RULES FIXED FOR ELECTION ON TRADITIONS

All Men But Frosh Vote— Voters Must Show Fee Cards

Final plans for the referendum on traditions, to be held Monday committee of the Student Senate. The committee has ordered 3,500 ballots printed, anticipating a record vote.

The high spots in the election details are as follows:

All male graduate students, seniors, juniors, and sophomores are qualified to vote.

Since the records of the registrar are incomplete every voter must present his fee card which will be punched after the student has voted.

Regular Booths

Regular election booths will be provided and each voter enabled to cast his ballot in privacy.

Men of all classes in the College of Letters and Science vote in the Biology building. There will be two booths in that place and the voters divided alphabetically.

Engineers will vote in the Engineering building.

Medical students will vote in Science hall.

Agricultural students will vote in Agricultural hall.

The polls will be open from 8:45 a. m. to 5 p. m.

No Ballyhooing

The regulations against ballyhooing methods in soliciting of votes on the hill will be strictly enforced by a committee headed by Albert Knollin '22. This action does not prevent orderly and quiet discussions on the hill.

No crowds will be allowed to loiter about the polling places.

The three questions to be voted on are worded as follows: (1) Do you favor the return of the class rush? (2) Do you favor the compulsory wearing of the green cap by freshmen and cap night? (3) Do you favor the voluntary wearing of distinctive headgear by men of all classes? After each question a square will be placed in which the voter will write "Yes" or "No."

The election committee urges all voters to cast their ballots early in the day.

UNION CONCERT TICKETS ON SALE

The schedule for Union concerts has been arranged and season tickets are now on sale for the four performances. The Union board, with the advice and assistance of the School of Music, has secured the following program of artists:

Oct. 10—Mabel Garrison, soprano.

Nov. 15—Ferenc Vacsey, violinist.

Nov. 29—Jofes Lhevinne, pianist.

Feb. 15—Pablo Cassal, cellist.

The season tickets, which will cost $4 and $5, will be on sale all next week in Music hall from 10 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 4 p. m., and at Smith's music store.

Last year's program of concerts proved so successful that seats were proved so successful that seats were performance. Musical authorities in Madison heartily endorse the list of artists secured this year.

All proceeds from the Union concerts are used to swell the Union Memorial building fund which Union board is bending every effort to complete this year.

INCREASE OF 600 IS LATEST REPORT FROM REGISTRAR

Freshman Class to Be As Big As That of Last Year

An increase of nearly 600 students in attendance at the university is shown by the figures announced by the registrar's office. Complete figures of the total registration are not as yet available, however.

With late registration coming in almost every day, and continuing until probably the middle of next week, the attendance may be swelled to between 7,500 and 7,800.

The early figures for the incoming class indicate that it will be fully as large as that of last year, but the registration in the other classes, junior and senior especially, is lower than the percentage which came back last year. It is highly improbable that the predicted figures of 8,000 will be borne out.

Financial difficulties are given by university officials as the cause of the falling off. Throughout the country the enrollment in colleges has not increased proportionately to the last few years. Especially in the upper classes is this true. It is estimated that of those in attendance last year at least 10 per cent are unable to return because of the financial situation.

The increase is distributed in the various colleges as follows: Letters and Science, 400; Engineering, 100; Graduate school, 100; the Medical school, Home Economics, and the Law school will have practically the same attendance as last year.

SOPH COMMISSION MAKES STAND CLEAR

Favors Green Caps and Pledges Support Tra- dition Revision

Fearing that the student body may have the wrong impression on the action taken by the Sophomore commission Friday, the commission met last night to make its stand clearer.

The body stated that it stands wholeheartedly against indiscriminate hazing and any display of class antagonism which would tend to strife and indecent action among the students.

The commission voted in favor of the green cap because it was felt that it could be made a tradition which would be a matter of pride to every Freshman and not a symbol of upperclass tyranny.

The matter of traditions was discussed further at the meeting Saturday night. Constructive traditions rather than the ancient meaningless practices were suggested. As an example the recognizing of "Prexy" by tipping the hat was offered. This practice is followed in all of the eastern schools.

The Sophomore commission is in favor of the All-University Traditions commission for the organization and improvement of Wisconsin's traditions, and it pledged its support to aid it in every way to put Wisconsin's traditions on a definite, firm, and safe basis.

COMMISSION ACTS ON INVESTIGATION OF "U" TRADITIONS

Committees Appointed to Look Into Different Phases of Problem

The Traditions commission, appointed to investigate the traditions situation, swung into action last night when at the first formal meeting the course of action to be taken was outlined and committees appointed to report on the various angles of the question.

Harry Fox '23, chairman of the commission, outlined the stand the body would take, emphasizing the point that the commission could only recommend to the student body, and that the real power of legislation lay with the students themselves and not with the commission.

Committees were appointed, in accordance with the regulations adopted in the report of the committee on rules, to investigate two phases of the situation:

1. What changes, if any, should be made in the statement, the substance, or the symbolism of Wisconsin's traditions? Frank Cosgrove, chairman; Worth Shoultz, Roy Sorenson, and Leo H. Kohl were appointed to investigate this question.

2. By what methods should the observance of Wisconsin's traditions be fostered? The committee in charge of this investigation are: Philip La Follette, chairman; Walter Frautschi, David McLennan, Carl F. Ceaser, and Ralph Scheimpflug.

These two bodies will meet within the next 24 hours to begin their work. It is, however, not expected that they will be able to report definitely to the commission before several weeks.

Another committee, consisting of Milton Borman, chairman; Ben Pearce, and Evrard Caluwaert, will begin a complete investigation of traditions, methods of enforcement, and other questions involved. The three committees will work together, reporting from time to time to the general commission.

The next meeting of the whole commission will be held Wednesday evening, Sept. 28, in the Law building.

TWO STUDENTS HIT BY TRUCK

Umbrella and Storm Ob- struct Their View as They Cross Street

Two university students are in the Madison General hospital suffering from minor injuries incurred when their umbrella prevented them from seeing an approaching truck and they were run down at the corner of E. Washington avenue and Pinckney street last evening at about 7 o'clock during the height of the storm.

The students are Otis Brising and J. C. Rothenburg, both new students living on North Livingston street. Their condition is not serious as far as the hasty examination made at the hospital last night told, and both rested well during the night.

The truck which hit the students was a Blum news truck driven by Morton Erickson. The blinding storm and the flashes of lightning are held responsible for the accident.

The boys were walking around the square holding an umbrella against the wind. They failed to see the car coming as they crossed the street.

LOYAL BAKER HEADS UNION FUND DRIVE

Remaining Half Million for Memorial to Be Raised This Year

Loyal F. Baker '22 was unanimously elected chairman of the Union Memorial fund committee at a meeting of Union board last night. Baker will begin work at once on the organization of a committee of 560 assistants who will push through the mammoth plans upon which he has been working for some time.

Baker is the oldest member of the Union board and the only member of the existing board who was a member at the time when the Union Memorial building plans were first proposed. He is the present treasurer of the board.

The election took place at the recommendation of a meeting of representative university men called together by Dean Scott H. Goodnight Thursday night. Plans for organizing a huge campaign to raise the final half million dollars required for the fund were discussed.

Board in Charge

It was voted by the meeting that Union board be given complete charge of the arrangements and that a chairman be appointed by the board at once to organize the university for the work. Suggestions for the chairman were to be given to Leslie Gage '23 by those interested in the work.

Baker has acted as the board's representative during the summer in the matter of the Union Memorial, meeting with graduate and citizen committees in Milwaukee to discuss plans for the alumni and state campaigns.

At this time he worked out several schemes for the conduct of the drive and studied the situation thoroughly. In electing him chairman of the committee the board is acting upon the advice of many people who feel that Baker is best prepared to step in and take charge of the work.

Many Not Solicited

At least two-thirds of the present enrollment of the university, it is estimated, has never been solicited for contributions to the fund. The half million initial requirement, before work on the building would be begun, was raised in the first campaign two years ago. This money is still being collected.

It will be the work of the new committee to raise the other half million required for the completion of the $1,000,000 Wisconsin Union Memorial building, work upon which,

NEW WOMEN MUST ATTEND MEETING

The annual compulsory meeting of all new women will be held Tuesday evening at 7:15 in the concert room at Lathrop hall. The nomination of officers for Green Button, Freshman women's class organization, will be the chief business of the meeting.

This is the first occasion of the year upon which all Freshmen women meet together as a class to organize for the year's activities. Ellen Correll, president of S. G. A., will preside at the meeting and the various campus activities will be explained by leading women.

The roll call is another important feature of the meeting which no new women can afford to overlook.

GIBSON MAKES FIRST KICKOFF

Williams Pilots Varsity in Hard Scrimmage on Saturday

For the first time this season, a kickoff sent the Varsity and reserve football teams into a scrimmage on the Camp Randall practice gridiron yesterday afternoon. E. H. Gibson '23, second string quarterback, booted the ball after both elevens had lined up for the kick. Previous to Saturday, Coach John R. Richards had placed the ball near the middle of the field and started his men scrimmaging without the opening kick.

The Varsity was in position to push the ball over the goal line at least two times, but failed in each attempt. Towards the end of the workout, Gustav K. Tebell '23, end, nipped a forward pass and raced down the field to the one-yard line where he was forced out of bounds.

Sundt Gains

Captain Guy M. Sundt '22 plunged through the second team line time after time for substantial gains. Whenever Richards advised his eleven that it was fourth down and a few yards were needed to make the distance, Sundt was given the ball and he always succeeded in ripping through his opponents' forward wall.

Failure of the team to work smoothly caused "Big John" to shake his head as the Varsity lined up after downs. False starts, fumbles, and off-sides slowed up the first team considerably and prevented it from showing to best advantage. Many of these mistakes can be ascribed to the frequent shifts in backfield and line necessitated by Richard's efforts to find a co-ordinating line and a backfield working with machine-like efficiency.

Williams Pilots

Rolland Williams '23 piloted the Varsity against the reserves. Has Williams solved the problem of the Badger coaching staff to find a quarterback? This question is bothering both the staff of mentors and gridiron fans. The little grid star handles the ball well, gets into all plays, and works like a Trojan every minute of the scrimmage, but his ability as a field general is doubted in some quarters. If "Rollie" proves that he can call the right play at the right time, he will probably sink the pilot's position.

Stevens Gould '22, Alvah C. Elliott '22, and Arthur R. Saari '24 worked at the halfback positions. Gould was relieved by Saari soon after the scrimmage began. Captain Sundt held down his fullback position. Gustav K. Tebell '23 and Merrill E. Taft '24 played the wing positions. Tebell guarded the right flank throughout the workout, but Taft was slightly hurt early in the practice, and Williams K. Collins '22 took his place at left end. Rudolph L. Hohlfeldt '23 and James L. Brader '23 played the tackle positions. Gordon E. Nelson '22 worked on the right side of George C. Bunge '22, center, and Roman Brumm '23 remained at left guard.

Play in Rain

Despite a rain which began at 4:30 and drove spectators to shelter, Coach Richards kept his men on the field, directing them in their battle. It was probably the longest scrimmage which has been held this year.

Before the mixup, Capt. Sundt and Saari got off some nice punts. Most of the kicks traveled at least 40 yards, and some exceeded that mark. Saari appears to be a successful understudy for the punting job, and the Minnesota lad is expected to be given a chance to get off some punts in big games before

NORWEGIANS PLAN BIG SKIING YEAR

A very active year of skiing was assured Friday night when a group of Norwegian students arrived from their native country.

They report that they have brought their complete equipment of skiing paraphernalia, all of which is stored at 703 State street, the Norwegian house.

Hans Gude, Sverre Strom, Tom Nordberg, Axel Taranger, Arne Brinck, Einar Isdahl, and many other stellar artists of the ski sport plan to represent Wisconsin again this year in ski jumping, the most thrilling sport of the university. The new slide on Muir knoll, built by the Badger Ski club with university aid, is a model of its kind, and promises to afford much fun this coming winter to both skiers and spectators.

Presenting--"ROWDY" ELLIOTT

Alvah C. Elliott '22 was one of the best ground gainers in the Big Ten Conference during the 1920 football season. Playing a halfback position opposite "Rollie" Williams, he was instrumental in bringing the Badgers to a second place in Conference ratings and in making Wisconsin one of the strongest teams in the West. Elliott began his Varsity football career in the latter part of the 1919 season. His work in the Chicago game made him a choice for halfback on many All-Conference elevens.

In 1920, "Rowdy" played a brand of football that placed him on Collier's and Patterson's All-Western elevens. The Badger said of his playing last year: "This season, as last, "Rowdy" Elliott scintillated at half, and his work, especially in open formation, won him a coveted position on Patterson's All-Western."

Elliott is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

All Major Elevens Win in Eastern Games

In the only upset of the opening games of the 1921 football season, Beloit college defeated Northwestern university eleven by a 7 to 0 score at Evanston yesterday afternoon.

The State Liner's winning score came when a poor pass to Putnam, Northwestern, was fumbled on the one-yard line, Beloit recovering. Addie went over the goal line for a touchdown, and McAuliffe kicked goal. Neither side could score again.

Northwestern, with a squad composed of 20 veterans of Big Ten competition, and minus but two of last year's athletes, was unable to stop the collegians. Penfield, left guard, was the sole member of the Purple forward wall who was able to hold well. It was a poor start in preparation for the game with Chicago next Saturday, and Coach Elmer McDevitt will have to do a lot of repairing if he wants to conquer the Maroons.

In the East, all of the major elevens came through with victories. Pennsylvania piled up the biggest score of the day, counting 89 points against Delaware college. Harvard teams chalked up two victories. The first eleven took Middlebury into camp by a 16 to 0 score, and the "B" squad victimized Boston university, 10 to 0. Yale got off to a good start against Bates.

Captain Robertson led his Dartmouth team in a 34 to 3 win over Norwich. Robertson went over the line for three touchdowns, and otherwise played a sterling game. Bradley dropkicked for the solitary three points counted by Norwich. There was much fumbling throughout.

The big elevens from Syracuse walked away from Hobart. The winners marked up 35 points while they held their opponents scoreless. Other football contests went the way that dopesters had predicted.

TENNIS TOURNEY HELD THIS FALL

The all-university tennis tournament, which in former years has been held in the early spring, will be held this fall, G. E. Linden, tennis coach announced yesterday. The reason for this change is obvious, for during the early spring months, when the tournaments have been held in previous years, the heavy rains have made the games slow and in many instances have held up the tournament for weeks. Heavy rains are unfavorable for fast tennis even when the players participating are of the highest calibre.

The tournament is open to all tennis players in the university, including "W" men and non-"W" wearers. Many of the tennis stars from last year's Varsity will enter the meet, and the class of '24 will send up several players who promise to take honors. Interest is already reaching a high pitch and the entries are coming in so rapidly that it is safe to say that the tournament this year will be the most hotly contested in years.

Entries should be made at the gymnasium office, or to Coach Linden, personally, not later than 5 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 28. As soon as possible after the closing of entries the schedule will be posted and the first of the preliminary games will be played off.

VOTE TOMORROW

EVERY male student from those in the graduate school to those in the sophomore class should vote in the referendum Monday.

No discussion of the issues is necessary, since they are fairly well defined. The great need is to have a representative vote cast so that the settlement will not be made by the group more adroit in rounding up voters.

Even casual thought will convince the voters of the importance of the election. The result will be watched with interest by the folks back home and by people interested in student self-government all over the country.

PURSUERS of the Terpsichorean art and patrons of the cinema have a splendid chance CONCERTS FOR THE UNION BUILDING to divert their artistic enthusiasms to a worthy cause at Wisconsin.

Following the popularity of last year's concerts, the Union Board has now secured four leading artists to perform here beginning next month. Last year Fritz Kreisler, May Peterson, and Benno Moisievitsch, came here at the request of the Union board and were instrumental in considerably swelling the fund for the Union Memorial building.

This year Mabel Garrison, Ferenc Vacsey, Jofes Lhevinne, and Pablo Cassalf have been invited by the board at the suggestion of the School of Music and promise a further boosting of our fund.

Those who have a genuine love for music need no appeal to attend these concerts and those who have none sadly need to develop one. In either case it is imperative to remember that the proceeds of these concerts will go to the establishment of what is a crying need at this university, the Union Memorial building.

PAY ONLY $24 A MONTH
WE advise no student to pay more than $24 for a double room. In four to six weeks there will be plenty of rooms. Householders who obtain students at high prices will have their rooms left vacant in a short time.

This statement of Joseph A. Pork, University Y. M. C. A. secretary, reprinted from Tuesday's Lantern, bears an ominous note for rent profiteers. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

Although the general run of householders who open their doors to student roomers are honest and play fair, there are of course some who seek to make hay while the sun of enlarged enrollment is shining. To those who have this temptation, Mr. Park's statement should read like the traditional handwriting on the wall. He speaks with the authority of one who knows from experience.

This is a year of tight money, and students will find it harder to make both ends meet. Prices of clothing and food have come down, and rents must follow them because of the natural law of supply and demand. Profiteering brings boycotts.

Freshmen renting rooms should make themselves acquainted with the situation. Twenty-four dollars a month is a fair price. It is not only unnecessary but foolish to pay more.

CONTEMPORARIES

EXPRESS YOURSELF!

AT last the university session is in full swing. The ball is now a-rolling. What its path will be depends entirely upon the individual himself.

Here at Wisconsin one has a rare opportunity for the most complete self-development. Students should regard the university not merely as a place for the receptivity of impressions and ideas, but more vitally as a place where the best in one can be safely and profitably unfolded.

Some come to the university, carry their books to and fro, sit in a number of seats at various hours, and occasionally indulge in a frenzy of note-scribbling. That is perfectly necessary and legitimate.

But university life offers something more. It offers centers of self-expression where one can put to the test one's personal talents and achievements. That is, indeed, education which, according to its original meaning, is a drawing out of inherent and acquired merit.

The debating societies, the religious discussions, the cultural groups, the scientific organizations, the several journalistic enterprises, and the language circle will soon open their doors to the men and women of the university in the interests of more perfect self-expression.

Every student should begin to think about which activity he or she would like to join. This would insure more intelligent and purposeful activity and would be far more worth while.

It is well to bear in mind that what books offer remains there to be gleaned at any time, but what the individual does for himself through self-expression remains a living testimony to his worth.

GO TO CHURCH

EVERY one should go to church. There ought not to be a season for church-going and a season for staying away, but the fact remains that congregations dwindle perceptibly during the summer months. The churches recognize this and concentrate their work in union meetings. Now they are rebuilding their organizations for increased service. They are intensifying their efforts for the welfare of the individual and the community. Every man is a beneficiary of the church regardless of whether he ever sat within its doors.—Decatur (Ill.) Herald.

MIXER DRAWS LARGE CROWD

The rain did not prevent a large crowd from attending the first all-university mixer of the year, which was held last night in the men's gymnasium. Dancing started soon after 9 and continued until 12 o'clock. Thompson's 10-piece orchestra furnished excellent music for the dancers.

The only regret was that there were not enough girls to go around. The unfortunate males distributed themselves about the floor in forlorn groups, and whiled away the time as best they could.

Last night's mixer was the first of a series to be given during the year under the supervision of Merton Frost of the Union Board. Because of its impromptu nature, this first one was naturally devoid of the more elaborate entertainment that will characterize the rest of the all-university dances.

BIRGE WILL OPEN
BADGER CLUB YEAR

The first meeting of the Badger club will be held this evening in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. President E. A. Birge will be the speaker of the evening, and special music will be provided by William Thompson '23, Duane Longaker '24, and Homer Chapman '22. All university men and women are invited.

"The Badger club," said "Dad" Wolf, "is not a club exclusively for the Wisconsin students as the name might imply. It is for all university students."

The Badger club meets every Sunday evening in the Y. M. C. A. parlors. The first part of the evening is spent in meeting people and community singing. The rest of the time is devoted to special music and an address, after which light refreshments are served. The following speakers have been engaged to talk at Badger club meetings during the year: Judge Marvin Rosenberry and Judge August C. Hoppmann, of the city; Prof. Arnold B. Hall and Prof. Carl Russell Fish, of the faculty; and Dean Shaillor Mathews of the University of Chicago.

THE GRAND

Just to prove that Madison is not only abreast of the times, but a lap or two ahead, the Grand Theatre today announces the showing of Chaplin's latest picture "The Idle Class." Milwaukee was the first, and Madison is the second city in the United States to show this Chaplin comedy.

"The Idle Class" is of special interest because of the fact that it was in the making of this picture that the comedian was so severely burned that he was compelled to suspend work for several weeks.

"The Idle Class" is a departure from anything Chaplin has ever done and in it he presents himself in a dual role. He represents both branches of the idle class—those with too much money and those without any. We see him as the beloved tramp and as an up-to-date swell.

the curtain is rung down on the 1941 grid season.

Although warned several times, spectators persisted in crowding onto the playing field, to the obvious discomfiture of Coach Richards and the football men. They have been advised that secret practice will be the result of their refusal to comply with requests that they keep off the field.

Realizing that it is for the good of the team and that they can see every play by crowding the bank along the side of the field instead of the boundary lines, spectators should heed the admonition of coaches and players. If they refuse, it is not unlikely that secret workouts will be dished out to the men very soon, and those interested in the program of the Badger eleven will be able to view its practice efforts.

it is expected, will begin this year.

Only $100,000 of this additional sum will be solicited from the students, it is planned. The rest of the money will be gotten from the alumni and the state at large.

An organization equal to that used in the University exposition last year will be used in the campaign which Baker will begin work upon this week.

CALDER WILL TALK ON LABOR PROBLEMS

John Calder, manager of the Labor department of Swift & company, will speak on Industrial Relations in room 165 Bascom hall, 4:30 Tuesday, Sept. 27.

Mr. Calder was formerly factory inspector in Scotland, then general manager of Remington Arms company in the United States. Later he had charge of factory operations during the war, and since that time has organized an extensive course in foremanship training for the 20,000 foremen of Swift & company throughout different parts of the country.

Students, faculty and public are invited.

FIRST VESPERS TO WELCOME NEW GIRLS

The first Y. W. C. A. vesper service of the year, which is especially planned as a welcome to new girls, will be held Sunday afternoon at 4:30 in Lathrop parlors. The program will last about three-quarters of an hour.

Miss F. Louise Nardin, Dean of Women, will speak; Hilda Schultz '24 will sing, and Auta Lyman '22, who is president of Y. W. C. A. for this year, will conduct the meeting.

The University Y. W. C. A. desires to help women students in any way possible. The Sunday afternoon vespers are planned as a medium for bringing the girls together and fostering a religious spirit on the campus. Throughout the year a variety of programs are given with popular members of the faculty, students, and people from outside the university as speakers.

"Vespers offer an opportunity for the new girl to make friends," declared Miss Mary Anderson, Y. W. C. A. secretary, "and for old girls to meet old friends. We're trying to make the first vespers a reunion as well as a welcome."
