AUTUMN NUMBER

WALWORTH COUNTY Y.M.C.A.- TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

Over at Whitewater last Monday night some 150 officers, contributors and friends of young people gathered to celebrate the twenty-fifth birthday of the Walworth County Y.M.C.A. It is deserving of the editorial page this week as it was a memorable gathering.

As one looked over the group he found lawyers, doctors, ministers, merchants, newspaper editors, manufacturers, farmers, mechanics and an Antique Collector (Nick Carter who was Toastmaster), O Yes, we must not forget the teaching profession, both High School and the State Teachers College. Ladies were invited also, in fact the enlarged work takes in the girls now.

The toastmaster had a goodly number of stories to use in his introductions. Leonard C. Church of Walworth, who is chairman of the Board of 21, now increased to a possible 30, took charge of the business session. Daniel LeBar who has been treasurer for many years reported that all bills were paid and there was a balance on hand to start off the new year. Charles E. Lyon read the budget suggested for the new year, apologizing for its smallness.

County Secretary Giddings instead of reading a report showing how many this and that meetings, etc. were held, gave some human interest stories showing how the "Y" had touched the lives of boys and girls. The statistics were printed on the program so one could judge for himself the worth-whileness of the work. I.B. Davies lead in Singing.

Dick Godfrey of Elkhorn told of Boys' Club work. Virginia Peters told of A Girl Reserve Club. Paul Burkholz of The Young People's Forum in Delavan. Jack Wats of Phantom Lake. Charles Giague of Williams Bay told of a Youth's Conference held last Spring at Williams Bay H.S. Charles Beetow told of a four day outing at the Scout Camp at Williams Bay as a guest of Elkhorn's Kiwanis Club.

The address of the evening was given by Dr. J.M. Artman of Chicago, who will be remembered as a resident of Williams Bay for seven years, during Summers at College Camp and commuting to Chicago for teaching at Y.M.C.A. College during Winters.. Dr. Artman has traveled extensively, was editor of Religious Education Magazine and now edits a magazine entitled " Character ".

He took for his theme the breaking down of standards of living and read from studies made by several groups that there is much to be concerned about in this break down. "Not many years ago", said he, " I could go into my grandmother's presence and in few moments know just what she thought or felt about moral or religious questions. She had positive, unshaken standards to rule her life." Now it is difficult to find out just where any man or woman stands.

All the commissions agreed that in order to save our nation we must restate our standards and asked the audience to sit down and try to state under five headings rules of conduct for living. Unless we get to living by certain definite standards in all our living, not only on Sunday, but on Monday, Tuesday, etc., in the counting house, on the farm, or wherever our lot may be, we will be blown hither and thither.

Try forming for yourself a set of standards. You may not attain them but you will at least live on a higher moral plane and others will know soon where you stand on moral issues. Editor.

THE TALK OF TIME

A woman in Alabama has been talking continually for twelve days and physicians say it is a sickness with which she is afflicted. That is a strange, many women are afflicted with this disease; but one consolation is, they do most of their talking while awake and the men do most of their talking in their sleep.

Mrs. Alfred Pihl, Miss Elsie Pihl and Mrs. Amy Jorgenson were hostesses to the Congregational Ladies Aid Society for the last luncheon of the season, held at the Rose Lane Hotel, on Tuesday. One hundred fifteen ladies were present at the luncheon, a number coming from the neighboring communities, Elkhorn, Delavan and Lake Geneva.

Following a short annual business meeting immediately after the luncheon, the one act play, "The Village Gossips", written by Mrs. E.B. Frost, was given. The characters in the play were, Mmes E.B. Frost, L.A. Hollister, C.M. Bjorge and Mrs. Marie Sains. The play was cleverly written, bringing in many puns and much wit and humor. Much of the dialogue was a play on words and some amusing real anecdotes, which brought much laughter and applause from the audience.

Mrs. Frost was given a vote of thanks by the members of the society for her splendid work as general chairman of the summer luncheons and programs for the benefit of the society, which have been very successful, both socially and financially.

The nominating committee, appointed for securing the new officers of the society; Mrs. Elliott Downing, Chairman, Mrs. Blake Burton and Mrs. Arthur Ohl, made the following report- President, Mrs. Edward Zabler; Co-president, Mrs. Kukkuok; for Treasurer, Mrs. E.B. Frost; Co-treasurer, Mrs. C.M. Bjorge; Secretary, Mrs. Floyd Blakeley; Vice President, Mrs. Alfred Hotton; Co-Vice President, Mrs. Volmer Sorensen.

Profiting by the plan of having a co-treasurer for the society, and which plan proved to be advantageous in one office; why not try it further in the other offices of the society. These officers with their co-aids can work out their duties together so that the work of any one office will not be too arduous a task for the head of that particular office. Thus, the co-vice president will assume the responsibility of providing meeting places and hostesses for the coming year; and that the work of the executive would be much lightened by the appointment of a "summer committee". That a program committee, cooperating with the Missionary committee, in providing interesting meetings, would be a great help and that the other usual working committees would rise valiantly to their support; which all working together in a very worthy cause, the spiritual uplift of the church and community; will make a bigger and better organization in which we all will have a part.

All residents of the village Al Canfield, Chief; Norm Fehrm, Treas- are asked to help the organization urer; Pleto Johnson, Secretary; Bud by becoming a member. Watson; Loop the Lupus, Red Downing, Ben Ward, Bob Darre, Ted Webner, Chuck Kelly, Al Stenstrom, Roy John- son.

Altho many people have not as yet heard of the Lupus organization, it is promised that in a very short time it will be a very prominent organization of Lake Geneva.

The following Williams Bay folks attended the C.C.T. Uconvention at Springfield on Wednesday; Mmes Henry Granzow, Ralph McDonald, Ernest Southwick, C.J. Balfe, Rev. and Mrs. R.K. Kinney. Rev. Kinney was one of the speakers for the afternoon meeting.

A REAL HOLD UP

About 10.30 Saturday night three men drove up in a car at the new Bay Oil Co. Station and held up Roy Johnson, who was in charge. First they asked for his own pocket book and then for the Station money. Roy stalled a little too much for them and they fired two shots to show him that they were in earnest. Roy didn't hesitate much then and forked over all that was in the bag.

It was quite an experience for Roy and one he will not forget. As far as can be found out this is the first stick-up ever pulled off in Williams Bay.

The station is somewhat isolated at night but a half block away at Spence's there was a good crowd at the Floor Show.

The Motor Bicycle Police finished his duties on October 15th. It is possible that the hold-up men were familiar with that fact.

It is worth serious consideration on the part of the Village Board as to whether the Village should have a Night Police year round.

ASKING FOR PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS

Not discouraged mostly the same firms who have bid previously on the Water Purification and Softening Plant are asking again for the revised plans.

The Request for Bids was published last Thursday in the Regional News and in Western Builder.

The Bids will be open on Friday, October 1st at 7.30 p.m.

The Engineer assures the Board that this time the bids will be within the $30,000 voted last Spring for this improvement.

If the bids are accepted there will be time to get the building well started this Fall and work can go on during the Winter.

MILITARY & NAVAL ACADEMY OFF TO A GOOD START

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN
EXTENSION COURSES COMMENCE

The Students of the Northwestern Military & Naval Academy came out from Chicago on a Special Train on Wednesday all set for a good year.

Williams Bay adds to its reputation as an educational center with the opening of the extension school of the University this week.

It is the 50th year of the Academy and will be especially interesting to the whole student body as next June there will be appropriate celebrations of the Fiftieth Anniversary.

The local school board deserves a lot of credit for the happy conclusion of its strenuous work in securing the school.

While the weather permits the boys will live in tents and get a touch of Camp Life.

It is being held in the main room of the new Fire Station, which makes a very good class room. The portable blackboards and maps makes it look quite educational.

Several Lake Geneva boys are enrolled. Walter Mc Intosh, son of Walter G. Mc Intosh of Snug Harbor is back. Frank Schwinn, Jr. and his brother Edward, sons of Frank Schwinn of Congress Club are enrolled also, the former as a Senior and the latter as a freshman. Allan Reid son of Glenn S. Reid, Cedar Point Pk enters this year also, with his friend, Chas. D. Sutor, Jr. and Charles Grotness of Loch Vista.

The students sit around the big table to which has been added two smaller tables forming a cross.

There is an enrollment of 116, which is a 10 % increase over last year.

The enrollment is as follows:

Charles Giauque, Jeanne DeLappe, Frances Cairns, June Featherstone, Charles Cudell, Les Case, Alfred Johnson, Elborn Rasmussen, John Vavra, William Bates, Robert Singer, from Williams Bay.

Marianne McClellan, Ethel Greeter, from Lake Geneva, Bill Baughn.

Among those enrolled are David and Philip Johnson, sons of Edward Johnson and great-grandsons of Edward E. Ayer who lived on the Lake back in the early days of the Lake Geneva Summer colony. The Edward E. Ayer Library at the Academy perpetuates his memory.

Denny Sattler, J.A. Bachhuber, James M. Gilbert, from Elkhorn.
