HOPE OF ORIENT IS FOUNDED ON CHINESE YOUTH

—CHILDS

Wisconsin Man Tells Mass- meeting of Night Schools

That China is working out its own destiny to a large extent, especially through the work of the youth of the nation, is the belief of Jack Childs, Wisconsin's representative in the Orient, who spoke yesterday afternoon to a massmeeting of students and faculty members of Music hall.

"One of the greatest human struggles waged anywhere in the world is being fought by the young men and women of the high schools and universities of China," Childs declared.

That the function of the American representatives in China is to work with the natives in the procuring of their own desires and to advise them as to the best ways for furthering their cherished ideals, is the belief of Childs.

Americans Face Problems

The progress of China depends upon the work of the 150,000 Chinese students laboring to break the poverty of their people and to deliver them from economic slavery which makes life a harsh struggle for mere physical existence.

Two great problems which face the American in China and which are primary functions of a United States representative are, according to Childs, the overcoming of the illiteracy and ignorance while instilling a belief in a sister republic, the United States, and secondly, the obtaining of the industrial cooperation from the west to overthrow the financial and capitalistic exploitation which is crushing China.

Have Night Schools

"The great motivating thought of the youth of China, however, is to secure for themselves the privilege of working out their own national destiny," Childs declared in commenting upon the earnestness of the Chinese students.

All of the high schools, universities and institutions of learning carry on night schools to alleviate mass illiteracy. The students of the national university go into these schools and act as teachers to the poor of China, the apprentice boys and the factory workers.

Prof. D. W. Mead, chairman of the faculty division of the Wisconsin in China movement, also addressed the massmeeting. He declared that international friendships that will be important to both the world and to individuals will result from such work as Childs is doing.

Mead Gives Talk

"We have sadly neglected the Chinese in the past. The students

Octy to Say Happy Christmas Tomorrow

The Christmas number of the Octopus will be out on the campus tomorrow morning with a cover illustration by Hubert Townsend '23, which strikes a new note on the much celebrated Christmas plum pudding.

"A sock full of humor" is the way that Cedric Seaman, associate editor, characterizes the book.

All records were broken this time with 40 pages and 35 drawings according to the editors. In addition to the work there are a number of poems and short stories such as, "A Ballad of Gifts", "The Month's Horoscope", "Males Among Us", and "Co-ed Comments on Presidents."

A representation of "Octyville" has been arranged in the window of the university Pharmacy. According to the staff a surprise awaits students going to class tomorrow morning.

Benny To Talk On Snowflakes

Prof. Benjamin W. Snow of the physics department will deliver his lecture, "Snowflakes", at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in room 113 Sterling Hall.

For many years students and townspeople have packed the auditorium in order to be entertained as well as instructed by this lecture. Murmurs of surprise and admiration are heard through the room as each new slide is thrown on the screen and the striking phenomena of snowflakes is exhibited.

Professor Snow has made an exhaustive study of snowflakes for a number of years and finds that no two are alike. By ingenious means he has photographed hundreds of specimens and will flash them before his audience during the lecture.

SOIL IS BASIS OF PROSPERITY

—RUSSELL

Dean Asserts That Lack of Organization Drives Youth From Farm

The permanent prosperity of the United States lies in the soil, according to Dean H. L. Russell of the College of Agriculture, who yesterday gave out a statement on the agricultural conditions of this country.

"It is true that there is depression on the farms at the present time. That is the natural outcome of many economic factors working together," he declared.

One of these factors is the excessive crop production. The crops for the past three years have been above the average but there will doubtless be a reduction of crops in the no distant future, due to weather conditions. This is a hazard that must be faced in agriculture, Dean Russell asserted.

"The economics situation in Europe is another factor contributing to the National depression on the farm," Russell said. "The buying

Harry Ross Will Speak at Press Club Banquet

Harry Ross, city editor of the Wisconsin State Journal, will give an address on the "Go-Getter" at the initiation banquet of Press club at 5:30 o'clock tonight in the S. G. A. room, Lathrop hall.

The banquet will be in honor of the forty-five new members initiated yesterday afternoon. It will be in the form of a regular cafeteria supper. All regular members are expected to be present to welcome those recently elected to the club.

Mr. Ross is a newspaper man of extensive experience, having worked on more than a score of newspapers throughout the country, and having held every position from cub reporter to managing editor on these publications.

He will discuss the manifold problems facing the cub reporters from a standpoint of his own personal experience in the game. The practical, worth while information he will have to unfold will be a treat to all members.

Landscape Artist to Speak on Work Today

Jens Jenson, Chicago landscape artist, will speak on "Landscape Gardening from the Professional Standpoint" at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in room 116, Horticulture building.

For the past 15 years Mr. Jenson has been in charge of the west side parks of Chicago. He is of the prairie school of artists and believes in the beauty of natural landscapes. Humboldt park is considered his masterpiece.

When the Lincoln highway was designed Mr. Jenson served as the landscape director. The location for his summer home in Door county, Wis., was chosen because he considered it one of the most picturesque spots in the middle west.

MAKE CALL FOR BOX APPLICANTS FOR PROMENADE

Ebert Sends Circulars to All Organizations For Reservations

The first call for reservations for Junior prom boxes was issued yesterday by Melvin D. Ebert '24, chairman of the committee in charge of box reservations.

The first circular letter to fraternities and organizations making inquiry in regard to reservations was received by fraternities yesterday. Fifty letters were mailed. The letter was the first of a series of three to be mailed by Ebert.

"All organizations desiring to make prom reservations and obtain good boxes must send in the request with $15 before the beginning of the Christmas holidays," Ebert said last night.

"It will be a case of first come, first served. We will have to know the number of persons in each party also. If we get most of the reservations in before the holidays we can best judge how to accommodate them with boxes of suitable size. Often times the party is too small for the box and the largeness of the room seems to detract from the general atmosphere which should help to make the party pleasant."

Social chairmen of all fraternities and campus organizations have received copies of the first letter. The second will be sent out when needed to remind the social chairmen of the desirability of haste. No definite closing date for reservations has been set as yet Ebert said.

LEITH TO LEAD INSPECTION TRIP TO MILWAUKEE

Prof. B. D. Leith of the agronomy department will conduct a class of 10 or more agricultural students to the Wisconsin Products exposition, the leading flour mills, and the macaroni establishments in Milwaukee, Friday.

The Wisconsin Products exposition is considered the greatest display of Badger products from farm and factory that has ever been held in Wisconsin, according to those in charge of the show which is from December 14 to 20.

More than 50 cities are preparing exhibits of miniature industrial plants for the occasion. Virtually every kind of product from farm and factory will be on exhibition.

Many Madison organizations will have booths at the show. The American Society of Equity, the department of markets, and the northern Wisconsin cooperative tobacco pool are a few of the groups that will have exhibits.

The Wisconsin delegation will visit the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce at noon. Flour mills will be inspected during the afternoon. In the evening, the class will visit the Wisconsin Products exposition.

Commerce Magazine Will Go on Sale Thursday

The December edition of the Commerce magazine will not be on sale today as announced in yesterday's Cardinal. It will be on sale Thursday, however, according to Arthur Aylward '23, editor of the magazine.

COACH'S RESIGNATION SURPRISE TO COUNCIL AND TO UNIVERSITY

Prom Slogan Deadline Continued Until Tonight

The contest to select the best slogan for Prom will close at 6 o'clock tonight, it was announced yesterday by Gordon B. Wanzer, Prom chairman.

The contest was to have closed on Saturday, but because of the fact that the number of suitable slogans received was small, it was continued until tonight.

A prize of $5 will be awarded to the writer of the winner. Suggestions can be delivered to Wanzer at the Chi Psi house, 150 Iota court, any time before 6 o'clock today.

VARSITY TAKES PRACTICE TILT

Meanwell's Men Show Good Form in Early Season Playing

In its first open practice of the season, the Varsity basketball team "strutted its stuff" before more than 400 fans last night and trounced Coach Harper's freshman squad by a 39 to 14 score.

That Coach Walter E. Meanwell has developed another one of his famous winning combinations was evident during the practice contest, and except for a few minutes in the early part of the game when the frosh tied the varsity and then forged ahead, the regulars had no difficulty in outspeeding and outplaying their smaller opponents.

The freshman five put up an interesting battle at all times and won the plaudits of the crowd when it knotted the count at 4 all and then advanced in scoring until it was on the long end of an 8 to 4 score. Varsity pulled up short at this stage of the game and then drew gradually ahead until there

Instructor Discovers New Moulding Plaster

Miss Della Wilson of the applied arts department has discovered a way in which saw dust and water-glass can be combined to form a new moulding plaster which is cheaper and more efficient than the usual compositions of this nature.

The new plaster is now being used in the modeling class with great success, according to instructors and will be a great improvement over the old system in the making of moulds for the reproduction of statues and models of different kinds.

The new material is substantial when hardened and eliminates the danger of breaking, shrinking or warping. The cost of the constituents is low.

It is possible that the plaster may be used to advantage by the Bradley Memorial hospital in the treatment of crippled children, Miss Wilson declared.

Stewart Goes to Conv of Students at Chicago

Robert B. Stewart '23, secretary and treasurer of the Mid-West Student Conference association, left last Saturday for Chicago, where he will meet delegates from the association to plan a program for the convention of the association to be held at Northwestern in February.

"I am going down to help plan the program for our convention and also to select leaders for our round table discussions, which we hold for every phase of campus activity," Stewart said Friday.

The convention last year was held at Lexington, Ky. It was there that Stewart conceived the idea which led to his "point system" plan, which he last week recommended to the Council of 40.

Richards to Take Up Legal Work on Coast; Suc cessor Not Named

By CHAS. J. LEWIN

That the telegram received on Sunday from John R. Richards, announcing his resignation from the position of head football coach, was entirely unexpected was the declaration of Athletic Director Thomas E. Jones yesterday afternoon.

Coach Jones, Prof. J. F. A. Pyre, and President E. A. Birge will recipients of telegrams from Wisconsin's football mentor.

The message to Coach Jones, sent from Chicago, said: "Cannot be considered for appointment next year. Leaving for West tomorrow and am unable to arrange to be back next year. Hope all goes well and know that I am with you all the time."

Goes to Texas

Coach Richards left Chicago Sunday and is on his way to Texas, from whence he leaves for California to resume the practice of law. It had been known that Richards was to re-enter the law profession with friends in California, but he expected to obtain a leave of absence for the three months of the football season.

His telegram to Athletic Director Jones is considered as a formal announcement of his resignation to the athletic council. The council makes recommendations to the Board of Regents regarding the head football coach, but it is greatly doubted in university athletic circles that any move will be made to procure a new coach for some time to come.

Pyre Gives Opinion

Professor Pyre, chairman of the athletic council, said yesterday, "I feel that Coach Richards has been exceedingly unselfish in devoting a part of his time to football, largely because of his interest in Wisconsin. He has been an important factor in keeping Wisconsin near the top in football during the period he has been coaching. It will be no easy matter to fill the vacancy created by his retirement."

Professor Pyre was also unaware that Coach Richards had intended to resign. When he and Director Jones accompanied the football mentor to the train last Thursday, he assured them he would return in the fall unless something unexpected arose. It is probable that inability to leave his law business caused the sudden decision to reliable that the new man will be a Wisconsin graduate and an all-year resident coach here.

Director Jones refused to comment upon possible selections, de a new coach. If Richards has definitely decided to quit, it is probable that he will be a Wisconsin graduate and an all-year resident coach here.

Marquette Students to Confound Edison

Marquette students think they have prepared a list of questions that will put Thomas Edison on his mettle.

If he can answer the questions prepared for him and stand by the results the Marquette men have promised to answer his and admit his contentions as to the lack of brains in college men.

Just a few of the new intellectual ticklers are:

At what age does a man become childish? How old are you?

Who was Thomas Edison and if so, why?

Are the inhabitants of Mars annoyed by college yell?

In what year was the battle of the Broiled Baby Lobsters fought?

If a small boy wins ten marbles in one day, and it takes four eggs to make a certain cake how long will it take a cross-eyed cricket to lick a cockroach with a cork leg? Why?

Lake Wingra is ice covered, the first of the Madison lakes to take on its winter appearance. The lake being the smallest and most sheltered is first to close each year and therefore is first in popularity of Madison skaters.

Skaters tested the ice Saturday and Sunday, but warning is given that the ice is not of sufficient thickness to be safe yet.

FENCERS WORK DAILY TO SHAPE UP FOR MEETS

With only about a month of training left before the opening of the fencing and broadsword meets, varsity swordsmen have been working five days a week in an attempt to get into winning form.

The teams are hampered this year by the loss of Coach Schlatter, who formerly directed the work. At the present time the squads are working out under the supervision of Coach Linden. The freshman teams have not been organized as yet although numerous frosh have turned out for practice.

When the broadsword team faces Milwaukee on February 10, Wisconsin will stake its success on E. M. Boerke '23. Boerke was a member of the varsity team last year and has been doing consistent work in the practices this year. It is expected that he will show his maneuvers up to good advantage against the Milwaukeean.

J. Reinhold '24, and A. W. Thompson '24, will wield the rapiers for the Badgers against the Milwaukee fencers on the same night.

E. L. Evensen '25, is Wisconsin's only alternative for honors in broadsword work next semester, as Boerke graduates in January. Evensen's work in preliminary bouts has been good and his work in the Conference meet with Ohio in March will be watched with interest.

C. Abbott '25, the alternate member of the fencing team, will probably take part in some of the meets later on in the season.

Purdue Has High Hopes For Basketball Season

hopes

Five veterans from last year's squad have returned to Purdue, and thereby raised the hopes of the university for a very successful season in the gymnasitic season.

There is at present a squad of twenty-five who are out working for the team. Capt. Rudy, Schick, Thompson, Bercherer and Comack are the letter men from the 1921 squad, and they all show improved form.

There are to be at least three dual meets with western conference universities this year. Ohio state Indians, and Illinois are to be on the Old Gold and Black schedule, and there may possibly be other meets. The team will also take part in the annual state A. A. U. meet at Indianapolis and at a western conference event at Columbus.

Two hotel projects are under way in Madison, it was announced yesterday. Yesterday Walter Schroeder, Milwaukee, deposited $25,000 in the Commercial National bank as evidence of his good faith in his announcement last week that he also would erect a modern hostelry in this city.

The proposition of Ernst Clarenbach, Milwaukee, sponsored by the local hotel committee, to build a million dollar building here, is going ahead.

Accompanied by temperatures lower than recorded so far this season, the cold wave now centered in Montana and Western Canada is expected to spread eastward and southward over

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

BUTLER FIVE IS SAME AS LAST YEAR'S QUINTET

Badger Opponent For Second Date is Still Doubtful, is Report

Every one of the Butler college basketball players who worked against Wisconsin last year will stack up against the Badgers this year.

A communication from Paul Hinkel, former University of Chicago star and now assistant coach at Butler, said that the team expects to give Wisconsin a tough battle when they meet in the university gym here on Friday evening.

Capt. John Leslie, forward, Or- guard, are the men who beat Wisconsin in its first preliminary game last year.

Is First Game

This quintet is augmented by the addition of Ralph Nipper, Robert Blessing, Gerald Strole, guards; and Paul Jones, forward, who are reputed to be on a par with the regulars.

With Butler furnishing the first game on the prelim card, Wisconsin's second opponent is still doubtful. Coach Meanwell had closed a tentative date with Beloit college, but Tommy Mills will be unable to bring the state-liners here on December 18 or 19, according to latest reports.

Marquette To Come

Athletic authorities wired to Coach Schlissler and his Lombard college team, champions of the Little Nineteen, Illinois college conference in an effort to bring them here. Creighton is another possibility for the second game.

Marquette university will furnish opposition in the last practice set to an December 3, one day before the opening of school after the holiday vacations.

Another open practice for the Varsity will be held in the gymnasium on Wednesday evening. It will be the last before the Butler contest on Friday.

Over 100 Costumes for High School Festival

Final preparations and finishing touches for the Christmas festival at the Central High school, Dec. 21 are being made. Designs for over 100 costumes have been made by students of the art classes under the direction of Miss White. These are now in the hands of Miss Reilly and Miss Alice Earle who are directing the construction of the costumes of all boys participating, while each girl is directing the making of her own.

Prospects For Winning Mat Team Are Bright

With the exception of a few football men who are taking a rest after the hard work of the fall, all of Coach George Hitchcock's mat men are working out regularly. The heavy-weight football men are working on their studies before reporting for wrestling.

Prospects for a winning team are brighter than they have been for some years. With the recent addition to wrestling facilities of a large, well equipped mat room, many times the former member of aspirants can be accommodated.

Wisconsin's first dual meet is one month distant and many fine points will have to be shaped by the men before they will be ready to win the meet. The Badgers will journey to Evanston to grapple with the Northwestern team on January 12.

SKI CLUB GOES TO LAKE PLACID NEXT DECEMBER

The Badger Ski Club has received an invitation to send a team to the Eastern Ski association meet at Lake Placid on December 30. The invitation has not been formally accepted as yet, but will be within the next few days according to Gordon Taylor, president of the club.

The men who will make the trip have not been selected yet. The most promising are Sverre Strom, Richard Goodrich, Oscar Christensen, Ken Fagg, Clyde Strachan and Eiler Schjolberg. From three to five men will be selected from this group to represent the Badger organization.

The men have had no practice this year but their ability will tide over their lack of practice. There is yet some time before the meet and there is the possibility that some snow will fall before the end of the month.

There are about 10 colleges in the Eastern Ski association of which Dartmouth is perhaps the strongest. There are two Canadian colleges in the group. Although Dartmouth won the $1000 Harding cup last year the club feels that they have nothing to worry over on that score, for on a new method of judging the one best jump can win the meet.

Sverre Strom is one of the best in the country and has the best of chances to bring home the bacon for Wisconsin. The Harding Cup was offered last year for the first time and was won by Dartmouth. It will be permanently owned by the team who wins it three times.

Last Saturday the club had their picture taken on Muir Knoll. The picture will be published in the 1924 Badger. About 20 members were present when the picture was taken. Some needed improvements have been made on the slide in the last few weeks. The work has been made on the slide in the last few weeks. The work has been completed now, and the club is looking forward to a big year.

Jones Is Silent

Athletic authorities at Wisconsin expect to be flooded with communiques that the athletic council would take up the matter at future meetings.

It was in 1911 that Coach John R. Richards directed his first Wisconsin football team. He left the work in 1911, and his successor, Bill Juneau, turned out the 1912 champions with the material that Richards had developed. In 1917, Richards returned again to succeed Paul Withington, who failed with his eastern system of play.

Since that time Richards has handled Badgers teams continually,

Michigan Shows Signs of Having Winning Quintet

Michigan defeated Notre Dame in basketball last Friday night by a score of 41 to 23. This decisive victory over the Catholics by the Wolverines shows that they have an exceptionally strong quintet this year.

The Michigan squad has its last year's team, which tied Wisconsin for second place among conference teams, practically intact.

Coach Mather withdrew his first string men at the end of the half and substituted his second rate men.

This display of strength by a Big Ten so early in the season is somewhat sensational and shows that the Wolverines will have one of the most powerful outfits in the Middle West when the season officially opens.

Bill Miller and Mike Paper, who were the outstanding stars of the Michigan quintet last season showed considerable class for such an early date.

with the exception of 1918, when he left the university to do war work, and Coach Guy S. Lowman directed fortunes on the gridiron. In 1912, Richards went to Ohio state and remained there one year.

Richard A Great Man

Although Wisconsin has never topped the percentage column under Richards' tutelage, it is credited with fewer defeats than any other Big Ten team except Iowa. It has finished second and third consistently, playing the hardest schedule possible to card and making a reputation as the most feared team in the Conference.

While a student at Wisconsin from 1893 to 1896, Richards won renown on the football field. He played fullback, and gained the distinction of being Wisconsin captain for two years. Richards has also coached football at Colorado college, and military schools in Minnesota and Missouri. He was a star track man while at Wisconsin.

Jack Wilce it is known would come to Wisconsin if he were approached on the proposition. In an interview with the writer early this fall Coach Richards stated that Wilce would come to Wisconsin as soon as "Big Jawn" resigned—if the Badger school wanted him.

Wilce is an M. D. and would work in well with the Wisconsin school. He could be hired full time, being connected with the new university hospital now being planned.

Wilce told Richards he would like nothing better than to coach here and would ask to be relieved of his Ohio contract if Wisconsin would ever consider him.

Wilce learned the game under Richards and was an apt pupil. It was Richards who placed Wilce at Ohio and guaranteed the Buckeye school that Jack would make good. He did—and incidentally placed Ohio on the football map in this country. He knows the game and has had a successful record as a coach. His recent season was the worst ever, losing four out of five conference games.

Would Zuppke Come?

There is also much talk of "Bob" Zuppke wanting to come here—providing the necessary financial arrangement could be made. It is known that about three years ago Zuppke did want to come to Wisconsin. Whether or not his attitude has changed is yet to be seen. He is getting an enormous salary at the Sucker school and Wisconsin would undoubtedly have to offer at least as much before Zuppke would come. Perhaps, since the attacks made by Wisconsin on his squad this last year "Bob" wouldn't be keen on signing a contract here.

How About "Cub" Buck

"Cub" Buck, Wisconsin's greatest tackle now at Green Bay might be seen at the helm next fall. Buck has had numerous offers to go into the coaching game but has declined them all, preferring to stay at Green Bay where he has a good position and can take an active part in the gridiron game.

Buck was offered the job of coaching Indiana this year but declined, giving as his reason the fact that he had excellent opportunities for a livelihood at Green Bay. He knows the game and although a line man has developed some great backfields for the Packers. Although not a kicker while in university Buck has himself developed into one of the best punters in the professional football conference in the mid-west.

Hancock at Oshkosh

Howard Hancock, captain of the 1917 eleven was known as a great player and was mentioned on numerous "All-Conference" teams. He was no doubt about the result of the drill.

Although the Meanwell offense was able to bring the ball down the floor time after time for many shots, poor passing, with Rollie Williams the worst offender, caused the regulars to lose the sphere and permit the freshmen to work down to a shooting position.

Williams has not been out long enough to work in well with the Badger combination. He has a tendency to "travel" with the ball instead of passing it, but with a few more weeks of drill, Rollie should be back in form.

Les Gage demonstrated that he can ably fill the shoes of Cop Taylor, Wisconsin's scoring forward last year. If Les maintains the pace he set in the Varsity-fresh game, he will be up among the leaders in Conference scoring records. In addition to being a consistent scorer, Gage works in with the floor game. He is a strong man on defense, and all doubt of his endurance was dispelled last night.

Ken Elsom and Bareis are another pair of good forwards. Elsom threw the feature shot of the scrimmage, a long overhand shot from the side, in true Mike Knapp style. Gibson continues to star at center. He has overcome his passing faults and can drop the ball in the basket with regularity.

Capt. Gus Tebell guards the Varsity goal with effectiveness. Rarely do opponents work through his defense for short try at the net. Wackman relieved Gibson at center for a short time, and Bryce went in at a forward position during the scrimmage.

For the freshmen, Olson played a good floor game and McCarthy was the scoring star. Wernecke has a sturdy build for the center job, and with more endurance, he should prove a whiz. Merkle, forward, played consistently.

Elsom netted the first basket seen by fans this year shortly after the game began. The fresh counted, then Doug Gibson dropped in a basket. Long shots enabled the yearlings to go into the lead, but a free throw and basket by Gage, two baskets by Elsom, and three by Gage and Elsom brought the score to 17 to 10.

Wackman relieved Gibson, Bareis went in for Elsin, and Bryce supplanted Gage. At half-time, Varsity led, 21 to 10, and the lead was rapidly increased in the second period.

The line-up follows:

| | | | |
|----------|-------|-------|-------------|
| Elsom | | L. F. | McCarthy |
| Gage | | R. F. | Olson |
| Gibson | | C. | Wernecke |
| Williams | | L. G. | Christenson |
| Tebell | | R. G. | Meyers |

Substitutions: Varsity - Bareis center; Freshman: Skoaglund, center; Merkle, Oden, Geron, forwards; Christoff and Scheer, guards.

Varsity baskets—Gage 7; Elsom 5; Gibson 3; Bareis 3; Williams 1. Free throws—Gage 1. Referee—Cop Taylor.

is now coaching Oskosh Normal teams and has turned out first rate teams.

Brader and Sundt

Guy Sundt and Jim Brader are also being spoken of. Both boys are great players and each with one year's experience as coach has made a good record. However, they are young and inexperienced as far as the coaching game is concerned and it is seriously doubted whether or not they could stand the fast company they would meet in the "Big Ten" conference. It is expected however, that Brader will be retained as assistant coach. He has had success here and men in the line credit Jim with much of their great work.

BIG JOHN RICHARDS

A surprised student populace read with regret the announcement of the resignation of Coach John Richards.

For the past five years Coach Richards has guided the gridiron history of Wisconsin. During that time his teams have been consistently good. No championships have been brought to Randall, it is true, but it is equally true that during that time no Badger team has been turned out that was not feared and respected by gridiron foes.

The Wisconsin teams, under John Richard's direction, have kept up among the top each year. They have spilled the championship hopes for many a team that boasted as good or better material.

Breaks have not always been with the Badger football teams. This year the breaks were not always with the Badgers. But in the loss of its coach the worst break of years has come to Wisconsin teams.

Big John, as he is known wherever football enthusiasts gather, has developed the weakest lines into what became the best lines in the Conference. As long as he has been coach, Wisconsin students have not had cause to be ashamed of Wisconsin teams.

Because Wisconsin loves a fighter she must love John Richards. He fought for the team in the making of schedules, in practice and on the field.

The coach has every loyal Badgers best wishes as he goes to the western coast to take up a new line of endeavor.

INTELLECTUAL SMUGNESS

A serious warning is being uttered in the press of the country.

That warning is directed to the half million young men and women who are yearly attending colleges of higher education. It is so directed because the leading educators feel too many students are entering college for less worthy motives than to secure an education.

That colleges must limit their attendance to students who are not that in name only is the contention of some of the presidents of leading universities.

It would be incompatible with all the conceptions of democracy to assume that the privilege of higher education should be restricted to any class defined by the accident of birth or by the fortuitous circumstance of possessing wealth," says Dr. Hopkins, President of Dartmouth College.

"But there is such a thing as an aristocracy of brain, made up of men intellectually alert and intellectually eager to whom increasingly the opportunities of higher education ought to be restricted."

Unfortunately intellectual hypocrisy and its complement, intellectual smugness, are not sufficiently infrequent even within college halls.

Doctor Hopkins believes that the ambition for the college to strive for is the stimulation in the individual man of his ability to think. He believes that this ability to think must be the willingness to follow his logic through to conviction.

Dr. Faunce, president of Brown University, holds that "All the young men who want education ought to have it. But the vast majority of them would profit far more by some other kind of education than that given by the traditional American college. Every man should be educated, but only a minority are mentally or morally benefited by seclusion for four years within the gates of the American colleges."

It is something to think about. These educators are doing more than talk about their convictions. They are putting them into effect at their universities. Brown University this year refused admittance to 100 men. The new class numbers 350 students as compared with 418 the year before.

That university required the passing of two psychological tests before the admittance of any student. It was forced to this stand because of the many who yearly came for other reasons than study.

Breadth of vision and mastery are what students should acquire in college. Vision broad enough to view not only the present but the possible future-mastery of the subject so that it may be carried through to success.

If college students are intellectually smug they are so because they mistake the aims of higher education. Scholarship, fellowship, mastery, vision—surely these are more worth while than they are now credited by the average student.

The college student should ask himself the following questions asked of him by Dr. Faunce of Brown University.

"What does the student carry away with him when the college days are over? What does he gain from the four year investment?

Something more than the parchment and ribbon, something more than the glittering Phi Beta Kappa key and the transient glory of the athletic field. More than mere knowledge of facts; for most mere facts are not worth knowing. Two things he may reasonably hope to carry away from college, vision and mastery.

"BONE DRY" CLUB

ORGANIZATION by students of the University of South Dakota of a "Bone Dry" club, having for its objective promotion of the enforcement of the Volstead act should exert an exceedingly wholesome influence throughout the state and also aid materially in actual enforcement of the law and creation of proper respect for it.

Practically every student on the campus is a member of the club and has pledged himself to aid prohibition officers throughout the state. Moreover, an auxiliary is being formed among the co-eds.

Other universities might well follow the example set by the students of this one, for influence exerted by such conduct is inestimable and of far wider scope than the merely local field of operation.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE?

Ye saddest of ye year;
Ye uped to see ye registrar
Ye (censored) marks be here.

It is estimated that the chaperones at the Gamma Phi party last week-end wunk 388 winks during the course of the evening. The even number seems to indicate that the winks were wunk in pairs, from which we draw the conclusion that the eyes were shut at once. Personally we don't see any excuse for this sort of action, either on the part of the party or of the chaperones.

Are you on L. and S. major?"

"No, I'm an R. O. T. C. private."

Nearly all the parents who send their off-spring to the university have some sort of a notion that these children "have a future". When these same children walk across the boards and grab a diploma four (or sometimes five) years later—far too few of them "have a past."

What's the matter with them. Are they not willing to give the best they have to the university—is not this a fitting environment for the exercise of their abilities—what is wrong with these—Shut up, Sheila! Sh! Hush! Didn't you know that "having a future" and "having a past" do not involve the same connotations, at present?

HIT ISOLATION, FARMERS TOLD

French "Tiger" Urges the American Re-entry Into Europe

CHICAGO—Georges Clemenceau speaking as a "dirt farmer from France" to the farmers of the United States, yesterday urged them to support the re-entry of America into European affairs, not only as a conscientious duty but as a good business stroke.

"Isolation," he exclaimed, "What does isolation mean for you? You know what it meant with your last wheat crop—more wheat than America could eat, with low prices so that you didn't know what to do."

"At the time your prices were down, Russia and Austria and Germany and France were hungry and couldn't eat because they couldn't pay."

They couldn't pay Clemenceau declared because of the unsettled conditions in Europe, directly traceable, he asserted to the fact that the U. S. left Europe after the war without helping enforce the peace treaty.

"If there is a crisis in Europe now," he continued, "it is because America disinterested herself from the treaty. I don't ask you to send gold or soldiers or diplomats—sometimes I think diplomats are worse than soldiers—I only ask you to send us the good word, and I am sure peace will be restored. Let the Turks and the Russians and the Germans see that America is in the moral field, the talking field, and all will be well."

The Tiger of France spoke before an audience of about 300 delegates to the American Farm Bureau Federation and was introduced by President Howard.

Shrinkage of foreign markets affects the farmers' credit more than anything else in the world and there is nothing of greater moment than the creation of international relations that will be precedent to the reestablishment of those markets, declared Bernard M. Baruch of New York, former chairman of the war industries board, in an address yesterday before the federation.

"Surplus finally determines the price of products," he said. "You farmers are the real exporters of the country. It is you who are deeply interested in foreign affairs and if you cannot sell your surplus abroad you must take a lower price for that portion of the produce consumed here. The reestablishment of the world's foreign markets can only come with the re-establishment of the world's economic peace and balance."

KINDNESS IS THEME OF VESPERS TALK

"You never regret being kind," Mrs. M. B. Rosenberry, president of the Y. W. C. A. advisory board said Sunday afternoon in her talk at Vespers in Lathrop parlors. She spoke on "How Jesus Can Play a Part in Our Lives."

"When you go home for the Christmas holidays, you will see your highschool, church, old associates and home in a different light. Be kind, be generous in your criticism."

The speaker declared that the coming vacation would be a good time to be of help to mother, even though she says she can do the work better alone.

"Be loyal, have good will towards others. There is peace on earth to men of goodwill," Mrs. Rosenberry concluded.

Christmas carols, under the direction of the sophomore commission were lead by Clara Herlberg '25. Miss Mary Anderson, Y. W. C. A. secretary, played the accompaniment. Christmas wreaths, candle-light and a cozy fire gave one the cheerful holiday feeling.

Miss Young, mistress of Barnard hall, and Miss Gene Hoard, a member of the advisory board, were hostesses at tea. Freshmen commission served under the direction of Alice Corl '25, Vespers chairman. Belle Knights '23 was in charge of the service and introduced Mrs. Rosenberry.

The day is set aside in honor of the eighty-fifth birthday of Gen. Harry M. Roberts, author of "Roberts Rules of Order." Agric Triangle Hears Talk on Vocational Training

"Benefits of Vocational Training in Agriculture" was the subject of an address by E. H. Perkins '24, at the meeting of Agric Triangle, Sunday morning.

"The University of Wisconsin is a huge dynamo generating power in the form of knowledge," Perkins said. "The little farms are the electric light bulbs which use this power. The vocational man is the means of contact between the College of Agriculture and the farmer."

Mr. Perkins stated that while 80 per cent of the city boys and girls years are in school, 80 percent of the country boys and girls are out of school. "It is the aim of vocational education to reach the boys and girls out of school," he declared.

Purple Teams to Have
Initial Games This Week

Two initial Northwestern university teams will have the initial tests of the season this week. Coach Tom Robinson will match the speed of his swimmers against the Chicago Athletic association team in the Patten gym pool next Wednesday evening.

Friday evening the Monmouth basketball team will have an opening game with the university at Evanston.

Northwestern is confident of winning the game while Monmouth is equally certain of avenging themselves of their football defeat of a month ago. Coach Kent is new to the university and it is therefore with special interest that the work of the Purple team will be noted.

It is very probable that he will use most of the players that are trying out for the regular squad.

It is expected that the swimming struggle on next Wednesday will be a close meet for the Purple team. While Coach Richards is certain of the strength of his relay men and men on the Purple team.

his dash men, he is not so sure of the plungers, fancy divers and the breast strokers. One of the mainstays of the Northwestern team will be Ralph Breyer and Art Winslow, Granville Dickey, Malcolm Eiselen, and Jack Hayford are also splendid.

Two Aviators Missing For Five Days on Southern Border

EL PASO, Texas.—Every aircraft unit at the command of the U. S. air service along the 1,500 mile border has now been assigned a definite part in the combing of the territory between Fort Huachuca and the Pacific coast in search of Col. Francis Marshall and Lieut. Charles L. Webber, aviators lost since last Thursday.

Requests have been made of the Mexican government for permission for the American airplanes to cross the border in their search for the missing army fliers. As soon as permission is received a squadron of planes will start south.

Col. Marshall, lost with Lieut. Webber of Denver, was a brigadier general commanding the 165th Brigade of the 90th division during the world war, until October, 1918, when he took command of the second Brigade, first division until May, 1919. He was with his command with the first American army at San Mihiel and the Meuse-Arsonne operations and with the third American army in the occupation of Germany.

Col. Marshall was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy in 1890. On Sept. 5, 1894 he married the daughter of Gen. J. H. Page, U. S. A. and has held commands in various army divisions since. His official residence is Darlington, Wis., although he is now officially stationed at Washington.

American Legion to Hold Meeting in Milwaukee

A more varied program than those of former years is to be presented at the midwinter conference to be held by the American Legion in Milwaukee on February 10 and 11. It is hoped by the State headquarters, under whose direction the program is being planned, that it will make the conference one to be remembered.

Plans are also being made to bring National Commander Alvin Owsley or some other prominent national figure to the city for the principal address.

The conference is expected to be better attended than any held heretofore, and plans thus far perfected call for the opening of the conference at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, February 10.

Engineers and Faculty Will Hold Song Fest

Features of the program will be a short address by President Birge and several chorus selections by a special chorus. The singing will be led by Prof. Gordon.

"This gathering of the Engineering students and faculty with their families will bring student and teacher together on a new ground," said Prof. A. V. Millar, who has charge of the song fest.

Santa Leaves Whole Bag At Orpheum Bill

By R. B. S.

We don't know whether it's Santa Claus or what, but there certainly is something which is keeping the Orph mighty good these days and it makes us wish more than ever that Xmas came 12 times a year. At any rate we are reaping all the benefits and are sure of a mighty good evenings entertainment. * * *

Bell and Eva

We envied them every minute. When we get rich and can have a soda fountain installed in our own home, right next to it there will be a room "just special" for a bouncing blanket. We can think of no better way of spending our latter years than going through them buoyantly in just such a contraption. * * *

Jean Barrios

For most of us this was a complete surprise. Excellently done and—but that would be telling, just go and see for yourself. * * *

Tyler and Crolius

Tried to be the life of the party but the party went dumb. * * *

Bobby Jackson and Co.

One, two, three, four,—and each just as good as the one before. Jackson gives you something new every minute and it is his nimble eccentric dancing which puts it over. Lola Lamond is the piquant coquette of yesterday brought up to the jazz age. Don Frasier has a pleasing voice which is so far above the usual that he seems almost out of place. Maureen Hunt "tickles" a smooth piano and adds a great deal to the attractiveness of the whole act. * * *

Hayes and Marion

You couldn't look at him and keep your dignity but when they both began to make you laugh—your lost. They're great. * * *

The Master Magician

We've seen them take pigeons out of totally vacant air and whole troops of gold fish out of handkerchiefs ever since we were "knee high" but still get just as big a kick. We are usually the one who administered the blow. Maybe we are awfully dumb but we can't see through them yet. Go again and you'll feel the same way but you'll like it. * * *

Wolfenson Will Address Menorah Society Meeting

Prof. L. B. Wolfenson will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Menorah society tomorrow night in Lathrop parlors. He will talk on the subject "Judaism and Patriotism."

Other speakers on the program Theodore Goldman '25 and Evelyn Hauptman '24, will talk on the feast of Hanukah which commemorates the return of the Hebrew tribes to Jerusalem after their Babylonian captivity. The feast lasts for eight days beginning next Friday.

The spirit of the Hanukah feast will precede the vocal selection by Cecil Eiseman '25. Yvette Goldberg '24 and Dora Harris '24 will give a dance number, and the program will close with a dramatic reading by Harriet Lewis '23.

Engineer Magazine Has Many Feature Stories

"The Princess Who Elopéd" is the title of a story written by an engineer for the December issue of "The Wisconsin Engineer", which will go on sale today.

"The Engineer—Trained or Educated?" by Newell E. French '23, contains many valuable points on the so-called specialized features of an engineering profession.

L. J. Markwardt '12, in an article on "Some Side Lights on an Alaskan Trip", will give an account of his experiences while traveling in Alaska. Markwardt, who has recently returned from an extensive tour through Alaska, is an engineer at the Forest Products Laboratory.

"Where do we go from here?" an article written by Prof. F. P. Woy, is of special interest to senior engineers.

"Patrol Maintenance in Wisconsin", by N. M. Isabelle, is one of a series of discussions on the high-ways of Wisconsin.

power of Europe is not so great, thus leaving a surplus on the market.

The surplus resulting from both the lessening of the buying power of Europe and the excessive crop production of the last three years has caused a depression of the market that is two or three times that which the surplus would indicate.

It is true that there is an exodus from the farm to the city. "Any man with any gumption would leave the farm for the city when wages average $1.00 to $1.50 in the city and 25 to 30 cents on the farm," Russell announced.

"The organized labor of the city against the unorganized labor of the farm is taking many farmers' sons off the farm. The farmers have in many cases organized arming cooperative associations."

"The purpose of these associations," Russell said, "is to attempt to stabilize the market by feeding the products into the market slowly. If all the wheat, for instance, in the United States were shoved on the market at once there would immediately follow an artificial depression giving speculators an opportunity to buy up huge quantities and later as the supply becomes limited and prices again go up make a great deal of profit."

If the unnecessary elements were eliminated it would greatly simplify the situation. "There are possibly 100 grocers in Madison," Dean Russell declared, "and not over 15 are needed to supply the needs of Madison. After their overhead expenses, and the freight charges have been subtracted the 25 or 30 receives is the residual amount."

"This unequal condition is obviously not for the welfare of the nation. Because of the depression resulting from these economic problems, there is no alternative left for the farmers, who must reduce their standards of living. Some radicalism and a great deal of discontent is resultant."

"The situation as it stands is of prosperity on one hand and great depression of the farms on the other," Russel said.
