birge, if the man selected gets the position.

More Purchases.

The purchase of a moving picture camera and projector was also sanctioned by the Athletic Council. The machines are to be used for the taking of action pictures of the various Wisconsin teams, and the film will belong to and be under the control of the athletic department.

The council appropriated $200 to help defray the minor expenses of the Lake Placid trip this winter.

It has always been with an effort that hockey has been maintained as a sport at Wisconsin, and the council proposes that a more lively interest be taken in this sport. They authorized the employment of a hockey coach. An intramural and intercollegiate ice hockey program of an interesting nature is being planned so that possible material for the varsity may be found.

The principle work of the council at this meeting was that of approving the schedules for the various sports that have been tentatively drawn up. The football, wrestling, and track schedules as previously printed have not been deviated from. The South Dakota grid game, however, still remains tentative.

Varsity Basketeers All Set to Trim Pat Page's Quintet"Red" Martel, Star of Wabash Game, May Start in Lineup

The varsity cage team has been going through a series of hard practices in preparation for the game with Butler on December 19. Basket shooting and scrimmages have been the program for the workouts. All of the men have reported regularly and are in good condition for the coming fray.

At the first of the week Spooner was not out, for the doctor had given him a rest so that he would be in the best of shape for the game. The injury to his knee has much improved and it is expected that he will be used in at least part of the game against Butler. The rest of the lineup is the same as that used in the Wabash tilt, except that Martel is being used more at the forward position and Merkle, who started the game last Friday has partially given way to Martel. Martel showed real fight and basket shooting ability in the first game, and is expected to be given another opportunity to repeat his performance in the coming game. The little titian-haired cager is one of the fastest men on the floor and as soon as he learns to guard better he will be much used in the initial lineup.

Wackman Improves

Wackman is handling the ball in much better style. His passes are more accurate and his offensive play has greatly improved; Barwig is being used at the guard position and shows promise of being a regular guard. Even if Wackman should be shifted to guard, Barwig is certain of seeing some of the play, for his guarding has progressed rapidly. Varney is fast developing into one of the best of centers. He has at last found himself and is shooting the goals in high class fashion. He is speedy, a good man on the defense and with a little drilling on the offense will prove to be a center of the first water.

Butler Strong

The team has improved since the game with the "Little Giants," and although the Butler team is much stronger, the Cardinal cagers are expected to give them a hard battle. All but two of the men on the Butler aggregation have played basketball for two or three seasons and with this experienced lineup they will force the Meanwell men to a tight score. Last year we won by two points in the last part of the game, and the Butler men are out for a victory in this game. Meanwell feels that they are the strongest team that the Badgers will face before the opening of the conference season, and he is anxious that the varsity make a good showing Friday.

In this week's interfraternity cage games the Sigma Phi Sigma quintet won a close game from the Alpha Tau Omega team 12 to 11; the Phi Psi five defeated Sigma Phi Epsilon 17 to 11 and the fast Tau Kappa Epsilon team won from Phi Chi by the overwhelming score of 40 to 7.

Minnesota continued showing strength when they defeated Notre Dame Monday night 25 to 12. Rasey was the star of the game.

The number "2," the same as he wore on the football field, has been given to Ralph Baker, Northwestern grid star for basketball. If in basketball he is anything like in football, it will be "deuces wild" around the Big Ten.

De Pauw won its second game of the season from the Hoosier Athletic club, Indianapolis by a 23 to 21 score. This win shows that the Tigers have a strong team, because the Athletic club is made up of former college stars, and a win over them is a real achievement.

Ben Friedman, Michigan football find, has turned out as the find of the year for the cagers. His injection in the Michigan Aggie game last week as running mate of Captain Haggerty, forward, proved his worth, and it will take some powerful uprooting to make him lose his job.

Indiana showed a powerful offense when they defeated Washington university, 35 to 18, Monday night. Logan, Drueger, Parker, Sponsler and Alward made up the regulars; however, Harris, Bordner, and Lorber are pressing the regulars hard.

It is interesting to note that in the last 19 years, Indiana has not won a conference basketball championship. The hotbed of basketball, yet not a championship. They always are near the top, but can't quite develop the punch to put them over.

Winning of Fencing Contest
Announced; Recognition

Although the intercollege gym meet is not scheduled to come off until the first Saturday after the holidays, Coach Schlatter is insisting upon the men remaining in training.

The result of the Frosh-Varsity contest, held last week, proved to the men that a decided improvement must be shown. Special attention is being paid to the work in fencing, and already the men are showing the ability that is necessary to win conference meets.

The following lists of winners of the fencing contest, which was held in conjunction with the gym meet, was given out by Coach Schlatter yesterday. In the foils event: Freytag, first; Walters, second; Hollister, third. In the sabers: Aspland, first; Gopadze, second; Parsons, third. Epics: Walters, first; Freytag, second, and Parsons, third.

Badger Fan Sends Athletic Situation
Recommendations

A Badger supporter has handed in a few recommendations which he believes would relieve the athletic situation at Wisconsin. It is hard to tell whether he is writing in a jocular frame of mind or is really serious. Here are the main points in his letter.

"No one seems to want to give the athletic department of the university any advice or criticism. I don't understand the reluctance of the fans to express themselves. Couldn't your vehicle of veracity carry a few coals to Newcastle to increase the heat radiations? I offer these helpful hints as a beginning. This may encourage others to add their prejudices to the collection of deep stuff which will doubtless revolutionize football tactics."

"1. All high class organizations have a slogan or two. Adopt this: "More democracy in football."

"2. Take a referendum two weeks in advance of each game. Each alumnus, student, and fan to have one, two, or three votes depending upon whether he belongs to one, two, or three of these divisions of homo sapiens. Each voter to indicate (a) choice of players; (b) plays to be used; (c) order in which plays are to be used; (d) score expected; (e) lowest acceptable score."

"3. Each person to indicate the results of the referendum and the team to be instructed to follow the vote. No use of the ring around a rosie will then be necessary. Rapid reading is all that is essential.

"5: All tickets should read: Row 18, Section F; Seat 1."

BADGER SKI MEN TO ENTE RMEET
AT LAKE PLACID

Determined to Repeat Performance of Last Year With Another Win

Wisconsin will be the only university of middle west to send a team to Lake Placid, New York, to compete in the intercollegiate winter sports meet there December 31 and January 1. This annual Lake Placid meet is the only meet of its kind in this country, and many universities are represented. The others who will compete this year are McGill, Ottawa and Montreal, of Canada; Dartmouth, Yale, Cornell and Williams.

Last year Wisconsin won the Marshal Foch trophy, which is awarded for ski jumping alone, in which event as many men as wish may compete. The Winter Sports club feels quite certain of winning the same trophy this year. This will be the third season that Wisconsin has sent a team to Lake Placid.

Four Men Picked

Wisconsin will send four men who have been quite definitely decided upon. Robert Pabst '27, a member of last year's winning team, will concentrate on ski jumping and ski efficiency. Leon Emmert '27, the fastest skater in the university, will enter fancy skating, speed skating and snow shoe dash. Adelbert Carmichael '27, who took first place in the ski jumping at Lake Placid last year, will compete in this same event and the ski efficiency test. Paul Stone will enter the ski jumping and the snow shoe dash.

The resignations of Justin Thompson and Martin O'Neill, janitors of the Longfellow school, were accepted by the board of education at its meeting Tuesday night.

THE SPIRIT OF GIVING

What a lot of trouble those three magicians started 1924 years ago when they gave the first Christmas presents! At least that's what poor Dad is apt to think to himself about this time of the year when the family pocketbook is attacked from all sides.

In these days of commercialization of almost everything we are all too apt to think about the material thing given or received and not the spirit in which it is given, or the spirit it typifies.

Not so very long ago in the life of us all there was a time when the spirit of Santa Claus meant a great deal, when that spirit meant even more than the gifts we received from fond parents. Gradually we grew out of that idea, but it is to be hoped not out of the spirit of the idea. With increased knowledge and learning we should feel, no matter what creed we claim as ours, that there is something deeper than the mere perfunctory giving of gifts on Christmas. At this time of the year it would be well if we could add to the purely happy feeling, to the spirit of giving, that deeper feeling that all human beings are capable of, and strive—though often unsuccessfully—to express the feeling that you and the whole world are friends and that all's well with the world. And it would be well if we could carry that spirit with us not only at this time of the year but throughout as much of the rest of the year as is humanly possible.

THE NATIONAL SPORT

When one considers that our "murder rate" is 10,000 lives per annum, one might well imagine murder to be our national pastime. Each year police commissioners and chiefs of police suggest that drastic steps be taken to prevent the sale of pistols. This is a matter for federal jurisdiction, as state legislation would be ineffective. We do not assume that the criminal class can be altogether deprived of these murderous weapons, but we do believe that obstacles placed in the way of free traffic in small arms would help to render less popular the "national sport of assassination", as the Springfield Republican calls it.

Police Commissioner Wilson of Boston, in his annual report to the legislature, recommended that a law be passed that would prohibit the advertising of firearms by mail-order houses and their sale to unauthorized persons. At present one may purchase a gun by giving one day's notice, without a permit.

The most outstanding step taken in this direction thus far has been taken by Sears Roebuck & Co. who have withdrawn entirely from the firearms trade because they could not serve any longer, conscientiously, as agents for the aiding of murderers.

This step did that house great honor. If public opinion should demand similar action of other mail-order houses, it would be a step in the right direction, but much more needs to be done. In view of the number of murders here, which is the largest in the world, it is likely that good might come from an exhaustive study of the situation by a commission appointed by Congress.

"Being a king of Egypt." Ah, what visions this phrase must surely conjure up in even the most prosaic among us! However, if you would like to see how a poet treats this matter you should read "Tutankhamen" by Prof. W. E. Leonard of the English department in his latest volume "Tutankhamen and After" (B. W. Huebsch Inc.).

He leads his reader on, showing the contrast between "Egyptian silence in the rock-hewn hill" and all that goes with it, and the modern pandemonium typified by "San Francisco's newsboys" and the noise of twentieth century industry in which King Tut found himself when his tomb was so rudely disturbed over a year ago.

The poet notes that we spare flowers because they are our contemporaries, that we reverence the graves of those who have died recently, yet we do not hesitate to disturb King Tut's remains because he lived so long ago.

"So long ago?" in comparison with the prehistoric men we have learned of so recently through discoveries and excavations, did King Tut live so long ago? Between Egypt and us lies the wreck of Greece and Rome, yet in comparison with Time our histories are but one; King Tut's ways are ours. The only thing that really endures is art, of which one form is poetry.

RECRUITING FOR THE LIT

The Lit was out yesterday and has been favorably reviewed by a Cardinal staff critic. It is a good number; there is more in it than a possible study of student thought and ability. It is interesting, and there is some poetry that is not without inspiration.

But all this is not to the point. It is not our intention to write another review. The point is that a publication of the type of the Wisconsin Literary Magazine is made by its public. Students will write what their readers desire and in many cases will write as well as their readers demand—as do the commercial writers of the day.

The fact that an article is sharply criticized is no good reason why the author is devoid of all ability. He will undoubtedly be spurred on to better work. If he feels that a considerable portion of the student body—that body to which he belongs—is reading his stories or essays or poetry and that they are passing judgment on it, he will feel that at least he has received some acknowledgment for his efforts.

How many contributors to the Lit seldom if ever hear anything said about their work except the praise of personal friends or the scoffs of personal enemies?

The University of Wisconsin should whole-heartedly support the Lit as other large universities support their publications of the type. It is true that literary magazines are never so popular as comic, nor can they have the run of a news sheet, but there is no good reason why they should have any difficulty in maintaining themselves, and that hand-somely.

There is good literary ability at Wisconsin. A considerable portion of it is to be seen in the Lit, but there is still some of the best ability that has not been uncovered.

More interest in the Lit would recruit this talent and give a better magazine to Wisconsin.

There is only one more shopping day before tomorrow.

What was the oldest fraternity house in the country, the annex of one of the houses at Amherst, burned down last week. In this day and age and country the fates won't even leave such a relic as this to stand as a bit of ancient times.

Wisconsin seems to have a knack at winning basketball games in the last few minutes of play. It was done quite regularly last year, as you may remember, chiefly by this year's captain. And now the team has started out the season in a way which indicates that it will repeat last year's exciting system.

Rejoice ye and be glad. Only 39,600 more seconds of classes before the evacuation of Madison begins tomorrow noon! Are we happy?

Me thinks the meanest individual in the universe is the man who picks a quarrel with his girl the week before Christmas, makes up two days after the holiday, and then makes a New Year resolution not to give any birthday presents throughout the year.

It is estimated that 20,000,000 fathers who need new union suits will receive college stripe ties during the next week.

If one may express one's humble prophecies, interest in spelling will be developed to a high degree among children this week.

ARGON THE LAZY.
THIS IS SO—

A young lady graduate, a Phi Beta Kappa, applied for a position as a high school instructor. She mentioned, among her qualifications that she was a Phi Beta. In his reply, the president of the board of education said:

"We have your application, and note that you are a member of Phi Beta Kappa fraternity. We regret that we shall have to reject your application, as we do not believe in fraternities;" Moral—There are fits of a grade school education, while some now in university have been petted and spoon-fed far past the point of their usefulness to society."

Education, Mr. Dittmer stated, should be a social expense, to society, rather than an individual expense to the family as it now is. "That will be the way in which we shall have to go about insuring to every child an equal chance, which is our duty to the children of America," he said.

"Equal opportunity is an equal chance for all men to prove their inequality," Mr. Dittmer concluded. "That simply means men are different, and should be allowed to develop this difference to the best of their capacity."

Gilbert W. Comstock, Harry F. Fahey, and William Dunlop, all former students, are sailing from New York for Buenos Aires, South America, where they expect to arrive on Christmas day. They are all planning to engage in business in the Argentine.

FILM SERVICES TO SHOW PROM MOVIE

Chairman Believes it Rivals Football as University Publicity

FILM SERVICE TO "The prom movie, in its sphere, is as great an advertisement for Wisconsin as the football movies," Axley said, "because it will show throughout the country one of the great activities of Wisconsin, and without doubt the greatest social activity."

Dr. M. E. Deimer, university photographer, who has filmed the prom movie for the last few years, —De Longe Photo will again take it. The picture will be shown at the Strand theater during prom week.

Arrangements are being made with a film service to exhibit the prom movie in news reels, according to Fred Axley, chairman of the movie committee. Fox, International, and Pathé film services are being considered, and an effort will be made to show the prom movie throughout the cities of the state, and throughout the larger cities of the Middle West. The plan to show the movie in other cities than Madison is one which has never been tried before.

Although the Photoart house will probably be given the contract to take the picture of the group who attend prom, Brown and Rebam, and Lewis Kuhlie photographic companies of Milwaukee are also being considered. The Photoart house has taken the prom picture in former years.

DUDLEY TELLS ITALIAN CLUB OF HIS TRAVELS

An informal talk about some of the less well known Italian places and views, accompanied by the showing of about 80 colored lantern slides, was given before the Italian club by Prof. W. H. Dudley of the university library last night in 220 Bascom hall.

Professor Dudley has made three trips to Italy, in 1899, 1908 and again in 1913 traveling most of the time, on foot, taking photographs as he went.

He has in his collection of slides of Italy approximately 1,000 plates, taken with a small camera and made into lantern slides, which he has colored himself.

Dr. Edwin E. Slosson.

UNION LECTURER HAS LONG CAREER

Dr. Slosson, Here January 8, Noted as Scientist, Journalist, and Author

A long career as a scientist, professor, journalist, and author, has served to bring Dr. Edwin E. Slosson, who will lecture January 8 on "Creative Chemistry" in Lathrop hall gymnasium under the auspices of Union board, to a position as a recognized educational leader in the field of science in this country.

A graduate of the University of Kansas in 1890, Dr. Slosson was for a time a student at Chicago, and then became professor of chemistry at the University of Wyoming. From 1903 to 1920, he was literary editor of "The Independent", and conducted classes in journalism at Columbia university.

In 1921 he went to Washington as head of a new and unique institution, known as Science Service. The purpose of this institution is the dissemination of scientific information to the public. It has no official connection with the government, but closely cooperates with it in its work. Several magazines and bulletins are published by the organization.

Dr. Slosson is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, American Chemical society, and several other honorary societies. His lecture will be supported by the chemistry department, but will be entirely under the auspices of Union board.

Dr. Louise Kellogg '97, has contributed an article on "Copper Mining in the Early Northwest" to the December issue of the Wisconsin magazine of history. Dr. Kellogg now holds a position in the historical library.

WORLD of SOCIETY

Christmas Parties of All Kinds Are Being Scheduled

Christmas is drawing nearer as is evidenced by the Christmas parties being held all this week. Many campus organizations other than fraternities and sororities are taking their turn on the social calendar. There is a great divergence in the parties being planned although all savor of the Christmas spirit.

First Evangelical Church

Inexpensive gifts will be exchanged tonight at the Merry Christmas party given at 8 o'clock in Albright hall of the First Evangelical church. A brilliantly lighted Christmas tree, Santa Claus, and the singing of Christmas melodies will attribute to the atmosphere of the party. A series of games under the direction of Fred Seybold '27 and Ross Rusch '27 will be played. Irene Van Dreser '27 has planned a musical program to be presented at the close of the evening. All Evangelical students and their friends are invited to attend.

The Graduate club is planning a dance for graduates and friends in Lathrop parlors, Friday night.

French House

Santa Claus came to the French House party Wednesday night with a big pack of presents. Of course Santa Claus was only Mr. Kercheville of the romance language department, and the gifts were rather "ridicules," but bits of French poetry going with them furnished a Parisian atmosphere.

Euthenics Club

The Euthenics club is being entertained tonight at a Christmas party by Beth Humphrey '27, at her home, 428 University Place. Initiation of new members will be followed by a series of Christmas games.

Theta Sigma Phi Holds Initiation at 4:30 This Afternoon

Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary journalistic fraternity, will hold initiation for its new members at the Kappa Delta house at 4:30 this afternoon. Following the initiation a banquet will be held at the Old Fashioned Tea Room. The newly elected members of Theta Sigma Phi are Kathryn Shattuck '25, Alice Bruns '25 and Erna Weingartner '26.

ORIENTAL STUDENTS HONORED AT DINNER

Justice Burr W. Jones of the state supreme court will be the chief speaker at a Christmas dinner to be given by 51 American students to 51 oriental students at 6 o'clock tonight at the Wesley Foundation.

"Once a year our boys give this dinner," said Dr. Edward W. Blakeman, the university pastor, "to voice the Christmas wish and honor the lads from afar, whom we have come to know and appreciate on the campus."

Among them will be representatives from China, India, Philippine Islands, and Japan. Certain guests, including those who aided the foundation throughout the year in making the foreign students welcome, will be Dean S. H. Goodnight, Prof. D. W. Meade, Prof. L. A. Kahlenberg, Prof. C. D. Cool, Dr. Crawford and Prof. C. D. Dittmer.

Each American student will call for his oriental guest, bring him to the dinner, introduce him to the other Americans and see that he enters into the singing and other enjoyable features which are being prepared by Louis Petroff '26, and the others on his committee.

I. Christopherson and M. R. Powers Wed November 15

Announcement is made of the marriage of Irene Mary Christopherson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Christopherson, Hartland, and Michael R. Powers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Powers, Mauston, which took place on November 15, at St. Raphael's church. Attendants were Miss Mary Haak and George Ledwith. Mr. and Mrs. Powers, Jr., will reside in Oconomowoc. The bride has been attending the university as a sophomore and the bridegroom attended Notre Dame university.

DOLPHIN CLUB. Dolphin club will meet at 7:15 o'clock Thursday evening in Lathrop swimming pool.

HIP POCKET FLASKS

Editor, the Daily Cardinal:

An article appeared in yesterday's Daily Cardinal saying that the sophomore lunch club had appointed a committee of one to investigate the sale of hip pocket liquor flasks especially by stores catering to student trade. The president also stated that the club should consider certain campus situations which need changing.

Obviously the idea behind this cleanup investigation is to bring about the prevention of liquor consumption by students or to at least slow it up. It certainly seems that an logical and asinine method of combating this evil is being used by the club.

In what way would such an investigation stop the liquor consumption? Even if a national statute was drawn up and passed prohibiting the sale of liquor flasks, would the evil aimed at be reduced? The answer is absolutely no. Those who are violating the law by purchasing and consuming liquor surely would find very little inconvenience in carrying the liquor in pint or half pint bottles instead of silver flasks.

If the sophomore lunch club wants to really do something worth while, why doesn't it aim at the root of the evil and demand a cleanup in the illicit sale of liquor itself to the students? That is the real avil and surely the sale of flasks will not abate it in any way whatsoever.

RYAN VS. MARQUETTE

Editor, the Daily Cardinal:

Although some member of the Cardinal editorial staff has made the sweeping statement that "everybody" is now satisfied with the 1925 football schedule, much evidence to the contrary is forthcoming.

Manning Vaughn, of the Milwaukee Journal staff, in an article captioned "Why Was Wayland Academy Overlooked?" puts Ryan in a light that will do little to increase his already waning popularity. The article follows:

"Wisconsin has turned the icy stare in the direction of Marquette again, but this was not unexpected. The public is d— policy has been the popular one with the Badger athletic council for several years. Its provincialism has been one of the merry jests of the conference. Athletically, Wisconsin is rapidly getting into the class of Purdue and Northwestern.

"Isn't it time to call a halt and do something to put the university back where it belongs? We believe a great majority of the Cardinal's old grads wants a housecleaning, want a change no matter what it is.

We have been told that the regents are disgusted with the situation, and will demand an early shakeup.

Let's have it.

"Had Wisconsin been able to schedule a big eastern eleven or a team like Nebraska or Vanderbilt for its November 14 date, there would have been some excuse for passing up Marquette. But picking the Michigan Aggies is one of the real follies of the Christmas season. This is not written in a spirit of belittling the Aggies or the Aggie school, but Wisconsin is a great institution. The university is representative of a great state, and its varsity football team should be able to schedule games with schools of equal importance at least on what is considered the biggest day of the pigskin season.

"The writer has been told that Tom Jones favored a game with Marquette, but that Jack Ryan refused to O. K. the game because he considered the Hilltoppers too tough. This is interesting, but Ryan's refusal to schedule Marquette is more probably due to a run in he had with Hilltop authorities when he left the Hilltop. It is no secret that Ryan's relations at the Blue and Gold were far from pleasant, and now that he has the upper hand he is taking some fine Irish revenge. One can hardly blame him, but it is regrettable that a personal squabble prevents a game which the whole state seemed to want.

"Despite the turndown, On Wisconsin will still be one of the popular tunes at Marquette."

Coolidge Calls Parley On Postal Pay Bill

WASHINGTON — The situation resulting from the successful efforts of proponents of the vetoed postal employers' pay bill in bringing the measure yesterday before the senate led President Coolidge today to call to the White House a half dozen Republican senators for discussion of means of delaying consideration of the measure until revenue producing legislation can be considered.

The president conferred last night on the same subject with Sen. Curtis, Sen. Borah, and Chairman Sterling of the senate postoffice committee.

LEATHER ODDITIES MAKE FINE GIFTS

Traveling Bags, Hat Boxes, Belts and Billfolds Are Some Suggestions

Unless you have looked around in the shops, you have no idea of the limitless number of pretty new gifts in leather this year. Even the old standbys in leather gifts have taken on a new aspect. A gift in leather for every member of the family as well as for uncles, aunts, grandparents and cousins can be found in any shop.

Leather blotter corners in brown, gold-tooled leather make an attractive and at the same time an unusual small gift. State street shops have them for $3. A leather desk set in colors is welcomed eagerly by the home lover for it adds beauty to any house. A paper knife, inkstand, letter holder, and blotter make up this good looking gift for $8.75.

For the man who is pleased and amused with unusual novelties, a Florentine leather cigarette box lined with cedar is a welcomed gift. These are $8, while similar ones in Austrian leather are $6.

Mother would appreciate hand-tooled leather bridge pad holders for her card parties. One holder with the pad is $3. For Father a pair of house slippers of either soft brown or black leather for about $6 is a practical and useful gift.

The newest in purses is an envelope-shaped black leather holder bound in red leather. Sis would love one, and smart looking ones can be purchased for $5.

A leather bookmark with a calendar to match, a smart collar and cuff set of red leather, a comb in a leather case, a leather covered memorandum pad, and a clothes brush in a leather holder are attractive, inexpensive gifts for your friends. None of these are over a dollar.

Traveling bags, hat boxes, belts, and billfolds are some of the innumerable standbys that are universally welcomed. They are indeed desirable and lovely gifts to give, and are cleverly made this year.

sense require that the line be drawn short of any form of handbill, however innocently it may be made.

"In inflicting the penalty in this case the court is guided by two considerations, first that it must be severe enough to act as a deterrent for similar cases in the future, and secondly, it must remember that there are other violations much more severe, such as multiple voting, and the court must leave room for a gradation of punishment according to the seriousness of the case."
