Green Lake and The Oakwood.

There are many lakes scattered through the two counties which we might speak of with profit to the reader, but space will not permit us to dwell at length upon them, yet there is one which ought not to be overlooked. Decidedly the prettiest body of water in this part of the country is Green Lake. Nothing can surpass the beauty of the scenery around its shores. Imagine if you can a smooth sheet of water, about ten miles in length and from two to three in width, surrounded by high land, sloping gracefully to the water's edge, covered with beautiful oak groves, and you have a partial knowledge of this, one of Nature's most beautiful lakes. A more healthy place cannot be found in the land than upon its banks. There is an abundance of fish and game, and also plenty of boating may be enjoyed. It is only six miles from the City of Ripon and one-fourth mile from the Village of Dartford.

D. Greenway has a Villa termed The Oakwood

Upon the banks of this healthful and quiet lake. Everything has been done to make it a pleasant Summer Resort. Ample provision has been made for all innocent and pleasing amusements. The grounds being furnished with swings, and things of a like character, are very pleasant and attractive. Indeed one could not choose a better place in which to spend a few months during the Summer than at THE OAKWOOD.

pose offering extraordinary inducements to small or large purchasers of any variety of goods in the line of Watches, Jewelry, &c., &c. They have just issued their Trade Card which will be sent free to all. Send for one. If you wish to save money, try us before purchasing elsewhere.

NEW METAL—Ahead of all others. We have sole control of all goods now made of the New Metal known as "ALUMINIUM BRILLIANT." As all purchasers know, "Alumide," or any of the common imitation "metals," will tarnish. We call attention to the fact that our Metal is superior to any other Imitation Metal, will not tarnish, but as its name indicates, it retains its brilliancy. In fact, except by actual tests, it cannot be distinguished from solid 18k Gold. We are now making Watches and Jewelry from this Metal for as little as any other imitation goods, and very much cheaper. We send a Splendid Watch, as good to all appearance as an 18k Waltham Watch, at only $11.; or, a Patent Watch with Lever at only $13. These Watches are perfect in finish—no roughness or imperfections in sight, as on the "Oroide" humbug watches. These Watches will run and give good time. We have also Splendid Watches made of Silverine, (a new metal: a perfect resemblance to pure silver), at same prices as our "Aluminum Brilliante" Watches.

Any of above Watches will be sent by express on receipt of an order from any reliable person. They can be examined in the hands of the Express Co., and if not as satisfactory, you need not take them. If satisfactory, you can have them by paying the price. We will pay all return charges. We also sell the Genuine Waltham Watches at $18 to $150. All styles of Cases and Movements sent by express. WALTHAM WATCHES.

For a few months past we have advertised the above Watches at extremely low prices, and the result has been most satisfactory. Our plan has been to sell the genuine WALTHAM WATCH, in Solid Gold or Silver Cases only, and at a very small profit; giving the purchaser every opportunity of examination and comparison, and with the understanding that if the Watch does not prove satisfactory, it can be exchanged or the money refunded.

These watches are, without exception, the most perfect specimens of fine mechanism ever produced in any country. Each and every part is made by machinery of the most delicate and elaborate construction.

Compared with foreign watches, they possess many advantages, excelling not only in principle and finish, but still more in their reliability as time-keepers. As an indication of the prices we submit the following:

Silver Hunting Watches,	$18 00
Gold Hunting Watches, 18 carat case,	80 00
Gold Hunting Watches, ladies' size,	70 00

We often receive orders direct from our advertisement, but prefer that every one should send first for our descriptive price list, which explains all the different kinds, tells the weight and quality of the cases, and gives price of each. This we will forward to any one on application, and it will be found very useful in making a selection.

Every Watch is warranted by special certificate from the American Watch Company.

We send them by express to any address. Allow the purchaser to open the package and examine the watch before paying, and if afterwards it does not prove satisfactory, it can be exchanged or the money will be cheerfully refunded.

Please state that you saw this in the History of Green Lake and Waushara Counties, and the City of Ripon. Address in full,

HOWARD & CO.,

We invite special attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Howard & Co., who offer the celebrated Waltham Watches not only at the lowest prices, but will send them to any part of the country by express, and give the purchaser the privilege to examine the Watch before paying for it. We have known Howard & Co. personally for years, and cheerfully commend them to the confidence of our friends throughout the country.

INTRODUCTORY.

Believing that our work, the History and Business Directory of Green Lake and Waushara Counties and the City of Ripon, would be useful to the Public in general, we have labored to make it as complete and correct as we possibly could. We do not flatter ourselves that the work is entirely free from inaccuracies; some errors it may contain, some omissions may have occurred. In arranging several thousand names it would, indeed, be unlike most human productions if every one was found to be strictly correct. We have tried as far as our time would allow to exercise the greatest vigilance in the compiling and arrangement of the matter.

We hope the reader will bear in mind that the largest part of the book was prepared from brief notes just in advance of the compositors, while the work was in press; so that it was impossible either to revise the manuscript or give to the proof of some parts of the volume that attention it ought to have received. Substantially the Book will be found reliable and full.

We have culled facts from various sources, many from residents of the counties; to these and to our patrons we return our sincere acknowledgments.

HISTORICAL SKETCH
GREEN LAKE COUNTY.

GREEN LAKE COUNTY has only existed since 1858, yet a sketch of its history would hardly be complete without a glance at the antecedents of the section of country out of which it has gradually emerged. Green Bay may be looked upon as having been the first nucleus of white settlements in Northern Wisconsin, and the towns and villages up the river are generally in some degree offshoots from that point; our earliest records are consequently so intermingled that it will be necessary to make brief mention of the Discoverer, the Pioneers, and the Indians, in connection with that locality.

Contemporaneous history, or that of events within the memory of the "oldest inhabitant," while, perhaps, of most interest to the mass of readers, is the most difficult to write owing to the very plentitude of testimony, often conflicting and unreliable in essential points. But, as a sketch only is intended, we shall aim generally to state facts such as have been sifted down to perfect reliability.

Many of the incidents with which a book might be filled, interesting, even thrilling, as they may be, are common to the life of early settlers and pioneers in all new countries; they are either already known to all, or are of such a character as to belong rather to the domain of the romancer or story-teller than to this work.

In 1652 (twenty years before Marquette and Joliet started on their voyage of discovery to the great river "Mississippi") Father Jean Deguerre went from the mission on Lake Superior to the Illinois, and established a flourishing mission. He was the first of these intrepid priests, and probably the first white man, who ascended the Fox river. Green Bay began to be a place of trade between the Indians and Whites about 1670. In 1673, Father Marquette, whose name is deservedly perpetuated by the village and county so named, accompanied by Joliet, a political agent of the French Government, arrived at Green Bay, where they found an Indian village, and procured guides to ascend the Fox river to Portage, whence they descended the Wisconsin and the Mississippi. Marquette rested at St. Marie, so naming the place, and is the first white man of whom we have any authentic record as having actually trod the soil of what is now Green Lake County.

The Sieur Augustin De Langlade and his son Charles were the founders of the first permanent settlement at Green Bay about 1745. Charles De Langlade became famous in the trading and petty warfare of the early settlement of Northern Wisconsin. Their establishment and success gradually led to that of others, and the Fox and Wisconsin rivers became the favorite route of all those, who from love of adventure, or drawn by the extremely profitable nature of the Indian trade, sought to reach the interior country, or the "great river." So profitable was the trade that many entered into it who had been reared in luxury and ease, scions of the aristocracy of France, who sought to enrich themselves speedily that they might return to "la belle France," where their wealth would be acceptable, and from the distance at which it was obtained a convenient oblivion would cover the "plebian" stigma of the means—labor and trade. Still it was to this spirit of adventure and love of gain, that Wisconsin was indebted for its early settlement.

In 1766, Capt. Jonathan Carver started from Green Bay up the Fox and down the Wisconsin rivers. With prophetic eye he foresaw the greatness to which this country might attain. Green Bay was first so called by the Captain's party on this expedition.

The Menominees, Winnebagoes, and the Foxes appear to have been the occupants of the river banks and adjacent country, when the whites first began to arrive. The Menominees have ever been firm and faithful allies. The Foxes, assisted by the Sacs, early disputed the passage and encroachments of the French, and were the only Indian tribe that great nation had to wage war against in the Northwest, but in a most sanguinary fight at Butte des Morts, (Hill of the Dead) the French, under De Lovigny, destroyed most of their warriors, and completely broke their warlike spirit. Previously, the Foxes and their allies, the Sacs, held possession of the banks of the Fox river, and levied toll on all passing boats; and as they were not particular what they took, nor how they took it, so long as they got enough; and as they had never been incorporated as an Improvement Company, of course, the whites objected to the payment, and their final arguments, as made by De Lovigny, were effectual. The Indians were undoubtedly good judges of position, for it is a remarkable fact that nearly all the principal cities and villages throughout the country were originally the sites of Indian Villages.

The Indians have been so shamefully mal-treated and debased in their intercourse with the civilized whites, and their total extinction, in consequence, is so certain a fact that it is a painful task to record the inter-dealing of the two races. Never was "Man's inhumanity to man" more thoroughly exemplified. Let it suffice, that they are rapidly disappearing from the face of the earth, and in seasons when the whites revelled in plenty teeming from the lands of which they had dispossessed the redmen, the latter as stated by good authority, (Hon. G. D. Williams) were reduced to the dire necessity of slaughtering and eating their own children!

The country, now Wisconsin, remained under the government of France, from its earliest settlement until 1763, nearly a century, then for a little over thirty years Great Britain held sovereignty over it; Virginia, and then Ohio, claimed it for the next six years; it formed part of Indiana for nine years; Illinois nine, then of Michigan for eighteen. It was organized as a separate Territory of the United States in 1836, and as a State in 1848.

What is now Green Lake County was under the Judicial jurisdiction of Brown County for a time. Marquette County was established in 1836, and fully organized on the admission of the State, in 1848, with county seat at Marquette. Green Lake County was separated from Marquette County by Act of Legislature, 1858, county seat at Berlin. We will now give the geographical location and description of the County and then proceed with such facts as properly pertain to the County.

Green Lake County is situated between 33° and 34° West Longitude; it is bounded north by Waushara, east by Winnebago and Fond du Lac, south by Columbia and Dodge, and west by Marquette counties. Its greatest length is twenty-seven miles, and greatest breadth eighteen miles. The Fox river, one of the most important natural water-roads of the country, runs from south-west to north-east through the western towns of the county, affording the cheapest and best transportation for its products. This is the only navigable stream, but the whole county is well watered by its tributaries and by numerous springs of most excellent quality. There are also several beautiful lakes, which will be spoken of in connection with the towns in which they are contained or border on. The county is generally undulating, although there are some high, broken lands in the southern part. Marshes of considerable extent, affording inexhaustable pasturage, border on all the streams ; they are generally susceptible of drainage, and will be made extremely productive when brought under tillage. Beautiful prairies occur throughout the county ; here, as elsewhere, these have generally been the lands most sought for, from the facility of cultivation, but the openings are justly considered as among the finest in the State. In fact, the county presents every desirable kind of soil, and is so diversified that every choice, or reasonable desire can be gratified. Generally the soil of the prairies is rich brown or black earth, that of the high lands a clayey loam, and the valleys sandy loam. In the western towns of the county there is much sandy land ; although not so strong as other soils, this is found to be very quick and productive—excellent for small fruits, vegetables and most of the grains. Wheat is, at present, the principal crop, too much so in this, as it is in most other parts of the Northwest. A bad crop, or low price of this one grain, consequently has a very depressing effect ; which will continue to be the case until farmers, from a succession of years of failure of crop, or lowness of price, are forced to turn their attention to a system of rotation of crops, varied by the introduction of products at present almost unknown, yet well suited to our soil, and to the more extensive raising of stock and dairy products, for which purpose no portion of the State surpasses this.

In addition to Wheat ; Rye, Corn, Oats, Sorghum, Potatoes, etc., are raised to considerable extent and yield abundantly. In regard to fruit, the Apple—proper regard being had to the hardiness and adaptability of the variety—bears well, of fairer fruit than is commonly seen at the Most of the same kinds, endures our winters, and will become a source of great profit. Before many years elapse, we shall have nearly direct railroad communication with Minnesota, which with the country west of that, and north of Nebraska, must mainly depend on Wisconsin and Michigan for its supply of fruit. Every variety of grape, and the small fruits capable of cultivation in this latitude, do well here, supplying all our local wants, and ready to yield a surplus for less favored spots. The cranberry is native to our soil, and from certain peculiarities of climate, and the natural facilities for cultivation, can be raised to more profit, and of finer quality, in this and some other parts of Northern Wisconsin, than anywhere else. A considerable trade is already carried on in them, the demand is constant and yearly increasing, and the profit of this crop where the soil and location are favorable, is greater than that of any other compared to the expense and labor. Some fruits not yet grown in this locality, or rejected after too brief a trial, as the Peach, Pear, and Quince, &c., will yet be naturalized among us when proper attention is paid to choice of the most suitable varieties, mode and position for planting, and gradual acclimation by deriving our plants always from the nearest similar location.

The principal geological feature of the county is the prevalence of Limestone, generally accompanied by sandstone, in nearly all the county east of Fox River. This Lime is of excellent quality for burning, affords good building material, which will be more used, probably, than it has been, and is well adapted to the amelioration of much of our soil. A kind of granite is found in Berlin which is used considerably for basements, etc. No metallic ores have yet been found in any quantity to pay working.

What may be styled the Political History of the county may be summarily stated. On the first of June 1858, the several towns forming the county of Marquette, as then existing, voted on the question of division, and the result was as follows :

Majority for division.....380

The county was accordingly divided, although at the last previous regular election there had been 358 majority against division.

The officers of the new county (Green Lake) when organized in 1858, were as follows :

County Judge—EZRA WHEELER.

Sheriff—ALFRED BROWN.

Clerk of Court—ISAAC H. COMSTOCK.

Clerk of the Board—C. L. SARGENT.

Treasurer—CHAUNCEY M. PHELPS.

Register—G. DE WITT ELWOOD.

District Attorney—A. B. HAMILTON.

At the time of division, Marquette county contained about 16,000 inhabitants, and the portion which became Green Lake county had rather more than half of the whole. The county contained the following towns: Berlin, Brooklyn, Princeton, Green Lake, Mackford, Manchester, Kingston, Marquette, Dayton, (since divided and annexed to the adjoining towns) St. Marie and Seneca. The City of Berlin was chosen the county seat. Princeton was its chief competitor, coming within eighty votes of securing the coveted prize.

EARLY SETTLEMENT OF GREEN LAKE COUNTY.

According to the order we have proposed to pursue it is now time for us to take a hasty view of the early settlement of this County; imperfect it will have to be, from the paucity of material facts, and the difficulty of obtaining them; but still such as we have, we trust, will convey a general idea of the subject.

It is with considerable delicacy of feeling, we approach the almost invariably disputed point in any given territory or settlement—who was the first settler? In the original garden of Eden the question seems to be authoritatively settled; but in these modern Paradises—these Edens of the West, there are always many claimants of the honor, and more recent the fact, the more numerous the disputants. We shall, however, content ourselves with stating the results of our gleanings, and disclaiming infallibility, merely claim that what we state is as near the truth as we have been able to get.

A Mr. Gleason, from Vermont, appears to have been the first actual white settler—there is probability in it, as he was a Yankee—he located where the Village of Marquette now stands, as early as 1831. He was an Indian trader, cultivated land, and kept a store.

James Powell settled in the town of Green Lake in 1835, or before. In that year he had land under cultivation, a quarter-section fenced in.

Mr. H. McDonald was the third settler in the County. He located in the town of Mackford, and broke the first land in the town, near where Mr. William Butler now lives. In 1832, during the Indian (Black Hawk) war, Mr. McDonlad lived near Portage. General Taylor with his command marched through Green Lake County, in pursuit of Black Hawk, traversing what was called the old Military Road. Mr. McDonald built a Saw Mill at Mackford, in 1840. When he located, and for some time after, Green Bay was still the trading point for all this country. He used to go to Beloit and Otter Creek for grist, and to Portage for blacksmithing. At that time it was very difficult to raise Pork, the Indians had such a partiality for roast pig that Mr. McDonald, and other early settlers, failed in nearly every attempt.

Mr. Austin McCracken was one of the earliest settlers in Mackford. About one mile from Markesan he erected a Saw Mill in 1848, and 1855 a fine Flouring and Grist Mill. Among those now more rapidly following the example of Gleason, Powell, and McDonald, we may mention L. Martin, an old soldier named McGee, and Wm. Carter, as settling in the neighborhood of Lake Maria, about 1844, about the same time came S. Carter, two persons named Stuart (or Stewart) and a Mr. Robinson. In 1845, Messrs. Mathews, Barlow and Miller located here; nearly all went to farming. Miller brought some fifteen hundred sheep, but from want of care, or experience of the requirements of the new location, soon lost most of them.

We now turn our attention to Powell's neighborhood, (Green Lake). Dart with two sons located at the outlet of Twin Lake, in 1840, and in 1841 built a Grist Mill, putting up about that time the first frame house. They came from Green Bay up the Fox River in boats, up Puckayan Creek to the Lake, reaching their destination after a fatiguing voyage of eleven days. Mr. Beall and family came the same year, broke the first piece of prairie land. Mr. Bazeley and Pier (a Stockbridge Indian) employed by Beall, did the work that fall. This town soon became the grand rendezvous for those who were looking up land in this section, and Messrs. Burdick and Cable had a room at Beall's house, which they used as a Land Office, locating lands for settlers. The first Post Office in the County was here, at Sat. Clark's; it was however, removed to E. Smith's store, one mile north of Center House. This store was the second in the County—Gleason's at Marquette being the first. Here we will mention that a Mr. Leroy came near figuring as one of the first settlers. He had picked out and secured, as he supposed, one of the best locations in town, but as there was a discrepancy between his papers and actual survey, he found that his deed covered a very different piece to what he anticipated. In 1845, Mr. Dart located at Dartford, building a large Grist Mill there in 1849, in connection with J. C. Sherwood. In 1846, R. Day, J. Burt, Henry Pratt and others came to Little Green; and in 1847, N. Gleason, G. Rector, J. S. Gardner and others came. At that time, the present county comprised three electoral precincts, Puckaway, Lake Maria and Big Green. Big Green had a Store, Post Office, Blacksmith's shop, and a few settlers. Mr. S. R. Lathrop settled here January, 1847. S. H. Palmer was the first man to venture on a location on the prairie; he built a frame house about half a mile east of the Center House and kept travelers.

In 1847, Mr. Atkins, who seems to have been the first in the town of Berlin, put up a log cabin near Peck's Corners, and kept a sort of a tavern. Decker's, about a mile north was the first frame house in this neighborhood. In May of this year, (1847) Nathan Strong entered the land on which part of the City of Berlin now stands; August same year, Mr. Thos. Noyes purchased from him the undivided half of three fractional pieces of land. Mr. Strong had a shanty on the corner lot south of Hamilton's store. He, with O. Wilson and Noyes were the only inhabitants of the future City. In the spring of 1848, the first plowing was done where the Briggs House lately stood, and where unfortunately, the plow again has sway. In the fall of 1847, Mr. Montague, C. R. Taylor, D. W. C. Benham, D. R. Shailer, and Dr. Merriman came; J. Day and Family came January 1848, and built the first frame house. C. R. Taylor kept the first tavern, (on the Briggs House site,) and Montague had the first store. In the spring of 1848, the first town meeting was held at Noyes's shanty; the vote of the whole town was 32.

A road to Stevens Point was laid out in 1849-50; all the lumber for the new settlement for a long time came from the Point. At that time there were very few whites between the Point and Strong's Landing—perhaps none except at Shumwaytown. A Post Office was established here in 1848; Mr. Conant, first Post Master—the mail came once a week on horse-back. Post Office named Berlin, by request of Post Master General. Berlin soon began to grow rapidly.

In 1847, D. E. Lewis, J. Larkin and J. F. Brown commenced the Seventh Day Baptist settlement, in the town of Berlin, on the east side of the river and about two miles west of Peck's Corners. The first organization of their society took place in 1850, under the Rev. J. M. Todd, with 14 members. This has grown into a considerable and thrifty settlement. The log cabin, half a mile north of the school house, was the first building erected in this part of the town.

In the north of the town of Berlin is the village of Sacramento. This was plotted by James Hobden, in 1849 he sold to Mr. Townsend. Messrs. Walker and Eickstaedt were among the first settlers here. In 1857, there were a steam Saw Mill, Post Office, a large cooper shop, a tavern, shoe shops, washing machine factories, and a whisky distillery, all in, or near Sacramento, but now there are none of them. The business of Sacramento has naturally gravitated to Berlin. Some of the "old settlers" of this vicinity still recollect the great Indian war which did not take place here. A great number of Indians had gathered for peaceful purposes, festivity was the order of the day (and night also) to them, but their white neighbors worked themselves up into a state of crazy fear, and it is a wonder they did not kill all the Indians for innocently scaring them—which thing has happened more than once under similar circumstances. After a grand celebration with "corn juice" and fixings, something after the manner of our Editorial Traveling Conventions and other civilized doings, the Indians dispersed, and the settlers recovered their equanimity.

Let us now glance at the Princeton neighborhood. In 1848, John Winchell had a log cabin, the first in the town of Princeton, about 3 miles east of the Village. This was the first building in the town; here he kept tavern; here the first election, and the first court in the town were held. In July 1848, R. C. Treat located 132 acres, and built a shanty, on what is now block 13 of the Village of Princeton. Mr. Parsons lived with him. John Knapp and family came in February of the ensuing year. Knapp kept the first tavern, and in 1850, F. Durand opened the first store. The Village was plotted in 1849. The town was organized with St. Marie the same year. At first election in the town there were 80 votes cast, village having 3. As we treat of Princeton and other villages in another part of the book we need follow this part of our subject no further.

The town of Brooklyn at first settlement was called Lexington. On its organization in January, 1849, the name was changed to Arcade, and again changed to Brooklyn in the winter of 1850.

Col. Shaw located on the river below Sacramento in 1846, but only stayed about a year and a half, when he removed to St. Marie in 1848, where he was the first settler. The town of St. Marie like Sacramento and Mackford has steadily declined, owing to the proximity of rivals presenting superior facilities for trade. The first settler in Seneca, Mr. Ayshford, arrived about 1850. The Four-mile House is the first and only tavern in the town.

The county of Green Lake from its earliest settlement to the present time has made steady progress in wealth and population. The population in 1857 was about 10,000; in 1860, 12,663. At present it is about 15,000. The aggregate value of real and personal estate in the county in 1857 was over a million; in 1860 about two millions. The approximate value of the same at the present time is probably a little less than $8,000,000. Handsome frame and brick dwellings all over the country have replaced the board shanty and the log cabin, the land is almost universally under cultivation, school houses are in convenient reach of every neighborhood, and every citizen of Green Lake County may feel a just pride in the place of his birth or adoption.

This county did her whole duty in the late war, as the subjoined statement will show; when compared with the population, we think no comment is necessary on our part.

Troops furnished by Green Lake County, as shown by Report of the Adjutant General of the State:

Quotas.....	796
Recruits.....	509
Veterans.....	49
Drafted.....	137
Distribution of excess of 4,352 prior to Octo- ber 12th, 1862.....	53
Distribution of credits to localities at large, July 18th, 1865.....	78
Total credits.....	826

The County was represented by companies, or parts of companies in the following: 5th, 11th, 16th, 22d, 30th, 32d, 38th, 41st, 46th, 47th and 49th Regiments of Infantry, 1st Regiment of Cavalry, in the 3d and 12th Batteries of Artillery, and 1st Regiment of Heavy Artillery.

In addition the County had gallant representatives in the naval arm of the service.

IMPROVEMENT

FOX AND WISCONSIN RIVERS.

One of the most vital interests of Green Lake County is the improvement of the navigation on the Fox and Wisconsin Rivers. For about sixty miles the former stream runs through the County, inviting all who have produce to ship or goods to receive, to avail themselves of one of Nature's highways. Under the auspices of the "Fox and Wisconsin Rivers Improvement Company" but little progress is to be expected; but every growing city, every thriving village, every community through or near whose borders these rivers roll, are bound by a just regard to their true interests to make every exertion to secure the full measure of advantage to be derived from the position of these two rivers. If, in the present financial position of our Government it is found impracticable to make it a National work, as it ought to be, then let Wisconsin, with the assistance of Iowa, Minnesota and Missouri, which are deeply interested in the matter, proceed as the great States of New York and Pennsylvania did. In affairs of this kind it does not follow, because the tolls yield only a small percentage on the cost, that the undertaking is an unprofitable one. It appears to us, that there may be a larger profit really in two per cent. from an outlay for such a purpose as this, than ten or twenty per cent. derived from model Prisons, etc.

A grant of land was made by Congress in 1846 to the State of Wisconsin to aid in the improvement of the Fox and Wisconsin rivers. This grant was accepted in 1848, and the work commenced. But in consequence of a report by the State officers having charge of the work, in 1853, stating that the improvement could not be completed from the avails of the grant without a long delay, and the Legislature, on constitutional grounds, refusing to issue Bonds, it was resolved to surrender the whole improvement and the unsold lands, privileges, etc., to a company. Almost unlimited powers and privileges were conceded to this Company, in order to compensate them for the work they undertook to complete. The Company had the franchise of collecting tolls on boats and property passing through. They had 400,000 acres of selected lands; 350,000 more claimed by them. Boats of a good class have at high stages of water gone through from Green Bay to the Mississippi; but what is only done occasionally ought to be the regular course of trade. The Improvement Company is mainly composed of those, who belonging to other States, and having no interests in this, seek only the largest returns for the smallest outlay, and will not make this, what it ought to become, one of the grand arteries of the world's commerce, the route for the transport of nearly all the products of the Far West to Eastern markets.

The first boats passed through the locks between Green Bay and Lake Winnebago in the spring of 1857. The distance from Berlin to Oshkosh is 25 miles, and from Berlin to Portage City about 50 miles. The Wisconsin is navigable for steamboats from Portage to the Mississippi, about 135 miles.

The only Railroad point in the County is Berlin, much of the produce of the County finds outlets at Ripon and Brandon; a road that shall pass through Markesan and other villages in the southern part of this County is much needed, and it would tap so fine and prosperous a country that it would pay well. Whenever the Sheboygan & Mississippi Railroad is continued, it appears certain that it must take this route. Meantime, the wagon roads of the County should, wherever practicable, be shortened, and generally improved, and new ones, wherever needed, should be helped with a liberal hand, and pushed energetically forward. We shall return to this subject in connection with the City of Berlin.

CITY OF BERLIN.

This growing city is situated near the northeast corner of the County of Green Lake in the town of Berlin. In earlier days its chief claim for settlement was owing to its being the only good crossing or landing on Fox River for many miles above or below. A ferry was here established in 1848, called Strong's Landing, from the name of Nathan Strong, the one who established it.

In May, 1847, Strong entered the land on which part of the city now stands. The only building at that time was a board shanty on the corner lot south of Hamiltons' store; O. Wilson and Nathan Strong were the only inhabitants; Mr. Noyes' family were the second that located in what is now the city of Berlin; Mr. Conant and family came in September; I. O. Seely and family in October; Joel Day and family in June 1848.

The first frame house in this place was built by Mr. Day in January, 1848. The first plowing was in the spring of 1848, near where the Briggs House recently stood, which was built by C. R. Taylor and was the second frame house built in the place.

In the winter of 1849-50, a road was laid out to Stevens Point. There was not a white man then living between Berlin and Plover.

Mr. Conant was appointed the first Postmaster in the spring of 1848. The first quarter's postage amounted to $1.60. He held the office one year and a half. The last quarter's postage was $33. Mail came once a week. About this time, 1847-8, Puckway (now Marquette) had a trading post, tavern and two or three other buildings. Dartford, a tavern, blacksmith shop, and store. Waukau, a saw mill, log tavern, and about twelve buildings.

What was once called Strong's Landing has rapidly grown in population and wealth.

Its location as a business place is excelled by but a very few inland cities in this part of the country. Its natural and acquired facilities are very many. It is delightfully situated upon high ground and spreads out before one on either side of the river, a place of life, beauty and enterprise. It is situated a little over ninety miles north-west of Milwaukee, and is the terminus of one branch of the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad. The Fox River runs through the center of the city over which a substantial swing bridge has been built costing about $6,000, connecting the east and west parts of the city.

The principal part of the city is on the east side of the river, and is built upon a swell of land running west from the high lands on the east, one-half mile north and south forming a beautiful and desirable site for the location of a city. The soil, a sandy loam, makes little mud in the streets, and has been proved by cultivation to be a first quality of garden soil.

Huron street, running east and west three-quarters of a mile, is the chief mart of commerce. It has many very good buildings.

A fire, on the morning of January 19th, 1860, consumed the entire south part of the block, from corner of Wisconsin to Pearl streets, being then about one-fifth of the business part of Huron street. But as is generally the case, the business men cleared away the rubbish and this part of the city, Phoenix-like, rose from her ashes and is now the principal part of Huron street.

On the west side of the river the city is spread out over a plateau of some three hundred acres.

Broadway, running from the foot of Huron street for nearly a mile to the highlands on the west, intersected with streets at right angles, forms a very beautiful street.

The city, on both sides of the river, has many desirable lots, which, for beauty of location and prospect, can hardly be surpassed.

The valley of the Fox river at this place is perhaps one mile in width, enclosed along the city by banks elevated sufficiently on the east side to be above any ordinary rise, while on the west side highlands extend from the banks of the river, and for more than half a mile the current flows quietly and smoothly along. The valley, with the exception of a marsh south of the city, some low lands to the south and north of the high land on which the city is built, is high, dry land.

On the south side of Broadway there is quite a large school edifice very well situated, and on the north side of Huron street there is another beautiful school building, lately built, costing about twenty-two thousand dollars. It is situated upon a rise of land commanding a very beautiful prospect of the surrounding country.

The city of Berlin for salubrity of climate and general atmosphere offers a desirable place for a residence. Its growth has not yet gone beyond the ability of the country to sustain; ample inducements are within the reach of all to obtain a good living; there are no gorgeous fanes or marble temples, no palatial palaces frowning upon the less pretentious dwellings of the children of toil. The dwellings are in perfect keeping with the growth and prosperity of the city.

The city proper has a population of a little less than 4,000.

A daily line of Steamboats run between Berlin and Oshkosh, touching at intermediate points, and connecting here with a tri-weekly steamer running to Princeton, Marquette; Montello and Packwaukee. Two daily mails from the East; one daily line of Stages to Wautoma and Stevens Point, and a tri-weekly to Waupaca.

The natural advantages of this place as the outlet on the river for a rich and fertile country, which, owing to its location, will find this its best and most feasible market, are hardly at this day realized. A rich farming country will, as it comes into cultivation, carry along with it the wealth and destinies of this city as a natural consequence, being the centre of trade and market for the disposal of the produce of the soil, it needs but the continuation of that enterprise which has at this day made it a place of trade and commerce for a large portion of the surrounding country. For the future we have the history of the past to warrant the stability and enterprise of her business men, as well as the assurance that the prosperity of the city is on a permanent basis; it is beyond a doubt extending and enlarging. A healthful increase in population from year to year, warrants the belief that Berlin is to become one of the brightest jewels in the diadem of the State.

Berlin is the terminus of one branch of the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad. The subjoined facts are extracted from the Fifth Annual Report of that Road, being for the year 1868, and from an article in that excellent paper THE BERLIN COURANT. Of staple articles of produce there were forwarded from different prominent stations in Wisconsin, as follows:

“The smallness of the figures at the Winneconne Station are partially accounted for by the fact that the returns are for only a part of the year.

It will be noted that a larger number of tons freight was sent from Omro than from any other station on the line of the Northern Division, although the produce trade was comparatively small. The export from Omro was chiefly in lumber, which counts up tons faster than dollars. The return freight to Omro looks very small, but we presume these figures do not represent the business of the place, as their merchants doubtless received a large portion of their heavy merchandise via Fox River. This will also explain the comparatively small amount of freight received at the Berlin Station. A very large portion of our heavy freights, including salt, stoves, lime, etc., comes by water. The produce exported by water is also considerable. The shipments of hay alone, by water, amount to more than 600 tons per annum.

“In connection with the above table it must be remembered that all the towns on the line of road below Berlin, import all the lumber and shingles they sell, and it is counted in tons, with merchandise; all the lumber imported into Berlin is by river, while it adds but little comparatively to our exports by rail. Leaving out of the account the large amount of merchandise received by the river, we have no doubt that the merchandise received at the Berlin Station, exceed by at least one hundred per cent. that received at any other station on the Northern Division.

“It will be seen that the amount and value of produce forwarded from Berlin, exceeds that of any other station on the Northern Division, or the towns named in the list. We think that, with the exception of La Crosse and Praire du Chien, more produce is shipped from Berlin Station than any other station in the State. Ripon is slightly ahead of us on the single item of wheat, her shipments including flour, (counting five bushels of wheat to a barrel of flour) amounting to 255,696 bushels, while those of Berlin were 250,679 bushels. But we export from 75,000 to 100,000 bushels of rye per annum, which with other articles carry the total shipments to 5,071 tons in excess of Ripon.

“On the Northern Division, Ripon and Beaver Dam alone are ahead of us in the item of passengers, and our passengers by boats will more than make up the difference.

The comparison all round, is very satisfactory to Berlin, and shows that we are make good time in the general race for empire."

At present this is the only Railroad from or to Berlin while others are feasible, and would probably pay for construction, one is imperatively demand for the interests of Berlin; that is a Railroad from Berlin, through Wautoma, to Stevens Point. This would secure to Berlin, what is already its most important trade; and in connection with the now, certain increase of manufactures, give it such an impetus on the road to commercial prosperity as none of its neighboring competitors could hope to rival.

A gravel road is now proposed from Berlin to Wautoma.

The road, when completed, will extend north from Berlin three miles, thence in a northwesterly direction nine miles, to the north line of the town of Warren in Waushara County, thence due west ten miles to Wautoma. All the bridges are now built, and there is an abundant supply of gravel along the entire route, to grade the road in a substantial manner.

The first twelve miles of the proposed route is entirely free from sand, and extends through a timber country.

When completed, the road will possess many advantages over the present route between the above mentioned places. Not only will the sandy road now used be avoided and the traveling distance shortened, but it will give the people residing near the center of Waushara County, direct communication with Berlin, which they do not now enjoy.

The subscriptions in the country are much larger than expected, and if the work is pushed forward with earnestness, the subscription list will doubtless amount to much more than it does at the present time.

A good road through this section of the country, is very much needed, not only for the people of Waushara county, but also for those of Berlin.

Another road is now being surveyed, running south from Berlin.

A large portion of the people below this place, are compelled to go to other places to trade, on account of there not being a direct route to this place. On this account the people of Berlin are quite a little interested in the new survey, and are determined to push the matter along, and make for the people south of her, a good road and a direct route to their city.

The people of Green Lake County are becoming more interested every year, in the very important subject of having good roads.

BERLIN MANUFACTURES.

Inland towns like Berlin, if they they are not so placed with regard to trading or manufactories, as to enjoy unusual natural facilities,—either from position, as Chicago, or from a great reserve of Power furnished by nature, as at Minneapolis, are apt to attain a certain development, and then stop their comparative growth,—only deriving augmentation of wealth and population from the gradual increase common to the civilized world. Some, in fact, from trade taking to itself, new channels, and from a total neglect to provide new sources of wealth, stagnate and decay. Others again, like Lowell in Massachussetts, and Birmingham in England, without possessing extraordinary natural advantages, by dint of well directed energy and enterprise, grow to be marvels of prosperous industry.

At some considerable expense Berlin could be furnished with water-power, but it is a question if it could be intro- duced and used as cheaply as steam. Whatever the power, it is perfectly plain that there are many branches of manufacturing industry that could as well be carried on here as any where else, and there are some that should be local in any place as large as Berlin. Of the former class, are Agricultural Implements, generally, and all articles of which wood, hard or soft, furnishes the main stock; excellent timber of all desirable kinds being near at hand. Glass too, as fuel is cheap and abundant, and there is a bed of the most suitable quality of sand in the vicinity of Berlin. Manufacture of Iron goods could be greatly and profitably increased here. The manufacture of Leather and the goods made from it, should be more extensively pursued; Berlin being already a great Hide market; bark of the right quality being cheap and accessible. At present, the bulk of the Hides and Pelts are shipped off, and the manufactured goods returned, involving the loss to the consumer, of two freights. But this list might be prolonged indefinitely as almost any manufactures suited to the Markets might be prosecuted to advantage.

There are many articles among the smaller manufactures, on which the freight alone ranges from ten to twenty five per cent on the cost of the goods, thus ensuring to the manufacturer a fair profit, on goods capable of being made as cheaply on the spot as abroad. This class of goods is numerous and their total consumption and sale in Berlin, amounts to a large sum annually. We will only enumerate—Starch, Soap, Vinegar, Pottery ware and Glue; but many minor articles indicated are cheap and abundant in Berlin or its neighborhood.

So far there has been no apparent willingness, on the part of the citizens generally to encourage attempts at establishing manufactories of any kind; it is very greatly to be hoped that a more enlightened sense of "self-interest" will now prevail.

Berlin has already however, some manufactories, of importance, we shall mention the principle ones. There are two large Flouring Mills, Foundry and Machine Shop, four extensive Wagon and Carriage manufactories, Plow makers, Jones & Slayton Bros. Spring Bed Factory, (which is a speciality to Berlin), the new Carding Mill, which it is hoped will grow into a Woolen Factory, two manufacturing Furniture establishments, three considerable Boot and Shoe manufactories and some smaller ones; one Steam Saw Mill, one Sash, Door and Blind Factory and Planing Mill, one Corn and Feed Mill, two Pump manufactories, one Windmill maker, one Churn maker, a Brewery, an extensive Bakery establishment, two Tinneries, an excellent Tannery and Glove and Mitten manufactory, a Brick maker, and a Pipe Organ manufacturing establishment, several engaged in the manufacture of male and female clothing, including a Hoop Skirt Factory. There are also a Fanning Mill and Milk Safe Factory, a Hay Pressing and Baling establishment, three manufacturing Jewelers, and many others. To these, and their like, must Berlin owe its future prosperity. Every dollar's worth of manufactured goods made on the spot is a gain to the whole community, and every dollar paid for those imported, if capable of home production, is a loss.

VILLAGE OF MARKESAN.

This handsome and thriving Village is located on Grand River in the town of Mackford. The land is rather uneven, but only enough so to give a picturesque effect to the general view. The first frame house built on present site of the Village was by Mr. John B. Seward in 1844, which is still standing. He afterwards started a saw mill and grist mill. This mill, much improved, is now run as a Flouring Mill only. The Village was "platted" in 1849, John Chappell and C. E. Russell proprietors, and is one and a half miles square; it was incorporated May 1853. The first officers were, Ira Manley, President; John Parker, P. Nelson, G. Harris, E. A. Wilder, and M. George, Trustees; R. Lexington, Clerk. The early settlers were of good stock, mainly Yankees, with a sprinkling of English, and the present prosperity and enterprise of the Village shows that it has not deteriorated. Markesan is certainly in point of natural opportunities, trade and enterprise the leading Village in the southern portion of the County, and there are good grounds for hope that the Railroad from Sheboygan to Portage City may pass through it, in which case, its trade, already considerable, must receive a great impetus and its growth be rapid. It is the center of a rich and beautiful farming country in which it possesses no rivals of importance, and without railroad or water communications its increase in wealth and population has been, and will be, steadily onward.

The district school house is well located, and a fine building—one of the best in the County—and is well conducted. The Universalists have a neat Church, built in 1857, society organized same year. The Congregationalists finished in 1858 a well built and handsome edifice; their society was organized in 1847. The Methodist Episcopal, organized in 1859, have a neat frame Church.

The stores, etc., of the Village in variety of stock, lowness of price, obliging and fair dealing proprietors challenge comparison with any in, or out of the county of Green Lake. The reader is referred, for details, to the Business Directory and the advertisements following this sketch.

VILLAGE OF KINGSTON.

This Village like Markesan and Manchester is on Grand River which furnishes power for a Flouring Mill here. It was organized in 1858. Is built upon elevated land and pleasantly situated. Mr. J. H. Dart made the first settlement here about 1845. A Mr. Kilmer erected the first frame dwelling in 1846, and the first store was opened soon after by Mr. E. R. Stevens. In 1858, Kingston was represented to possess about 900 inhabitants, and as the population is now less than 400, it would be unfair to represent it as very prosperous. As it is in a fine country, and has a good location, there must be some cause or causes of its declension, which might be discovered, and perhaps obviated. Want of anything like decent Hotel accomodation is enough to drive strangers from such a place; but the chief evil would seem to be that the Village has been chosen as a sort of headquarters, by a gang of thieves, counterfeiters and incendiary rioters, who occasionally varied the pleasant monotony of their business avocations, by the perpetration of even worse crimes. In the fall of 1868, a fire destroyed five of the best store buildings, and is supposed to have been the work of part of this gang. Lately a part of them have been arrested for offences against the United States laws, and it is to be hoped that the dispersal of the others may follow, restoring peace and prosperity to the little community. There is a good Public School here, well taught and attended. One frame Church, built by the Baptists, but now owned by the Methodist society.

VILLAGE OF MARQUETTE.

This has the most picturesque situation of any village in this or any of the surrounding counties. The business portion is principally built on low sandy ground, but tasteful and even elegant dwellings surmount the hill, presenting a fine appearance from any approach. The old Marquette county buildings, long departed from their original uses, add something of architectural effect to the scene, and the tout ensemble is completed by Lake Puckaway and the broad views of hill and dale, marsh and upland extending in all directions. Lake Puckaway, on which the village is situated, is eight miles long and from half a mile to a mile wide; it is really an expansion of Fox River. Marquette is, consequently, one of the long string of flourishing cities and villages lining the banks of that stream, and is the natural shipping point for a large extent of productive country. It is a thriving Village, presenting every promise of growing prosperity. Well located and established, with its business in the hands of men who have no superiors in tact and energy, with a population far above the average in intellect and that spirit of sociability which knits communities together, Marquette must grow into a place of considerable importance.

The first settler on the village site (and it is said in the town or county either) was an Indian trader by the name of Gleason from Vermont. He was here as early as 1831, had a store and cultivated land. The first tavern was built about 1848. The town (bearing the same name) was organized in 1849. Some of the old county buildings are used for Church purposes. The Public School is well conducted, and an excellent Select School maintained. There is a large brick building intended for a hotel, not in use, and will soon, probable, be converted to manufacturing purposes. There is also a Door, Sash and Blind Factory, two very extensive Lumber Yards and excellent dock accommodations for steamboats.

VILLAGE OF DARTFORD.

This Village is pleasantly situated at the outlet of Green Lake. The Village is regularly platted out. The first frame house was built on the corner of Main and Hill streets, and owned by Mr. Simpson. Mr. Olin moved into the town in 1848. At that time there were but two houses in the Village, one frame and one log house.

Mr. Dart located here in 1845, and in connection with Mr. Sherwood, built a Grist Mill and a Saw Mill, in 1849.

The Congregational Society organized in 1849 under the charge of Rev. C. Marsh, Home Missionary, with seven members; have quite a good church edifice situated on an elevated part of the Village.

A Methodist Society was organized in 1849; thirteen members; Rev. R. S. Haywood, Pastor, Mr. L. D. Olin, Class Leader. The Society commenced the building of a house in 1851 and completed it in 1853. The house is a very neat and tasteful one for a Village like Dartford.

Dartford like Mackford is composed of two words—Dart and ford. It took this name from Mr. Dart, one of the pioneers in this section of country.

The originators of the word Mackford thought no doubt that the name was very appropriate for the place, as there was a ford there, and a large number of persons whose names commenced with Mc.

Mr. Dart in consideration of the honor conferred in having the Village named after him, gave to the Methodist Episcopal Church, for public use, a bell, whose clear tones may be heard even now every Sabbath day summoning the people to the house of God.

Dartford for beauty of scenery and a healthful location is unsurpassed by but a very few places in this part of the country.

This place possesses at present one Flouring Mill, one Woolen Factory, which indeed is quite a prosperous one, and is able to supply the country for many miles around with cloth of home manufacture, which of course is preferable to cloth made from—"one knows not what,"—two Dry Goods and general merchandise stores, also a Boot and Shoe shop, a Drug store, a Planing Mill, Sash, Door, and Blind Factory, a Blacksmith shop, Cooper shop, two Harness shops, Post Office, and three Hotels.

The Court House is situated here, on the west side of Main street.

Dartford offers a pleasant and healthful summer resort on account of its being situated on Green Lake, which is about ten miles long and averages in width from two to three miles.

VILLAGE OF PRINCETON.

This Village is situated like Berlin and Marquette on the Fox River, about 25 miles from the former place and 20 miles from the latter. Royal C. Treat arrived on the present site of the Village on the 15th of April, 1848. July 2nd staked out a claim where the Village now stands; put up the first building—a shanty—hauling the boards from Stevens Point. The shanty was built opposite the house of E. Manthey, Main street, east side of the bridge.

The Indians were very troublesome at this time and our pioneer found it very difficult to hold a footing among the red men of this place. They pulled off the boards from his shanty, and without a “rap” or a “thank you sir” committed depredations upon his flour and pork barrels; and also in a very unceremonious manner carried away his blankets and cooking utensils. In order to fortify himself against these depredators he built a log house. Although there were no boards to tear off yet he suffered more or less from the encroachments of the red men.

In September Nelson M. Parsons, now in Idaho, joined him. J. Knapp and family came in February. In 1849 this place was called Treat’s Landing. Mr. Treat and his brother, H. B. Treat, went to the Land Office at Green Bay and in June 1849 returned owners of 132 acres of land. They laid out the Village and named it Princeton. John Knapp was the first Post Master.

The first store was built by Byron Harmon and Charles Stacey, F. Durand opened with Dry Goods, Groceries and General Merchandise. The second store was put up on the south-west corner of Water and Pearl streets (now site of A. G. Hopkins & Son's Hardware store), erected by Barton Chute for Dr. Sargent, who rented it to A. Randall & Bros., for a General Merchandise store. In 1850 W. S. & A. L. Flint laid the foundation for their Princeton Nursery.

At the first election in town eighty votes were cast, the Village of Princeton casting three.

Princeton is more highly favored than some of the inland towns in this section of country by being able to support a country newspaper.

The Congregationalists have a Society here, and the Methodist Episcopalals have an edifice 40 by 60 feet.

Princeton has become quite a place of trade. Among the mercantile houses we might mention the Hardware store of A. G. Hopkins & Son., Green & Carman, wholesale and retail dealers in General Merchandise, Wilde & McClurg, dealers in Drugs and Medicines, L. Fisher's Dry Goods and General Merchandise store, Geo. Parker, dealer in Dry Goods and General Merchandise.

VILLAGE OF MANCHESTER.

This Village is prettily situated on high land nearly in the center of the town of the same name. It is small but well located, in a most excellent agricultural country, having a good water power, and its business is conducted by energetic young men. The village is not incorporated.

Mr. W. A. Millard was probably the first settler on the Village site, arriving 1846. He is now Justice of the Peace, which position he has held for seventeen years. M. Seward built a Saw Mill here in 1847, on the Grand River, which intersects the Village. This Mill has undergone the usual change, having sawed all the available logs it is superceded by a Flouring Mill, three stories high, two run of stone, and capacity about 100 barrels per diem, and does not use all the power. Mr. Seward built the first frame house 1857. The first store was started by Dr. E. R. Hoyt, in 1856, who had the Village surveyed. There is a good district school here, and one church building, erected by the Baptists in 1861; no resident minister. At present there is no Hotel in the place, but travelers are as well cared for by Mr. Chas. L. Pierce, in his commodious building as they would be in the hands of many a professional host. Population of the Village about one hundred.

Whole number of votes cast at this election 293.

By Act of Legislature approved 16th February 1853, taking effect 1st March same year, the County was fully organized for judicial purposes. By law of the same year Waushara became part of the 7th Judicial Circuit, being previously included in the third.

In 1854 the State Legislature authorized a vote to be taken on the question of removing the county seat to Wautoma. The election was held on the 2nd of September of that year, resulting 397 for and 341 against removal, and the removal was accordingly made. This question, a vexatious bone of contention in some counties, seems to have been happily and effectually settled in Waushara.

The present County Officers, for the year 1869, are as follows :

County Judge—N. L. GILL.

VILLAGE OF WAUTOMA.

This is a remarkable pretty Village, well located for trade and is about twenty miles from Berlin, on the direct route from that city to Stevens Point. When the railroad from Milwaukee is extended in that direction, as it must eventually be, Wautoma will certainly be one of the principal points on the road, and must gain a large increase of population and trade. At present it is the natural center and trading point for a considerable area of country. The land in the town and vicinity is productive, though rather sandy. There is good water power at the Village. In the neighborhood there is some of the best pottery clay in the State.

A Mr. Atkins made a claim and built a shanty where Nash's Hotel (the Wautoma House) now stands; this was in the spring of 1848; he appears to have been the first settler. John P. Shumway settled here in the winter of that year, and built a Saw Mill the following spring, and the next year built and kept the first Hotel. He and his brother, C. N. Shumway, had the first stock of goods here in 1849. They were succeeded in business by Mr. Strickland, and he by F. B. Munson.

Messrs. John Bugh, Daniel F. Hodge, Judson Luce, Thomas Clay and Henry Welner, settled near Wautoma in 1849, and commenced farming.

A school house was built by contribution, and a school maintained, and religious meetings were held at what is now Wautoma, in the summer of 1850. Rev. J. Milliken was the first clergyman who held meetings at this place.

Wautoma was called Shumwaytown at first (at that time Berlin was known as Strong's Landing); but the Shumways sold out in 1853 to Mr. Wm. Everard, who became proprietor. The Village was platted out for him December, 1853, by Mr. Stowers. Mr. Everard built the Flouring Mill the following year.

In early days the few settlers here were exposed to great hardships, and labored under difficulties that would perplex and astonish us now. They had to go to Kingston and Ceresco for their grist, and to Dartford for blacksmithing; and many strange adventures had they on the way, sometimes amusing only, but often perilous. Still as these accidents and incidents belong in common to frontier or pioneer life, it is not necessary to go into details.

Wautoma is not an incorporated Village, its officers are, therefore, those of the town. Population of the town about 1200.

VILLAGE OF POY SIPPI.

Poy Sippi takes the origin of its name from the Pine River, which was first called Poy Sippi by a Pottawatomie Indian. Poy from Poygan; Sippi a river. The river ran into Poygan Lake; hence a Poygan Sippi, contracted to Poy Sippi.

This little village is situated on a rise of ground, four miles from Poygan Lake. On the west, openings extend before one's view, and timber on the east.

It is also situated on the Pine River, which is an ever living stream, and furnishes an abundance of water power. This is the largest river in the county, Willow Creek is the next in size.

Dr. Ewing, George Hawley, Jacob Cady and Nathan Barker were the first settlers: George Hawley, Mr. Becker and Vernon Evans were the first that made claims, in the winter of 1850.

The Village was platted by Geo. Hawley, in 1856, he also owns the water power at this place.

The first Postoffice was in the year 1851; George Hawley was appointed Postmaster.

VILLAGE OF PINE RIVER.

Pine River is another one of those little places scattered through the country that pleases one to look upon.

B. F. Frisbie arrived in this place April, 1850, made his claim and built a shanty; put up a frame house the next fall.

Mr. Frisbie, John A. Williams and Mr. Ream built a Saw Mill in 1856. The first tavern was built in 1851. The Village was platted in 1856, and the first store was built in 1855, which has been occupied by Mr. Kimball to the present time. The first Postoffice was established in this place about the year 1856; A. P. Noyes was appointed Postmaster.

A Congregational church edifice was commenced in 1866 and finished 1867. Elder D. A. Campbell who came in 1857, was the first pastor and is also the present pastor.

The people are mostly Americans; probably about one-fourth foreigners.

This little Village has had a pretty steady growth, and is a good point for trade for quite a section of country.

VILLAGE OF SAXEVILLE.

The Village of Saxeville is on section 30 of the town of the same name. It took its name from Edwin Saxe, who was very active in promoting the interests of this place.

Mr. J. Noble came to this place in 1849. Mr. Saxe came soon after and built a Saw Mill the same year. In 1850 he also built a frame house and a Hotel, and a Flouring Mill in 1853. The Village was platted in 1854, by Mr. E. Saxe. The first store was kept by Saxe & Bro.

Capt. Saxe is now no longer numbered among the living, he was killed in the battle at Shiloh.

The eastern part of the town of Saxeville is heavy timber land; the center and western part is mostly oak openings.

CITY OF RIPON.

Ripon may properly be termed an inland city, a prairie city, a beautiful city. Perhaps a pleasanter place, of its size, cannot be found in the State. The largest part of it is situated upon high land which presents to the view one of the best farming countries; mostly prairie with Bur Oak openings, underwood and a few plats of fine forest timber scattered over its surface. Silver Creek or Green Lake Inlet, a fine stream of water, runs through the City affording an abundance of water power.

Ripon is situated in the northwestern part of Fond du Lac County, in the town of the same name, on the Horicon Division of the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, twelve miles south-east of the City of Berlin, and about twenty-two miles north-west of Fond du Lac City. Being within a few miles of the western boundary of the County, it offers good facilities for trade to those living in the eastern part of Green Lake County.

The settlement of this place was first commenced in the western part of the City in what is commonly called Ceresco, May 27th, 1844, by about twenty members of the Wisconsin Phalanx, from Southport. Among the number were W. Chase, L. Rounds, J. Beckwith, J. Lambert, N. Hunter, C. Lane, W. Dunham, W. Seaman and C. Adkins. In this place they entered about six hundred acres of land, including the water power. They had teams, tools and provisions; they put up three frame dwellings, a saw-mill, broke up and sowed to wheat eighty acres of prairie, established a post-office with Lester Rounds Post-master. Some brought their families in the Summer, others in Autumn. The next Winter this part of the country including Rosendale was incorporated into a town. First school was kept by Mr. Rounds in the Winter of 1844, and continued by the association with occasional vacations until the dissolution of the Phalanx. The first religious sermon was preached on the first Sabbath after the arrival of the company by Elder G. H. Stebbins, Baptist Minister, and a member of the association.

By 1845 nearly all the land in the town was entered. The numbers of the Phalanx increased as also their capital; they were in the possession of about two thousand acres of fertile land; they built a Flouring Mill in 1847, and they were this year in possession of nearly twenty thousand bushels of wheat, as the reward of their labor. In 1850 they platted the village into lots of twelve rods square, with streets six rods in width. The association was continued six years. In 1850, through the want of social adhesion they divided their stock, and assumed their individual claims. The building formerly occupied by this Company still remains.

Capt. D. P. Mapes succeeded in purchasing the present site of Gov. Horner, with the proviso that he should name the place, which he accordingly did after the village of Ripon, England. There was as yet no finger mark of improvement in this place. It must be remembered that although a settlement had been commenced in Ceresco some five or six years previously, yet when the new village of Ripon was commenced it was independent of this place and formed no part of Ceresco; neither did the latter form any part of the former.

In the year 1849, the first building was erected upon the newly purchased ground. In June 1850 there were four buildings in the place; what is now the two upper stories of the American House, the stone blacksmith shop a few rods east of it, a portion of the building which a short time ago stood on the east side of Public Square, and was occupied by John Engle, occupied then as a store and dwelling by E. L. Northrup. Mr. Mapes possessed of much zeal, was resolved to build a village upon this beautiful site. He platted the village, gave away lots on condition that the receiver should put up a painted building on the same. At this time the prairies south and east of this place were very thinly settled; indeed, only a few houses could be seen upon the face of this beautiful country. Far away to the south and south-east beautiful rolling prairies extended. Nothing could be more delightful and inspiring than for one to stand upon some eminence and behold this fertile land as far as the eye could reach, covered with waving grass and blossoming flowers. Perhaps some often asked the question—when will this country all be cultivated by the hand of man?

In 1850 emigrant wagons to the number of fifty or a hundred per day passed through the place en route for the newly opened Indian Land. Lumber was drawn by team from Oshkosh, Berlin or Fond du Lac. What little merchandise found its way into the country came in the same manner from Sheboygan and Milwaukee. The little produce there was to be sold brought only a meagre price.

In 1851 a chair factory and cabinet shop was put into operation and a woolen factory by Mr. S. Ford. Several dwelling houses and stores were erected during the year, and the population was materially increased. A charter for the location of a College at this place was obtained. "Towards the close of the year in a gentle snow storm, two men might have been seen staking out the location for the first College building, amid the half suppressed jeers of the faithless. The novelty, the boldness and utility of the enterprise, the tireless efforts of a few determined spirits, the unequalled beauty of the location, all united to attract the sympathy and munificence of the surrounding country, to cheer on the work." The ground was given by Capt. Mapes and subscriptions to the amount of eight hundred dollars were secured; payable in goods, lumber, lime, grain and other commodities then current. A three story stone edifice was commenced and all but the inside completed before the frosts of Winter made their appearance. But little progress was made towards finishing the building during the Winter and down to the Autumn of the year 1851. The wheat crop through the State had been exceedingly poor in quality and had brought a very low price for two years. The Board of Trustees were in debt to the amount of six or eight hundred dollars. They offered the property to the Winnebago Convention of Presbyterian and Congregational Churches and Ministers, upon the condition that they should pay a part of the debt and proceed to put the school in running order. The proposal was considered but it was thought impossible to raise the necessary means to meet the conditions of the proposal. The Convention was unwilling to lose the opportunity of securing the newly begun College, yet were afraid to assume the undertaking. They accordingly agreed with Rev. J. W. Walcott, then at Menasha, to take the matter from his hands at the earliest opportunity if he would accept of the propositions of the Board of Trustees, which he finally did. The Institution was opened and put in working order and eighty students were enrolled during the first term. The Institution has been gradually growing to the present time; there are now three College buildings instead of one; and is now in successful operation as a regular College, and affords ample facilities for instruction. A beautiful church edifice has been constructed near the east College building, which is decidedly an ornament to the city and the christian church.

Ripon received its City Charter in 1858, and held its first election in April of the same year. Although two destructive fires have visited this place, yet the burned district is now being filled up and no doubt in a few years the appearance of the place will be much improved. It contains at the present time nearly 4,000 inhabitants. Many of the dwelling houses are very handsome indeed, and even costly.
