80 PREP STARS COMPETE HERE IN STATE MEET

W Men Are Chosen Officials for Tournament Starting Thursday

More than 80 high school athletes from nine cities of Wisconsin will take part in the state basketball tournament to be played in the gymnasium Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The first game of the series will commence at 7:15 p. m., Thursday, when Superior Central and Menomonie clash, and promptly at 8:15 Madison and Racine will take the floor. Friday afternoon La Crosse will meet Monroe, after which Racine and Eau Claire will play. The remainder of the schedule can not be determined until the winners of these games are known.

ENGINEERS' EDITION OUT TOMORROW

The Daily Cardinal will issue tomorrow an Engineers' Edition, observing the birthday of the engineers' patron saint, St. Patrick. Engineers will contribute various special articles to the edition.

ELECT TAYLOR BASKET CHIEF

Team-mates Honor Speedy Forward With Next Year's Captaincy

Warren O. Taylor, of Ashland, sophomore in the Course of Commerce, was elected captain of the 1920-21 basketball team at a dinner given the members of the team at the home of Coach Guy S. Lowman, Sunday night.

Taylor, who was the running mate of Captain "Mike" Knapp at forward for most of the season, will have two more years of competition. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity.

Frosh Color Popular Tomorrow on Snake Chaser's Holiday

Whist! Pat Dennis and Walter O'Meara, the Shamrock Twins, do be telling that tomorrow is St. Patrick's day.

And by way of warning—shades of orange may be fashionable this year, but woe to the henna hat or orange tie that braves the open tomorrow. Even brick colored hair must be carefully covered, according to "Reddy" Ryan.

Frosh will be decidedly the rage, the greener the better.

Even the supper campus has begun to assume a green aspect.

And the whole thing started some time ago when St. Patrick drove the snakes out of Ireland, although many a good Irishman has seen snakes occasionally since then, until July 1. And who ever heard of an Irishman who wanted to canonize Prohibition? But maybe St. Patrick's snakes were less popular. So we celebrate.

HARESFOOT CAN USE SONGS BY STUDENTS

Student composers will have an opportunity to have their songs interpolated into the score of "Mary's Lamb," the 1920 Haresfoot production, according to Richard Tyrrell, manager of the club. Although the score is complete as it now stands, it was thought that students should have opportunity to give their songs a trial, and Haresfoot has agreed to give every student-composer a chance to place his song in "Mary's Lamb."

This is the first year in more than ten that the Haresfoot show has not been composed entirely by student talent. It is hoped that next year there will be enough student talent available to compose the entire play.

All manuscripts should be turned in to Richard Tyrrell in the Haresfoot loft in the Union building, or to James Hemsing at 630 North Lake, Badger 179.

PRESS CLUB MEETS TO ELECT MEMBERS

An important business meeting of the Press club has been called for 3:30 p. m. today in room 37, South hall. There will be election of new members, and changes to the constitution will be discussed. Plans for the spring activities will be made, and arrangements to carry them out, started.

Plans for the anniversary celebration of the founding of the Course in Journalism, which were to have materialized tomorrow, have had to be postponed indefinitely, due to the fact that the speakers who are graduates of the course were unable to come at this time.

Only 600 at Massmeeting to Launch Drive, But
$2,770 is Pledged

Although the massmeeting at the gymnasium yesterday afternoon to launch the $100,000 student drive for Union Memorial building was attended by only 600 persons, 90 subscriptions aggregating $2,770 were pledged at the meeting, which, added to amounts previously pledged and sums raised after the meeting, brought the total for the first day of the campaign to $6,000.

Only one of the 11 canvassing teams had returns in last night, but the results of this group, added to the amounts signed for at the massmeeting, brought yesterday's subscriptions to $4,000, according to Loring T. Hammond, treasurer of Union board. Two thousand dollars previously had been pledged by organizations. Of individual amounts pledged yesterday the average was above the per capita quota of $24, which will be necessary to make the students' share in the drive a success, Hammond said.

Canvassers Start Today

The campaign will be waged in earnest today when all the teams of canvassers open active operations.

"One hundred thousand dollars is a small amount for the students to have to raise for their own union building, but the effort will involve real sacrifice, fitting for such a memorial," said President Birge, at the convocation yesterday.

Alfred P. Haake presided, and the university band, which has pledged half of the proceeds of its next concert as the first installment on its contribution, furnished the music.

Other Schools Have Unions

"Red" Weston told how Michigan and other universities in the conference have union buildings, which furnish excellent gathering places, and foster good spirit. It would be a fine thing to be able to tell the high school boys coming here for the basketball tournament that the students had subscribed $100,000 for a union building, he said.

Walter J. Kohler, university regent and one of the leading spirits of the drive, said that a union building is the best form of memorial for Wisconsin's soldiers, because it commemorates their service, and fills a need at the same time. This is an opportunity for Wisconsin people to do something big for their university, he said, and students should oversubscribe their quota, to keep faith with the alumni who are raising $900,000. The manufacturers' association of the state have endorsed the union plan, and donations are being made by people who never attended the university, he pointed out.

Need Meeting Place

"There is not a place on the campus today where men can meet on a common ground for either a social hour or for discussions," said Lawrence W. Hall, representing Union board. "Is it any wonder that we feel there is not the united sentiment of old, when men living in various parts of the city are limited practically to the place in which they live for companionship?"

"Do we wonder that hazing sometimes breaks out and that interclass feeling is not as it should be, when men have no place in which to meet and learn to know each other and see the fine things in one another and learn to forget the faults they see?"

"Do we wonder that there is not the understanding and fellowship

PYTHIA WINS JUNIOR "EX"

Gladys Borchers Captures
Honors in Inter-society
Speaking Contest

Gladys Borchers, representing Pythia literary society, won the Junior "Ex" last night. The subject of her address was "Ideals in Peace and War." Five contestants competed for first place in the annual junior exhibition, each orator representing one of the five literary organizations.

Clyde Emery, Philomathia, spoke on "Universities and Leadership," and Oscar Christianson, Athenae, took for his subject "With Malice Toward None." Mabel Cook represented Castalia, speaking on "A Sign of the Times," and Carl Laur, speaking for Hesperia, discussed "In the Wake of Government Operation." Miss Hatch, Mr. Fleming, and Mr. Weaver of the public speaking department acted as judges.

The other contests in the Northern Oratorical league tryouts will be held tomorrow. At 4:30 the junior open will be held and the senior open will come at 7:30.

TRACY WINS SOPH ORATORICAL TILT

Sterling H. Tracy, a sophomore in the College of Letters and Science, won the sophomore open oratorical contest yesterday afternoon with an oration entitled "America and Britain in the New World." This was the first of a series of elimination contests to decide Wisconsin's representative in the Northern Oratorical league contest to be held here May 7. Tracy will go into the final tryout next Thursday night with the winners in the other preliminaries. Other contestants were Samuel Sygmund, Dean Kimball, Jerry Quam, Ruth Koppke, and Herbert Grant.

BUSINESS COURSES GIVEN BY Y. W. C. A. IN CONSTANTINOPLE

NEW YORK—Typewriting, commercial arithmetic, business English, and now stenography, are among the classes offered by the American Y. W. C. A. in Constantinople. The course in stenography has just been opened at the earnest request of the girls of the association, according to a letter just received at Y.
W. C. A. headquarters in New York city. In spite of the great difficulty of learning shorthand in a language only partly familiar, there Armenian and Turkish girls are eager to attempt it. There is a considerable demand for stenographers in Constantinople, and it seems a dignified and desirable occupation to young women who have never before done anything useful.

LECTURER TO PROVE LONG-HEADED BLOND NOT SUPERIOR RACE

The Teutonic racial theory of the superiority of the long-headed, blond race will be discussed by Prof.
Joseph Jastrow in the fourth of his series of lectures on "Psychical Cults and Systems, Past and Present," in 165 University hall at 4:30
p. m. today.

Professor Jastrow will point out the weak aspects of the theory of Mrs. Blackburn and others for determining the vocational tendencies of an individual by the shape of his head.

The subject of his lecture for today is "The Reading of Character."
He will touch on graphology, face analysis, and newer pretensions.

VARSITY THESPIANS ENTERTAIN SELVES WITH SHOW TONIGHT

They say it's going to be awfully good, and so exclusive, too!

Nobody but members are going to be there, and the things they do—Well, original dance acts and play-lets just written for the occasion and all sorts of things like that are just minor details when the three campus dramatic societies get together tonight at 7:30 in Lathrop parlors.

They're going to plan the whole dramatic campaign for the coming year and they're going to dope out all the good stuff that the Edwin Booth-Red Domino-Twelfth Night combination is going to put on for Union Vodvil.

And after they get through with the fate of the nation and the university and everybody'n everything, they're going to settle down to real aesthetic enjoyment of the program.
Just a hint has leaked out about an original dance act worked out by—but that's been censored! Well, anyway we just wish we could tell you who has worked it out, and they'd have to issue cards for the affair, and get the Madison police on the job to quell the riot to get in.

Red Domino is going to put on a playlet and the efforts of the three clubs have been combined in an original one-act thing that will make
G. B. S. grind his teeth in jealous rage.

DEAN F. W. ROE RAPSCHEATERS

Also Urges Better Balance Between Conservatives and Radicals

"A reasonable attitude is needed in dealing with radicalism on the campus," said Dean F. W. Roe in a talk given at vespers Sunday afternoon in Lathrop parlors on the subject "The Eleventh Commandment, or Applied Christianity."

"Radicalism ought to be here, I think, for surely there is no better place for it than a big free-thinking university. But it is to be regretted that the more conservative, wholesome element among undergraduates does not take a greater interest in open discussions and become active members of organizations such as The New Forum. Those of you who do not agree with the extreme attitude taken by some should get into the arena, show your colors, and take active part in the questions which are besetting our country today."

Dean Doe spoke especially of cheating in connection with the application of Christian principles to out every day life.

"The cases which come before the discipline committee every week for cheating are often very pitiable, and there is no more humiliating position than that of a cheater who has been found out. Not enough is being done in my opinion either by faculty or students to better conditions in regard to this matter. If the students would agitate the question among themselves they could do a great deal."

The talk was a follow-up discussion of the religious conference and dealt with practical campus problems. The meeting was led by Winifred Titus.

$6,000 NOW RAISED IN MEMORIAL DRIVE

between fraternity and non-fraternity men that we should like, when men can not come together as students and sit around and 'chew the rag' just for sociability's sake?

"Can we ever hope to develop a community of interest here, an understanding fellowship through the sheets of our press, excellent as it is, or upon communications often misunderstood, to settle differences, and air opinions?"

"The answer is evident. We must have the Memorial Union building. We are asked to provide but one-tenth of the money with which to finance this thing, from which we get nine-tenths of the benefit. With the success or failure of the drive among the alumni depending upon the amount of student interest shown, we must see this thing through to a satisfactory conclusion."

In answer to the question of why the legislature does not appropriate the money for the building, Hall said that, in the first place, it must supply funds for additional class-room space and dormitories, and secondly, students and alumni want the union building to be their own, not savoring of legislature appropriation. The building will be primarily a memorial, but it will be of great service, he pointed out, filling the need for headquarters of publications and societies, offering a theater for the dramatic societies, and a dance floor for social functions.

GIRLS' BASKET MEET STARTS

Lively Competition is Expected in Tourney
Opening Today

The inter-class girls' basketball tournament will open tomorrow afternoon and night at Lathrop gym, with contests expected to be close due to a surprising lot of good material, that has been developed by the various teams.

The afternoon games at 4:30 will be squad and second team games—Red vs. Yellow, and sophomore second team vs. freshman second team.

First team games, held at 8 p. m. will be juniors vs. freshmen, and seniors vs. sophomores. The teams are as follows:

Seniors—Forwards, Hamilton, Allen, Jobse; guards, Johnson, Noetzel, Haessler; centers, Chase, Weld, Wise.

Juniors—Forwards, Sinoiko, Sutcliffe, Gleerup; guards, Crosky, Hinkins, Kropf, Schaper; centers, Swift, Sackett, Castles.

Sophomores—Forwards, Fritsche, Lyman, Malmin; guards, Winter, Wood, Winchell, Strassburger; centers, Roach, MacDowell, Maxwell.

Freshmen—Forwards, Henry, Hupprich, Camp, Knights; guards, Mainland, Fentress, Blanchard; centers, Wilcox, Klotz, Clayton.

These contests are open to the public, with no admission charge.

THE ORPHEUM

With variety a-plenty, pretty girls in nifty costumes "Echoes of Broadway" headlines the bill at the Orpheum this first half of this week. The songs are catchy, though some are a bit old, comedian work is fair, while dancing is the best of the offering. La Petite Cabaret, a manikin musical comedy, is something entirely different in the way of a program opener. "The Honeymoon" is a clever one-act sketch of the newlywed first quarrel type. Red hair, a pleasing personality, and a line of songs and character work that get across strong make Marie Stoddard popular with the audience. Harry Gilbert gets a good applause with a group of dialect selections that he handles well.

BALKANS NEED STABLE RULE

Italian Propoganda Blurs
Fiume Issue, Declares
Lecturer

"It is Italian propaganda that is urging that Fiume is not the natural harbor for Jugo-Slavia," was the statement of Prof. Charles Upson Clark, formerly of Yale university, lecturing yesterday afternoon in Main hall on "The Balkan Tangle." Professor Clark asserted that the knowledge of Fiume at the Paris conference was largely gained from Italian socialists. He characterized D' Annunzio as a wonderfully persuasive, though deceptive speaker.

Professor Clark said the centralized government of Jugo-Slavia at Belgrade is trying, through the party in power, to fulfill obligations, but that the ordinary security for property is gone and that speedy institution of a stabilized government is an imperative need.

In a second lecture last night on "Roumania" Professor Clark pointed out that this nation was betrayed by Russia just before the Russian revolution through the conspiracy between Germany and czaristic Russia to divide Roumania. Roumania, then at the end of her resources, made peace with Germany.

The speaker contrasted the opulence of Hungary and the poverty of Roumania after the war. He declared, however, that Roumania today is keeping up a strong army to oppose Russia, though her financial condition is exceedingly critical.

An increase of 25 per cent of the term's salary or 12½ per cent of the year's salary was voted by the board of trustees. The salaries of instructors have heretofore been raised, to take effect September next, to successive grades of $1,500, $1,700, and $2,100.

The board voted also that the minimum salary of assistant professors should be fixed at $2,500 to take effect in September. The finance committee was instructed to recommend at a later date the maximum salary for assistant professors and also the minimum and maximum salaries for full professors.

IS THIS THE WISCONSIN SPIRIT?

SIX hundred men and women, less than 12 per cent of the student body, were stirred by Badger loyalty to come out to yesterday's massmeeting at the gym. Six hundred men and women, real WISCONSIN men and women, have declared themselves heart and soul behind the project of the Memorial Union building.

Six thousand students seem to have the attitude: "Let the other fellow do it."

Is this the united student support that Wisconsin students are going to give for the biggest thing that any student, man or woman, will be able to do in the span of his life for his Alma Mater?

The desirability of a memorial for Wisconsin's soldier dead is certainly recognized. The great and pressing need for a men's union building is realized by all. There is not a student on the campus but agrees that a $1,000,000 Memorial Union building built by the subscriptions of alumni, students, and friends of the university, is a big step forward for Wisconsin.

Then why the apathy? Are we mentally asleep, blind to things worth while, or just plain lazy? Have we a university full of leeches who are here to suck what blood they can for four years, and then go away without further thought of obligation of their Alma Mater?

The biggest condemnation of any man is this: that he stay in any certain community to get all he can out of it, while making every effort to avoid putting anything back in.

Why prate of Wisconsin spirit as though the years had rolled on without change, and point to cheering at a basketball game as real evidence of that spirit? More than one student was disillusioned yesterday, if he was not before, as to the real state of affairs on the campus. Is the attitude of every student today that of service, of sacrifice, of moral support at least, if not financial, for the things that are making a bigger and better Wisconsin?

We like to see a squad of red-blooded men, Badger students of the old school who knew Wisconsin spirit and cherished it from green-cap days to commencement week and carried it with them into life outside—we'd like to have seen a few of these old-timers here yesterday to make the rounds of the campus, the pool halls, the afternoon dance halls, the strolling paths along the lake shore, at the time the massmeeting was being held. We wonder how some of those individuals the old-timers met would have withstood the rough treatment. We know how the old boys would have expressed themselves on the subject of Wisconsin spirit. Some of their other expressions on viewing the state of affairs yesterday wouldn't have been printable.

One student seated on the platform at the massmeeting looked at the size of the crowd and then burst out, "Don't the service men at Wisconsin want a Memorial Union building?" We have felt sure that they do. But their representation at the start-off of the campaign was mighty slim. There was very little representation of anybody or anything in the crowd at the massmeeting.

If you are one of those who view the drive for the Memorial Union as a burden to be shouldered, you are making the big mistake of your life. Here is an opportunity that not all students will have of doing something really big for the university. Here is your chance to put BACK in small measure some of the things your Alma Mater has given you. You can help your university in the spirit to sacrifice, or you can take the position "What is there in it for me?" Take your choice.

Wisconsin spirit is NOT measured in dollars and cents. But it is measured in the moral support that you give those things that boost Wisconsin. Wisconsin spirit would have led you to the massmeeting yesterday, whether you were financially able to contribute to the campaign or not.

"There are no quitters at Wisconsin." Thus spoke an old Wisconsin athlete. The speakers at the massmeeting exemplified that spirit. The campaign workers for the Memorial Union are going to "carry on" with that spirit. You are going to be solicited personally this week that you may give your share toward the student quota. Are you going to uphold Wisconsin spirit on the campus as the alumni are doing outside?

The answer is with the 6,000 men and women who have still to declare themselves back of the Memorial Union project.

COMMUNICATIONS

DENOUNCES INTOLERANCE

To the Editor of The Cardinal:
The communication of March 12 expresses great surprise that the "Middle Age" beliefs of the "small but well-known number" should break into print in a "great cosmopolitan non-sectarian university." Just what does cosmopolitan mean? Is it merely a high-standing word to be used by persons wishing to publish the fact that they have acquired a liberal education? This gentleman prides himself upon being a "free-thinker." This is quite unnecessary, for free thought is quite evident in his disregard of facts. He speaks of the religion which has a membership greater than all the other Christian religions combined as a "small but well-known number." Why wasn't he as free in thinking about the "well-known" part of it?

I agree with him wholeheartedly when he denounces bigotry and suppression of free expression, but what has that to do with the Religious conference? Representatives of the "small but well-known number" made no protest against the conference, although they were not represented in it in any way; but they have been noticeably generous in the support of movements that meant nothing at all to them.

The remarks contained in his communication express a spirit of intolerance far exceeding any shown by the organization which he denounces.

Thorough Massage for Campus Funny Bone by Octopus

Spicy is no name for it! The parts of the "New Thought" Octopus that have survived the censor's scissors are absolutely pepped up to the limit.

"Jijiboom!" the second of a series of dramas from Other Planets, surpasses, if possible, in its unique and penetrating humor, the much-talked-of "Bazinook" that started the series. The Fig-Leaf Limericks, missed in some way by the censor, are juicy bits of jungle life.

And then the jokes—the smallest ones are guaranteed to call out at least one laugh, while every added line means new chuckles. They all have the kind of humor that goes right to the spot and tickles it. There are snappy cuts to liven every page, a startling cover in three colors, and four or five full-page pictures.

It is only fair to warn everyone right now, say the editors, that if they neglect to secure this coming compendium of wit and humor, they will be ashamed to look their grandchildren in the face. When the little tots ask:

"Did you read the New Thought number of The Octopus, Grandpa?" who will want to disappoint their childish hopes, and bring a look of scorn to their faces by answering, "No?"

CIRCUS THRILLS FOR BIG CROWD AT HORSE SHOW

2,000 See Trick Riding and Roping Stunts at Stock
Pavilion

Pretty co-ed horsewomen riding madly around the sawdust arena, cowboys skillfully roping unruly steers, and a large exhibit of well-groomed thoroughbreds, all assisted by the the university band, combined to make a complete success of Wisconsin's first annual horse show and carnival of sports, held Saturday night at the stock pavilion and witnessed by 2,000 students and Madison people.

One of the features of the evening was the ladies' riding class in which Miss Alice M. Day, riding Sidney, one of the three horses entered by C. A. Johnson, won first prize. Lawrence Douglas, colored, attired in a black riding habit and derby and mounted on one of E. J. Young's select saddle horses, carried off first honors in the men's riding class. In the free-for-all professional rider's class, C. D. Cleave, riding Rexall Prince, another of Mr. Young's horses, won first prize.

George S. Bradt, a sophomore agric student, formerly a member of the famous Black Horse troop of Culver Military academy, thrilled the throng with some daring feats performed on one of the university's two-year-old colts, which had never been ridden before.

Clarke O'Connell was awarded the silver loving cup for the most successful attempt at steer-riding.

The Lights Went on Suddenly; but Then Love is Blind

Do you know that the movies have got it all over home? Yep, they have. Just listen!

That ancient song hit, "Take your girlie to the movie, if you can't make love at home," has finally been passed by the censor, and the students of this institution of learning have accepted it as their leading motto.

Maybe you don't come under the influence of this far-flung maxim. Your landlady may retire early, or maybe she's deaf, dumb, and blind. My advice to you is, "Make hay while the sun shines."

But everybody can't have the ideal conditions you have. As in the war, so is it now. We need a substitute. Let the movies supply this. A student need not be influenced too strongly by the pessimistic outbursts against movies propounded by the prof who went to the last big show and didn't get his 12 hours of regular sleep.

Anyway, the Madison landladies are especially wide-a-woke. None of them are blind, either, and they stay up to the ungodliest hours of the morn, too. So it's the movies as the final substitute for home.

A couple of students were seeking a nice dark spot the other night at a popular theater. They settled down, and were making "love scenes all their own" when the lights flashed on. But, fortunately for them, "love is blind." They didn't know a thing about the illumination all around them. And when they left the movie, it was to the final strains of "Don't forget to wipe the powder off your sleeve."

What the College Editors Say

APPLAUSE

Applause is often insincere, its real purpose frequently forgotten, and it thus loses most of its value when employed legitimately. This one conventional means of expressing our approval is thoughtlessly abused when used for other purposes or from other motives than those which it was designed to express.

Is applause merely the result of the common feeling of ecstasy, a contagion which spreads over the congregation? Intelligence is immune to such an appeal of emotional fever, yet we seem readily moved, resign our individual inclinations, and allow the mind of the audience to guide our decisions. Applause in such circumstances is spontaneous, but worthless; the handclapping loses its real meaning, and becomes merely a refined sort of "Amen, brother!"

However, there is another sort of abuse far more despicable than this: that affectation of approval which is based merely on a cowardly desire not to show a lack of understanding. This insincere applause is as unfortunate in result as it is unworthy in motive. It gives an entertainer a wrong estimate of his audience, for he can regard only the approbation which is uttered, not that which is felt. And more important, when really sincere appreciation is expressed, there is no more significance in it than in the unreal.

It seems better to risk a display of provinciality, and remain sincere, than to lower the standard of applause; better to exert the slight mental effort that will keep us clear of the common emotional maelstrom, than to have the entertainer direct his appeal toward an unworthy object. We must bear in mind that the value of applause depends on the way in which it is employed—The Michigan Daily.

RELATES HOW FARM SAVES YOUNG BOYS

How small Milwaukee boys, termed incorrigible by the courts, are saved from serving sentences in industrial schools, and instead are given opportunities that set them in the right direction, was the theme of a talk by "Ted" Schroeder, manager of the Norris Farm for Boys, at the Badger club Sunday night.

Under the right conditions, and in a favorable environment these boys, many of whom bear lengthy crime histories, establish deportment records averaging 97 per cent, he said. They are afforded a chance for schooling, and for acquiring a foundation for trade work, at the same time developing themselves physically through adherence to a rigid program.

Many nationalities are represented in each group of boys sent to the farm, but all insist that they are real Americans.

Minnesota Fiction Sleuths Solving Mystery of Polite Villain With the Soup Bowl Face

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Who was the mysterious man with the soup bowl over his face?

Etiquette savants and followers of the red-blooded, not to say hectic, school of fiction, at the University of Minnesota, are trying to figure out the real identity of the campus figure who talks in as villain of "Lil Kegga Schlitz," the thrilling and melodramatic tale that is running serially in The Minnesota Daily. The authors claim he is an honest-to-goodness campus person, and offer a prize to the student sleuths who identify him. The latest installment of the story, a gripping recital of hash-house horrors, is as follows:

Egg-around-the-mouth Egbert, the economical etiquette expert, was sunning his lop-sided physiognomy in the warmth of the arc light outside of Child's Leather, Neolin, and Fried Potato Emporium.

Egbert was known as the most polite man on the south side of the street on Hennepin avenue. He showed this trait very well by tripping an old lady with crutches who came out the door with an armful of waffles and syrup which she was taking home to paper her wall with. Laughing congenially, he kicked the waffles into the street, and broke the crutches.

This little joke pleased his nature. It showed that he was a Washingtonian.

He it was who knew how to eat macaroni with his hands without getting it inside of his collar. He it was who knew how to conceal a piece of bread and gravy in his lap when it had fallen on the floor.

But to get back to his being outside of the restaurant, it might be well to state that he could stand his hunger no longer, because he had not eaten for 15 minutes. And so, with customary dignity, he rushed into the high class feed-house, and ordered a light lunch of coffee, three kinds of steak, and fried elephant's breath on toast. To top this all off with, he ordered an oyster sundae with lutefish trimmings.

PROGRAM FOR OLYMPICS IS COMPLICATED

Official Program for Antwerp Games Covers
100 Pages

The official program of the Olympic games at Antwerp, Belgium, next summer, which reached the American Olympic committee recently, is a bulky affair. The data included the special booklets on swimming and other sports, as well as a lengthy answer to a questionnaire forwarded to the Belgium committee some weeks ago. With this information in hand the American committee expects to be able to complete its plans for the formation, entry and transportation of the United States team, which will be the largest that ever sailed from these shores for foreign competition.

The program contains more than 100 papers of descriptive matter, giving in detail every event and the conditions governing the same in more than twenty different branches of amateur sport. Illustrations of the stadium at Antwerp, plans of the running track, football field, prizes and the principal patrons and royal officers are included.

The answer to the questionnaire discloses much information which the American committee has been The track will be approximately 440 yards in circumference and will not be equipped with the usual 220-yard straightaway. In several events, such as the rowing races, which will be over a 1 1/4 mile course, only one entry a nation will be accepted. In a majority of the individual contests the limit of entries will be six men or women, with only four allowed to start.

The American committee was informed that the efforts of that body to secure the Catholic preparatory school at Melle, near Ghent, as the residence and training quarters of the United States team had proved unavailing, and so far no quarters have been selected for the 200 or 300 athletes and officials who will make up the party which will sail from the U. S. about the middle of July.

The Belgian committee is endeavoring to locate suitable quarters, however, and special American representatives have been dispatched from Paris to assist in the work of finding a camp within a radius of thirty miles of Antwerp.

Descriptions of the Marathon race course from Brussels to Antwerp and the long distance bicycle road race are not yet available.

It is explained, however, that the hockey games will be played under English rules and the boxing conducted under the regulations of the International Boxing Federation.

The lawn tennis matches will be played on composition courts, the foundation being composed of brick dust and clay.

The hand grenade throw has been eliminated, and there is doubt whether there will be a golf figure included in the games. This question cannot be answered until some idea of the number of entries is obtained.

Dates for the more important fixtures with the time for closing of entries follow:

April 20 to 30—Ice hockey and skating. Entries on March 19.

July 7 to 10—Yachting. Entries close on June 6.

July 22 to 31—Shooting. Entries close on June 21.

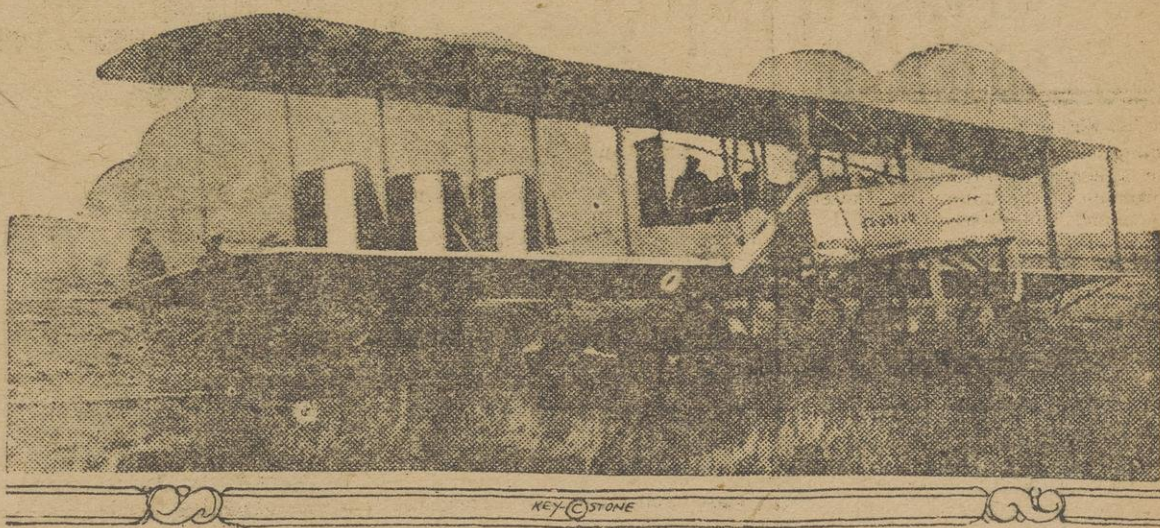

Aug. 15 to 23—Track and field sports, fencing, Graeco-Roman wrestling, Pentathlon (classic), Decathlon and lawn tennis. Entries to close on July 14.

Aug. 15 to 26—Boxing. Entries to close on July 26.

BONUS BRINGS LEGION CLASH

Fear Question Will Lead
Soldier Organization
Deep Into Politics

NEW YORK—Although none of the state organizations of the American legion has taken official action on the question of the soldiers' bonus, reports gathered in all states by the New York Times indicate that a large proportion of the veterans themselves favor some additional compensation for their war service, and especially for those who were overseas.

The veterans, however, are divided on the question, and in some states bitter controversies have arisen in the posts.

In virtually every state a fraction of former officers and soldiers is urging the legion members to adopt resolutions putting the posts on record as not seeking any bonus or additional compensation except for those disabled in the war.

They argue that it would be unwise to increase government expenditures to such an amount, and that payment of the bonus, so long after the end of the war, might create an undesirable public sentiment against the legion.

Another large faction in the legion posts, including those of this state, take the stand that, while it would be unwise for the organization to take any action that might be construed as a demand for a bonus, some additional compensation ought not to be rejected.

It is the fear of many in the faction that the bonus question will take the legion too far into politics.

In many states there is an apparent preponderance of opinion against the soldiers' bonus or additional compensation.

Before the meeting of the executive committee of the legion in Washington on March 22 some of these state organizations will formulate instructions for their representatives at the conference.

Form Rugby Team On Pacific Coast For Olympic Games

SAN FRANCISCO—A team that may win for the United States the rugby football championship at the Olympic games is being organized on the Pacific coast. Its nucleus will be the Stanford-California varsity team which invaded British Columbia during the Christmas holidays and defeated three all-star fifteens and one from the University of British Columbia. The games were played in Vancouver and Victoria, regarded as the greatest Rugby centers of Canada.

H. Wilfred Maloney, Stanford trainer and coach for the American army men in the allied games in France last year, lists the following as prospective members of the team for the Olympic Games:

Dan Carroll, Stanford, winner of the Olympic medal with the Australian team at London in 1908; member of the world famous "Wallaby" and "Waratah" Australian teams; played on Oxford University, England.

R. L. Templeton, Stanford; one of the finest punters in the world.

Slater, Tilden and McKim, Cal., and Patrick and Righter, Stanford; heavy, fast forwards.

John and William Muldoon, University of Santa Clara; the latter played with London hospitals during the war and for America in the Allied Games.

James Wylie, Stanford; member of the Australian "Waratahs" and of the New Zealand "All Blacks," a veteran among the world's best players.

Arthur Erb, Olympic Club, San Francisco, members of the famous Erb family of rugby players.

Proclamation If 2 States Favor Suffrage

Should the two more states needed to make the constitutional suffrage amendment binding, adopt it before the end of this month—before five days prior to the election April 5—Secretary of State Hull will issue a special proclamation giving women the right to vote at that election.

Delaware and Washington are the two on which suffrage leaders are basing their hopes—and both meet in special session with a few days. If they should fail however, there are still several months in which additional states may ratify, and still permit a vote at the regular fall primaries and elections.

BRITISH PARTY IS ORGANIZING

Manifesto Will be Issued Soon by Lloyd George and Bonar Law

LONDON—A joint manifesto signed by Premier Lloyd George and Andrew Bonar Law will be issued in a few days stating the principles of a new party to be led by the premier. It will be accompanied by an important reconstruction of the ministry and for this reason announcement of appointments to the portfolios of labor, food and the board of trade now vacant has been postponed. According to present intentions the name of the new party will be the "National democratic." Arrangements are being made for a conference of unionists next Thursday at which Bonar Law will announce his resignation from the leadership of that party and will invite members to join the new organization. Unionist leaders who have been adherents of Premier Lloyd George are said to have decided to support him but there are indications that the party will not be united in its adherence to the new combination. A revolt under the leadership of Marquis of Salisbury and Lord Robert Cecil is expected, says the Daily Mail.

The recent appointment of Charles R. Crane as U. S. minister to China, may cause a disturbance at Washington. Now Knox, as a member of the senate, may lead the fight against the appointment.

BIG TEN MEET TO END INDOOR TRACK SEASON

Jones Hopes to Score in Nearly Every Event at Northwestern

The indoor track season will close next Friday and Saturday afternoon with the conference indoor meet at Northwestern university, Evanston, Illinois.

With contestants entered by every school in the "Big Ten," the results of the approaching struggle for honors is quite certain.

Johnson Strong Man

Michigan, with a well balanced squad of track men, among whom is Carl Johnson, recognized as one of the leading cinder performers in the west, is looked to by many to take first place, in the meet. Two other strong opponents that Wisconsin will have to back are Illinois and Chicago.

Johnson's events are the dash, the hurdles, and the high jump, and he will no doubt come close to winning all of them. Farrel expects to back him up by taking a few seconds and thirds in the other events. The best events that the Suckers have are the quarter and half mile distances which are run by Captain Emery and Phil Spink to good advantage. Higgins of Chicago is probably the best shotputter of the conference.

Badger Chances Good

As for Wisconsin, Coach Tom Jones is optimistic.

"I see no reason why the Badgers can not place in 'most every event,'" he said last night.

Dayton stands fine chances of winning the mile and Crump and Brothers will undoubtedly figure in the two mile run. Captain Andrews' ability in the hurdles, as shown at the Illinois races, will probably secure a place for him in his races.

PATENT MEDICINES AND PROHIBITION THEME OF LECTURE

The fifth public health lecture of the series under the auspices of the Dane County Medical society will be given Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, in Science hall at the university.

The subject, The Patent Medicine Evil and Its Relation of Prohibition, is a particularly timely one.

No one is better fitted to make this subject interesting and of great educational value than the speaker of the evening, Prof. A. S. Loevenhart of the department of pharmacology. The lecture is illustrated by lantern slides and is free to the public.
