VOL. XXXII. NO. 110

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN, MADISON, THURSDAY, FEB. 22, 1923

PRICE 5 CENTS

NEW AND SNAPPY YELL WANTED BY VARSITY TEAMS

$5 is Offered For All Chosen

By THE YELL EDITOR

Short, snappy yells to augment the ones which have long cheered Wisconsin teams to victory, are being sought in a contest which opens today, sponsored by The Cardinal.

An award of $5 will be made for every yell accepted.

There is no limit as to the length of the yell, but they must be original and snappy. The contest closes March 6. All suggestions should be sent to Ezra Crane, 622 Mendota court, or to The Cardinal in care of the Yell Editor.

Will be Tried

The yells will be tried out at the Purdue game Saturday night and at the remaining home games. The present yells serve their purpose at appropriate intervals during the game but there is urgent need for short yells which are characteristic of Wisconsin fighting spirit.

A judging committee consisting of T. E. Jones, director of athletics; Major J. S. Wood, former all-American end; Lee Hanson '24; and Ezra Crane '24, Varsity cheer leader, will select the yells at the close of the contest.

"We need some short yells to help the long ones out. A variety of yells will help the others, and will put new fighting spirit into the men," Gus Tebell '23, captain of the basketball team, said last night.

Jones Sees Need

"I'm strong for it; we need some new snappy yells," is the opinion of T. E. Jones, director of athletics.

"The Varsity locomotive and the skyrocket sound wonderful to the player, but we need something short and full of life to augment the old famous yells," Rollie Williams '23, all-Conference quarterback, said.

"We should reserve the locomotive for special occasions during the game and have some rousing yells which will engender pep and which can be easily given," Ted Shoults '23, editor of the Athletic Review, said.

MATHER LECTURES ON 19TH CENTURY ARTISTS

"The Great Traditionalists of the 19th Century" was the subject of the second of a series of three lectures given Tuesday by Frank J. Mather of Princeton university. "Landscape and Luminism" which was to be given yesterday has been postponed until tomorrow at 4:30 o'clock.

Weaving the story of the great 19th century traditionalists into the representative slides displayed at the same time, Mr. Mather contrasted the great artists of this period with the leading figures in his first lecture on "Romanticism and its Sequels."

Among the great traditionalists of the period was Watts, an Englishman. Other leading lights in the artist world of the 19th century were Millet, the peasant Frenchman, who represented hard toil and religious resignation in his works; the capricious Englishman, Whistler, noted for his "Portrait of Carlyle" and his portrait of his mother; and John De Farge, an American whose work is characterized by its nobility and graciousness.

Burlesque Octopus Sells Fast to Hill Customers

Hill sales of the fashion number of the Octopus equaled the sales of the Prom edition last month, the business office reported last night. That the students like the burlesque numbers of the Octopus seems to be confirmed by their ready purchase of the last two editions, the editors believe. The record for these editions coincides very nearly with the sales in previous years.

English Actress Pleases Audience In Greek Drama

Delineating each of the characters and the chorus, Dorothea Spiney, English actress and interpreter of Greek drama read "The Hippolitus of Euripides" before an audience which more than filled 165 Bascom hall. Many, unable to find seats, stood in the rear and side aisles, while others sought chairs in the building and placed them in the hall near the registrar's office.

The stage was set very simply, rich blue drapes providing an impressive background for the actress, clad in white Grecian costume. Two tall candles on either side of the stage represented the goddesses of Diana and Venus.

The characters were distinct and life-like, and the chorus, with its tone rhythm mirroring the spirit of the action and binding the play together, was especially well done.

COACH CHOICE NARROWS TO 4

"Professor" probably will be the title worn by the next Wisconsin head football coach, Athletic Director Thomas E. Jones intimated yesterday.

When Director Jones announces the choice of the athletic council for head coach, he will also recommend the rank and salary of the successful candidate. A Board of Regents committee is the final judge.

Pat Paige, Butler college, Jack Ryan, formerly of Marquette and now of Dartmouth, Harry Hughes, Colorado A. & M., and Harold Ofstie, Mississippi A. & M., are four men now under serious consideration.

Paige and Ryan are most likely to be chosen, but the number of prospects is not limited and a "dark horse" may appear here soon for a conference.

During his talk to Milwaukee alumni early this week, Director Jones mentioned the name of Page as a possibility and the alumni enthusiastically received his name with yells and skyrockets.

Page was a successful assistant to A. Alonzo Stagg at the University of Chicago for ten years. He helped to turn out good football teams and was in direct charge of basketball and baseball. Page developed an almost unbeatable basketball team at Butler College. His football team whipped Illinois, 10 to 7.

Butler college alumni and officers of the institution will make a strong bid to keep Page if Wisconsin offers him the position here.

"Y" DELEGATES LEAVE FOR U. I. CELEBRATION

The University Y. M. C. A. delegation of the fifth anniversary of the organization of the Y. M. C. A. at the University of Illinois to be held February 23, 24 and 25 leaves today for Urbana.

The local delegation is composed of Mr. William Young of the University Y. M. C. A., Prof. V. C. Finch of the geology department, Edgar A. Rossiter and L. K. Sherman. The day's program will be concluded with Prof. Bennie Snow's famous lecture on "Snow Flakes" in the evening.

The celebration will be addressed by famous "Y" speakers from all over the world. Huston Thompson of Washington D. C. will be the principal speaker Friday.

Labrador Worker to Tell of His Experiences Sunday

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, famous for his work in Labrador, will speak in Music hall Sunday at 7:30 o'clock on "Midst Snow and Ice in Labrador." Motion pictures will accompany the talk. Admission is free.

WEATHER: FAIR

Generally fair today and tomorrow; slightly colder today.

COSTUMED COEDS TO SELL DANCES AT LATHROP GYM

"A Democratic Prom," Says Mrs. Blanton

"The aim of the Charity Ball mixer Friday night is to show the students a mighty good time. It will be a democratic Prom, to which girls don't have to wait to be asked and men don't need to ask partners, and it is open to every student who has 50 cents," Mrs. Smiley Blanton, one of the sponsors of the dance, said yesterday.

The dance will begin promptly at 9 o'clock Friday night in Lathrop gymnasium and concert room.

Thompson's nine-piece "Badger" orchestra will furnish the music.

Tickets are now on sale at the University pharmacy and Morgan's and may also be obtained at the door.

Quartet to Sing

"Railroad Jack", the roving memory expert, has cancelled a previous engagement to be on hand at 10:15 to give a short address and to answer any questions put to him, according to Nella Burgess '24, chairman of entertainment. The Varsity quartet will sing several numbers including the Prom fox trot, during intermission.

"About 60 girls in costume have been selected from sororities, rooming houses, and committee members to dance in McDougal's Alley. They will sell their dances for a dime.

Lathrop concert room will be roped off and decorated for the affair," announced Marjorie Trumbull '25, in charge of the Alley.

Proceeds to Charity

The proceeds from the ball will be turned over to the Conference of Social Workers, a coordinating group of social organizations. Members of the conference, who have exhibited a keen interest in the event, have been issued a special invitation to attend by Harry F. Augustine '23, general chairman.

DRAIN EXPERTS MEET FOR FULL PROGRAM TODAY

The Wisconsin State Drainage association's ninth annual convention meets for the second day's program today in the Agricultural Engineering building. Drainage experts from all over the state are attending.

The program will begin at 9:45 o'clock with an address by Prof. O. R. Zeasman of the College of Agriculture who will speak on "What Kinds of Tile are Best in Deep Cuts." This address will be followed by "The Problem of Adequate Inspection" by E. R. Jones at 10 o'clock and "Problems in Pump Drainage" by C. H. Young at 11:15 o'clock.

The afternoon's program will be given especially to highway drainage with addresses by A. R. Hirst, Edgar A. Rossiter and L. K. Sherman. The day's program will be concluded with Prof. Bennie Snow's famous lecture on "Snow Flakes" in the evening.

The convention will convene on Friday at 9 o'clock for a report of the committee on drainage specifications. There will be a business meeting at 2 o'clock. Open house will be held Friday evening at the College of Agriculture building.

YELLOW TASSEL PLANS ACTIVITIES FOR YEAR

Class activities for junior women during the remainder of the year were planned by officers of Yellow Tassel, junior organization, at a meeting yesterday noon in Lathrop hall.

A junior class party will be given for all members of the class on April 1. Arrangements for a Senior Swingout and a class banquet to occur later in the semester were also made.

A drive to collect junior class dues which have not been paid will be conducted in the near future. Committees for these activities will be announced later.

Assembly Defeats Measure to Curb Social Functions

The bill relating to undemocratic social functions at the university, introduced by Assemblyman Freehoff of Waukesha on January 17, was killed in the assembly yesterday by the vote of 42 to 41, according to a report given out by Ethan B. Minier, representative from St. Croix, Wis.

"There are too many puritanical laws in the state statutes," Assemblyman F. J. Peterson said regarding the bill. "The university is capable of taking care of its own affairs without the interference of the legislature."

FAIRMOUNT HORSES TO COME HERE

World Champion Clydesdales Will Compete at Stock Show

The noted six-horse team of Clydesdales owned by the Wilson company of Packington arrived here in a special express car yesterday, in order that the prize winning animals may be fitted for their exhibition performance at the Little International Live Stock show and Winter Farm Festival at the College of Agriculture on Friday and Saturday.

For five consecutive years, this sextette of Clydes has been proclaimed the world champion team at the International Live Stock show, Chicago. In each contest the team was matched with the best horses in both Europe and America, but it has always emerged victorious.

The prize winning aggregation has thrice toured the world winning the popular applause even in Scotland where the Clydes are more popular than any other breed of animals.

The horses travel in special cars under first class conditions. A select retinue of grooms, a veterinarian, and a trainer accompanies them.

Although the team has won many coveted honors, they are required to perform daily work about the company's headquarters. The exercise furnishes them with the health and vigor that is essential to success in competition with other selected teams. Only the best drivers are ever trusted with them.

Once every month the horses are given a thorough physical examination by a special veterinarian. Their teeth are carefully examined, and their diet regulated so that they will not become overweight.

No special feeds are given the animals, according to their trainer, but they are fed regularly and are shielded from severe weather that may impair their health.

The Richland Center champion high school band of the state is scheduled to furnish the music during the exhibition driving of the sextette.

LIBE IS OPEN TODAY IN SPITE OF HOLIDAY

The no-cut rule will not be in effect for university classes before and after the Washington birthday recess today. In spite of the fact that today is a national holiday the university library will be open from seven forty-five until twelve o'clock noon. The city library will remain closed all day.

PRESIDENT BIRGE IS ELECTED AS DEACON

President Birge was elected a deacon of the First Congregational church last night at the annual business meeting. Dean Scott H. Goodnight created the vacancy by his resignation. Prof. W. E. Tottingham was elected to the board of trustees.

NO CARDINAL FRIDAY

Because of the Washington's birthday holiday today there will be no issue of The Cardinal tomorrow. Regular service will be resumed Saturday morning.

MENDOTA RINK IS TO HAVE WEEK-END MUSIC

Music by Thompson's five-piece orchestra will feature the skating on Mendota rink tomorrow night. Hot coffee and doughnuts will be sold by the W. A. A. girls in the shelter house next to the rink.

The ice is in excellent condition and flood lights have been installed by the athletic department which has charge of the frolic.

Three full hours of entertainment 7:45 to 10:45 o'clock will be given for the admission charge of 25 cents. Tags purchased for the event last week, which was postponed on account of the extreme cold, will be good for the performance tomorrow.

The skating to music is being conducted as an experiment; if it proves successful the event will be repeated on week end nights for the remainder of the season.

Weather Flags Give Next Day's Forecast

Weather flags unfurled from the top of North hall and the weather forecast issued daily to Madison afternoon newspapers cover the night and day following and not the day of issuance as was erroneously stated in The Cardinal last Saturday according to Eric R. Miller, meteorologist of the local weather bureau.

Extend Provisions of Local Dance Law Over State, is Plea of Women Voters Here

Reports on two questions of vital importance to Madison women were made at the monthly meeting of the Dane County League of Women Voters yesterday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. They are:

- 1.—The dance ordinance.
- 2.—The probation officer.

Telling of the efforts to secure a woman probation officer for Madison and Dane county, Mrs. Edna E. Chynoweth explained that the county board has passed the measure and agreed to pay half the salary of such an officer, providing that the city council agrees to pay the other half. The question will be threshed out tonight on the council floor at a meeting of the committee of the whole.

Mrs. W. S. Meanwell discussed the movement on foot to extend the Madison dance hall ordinance all over the state, to prevent the evasion of the provision by those who outstep the limits of the city's jurisdiction.

Mrs. Walter Ayer, state finance chairman and Dane county legislative chairman of the league, explained to the members the working order of the league's machine in localities where legislative information is not as accessible as it is in Madison.

Mrs. F. B. Morrison gave a short talk on the small pamphlets which this League has had printed.

By an unanimous vote the third Tuesday of each month was decided upon to be the regular meeting for the league.

Other features of the program were community singing led by Mrs. H. H. Ratcliff, organ selections by Miss Ethel Todd, a humorous reading, "Votes for Women" by Mrs. Edward E. Parkinson, and a group of guitar selections by Jack McMahon.

After the meeting the members adjourned to the second floor parlor, where they spent a social hour and were served with coffee and cakes.

Charity Ball Committees Will Dance on Thursday

"Work and play will be combined in a get-together party which will be given Thursday afternoon in Lathrop parlors from 3 to 5:30 o'clock for committee members of the Charity Ball mixer and their friends." Dorothy Dodge '23, in charge of arrangements, said today. "Bill" Thompson's first orchestra has been engaged to play, and Dr. and Mrs. Smiley Blanton will chaperone the dance.

Choral Union to Present "Faust" Opera in Spring

Choral Union will hold their try-outs at each meeting for the next month, P. W. Dykema, director of the choral work said yesterday. Applicants may come to try-out at any rehearsal from 7 to 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening in the auditorium of Music hall. Choral Union is now learning the chorus parts of Gounod's "Faust".

Woman Eugenic Test Bill Killed in Senate 16 to 12; House Votes Dog Tax Repeal

Inclusion of women within the scope of the Wisconsin eugenics law as proposed by the Barber bill before the legislature was frowned on by the senate today when by a vote of 16 to 12 it killed the proposal.

Senator W. L. Barber, Wausau, a doctor, defended his measure on the ground that it offered protection from social disease to Wisconsin young men about to marry. He said that the women should be required to submit to a physical examination in the same manner as men. Sen. John Cashman, Denmark, and Sen. Herman Roethe, Fennimore, opposed the proposal as an affront to the women of the state.

Will Attend Farmer-Banker Meet

The assembly today unanimously voted to repeal the state dog tax law that has served through three sessions of the legislature as an object of attack on the part of farmers.

A resolution by Sen. Polakowski, Milwaukee, proposing a constitutional amendment to permit the state to purchase a printing plant of its own, was adopted by the senate without a roll call.

Assembly Votes To Repeal Dry Tax Law

An invitation from the legislature of Minnesota to send a delegation to the Farmer-Banker conference at St. Paul, Feb. 27 and 28 was accepted by the legislature today. Three members of the assembly and two from the senate will attend the conference. Nine other states were invited to be present to consider the economic ills of agriculture.

Assemblyman James T. Oliver's bill permitting cities to levy a special tax of not more than three mills and also issue bonds for sewer construction, was unanimously passed by the lower house of the Wisconsin legislature today.

The committee on agriculture yesterday recommended for indefinite postponement proposed bills that would abolish the collection and compilation of agricultural statistics by assessors; that would repeal the law granting an appropriation from the state of $25,000 annually for land clearing demonstrations and a state soils laboratory.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

PURDUE QUINTET HERE FOR FIRST GAME SINCE 1918

Ticket Sale Will Open
Friday

GAMES TONIGHT
Chicago at Minnesota.
Indiana at Iowa.
Michigan at Ohio State.

For the first time since the season of 1917-1918, a Purdue basketball team will clash with a Wisconsin quintet on the armory floor here.

The game will begin at 7 o'clock on Saturday night and tickets will go on sale at the gymnasium at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Wisconsin walloped Purdue twice in the last season that they met. Coach Guy S. Lowman coached the team and he turned out a champion. The first contest with the Boilermakers resulted in a 24 to 18 victory for Lowman's cagers and the second game went to his team by a score of 21 to 16.

SIMPSON AND KNAPP

Eber Simpson, Mike Knapp, Maisel, Bauer, Brock, and Swenson were members of the championship squad. If Wisconsin can beat Purdue in its second tilt this year, the Badgers may be on their way to another title or near-championship.

They are now in second place, securely entrenched, and are close on the heels of the Iowa pacemakers. If Wisconsin evens up the score by beating Purdue, the Badgers will have only Indiana, Chicago, Northwestern and Minnesota to beat in order to conclude the season with a successful record.

Of these teams, Indiana was believed the strongest, but the Hoosiers were victims of an upset when Northwestern eked out a victory over them Tuesday night. Coach Maurice Kent permitted his basketeers to resort to long shots for the first time this season and the policy paid off, the forwards hitting the net from all parts of the floor.

IOWA PLAYS TONIGHT

Two of the elite swing into action tonight when Michigan plays at Ohio State and Indiana tries to raise its reputation by win over Iowa. The Wolverines should have an easy time in their game with the Buckeyes. Michigan has a powerful quintet which will be in the running until the last game is played.

Indiana was given an outside chance to lower the colors of the Iowa five, but after losing to Northwestern, the Hoosiers are dropped into the also-ran class. Iowa, however, is due to break after its eight consecutive victories and Indiana may be the team to turn the trick.

Chicago and Minnesota will attempt to arouse interest in the cellar gang. The Gophers have yet to win their first game and Chicago is in seventh place. Coach Norrgren's Maroons are slowly climbing and a victory over Minnesota will put them a bit closer to first division.

PUCK CHASERS LOOK FOR WIN OVER MINNESOTA

With two more workouts in which to overcome defects brought to the surface in previous encounters, the Wisconsin Varsity hockey team optimistically regards its important games with Minnesota at Minneapolis next Monday and Tuesday.

Sick and injured players have not recovered, and although some of the regulars have not been long out of the infirmary, this drawback should give the squad less trouble than in the last. Treadwell, who will be stationed in front of the Wisconsin goal in the two battles with the Minnesota team is again practicing with the squad. Moran, who was out of the Minnesota series here, will also be available.

Coach Viner has made a shift. He is using Woods in the defense, and reports indicate that this new combination will produce desired results. Although it is too early for announcement of a definite lineup, Woods will probably be stationed at right defense position.

Locker room discussion yesterday brought out news that the Marquette team, which fell prey to

M. A. C. SWIMMERS FAIL TO ACKNOWLEDGE MEET

No word has yet been received from the Milwaukee Athletic Club regarding the swimming meet with the Badger sharks this weekend. Coach Joe Steinauer has repeatedly tried to get in touch with them, but he has met with no success.

"As far as I am concerned the meet with the Milwaukee team is cancelled," Coach Joe Steinauer said late yesterday afternoon. "My men are working out every day, so that if the A. C. team puts in an appearance Friday or Saturday we will be ready for them."

Michigan in a letter to the coach also cancelled their meet.

MAT SQUAD TO MATCH IOWANS

Badger Wrestlers Will Fight to Hold Top Place

The Wisconsin and Iowa wrestling teams will contest here tomorrow night for more than a mere victory. One of the teams will be eliminated from the conference race. Five teams are tied for first place at present.

The Hawkeyes come with a decided advantage. Their team is not only exceptionally strong, but also in the top of condition, while the Badgers are a convalescing bunch, some suffering from minor injuries and others from colds. But Coach Hitchcock says that his team is in about as good condition as when they surprised the Gophers.

Iowa is a wrestling state, where men are taught the game in high school. Coach Schroeder, of the Hawks, has an added advantage over Hitchcock who must mold his team from green men. Capt. Ed Templin, who has been under Hitchcock's tutelage for three years, illustrates what Hitchcock methods can accomplish. The rest of the Cardinal team have not been under the coach long enough to pick up the tricks that Templin has.

Holmes will be able to take his old berth in the 135 pound class. Schakel, who wrestled in this class against Minnesota, has a badly injured ear. Hembre injured a finger in practice Tuesday and there was some doubt about his getting into the meet, but he reported O. K. last night. Otherwise the team will line up the same as the last meet.

The heavyweight bout will probably be the feature of the evening when two star football men match their strength. Bieberstein will oppose Heldt, Iowa center last season who won a great deal of press notice.

The referee will be H. Troendly, Nebraska, who held the lightweight championship of the conference when he was in school.

Lineup:

Wisconsin	Weight	Iowa
Suzuki	115	Pfeffer
Benbow	125	Gugisburg
Holmes	135	Lane
Hembre	145	Peterson
Heuer	158	Thorne
Templin	175	James
Bieberstein	heavy	Heldt

Wisconsin, slipped into three goals late in an encounter with the Gophers since that time, and won the game, 3-2. Michigan is also credited with a victory over Wisconsin's next opponent, and although Minnesota had the better of the series here recently, Coach Viner's regulars are priming themselves to reverse the order of things next Monday and Tuesday on the Gophers' own rink.

Viner will put the squad through a fairly stiff drill Friday but will lay down a light schedule of work for Saturday. The following afternoon the team will entrain for Minneapolis. The probable selection on which to start the first of the two games Monday is:

Capt. Combacker Center
Tredwell Goal
Woods Right defense
Fiske Right wing

MANITOWOC—John Fricke, an employee of the Wernecke & Schmitz Hardware Co., received serious injuries when he walked into an open elevator shaft, falling nine feet to the basement.

BADGER CLUB TO HOLD SKI MEET ON SLIDE TODAY

Tourney May Be Last of Season

In its third ski tournament of the winter, the Badger Ski club is sponsoring a meet for University of Wisconsin jumpers on Muir Knoll slide at 2:30 this afternoon.

Members of the club decided yesterday afternoon that they would run the tourney today. Although no riders are entered from other clubs, some close competition is expected between rival Badger ski-jumpers. Many of the men have hung up better records than amateurs connected with Chicago, Grand Beach, Mich., and Milwaukee organizations.

STROM TO JUDGE
 Sverre Strom '23, premier Wisconsin jumper, will give several exhibitions and will then act as judge of the tournament. Strom won the title of champion college jumper at a national meet held in Minneapolis recently. He has consistently scored high in other tournaments held at Cary, Ill., Grand Beach, Mich., and Minneapolis.

Other Wisconsin jumpers who will compete are: Ken Fagg, George Martin, Gordon Taylor, Plummer, Murphy, Clyde Strachan, and Goodridge.

In the feature part of the program, Strom and one other man will pair for slide down the knoll.

Past Weather Bad

Unfavorable weather conditions have worked against the Badger Ski club in its national meet and the state tourney. The organization is slightly behind financially and the event today is expected to give it a clean balance sheet.

Tags will be sold to lovers of outdoor sport today. A booth will be placed at the foot of the hill on Park street and the tags can be procured there.

The tourney held today will be the last ski meet of the year.

GYM MEN WILL MEET MAROONS IN CHICAGO GYM

In its first Conference meet of the season, the Wisconsin gymnasium team will meet Chicago turners in Bartlett Gym, Chicago, Friday evening.

The Badgers won from the Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. by a narrow margin in its opening competition. Chicago has beaten the Milwaukee "Y" in two contests this season.

The Maroons defeated Wisconsin last year and have a number of veterans on their team this season. Capt. Edward Ricketts is the major letter man of the squad. Elliott

BADGER TRACK TEAM IS TO MEET BELOIT

The Beloit college track team will meet Wisconsin in an outdoor meet on April 21 if negotiations are successfully concluded.

Athletic director Thomas E. Jones received a message from Beloit yesterday and the meet will be held if the athletic council is favorable.

Wisconsin has one less meet on its outdoor schedule this year because Northwestern substituted Minnesota for the Badger trackmen.

COACH JONES TO TRY NEW MEN IN IOWA CITY MEET

Squad Leaves Today at 4:30

A squad of 22 championship seeking Wisconsin track men will leave Madison at 4:10 tomorrow for Iowa City where they will compete in the first indoor dual conference meet of the season against the Iowa squad.

Besides the men who will compete, Coaches T. E. Jones and Mead Burke, and Manager Edwin Mead will make the trip.

The Badger squad has been picked after numerous trials in which new men have figured largely. The 1922 graduating class took with it a large part of the cinder team and the squad this year is largely composed of untried men.

IOWA CONSIDERED STRONG
 Iowa is considered one of the most likely winners of the indoor championship and the Badgers will have to work to eke out a victory in the meet.

A victory Saturday would mean much to the Wisconsin team for if the untried men come through their first test successfully prospects for the remainder of the season will be brighter.

A few old varsity men are counted upon to do the greater part of the scoring. Captain Spetz can be depended upon in the dashes and with Eagleburger's help that end of the burden ought to be carried successfully.

PLATTEN COUNTED ON
 Pete Platten has done most of the work in the high jump for the last few years and can be expected to hold up his end of the work. Donahue, another high jumper, will make the trip.

Newell tied Al Knollin's indoor hurdle record in the relay carnival last Saturday and if he works as well against the Hawks he will count.

Iowa's greatest strength lies in the dashes and in the hurdles. Hancock and Coulter are working in the weights for Iowa and may cause the Badger men some worry.

The following men will make the trip for Wisconsin: dashes, Capt. Spetz, Eagleburger, and Ellison; quarter-mile, Johnson and Graham; half mile, Valley, Rossmeissel, and Hilberts; mile, Ramsay, Schneider, and Bergstesser; two mile, Tschudy, Perry, and Piper; hurdles, Newell and Hammann; high jump, Platten and Donahue; pole vault, Tomlinson and Schmidt; shot put, Van Ells and Yaudes.

A GOOD TIME TO GET ACQUAINTED

One vote yesterday stood in the way of assembly decision to investigate alleged vice conditions at the university as urged by Assemblyman Freehoff.

A legislative investigation of faculty censorship has been threatened. Another concerning funk lists impends.

It indeed is surprising that the present legislature, with a mass of constructive legislation—part of which concerns the university—awaiting its attention, should fiddle away even part of its time with trivial details of university administration.

But if legislators must scrutinize such details, it is wise that they should do so privately, before plunging both the legislature and the university into a sea of injurious publicity and unpleasantness.

The nature of the proposed resolutions can only lead one closely in touch with university affairs to conclude that their introducers were influenced by hearsay or by strong simple complaint. There may be specific instances of all the evils charged. But absurd logic it is to assume the general from the particular.

The obvious way to put an end to time-wasting, unpleasant and unnecessary meddling is for legislators and the university to get acquainted.

The Illinois legislature sets aside one week in each session in which its members make an inspection tour of the University of Illinois, meet the administration heads, and scrutinize actual conditions. And following that inspection the Illinois legislature probably knows more about its university than does Wisconsin's, only a few steps from the university campus.

Administrative heads and faculty members, trained in the business of school management, can give the whys and wherefores of many conditions here and explain the necessity for a lot more to parties interested enough to imagine and at the same time avoid much detrimental "black-eye" publicity.

University professors and administrators are not the aloof intellectual highbrows managing affairs in the clandestine manner that requires investigation by law from a distance.

Several professors were hosts to several legislators the other evening at a dinner party and each was amazed to discover the other very much not the bugbear he was reported to be. And a lot of supposed difficulties faded into nothing over coffee cups.

If it is expected that the university should play host, then, before any more unpleasantness occurs, it is highly advisable that the administration plan a faculty-legislature get-together.

It's time that the ends of State street be connected by something more than a street car line—time that the legislature and university get acquainted.

WASHINGTON

Today America pauses to honor the memory of its father, the memory of the man who gave it the first vivid lessons of patriotism, toleration, and forgiveness.

"If I know my own heart, I could offer myself a living sacrifice to the butchering enemy, provided that it contributed to the people's aid and peace". Such was his expression of his ideal in life.

The life of Washington has become an institution from which character and policy have since been modeled.

It is particularly proper that our university should suspend its bustling activity today to honor the man who totally innocent of any higher learning as meted out by institutions, accomplished that toward which each college student must aspire—leadership, definiteness and achievement of purpose, openness of mind.

This day of relaxation is made the rosier with reflection on life, the ideals, the achievements of that man, Washington.

YELLS, MORE YELLS

It is indeed gratifying to observe the alacrity with which the student body and athletic leaders have picked up the cry for new Wisconsin yells. And there has been no hesitating about it.

The Cardinal, cooperating with the athletic department and the Varsity cheer leaders, starts a contest today for short, distinctive Wisconsin yells. Their actual popularity will be tested at coming basketball games. Winners will be substantially rewarded.

Tradition will be made in the next few weeks. Help it along.

Russian Opera Leaves Triumph, Thrills Chicago

Editor's note: the following review of the Russian opera now playing in Chicago was written especially for The Cardinal by Bertha Ochsner '19 after last Monday's performance.

By BERTHA OCHSNER '19

The overwhelming so-called "Russian invasion" into our unsuspecting theaters certainly has established itself at Chicago's Auditorium as a vital and stimulating influence in the world of modern operatic art.

Monday's performance of Tschaikowski's "Pikovaya Dama", (The Queen of Spades), was a triumph beyond challenge. The opera is adopted from Pushkin's famous story of that name and lends itself unusually well to musical dramatization.

One of the most astonishing qualities of this Russian group is the utter lack of self consciousness which one finds among the chorus, an apparent outcome of sincere artistic devotion to whatever modest roles fall to their lot. Equally noteworthy is the extraordinary ensemble feeling which they evidence in their easy, gracious moving about the stage. Even the principals make no show to capitalize ways a part of the dramatic picture.

Ina Bourskaya, in the title role, a decadent, doddering, sinister old gambling countess, showed a mellowness of voice and great histrionic richness of interpretation. Valdimir Daniloff, as Hermann, the ill-fated hero, sang with complete and convincing abandon. And the lyric charm of Lisa was not lost in the spirited portrayal by Mary Mashir.

As for the music—it is not Tschaikowsky at his melodic best.

MOVIE CHATS

"THE BEAUTIFUL AND DAMNED"

Featuring Marie Prevost and Kenneth Harlan.

From the novel by F. Scott Fitzgerald.

Presented at the Strand.

Produced by Warner Brothers.

BY CHATTY

Although they have followed the original theme in its particulars, the producers of this story of modern merry-making have hardly done justice to its author. Fitzgerald, we admit, is fond of portraying the whirl of New York and the life of the jazz age, but he has enough sense of propriety not to outreach his aim.

This picture does seem to outreach the aim of the author, and the result is more repulsive than anything else. It could hardly be called shocking. Prigs would be more apt to laugh than to blush at the scenes. There is little to save the film from being repelling in a way in which the young Princetonian's novels are not.

The cast is composed of a group of stars who are especially well adapted to the production. The sheik and flapper, bearing the leading roles, are as perfect as one could expect. We always have the feeling that stubborn, selfish feminine characters in movies are more stubborn and more selfish than they would be in life. But perhaps we have not tasted as much of real life as scenario writers and producers have.

Be this as it may, Marie Prevost makes an excellent wild she-flapper. Kenneth Harlan, in the role of a young heir to millions, is nice looking, a fair actor and promises better things. The rest of the cast make good chappies.

At the outset of the picture, young Anthony, heir to his grandfather's millions, is imbued with the ambitions of an author, while frivolous little Gloria, his fiance, keeps him busy holding parties to chase away her ennui. Naturally the combination does not work well.

When the grand parent dies, leaving Tony with blessings and a dollar, the situation becomes worse. Strange to say, however, Tony and his helpmate (they are now married) alter their characters, the former becoming idealistic and the latter a loafer.

But the picture does not end there.

SKYROCKETS

A GOOD WAY TO OPEN UP THE SHOW

"Have you had your 'tongue twister' today?

Don't answer until you have read the whole column.

The headlines tell us that Jimmy Brader and Bob Sykes are going to pull a Columbus and try to find a new world—or something in Europe. We can't see why they go to Europe with Regent street so close. Bob needs Jimmy to carry the numerous marks, roubles and other sundry Yen.

Luke: "Let's go down to a movie."

Pi Fi: "I can't, it's Lent."

Luke: "Is that so, who borrowed it?"

The above is very pretty if chanted to the tune of Chopin's Funeral march, substituting the words, Dumb, Dumb da Dumb ect.

Doesn't it make you mad to fight your way home through a blinding blizzard, and then open a letter from the folks down at Palm Beach and read the way they are lounging around in the high temperature, wearing bathing suits to everything but church.

Don't let us fool you, readers, our folks are back in the old home town just like yours are.

"YOU HAVE NOTHING ON ME," SAID THE MODEL OF SEPTEMBER MORN TO THE SCULPTOR.

INTIMAT GLIMPSES OF OUR UNIVERSITY

No. 1—L. & S.

If you can't take anything useful, take L&S and learn the gentle art of absorbing some very foreign languages. Soon you will find out what year Nebuchanigger was Imperial Wizard of Timbuctoo; then you will learn what made the apple fall off of old man Newton's head, and will eventually find out what H-2-O is and be sore because you'd been drinking the stuff all your life.

If you know your material you'll take city planning and find out that all cities are not dead just because their streets are laid out. After about five years of this useful drill you go out into the well-known cold, hard world ready to hook your feet upon some mahogany desk and if someone should happen to ask you how the president of U. S. gets his job you'll have to run home and get your notebook. Don't be a complete loss to society, be a bond salesman.

Co-ed on the ice: "Jack, I can't slide with these shoes on."

Jack: "Well, I told you to wear your slippers."

Stude: "What did the Dean say when you saw him today?"

X-Stude: "He said, 'Here's a pencil, draw up a chair.'

We will now present our own minstrel show in one bad act.

End men: Mr. Bones and Mr. Rastus.

Scene: Where ever you happen to be.

The curtain ascends. Watch our end men get down under the punts.

"Mr. Bones, how is you-all today?"

"Ise how I is that's how I is."

"Looky heah niggah, I seed an Italian down on Regent street that was a sure nuf Jew."

"Smoke, what you mean you see a Wop what am an Israelite?"

"You know this boy Tony?"

"Yes ah recollects ah knows the gennaman."

"Well, black boy, what ah means HE BREWS the best liquor ever laid me out."

Wally Kidder: "I haven't seen much of that new girl that lives at Schreibers."

Jesse Cohen: "She must live on the other side of the house."

If Mr. Coe were here today,

I'd go right up to him and say, Have you had your case of Grippe today,

And then I'd travel on my way.

Mead Burke: "I wonder how Phi Beta feels."

Harry Kearby: "I don't know, I never felt one."

"NO, LITTLE GIRL, I DIDN'T HAVE MY TONGUE-TWISTER TODAY—She is out of town."

No Wisconsin Students In American Rhine Army
No Wisconsin men will return from the Rhine through the recent demobilization of American troops. Gun and Blade reports. Most of the men in service on the Rhine volunteered after the armistice, thus calling few Wisconsin students.

"If a girl doesn't pet-- a man can figure he didn't rush her right," said Andy. Andy was the University's most finished product. "Even flappers like romance. A man makes a mistake to depend on his line and and overlook the moon." Such is the wisdom of our universities. Here for the first time is a brilliantly executed picture of university life that we all recognize, whose humor we all appreciate, whose truth is a little shocking. It will arouse to indignation those who believe our campuses to be the play-grounds of aspiring youth. It will entertain and amuse everyone. It ought to stir the country.

CLASSES FEEL FOREIGN MOVES

Ohio State Language Show Chance After War Occurrences

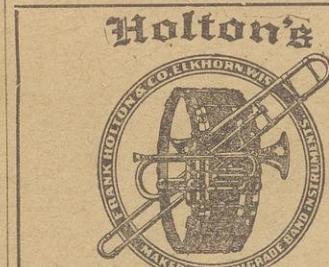

COLUMBUS, O., Feb 20—Every little foreign movement has a language meaning all its own. To which enrollment in university classes are peculiarly sensitive, teachers of the tongues at Ohio State university aver.

To wit, enrollment in German classes in 1914 was 1240. By the time the first doughboys got into the trenches, it was but 61, only seven of whom were in elementary courses. War hatred was at its height. Then came the armistice and the cooling process began. In 1919 students taking German numbered 208, next year 235, then 322 and this year 395.

What happened to French? One year of the war shot enrollment figures from 1038 to 2149. That was the peak. Since the armistice enrollment in French, classes have slumped somewhat, though professors attribute this to limitation of class and more widespread teaching of French and Spanish in high schools, rather than to slackening interest in the tongue.

Meanwhile something happened to excite the enrollment figures for Spanish. Sections went a bit lean during the war, but the very first year after enrollment skyrocketed from 580 to 1,349. "Reaction to new commercial interests in South America," interpreted the professors.

Elimination of language as a fixed requirement in the college of engineering curriculum has reduced Spanish and French enrollments by some over 30 students each this year, registration figures show. Combined, classes in French and Spanish enroll 1,778 of the 2,359 students studying foreign languages at Ohio State university.

CANVASSERS GIVE AID TO CHINESE STUDENT

The flying squadrons working for the drive for funds to extend the scholarship period of Whei Lan Chang, a Chinese student major in the physical education department, are out making talks at all of the women's rooming houses and sorority houses this week.

The drive started last Monday and will continue until Saturday, although everyone who is collecting will be given one week from the time that the speech was made in their house to hand the money in.

This is the second year that the S. G. A. has extended the period of Miss Chang's stay here at the university over the original two years scholarship which she won when she graduated from the university of Shanghai, China, with high honors. Dorothea Wilgus '24 is the general chairman of this drive.

International Club Will Celebrate German Night

German night will be celebrated at the meeting of the International club in the S. G. A. rooms of Lathrop hall at 7:15 o'clock Friday night. The program will consist of a radio of classical German songs with Karl Krauslach '26 at the flute, Otto Toenhart '26 at the violin and Irmgard Siegmeyer '23 at the piano, classical songs by Rigmor Estvad '23, an old fashioned dance, Biedermeyer days, by Doris Koenenman '24, a violin solo by Otto Toenhart, a folk song in costume by Eunice Neckerman '25 and a puppet play, "Robber Yarmony," which was translated from the German by Professor Morgan of the German department. German games will be played after the performance.

STUDENTS PLAN EUROPEAN TOUR

New York University Will Introduce Innovation in Education

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Greece had its peripatetic philosophers who lectured to their students while strolling about after the manner of Aristotle, and now after more than 2,000 years the method has been revived by New York university. Classes, with their instructors, will wander the length and breadth of Europe, gathering knowledge as they go.

European tours under the guidance of college professors are of no particular novelty, but the tour arranged by New York university differs from the others in that those who take part in this one will be just as much students of the university as those who attend lectures in the classroom. College credits toward a degree will be awarded to those who do the work required of those who take the tour. This is the first time a university has established a course of this kind.

It is expected that most of those who take the tour will be teachers and college students specializing in the three courses of study covered by the tour, although anyone may enroll. The three courses will be:

Human geography, conducted by J. Edmund Woodman, professor of geology at New York university; The European background of English literature, conducted by Harold Hoffman, instructor of English at New York university; and contemporary European problems, conducted by Charles A. Gulick, instructor in economics at New York university.

Four points toward a college degree will be allowed for each of these courses, but no student will be permitted to take more than two of them. Those who make the tour without seeking credit toward a degree may take any or all of the courses.

YEARLING TRACK TEAM TO MEET IOWA TOMORROW

The freshman track squad swings into outside competition for the first time this year when it enters a telegraphic meet against the Iowa yearling team tomorrow afternoon.

The Iowa squad is reported to be the strongest frosh team that has existed at that place for several years and Wisconsin's mediocre team will have to work hard to provide any competition. Several men have been showing up well for the freshmen this winter and it is upon these men that chances for a victory rest.

Kennedy, an almost certain winner in the half and quarter mile events, hurt his leg recently and will not be able to work against Iowa.

Cassidy, Rockford boy who entered school the second semester, will run the mile and is almost a sure winner. Captain Zilisch, in the hurdles, can be expected to count with the help of Galle and Sharples. Cohen and Lovewell are both working well in the two mile run and will cause the Iowa distance runners to show some speed.

Other men who will undoubtedly contribute toward a win are: Held, in the quarter; Sherbourne and Mc Andrews in the sprints; Thomson and Aller in the weight events.

Lit Societies to Debate Military Training Issue

The principal topics for discussion at the Literary societies tomorrow night will be the military training issue, the adoption of a new amendment to the Wisconsin constitution affecting the special elections of state officers upon petition of 15% of the voters, and a special military program, at which Maj. J. S. Wood, commandant of the cadet corps, will speak.

YARMARK IS ORPHEUM BIRTHDAY OFFERING

Extraordinary is the attraction for the three Washington's birthday performances at the Orpheum today.

"Yarmark", a unique Russian mélange of songs and folk dances, has taken its title from great fairs held in all districts of Russia twice each year. Our own county fairs are small reproductions of these carnivals.

Important to young girls and boys, each Yarmark has its Ploschad, or pleasure square, where under bright lanterns gather strolling players, singers, dancers, fortune tellers and acrobats. Like the midway of our fairs this is the heart of the carnival and the act called "Yarmark" represents a scene at night in this square.

An artist in impersonation is Claudia Coleman. Miss Coleman makes old types live before her audience with the assistance of a few hats and marvelous facial expressions.

The Aeroplane Girls appear in an up to the minute sensation. Attired in nifty costumes which display their charms to advantage, these two feminine dare devils to stage a thrilling performance on whirling trapezes.

Frank Monte and Nick Lyons, billed as the "Two Italian Noblemen" have a mirthful concoction of music, chatter and song. The Stuart girls depict little kiddies of the rompers and curls age. "The First Hundred Years," a novelty sketch is offered by Andrus and George, two attractive young women. Their vehicle will reveal a new angle of chorus girl life.

Luther Memorial Will

Take Holiday Hike Today

Luther Memorial church will entertain all Lutheran students with a hike today.

The party will leave the church at 10 o'clock, returning at 2. The hike will end at Black Hawk's cave, with a weiner roast.

The Lutheran association has an active membership of over 200 students, and aims to promote active Christian work among the Lutheran students at the university.

"Dad" Wolf Talks to Class on Reformation in France

Comparing the work of Calvin in France with that of Luther in Germany and showing how the Reformation in Germany was one of the common people while that in France was one of the aristocrats, Frederick E. Wolf, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., talked to 9:30 o'clock Sunday group at the Y. M. C. A. about the "Reformation in France" at their last session. The talk was the second of a series illustrating liberal phases of religious thinking in regard to the religious renaissance in Europe.
