James Rejected As Executive VP

By GREGORY GRAZE
WSA Reporter

Amid accusations of "party politics" and "presidential prerogative," The Student Senate rejected Pres. Gary Zweifel's nomination of Carolyn James for Wisconsin Student Association (WSA) executive vice-president by a 15 to 12 vote Thursday.

The vote was a long straight party lines with Student Rights Party (SRP) opposed and Campus Action Party (CAP) in favor of the nomination.

Mike Liethen of SRP was the only exception to this party line voting as he supported the nomination. Zweifel announced that he was going to renominate Miss James for executive vice-president.

City-'U' Group Acts on Cycle Parking Ban

By JIM CARLSON
Cardinal Staff Writer

A 30 day warning period for violations of the motorcycle parking ban on State Street and University Avenue was enacted by the City-University Coordinating Committee Thursday night.

The warning period will begin when the city council's resolution, adopted last week, is signed by Mayor Otto Festge, is published, and becomes official.

The committee also referred the resolution to its traffic and parking subcommittee, which will discuss necessary modifications in the ordinance.

The ordinance bans all parking of motorcycles and motorscooters in metered zones on State Street and on University Avenue between Gorham Street and the Milwaukee Road railroad tracks. The ban is to be in effect during the hours of meter parking.

Gary Zweifel, president of the Wisconsin Student Association, said the city council's fast action on the resolution was a "violation of the cooperation between the city and the University."

Robert Atwell, assistant to the Chancellor, said, "I would have thought this committee exists for consideration of things of this kind" before action is taken. He said the "whole matter definitely should be reappraised."

Several alternative solutions to the motorcycle parking problem were advanced during the discussion of the matter. Atwell asked

Coed's Congress Suggests House Meeting Changes

Suggestions for the modification of women's house meetings were considered in Coed's Congress Thursday.

A test period for four different kinds of meetings was recommended to compare the merits of:

- The present once a month compulsory Monday night meeting.

- A compulsory meeting every two months.

- Non-compulsory meetings with use of bulletin boards to provide students with needed information.

- Any kind of meeting that the particular dormitory wanted.

These suggestions will now be considered in the dorm units.

A new guest policy suggested by AWS Judicial Board requests exceptions to the present policy for guests who are 21 and over and commuter students.

Because of the experimental nature of hours for all students, focused on her lack of experience in the affairs of WSA. Zweifel argued that, "it is essential that the president have someone under him whom he can trust," and he questioned the motives of those senators who fought his appointment. He said that this conflict was a threat to the organization and that it was an attempt at embarrassing the president, and a show of party politics. The senators denied this.

In the vote, all the executive officers, except the non-voting Zweifel, voted against the nomination.

The Senate also defeated two bills dealing with the Associated Women Students (AWS). One attempted to relegate the group to the status of other campus organizations by making the scheduling of house meetings to the discretion of the individual houses, by making membership on an individual basis, and by turning over the AWS judicial powers to the same University body which has judicial powers over men.

The other bill merely called for a joint study committee on the procedures and policies of AWS. A new bill on the AWS issue will be presented at the next Senate meeting.

In other action at the first meeting of the new administration the Senate:

- Created a non-voting membership for the president of the Southeast Student Organization (SSO) and confirmed Bob Young to fill the seat.

- Passed a resolution urging the inclusion of meal contracts in privately owned dorms and houses.

Council To Govern Ag Groups

After a debate of nearly two and a half hours, the Agriculture Student Council Thursday voted to assume governing power over all ag campus organizations and level a five percent tax on each group's net annual profits. The vote was 13-4.

The council, in adopting a new constitution which assumed the power, agreed that clubs failing to comply with the body's rulings could be fined and lose their status as campus organizations.

In the past, the council had been a coordinating group with two members from all ag campus clubs and the three ag living units—Alpha Gamma Rho, Delta Theta Sigma and Babcock House.

One of the main points of contention in the new constitution was the method of representation. The group decided that there

'Murders Are Same In Viet Nam, South'

JULIAN BOND

'... no difference in murders'

By JOHN VAUGHAN
Political Reporter

Julian Bond, who was refused his seat in the Georgia legislature for his views on the Viet Nam war, said Thursday that the murder of Negroes in the South "is no different from the U.S. murder of Vietnamese" in Asia.

Speaking on "Containment Abroad and Social Unrest at Home," Bond told his listeners that Negroes were killed freely in the South "because the laws guaranteeing them their civil rights were not enforced; Vietnamese are murdered because of United States transgressions of civil rights in Viet Nam."

"We maintain," he said, "that the U.S. cry for freedom in the world is a hypocritical front, behind which this country quashes real efforts at freedom at home and abroad."

Bond spoke without notes for about 50 minutes to a capacity crowd in Great Hall. His remarks were interrupted only four times, when the audience laughed at or applauded his jibes at the Administration or white supremacy in the South.

Outlining the southern civil rights movement between 1960 and 1964, Bond referred to what he called "SNCC's First Law of Civil Rights Movements": "A rights movement is successful in direct proportion to the number of white college students who are locked up in the course of activities."

By the 1960's, he explained, it was accepted as a fact of life that whenever a Negro tried to exercise his rights, he would be beaten, jailed or shot. Everyone accepted this fact, he said, and it was only when white students began to be beaten, jailed and shot that the public became alarmed.

Since that time, he continued, the civil rights movement has evolved three main premises:

PROF. NAFZIGER

The symposium on May 11-13 honoring Prof. Ralph Nafziger is open to the public. All students and faculty who wish to attend the three day program and banquet are welcome to call the School of Journalism and make reservations.

- Old ways and methods are no longer adequate to gain the desired ends, and old social structures are also no longer adequate.

- The social system as presently organized is part of the problem the Negro faces in his fight for equal rights.

- White Americans apparently lack the intelligence, courage and will to grant Negroes their rights, and must therefore be forced to grant them.

The rights movement also realizes that it can no longer address itself to the problems of Negroes

YAF Protests W. German Sale

The Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) decided Thursday to send a delegation to the local Volkswagen dealer to show their disapproval of the future sale of a West German steel mill to Communist China.

The West German government last March approved the sale of a 176 million dollar steel mill, which could enable the Chinese to produce jeeps, trucks, helmets and other military equipment.

YAF would oppose this action by requesting that the owner of Brun's Garage, 1430 N. Stoughton Rd., send letters to the West German ambassador and the Volkswagen Company in Germany.

If this action is not successful, local YAF members may stage a demonstration at the garage. Other YAF chapters have begun similar action along the east coast.

Last year, YAF persuaded the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company to cancel their sale of a strategic synthetic rubber plant to Communist Rumania.

It is the feeling of the YAF that the sale of this mill to Communist China by one of our allies, coming at a time when American soldiers are fighting in Asia, is not in the best interests of the United States or the free world.

SLIC Should Pass WSA Visitation Bill

The University community may be likened to a small urban center. It contains within its limits places of work, study, and recreation. It offers its members housing which is convenient to the major centers of the community.

This center is a small scale of the larger community which the graduating student will be a part of for the rest of his life. The problems of living and getting along with one's fellow men are ones which will always confront the student.

The responsibilities which must be learned are some of those which will guide and regulate the student's life long after commencement day at the University.

Part of the University's educational function is to teach, or somehow to instill, a sense of obligation which the student must have for the people in his community. The University aids the student in developing the ability to assume the blame and the responsibility for his actions.

Creating a situation most conducive to speeding the process of student maturation is one of the most worthwhile things this University can do.

The Student Life and Interest Committee (SLIC) will eventually be put in the position of giving students a major opportunity to develop this sense of responsibility. The SLIC Subcommittee on Fraternal Societies and Social Life has recently debated the two visitation proposals which were brought up at the last Student Senate meeting.

The Wisconsin Student Association (WSA) recommendation of making the individual living units responsible for the rules on visitation is a proposal which forces undergraduates to assume responsibility for their actions in all phases of their daily living. This proposal forces the students to become mature individuals.

Visitation rules, under the WSA recommendation, are left in the hands of the living units. The students must, therefore regulate their own lives and live under the jurisdiction of their own rules. The bill would govern the presently un-governed practice of illegal visitation and would, as a result, be a benefit to both the individual living units and the University community at large.

Some day the student will be forced to break the umbilical cord which ties him to the parental rules which have governed most of his life. The University has the opportunity before it, in the form of the WSA visitation bill, to prepare the student for a life for which he himself will be responsible.

We therefore, endorse the WSA visitation bill and ask for SLIC support of this proposal.

Schlüssel's Statement

A Test of Values and Community Justice On the Soapbox

By Steven Schlüssel

Every so often in the course of a community's events, a situation occurs which puts to test the values and justice system upon which that community is built. Last April 5 such a situation occurred at the University and justice failed—utterly and disgracefully.

On April 5 a candidate for Vice-president of the Wisconsin Student Association (WSA) was charged with a violation of the election by-laws and was brought before the Elections Judiciary Committee to receive a supposedly fair and just hearing. This committee included as its members the Election Commissioner, the Chief Justice of the Student Court, an assistant to the Dean of Student Affairs, and the student President of the Union. The result of this hearing was disqualification.

Whether the defendant did or did not break a by-law is totally irrelevant to this discussion. What is crucial however, is the fact that whenever a person is charged with some violation of the law, he must be afforded fair and just treatment by the judicial institutions.

The existence of justice depends on the maintenance of certain judicial procedures. It was in complete disregard of such procedures by the Election Judiciary Committee (EJC) April 5, that justice failed while injustice and prejudice triumphed.

These are the facts:

One, the charges were brought against the defendant by the Elections Commissioner. The Commissioner, being a voting member of the Judiciary Committee, in all decency and respect to justice, should have excused himself from hearing and judging this case.

He did not. Nowhere in any system of democratic jurisprudence is the prosecutor also the judge. This is pointed out more than once in the election by-laws. Surely a person in the Commissioner's position should have known this. Surely the Chief Justice of the Student Court knew this. Yet, as the presiding officer, he did not require nor suggest that the Commissioner excuse himself. The other two members of the EJC also remained silent on this issue.

It was further incumbent upon the Elections Commissioner to excuse himself since he was nominated for his position by the previous election commissioner, who happened not only to be his friend and neighbor but also the defendant's opponent in the election.

Two, the election by-laws require that a written specification to the charges be filed with the election commissioner. This document is supposed to be read to the defendant at the hearing and also passed around to the other members of the committee.

In all the cases this procedure was followed—except the one involving myself.

Why in this particular case did the presiding officer allow such a deviation from normal procedure? Why did the commissioner himself not write out the charges? This is the least to which a defendant has a right—rather than listening to some verbal mumbling. And finally, why did the remaining two officers not require such written specifications?

Three, whereas, in every other case the defendant was permitted at least one, if not many advisors to counsel him during the hearing, I was the only defendant who was denied this right.

Four, three members of the elections commission at Wisconsin Hall had given me permission to vote by extending to me a ballot. These election commission members are appointed by the election commissioner himself. The Judicial Committee of the elections commission refused to accept any responsibility for the actions of their very own members.

Five, there was much in this case which required more time and thought. In such cases as these, the by-laws provide the option for the EJC to refer the case to Student Court where a more responsible hearing can

'U' Has Own Pass-Fail Option, Cardinal Reminded

To the Editor:

Praise has been loud for the special pass-fail options offered to good students at Princeton and Berkeley (Cardinal editorial, April 29, 1966). You showed ignorance of the fact that the University of Wisconsin has had such a limited program, the Senior Elective Privilege, for many years.

The University Catalog, Part I, 1964-66, p. 68, states: "Any student who by the beginning of his senior year in the College of Letters and Science has earned an overall grade-point average of at least 3.5 at the University of Wisconsin may elect a maximum of two semester courses outside of his major in which his final grades will be indicated as satisfactory or unsatisfactory and without any computation of grade points for these courses into his over-all average."

The Cardinal ought to investigate this program since it has come out supporting its "eventual adoption."

Deputy Production By Mime and Man Criticized

To the Editor:

The gaucherie of the specified donation at the Mime and Man production of The Deputy must, I believe, be reckoned second in culpability. Insult was added to injury (after donations were received) by presenting the play in an auditorium where it was almost impossible to understand it because of poor acoustics. Maybe that's what the Mime part is all about.

Formals and picnics appear in great numbers this weekend as campus groups seek ways of alleviating the thought of upcoming closed period.

The traditional beer supper takes a beerless twist at Delta Gamma's and Pi Lambda Phi's "First Annual Burgerville Bash." Burgerville has been rented out for this event. Activities such as playing the machines, dancing, and eating Burgerville food are being featured. According to one Pi Lamb, Huey J. Cheeseburger is going to be there.

Friday evening Lowell Hall goes to the Hotel Loraine for a formal dinner-dance in honor of "A Bloomin' Night in May." Dancing will be to the music of "Robin and the Three Hoods."

Friday evening Alpha Chi Omega turns the Ivy Inn into the South Sea Islands for their traditional Algae Island Party. A cannibal king will be crowned during the evening.

Pi Beta Phi and Chi Omega both choose the Ramada Inn for their spring formal while Sigma Delta Tau and Alpha Phi choose the Holiday Inn. Gamma Phi Beta takes over the Del-View Hotel at Wisconsin Dells. Kappa Delta goes to the Continental Restaurant while Phi Sigma Sigma prefers the Edgewater and Delta Zeta prefers the Top Hat Club.

Kappa Kappa Gamma has a dinner with their mothers at the Park Motor Inn. Alpha Phi Omega has a picnic at Vilas Park.

Beta Theta Pi holds an informal in honor of their pledges. Alpha Chi Rho declares "Decrow." Sigma Alpha Mu has a "Parents Weekend." Also going informal are Kappa Sigma, Alpha Delta Phi, Phi Sigma Delta, and Alpha Gamma Rho.

Saturday afternoon Kappa Kappa Gamma has a buffet lunch with their parents. Beta Theta Pi and Theta Chi go informal while Spooner and Tarrant House hold open houses.

Saturday evening Beta Theta Pi holds a formal entitled "Hawaii." Sigma Alpha Epsilon visits Chula Vista in Wisconsin Dells while Delta Upsilon takes over Liggett's Holiday Inn in Burlington. Alpha Delta Phi goes to the Island View in Brown's Lake while Pi Lambda Phi goes to the Del-view in Wisconsin Dells.

Delta Chi visits "A South Seas Island."

Phi Sigma Delta and Kappa Psi have pajama parties and Triangle Fraternity has a spring recess. Noyes House, believe it or not, is having a pipe organ dedication!

Simon Elected LHA President

By John Koch
LHA Reporter

The Lakeshore Halls Association (LHA) cabinet narrowly elected Dave Simon, Tripp Hall, Wednesday to succeed Rich Thornton as LHA president.

His opponent was Elizabeth Kores. Four ballots were taken (April 27) with no majority tally for either candidate. After three ballots Wednesday, the seventh and final vote came to 46 for Simon and 42 for Miss Kores.

Elsom House, Elm Drive Hall, switched its two votes from abstention to Simon to clinch the victory. Forty-six was the required majority.

Simon's campaign emphasized the need for more continuity and planning in LHA programs. His program includes two summer workshops for LHA leaders to develop a complete calendar of activities for next year, a possible investigation of compulsory house meetings in women's houses and a drive to put LHA members on Union committees to improve communication.

Thornton had endorsed Simon last Wednesday.

Miss Kores was supported by Elliot Friedman, Sullivan Hall.

After the election, Miss Kores asked that Simon be given the election unanimously. Friedman objected, saying, "I'm not a hypocrite." After a short recess, he withdrew his objection, but another cabinet member objected to giving unanimous consent.

Cabinet action on next year's budget was postponed to the next meeting.

Draft Exams

CPS—The Selective Service System announced this week that it will arrange for a fourth college deferment test to be given in June to ease the plight of those who failed to register in time for the first three or who have conflicts.

A number of university officials had complained to Selective Service after the dates for the first three tests were announced. Many said they conflicted with work at the close of the school term, and some universities had final examinations scheduled during the period the draft tests are to be given.

One official, John Briscoe, associate provost at the University of Illinois, called the scheduling a "big fiasco."

Selective Service officials said the complaints prompted them to plan for the fourth test.

Two million students are expected to take the test at 1,200 test centers on May 14, May 21, and June 3. The test scores will be used by local draft boards to help determine student deferments.

TRADITIONAL EXCELLENCE

Concert Sale Begins Soon

By STEPHEN ORLICH
Panorama Staff

The 47th Annual Union Concert Series will feature, with an excellence that has become a tradition, ten concerts by distinguished musical artists; the traditional division into Red and White Series, of five concerts each, has been retained.

The Red Series will feature concerts by: William Warfield on Nov. 11, Erick Friedman on Dec. 13, Andres Segovia on Feb. 2, Byron Janis on Feb. 18, and the Lenox String Quartet on April 8.

The White Series will feature concerts by: William Warfield on Nov. 12, Helen Boatwright on Jan. 6, Andres Segovia on Feb. 3, Byron Janis on Feb. 19, and by Paul Doktor on April 7.

Mail orders for Series season tickets will be accepted beginning May 9; students are given preference. Mail orders will be returned and open sale of remaining season tickets will begin in mid-September.

Andres Segovia, who has single-handedly won for the guitar a distinguished place in the world's concert halls, will be making his fourth appearance on a Union concert series. He first appeared in Madison in 1930 in the Union's Great Hall, one year after his New York debut.

The Spanish master, for whom Villa-Lobos, De Falla, and Ibert among others have composed music, has: "The guitar has always kept its Spanish personality...in German beer halls they hang the steins...in Spanish cafes, the Guitars."

William Warfield's impact on audiences is so great that the State Department has on six occasions requested his services as cultural ambassador for the U.S. He is a star of the first magnitude in the many fields accessible to the singer's art.

Bass-baritone Warfield is in constant demand as an orchestral soloist; he recently marked his 35th appearance as soloist with the Philharmonic indelibly associated with the Gershwin opera "Porgy and Bess," for its most memorable production in 1952 was undertaken because he consented to portray the title role. This appearance will be his second on a Union series.

Byron Janis, pianist, is American born and trained; among his distinguished teachers, Vladimir Horowitz is included. He made his European debut in 1952, four years after his U.S. debut, and has since completed eight tours of Western Europe, four of South America, and two of the Soviet Union. Madison audiences look forward to hearing him, for he was obliged to cancel a '64-'65 Series appearance due to a finger injury.

Erick Friedman, though only 25, has been performing professionally for a decade. The gifted young violinist was a protege of Jascha Heifetz and began his career by winning several important awards which led to guest appearances with many of the country's top symphony orchestras. Last year he had the distinction of being invited to participate on the panel of judges for the renowned Jacques Thibaud Violin Competition in Paris.

Helen Boatwright, Wisconsin-born soprano, added professional training to her natural vocal gift when she received a scholarship to Oberlin, where she wrote a thesis on the soprano arias of Bach. She possesses a talent so rare that Purcell operas have been revived for her, and is interested in forming a stylistic approach to "early music," in this context, pro-Bach musical literature.

Paul Doktor, violist, is Viennese by birth, though now he divides his time between teaching and concert appearances in America, and occasional appearances at the Salzburg and Edinburgh Festivals. He would like, "to spread general interest for this lovely instrument, the viola, the one-time cinderella of the string family."

The Lenox String Quartet—Peter Marsh, violin; Delmar Pettys, violin; Paul Hersh, viola; and Donald McCall, cello—was formed in Lenox, Mass., where its members were on the faculty of Berkshire Music Center, better known as "Tanglewood." The members are now artists-in-residence at Grinnell College in Iowa, and their American engagement schedule grows yearly. They have acquired a solid reputation as protagonists of modern music; concerts at the Spoleto Festival in Italy highlighted a recent European tour.

REVIEWERS

Those interested in reviewing movies for "Around the Town" this summer and next year are invited to submit an application in the Movie Editor's box. Applications will also be accepted for the summer Panorama staff in the same box.

A Word of Praise . . .

By KAREN MALPEDE
Co-Panorama Editor

It may seem like providence which, for the past twenty years has kept the Union Theater in a state of flux, constantly supplied with the music, drama, dance and the ideas which proclaim man a monumental creation.

Not providential decree, but human energy is the real force behind our theater. Most of it comes from a slender woman, Prof. Fannie Taylor, whose wit, intelligence and cunning have made her one of the most respected college theater directors in the country.

Success is never easy to define or to measure. Yet, there is something elegant about a woman who is equally at home with Eugene Ormandy or Shivering Freshman, who, when one of her staff has made a blunder, can smilingly invite them to "join the club of those of us who never thought of that," who is always aware of her own failures and vibrantly happy over her triumphs.

There is a grandness about a woman who has worked every minute of every day holding "committee meetings with myself" and keeping "my private year round calendar" to build a dedicated, sophisticated audience and present them with programs of substance and vitality. Fan Taylor can honestly answer a question and she has by saying, "don't do that it would kill my audience. And if you kill my audience you kill me."

There is warmth about a person whose job is to deal with hundreds of celebrities and, yet, who doesn't forget that Elisabeth Schwarzkopf likes instant coffee and so brings her a special brand. And it is a rare mixture when this same person can take time off to counsel a sophomore about a letter to his parents or to remind a harried Panorama editor that "this too shall pass."

In a big university there is a bit of wonder surrounding a woman who is on first name bases with hundreds of students; who withers them with sarcasm at times, but whose door is almost always open and whose candy dish is always full.

And in a world where life happens too fast and art comes too seldom, a word of praise is not too much to give to the person who has put the Union Theater at the center of things, made it an exciting and often beautiful place to go.

At a time when increasing specialization often clouds our minds we can remember that the Metropolitan Opera National Company, the Jim Kweskin Jug Band, Pierre Fournier and John Coltrane all played to Union Theater audiences this season. In the course of twenty equally varied seasons patrons have worn out the carpet in the theater four times. And one woman who walks rather lightly herself, has made sure that those people were seated comfortably, stayed with delight and left enriched.

A theater, of course, is never the sole product of a single mind and perhaps no one is more aware of this than Fan Taylor. So she has constantly encouraged loyalty, stressed perfection and built a theater with a personality of its own.

Mrs. Taylor resigns her 20 year old position as director of the Union Theater on May 15 to take up her new post as music consultant to the National Endowment for the Arts. We all know that our theater will remain, but the reason why is that Fan Taylor cared.

Laughter: The American Way

By MORLEY BELOYTTE
Panorama Staff

If you can possibly afford it, go out and buy "Stan Freeburg Presents The United States of America (Capitol W1573)" and Lenny Bruce—American (Fantasy)". These are two of the finest records ever cut.

Freeburg's "USA" is a musical comedy interpretation of the first 300 or so years of American history, from Columbus finding the New World to Cornwallis' losing it. There are those of us who consider this to be the authentic version of the story: Chris trying to convince a dubious Ferdinand and a horny Isabella that "It's a Round, Round World"; Mayor Pennypacker of Plymouth, Mass. deciding to do the brotherhood bit and "Take an Indian to Lunch This Week"; Ben Franklin explaining to Tom Jefferson that "A Man Can't Be Too Careful What He Signs These Days"; and a flute-playing hippy objecting to the epidemic of moldy figs. "Yankee Doodle" (like the name says it, man), And that ain't the half of it.

Freeburg satirizes everything that deserves to be satirized, from Betsy Ross's lousy taste in flag design to George Washington's sartorial fastidiousness. The whole thing is, please excuse me, a liberal helping of anti-DAR propaganda, and it couldn't happen to a more deserving.

And it couldn't be more polished, more fun, or more essential to anybody who is hip to the genius of Stan Freeburg and the contemporary political, social, economic, and moral scene. What we laugh at on "USA" is not only a picture of our historical forebears, but also one of ourselves. The absurdity of what went on 300 years ago in this country (neatly cristalized by lines like, "Who you takin' to the Witch Burning Saturday nite, Harv?"). . . "Prudence Adams; who you takin' to the Rotary Club Luncheon?") can't hide the fact that we haven't progressed one damn meaningful inch.

So buy "USA" and listen to it again and again (some of us know all of it by heart) and laugh. Laugh your troubles away. But we find it pressing to laugh, after all, for fear that we should otherwise be obliged to cry, right? And join the Du Bois Club.

Lenny Bruce is constantly getting hit with legal water balloons and custard pies because, quite simply, he has a contemporary-community-standards-disturbing penchant for reporting what he sees and saying what he thinks.

It would be nice if you'd buy "Lenny Bruce—American" or any of his other albums you can find, if only to register a protest again the way he's been treated here in the Land of the Free. But there is a far better reason for turning yourself on to Lenny Bruce: he's saying something.

On "American" Bruce explores our moral and cultural heritage, giving an accurate description (with, of course, appropriate solo flights into believable fantasy) of Lima, Ohio ("How can a girl look bad in a knit dress?"); airplane-glue sniffing ("I'm the Louis Pasteur of junkedom!"); marriage, divorce, and motels ("There's nothing to read but Have You Forgotten Anything"); television commercials; prison movies; and "How To Relax Your Colored Friends At Parties", any paraphrase of which would be heretical.

As Ralph J. Geason points out, Bruce's humor (like Charlie Parker's music) is the 'seminal influence of his generation'. But nobody will admit it. If Lenny wants to starve to death that's up to Lenny, but I doubt if he does, so help him out, because Ed Sullivan sure isn't going to. Lenny Bruce, like Rose Bimler, deserves to be saved.

'Children of Paradise' to Run Uncut

By LARRY COHEN
Movie Editor

Marcel Carne's "Children of Paradise," (Les Enfants du Paradis) regarded by many as the finest classic of French cinema, will be shown Sunday at 2 and 7:30 p.m. in the Union Theater.

Filmed during the German occupation of Paris, the movie was begun in 1943, and was released officially in 1945. Distribution in this country has usually meant shortened versions; the print to be shown at the Union boasts the "original, uncut" length of 193 minutes.

With a screenplay by Jacques Prevert, the Carne film stars Jean-Louis Barrault, Arletty and Pierre Brasseur in the leading roles. The action centers around Paris of the early 1880's, incorporating mime and the use of the entire realm of the theater in its format.

Historically, "Children of Paradise" is important in indicating the response of French directors to the war and occupation. Film critic Penelope Houston, in her book "The Contemporary Cinema," refers to Carne's effort as an example of "the painful attitudes imposed by the occupation. Directors had to retreat to the comparative safety of the past."

Marcel Carne is generally considered one of the three most successful masters of cinema before the war; the others are Rene Clair and Jean Renoir. Two of Carne's pre-war films, "Le Jour Se Leve" and "Quai des Brumes" exemplified a spirit of fatalism and romanticism capturing much of the French spirit faced with indications of a Nazi war.

Wartime, according to Arthur Knight's "The Liveliest Art," revealed a director obsessed with "stylized allegories of death and despair set against the romantic backgrounds of bygone days . . . far from the realities of the occupation." There were few exceptions to this "escape"; the majority of French directors complied with Carne's response.

The critical reception afforded to "Children of Paradise" in the U.S. was an interesting phenomenon, for normally disparaging tastes generally joined in an affirmative nod. The most outspoken of critics, Dwight Macdonald in "Esquire," regarded the work to be, "without qualifications, a masterpiece. Exhilarating and refreshing, a miracle. It looks even better in this longer version." Others, James Agee among them, concurred.

Tickets are still on sale at the Union Box Office.

Its population drawn from all the nations of Europe and the Middle East, its markets filled with conflicting cultures and values, its streets piled high with samovars and Swiss clocks, hookahs and huddled masses; it is Israel and it is found in Ephraim Kishon's "Sallah" at the Majestic. But this Israel is no promised land.

As an idea, Israel is an experiment in communal living. It is a dry land, and its soil must be improved patiently by the cooperative efforts of the people. The communal and highly organized institution which arose to fill this need was the "kibbutz."

what it is worth to them is Sallah's problem and "Sallah" 's theme.

Writer-director Kishon has well adapted his film technique to fit the nature of the story he tells. The editing and camerawork is an interpretation of Sallah's own personality. The film moves smoothly from incident to incident, presenting Sallah to us as gradually as he is absorbed by Israel.

"Sallah" has been favorably compared with Cacoyannis' "Zorba the Greek," and each has been called a "dance". It is true that "Zorba" is a dance to life and that its tempo increases as Zorba tastes life more fully. It is also true, however, that "Sallah" has the memorized pace of a dying tradition, losing the essence which makes the dance alive. Sallah, in fact, is giving up his marketplace life for one of shiny apartment buildings and running water. Consequently, the tempo of the film is as measured as that of Sallah's dance; for Sallah is being taken in by a new life, rather, than, like Zorba, doing the taking.

The Shabatti family lives in an immigrant camp known as a "maahara." Living in these maaharas are Jews from countless countries, all of whom speak Hebrew, all of whom are anxious to settle down. Sallah and his polyglot compatriots are faced with a lack of suitable jobs and housing, with the closed regimentation of the kibbutz, and the hidden fear of losing individual traditions and nationalities.

Sallah Shabatti (played by Topol) is an immigrant from the Middle East. He has seven children, is dirty, charming, unschooled, and wise. Sallah has learned that life is not given to a man free of charge; he must barter for it. Life to Sallah is a marketplace in which one must give up the old parts of oneself in order to receive the new.

Sallah Shabatti is just a man; he has no distinct origins or age. Israel is filled with "just men" and how to harmonize them into a new nation is Israel's problem. Immigrant Israelis barter for their new nationality, and just what it is worth to them is Sallah's problem and "Sallah" 's theme.

Writer-director Kishon has well adapted his film technique to fit the nature of the story he tells. The editing and camerawork is an interpretation of Sallah's own personality. The film moves smoothly from incident to incident, presenting Sallah to us as gradually as he is absorbed by Israel.

Senate Meets

ing units on the list of tax exempt items in the Wisconsin Selective Sales Tax. This would give those contracts exemption from the 3% sales tax as is the case with the University owned halls.

• Approved the registration of the campus chapter of the W.E.B. DuBois Club. It was pointed out that the acceptance of the registration in no way indicates the advocacy of the club's views by the Senate.

• Requested the Chancellor to establish a standing committee for the selection of two students to participate in the exchange program involving several southern Negro universities starting in the second semester of the 1966-67 school year.

• Passed a resolution requesting the Madison city council to lift the ban on motorcycle parking on State Street and to find other ways of solving the ticketing problem of these vehicles. The resolution said that the only reasonable alternative would be greatly increased parking facilities in the State Street, and University Avenue Areas.

Warning Period Passed for Cycles

what was wrong with allowing one motorcycle to parking in one full size parking stall.

Engineering Dean Kurt F. Wendt suggested using the end stall on each of the side streets off of State Street for cycle and scooter parking.

Other factors to be discussed and considered in the final decision include the problem of economical use of parking space, the traffic "hazard" caused by motorcycles entering traffic lanes, the difficulty of determining which one of several cycles in one parking space is parked overtime, and the problem of overloaded parking spaces.

CHEERLEADING TRYOUTS

Final tryouts for cheerleaders for the 1966-67 season will be held May 19 at 3:30 p.m. in Camp Randall Stadium. All students are eligible and no previous experience is required. Practice clinics will be held May 17 and 18 between 3:30 and 5:30 p.m. All candidates must attend one of these two sessions.

The committee also considered a city council resolution which would advise the University to restrict the ownership of private automobiles to students who can prove that the cars are essential for commuting or working.

The resolution was finally referred to the next meeting of the committee when Ald. Robert Reynolds, who sponsored the resolution would be present.

In a short discussion Atwell and Dean of Public Service Leroy E. Lueg voiced their opposition to the proposal because it discriminated against students' possession of cars.

Bond Speaks

in Alabama, or Negroes in the South, or Negroes in the United States. It must turn to the problems of poor people all over this country."

Bond said he conducted "his own personal poll" among his constituents to answer southern charges that he did not speak for Georgia Negroes when he criticized the Viet Nam war.

"I found out," he said, "that my constituents didn't care anything about General Ky, or Ho Chi Minh, or Viet Nam. They were concerned with U.S. motives. Some asked me, 'Why should we fight for a country that's never fought for us?'"

He said a few indicated they would like to join the U.S. Army "if it would declare war against South Africa, or Rhodesia. Or Georgia or Alabama."

"There is," he declared, "a realization of the direct relationship between the escalation of the Viet Nam war, and the de-escalation of certain programs which might begin to improve the status of the Negro in the U.S." He cited the curtailment of social welfare and rural electrification programs in the South as examples of this relationship.

Bond concluded with the observation that some Negroes and civil rights workers feel that the draft may be used, now and in the future, to "get rid of the surplus Negroes who have nothing better to do than stand around and register to vote."

EVERY SCIENCE, ENGINEERING and MATH student should know about CSSTP before he makes up his mind about a career.

CSST means Computer Systems Science Training Program. It's an extraordinary IBM program that enables you to use your technical knowledge and problem-solving skills in new, exciting ways. Ways that may never occur to you unless you talk to the IBM interviewer. He'll show you how CSSTP leads to exceptional career opportunities with IBM Data Processing.

He'll tell you about the vital role of IBM's Marketing Representative. How he goes into major businesses to help solve their urgent management and control problems. He'll spell out the challenges which face IBM's Systems Engineer.

How he studies customer needs and computer requirements, and develops systems solutions to their problems. In short, he'll describe all the unusual assignments in IBM's more than 13 branch offices in the upper Midwest coast to coast. All are places where you can grow with IBM, leader in America's fastest-growing major industry: Information handling and control.

Whatever your plans, before you hit upon a career, see if IBM doesn't make a hit with you.

Whatever your area of study, ask us how you might use your particular talents at IBM.

Sigma Chi 'Derby Day'

Sigma Chi Fraternity and 16 energetic sororities are hoping for blue skies and mild weather Saturday for the third annual Sigma Chi Derby Day.

The event was started in 1964 to coincide with the annual running of the Kentucky Derby, and has blossomed into a tradition, bringing national recognition to the local chapter in greek circles. Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority has won the event for the past two years.

Wednesday night, Sigma Chi held an honorary dinner for the 16 candidates for the Derby Day queen contest. The members were also given derbies which will be used in field events Saturday afternoon.

The queen contest will take place at 1 p.m. Saturday on the Sigma Chi porch. The sixteen candidates from the respective sororities will model bathing suits and cocktail dresses for a panel of judges made up of University faculty and alumni.

After the beauty contest, contestants from the sororities will compete in games such as the zip-strip, donut dash, derby grab, a pie-eating contest, and a special mystery event.

The sorority with the most points in all the events will win the overall trophy for one year.

All profits made on Derby Day will be donated to charity. A concession stand has been set up at the intramural fields, and special programs will be distributed.

After the field events, everyone is invited to the Sigma Chi House for dancing and beer. That night, the fraternity will have a closed party for members and their guests.

John Scully, chairman of the event said, "We hold Derby Day for several reasons. The most important to us is the charitable aspect. Also, we feel the sororities never compete against each other in athletics, and this is one of their only chances. Of course, we all have a good time, win or lose."

REGENTS MEETING

The University Board of Regents will hold a regular meeting today at 9 a.m. in the Wisconsin Center, Sec. Clarke Smith said. The regents are scheduled to hold their annual meeting with the University Board of Visitors in the afternoon.

LaFollette Criticizes Knowles For 'Failure to Lead State'

By GREGORY GRAZE
Assistant Night Editor

Atty. Gen. Bronson LaFollette, a Democrat, lashed out at Republican Gov. Knowles Tuesday night for not providing leadership at crucial times in the state.

LaFollette pointed to the water pollution issue as an example of Knowles' "failure to lead." The Attorney General said that the plan presented by Knowles keeps the problem of committees within the program and, "I don't like this approach to solving problems."

He rapped Knowles' "self-satisfied attitude towards the whole problem" after the chief executive rejected an offer of federal aid from a representative of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

"Although people complain about the state not getting its fair share of federal programs, it's because Republican officials fail to take advantage of them," LaFollette said. "It's unfortunate that the governor doesn't understand the aims of federal programs," he added.

LaFollette, a candidate for re-election as state Attorney General, paraphrased Adlai Stevenson in describing the governor as a moderate Republican—"he doesn't do anything, he just stands there."

In his criticisms of the proposed water pollution bill, LaFollette said that there isn't much in the bill about industrial pollution and implied that it was neglected due to interests on the committee.

Prof. Discusses Films As Art

By Sue Silverman

A discussion of film as a modern art form was given by Prof. Richard Byrne, speech, Wednesday.

Byrne said, "One could develop the thesis that film is the only modern art. It is the only form of art created since prehistoric time."

Byrne went on to explain the influence of the film on the artist's "isms": cubism, trying to capture motion; futurism, trying to capture what an object looks like when it moves through space; and surrealism, an attempt to combine the real with the unreal.

The films which were shown illustrated the two primary characteristics of the film as modern art, according to Byrne: motion all the time and the use of hard, cold concrete objects to show what goes on in the mind.

Two of the short films were by Leon Lye. One was a propaganda film made during a war. The idea was not to tell your neighbor what you were doing. The film was a series of colors, shapes, images, and sounds in constant movement.

Nine Plays 3 on Road

The Badgers go on the road this weekend with hopes of forgetting last Saturday as they meet Ohio State this afternoon and Indiana in a doubleheader Saturday.

Coach Dynie Mansfield has juggled his lineup slightly in an attempt to alleviate some defensive problems that developed against Michigan.

Gary Kraft will replace Ed Chartraw in rightfield and bat in the lead-off position. Harlan Kraft will move into the No. 2 spot in place of Mark Rosenblum who was taken out of the lineup. Rosey's replacement, Jon Smythe, will bat number seven.

West Va., Texas Gridders Sign

West Virginia's outstanding prep football player and a fine Texas high school griddier have accepted grant-in-aid scholarships and will attend Wisconsin.

Mel Walker, quarterback of Charleston's (W. Va.) Dunbar High School, achieved All-State honors last year in both football and basketball.

The 6-3, 180 pounder helped advance his team to the state championship finals before it lost last fall, and played forward on Dunbar's state championship basketball team.

Len Fields is a 6-1, 217 pound offensive center with good speed who played at Galveston (Tex.) Central High School. Defensively he was a linebacker and his play enabled Central to post a 7-4 record last year.

The pitching rotation will be the same as last week with Denny Sweeney taking the mound today and Lance Reich and Bill Buchholz working the doubleheader. John Poser and Steve Oakey will be in the bullpen.

The Buckeyes, with a 2-0 conference record, are currently tied with Michigan for the Big Ten lead. They will pitch ace Steve Arlin against the Badgers—Arlin is 6-1 and has a 2.00 ERA.

Sophomore outfielder Bob Baker leads the Bucks in batting with a .387 and another sophomore, shortstop Roger Sexton, follows with a .328. Outfielder Ray Shoup is the other regular over .300 with a .301.

Powless Seeks Winning Doubles Combinations

By MIKE GOLDMAN
Contributing Sports Editor

Wisconsin tennis coach John Powless will try to find the answer to an urgent problem in Minneapolis this weekend when his squad meets Minnesota and Purdue.

Powless needs to put together three doubles combinations which can add points. In three Big meets the Badger doubles teams have won only one out of nine matches. The failure of the doubles teams to win has cost Wisconsin several matches during the season.

Against Michigan State, the Badgers and Spartans were tied 3-3 at the end of singles play. Michigan State then swept all three doubles matches to win the meet 6-3.

Powless indicated before he left for Minneapolis that he will probably switch his present doubles line-up. A winning combination will be needed since the Badgers will face two tough opponents.

Minnesota is considered a dark horse for the Big Ten championship. Even though the Gophers were defeated, 7-2, by title favorite Indiana, they played six three-set matches with the Hoosiers.

Minnesota's number one singles player, Jerry Noyce, lost to Indiana's Dave Power, 8-6, in the final set. Power was a finalist last year in the Big Ten No. 1 singles competition.

Noyce is supported by a strong team including two promising sophomores. Sophs Bucky Zimmerman and Denny Chez have been playing regularly in the Minnesota line-up and have done very well so far.

Purdue, even though not a title contender, has promise. The Boilermakers have six returning lettermen and considerable competition for the playing positions.

WALLACE MIDDENDORP SAT HERE

What did you do when Joe (Boxcar) Brkczpmluj was kicked off the football team just because he flunked six out of four of his majors? What did you do, Wallace Middendorp?

And when the school newspaper's editors resigned in protest because The Chancellor wouldn't allow the publication of certain salacious portions of "Night In a Girl's Dormitory" you just sat, didn't you? You've made a mockery of your life, Wallace Middendorp! You're a vegetable. Protest, Wallace Middendorp. Take a stand. Make a noise! Or drink Sprite, the noisy soft drink.
