SHARP FORESEES MANY PITFALLS IN COMING ELECTIONS

Voter Confronted With Prospect of Throwing Election Into Congress

Prof. W. R. Sharp, of the political science department, analyzed the possibilities of the effects of a political deadlock in the election Tuesday and the subsequent election in congress. His views on the question follow:

"The closing days of our queer presidential campaign are resounding with equally queer appeals to the befuddled voter. At least two of the three main parties in the field are frantically bargaining for votes on the basis of a 'frightful' alternative—a deadlocked election! It is either 'Coolidge vs. Deadlock' or 'Davis vs. Deadlock,' deadlock in this electioneering strategy, implying 'chaos.' The voter is asked to register his choice for a man and a party, not because he believes them fit, more fit, or most fit, but because his vote for either set of opponents may throw the election into congress.

Minority President
"Why, it may well be asked, should such a prospect be shunned as would a dreaded disease? Short of a landslide next Tuesday, the man who becomes president on March 4 will, in all probability, represent only a minority of the voters, whether he is chosen by a majority of the electoral college or by the House of Representatives, or by the Senate. Choice by congress may be more or less indicative of public opinion than election by the obsolete medium of the electoral college. Under existing conditions of fluid party alignments only a political landslide can give any clear-cut notion of what the people want.

"In fact, even should there be a popular majority plus an electoral majority for the candidate who seems to be in the lead at this writing, it is more than an even chance

MOLLUSC AUDIENCE IS APPRECIATIVE

Gordon Abbott Does Exceptional Work as Brother of Maxine Walker

By J. F. W.
Four talented members of the Wisconsin University Players entertained an appreciative audience last evening in Lathrop hall with their rendition of Hubert Henry Davies' satirical comedy, "The Mollusc." The play will be repeated at 8 o'clock tonight.

The human mollusc as depicted in the play, is a person who directs all his efforts toward making everything and everybody contribute to his personal comfort and convenience. Such a one is Mrs. Baxter, whose mollusc and its ultimate cure are the basis of the play, which the author has treated with great tact and calm. It is quiet, and runs dangerously near the point of being talky, but the sympathetic handling of the parts by the actors last evening made it exciting.

Of the actors themselves, Gordon Abbott as Tom, the brother of the mollusc, does the best work because he moves about with unusual freedom and because traces of "memory work" are eliminated from his lines. Maxine Walker does exceedingly well with the difficult part of the mollusc, although certain little tricks such as a graceful waving of the hands and a martyr-like smile become almost mannerisms before the end of the play. Agatha McCaffrey and Louis Mallory as Miss Roberts and Mr. Baxter, do creditable work.

Eighty Students Try for Pre-Prom Play Characters

Eighty aspirants seeking fame via the drama route tried out for the pre-prom play yesterday afternoon.

Due to the large number of those wishing to try out for the various places it will be necessary to hold another meeting some time next week, the date of which will be announced later.

There was a noticeable shortage of male talent, and more men are expected to put in their appearance as there still remains unfilled roles of a lawyer, two business men, an old man, and two juvenile characters.

All those wishing to try out for these positions are urged to communicate with Pearl Kulp '25, who may be reached at Badger 159.

W. A. A. COTTAGE IS WORK OF 2 YEARS

Corporation Financial and Legal Organization Functioning in Construction

A complete new organization, incorporated under the state laws, for the sole purpose of building the W. A. A. cottage has grown out of a simple plan which was presented just two years ago to the members of W. A. A. Today finds the W. A. A. cottage corporation well launched in the actual building of the cottage which is located three miles out from the campus on the Lake Mendota drive.

Although the cost of the cottage amounts to more than $3,500, three-fourths of this sum has been raised in actual cash in less than two years' time; the remainder is covered once and a half times in pledges. The first subscriptions to the cottage were made at the annual June banquet in 1923 when $900 was raised in pledges. When the articles of incorporation were drawn up one year ago, $10 certificates were issued in the form of company shares.

Additional money has been raised by movie benefits, dances, parties, and teas. During the past summer a committee of ten W. A. A. members working under the direction of Kathryn Shattuck '25 raised $540.

MOLLUSC PERFORMANCE STARTS AT 8 TONIGHT

The second performance of "The Mollusc" will begin promptly at 8 o'clock tonight in Lathrop concert room instead of 8:15 o'clock as previously advertised.

The time has been changed in order to give people attending the performance a chance to attend the Union Board dance which will begin at 9:15 o'clock.

A joint ticket for "The Mollusc" and the dance can be obtained at the door for $2, making it possible for students to combine drama and dancing in one evening's entertainment.

ALBERTA JOHNSON TO REPRESENT CASTALIA

Alberta Johnson, president of Castalia, was unanimously elected to represent the society at the Forensic banquet at a meeting in Lathrop hall last night. After the business meeting a number of students tried out for the society. The new members will be initiated next Friday evening.

STUDENT DIRECTORIES FINISHED NEXT WEEK

The student directories will be out the last of next week. They are now in the hands of the printer and cannot be obtained yet. A few copies were available for the purpose of checking up on the voters, but the directories will not be given out to the students until there are enough copies to supply everyone.

DARROW'S SPEECH WILL ELUCIDATE CRIME AND CAUSE

Loeb-Leopold Defense Attorney Will Address Public Here Nov. 13

"Crime, Its Cause and Treatment" will be the subject of the address to be given on November 13 at the stock pavilion by Clarence Darrow, Chicago criminal lawyer who was defense attorney in the Loeb-Leopold case, according to Harold Sporer '25, president of the Forensic board, who is making arrangements for the address.

"The Forensic board feels that it has done a big thing in securing Mr. Darrow to speak, especially since he has turned down similar offers made by the University of Chicago, and many civic organizations. Mr. Darrow felt that in coming to the University of Wisconsin he would find students who were interested in his type of work and also have the same views on sociological problems. Even before the famous Loeb-Leopold trial, Mr. Darrow was considered by many to be the ablest criminal lawyer in the country. To him a criminal is a sick man and the present laws of the country are too severe in dealing with criminals," Sporer stated.

Able committees have been appointed to see that this meeting is a success. Fergus Chandler '25, Martha Dalrymple '25, and Freida Auchter '25, are in charge of the seating and tickets. These tickets are to be 75 cents for the front rows reserved seats and the remainder of the tickets are to be 50 cents either reserved or at the door. The floor arrangements and ushers are under the supervision of Carl Ludwig '27, and William Blake '25 is in charge of the advertising.

FRESHMAN PRESIDENT ASKS SPIRIT AT GAME

This afternoon at 2 o'clock our freshman football team plays the sophomore team at Camp Randall. All freshmen are urged to show their class spirit by turning out for the game. We want revenge for our defeat in the class rush and the freshman class can greatly aid their team by being present in large numbers for organized cheering. Wear your green caps.

CLYDE K. KLUCKHOHN, Freshman President.

CLARK LECTURES ON WORLD COURT

"Unless Civilization Ends War, War Will End Civilization"

"Unless civilization finds some way to end war, war will end civilization." This was a conclusion which was drawn by John H. Clark, former justice of the supreme court, and at present, president of the League of Nations Non-partisan association, in his speech on the importance of world peace to America, delivered last night in Music hall.

In the opinion of Judge Clark the only successful way to terminate the present war system is by the substitution of the political system, one which is new and modern. This solution lies in the world court and in the League of Nations.

"American interest in world peace is three-fold," Mr. Clark said. "It has a moral interest, an economic interest and a political interest."

Judge Clark stressed the preparation for another war which is believed inevitable by many authorities. He claims that the people promised that the World war should be the last, that this promise was made before God and man, living and dead, and that it should be fulfilled.

Bergstresser Elected by Large Majority Indicating Interest in Senior Ballot

John Bergstresser was elected president of the senior class in yesterday's general election by a majority of 315 over his opponent, Jack Harris. In the prom chairman race Clifford Huff was winner over Gordon Brine by 174 votes.

The others elected to senior class positions were Dorothy John, vice president; Helen Robinson, secretary; Erwin Gerber, treasurer, and Ralph Wackman, sergeant-at-arms.

Lincoln Frazier was returned winner in the junior presidential contest. Mary Haven, Edith Boyes, Harold Beeman, and Robert Guy were elected junior class vice president, secretary, treasurer, and sergeant-at-arms, respectively.

Report Mud Slinging.

The election was characterized by a great deal of "mud-slinging," according to members of the elections committee who stated last night that there was too much unfair "politicianing" going on on the hill.

"Although the voting system seems to be air-tight and although no actual illegal balloting seems to have taken place," one member said, "many of the politicians resorted to brazen and questionable methods of inducing prospective voters to cast their ballots for their candidates."

In the sophomore Union board contest Lowell Frautschi defeated Alfred Moorhead.

The winners for the senior student senate race are Fergus Chandler, Ralph Giles, William Rorison, Hampton Snell and Harold Haase. Rice Miller, Orin Noth and William Taylor were elected junior members of the senate.

John Davenport and Vernon Houghton were elected to the student court from the Course in Commerce. Lucius Chase will represent the Law school in the court, and Russell Nelson and E. R. Summers the College of Engineering.

Elections by Default.

All the sophomore and freshman class officers were elected by default. James Hawley is president, Alice Winston, vice president; Louise

TO SELECT HEAD OF MILITARY BALL

George Walsted to Lead Cadet Officer's Association; Set Hop Date

Selection of a chairman for the 1925 Military ball will be made within the next week, according to a statement issued yesterday by Major O. L. Brunzell.

The Cadet Officer's association met yesterday to elect a president to succeed the late Herbert C. Opitz. George C. Walsted '25, was elected president of the association for the coming year.

The date of the Military hop was set for Friday, November 28. Ellis Fulton '25, M. Crosby '26, George Walsted '25, and Henry Smith '25, were named to take charge of the hop. An all R. O. T. C. smoker will be held later in the year of which C. J. Randall L. 2, G. Stevenson '25 and G. Dawson '26 will be in charge.

Major Brunzell told the members of the association that it had been decided that colonel of the corp and chairman of the ball was too much work for one man to handle as had been done previously and that he would make the choice for chairman of the ball within the next week.

With Marion Streng '25, Marion Bigelow '26, and Jane Carling '27, elected as captains to pilot their respective classes in hockey, the final announcement of teams comes as the preliminary to match games.

For the first time in the history of hockey the seniors boast two teams. Members of the first team are: Signe Carlquist, Esther Fifield, Dorothy Haskins, Ruth Klinger, Dorothy John, Halcyon Lallier, Esther Oakes, Helen Parker, Carita Robertson, Mabel Rugen, Daisy Simpson, Marion Streng, Hazel Weingandt, Martha Williamson and Marion Wilson. The second team includes Genevieve Brown, Verdi D'Ardell, Sarah Eyre, Jean Fisher, Marion Hanna, Helen Hovde, Nina Fannin, Eugenia Moore, Gladys Muschied, Katherine Snyder, Helen Steinbach, Margaret Ulry and Marion Lilley.

On the junior first team are Katherine Arnquist, Marion Bigelow, Madge Burt, Catherine Clark, Genevieve Ellis, Susanne Fortier, Mildred Gray, Edith Jorris, Donabelle Keys, Bernice Magnuson, Lorraine Maytum, Elizabeth Shepard, Grace Sherman, Elizabeth Stitgen and Margaret Wegener.

The sophomores are fortunate in having enough material for three teams. On the first team are Adah Bais, Eulalie Beffel, Jane Carling, Ruth Chalfont, Dorothy J. Pigskin Palaver Fans will have much in store for them at the Notre Dame game. Ryan is working the squad hard, out there at Randall field, trying to perfect a machine which will stop the Catholic avalanche next week.

Knute Rockne is a strategist, and it is certain that he will pull plenty of trick plays against the Badgers. He is holding Captain Walsh and Stuhldreher, quarterback, out of the game with Georgia Tech today. Notre Dame doesn't underestimate the Badger strength a bit.

Crowfoot, the Mason City, Iowa, high school grid star, will captain the Frosh in their battle with the Sophs today. Guy Lowman has taught those high school heroes some real football. Sophomore hopes are centered in Captain Klinger.

The center of interest in Big Ten football today is the Illinois-Iowa contest. "Red" Grange alone will be a drawing card for thousands of fans. Burt Ingwersen will trust to the fleet Charley Brookins to chalk up points for the Hawkeyes.

Brookins holds a world's record for low hurdles, and gallops the century in 9 4-5. If he gets the ball on an open field he and Grange will change the contest from a football game to a hundred yard dash.

"Sink-Easy" Merman Teaches
Hershberger to Swim Crawl

Splash. Splash. Spa-lash.

"Is that the way to swim the crawl?" asked a tall, well-built but seemingly clumsy person, as he paddled and gulped for air in the pool last Wednesday.

"No. No. That's not it at all," answered one of the men from Joe Steinauer's sink-easy class. "You haven't got the idea at all. Joe said we should do it this way." And he illustrated the method.

"I'll try it again," said the tall one again striking out. And some more splashes were produced.

"That's a little better," approved the first, "but you'll never learn to swim that way. You don't move your arms right." . . . And so it continued for the better part of fifteen minutes, the smaller fellow doing his best to show the other how to swim the crawl.

But it didn't last; for before long Joe Steinauer's pupil was pulled aside and his ear was whispered into, with the result that said pupil turned quite red in the face and looked as though he contemplated sinking to the bottom.

The information received was perhaps to the effect that the afore-said tall, well-built, seemingly clumsy individual was Clarence Hershberger '27, champion 40-yard crawl man, defeater of Johnny Bennett and of the famed "Dick" Howell of Northwestern, also leading contender for speed honors in the conference.

It is supposed that even swimming champions must have their fun now and then. Even so, a certain pupil of Joe Steinauer will be careful whom he teaches to swim in the future.

Grid Changes

Forward Pass Takes Place of Old Mass
Formation as Means of Gaining Ground

In the past 30 years innumerable changes have taken place in football. The kick-off, goal after touchdown, and many other points of the game have been changed. A game played today with the tossing of many forward passes and spectacular open field running is much more interesting than one of three decades ago when nothing but line plunges, center rushes, and mass formation were the means of gaining ground.

The manner of writing up a game, however, has changed but little. A sport writer of the early '90s gave much the same information using practically the same style as does a sport writer of today.

On October 5, 1895, Wisconsin defeated Armour Institute of Chicago, 34 to 4. One of the Milwaukee papers gives an interesting account of the game showing clearly the method and style used by the sport writers of old. The Captain Richards mentioned in the story is John Richards, former football coach at Wisconsin.

The write-up in part follows: "The game, on the whole, was not an exciting one though at times the play was brisk and there were several star plays to relieve the monotony.

"Captain Richards again captured the ball at the kickoff and covered 15 yards before he was pulled down. The Badger boys repeated their previous performance and in another five minutes Gregg was again behind the line with the pig-skin under his arm as the result of a neat sprint around end. With good interference Mann of Armour made many short gains around Wisconsin. At the next lineup Mann got through the Cardinal line for 25 yards and a touchdown.

"The second half opened auspiciously for Wisconsin. Curran captured the skin at the kick-off and sprinted the full length of the field, with Richards blocking, scoring a touchdown."

Any who wish to go may meet those already signed up at Presbyterian student headquarters, 731 State street, before 10 o'clock this morning.

Pep Band All Set

"The Pep band had a mighty peppy rehearsal Thursday night," said Paul Faust '26, its director, "so I think you may expect wonders from it at the Notre Dame game."

They will be seated in the "W" section or directly across the field on the Notre Dame side where they can be seen by everyone. They will have new stunts to perform on the field during intermission.

The group now numbers 28, and has added two more instruments, including a brand new tuba now in permanent possession of the band. "Coaches Ryan and Jones have expressed their appreciation of our band," Faust stated.

He obtained the tom-tom while on business in the islands and asserts that the instrument is used by the natives when they want to assemble their people.

ATHLETICS IN THE

SWAMP OPPONENT
IN INTERCLASS TILTCoaches Believe Track Prospects Are Bright for Wisconsin This Year

By virtue of a combination of numbers and talent the first year trackmen swamped their competitors of the upper classes in the interclass track meet staged at Camp Randall yesterday afternoon. In spite of the fact that the day was raw and windy and that the men participating had had little previous training so far this year, there were some very creditable marks made that give ample reason for the coaches to believe that track prospects at Wisconsin will be bright for a few years.

The prettiest race of the day was the dual in the mile run between Ellison and Chapman. The last two laps these two lads ran together all the way. At the start of the last half Chapman took the lead and ran along in easy style. Ellison, who is the runner that made such an enviable record at Ripon and who was doped to win the race today, was content to follow Chapman until the last 220 yards. Then he began to press Chapman for the lead but the little fellow put up a stubborn resistance and sprinted over the tape a few feet ahead of the Ripon star in the remarkably fast time of 4:37 2-5.

Francis Is Fast

Francis, sophomore star, showed his heels to all opposition in the dashes and will make a strong bid for a place among the varsity sprinters when the spring track campaign opens.

The frosh scored slams in both hurdle races, the two mile and the high jump while the three juniors who were competing scored a slam in the hammer throw and also placed well in all the other weight events. The seniors failed to enter any one in the meet and was the only class that failed to score. The sophs barely nosed out the juniors by four points due largely to the work of the second year men in the dashes.

The summary of the meet is as follows:

100 yd. dash—1st, Francis '27; 2nd, Burdick '27; 3rd, Wells '28. Time, 10:3.

220 yd. dash—1st, Francis '27; 2nd, Eisle '28; 3rd, Burdick '27. Time, 24:2.

5 BADGER SCOUTS
WILL COVER GAMES

The games in which Wisconsin's remaining opponents play will be thoroughly scouted this Saturday. Coaches Ryan and Trainor went to Champaign, where they will watch the Illinois-Iowa game. Coach Jones and Sundt left for Chicago to view the Chicago-Purdue game. Coach Lowman went to South Bend to get further dope on Notre Dame in the Notre Dame-Georgia Tech tussle.

MARKSMEN WILL USE ARMY RIFLESCompete Today on Outdoor Range; Prize Schedule Is Being Arranged

The Rifle club will hold its second shoot of the season next Saturday afternoon at the outdoor range back of the hydraulics laboratory when members will compete under regular match conditions. The regular 30 calibre army rifle will be used by all competitors at ranges of 50 and 75 feet.

"This meet is to get the members interested in shooting the regular army rifle," said Coach Shire yesterday. "This will probably be the only opportunity for the men to shoot on the outdoor range this fall. We intend to use it as long as good weather continues because it provides good practice work for the gallery matches."

In the recent gallery match held last week 29 men competed for prizes. This week Coach Shire expects more than 30 men to try out for places in the outdoor shoot.

A prize schedule is being arranged and it is probable that the winner of the match will receive a bronze medal.

CHICAGO, Ill.—Coach A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago was honored in Columbus not only by the mayor of the city but by the chief of police. Not to be outdone the chief of police made him an honorary life member of the Columbus police force.

ILLINOIS TANGLES
CLEATS IN IOWA'S
MOLESKINS TODAYChicago Doped to Defeat
Purdue; Wolverines Favored
In Gopher Clash

"Watch Grange!" "Watch Brookins!" Those were the warnings given to the Iowa and Illinois teams all this week. The game today will be a dual between these two famous backs. Each has established a nation wide reputation that is the envy of all grid men. Two years ago Brookins, playing his first year for Iowa, slid through the whole Yale team to give the Hawkeyes a victory over the powerful eastern team.

Two weeks ago Grange reached the heights of football fame by scoring four touchdowns in 12 minutes, each one on a run of over 30 yards. Last year when Iowa met the Illini, Brookins was out with injuries so Grange had things pretty much his own way. This year the two stellar backs are in prime condition and the question as to their superiority will be definitely settled.

Stagg's Men Favored. In addition to the meeting of these two great backs the game will have a most important bearing on the championship race. It is generally conceded that if any team can stop Bob Zuppke's eleven it will be Iowa. Bert Ingwerson, new Iowa mentor, is an old pupil of Zuppke's and if anyone can score a win against the Illini it will be a team that is coached by a man well versed in the Illinois style of play, and Ingwerson is that man.

Purdue will invade the Windy city with the avowed intention of putting the Maroon tribe out of the title race. Hopelessly out of the race themselves, they will do all in their power to eliminate the Staggs. On the other hand, the Chicago eleven has been increasing in power in every game and stand a two to one chance of walking off with the game.

Michigan and Minnesota will put on a grand battle this afternoon but there will be little at stake. Both teams have been defeated and stand little chance of winning the title. The dope favors the Wolverines to win handily.

Indiana and Northwestern will fight their dual on fairly even terms. Neither team is in the title chase but they are ancient rivals and will fight hard for the glory and honor of the school traditions.

Ohio Plays Wooster. Ohio plays a non conference game with Wooster this afternoon. Wooster was one of the first teams to play the Buckeyes in the early days of football. In those early

MAROONS POINTED TO TRIM PURDUEStaggmen Stinging From Defeat at Hands of Ohio
Last Week

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (Special to the Daily Cardinal)—Coach A. A. Stagg has his Maroon gridders in an evil mood for their contest with Purdue here today, having carefully explained to them in a most effective manner just what was wrong with the way they played against Ohio State last week.

The return of Weiss to the line after being out all season with an injured foot will do a great deal toward bolstering up the wing positions. Law has also been tried for several days at an end position, and although has yet to do anything sensational, may be used in the game today.

The Maroons have a habit of going in after losing or tying a game and making things hot for the next eleven they meet.

Last year after the loss of the Illinois game, the Staggs trimmed Indiana 20-0, and this season the Missouri fiasco caused Brown's defeat in no small measure.

MERRILL TAFT REJECTS
PRO FOOTBALL OFFER

Merrill Taft '24, who was varsity fullback last season, will not play professional football. He was considering an offer from the Chicago Bears but has decided to turn it down and attend to his duties in a Milwaukee bank.

games Wooster ran up such scores as 62-0 and 49-0 on the University team. Relations have been severed for a long time and are being renewed for the first time this season. With the growth of the school in recent years the Buckeyes should have little trouble in getting revenge on their ancient conquerors.

SOPHS BATTLE
FROSH IN ANNUAL
PIGSKIN TUSSLERivalry and Ferocity of Play
Equals That of Conference Teams

Football appetites will be satisfied this afternoon when the frosh and sophs tangle cleats in their annual battle. The stage is all set for a grid dual that will be the equal of any Big Ten engagement in rivalry and ferocity of play. Speed and a good aerial attack combined with plenty of ability to plunge through the line are to be found on both teams, and it will be a question of which team gets the breaks.

The sophomore eleven is entering the fray as the underdog from the standpoint of previous experience. Out of the past 12 tilts the sophomores have only been able to register two victories. However, Captain Klinger and his fighting sophomores are determined to repeat the good work of their classmates in winning the bag rush in spite of the fact that it is customary for the team that wins the class battle to lose the grid dual.

Use Big Ten Strategy.

In a miniature way this will be the same as a game between Notre Dame and Iowa as the frosh intend to rely mostly on the strategy of the Irish while the sophs will stick to the style of play in vogue at the Hawkeye stronghold. These two teams have been using these two brands of football in their scrimmage against the varsity and will give spectators a good conception of how the Hawks and Catholics would look against each other.

Hard luck in the way of injuries has come to Coach Sandt's gridders. Weigandt, Frobel, Burbridge and Posely, all backfield men, will be out of today's play while Wilson, a center, will be on the sidelines with bad bruises.

Several Men Injured.

The game will begin promptly at two o'clock at Camp Randall with the usual admission charge of 50 cents. The gate receipts from this game will be used to send the all-American and frosh teams to the Chicago game.

The probable lineup for this afternoon will be:

THE DOVE HOVERS HIGH

John Hessin Clarke, one of the many who have sacrificed an official position, time, money, energy to invest his every effort in working for peace, spoke last night in Music hall in behalf of the world peace movement.

It is a strange task which he has on his hands. Peace movements are afoot everywhere. Even in Europe, where hatred for one's neighbor still holds sway, there are peace movements, however cursory they may be. The public accepts them as a matter of course, speaks well of them. But it never rallies to them. Last night was an instance of this fact. War appears repugnant to the people of this country now, to the majority of them at least. They look for world peace. But far too few of them are willing to do more than look for it, and so the notice of such a meeting as that of last night goes on the back page.

When an excuse comes to end peace and set to strife once more, they are only too ready for it, crying aloud for it on every street corner and housetop. It is right that the government should be supported in its endeavors, they say, and in the crisis of war. All very well. But they are only too prone to tread the government under their feet on any other provocation.

The dove is here, but it is still too far above the world to have much lasting effect. It is a pleasant thing to squint at way up there, but the task of bringing it down into our midst is too great for the trouble. The most pitiable part of it all is that the smallest cloud will hide it from the eyes of the fickle crowd.

WHY NOT ACCEPT?

Last year there was a deal of cheering from the sidelines just before the 1924 football schedule was completed, cheering which came from the undergraduate student body, which was directed at those who had the destiny of this year's team in hand, and which had for its purpose a tilt with Marquette.

However many good or bad reasons may have been advanced by the advocates of such a tilt, however wise such a game might have been, all was rejected, and Marquette, which clearly wished to play Wisconsin, was omitted from the schedule.

Marquette made no open proposal for a game. This year, however, it repeats its action of two and three years ago and comes out with the request. Once more the sideline cheering begins. But certainly it can not be called anything but legitimate. The student body should be able to express itself on the football schedule, and it has already done so in this instance.

As was argued last year, Marquette could give Wisconsin some stiff opposition, as stiff as the Badgers would want for a preliminary game. For two years, now going on three, it has been undefeated on the gridiron. Last year its team went to Boston where it whipped the City College; this year it trounced Navy in equal manner.

Such a game would increase the interest of Milwaukeeans in the university; it would bring many of them to Madison for the event. And certainly that would be a good thing. Then too, it would not be amiss to have the two largest universities in the state stack up against each other on the field.

The argument that intra-state rivalries should not be started was advanced last year. But again we say, such rivalries can end in no harm. Many have been the years when Wisconsin has played Lawrence and Beloit, when we have trounced one or the other to the tune of 100 to nothing or been trounced in turn. And no ill-feelings in the state have resulted.

The idea that intra-city rivalries might result badly was held by those who directed the athletics of the Madison high schools. Finally, however, they relented, games were held between the three high schools and everybody was happy over the change.

WISCONSIN IN CHINA

Once every four or five years there returns to the campus an alumnus who is carrying a Wisconsin tradition through a foreign nation. Each time he returns there is no end of publicity about Wisconsin in China. When he has gone, it is all forgotten and no one ever thinks about the work which is being done there under the Badger name.

Jack Childs '11 is the alumnus and it is essentially Y. M. C. A. work which he is doing in the Orient, but Y. M. C. A. work under the name of Wisconsin. This university is not unique in having such a representative in China. Princeton, Yale, Columbia and various other universities have not only one but four or five.

The news that Childs is in the war district brings home to Badgers the fact that the work is still going on abroad, that Wisconsin in China is not only a matter of a week's drive for funds to carry on the work but something real and active.

Now, while that country is shaken by political chaos and the ravagings of war, while its capital is under the siege of General Wu Pei Fu and is being defended by the forces of General Feng Yu Hsiang, while every one from high to low is affected by the swinging back and forth of the tide of battle, it comes as an interesting bit of news to the many Wisconsin students who have never heard of him that Jack Childs is carrying on his work there supported largely by Wisconsin, and incidentally that he reports that both of the commanders in charge are close friends of the Y. M. C. A. movement.

Other Editors Say—

YOUNG LIBERALS

We have on our desk a tabulation of all the college straw votes for president. We have also on our desk a report of a talk by an Ohio State professor in which he said students are more liberal than persons of advanced age because the students have more surplus physical and mental energy. The two do not agree.

According to the tabulation practically every college which has taken a straw vote has shown a preference for the strong and silent man of the White House. That indicates either that the students in those colleges have not vaunted health of the younger generation or that robustness has nothing to do with liberalism. Unless, of course, voting for Coolidge can be construed as such.

Youth has always been painted as radical and intolerant of established customs. Youth has always been accused of leading in the move away from the old prejudices. Youth has always been Sir Galahad.

But young persons, we find, are usually not so liberal as the talkers say. Young persons are so easily led, and the leaders are so rarely young. The youngsters are the cats paws, but the real thinking is done by persons of mature craftiness. The young are liberal because they are told to be.—Ohio State Lantern.

Now that we know the Junior class insists upon getting HUFFY about that Prom of theirs, the annual Alpha Phi fireside contest can commence at once.

A certain ardent campaign worker estimates that the handshaking he did in the last election would have milked every cow back home on a certain farm at least twice. No doubt his acquaintance with dairy industry helped him a great deal in the campaign.

- 1—"Rumored that Prom will not be held in Statehouse."
- 2—"Prom supper committee decides on chicken patties." (If this happens again we are going to bring our own lunch.)
- 3—"Howithappened" (and if anyone drags in a davenport and the firelight, we hope they find cinders in their soup).
- 4—"Federal agents invest capital on eve of prom."
- 5—"Great simplicity will be prom-gown keynote." (Sure the same simplicity used in designing bathing suits.)

PHI BETE-FROSH DINNER THURSDAY

Promotion of Higher Scholarship Is Aim of Society Banquet

To inspire freshmen women toward higher scholarship is the purpose of the scholarship banquet which will be held at 6:45 o'clock Thursday in the Windsor room at Lathrop hall.

A freshman representative from each rooming house, the faculty members of Phi Beta Kappa, and the junior women members in the university who were elected to Phi Beta Kappa last spring will attend the banquet.

"W. S. G. A. feels that the sororities are better organized to maintain high scholastic standards than the rooming houses," Dorothy King '25, chairman of the banquet, said yesterday.

"We wish to impress upon the freshmen the importance of excellent scholarship, and hope that this banquet will give them an impetus towards study before the mid-semester examinations. We feel confident that if each representative carries back to her house suggestions for raising the scholarship of the house, much will have been accomplished toward raising the scholarship of the school as a whole."

Edith Ann Leach '27, who was awarded the W.S.G.A. prize last year as the freshman woman with the highest average, 94.6, will act as toastmistress. Prof. George Wagner, vice president of Phi Beta Kappa, will speak. Other speakers will be Miss Helen White for the faculty, Esther Fifield '25 for the Phi Beta Kappa members in the university, and Dorothy King.

R. J. Burke Tells Education Club of Achievement Tests

R. J. Burke, assistant in education at the university, spoke on high school scholarship and participation in extra curricular activities in an address before the Education club yesterday noon in the Author's room of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Burke used the tests made by A. H. Swanson, principal of the Junior college, Kansas City, Mo., in his study of the relation of mental ability and achievement carried on in four Kansas City high schools.

These tests proved that the student engaged in outside activity has a scholarship higher than the non-participant. In making the tests Mr. Swanson took the correlation of the mean marks and the Alpha score. The standard army tests were used to ascertain the student's mental ability.

"Two tests are necessary to make a comparison," said Mr. Burke. "A natural intelligence test must be used to get the student's natural ability, and scholarship to get his average."

"The point system is used in high schools in Missouri," Mr. Burke continued. "Students are given credit for outside activity but are not permitted to engage in too much. Although students engaged in outside activity have a higher scholarship than non-participants, they can overdo it and there has been a falling off in scholarship when participation has been carried too far."

The education club meets once a week and is addressed by some member of the department interested in education.

One Hour Dress is New Creation, Has 17 Clever Phases

There has been much discussion lately about "the one hour dress," a smart, up-to-the-minute dress, cut out, completely made and all ready to put on within an hour. And now Kessenich's are planning to make a demonstration of just how this one hour dress can be made.

Mrs. J. C. Walker will make demonstrations in Kessenich's fabric section on Monday from 10 to 11:30 o'clock and from 2 to 4 o'clock, and Tuesday from 10 to 11:30 o'clock and fitting from 2 to 4 o'clock.

The dress to be made and exhibited, a sensational combination of simplicity and style, is the creation of the Women's Institute of Domestic Arts and Sciences. Booklets giving step by step instructions for making the one hour dress in 17 different variations will be given to every woman purchasing materials with which to make the dress.

HIGH STUDENTS
SHOW MILK STORYPosters and Decorations Used in Furthering Health Conditions

The microbes will get you if you don't watch out, but not if you drink milk. Those black, impish looking little demons with ears that stand up straight and wings like spider web cannot get very far with bottles full of milk racing round on long black legs making huge strides after them, with black arms extended ready to grab the wicked microbes and put them to death.

To further the purpose of the Milk and Milk Products week which begins Monday, Oct. 27, Art classes of the East Side High school have depicted this story along with others showing children in all the activities in which they engage, such as athletic contests of all kinds, and how they can win by drinking milk, in mural decorations placed around the walls of the lunch room and cafeteria. These stories have been worked out by the use of long strips of brown wrapping paper with illustrations pasted on them. Miss Margaret Mc Gilvary was in charge of the art work.

In addition to the poster display, there will be an exhibit of five foods, prepared from milk and milk products, each day in the lower corridors. These foods will be prepared entirely by the domestic science department.

Foods will consist of chocolate mold, cream of wheat cooked in milk, egg poached in milk, egg neg, cottage cheese pie, cottage cheese salads, and cream soups. Recipes will accompany them.

In the cafeteria, at least two milk dishes will be served each day. Poster jingles such as these have also been prepared by girls in the domestic science classes:

Johnny drinks coffee,
Johnny drinks tea,
Mary drinks milk,
Which makes her healthy.

The play is under the direction of Miss Stella Patton, domestic science teacher and Miss Helen Luunsbury dramatic art teacher. All of the costumes have been made by the sewing classes of Miss Helen Mathias.

50 Members Needed for This Year's Work on Uni- versity Exposition

More Union board workers are needed immediately because of the additional work on the University exposition, held every four years under the auspices of the Union board. Twenty-five students applied for positions on the Union board staff of workers yesterday afternoon, and a staff of at least 50 members is needed to carry on the work of the exposition to be held next spring.

The object of Union board is to satisfy the social needs of the students. Union board dances are held every Friday and Saturday nights in Lathrop parlors, regardless of other meetings held in Lathrop. The dances are student dances, run by students, for students, and benefiting students through the Memorial Union. The receipts for the dances are turned over, annually, to the Wisconsin Memorial Union fund.

BAND IS GROWING STATES MORPHY

Musical Advance Is Especially Noteworthy; Has New English Horn

"The musical growth of the university bands is especially noteworthy," Major E. W. Morphy, director, said yesterday. "Each year an advance is made in our attempt to bring the instrumentation up to the latest and most approved standards. Not only are new instruments added which improve the tone, but old ones are constantly being replaced by new instruments of the best make and finish."

Few organizations of this type can boast of so complete an instrumentation as the Wisconsin concert band, according to Major Morphy. Recently Peter E. Knoefel '27, who has been oboist with the concert band for the past year, purchased an English horn. This is an instrument which is very rare in America, only about fifty being in use in this country.

The Wisconsin band is the first large band to use such an instrument, its use being heretofore restricted to professional organizations of the highest type," Major Morphy stated.

Prof. Edward Van Vleck, chairman of the department of mathematics, addressed the club on his experiences in Paris during a convention of world mathematicians. "In France," said Prof. Van Vleck, "3,500 people attend a lecture on mathematics."

BORAH ORDERS G. O. P. FUND PROBE

Republican Campaign Contributions Total $3,700,000 To Date

CHICAGO—Republican campaign contributions to date have totalled approximately $3,700,000, William V. Hodges, the national treasurer testified today before the Chicago section of the senate campaign fund committee.

Of this amount more than $750,000 has been sent back to the states, leaving nearly $3,000,000 for the presidential, senatorial and congressional campaigns.

Hodges was directed to send in accurate figures for collections to next Monday, Chairman Borah saying that the committee wanted the figures for all the parties before the voters go to the polls.

The national treasurer said that he thought the request a "little unfair."

"The impression had gone to the country," said Sen. Borah, "that the last day's may be the 'slush days.' I am interested as a partisan as well as a member of the committee in letter the country have all the facts with all the organizations treated alike."

Hodges then agreed to furnish the figures.

A. F. L. and Grundy Heard

WASHINGTON—The activities of the American Federation of Labor on behalf of Senator La Follette, and the operations of the Grundy committee in its collection of Republican funds in Pennsylvania, were further inquired into today by the Washington section of the senate campaign fund committee.

Frank Morrison, secretary of the A. F. of L., testified that the organization had collected $23,000 and spent $20,000 in promoting its campaign for La Follette. He declared contributions were voluntary, that the regular force at federation headquarters here had done much of the work entailed, and that expenses had been further kept down by enclosing campaign circulars with letters sent out from headquarters to local unions.

Joseph R. Grundy, Pennsylvania manufacturer, told the committee that collections by his committee had reached a total of more than $521,000 bringing the total Republican fund raised in Pennsylvania according to figures previously given to $791,000.

Chairman Caraway of the committee drew Morrison into a long discussion of the action of the executive council of the Central Trades and Labor council of greater New York, which last night reversed a previous endorsement of La Follette and came out for John W. Davis.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Evidence relating to alleged money payments for federal patronage in South Carolina, to the gathering of campaign funds from alcohol dealers by attaches of an internal revenue collector's office in New York, and to the collection of funds from postmasters and others in several states was laid before the senate campaign fund investigators late yesterday afternoon in an effort to support Sen. La Follette's charges of irregular practices by the republican managers.

Further light on the celebrated Tolbert patronage case in South Carolina, which has been a subject of controversy in congress for many months, was given the committee by J. T. Doyle, secretary of the United States civil service commission.

Charge Postmaster Approached

Reading from his report, Doyle said that Howard A. Littlejohn, postmaster at Belton, S. C., had been told by Joseph W. Tolbert, republican national committee man in South Carolina, that he would get him reappointed postmaster "if your heart and pocketbook will get right." He also testified that Maj. James W. Bradford at Sumter, S. C., has paid $500 to get promoted from assistant postmaster to postmaster. He said the money was paid to Gen. T. Stuckie, "who was supposed to be a collector for Tolbert."

From attaches of the office of the internal revenue collector of the second district of New York, it was disclosed that voluntary contributions had been received by employees of the office from concerns

Baptist Church Packed for Marionette Program

The First Baptist church was packed Thursday night for the second number of the Redpath chautauqua series being given under the auspices of the Baptist Men's club. The number with Paul Clemens and his marionettes.

The marionette presentation of "Jack and the Beanstalk" was exceptionally well done, but Mr. Clemens did his best work in mimicing some of the noted musicians of the past and present, including Liszt, Paderewski, Raginini and an imitation of the old time music master.

The next of the series will occur on Nov. 28, when John R. Ratto, famous artist impersonator, comes to Madison.

WILL CONTINUE COMMUNITY DRIVE

Total Received During Campaign Is $19,000 Under Goal Set

More than 100 ward chairman and Community workers were present at the dinner held in the Cameo room Thursday evening.

The following statement was sent by Mayor I. M. Kittleson and read at the dinner:

"I have noticed that the total of the Community Union drive this year has not been reached. This I regret very much and I wish to help in any way I can. I regret that I am not able to be at your meeting tonight.

"It seems to me that Madison can not fail—must not fail in this humanity work.

"I know you who are here have worked and have already done your share and more but for Madison, for the unfortunates for whom this money is needed, let us still go on and on until the job is done."

Speakers were: Col. J. W. Jackson, Emil J. Frautschi and Justice M. B. Rosenberry. W. W. Powers, vice chairman of the drive, presided at the meeting.

So far, only about $77,000 has been raised. The total amount to be reached is $96,000. It was decided at the meeting that a canvass of the wards be made opening them up to all the workers, regardless of section lines drawn within wards.

COOLIDGE WINS IN STRAW VOTE

Literary Digest Poll Shows La Follette Second in Final Summary

NEW YORK—The Literary Digest's final summary of its presidential poll gives 2,386,052 returns from nearly fifteen million post-cards sent out.

The Digest's returns show Coolidge receiving a little more than two and one-half votes for every vote cast for Davis or La Follette. It shows La Follette receiving 3,000 more votes than Davis in more than a million votes.

The Digest figures Wisconsin in the La Follette column and five other states, as in doubt between La Follette and Coolidge namely, California, Nevada, North Dakota, South Dakota and Oklahoma.

The returns also show two states in doubt between Coolidge and Davis, namely West Virginia and Maryland.

327 For Coolidge

Otherwise the Digest gives the entire north and west and the two southern border states of Arizona and New Mexico to Coolidge.

The Digest says that if Mr. Davis carries the solid south, plus the only two states that seem to be in doubt as between him and Coolidge, Davis will have 165 electoral votes; if La Follette carries ALL the states which the Digest returns indicate are in doubt as between La Follette and Coolidge, La Follette will have 39 electoral votes; leaving 327 electoral votes for Coolidge, or 61 more than necessary for his election.

HOME COMING NOVEMBER 15.

Long, Hard Winter Coming, Says Famous Washington Meteorologist

"We are going to have an early, long and severe winter."

This isn't the usual, annual prediction of the coal merchant, nor the idle sales talk of the fur-coat salesman. It comes from no less an authority than Herbert J. Browne, famous Washington meteorologist.

Mr. Browne has recently jumped into prominence by his uncanny, long-distance weather predictions which have come true in every case, over a period of years. His new scientific theories for weather forecasting have been heralded widely in both scientific and popular magazines, here and abroad.

Coal merchants, fur-coat salesmen and the public do give heed to Browne's advice. So do railroads, steamship lines and winter resorts. The extent to which the latter great American business is affected by his predictions is suggested in a recent announcement in a Florida paper:

"With supreme confidence in the predictions of Herbert J. Browne, who has announced an early, long and severe winter, directors of the Miami Chamber of Commerce, have decided to announce the opening of the Miami season in November, a month earlier than any previous season in Florida history."

"To this decision the Chamber was aided by assurance of co-operation of railroads, steamship lines and hotels. Through trains from Chicago to Miami will this year begin November 15, with corresponding advance in dates of through cars from eastern and middle western cities. Arthur Pryor has also consented to increase the Miami stay of his famous band to eighteen weeks, coming down for the earlier opening. Racing, golf, tennis and other schedules have been arranged accordingly, with a number of sport tournaments scheduled for November."

The American Automobile Association has estimated that 80,000 motor tourists will this year make an early start southward, for whom the Association has prepared a special tour book showing all roads leading to Miami.

HOSPITAL USES FAKE SUNLIGHT

Artificial Ultra-Violet Rays Act as Cure for Many Illnesses

Artificial sunlight in the form of ultra-violet rays is now being employed at the Bradley Memorial hospital as an aid in the cure of tuberculosis, pyorrhea, sinus trouble, skin diseases, and other ailments, it was learned today. Administration of the artificial sunlight is in charge of Prof. J. C. Elsom, of the physical education department of the University of Wisconsin, who is also in charge of the heliotherapy work.

Sunshine has been recognized as a curative for plants and animals since the beginning of time. The sunshine cure for tuberculosis has been found effective for many years and is widely used. But in countries where cold weather and an atmosphere filled with smoke and dust makes the sun's rays ineffective, science has come to the rescue with artificial sunlight.

In the sun, rays are of two kinds—destructive like the X-ray and constructive like the ultra-violet ray. The ultra-violet ray deposits calcium and phosphorus in the blood and is invaluable as a cure for rickety children. Besides depositing constructive elements, this ray kills bacteria. For that reason, it is used to purify swimming tanks.

U.S. Copying Imperialism of Britain

—LA FOLLETTE

Senator Charges America Is Creating Its Own Indias, Irelands

ALBANY, N. Y.—Sen. Robert M. La Follette, was headed westward today to challenge tonight the Coolidge administration in Pittsburgh, home city of Secty. Mellon, before invading Ohio once more to wind up his campaign with an address Saturday night in Cleveland.

The Wisconsin Senator was on his way from Boston where in an address last night he attacked the foreign policy of the Harding-Coolidge and recent administrations.

"During the last twenty years," said the independent presidential candidate, "this nation has abandoned the foreign policy which, through a century and a half, made her great and respected by all European diplomacy, and has lavishly copied the policies upon which the British empire was built."

"Creating Irelands."

"We are today creating in Central and South America our Irelands, our Egypts and our Indias. Helpless people are being crushed into submission in order to compel them to pay tribute to our interest bankers and industrial exploiters. At the same time in Asia, Africa and Europe, in the near east as well as in the far east American oil interests and concession hunters with the aid and encouragement of our state department, are competing with the financial imperialists of England and France for the control of the world's natural resources. This is imperialism."

"I indict as traitorous to American ideals the administration in Washington responsible for the conquest of Haiti and Santa Domingo, of the republics of Nicaragua and Honduras, of Bolivia, Panama and Costa Rica. I indict as traitors to the principles of government for which our fathers died, those administrations of both parties at Washington responsible for the American battleships and the American marines, under whose guns those helpless peoples are struggling for their independence, as we struggled for our independence."

Tong Peace

NEW YORK — Peace reigned in Chinatown today. News that a truce had been signed travelled rapidly through the quarter last night. There was a noticeable lifting of the tension that has pervaded the section since the feud between the On Longs and the Hip Sings began.

The only reminder of the war that has cost eight lives and a score of injuries here was the large number of bluecoats who continued their watch.

Announcement of the truce came from the Chinese consul general Chang, one of the leaders in the peace movement, that was almost frustrated by the killing of a Hip Sing tong man in the shadow of the building in Chinatown where the peace parleys were being held.

PROF. SHARP FORESEES PITFALLS IN ELECTIONS

that the federal government after March 4, 1925, will find itself more or less effectively deadlocked, president against congress. For no one party is likely to control a majority of the members of both houses of the next congress, in which case we shall live another two years under a "neutralized" government unable to carry into effect any effective program, good or bad. Party responsibility under such conditions is deduced to a fiction.

Deadlock Useful
"A deadlock in the coming presidential election, on the other hand, may well serve a useful purpose; it may hasten the day when Americans will seriously consider re-casting some of the antiquated features of their made-in-the-18th-century constitutional system. No one can easily defend the electoral college as it functions under the party system today. Even in a normal two-party election, it does only passably well, but where there are three strong party groups in the field, it can produce, at least from the orthodox Democratic standpoint, truly weird results, such as the election of a president receiving the lowest popular vote.

"Likewise, the constitutional provision whereby the president, in case of an electoral deadlock, is chosen by the old house of representatives, voting by states, instead of by the new one, voting by individuals, is open to serious criticism. Nor is the frequency with deadlocks between president and congress occur and persist conducive to adequate government. This, perhaps, is the most fundamental problem in the whole effort to adapt our constitutional 'check and balance' machinery to present day needs. Why? Because in a modern democracy it is often more important that decisions be made, even if questionable ones, than that nothing be done at all.

Watch Propaganda
"The 'sovereign' voter, therefore, should not let his good sense be mocked next Tuesday by the bizarre strategy being employed by the campaign managers at the eleventh hour. The country has survived political deadlocks before; another one would not carry it over the precipice to commercial and industrial and political chaos. On the contrary, a deadlocked election might help in the end to bring back into American politics a more healthy reality."

W. R. SHARP.

JOURNALISTS PAY GENERAL LAB TAX

$1 Fee to Provide for Typewriters, Copy Paper and Newspapers

Still another way of parting with the blessed "shekel!" All students enrolled in every course in the department of journalism will be required to pay a laboratory fee of $1.00 a semester to go into effect at once. Laboratory fee cards should be obtained from Miss Bauer, 301 South hall, and fees should be paid to the bursar immediately.

The reason for instigating this fee, as learned from the department today, is to cover the expense of installing several new typewriters and keeping them in perfect order, providing representative daily newspapers, each day's issue, and ink and copy paper for students who have forgotten to bring their own with them.

"We expect to be able to give the students better service from now on," W. G. Bleyer, director of the journalism course, said when interviewed on the benefits to be derived from the new system. "In the past we have subscribed for no particular newspapers other than those used in the periodical room, and these did not reach the reading room for use by the students until after they were two weeks old. Now we shall keep a supply of standard daily papers on file, so that students can have more timely material to work with."

The journalism reading room and laboratory is open for use by all journalism students from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m. except Saturday when it will close at 12 M. If any one should ever find a machine that is not running right, he should put a slip of paper with the words, "Out of order" on it, and report the matter to Miss Bauer at her office.

JOURNALISM GRADS SUCCEED IN WORK

Many Class of '24 Members
Now Hold Responsible Positions

The journalism department has lately received word of the work that some of the graduates of the department in the class of 1924 are doing on newspapers or in some other phase of journalistic work.

Richard Crosse of Genoa Junction, is on the Delavan Republican. Keith Davis, Madison, is on the Daily Journal at Flint, Mich. A. D. Gannon is on the Algoma Record Herald. Lee D. Hanson, Delavan, is in the advertising department of the Milwaukee Journal.

Joseph Lawler, Milwaukee, is on the editorial staff of the Bankers' Monthly, Chicago. Dorothy Lawton is society editor of the Racine Journal News.

Harold R. Maier, Antigo, is on the New Holstein Reporter and Marcella Neff is on the Milwaukee Journal. Edith Porter is on the Burlington Standard Democrat, and Don Trayer, New London, is working on the Western Builder, Milwaukee. V. W. Zierke, Princeton, is editing the New London Press, and Josephine Coates is teaching journalism and handling the student paper at Sullin's college, Bristol, Va.

FAUST WILL JUGGLE FLASHY BAND BATON

The band will have a new baton, which will be juggled for the first time at the Notre Dame game by Paul Faust '26, drum major, according to Major Morphy. He says that the new stick is decorated in the loudest colors and the heaviest gold and silver plate obtainable. It will be used to bolster up the base section when they do not make enough noise.
