ENTIRE STATE IS CAMPAIGNED BY EXPOSITION

"Watch Wisconsin Work" is Slogan of All Advertising

"Watch Wisconsin Work" is the slogan of all advertising being heralded throughout the state of Wisconsin in every possible form for the University Exposition, April 21 to 23.

No less than 4,000 posters are being sent to high school principals to be distributed in the towns by the students. Street car and newspaper advertisements in the state will flaunt the slogan before the eyes of the public. In Milwaukee this space has been reserved on the outside of the cars.

No one will be able to escape the fact that the university is to put on a big display after vacation. If they cannot read, they will be able to see advance glimpses of it at the movies, according to Donald Bailey '22, chairman of the advertising committee. A film containing a few views around the exposition is being sent over the state for display. It will be shown in Madison from April 9 to 11, and from April 18 to 23.

Aim Statewide Campaign

"The aim of the publicity committee is to conduct a statewide campaign, in order to get as many people as possible interested in the exposition," declared Leon E. Kaumheimer '21, chairman of the publicity committee. "A special effort is being made to interest high school students."

"The Exposition News," a small sheet containing articles only on the exposition, is being sent out every week to 400 high schools in the state. Edward Lee '23 is the editor of this paper.

A publicity campaign is being carried on through the newspapers of the state by sending stories on the exposition to them twice a week. The co-operation of the Associated Press has been obtained in sending out these stories.

The Expo Program

The program for the University Exposition is a 48-page booklet, of which 8,000 copies are to be made. It will contain brief writeups and cuts of all the exhibits. A useful feature will be a floor plan of the armory and the annex, showing the location of each booth.

The cover design, drawn by Herbert Brockhausen '23, is in gold and black, and symbolizes the interdependence of the state and the university. Ten cents is the amount for which the program will be sold at three booths on the exposition grounds. W. M. Sale '22, chairman of the program committee, is responsible for the organization of this work.

KNOLLIN IN FIELD FOR PRESIDENT OF ATHLETIC BOARD

Albert Knollin '22, is running for president of the Athletic board. He has had one year's experience on the board and is a W man in track.

POWELL AND GREEN ENTER RACE FOR POSITIONS ON 1923 BADGER

HORACE B. POWELL

Horace B. Powell, Milwaukee, candidate for editor-in-chief of the 1923 Badger, and Sherman B. Green, Morrison, Ill., candidate for business manager, head the second ticket to enter the field.

Powell is on the editorial staff of the 1922 Badger. He is a sophomore in the course in journalism and a member of the University Press club. He has had experience on both the 1921 and the 1922 year-books and on The Daily Cardinal. At present he is circulation manager of the Wisconsin Literary Magazine. During the year he has organized and carried out a number of publicity campaigns which have greatly broadened the scope of the "Lit" on the campus, and, as a result, he has increased the circulation of the magazine over and above what it has ever been before.

Powell is a graduate of the West Division High school, Milwaukee, where he was actively interested in the Comet, which received first honors at the Panama Pacific Exposition as being the finest high school paper in the country. After graduation, and before entering the university, he had four years of practical experience in journalism, and for two years he was connected with the Western Builder, a building journal which has a wide circulation throughout the country. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Green is a sophomore assistant on the business staff of the 1922 Badger. He is a sophomore in the course in civil engineering and is a member of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity. He is associate business manager of the Wisconsin Literary Magazine and has had experience on various campus publications, including the Wisconsin Engineer.

He was business manager of the high school paper at Morrison, Ill., and has had business training with various concerns throughout Illinois and Idaho.

For two years he was a member of the editorial staff and during one year was assistant business manager of the Roll Call, the year-book of Culver Military academy. He was also editor-in-chief of the Vedette, the weekly school paper at the academy. Green is a member of Theta Xi fraternity.

PROF. SCOTT TO BE FACULTY SPEAKER AT CONVOCATION

All-University Mass Meeting
Will Be Held Next Thursday

Prof. W. A. Scott, director of the course in commerce, will be the faculty speaker at the all-Wisconsin convocation, which will be held on Thursday, April 7, at 4:30 p. m., to explain the work and aims of the University Exposition to the students.

Professor Scott will analyze the exposition thoroughly, explaining its purpose, and its importance to the people of the state, and to the student body. The other speakers will be Frances Ellen Tucker '21, and Wesley Travers '21.

In order that this may be an all-university convocation, a special faculty dispensation was obtained.

FOOTBALL MEN BEGIN SPRING GRIDIRON WORK

Coach Jones Issues First Call for Team of 1921

A call for a meeting of all football men, to be held Tuesday evening at 7:15 in the trophy room of the men's gymnasium, was issued yesterday by Athletic Director T. E. Jones. The meeting will be addressed by Coach Driver, who will have charge of the spring practice. The program to be followed and the objectives of this period of work will be discussed.

During spring practice the fundamentals of football will be stressed and conditioning work that will be beneficial to all men out for football will be given. It will be impossible for Coach Richards to be on the ground at this time but the work will be carried on along lines laid down by him.

A Championship Team

It is the desire of Coach Jones that every man who is interested in playing football for Wisconsin come out at this time. The fall season is so short that the fundamentals must be taught during spring practice. It will be possible to give special attention to such men as need it, and it is the ambition of the entire football staff to make this season's work count towards developing a championship team in the fall of 1921.

Coach Driver will be assisted by George Berg, Frank Weston, and Ralph Scott.

"MISS QUITA" WILL BE PRESENTED TO SEVEN AUDIENCES

Haresfoot Opens Engagements at Waukesha on April 15

Making a tour of five cities in Wisconsin and Illinois, the Haresfoot club will present its twenty-third annual production, "Miss Quita," to seven audiences before it returns to Madison for its three gala performances at the Fuller theater on April 22 and 23, the week-end of the Varsity Exposition.

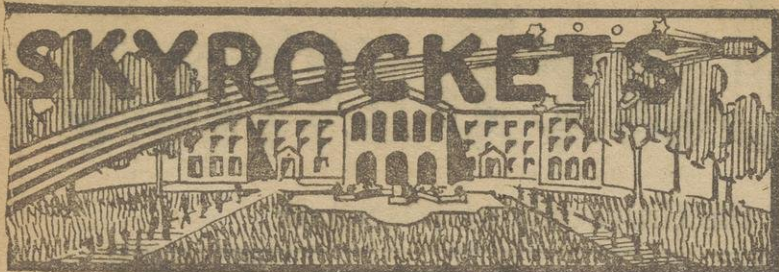

An innovation of the trip is the playing at Rockford, Ill., for two nights. Because of the great demand for the second performance in Rockford, the engagement at Janesville was abandoned. The itinerary of the club is as follows: Waukesha, April 15, Colonial theater; Milwaukee, April 16, matinee and evening, Pabst theater; Racine, April 18, Orpheum theater; Kenosha, April 19, Rhode opera house; Rockford, Ill., April 20 and 21, Rockford theater; Madison, April 22 and 23, matinee Saturday, Fuller theater.

Over 50 men, including a 20-piece orchestra will take the trip during spring vacation.

PENALTIES

Frosh Who Violate University Traditions Must Atone For Sins

Don't be surprised at any queer actions of the yearlings who have so recently donned the little green squib known as a cap. In spite of the time-honored traditions, a select few have failed to put the above-mentioned cap on the uppermost part of their anatomy and in consequence will have to atone for their actions by a penalty heaped upon them by the masterful sophomores.

If you see a frosh carrying a market basket, don't come to the conclusion that he is a home ec., no, it's just a punishment. This same R. J. Quinn will also carry an umbrella opened flat on his head when going up the hill and high above his head when coming down. He will start from the Union building at 7:45 Wednesday morning and will live under that penalty until his last class on Thursday.

Albert Scheuy, also found guilty of violating a tradition, will stand on a soap box on lower campus Wednesday and Thursday from 10 minutes of 11 to 10 minutes after 12 and sing, "Love Me and the World is Mine," "Wearing of the Green," "Home Sweet Home," and other choice bits. If you miss the performance Wednesday, go Thursday, it will be just as good.

Any traditions broken will please be reported to the committee of W. G. Dorward, J. B. Fitzgerald, or E. W. Jones.

KAHLENBERG WILL TALK TO CHEMICAL ENGINEERING GROUP

"The Manufacture of the Cloth Which the Germans Made from Paper During the War," will be the subject of an illustrated talk which Prof. Louis W. Kahlenberg will give before the Chemical Engineering society in the Chemistry auditorium, Tuesday evening, April 5, at 7:15.

Professor Kahlenberg will have some samples of the materials for inspection. All students are invited to be present.

PROGRAM FOR MILITARY BALL IS ANNOUNCED

Special Features to Be Furnished by Guard

The special feature of the 1921 Military ball will be the result of six week's work by the university cadet corps President's guard. More than 80 men will participate in the event, which will be an original silent manual of arms to bugle calls.

A double manual between two cadets is also promised by the committee in charge, and something unique and unusual may be expected.

The new guard insignia, which was designed by Hubert Townsend '23, has arrived and will be worn the night of the ball. The new markings are sewed on to the left sleeve and consist in a helmet over the letters "U. W."

Plan orchestra Stand

Latest plans for the capitol arrangements set the height of the orchestra stand at 16 feet. It will be begun Thursday morning, and will be decorated with bunting and flags.

The American, French, and British field pieces owned by the cadet corps have been secured by the decorations committee and will be placed on the lawn around the capitol. A salute fired from one of these guns will officially open the ball.

BADGER CLUB TO HEAR DR. HALL

Dr. Winfield Scott Hall has been secured to address the Badger Club tonight. Dr. Hall is one of the foremost social lecturers of today and is recognized as being an artist in this line of work. He was formerly a medical teacher at Northwestern university, and is especially well fitted to discuss social problems from a doctor's point of view.

The subject of Dr. Hall's lecture will be "Physical and Social Reconstruction". Anyone who misses hearing this address will not only miss hearing one of the leading social reformers but also one of the most clever speakers of today.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENTS PLAN EXHIBITS FOR EXPO

"When in Rome, eat Roman candles" is the key-note to the Semitic language exhibit for the university exposition. A number of antiques and objects of art of Oriental origin will dominate the exhibit. Hebrew, Greek, and Persian tapestries together with articles to be loaned by the Chinese and Hindoo students will form an interesting part of the display. Several ancient books and Bibles dating as far back as 1500 A. D. will be shown. The development of the languages will be explained by wall charts, and stereopticon slides will show views of the Semitic nations.

The Romance languages will have their chief exhibit when native costumes of the various countries are worn by native students at the exhibition booth. Posters and pictures of plays, given by students and faculty members as well as French newspapers and periodicals, will be on display.

Charts and graphs of the different branches of the department will show the increase in the number of students and faculty members and the growth of the department since the last exhibit.

SOPHOMORE GIRLS WIN BASKETBALL HONORS, 36 TO 23

By a 36 to 23 victory over the Juniors in Lathrop gym yesterday afternoon the sophomore girls' basketball team won the 1921 girls' basketball championship.

The tie between the Seniors and Freshmen for third place will probably be played off sometime this week. The all-Varsity squad was announced at the basketball spread, which was held in the gymnasium after the game, and is as follows:

Forwards: Belle Knight '23, Ellen Harris '24, Auta Lyman '22; jumping center: Esther Bilstead '24; running center: Irene Clayton '23; guards: Hazel Wright '21, Esther Mainland '23.

A game between the varsity and the grads will be arranged for next week.

PROFESSOR SCOTT SPEAKS AT CONVO

allowing all classes to be dismissed. This will probably be the only meeting at which all Wisconsin will assemble this semester, as, at the end of last year, the faculty passed a ruling that no convocation could be held necessitating that classes be excused, except on very special occasions.

This convocation is one of the preliminary steps in popularizing the exposition and making it an all-Wisconsin project. As it is to be a representation of the university as a whole, it is necessary to have the university recognize the fact in this way and give it the support of every student from the beginning.

THE TOLSTOY LECTURE

As a sequel to the discussion engendered on the campus through the intercollegiate debates on the merits of the question of recognition of Soviet Russia, the lecture by Count Ilya Tolstoy at the Madison High school auditorium Wednesday night on "The Truth About Russia" should commend itself to the student body.

Count Tolstoy comes adequately prepared to offer the American public a constructive analysis of conditions in Russia. He has recently returned from Russia, where he made a thoroughgoing and careful study of political and economic conditions in his native land. He knows Russia better than anyone now outside the pale of that hotbed of revolution can ever hope to know. Moreover, his position in the fields of letters and philosophy makes him eminently qualified to handle his subject in admirable fashion.

It is an admitted fact that world unrest can never be consistently eliminated until conditions in Russia become established. In the final analysis, the United States will play the leading role in the solution.

Hear Tolstoy Wednesday night.

WHY ELIMINATE NON-RESIDENTS?

If the legislature is determined to eliminate non-residents from the student personnel at Wisconsin the members need only to pass Assemblyman Perry's bill raising the tuition fee to $500.

The solons are evidently of the opinion that by sending non-residents to other schools through the medium of a prohibitive fee at Wisconsin they will obviate the need for increased expenditures.

Considering the matter from the financial aspect alone the legislature has perhaps been misinformed about the cost of educating students. According to statements of the business manager of the university it costs approximately fifty per cent of the amount specified in the Perry bill.

Most important, however, is the consideration of some of the net results which would undoubtedly emanate from this policy of raising the tuition to the point of its outstripping every other university in the country.

The absence of the non-resident would tend to make Wisconsin provincial. The cosmopolitan atmosphere which abounds on the campus at the present time would be supplanted by something too local and too restricted to correctly merit being termed the embodiment of a truly great state university.

Of the hundreds of Wisconsin people who yearly receive degrees here a substantial percentage leaves to give other states the profits of Badger expenditures on education. To compensate for this, an equally large number of non-resident graduates, attracted to our campus by its many admirable qualities and reasonable tuition fee, remain in this state when their undergraduate life has been terminated

When the roll of state leaders is called it will be found that an appreciable number were non-resident students while in the university. Not only out of school do non-resident students hold their own, but in their undergraduate days they carry their share of the worthwhile work on the campus. The chairman of the forthcoming exposition, the captain of the 1920 football team, the chairman of the 1921 junior prom, the chairman of the 1920 homecoming and a host of others helping to make Wisconsin better known are non-resident students.

A discussion of this character cannot overlook the noteworthy contribution which the non-resident students make to campus life in still another form. Coming as they do from every state in the Union and practically every country in the world, they make for a more closely knit body politic.

Should the bill pass, the $25,000 which the legislature spent on the Lincoln statue and terrace will have been a poor investment, for the monument ought then to go to a more progressive school where the policy of the open door will always prevail.

Elimination of non-resident students at Wisconsin will not solve the financial problem of the university. It will serve merely to turn the tables and make of the country's best state university a school with a necessarily restricted viewpoint.

SIGNORA AGRESTI TO SPEAK TUESDAY ON ITALIAN LIFE

What promises to be one of the most interesting lectures given at the university this year will be delivered next Tuesday when Signora Agresti, belonging to the famous Rossetti family of Italy, will speak on the subject, "A Portrayal of Life on an Italian Crop-sharing Farm."

Signora Agresti is a brilliant woman, a good speaker, and an enthusiast, according to Prof. B. H. Hibbard who is bringing her here. Her ability to handle several different languages was brought out when she acted as leading interpreter at the International labor conference, recently held in this country, where she showed remarkable facility in understanding the work of the conference and in making this work plain to each group in its own tongue.

For 16 years Signora Agresti was the executive secretary and advisor of David Lubin, the American who made himself famous by establishing the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome. Since the death of Mr. Lubin she has discontinued that work because the institute is making little progress at present.

COUNT TOLSTOY TO LECTURE ON RUSSIA WEDNESDAY NIGHT

"A wonderful lecture. Could have filled our hall five times," is the report from the University of Pennsylvania on Count Ilya Tolstoy's lecture which will be given on Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the Madison high school auditorium.

"The Truth About Russia" is to be the subject. For many years Count Tolstoy worked in the Zemstov, a county community in Russia, and was one of the first members of the political organizations that were struggling for liberty before the Revolution of 1905.

In 1914-15 he was with the Russian army as representative of the Red Cross, being an eye-witness to the intense fighting of the campaign in Galicia, where he also served as a special correspondent for the leading Moscow newspaper.

Count Tolstoy has an excellent command of the English language, and his views which are anti-Bolshevik, have been widely published.

AT THE FULLER

May Allison in "Extravagance," a massive seven reel production will open a three day engagement at the Fuller today.

This Metro Special was adapted from the story by Ben Ames Williams, "More Stately Mansions," which appeared in Good Housekeeping Magazine, and created a sensation by its astounding portrayal of a current social malady. Those who have read the story will want to behold the talented Metro star personate the extravagant society girl, while everybody else will wish to see the unusual picture.

Miss Allison has the role of Nancy Brown, daughter of a wealthy man, who marries Dick Vane, a young lawyer. Her society ambitions necessitate a severe dent into the husband's income, and in a mad desire to hold his wife's love, Dick forges a check on his father. It is when jail faces him, and his wife is given the chance to save her husband by leaving him forever, that the great understanding leading to the new life comes.

The supporting cast includes Robert Edson, Theodor von Eltz, William Courtwright, Lawrence Grant, and Grace Pike.

STRAND CALENDAR

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday —

Wanda Hawley in "The Snob," also latest News Weekly.

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday—Mack Sennett's Sex Reel comedy drama "A Small Town Idol," also "The Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes."

AT THE STRAND

"The Snob," starring Wanda Hawley, is a college town Prom football picture which was adapted from a Saturday Evening Post story and is being shown at the Strand theater for three days starting today.

Humanity instinctively loves a hero—whether he be the hero of a battle, a race, a rescue, or a matinee. So it was but natural that this girl should fall in love with the hero of the football game, as he apparently did with her. But it was somewhat of a jolt when she learned that he was working his way through school as a waiter! For she was not only very rich but very snobbish, and she scorned all workers. However, snobbishness is only skin deep. Inside she had a heart of gold, and finally the dross of her mother's training was burned away.

The added attractions will be the latest News Weekly, a Paramount magazine, a Comedy Cartoon and "Thrills," a short sport subject chuck full of sensational feats of daring.

AT THE GRAND

"Passion," which had its American premiere at the Capitol theater, because of its value as a correct historical picturization of the last part of the 18th century France, is a production worthy of highplace in the year's motion picture productions.

"The familiar account of the life of Madame Du Barry, her part in the court of the hapless Louis XV to which she rose from a poor milliner, supplies the main theme of the film. But a vivid background of the France of her day, the France that rose and with great fury drove from their high places the king and his company, that part of the play will be the dominant attraction for many.

The best scenes of the play are the uprising of the populace, the destruction of the Bastille and Madame Du Barry on the guillotine. The fire of revolution sweeping the country, the procession with the red flags, the barricade fighting, the street orators, are depicted with a sympathetic understanding of the needs of the situation. With the crashing strains of the "Marseillaise" these scenes bring many stirring incidents.

Pola Negri, who holds a position of standing in the European screen world, is starred in "Passion." She is beautiful and she is intelligent.

The settings are all done with a fidelity to historical facts. Particularly so the dwelling places the nobility.

"Passion" will be presented daily at the Grand.

Workers Don't Intend

To Become Bolsheviks

"The average man in this country has no intention of becoming anything like a bolshevist—at least not yet," declared Whiting Williams, one of the country's best known social experts, in an address Saturday noon before the Civics club at the Woman's building. "The workers are much the same as you and I, anxious to save their faces and get on in the world. There are two kinds of people trying to sell him an idea, the man advocating the bloody revolution as the means of remedying his troubles, and the man who believes in gradual righting of his wrongs. The former is the better salesman because he understands the view point of worker, and this is where having or not having a job makes all the difference in the world. The job is the most important thing in the world to the worker."

"Passion"

New York newspaper critics are cynics. To them the screen is the kindergarten of entertainment. But their reviews of "PASSION" are absolutely agreed—in the full column opinions they give to their readers—that this European production puts our American producers to shame. They rant, they rave, they praise without stint, and then they do it all over again. No one outside of New York can appreciate the tremendous calibre of picture it requires to enthuse New York newspaper critics to that extent. None but "PASSION" has been able to do it.

Music Memory Selection

Sixteenth of 28 Daily Selections For Sunday, April 3.

WITH VERDURE CLAD (FROM "THE CREATION") by HAYDN (1732-1809)

It was the performance of The Messiah and especially the majesty of The Hallelujah Chorus (our Easter selection) which inspired a musician almost 70 years old to devote himself to the writing of a similar work. Haydn looked upon the composing of The Creation as an act of worship and frequently resorted to pious meditation in the midst of it.

Franz Joseph Haydn was born in Austria, the country for which he later wrote the noble Austrian hymn or national air. Although he composed a vast quantity of vocal work he is remembered today chiefly for his instrumental compositions. He did so much in developing and standardizing the orchestra and string quartet that he is frequently called the father of these groups. Of his larger vocal works the two oratorios The Creation and The Seasons are about all that are performed frequently today.

The Creation is a series of connected compositions, both vocal and instrumental, setting forth in musical form the bible story as told in Genesis. Of it a capable critic writes "Therein is the expert and conscientious musicianship which the composed fought so hard to obtain during the early days of his poverty and difficulties; therein is the innate happy-heartedness of a gentle and sympathetic being; therein is, moreover, all that devout trust in the goodness of the Almighty which neither adversity nor worldly prosperity could shake." One of the best known choruses is The Heavens Are Telling the Glory of God. Famous solos for tenor and bass respectively are In Native Worth and Rolling in Foaming Billows. With Verdure Clad, containing two appealing melodies, is a complicated aria for coloratura soprano which with its trills and turns, its runs and wide range is an excellent test of musicianship and vocal technique. Properly sung, the freshness and lightness of this charming number calls up clearly the joy of witnessing the shining new-created earth. The song is the ninth number in the oratorio. After God had separated the waters and its dry land had disappeared, He then brought forth grass, trees, and fruit. The soprano voice takes up this idea in a delicate and joyous style—"With verdure clad, the fields appear delightful to the ravish'd sense. By flowers sweet and gay, enhanced is the charming sight."

The sixteenth number in last year's music memory contest was Elgar's Pomp and Circumstance March No. 1.

Seventeenth of 28 Daily Selections for Monday, April 4.

Hungarian Rhapsodie No. 2, by Liszt (1811-1886).

Think of gypsies as you have seen them in picture and stories, grant them the powers of singing and dancing as well as any artists you have read about, imagine yourself at one of their wild and passionate celebrations, and you are ready to listen to this Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsodie—the favorite of 15 which he wrote.

Franz Liszt, son of poor parents, early displayed not only great love for music, but also unusual talents. By steady application he became an excellent pianist, the first of the great virtuosi, a talented composer who developed both piano and orchestra music, and a great teacher and helper to many musicians, including Richard Wagner.

This Hungarian Rhapsodie is one of a number of difficult and brilliant piano numbers which tax the powers of even the most advanced players. But it is more than a technical piece. In it we find a reconstruction, and a civilizing of a national music of the highest artistic interest. The composer did not aim at difficulties (these, in fact, did not exist for him), but at a picturesque effect, and a vivid reproduction of the outlandish playing, singing, and dancing of the gypsies. The theme and rhythm of this selection are taken from gypsy music, although they the harmonies and embellishments are Liszt's. At the same time they are modelled after the manner of the gypsy performers, so as to form a sort of national epic in which the spirit and peculiar mode of expression of these strange people are reflected.

It begins with a short stately introduction or call which is followed by the Lasso, a slow majestic movement with a march-like character. This gradually develops into a more graceful and willowy theme with some delicate ornaments. This is interrupted by the sudden reappearance of the opening theme. After a pause there is a change in mood as, only to be resounded in a moment, the second part, the sprightly and capricious Friska begins. This revolves in freakish gypsy melodies interwoven with the most brilliant and difficult ornamental flashes imaginable. The music grows more and more excited as the dancers enter into the revelry and from this time on all the resources of instrument and performer are brought into use.

The seventeenth number in last year's contest was Massenet's Elegy.

Madison People Shy, Says
Girl With 1,000 Eyes Now
At Orpheum.

BY B. J.

Leone La Mar, the girl who knows all, sees all, and tells all, sat three feet from me in her wee green dressing room, at the Orpheum last night. Her face was still thickly painted and her eyebrows heavily beaded, but she was Leona La Mar, the girl, minus her professional air. Friendliness and cordiality beamed from her big grey eyes and she talked as rapidly and vivaciously as she had done on the stage a few minutes before when she told people their inmost thoughts as clearly as if she had read them in their diaries. There were millions of questions to ask her, but she chatted so animatedly about everything, skipping from one subject to get the questions squeezed in.

"Oh, the question people ask me form themselves before me just as you see the words when you open a book," she said. "Then I see pictures of the occurrence they are asking about. These pictures pass rapidly before me—oh, so awfully fast—like pictures you see from a railroad train. If I do not tell them what I see right away they are gone and I cannot remember them. That is why I have to talk fast. As rapidly as they pass before me I have to describe them.

"The Madison people are very hard subjects," she continued, without catching her breath. "They are very timid. When they begin to concentrate on a question they want answered, they look from side to side to see if people they know are watching them—and my mind moves with theirs. If they just concentrate on the question it would be very much easier. "No, don't tell them they are timid. I like hard subjects." Miss La Mar told of the time that she had ex-President Wilson as a subject.

"I was playing in a theater in Washington and a congressman asked me 'What is the president's mind on the prohibition law?' President Wilson was sitting in a box a little above the stage. This was during war prohibition. I said 'I see in the president's mind that whiskey will be eliminated but that wines and light beer will be permitted. President Wilson clapped his hands. That was on a Monday and on Tuesday he vetoed the Volstead bill. Wasn't that wonderful?' (Later the bill, which provided absolute prohibition was passed over his veto.)

MANILA SWEPT BY BIG BLAZE

15,000 Left Homeless; Damage Will Run to $3,000,000

MANILA—Fifteen thousand people were rendered homeless here today in a fire last night, the most destructive here in more than 20 years, which destroyed 3000 houses in the northern section of the city, a native quarter known as the San Lazaro district. Two bodies were found in the ruins.

Police estimate the loss at $3,000,000. The razed area consisted of small native structures occupied as dwelling and stores. It extended over 30 acres.

American sailors and soldiers were cheered as they marched into the burning district to assist in fighting the flames. They razed houses surrounding the burning area, making a fire break which halted the progress of the fire.

SHORT COURSE AGS GIVEN COURSE IN ADVERTISING WAYS

The first course in advertising that has ever been given at a short course of agriculture was conducted here this year by W. A. Sumner, assistant professor of agricultural journalism. Over 100 students were enrolled in the course.

Subjects of interest to farmer in their publicity and advertising needs were taken up during the course. Letterheads, the name of the farm, business correspondence, classified display and sale advertising were among the subjects discussed. A series of live stock advertisements was written by the students.

The new subject which is very timely in modern agriculture is the latest one adopted in the short course. The university in 1885 founded the first short course in the country. A class of 107 students received certificates several weeks ago.

Pola Negri, Polish Movie Star, Will Appear Here Next Week In "Passion"

A colossal picture drama, a triumph of screen art, leaves nothing to be desired in the way of acting, settings, perfect of detail, and dramatic climax—a real sensation.

"Passion" is all of that. It is as good as "The Birth of a Nation" in all respects, and surpasses it in the dramatic ability manifest in the huge cast. It is the wonderful story of the little French milliner who was the virtual sovereign of France during the time of Louis Fifteenth, Mme. the Countess Du Barry, whose extravagance and whims had much to do with the French revolution.

No better acting of its kind has ever been seen on the screen than that done by Pola Negri, the brilliant continental star, who lives the part of the Du Barry in the film.

Don't Depend on Eyes

Whimsical, passionate, vivacious and always natural, Pola Negri has taken the crowds in the playhouses of the east by storm and she will prove a sensation here. Those who were privileged to see the pre-release showing of the nine reels were held spellbound by the power of Miss Negri's acting. Her actions are not of the eye brow.

ENGINEERING EXPO EXHIBIT IS TECHNICAL

Miniature Machine Shop and Model Bridges Are In Exhibit

A miniature machine shop is the general plan of the arrangements of the exhibits of the hydraulics and railway departments of the College of Engineering, at the University Exposition. Machines and devices wrought on a small scale will be on display around the booth.

A water softening device and all the benefits derived therefrom, including the enormous saving in soap will be demonstrated in technical detail.

A train running over a bridge through a tunnel, over a hill and moved by power generated by a small water power plant, is another interesting feature of the exhibit.

Three model bridges, 5 feet long, will span an imaginary stream in the middle of the booth. By using glass in the construction of an air-lift pump and a Dobel water wheel, the civil engineers have made it possible for spectators to see the working of these two types of machinery. In direct contrast to the Dobel wheel, the latest type of water wheel, is the exhibit of the kind of a water wheel used in the "Old Mill Stream."

"Presenting an appearance of constant work, engineers in the topographical exhibit will work from 12 to 12 in three hour shifts, surveying the annex, making observations of angles, illustrating various principles in measuring distances, such as the Stadia principle, and demonstrating methods of computations of surveying problems," declared H. L. Youngberg '24, chairman of the Topographical exhibit.

"JAPAN AND U. S." IS SUBJECT FOR CONF. DISCUSSION

"Japan and the United States" will be the subject for discussion at the meeting of the International Relations conference on Tuesday evening, April 5. Prof. Carl Russell Fish will preside at the meeting.

The Japanese American question is one of the most perplexing problems confronting the two countries today. The situation is especially a serious one on the Pacific coast and in order that the United States as a whole may act intelligently, it is necessary to acquaint the general public with all the facts. Unless this issue is settled promptly and satisfactorily, it may seriously endanger international friendship.

This represents the third of a series of meetings which are being held at the university. All members of the conference are urged to come at 6:45 sharp.

50 MEN IN STOCK JUDGING TRYOUTS

Fifty men were entered in the sophomore, junior stock judging tryouts which were held in the stock pavilion yesterday afternoon.

Ten classes of stock were judged, the score on each class being 100 points. In addition each contestant was given a grade on the scale of 100 for the reasons which he advanced for his decisions, the perfect score being in this case, 1100. The first 10 men and their scores are as follows:

A. M. Knutson, 955; W. F. Koch, 943; T. E. Carlson, 945; G. T. Weber, 936; J. C. Nisbet, 928; L. B. Mattison, 900; J. W. Tibbitts, 889; F. D. Harris, 885; A. V. Mills, 882; R. E. Young, 837.

These 10, and also the next 15 men, are eligible for the stock judging teams which the university sends to the Live Stock Expositions. Elimination contests will be held later in the year.

WISCONSIN POINT SYSTEM ADOPTED BY CONFERENCE

New W. A. A. Officers Installed at Meeting Thursday Night

In the report to W. A. A. Thursday night of the Athletic conference of American College Women at Bloomington, Indiana, it was announced that the paper presented by Peg Swift for Wisconsin, advocating the use of a standardized point system, was accepted by the 54 schools in the conference. The standardized points are: 100 points as a basis; all points to be given on the 100 point basis; 100 points for class team, 25 points for class squad, 15 points for second team. Only those points standardized are transferable from one school to another.

A resolution that an Outing club like that at Wisconsin be organized in each school was accepted. Ellen Correll has already received correspondence concerning the club. After the debate on basketball rules between Ohio and Oberlin, the conference reported in favor of girls' rules rather than modified rules of boys.

Of the 10 invitations received for the next conference to be held in 1924, the one from California was accepted after the Berkeley delegate showed the great need of it in the west.

PHILOMATHIA PICKS LAMB AND DEICHER FOR SOPH DEBATES

Francis Lamb and Phil Deicher were selected by Philomathia at a meeting Thursday night to close the arguments of the society's representatives at the sophomore semi-public debates to be held soon.

Other members of the team are Edgard Erickson, Oscar Kiessling, Charles Rawson, and John Sarles, and alternates selected were Logan Fitch, Louis Russell, Fred Schnell, and Guy Tallmadge. Each sophomore member of the society gave a three minute talk, the best speakers being selected by vote of the society.

A senate session on the Irish question will be a feature of the next meeting of the society.

CONGREGATIONAL STUDENTS TO HOLD BANQUET TUESDAY

Tickets may be secured from all members of the students cabinet.

Demand for Seeds in U. S. is Falling Off

WASHINGTON—Demand for field seeds from farmers during March was on the whole below normal, according to reports today by the federal bureau of markets. More farmers than usual were said to have seed of their own but others are declared to be curtailing their purchases because of inability to finance their operations or because of a disinclination to plant on account of the low price of farm products.

MISS FINCH WILL GIVE PROGRAM OF NEGRO FOLK TALES

Stories of Old South Are Founded on True Melodies

A different kind of program from that usually offered by dramatic readers, will be given by Miss Lucine Finch in Music hall on Tuesday night, April 5, when she presents her negro mammy stories. "These tales are legitimately founded on the stories told to Miss Finch by her colored mammy," said Miss Gertrude E. Johnson, assistant professor of speech, in commenting on the source of Miss Finch's material.

Only a few years ago Miss Finch's negro mammy died in New Orleans, after having served three generations of the Finch family. She had been sold into bondage from Africa, and assured her charges that she had been an "Alabaster Princess" in her native land. James O'Donnell Bennett, of the Record-Herald, Chicago, describes the old colored woman's stories as containing a "sense of humor, and a poetic instinct in which the grotesque, the weird, the horrible and the commonplace are strangely mingled." Of Miss Finch's presentation of the stories, he said, "She held the people to rapt attention for an hour with her retelling of negro folk tales and birdlike caroling of real negro melodies."

Miss Finch is being brought to Madison under the auspices of Red Domino and Twelfth Night. Tickets can be purchased from the members of these clubs or in Main hall on Monday and Tuesday. The Wisconsin Welfare association will receive the proceeds of the performance.
