PROM FESTIVITIES OPEN WITH DANCE AT LATHROP GYM

Jess Cohen's Ten Piece Orchestra Plays at First Function Tonight

The pre-prom dance at 9 o'clock tonight in Lathrop gym marks the first of the 1925 prom festivities and the last of the student dances before final exams.

The regular Union board dance for tonight has been canceled in order not to interfere with the pre-prom dance. Jesse Cohen's 10 piece orchestra and two pianos played by Jesse Cohen and Bill Hayden with violin music by Nelson Fairbanks will combine to furnish music for the dancers.

The prom fox trot will be introduced by "Skeets" Gilmore, composer and winner of the fox trot contest.

Tickets for the dance may still be had at the University pharmacy and Morgan's and will also be on sale at the door. Lauson Adams '25, is chairman of the pre-prom dance committee.

He is being assisted by Elizabeth Wells '25, Gordon Arey '25, Howard McEachen '21, George Freese '25, Marie Kerr '25, Eugene Crawford '26, Robert Nyhagen '25, and Josephine Carls '25.

American Life One Grand Rush Since 1812, Says Fish

Hurry, scurry. That is American life, eating, sleeping, working, playing. So Prof. Carl Russell Fish thinks, anyway, according to his lecture in American history yesterday. Since the termination of the war of 1812, the average life in America is one grand rush.

Professor Fish made the generalization apply to practically every American. But the strange part of it was that he didn't officially exclude Philadelphians from it.

"Americans eat breakfast, he said in illustrating his point. "They have coffee and eggs and ah beefsteak and ah coffee and ah hot rolls and ah doughnuts and ah pie and ah coffee. And all the time their main interest is to consume this in 10 minutes and rush on to something else."

"Then for lunch they have beefsteak and ah eggs and ah coffee and ah pie and ah bread and ah doughnuts and their entire interest is centered on eating it in 11 minutes and getting away."

"For dinner they have beefsteak and ah potatoes and ah rolls and ah pie and ah coffee and all the while their principal aim is to get through in 13 minutes."

S. G. A. Appropriates $300 Loan Fund For Undergraduates

A $300 loan fund has been appropriated by S. G. A. and voted by the board for any undergraduate in need of money.

All applications for loans for the second semester should be in no later than January 21. Twenty-five dollars has already been loaned out and an application for $50 for the next semester has been received leaving $225 for future loans.

The terms of the loan have not yet been determined, but any girl wishing to get information concerning the rate of interest to be paid should inquire at the S. G. A. office next week. No less than $25 is to be loaned out to any girl. The maximum loan has not yet been decided.

AUTHOR SPEAKS ON UNIVERSAL RELIGION

"Before a universal government can be made effective in the world a universal religion is needed to cement the nations together," was the message brought to the International club by Charles Mason Remey, author, artist, architect and world traveler of Chicago, who spoke at Music hall last night.

Second Glee Club To Support Songsters Is Swinney's Plan

NO CO-EDS ATTEND SHORT COURSE PROM

Co-eds will not be considered or asked to the short course prom, one of the reasons being the restriction of hours during the examination period. The annual agricultural affair will be held at Lathrop parlors on January 26. Peter C. Faust is chairman of the affair. He promises a good time for all the Short Course men and their partners who attend. An informal program dance will be the nature of the "prom". Approximately 60 couples will attend, according to Faust. His plans for music are to use six pieces of the university First orchestra, Gordon Hensen, director.

REGENTS CONSIDER ATTACK ON BILL

Zimmerman Refused to Approve Appropriations on Constitutional Grounds

The constitutionality of the state emergency act which was attacked by Fred R. Zimmerman, secretary of state, will be considered by board of regents at its meeting here next week.

Zimmerman refused to approve $155,800 in emergency appropriation voted for educational institutions, including the university, by Governor Blaine and State Treasurer Solomon Levitan. The refusal is based on the grounds that the emergency act is unconstitutional and because the fund certificates do not comply with the emergency law.

The question will probably be carried to the supreme court for a final test. Zimmerman declared his letter attacking the act was written at the oral request of the Governor. Secretary Zimmerman states that he contends that the signatures of two members of the emergency board are not sufficient to certify the funds, that the emergency law authorizes appropriations only when the state legislature has failed to appropriate an "insufficient amount" and that the board is powerless when the legislature has considered and declined to allow funds for specific items.

ATHENAE HOLDS DEBATE ON DIRECT PRIMARY

The program of the Athenae literary society last night consisted in a debate and a short talk on "Presidential Possibilities" by Sam Levitan. "Resolved that the Direct Primary Should Be Used in Nominating Candidates for President and Vice President of the United States" was the subject for debate. W. L. Jackman '25, upheld the affirmative side of the question while L. S. Mrstvicka '25, handled the negative. The decision was made in favor of the affirmative.

SQUARE AND COMPASS CHARTER MEMBER DIES

Word has been received at the Square and Compass fraternity of the death of Gustav Lundberg, a charter member of the organization and a brother of Ernest Lundberg '25. In respect of the deceased brother, the dance this evening has been postponed.

CARYL RICE TAKES LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Caryl Rice of the Physical Education department is taking a leave of absence next semester for a trip around the world with a party of four. She will leave Madison January 19 and set sail for Madeira January 26. A Mediterranean cruise with a three weeks' stop-over in Egypt and a visit to the Orient staying longest in India will be included in the trip. She will return by way of the Panama Canal about the second week of June in time for the summer session.

Auxiliary Musical Organization Makes Possible More Home Concerts

A newly adopted plan purposes to make more home concerts possible to create an auxiliary organization to the Wisconsin Glee club, Prof. Edward E. Swinney, director of the club announced yesterday. At present the organization is broken up at the end of each school year and it is necessary to reorganize and train a new group every fall. Consequently, no concerts can be given before the second semester, and those are necessarily limited. Under the new system, the club will be able to sing when called upon for special occasions, Swinney states.

The second organization will be started early in this coming semester. Prospective members will try out for places in the second organization and will receive the same training as those in the regular club. At the close of each semester, men having this semester's training will be selected by competition for regular membership in the club.

Daily rehearsals are now being held in preparation for the Intercollegiate Glee club contest in Chicago, February 18, and for the spring tour which will take the club through northern Illinois and Iowa, and possibly as far south as St. Louis.

Definite arrangements have already been made to sing at the Pabst theater, Milwaukee, February 22, Wauwatosa, February 21, and in Sheboygan, February 23.

COUNTRY MAGAZINE HAS GOOD APPEAL

First Issue of Year Represents All Phases of Agricultural Work

The first issue of the Country Magazine presents stories and articles relative to all phases of agriculture.

"Have Our Fairs and Expositions Reached the Limit of Their Educational Value" a first prize essay in national competition at Saddle and Sirloin club, by Gerald Jenny '24, is the feature article of the issue. Jenny answers the question by pointing out the great strides which country fairs have been making.

Wakelin McNeel, assistant state club leader, has contributed an article explaining state club work as "A Hope of the State." A novelty article entitled "Do Agric Girls Think," is a composite interview depicting the aspirations, ideals and common place thoughts of women enrolled in agriculture. An editorial "Is the Skunk a Fur Bearing Animal?" gives well directed fire to petty thievery on the campus.

Foreign Flashes

LONDON, Jan. 11.—Rammed by the dreadnaught Resolution Thursday, the British submarine L 24 imprisoned its crew of 43 men in 30 fathoms below the surface, 11 miles south of Portland Bill. The men can survive in the hull for 48 hours.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 11.—Pachuca, 57 miles from Mexico City, has been captured by rebel forces. Two thousand troops have been rushed from Mexico City to attack the town and the development is not regarded as serious.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—Magnus Johnson, Minnesota senator, was hissed for three minutes when, after he placed the blame for the various ills of the farmer at the feet of the bankers, he said that the Mellon tax plan would not pass because it favored the wealthy.

New 1925 Badger Subscription Sale Runs During Week

This week a follow up subscription sale for the 1925 Badger is being carried on in order that those students who have never been asked to purchase Badgers and others still wishing to may have a chance. The Badgers are being sold at $4 which is the regular price, or $2.50 now and the balance later.

After everybody has had another opportunity to buy the price will be raised, Willis Sullivan '25, business manager of the Badger states.

He said that almost 2900 subscriptions have been checked over, and expected that this last drive at the regular price ought to net another 1000 orders.

Film Manufacture Is Shown in Detail By Chemistry Movie

"A Trip Through Filmland," a motion picture shown in the auditorium of the Chemistry building under the auspices of the Photoart house and the department of chemistry, was attended by approximately 500 persons.

The picture showed the manufacture of the film at the Eastman Kodak company, beginning with preparation of the cotton and silver for the film, and ending with the packing of the film for use. The use of the film in the Thomas H. Ince studios for making moving pictures was also shown.

APPOINT SOPHOMORE COMMITTEES NEXT WEEK

Committee appointments for the sophomore class will be made during the coming week, says Andrew Leith '26, president of the class.

GOODNIGHT CALLS FOR SHOW DOWN ON LIT FINANCES

Editors Express Confidence That New Policy Would Remedy Situation

A show down on the financial condition of the Wisconsin Literary magazine has been called for by Dean S. H. Goodnight, as a result of several days investigation by the faculty committee on student life and interests.

"The magazine is heavily in debt. Until its editors can show me the cold cash, the Literary magazine shall remain suspended. As far as I am concerned the publication is through," Dean Goodnight declared last night.

"Last fall the editors lost money on the first issue. They promised to remove the deficit in the next few issues. They are now $400 in debt instead of $200. Promises don't go any more. That's how the matter stands today."

At a consultation last night the editors of the Lit discussed plans for liquidating indebtedness and re-establishing the magazine on a firm financial basis. The editors expressed confidence that a new policy would remedy the situation. The staff is headed by Kenneth Fearing '24, editor in chief; John Weimer '25, managing editor, and Oscar W. Riegel '24, associate editor.

The extinct Awk and the 1914 Badger with its $2,500 deficit left a heavy burden on his shoulders, Goodnight asserted. As chairman of the faculty committee on student life and interests, he is in charge of the present problem.

"The Lit must show that it can wipe out the deficit. Up to the present we are going ahead with our plans for the January edition," Oscar W. Riegel '24, associate editor said last night.

Goodnight was emphatic that there would be no January number.

Prof. W. G. Bleyer, chairman of committee on publications said last night that steps were being considered to rescue the Lit.

"Several plans were informally discussed in Dean Goodnight's office for improving the financial standing of the magazine. No definite action was taken on these proposals.

"The magazine is in the hands of the editor-in-chief and the business manager who assume all responsibility. It is up to Kenneth Fearing '24, editor-in-chief, to continue or abandon its publication," Professor Bleyer explained.

The Wisconsin Literary magazine was founded by M. B. Olbrich, Madison attorney, 20 years ago. Its first board of editors included a galaxy of well known Badgers. Edward S. Jordan '05, one time managing editor of The Cardinal, and now head of the Jordan Motor company, Berton Braley, writer of popular poetry, and Horatio Winslow were the other editors at that time.

Olbrich, "the Father of the Lit," when told of the plight of the publication expressed hope that the Lit would brace up financially and editorially.

ALL GROUPS GET GOOD PROM BOXES

Committees Ask Student Co-operation in Settling Arrangement Difficulties

"The Prom of History" is being organized and planned to provide the same accommodations for all groups. Clifford Nolte declared yesterday afternoon in speaking of the arrangements made for the unorganized students to enjoy Wisconsin's big night out.

"There is no reason why the affair cannot be enjoyed by one student as well as another," he added.

If the students will cooperate with the Prom committees some fine parties are assured. Gordon Hecker, chairman of the men's arrangements committee has already received quite a few requests from small groups who are desirous of going, but as yet they are unable to affiliate with any larger party. If all of them would tell him of their difficulties, he would combine them in a satisfactory way, arrange meetings immediately so that they could become thoroughly acquainted before Prom activities commence, and so fill all of the 10 excellent boxes reserved for them in the capital.

These parties will be organized under two groups, the first of which will include all those desiring to attend pre-prom and post-prom functions as well as prom, and the second those who desire to attend Prom only.

Parties of either group may receive assistance from Hecker and his committee in organizing or in obtaining places for parties, music and the other apertainances individuals should call Hecker at B. 1971.

Because of the difficulty in reaching people scattered about the campus, the men's arrangement committee is taking this opportunity as the best possible way of drawing the unorganized groups and individuals together.

CIRCULATION OF S. G. A. LIBRARY INCREASES

Since the S. G. A. has been loaning the library books free, instead of for 2 cents a day as previously, there has been an increase of the number of books taken out, according to Ethel Vinje, secretary of S. G. A. A new volume, "The Able McLaughlins" has been added this week. It was written by Margaret Wilson, who has been out of the University of Iowa for only a year, and who is the winner of the Harper prize for the best first novel.

BLOSSOM SEELEY HEADS NEW ORPHEUM SHOW

For the new show tomorrow the Orpheum presents Blossom Seeley in her 1923 version of "Miss Syncopation." Charles Irwin with a few Scotch songs of the Harry Lauder type. Captain Bett's Seals are back with their same line of exceedingly clever tricks. They are all thoroughly trained and are "A Happy Family."

"Bok Peace Plan Explains Present Situation," Says Ogg

The Bok peace plan, in the opinion of Prof. F. A. Ogg of the political science department, is a masterly presentation of existing situations and of the necessities of the times which we have to observe.

The Cardinal is running a ballot on the editorial page for students to vote on referendum.

Professor Ogg believes the most striking feature to be the clear argument showing how the league so far has not become what so many feared, a powerful super-state, and that it has achieved many good things, in no case by military force.

"I heartily endorse the 'middle of the road' policy of the plan which urges more active co-operation with the league in an advisory capacity and adherence to the world court," he said.

"Entrance into the league now is impossible, for it will be several years before the people of the United States will consent to it, but in time, perhaps 10 years or so, I believe that this country will join. The past four years have proved definitely that the league will never create a militaristic super-state and subsequent events may change even the minds of the Hiram Johnsons of the country.

"It is ridiculous to suppose that 'moral persuasion' will stop all war. It won't, and more wars are sure to take place, but assuredly many wars which start over the matters which investigation and arbitration can settle will be obviated and even that is worth while."

Professor Ogg believes that the statements by non-league papers that the choice of the Bok peace plan is an under hand way to inveigle the United States into the League of Nations, is worse than foolishness. The plan which is presented to us is flatly opposed to entrance into the league at present, and out of the 22,000 plans offered many must have advised immediate entrance. "It might have been better to submit more than one plan to the public vote, but that would have involved greater expense and probably would not have been more satisfactory," he declared.

Mid-Western Group To Publish S. G. A. Activities in Paper

A newspaper of S. G. A. activities from all the mid-western colleges will be published late in January by the Mid-Western conference of Women's Self Government association.

Mary Thornton of Bloomington, Ind. president of the S. G. A. at Indiana university has charge of the publication of the newspaper, which will give stories and news relating to S. G. A.

Ethel Vinje, secretary of S. G. A. here, has sent the Wisconsin activities which include free library the vocational conference material, the S. G. A. booklet, the playlet, "Freshmen Hours" the Friday night dance and bridge parties, and an explanation of the district system and the regulating card catalog system.

SPORT NEWS

Conference
Wire ServiceINITIAL HOCKEY
GAME OF SEASON
THIS AFTERNOONPoor Ice and Unseasonable
Weather Limits Squad's
Development Plans

The varsity hockey team, which meets Marquette in the opening game of the season this afternoon, is in as good condition as can be expected, is the opinion of Coach Blodgett.

Lack of ice and unseasonable weather have hampered the development of the team to the highest possible degree of team work and speed, but the rink is fast getting in first class shape, and practice is smoothing the rough edges off the squad.

Not much is known as to the ability of the Marquette six, but they have always had a reputation for a fast, hard fighting team and will give the varsity a real test today.

Wisconsin's team finds itself in a most unusual predicament, that of having only left handed wings. The right wing should be a right hand shot and often finds it hard to shoot from that corner of the rink if he is left handed.

The game will start promptly at 3 o'clock. Canvas walls will be stretched around the ring, and an admission price of 25 cents will be charged. Bleachers seating about 700 persons have been erected, but Coach Blodgett says there will be plenty of standing room if these are filled.

Choice of officials is not yet certain, but it is hoped that a graduate student from Queen's college, Ontario, will referee. Weather promises to be bright and fair, however it may grow warm enough to soften the surface of the ice a little.

Wisconsin's probable lineup is as follows:

Goal—McLean
C—Harris
R. W.—Gross
L. W.—Moran
R. D. R.—Ritchie
L. D.—Capt. Johnson.

MINNESOTA STARTS
BASEBALL PRACTICE

Although snow has covered the Minnesota campus for only 10 days, Major Lee Watrous, baseball coach at the University of Minnesota has issued his first call for baseball practice, informing the men that they must turn out in the armory cage on January 21.

This will allow two months of indoor battery work and general practice before there is a possibility of getting outdoors in a Minnesota spring, but every effort will be made to overcome the weather handicap.

With more veterans back than has been the case in a number of years and five or six first rate players advancing from last year's freshman squad, Coach Watrous finds the material to his liking and predicts that the team will better its record of last year by a considerable margin.

EXTENSION MEETING TO HAVE SECTIONAL TALKS

Sectional discussions as well as a general program, will feature the annual meeting of the national university extension association to be held in Madison in May, according to Frank W. Shockley, assistant to the dean of the Extension Division. The program can not be definitely formulated, however, until a canvass now being carried on determines the number of delegates who will attend the conference. Such phases of extension work as visual instruction will be taken up in sectional meetings.

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Undernourished co-eds at Ohio State university are to be offered special classes in nutrition and gym the second semester.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—"Smoke up" is the term used at Indiana university for the message of unsatisfactory work sent out to the students.

Women Skating
Leaders Picked
For Ice Races

The captains for the girls' inter-class skating relay which will be held at 2:30 o'clock today have been announced by Mildred Rice '24.

More girls are requested to sign up for the freshmen, junior and graduate teams before the contest starts this afternoon.

INDIANA HOPES
TO GET GOPHERSHoosiers' Big Weak Point to Overcome is Basket
Shooting

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Jan. 11—After having suffered a defeat in its first Big Ten conference game of the season here last Saturday night, the Indiana university basketball team is making strenuous preparations for its game with Minnesota Saturday at Minneapolis. The Hoosiers hope to forget Wisconsin's 23 to 21 victory by coming back and downing the Gophers.

Despite the fact that the contest resulted in defeat, Indiana fans are pleased with the showing their team made against the Badgers. The game, which was Indiana's first real test of the season, gave Coach Leslie Mann an excellent idea of the ability of his men under fire.

He will spend most of his remaining practice sessions before the Minnesota game in eradicating the rough spots which were noticeable in the Wisconsin struggle. Probably he will stress basket-shooting, since inability to score on apparently easy chances cost Indiana several points during the contest. Mike Nyikos, all-conference forward, was the only man to connect with the ring consistently.

The Wisconsin game was Indiana's fifth of the season. In preliminary games Indiana defeated Indiana State Normal, Rose Polytechnic, and Drake, but lost to Creighton at Omaha.

COLD WEATHER OVER
WEEK-END PREDICTED

Indications point to colder weather over the coming week-end. The temperature dropped from 21 to 17 degrees from noon to 5 o'clock yesterday.

Zero weather, accompanied by gales from the north, is predicted with no great certainty for today.

London is experiencing unusually severe snow storms, and Madrid reports violent storms just off the coast. Coming nearer home, Minnesota had heavy snows yesterday and the thermometer registered as low as 16 degrees below zero during the day.

CENTURY EDITOR TO ADDRESS TEACHERS

The literary editor of Century, Carl Van Doren, professor of American literature at Columbia university, will speak here before the Southern Wisconsin teachers' association meeting February 15 and 16. His lecture will be followed by an address by Lorado Taft, noted sculptor and member of the Chicago art institute. President Birge and John Callahan, state superintendent of education also are scheduled for the Friday program.

GYM SHOOS
by Orie

Bob Blodgett, the new hockey coach, is certainly wrapped up in his sport. One finds him shoveling off the snow on the rink three starts.

It sure looks like most of the conference basketball scores will be darn close this year, after looking over the Purdue-Ohio score of yesterday. Fans will undoubtedly undergo many a nervous strain before the season is over.

If this weather keeps up all spectators who will journey out on the ice for the relay races today, should provide themselves with some of those Italian goat skin coats the sororities are investing in. Either that or a raincoat. (advertisement).

Chicago defeats Northwestern! It's about time the Chicago papers bust out with this—"Chicago in the conference championship class."

Who said that the first matches known were wrestling matches?

Wisconsin's hopes for a track championship rose tonight when Gordy Roberts, composer and Gennett record artist, donned his suit and rose to dizzy heights with the bamboo pole.

Lowie Christianson, varsity basketball man, who has been confined to the infirmary for over a week, returned to the squad yesterday. Lowie is still looking bad, but expects to "come around" in a few days.

Reports are that the varsity is going at top speed again, and that our chances for a win over Northwestern on Saturday are pretty good. If we win this one we'll be on top some more with two wins. Then Indiana on Monday.

I'd like to see the guy that could nite. —Ohio-Illinois, Indiana-Minnesota, Purdue-Iowa.

V. M. I. Faculty Rule
Causes Rebellion
of Sophomore Class

The sophomore class of Virginia Military Institute, numbering 113, and including three members of the varsity football team, walked out as a protest against the punishment imposed by the vigilance committee on Thomas Crowley, one of its members, on the charges of hazing.

Crowley's classmates declared that the offense which he committed did not justify the punishment fixed for him by the vigilance committee, and said that if the punishment were exacted they would leave the campus in a body.

The situation is still hanging fire, waiting action of the committee on the student ultimatum.

The results of yesterday's games are as yet unknown. Every Friday at 4 o'clock, these meets take place at the Madison bowling alleys.

The following sororities are the ones which compete in this contest:

Alpha Omicron Pi; Alpha Delta Pi; Alpha Chi Omega; Alpha Delta; Alpha Zi Delta; Phi Omega Pi; Theta; Delta Zeta; Phi Phi; Phi Mu; and Alpha Gamma Delta.

A cup is offered as the prize, but in order to keep it, a sorority must win the meet for three consecutive years. Alpha Chi Omega won it last year from Alpha Xi Delta.

VARSITY MATMEN
MEET FROSH TODAYCoach Expects Close Contest
In First Meet of of Season

The first wrestling meet of the season takes place this afternoon when the varsity will meet the freshmen. The meet starts at 4 o'clock on the third floor of the armory. That the meet will be unusually fast is the opinion of George Hitchcock, wrestling coach, who has been holding eliminations all week in order to pick his best men to send against the frosh.

Frosh who have been picked to go against the varsity are Meenzen, 115 pound class; Marshal, 125 pounds; Brenhan, 145 pounds; Splees 158 pounds; Tappert 175 pounds. Le May who appears as the best in the 135 pound class has received some injuries to his face and will not be able to enter the meet.

Scherburne, a sophomore will take his place. In the heavyweight class Sauger, a varsity man will take the place of a freshman.

An injury to Gregory, a varsity man, will keep him out of the meet tomorrow. Chapman will take his place in the 159 pound class.

Varsity men who will be seen in action include Goodman, 115 pounds, Benbow, captain, 125 pounds, Holmes, 135 pounds, Bernstein, heavyweight.

All these men have been picked as result of elimination matches that have been going on all week. Basing his judgement largely on these the coach will pick his squad for the remainder of the season. An all-American wrestling team will be formed shortly.

"The frosh are strong and have a good chance to beat the varsity" was the expression of Hitchcock. "This meet is in preparation for our meet with Chicago here January 26 to which I am pointing my men."

WINTER EVENTS
OPEN ON MENDOTA
THIS AFTERNOONWomen Skaters and 220 Spurts
Will Furnish Thrills For Crowds

Four races and exhibitions of fancy skating will comprise the card offered by the department of intramural activities opening the winter sport program on Lake Mendota today, starting at 2 o'clock.

The first race on the schedule is an inter-college competition in which several star skaters are to compete. A half mile relay race with each team having four men who skate 220 yards will probably be the feature of the afternoon according to Jim Vallee who is in charge of the affair.

An inter class race open to women only is another part of the program that is expected to excite lots of enthusiasm and there are many expert women skaters here who will compete in this race.

Exhibitions of fancy skating by some of the campus stars and a 100 yard dash will complete the program. A specially prepared rink on Lake Mendota is to be used for the skaters, and the ice is certain to be in excellent shape.

BADGERS MAY GET
OWN GOLF COURSEJones Favors Plan to Build
Grounds For Student
Play

That the university should have a golf course is the opinion of T. E. Jones, director of the department of physical education. "We have been trying for the last six years to obtain a golf course at the university," he said.

"Such a course would not only be of advantage to the students but also to the faculty of the university. It wouldn't add to the school spirit, but golf is good exercise.

"A golf course is something that a university with such a large athletic department ought to have. Many universities have them. The university of Illinois, of Indiana, of Missouri, and North Western have courses. Iowa and Yale are soon to have them.

"Americans are beginning to be more interested in out-door sports such as tennis and golf as participants rather than spectators. Golf is not spectacular like football and basketball but people are becoming more interested in golf than ever before," he added.

PEACE AND THE STUDENT VOICE

The Bok winning peace plan has been announced, and those journals which before the announcement raised cries of "propaganda" and "personal publicity" are now saying "I told you so" while at the same time those papers which saw glimmers of a worthwhile effort toward peace are now declaring a favorable report on the plan and are running the referendum ballot in their columns.

Of course, there were many idealists who expected something new and startling which would sweep the country off its feet and would with one swoop establish peace. These were disappointed when they found nothing new or original. And yet there are things suggested in the articles which might seem to suggest a possible method for United States activity without jeopardizing traditions and ideals such as "no entangling alliances" and "the Monroe Doctrine."

The most serious objection to the Bok peace plan is rather in the form of the contest and the rules of the award itself. For the fairest and most representative consensus of opinion on the peace question, it would seem that two or three alternate plans should have been named by the judging committee and the people of the nation then be given an opportunity to express their referendum on the various types of proposals. Furthermore, the present system of voting allows no method whereby a citizen can cast his vote on the plan with reservations. He must say "yes" or "no." Since there is no choice, it is possible that a great many persons will not cast a vote who otherwise might, or if they do they will not feel that they have been entirely conscientious.

But these objections are directed at the idea and form of the contest rather than at the winning plan itself. It is hard to believe that Mr. Bok was anything but sincere in his proposition. He does not belong to a vast machine of propaganda directed toward sweeping the nation into the League of Nations. And in putting forth the $100,000 award he was at liberty to pick the method and to name the conditions which he wished. Certain it is that he picked a most fair and recognized assemblage of students of International problems for his committee. In spite of the thrusts of some editors that these persons were all inherently pro-League, there seems no basis for doubting their fairness or ability to judge.

At any rate, the Bok peace plan is a discussion which should especially interest the youth of America. They are the ones who will fight the battles and run the world affairs of the near future and their opinions and view points should be considered just as well and perhaps more so than those of most citizens. The discussion of Peace is one of the most important and interesting problems before student thinkers today. At the recent student conference at Indianapolis, Wisconsin delegates reported that the most interesting meetings and the most vital problems which were considered were those which dealt with plans for permanent peace.

It is right that this discussion should take place, and the announcing of the Bok peace plan comes at an opportune time, both in the world-wide feeling toward international cooperation and in the attitude of the student mind and in the fortunate time of the year which permits students to give time to a consideration of the plan.

Wisconsin students will be given an opportunity to express their opinions on this plan through the referendum system. Every student who feels the responsibility of his recently acquired citizenship should cast his vote and the Bok plan should be nationally ratified.

A LIVING UNION

One campus group has already taken advantage of the Union Board offer to help in organizing the organization and in laying out a system whereby it can cooperate with other groups.

The Union Board has said that it will sponsor the districting and zoning plan if applications from groups and individuals were made. One organization is a good start but there should be many more.

And in this work of the Union Board, it is assuming no high-handed dictatorship. It is merely using its position as executive body of the Wisconsin Union, of which all men are members, to further the benefit of all these men.

Not only groups can apply, but individuals who are interested should let the Union Board know of their willingness to cooperate. There are many men on this campus who are not in touch with organizations or activities who should be interested in promoting some social life, some intra-mural athletic sports—and to these the Board has offered to minister just as a preliminary organizer.

A grand university of the future where every Wisconsin man is a working member of the Wisconsin Union and is deriving benefit from it through his own organization is the worth while aim of the Union board and all thinking students.

Other Editors Say—

A LITTLE LEARNING

The history of final examinations is evidently traced back to the seventeenth century, for Alexander Pope, bemoaning his failure to pass an exam, said, "A little learning is a dangerous thing." This coined phrase is Pope's invaluable endowment to the college students of the present time, and each day that passes now serves only to make this warning more relevant to the pursuit which should be occupying every student's attention. With final examination period only three weeks hence, it is highly pertinent and obvious that the mind should be in the making.

Statistics relative to the mortality rate of Northwestern students at the end of each semester are gruesomely appalling. The records of ineligibility of potential athletes are disgraceful and reflect either upon the educational system or upon the level of student mentality and application. And yet, there are some who would advocate a lowering of the class room standards as a means of alleviating these scholastic deaths. To pursue such a course of action would mean calamitous defeat of the ideals of culture for which Northwestern was established. There is only one choice. The standards must be upheld, and it is just as much a matter of school spirit to do creditable scholarship as to engage in any other campus activity.

The fault in the past is found chiefly in the student, and not in the system. The student who senses his responsibility to himself, to his parents, and to his school will prepare his mind while this warning can be heeded.—The Daily Northwestern.

WISCONSIN PLAYERS SEE GRAD'S COMEDY

One-act Play Written and Produced By Grad in Initial Appearance

Bertha Ochsner '19, returned from Chicago last week with a one-act play which she has just finished writing. It is entitled "Rondeau" and deals in a fanciful way with an episode in the life of a newly married couple. The play had its initial appearance when it was read before a meeting of the Wisconsin University Players Thursday evening.

The three main characters and the persons who took their parts are:

Jason Lammert, a successful artist, Prof. Marg McCarthy; Suzanne, his wife, Bertha Ochsner; and Michael Worthington Darby, a play write friend of Jason's, Prof. Gertrude Johnson.

The probationary members of the players gave a reading of Drinkwater's play, Mary Stuart. Katherine Hastings took the part of the queen of Scotland, Lerol Riesebrook of Danley, her husband, Vaughn Winchell of Bothwell one of her many admirers, Wilson Moran of David Riccio, secretary of the queen, and Bernice Klug of Mary Beaton, lady-in-waiting to Mary.

A reading under the supervision of Katherine O'Shea, was well cut, and the essential parts of the play were retained. Katherine Hastings made a beautiful and dignified Mary Stuart, longing desperately for a true love, yet never being really satisfied.

"Blossom Time" Thrills Audience With Old Songs

By TORMENTOR

"Blossom Time"—with melodies which have lived over a hundred years and which will make an already popular and successful musical comedy last for years, came to the Parkway last night and thrilled an enthusiastic audience.

Telling the romantic and almost tragic story of Franz Schubert and his love in his own melodies, a capable cast danced, sang, and acted through this play of melody, a light opera in its form.

It is to be regretted that the present cast interposed an excess of horseplay and folly into "Blossom Time" which destroyed the effect given by the excellent Chicago company of last year. It seemed to be a matter of bad judgment to mix the crude and the sublime in just the way in which the Madison company did. After having seen the original Kranz, the present actor, Mr. Shepherd Camp, seemed almost vaudevillian.

But for a traveling company the cast was excellent. Even the part of Baron Shober, played by Mr. Patrick Kelly, and who was especially carefully watched because he had the part made famous by Howard Marsh '09, and former Haresfoot lead, was well done.

The part of the composer Franz Shubert, was taken by Mr. Joseph Mendelsohn and it must be said that his voice was better than that of the man in the Chicago company, but his youthful appearance and his mediocre acting worked against him.

But "Blossom Time" is the kind of production which will last for years and which will be remembered. Such melodies will immortalize a production in spite of the cast. It is the best in music and appeal seen in Madison in years.

HONOR SYSTEM IS NOT APPLICABLE

Dean Goodnight Says Student Desire is Paramount For Success

That the honor system for examinations could be adopted only through the desire of a very large majority of the student body was the opinion expressed by Dean Goodnight yesterday.

"The honor system can not be successful in any group and certainly not in such a large and mixed group as that of a middle west university, unless the students are unanimously in favor of abiding by the rules and regulations governing the honor system.

"It has been found to work in small, unified groups, but where tried on a large scale in northern institutions it has failed. Several years ago a referendum to the student body showed that the system was not popular here, and I am of the opinion that the sentiment has not changed greatly since then," said the Dean.
