Number 2

The Homecoming on October 28 was a success. The general Chairman, John L. Mitchell, '17, and his twenty-four capable assistants are to be thanked as well as to be congratulated for the thoroughly satisfactory Homecoming way all details of the promised program were carried out. The athletic department sent notices by mail to over 7,500 alumni and the fact that we had the largest alumni reunion ever held in the fall at Madison shows how these alumni accepted the invitation to "come back home." When the alumni arrived they found the entire city in gala attire to welcome homecomers.

Did you see the cardinal "W" of electric lights on the capital dome? Were you amused by the antics of the real live goat (Stagg's) on the Phi Kappa Psi lawn? Did you come back and yell and sing and rejoice? If you did you will doubtlessly come again without much urging. You know how much these opportunities mean to renew old ties, to meet old comrades, and to make new friends. You realize that the University needs a personal call from you and you appreciate every time you make such call you receive from the University its never failing inspiration. Come again soon and often!

(Oh yes, we defeated Chicago. For a complete account of this triumphant victory see the special write-up under the Department of Athletics).

U. W. FARMERS IN VIRGINIA

By DR. ALBERT J. OCHSNER, '84

On November first I attended the annual fair of Surrey County, Virginia, which excelled in enthusiasm any similar fair that I have ever attended in any part of this country. All of the school children and more than half the adult population of the county participated. It was especially interesting to me because my classmate, O. J. Schuster, '86, is president of the Fair Association, Myron H. Utgard, '12, is secretary, and A. H. Ochsner, '11, is superintendent of exhibits. During the summer these men had constructed stables for housing the live stock and also a beautiful permanent exhibit hall. Walter Schmidt, '14, Emil Rauchenstein, '11, and Carl Grotophorst, '12, were among the men who had done much to make the fair a success. All of these U. W. men made most creditable exhibits of live stock and farm produce. Each of these men owns one of the wonderful old farms in the beautiful James River valley, and together they are changing a wilderness, which has grown up since the war, into a farming country that promises to become more productive even than it was before the war, when it was recognized as the garden spot of this famous State.

They are being assisted in this work of agricultural reconstruction by neighbors from other universities, California, Iowa, Illinois, and Cornell being represented, but the community at large attributes most of the remarkable agricultural development in this county to the initiative, the optimism, the imagination, the energy, and the industry of the U. W. men.

MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE MEETING

The minutes of the June meeting were read and approved. A general discussion took place concerning the experience of the various classes in securing new members for the Alumni Association. It was moved that the

This committee recommends a class campaign; it feels that each year a special effort should be made to get new members from the reunion classes; it urges that those in charge of class reunions see that at least one issue of the WISCONSIN ALUMNI MAGAZINE containing reunion notices be furnished to every member of the class; it feels that each class secretary should at all times be an active assistant in securing increased membership; it feels that each class should be officially represented on the Membership Committee and has, therefore, appointed the following as members of a general membership committee:

MEETING OF ALUMNI COUNCIL

LATHROP HALL

Meeting called to order by President Charles B. Rogers, '93, at 10:30 A. M., Saturday, October 28.

Moved and seconded that F. H. Elwell, '08, act as secretary at this meeting. Carried.

In answer to roll call the following responded: Jessie M. Shepherd, Chicago alumnae; Harold Wiles, Chicago; Ethel Rose Taylor, Sioux City, Iowa; W. G. Erdman, Detroit; James Thompson, New York City; Charles B. Rogers, Ft. Atkinson; Mrs. Blanche Lyle Low, Madison; Ernst von Briesen, Milwaukee; Thorwald Beck, Racine; J. G. Fogg, Cleveland; Emma Gattiker, '81; A. C. Umbreit, '83; F. C. Rogers, '85; Mrs. Lynn S. Pease, '86; W. N. Parker, '90; Jessie M. Shepherd, '95; Louise Kellogg, '97; Ernst von Briesen, '00; Mrs. W. B. Bennett, '04; F. H. Elwell, '08; Charles A. Mann, '09; Frank Thiesen, '10; J. P. Davies, '13; Joseph Becker, '14; Mrs. C. R. Carpenter, J. E. McConnell, A. E. Van Hagan, A. J. Myrland and Jessie M. Shepherd, members of Alumni Council.

Moved and seconded that the president appoint a committee to report a recommendation to this meeting as to the officers of the Association and the members of the Alumni Board. Carried. The following were appointed: James S. Thompson of New York, A. E. Van Hagan of Chicago, and J. E. McConnell of La Crosse.

Moved and seconded that Robert Crawford be appointed advisory member of the committee that has just been appointed. Carried.

Motion laid on table regarding action to be taken by Alumni Council on motion made and carried at annual business meeting. Action deferred.

The president stated that the Alumni Board would take charge of the committees on funds, membership, athletics, reorganization, legislation. The committee on funds consists of Thomas Lloyd Jones, H. L. Ekern, George Buckstaff, A. J. Ochsner, Arthur B. Doe, and Charles B. Rogers. John S. Lord and Dr. A. J. Ochsner have had charge of the work in Chicago. Arthur B. Doe is the Milwaukee member. The committee on membership consists of F. O. Leiser, Crawford Wheeler, W. A. Foster, Thomas Lloyd Jones, and Charles B. Rogers.

Moved and seconded that the president appoint a legislative committee to be governed by the Alumni Board. Carried.

Moved and seconded that the chair appoint a committee of three to draft bylaws to be submitted at the next meeting of the Alumni Council. Carried.

JOHN S. LORD

Moved and seconded that a committee of three be appointed on resolutions. Carried. The following were appointed on this committee: Dr. F. C. Rogers, Jessie M. Shepherd, and A. J. Myrland.

Moved and seconded that the Alumni Council approve the action taken by the Board of Regents for the funds to publish an alumni directory. Carried.

ZONA GALE

The committee on recommendations reports as follows: John S. Lord of Chicago, president; Zona Gale of Portage, vice-president; Lillian Taylor of Madison, recording secretary; James P. Dean of Madison, college of medicine; Robert Disque, college of engineering.

Moved and seconded that Mr. Ellwell cast the unanimous ballot for the officers of the nominating committee. Rules to be suspended to carry out that purpose. Carried.

Mr. Lord: I am not unappreciative of the great honor that has been placed before me and I assure you that I full well appreciate what is ahead of me. I have just enough acquaintance of Wisconsin's problems of the alumni and of the University to realize full well what the Alumni Association and the alumni themselves should do for the University and for themselves, and by that realization I understand the duties in a slight measure that I am now confronted with, and all I can say to you is I will give to you, the Association, and the University, my very best of service. Thank you.

James Thompson and A. E. Van Hagan discussed the question of changing the ALUMNI MAGAZINE to a weekly magazine. Mr. Thompson felt that if the magazine were changed to a weekly, alumni would be able to get more news regarding the University and alumni. Mr. Van Hagan felt that after years of work the ALUMNI MAGAZINE had finally been placed on a sound financial basis, was answering the call of the alumni, and was looked forward to by them. He was, therefore, not in favor of changing to a weekly news bulletin when the Press Bulletin and Daily Cardinal were available news bulletins.

Moved and seconded that the Alumni Board appoint a committee to investigate the question of the publication of an alumni weekly either as an adjunct to the Magazine or as a change from a monthly magazine to a weekly magazine. Carried.

The committee on resolutions reports: RESOLVED that the Alumni Council does not favor the increase in the nonresident tuition fee as fixed by the last legislature and favors the repeal of said law. RESOLVED that we are strongly in favor of legislative action for the erection of union and commons for the male students of the University. Carried Unanimously.

Meeting adjourned at 11:55 A. M.

To the Alumni of the Course in Commerce

GREETING

SINCE the last "Commerce Number" of the WISCONSIN ALUMNI MAGAZINE was published your numbers have increased by nearly two hundred and over one hundred more expect to join your ranks at the next commencement. All told there are at the present moment 647 persons enrolled in the course, of which 245 are freshmen, 154 are sophomores, 133 are juniors, 103 are seniors and 12 are adult specials.

During the last four years also we have enlarged and enriched our curriculum. In the new bulletin soon to be published we have listed eight courses under the head of "Accounting" and ten under that of "Business Administration and Commercial Law", not to mention noteworthy increases in other departments. We have added one of your number, Hugo Kuechenmeister, '13, to our regular staff in accounting and have made a beginning in the substitution of graduate for undergraduate assistants in the accounting laboratories. We have diverted to the service of commerce students most of the energy of Professor E. H. Gardner of the English department who began by giving us one course only for one semester and we have enlisted Mr. A. H. Melville, '12, of the extension division in the service of training those of our students who wish to become secretaries of commercial organizations.

We have made a noteworthy beginning along the line of cooperation with business establishments in the work of training our students. We have entered into a tentative arrangement with the National Bank of New York City by which from two to six of our men each year are to spend two summer vacations and a semester of their senior year, or a year immediately after graduation, in a course of practical training in that great establishment preparatory for service in one of its foreign branches. We hope and believe that similar arrangements will be made in the not distant future with other establishments that are fitted and willing to organize practice work of real educational value.

Beta Gamma Sigma and the Commercial Club are maintaining their reputation for serviceability and deserve even more credit than they have received. This year's Commerce Club reception to freshmen was one of the best ever held and at its initiation banquet a splendid program of work was suggested and a fine spirit manifested. The Beta Gamma Sigma men are back of every enterprise in which commerce men are or ought to be interested and through their connections in other universities are helping to extend the influence of our men and to make outside connections for them that will be helpful and profitable.

The greatest asset of our course is the record of its graduates and to that we can refer with pride. We are keeping our card catalogue as nearly up-to-date as possible and for help along this line thanks are due to a large number of you. This record grows more valuable each year. It tells an interesting and inspiring story. Commerce men are making good and are exhibiting a real professional spirit by the interest they are taking in each other and in the young men who are studying here with the intention of following in their footsteps. We are contemplating the future with confidence relying upon your breadth and strength and continuing cooperation.

W. A. SCOTT

Sincerely and cordially yours,
WM. A. SCOTT.

NOTABLE INSTANCES OF SUCCESS

By S. W. GILMAN, '99

Our graduates since 1912 have been in demand even more than during the earlier years since the establishment of the course in commerce. Gradually the business of the country is coming to regard favorably the college graduate who has had practical business training in addition to this general work. This training should give the student a practical working knowledge of commerce. Graduates from this course should know how modern business is exploited, and financed. As business men they should have the equipment to make application of broad fundamental accounting principles to the new problems constantly arising in commerce. We feel highly gratified that graduates of this course have done their share in solving the difficulties in the field of business.

A request has been made by commerce graduates that the following article printed in the WISCONSIN ALUMNI MAGAZINE (Vol. XIII, No. 4) be brought up-to-date:

The writer's connection with the course in commerce began as special lecturer in 1903. In his first audience were members of the classes of 1903 and 1904. The first class with him all through their three years of business administration work was that of 1907. All the classes since then 1908 to 1916, inclusive, have been specially under his observation.

In writing this article the writer faces the last ten class pictures and memory is thus refreshed in reviewing the careers of those who finished the work. To determine what careers have been successful and what unsuccessful is a responsibility not to be lightly undertaken. It involves the entire subject of determining what is success and what is failure. The weight to be given to financial success, effectual pushing qualities, shoulder shoving disposition, special friend making qualities, special self advertising capacity, is not to be here determined and set down. There are men in the earlier classes who have unique positions with salaries of $6,000, $8,000, and $10,000 a year, commanding great movements and doing very responsible work.

S. W. GILMAN

It is not for us to say that these men now have greater real success or will have more satisfying laurels in the long run than those who are steadfastly doing their routine duty, acquiring balance, perhaps being rewarded by $1,000 to $2,500 per year, men who probably are ripening up to be more potent than those now famous. With the classes that graduate from this course, as it is with individuals in every activity, there are notable cases of rapid development, splendid spurring qualities, splendid capacity for promptly commanding recognition that may or may not be more indicative of permanent success than the less spectacular efforts of those who are persistently and painstakingly following a plan or scheme of life, looking toward a goal ten or twenty years ahead.

In the classes of from 1907 to 1916 the writer declines to pick by name those who have been successful. There are men among these graduates who have had remarkable recognition and splendid rewards and others who are doing their work with integrity, patience, balance, and with full and growing appreciation of the meaning of life. Among them are salesmen, secretaries, and assistant secretaries of great corporation, secretaries of chambers of commerce, financial doctors for sick business companies, some professors and teachers in universities, colleges and high schools, credit men for great corporations, managers of sales organizations, certified public accountants, merchants on their own account, technical cost accountants, managers of great supply houses in foreign possessions, cashiers and assistant cashiers in banks, auditors and assistant auditors of such world famous corporations as the International Harvester Company, the Western Union Telegraph Company, the National Cash Register Company, R. H. Ingersoll and Brothers, Goodrich Tire and Rubber Company, and the General Roofing Company, authors of business systems, statisticians and analyzers of public corporation reports, in charge of great insurance campaigns, advertisers, business organizations experts, coal operators, superintendents of great mercantile departments, executives of public utilities, managers of manufacturing companies, administrative officers of extensive printing and publishing companies, managers of estates, bond experts, managers of irrigation propositions, advertising managers, bureau heads of the government, managing directors in lumber companies, office managers of distributors of machinery for contractors, etc.

The faculty has sought to impress upon every student taking this course the advantage of forming an intelligent life plan, an efficient plan, to square with integrity and high-mindedness, a plan for professional and business conduct not to be antagonistic to the highest ideals of ethical conduct. A teacher looks upon the student procession of years with a loving eye, declining to say that by reason of special advantages and opportunities resulting in an unusual acquirement of power and influence the individual is to be specially marked and set out.

Commerce graduates are in demand. The demand is much greater than the supply. The demand is from large businesses for picked and trained men. No longer may it be said that college trained men in business lines must start as they would have started had their education ended with the secondary schools. Today they start often in highly technical work, and with infinitely better prospects. The movement for the organization of commerce course alumni is particularly opportune at this time. Commerce graduates are scattered all over the world. Their work in this department has been such as to throw them into a personal relationship resulting in a real bond of affection and respect. A real tie binds them to each other and to the faculty. Graduates of his course have so conducted themselves as to cause the writer to be proud, happy, and even exultant because success is not to be measured by income but by influence, not by power but by personality, not by capital but by character.

"COMMERCE" HAS FINGER ON MAINSPRING OF ACTIVITIES

By GEORGE L. SERVICE, '17

As their elder brothers the business men hold the strategic position in the world of affairs, the men of the commerce course seem to have assumed the keystone position on the Campus this year, occupying many of the positions of esteem, power, and usefulness in the "activities."

On lime-marked gridiron, basketball floor, cinder track, as well as on the bigger publications, the roster of the senate, prom, the realm of music, in the navy, and homecoming celebrations, the future members of the "profession of business" already have started to wield the influence, and do the service of loyal members of the community.

And so every commerce man is proud of his calling in this year of Wisconsin's success in the western conference, proud that he is hoeing the same row as the man who is not unknown in the fields of the western conference, the little field-general, Glenn Taylor. And that page can not be turned until we see "Moose" Gardner retrieving the tardiness of his arrival at the Camp with an exhibition of almost superhuman strength in tearing holes in Ohio State's line. And Olson in his first year in football making every one of his 180 pounds hold his berth as first string back. Another of the cardinal sweated squad is "Bill" Horn. And the man who makes the way smooth is "Billie" MacFadden, the manager with two commerce assistants, "Germany" Schulz and Frank Funk. Next in the calendar of big activities, that same "Ole" Olson will lead "Doc" Meanwell's "1000%" team the second semester to another conference championship. Ably helping him will be Charles McIntosh with "Bill" Lester directing the work of the assistant managers, Harry Field, "W" man, is the commerce offering to the cinder track, with several younger men looming up in the offing.

Nobody doubts for a minute but that "Mac" McChesney already has the western gym championship on ice on the top floor of the gymnasium, but "Mac" is guarding very carefully the commerce contingent, for it is practically the whole team from Captain Russell Smith to Adonis Kletzien, "Dick" Niemand, Don McGinniss and a new member, "Les" Curtain, who won the individual 1915-16 gym title in the Nelson trophy race for "Commerce." In the navy atmosphere, "Johnnie" Mitchell heads the list as commodore, but other men prominently mentioned are Harlow Burnside and Templeton. Phil Schweke will probably be heard from on the mat this year. "Pokey" Brennan will hold forth as commerce representative on the diamond. Captain "Lem" Boulware has served his Alma Mater three seasons. Varsity teams seem to like business-like methods in management for the third man who has the reins in that department is Harry Marshall, cross-country manager. "Art" Kittlemen is looked upon as a promising man at the net this year.

Commerce lost out in the Nelson trophy race last year after a hard scrap but with Jack Bauman busy this fall the teams will take more than basketball, hockey, and war canoe titles in intramural sport this winter.

In the field of All-University functions one need but cite the prom chairman, Morland McMurray, and the chairman of the wonderfully successful 1916 homecoming, John Mitchell. Arno Hoppert is the Phi Beta Kappa of the course. Among the publications it is worth while to feature that both executives of this year's Badger are commerce men, Frank Birch, editor-in-chief, and Vernon Packard, business manager. And on the Daily Cardinal, too, practically the entire business staff is composed of commerce men, Gay Gullickson, business manager, George Service, advertising manager, and Herbert Baker, Marvin King, and Powers, among the assistants. Al Lange is on the Board of Control.

In music, dramatics, and Haresfoot, are found Curt Ruedebusch, Carl Shank, Russell Smith, Leland Forrand, Vernon Packard, Everett Eaton, George Crownhart, "Bill" Nevin, "Gil" Blake, "Brig" Young, "Shorty" Ross, and "Billie" Babcock.

And just yesterday three of the ten men elected in the newly-born student senate were commerce, Cecil Holman, George Service, and Kenneth Curtis, while Al Lange represents the Cardinal Board of Control in the same august body.

But this story is very like the theory of depreciation, that unless one can make his complete appraisal at "an exact instant of time," it will never be accurate. Right there the simile ends because "commerce" however never depreciates.

WHAT BECOMES OF THE COMMERCE MAN?

By R. G. ROM, '17

The course in commerce began its career in 1900, when it was first recognized as a course in the College of Letters and Science. From that humble beginning it was to advance by rapid strides till, when but sixteen years old, it is proudly holding its own as one of the foremost courses in the University.

Little did those ten graduates from commerce of the class of 1904 think that they were to be followed by such large numbers. Little did they realize that they were the first of an ever increasing stream of missionaries who were to carry forth into the business world not only the true Wisconsin Spirit, but the "Commerce Ideal" as well. They were the first from this college, and among the first in this country to carry forth the idea of "business as a profession."

The increase in enrollment in this course in commerce was at first slow but there was nevertheless a steady, healthy increase, till by 1910 the number of graduates had increased to 35, and the "Commerce Ideal" had become a positive and vital factor on the Campus.

From then on the enrollment increased rapidly with a marked increase in the curricular opportunities, till by 1916 the graduating class numbered 60. The enrollment in commerce this year is 647, an increase of almost 20% over last year. Of these about 100 will graduate next June.

True alumni are to their university a thing of the present, not the past. Up to this date there are 429 commerce alumni. "Where are they, and What are they doing?"

As one would naturally expect the larger share of them are in Wisconsin and the adjacent states, but they are by no means limited to that region. A survey of the Commerce Alumni Directory shows that this course now has representatives in twenty-six different states, as well as in Washington, D. C., Canada, Japan, Porto Rico, Brazil, and the Philippine Islands.

So widely diversified are the activities of these alumni that it is becoming very hard to classify them at all satisfactorily, but I have endeavored to group them in a general way in order to give some notion of the various activities in which they are engaged.

As one would naturally expect the largest number are engaged in industrial activities. One hundred and thirty-one belong to this class which comprises such industries as automobiles, lumber, fuel, building supplies, office supplies, breweries, furniture, etc. Retailers are second in number, claiming 59. Fifty-nine of the graduates are connected with banks in various parts of the country. The accounting field is well represented, twenty-eight of the alumni, eight of whom are certified public accountants, being in this line of work. Twenty are in the real estate and insurance business, twenty are teachers, twelve are instructors, and four professors. Thirteen of the alumni are taking graduate work in this and other colleges. Besides this there are nine in the journalistic branch, eight attorneys, three secretaries of boards of commerce, a physician, an army man, three in the transportation business, and 76 others in different fields of endeavor too numerous to list.

Some people are beginning to say, "so far so good, but with 429 men already in the field, another hundred to be added in the spring, and with ever increasing enrollment, is not the field being over crowded?"

The answer is emphatically "No." These 429 alumni are not even the proverbial "drop in the bucket", they are but a drop in the mighty sea of commerce.

Business men the country over are beginning to realize that a college trained man of the type that has survived the exacting standard of the University of Wisconsin Course in Commerce, are a valuable asset in any line of business. So strong has this belief become that up to now the demand has always been well in excess of the supply and promises to remain so for some time to come.

This refers to actual, not potential demand. To be more explicit, business houses from all over the country send representatives to Madison, or write for men to fill desirable positions. And it is worthy of note that the men so placed have proved satisfactory to their employers.

Congratulations are due you alumni for your success and the credit that you reflect on your Alma Mater, but do not forget the debt that you owe her. Remember that the future success of the commerce course lies largely within your hands, and that it is up to you to insure that success by hearty cooperation and by spreading the gospel of the college trained business man with the "Commerce Ideal."

WISCONSIN ALUMNI CLUBS

"Sit together, listen together, sing together, eat together, and talk together and you'll work together."

AMES

By GUS BOHSTEDT, '15

THE Wisconsin alumni at Ames had their first meeting of the college year last Tuesday evening, October 31, at Alumni Hall, the center of the beautiful Ames Campus. While this would have been an enthusiastic meeting at any time for the forty or more alumni here at Ames, our recent victory over Chicago on Camp Randall made it more so. The banquet was interspersed with a variety of "spiritual" food such as the informal singing of those good old Wisconsin songs. It was certainly a treat especially to some of us newcomers here at Ames to feel the thrill once more of "On Wisconsin," especially after our boys had actually "run the ball clear 'round Chicago" a day or two before.

The Ames organization boasts of unusually good musical talent, that didn't stint their offering to the appreciative gathering, such a song as "Wisconsin Days," partly acted by a quartette making a decided hit with the audience. Since "exiles" at the occasion of such a rally as this dearly love to harp back to the "days of real sport," the toasts of the evening were largely reminiscent in character. Dr. L. H. Pammel, '85, as toast master called upon G. A. Underwood, '75, who with mingled emotions recalled the associations with and varied fortunes of his classmates on the one hand, and again the exploits of the boys of the old days that had the recent and justly famous "Hard Dogs" organization, known also as "De University Tough Guys" backed off the map. J. E. Brindley, '02, Ex-Hesperian and joint debater, and Fredrica Shattuck, '05, helped refresh the evening for us. The latter, a classmate of Berton Braley, made that rising poet an underclassman once again. Last but not least the latest addition to our local association, Prof. "Charlie" Mann, formerly the director of both the U. W. Band and Orchestra, and fresh from the scene of action on Camp Randall the Saturday before, gave us a vivid picture of "how the boys did it," as well as explained to us, as one more intimately acquainted, the relation between State and University. The Wisconsin alumni at Ames will unquestionably feel gratified to be called upon to do "their bit" for their Alma Mater in any way within their power.

A splendid "topping-off" of the evening was a thousand foot reel of the 1916 commencement exercises, alumni reunions on the Campus, May Pole Festival, Wisconsin athletes, moonlight on Mendota—as gotten out by the General Alumni Association—certainly a source of keen delight for an old "grad." We shall look to more evenings of this kind in the future.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. B. G. Dyer, '92, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Chaney, '12, J. E. Brindley, '02, Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Pammel, '85, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Hammer, '08, Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Evinger, '13, A. R. Lamb, '13, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Fish, '01, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kunerth, '04, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Plagge, '10, Mr. and Mrs. Orren Lloyd Jones, '08, G. A. Underwood, '75, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parry, O. G. Lloyd, '12, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mann, '09, Gus Bohstedt, '15, Marshall Simonds, '15, Jacob Rovner, '16, F. F. Householder, '13, Anna M. Olson, Cecelia Murray, '15, Helena Hanson, '15, Honora E. English, '16, Fredrica V. Shattuck, '05, J. O. Rankin, J. D. Jarvis, '05.

CHICAGO

By F. W. BOLDENWECK, '02

During the past five weeks the alumni residing in Chicago have had a number of meetings of special interest. The subjects of two of our Friday noon "luncheon talks" at the Grand Pacific Hotel were "Our Investments" by Mr. Foulds and "Our Insurance" by Mr. Darby. Both speakers are authorities on the subjects discussed by them. Two other meetings were given to the practice of some of the newer songs of the song-book.

Thursday, October 27, was the occasion of our Football Dinner at which the annual election of officers was held. The new officers for the year 1916-1917 are:

Reverend Samuel Fallows, '59, president; A. E. Thiede, '04, vice-president; Harold D. Wile, '12, secretary-treasurer; C. F. Harding, '75, R. F. Schuchardt, '97, and A. E. Van Hagan, '06, directors for one year; R. P. Fischer, '06, Elmer A. Pierce, '03, Frank J. Saridakis, '04, directors for two years.

At this annual meeting attended by alumni representing classes from the year 1859 to 1916 the spirit ran high. The retiring president, A. E. Van Hagan, '06, reviewed the achievements of the organization under his leadership. His remarks were amplified by John S. Lord, '04, President of the General Alumni Organization, Israel Shrimski, '88, chairman of the song-book committee, and George I. Haight, poet of "Badger Lore."

Professor Max Mason, as representative of our Alma Mater, spoke about University activities and in particular of the excellent results obtained by Dr. Paul Withington and his assistants. Judging from the results of Wisconsin-Chicago game our players have developed the old Wisconsin fighting spirit and team work which "Big John" Richards tells us are necessary to win championships. John Richards was enthusiastic about the work of the football candidates which he had witnessed this season. At the close of the evening President-elect Reverend Fallows expressed his hope that every alumnus of the University residing in Chicago or near Chicago will join our organization.

The following committees were appointed with a view of expanding the activities of this club:

Employment, A. E. Thiede, '04; Speakers, Israel Shrimski, '88; Song-Book, Fred Silber, '94; Membership, Wm. H. Haight, '03; and Entertainment, O. W. Middleton, '07.

Anyone desiring to get into communication with the officers, directors, or the above named chairman of committees should address the U. W. Club, Harold D. Wile, secretary, 175 W. Jackson Boulevard.

We take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of J. G. Wray's activities which have been to a large extent responsible for the success of our club. Mr. Wray finds it necessary to relinquish his duties as secretary-treasurer of our club, which position he has held for the past fifteen years. He is now associated with Hagenah and Erickson, consulting engineers, First National Bank Building, Chicago. J. W. Bradshaw, '06, has left the Michigan State Telephone Company to assume duties in the engineering department of the A. D. & T. Co., New York City.

CHICAGO ALUMNAE

By HELEN SEYMOUR, '14

The Chicago Association of Wisconsin Alumnae met for the first time this season at luncheon at the College Club, on October 14. The meeting was altogether delightful, thanks to Mrs. Mathews, who gave a most entertaining and informal talk on "Five Years at the University of Wisconsin." She spoke particularly of the rapid increase in the enrollment of women students, and of the many ways in which the new students have been looked out for by the older students through the Self Government Association and other channels, and through the office of the Dean of Women. She had much to say of the manifold activities centering about Lathrop Hall. Her remarks about the new housing experiments, and particularly regarding the Mortar Board cottage, were of special interest, since the specific task undertaken and carried through by the Chicago alumnae last year was the raising of funds for the furnishing of Mortar Board cottage.

The fact that only thirty-one were present at this most interesting meeting justifies the Board's decision that since the serious activities of this organization can never increase until it has a larger and more enthusiastic membership, this year's activities shall be primarily social, with a view to building up a group that will be able next year to unite more effectively in some concrete effort on behalf of the University in whose interest the association exists. For the benefit especially of former Wisconsin students now in Chicago, the following schedule of meetings is published:

PROGRAM

October 14—Luncheon 12:30—College Club
—Five Years at the University of Wisconsin—MRS. LOIS K. MATHEWS.
November 14—Tea 3:30—University Club—
Interior Decoration—MR. LIONEL ROBERTSON.
December 9 — Luncheon 12:30 — College Club—
Vocational Guidance—MISS LOUISE MONTGOMERY.
January 9, 1917—Tea 3:30—(Place to be announced later)—Gardens in Literature—
MRS. HERMAN B. BUTLER.
February 10 — Banquet 12:30 — La Salle Hotel, East Room.

Animated Cartoons — MR. ARTHUR BOWEN.
April 14—Luncheon 12:30—College Club—
The Housing of University Students—
MRS. GRACE H. KELLER.
May 12—Annual Meeting

On November 14, Mr. Lionel Robertson, a widely known decorator and the artist in charge of the Interior Decorating at Tobey's, gave an illustrated lecture. With such pictures as the Venus de Milo, Botticelli's Spring and the Cathedral of Notre Dame at Paris on the screen, Mr. Robertson explained the meaning of rhythm, of mass, color and line. He defined the two schools of decoration the Classical and the Romantic. There followed typical interiors illustrating these schools, the severe formal treatment in the one and the free, happy treatment in the other. Samples of fabrics were displayed. One exhibit of grey-green wall paper sprinkled with pomegranates combined with a grey carpet and hangings the color of the pomegranates gave hint of the artist's own preference for the Romantic school. A room of that sort would be only restful and soothing, an appeal to the imagination—a room with a personality. The afternoon closed with tea at the cozy, candle-lighted tables.—

JULIA WINIFRED JOHNSTON, '11.

DETROIT

By E. J. STEPHENSON, '04

On Saturday, November 11, seventy-two senior engineers, led by Professor Robert C. Disque, '03, visited our city. That evening we gave these boys a complimentary dinner arranged by our "Bob" Herdegen, '05 and President C. W. Tullar at the Detroit Athletic Club. This was the most cheerful and splendid gathering of U. W. men ever held in Michigan. The students fairly carried us off our feet with their new songs and yells. The Glee Club could scarcely have sung better.

As we looked into the faces of as fine a lot of young fellows as we had ever seen, and caught the spirit of optimism with which they were imbued, a feeling of delight came over us and we took fresh courage. It was the first time a student organization from the University had ever visited Detroit. It is the wish and hope of every alumnus in Detroit that the engineers visit Detroit every year in the future, and we feel sure they will do so.

MILWAUKEE

By W. J. BOLLENBECK, '08

The U. W. Club of Milwaukee had as guests at dinner at the Hotel Wisconsin on Thursday, October 19, Dr. Paul Withington, coach of the football team, "Tom" Jones, athletic director, and W. D. Richardson, alumni representative on the Athletic Council. There were 150 in attendance.

Dr. Withington explained his plans as football coach and asked for alumni support. He made no promises for a winning team but expressed confidence in his proteges. He stated that his policy was not to develop individual "stars" but to make each man proficient in the game. He was given an enthusiastic reception and was assured of the support of the Milwaukee "grads" in his new regime.

Director Jones, who turned out winning track teams and who taught football to freshmen, who later formed the nucleus for the regular Varsity eleven, urged the alumni to be loyal and stated that with proper cooperation good results would be obtained. Mr. Richardson stated that he had been in close touch with the work of the athletic department and gave assurances that Wisconsin is again to be on the map in all athletic branches.

Among the other speakers were Mayor Daniel Hoan, '05, former coach "Bill" Juneau, '04, Henry Cochems, '97, "Billy" Walker, '01, Emmett A. Donnelly, '10, Frank L. Fawcett, '08, and "Sue" Armstrong, '08. "Bill" Juneau was given a splendid ovation and was praised for his true Wisconsin spirit by resigning in order to make possible the new athletic regime at Madison. President M. W. McMillen, '85, presided at the meeting and "Joe" Gallagher, '14, lead the singing. An orchestra enlivened the dinner hour.

Since this time the Milwaukee alumni went to Madison 600 strong in two special trains and had the satisfaction of seeing the Badgers trail the Maroons in the dust, and additional confidence was inspired through this victory. At this game the Milwaukee contingent wore white and red badges, the gift of President McMillen.

The Milwaukee alumni do not expect to see Coach Withington turn out a championship team in one year but they believe that he will make a good start for such a cherished status and that it is within the realm of immediate possibilities and a certainty within a year or two.

MADISON

By BLANCHE LYLE LOW, '10

On October 23, the Monday preceding the Chicago-Wisconsin game, the Wisconsin alumni of Madison gave a dinner for the new coach, Dr. Paul Withington. Chief Justice J. B. Winslow, '75, was toastmaster. Dr. Withington gave a very interesting talk. He told us what he thinks a good football system ought to be, what he thinks Wisconsin lacks and needs, and what he hopes to do here. We were very much impressed with Dr. Withington's sincerity, his strong personality, and his ability. He gained the full confidence and the support of everyone. We felt that Wisconsin had found a man who would lay strong foundations for a system of athletics which would bring out the true Wisconsin spirit and would be more than a match for the older systems of Coach Stagg and Coach Williams.

Coaches Jones, Meanwell, and Buck gave good talks on this year's chances and their hopes for the new methods. Walter Alexander, '97, reviewed the work of the various coaches from the time of amateur coaching by patriotic alumni from Milwaukee down to the present. It was a great opportunity for the Madison alumni to get better acquainted with the football situation and the men at the head of Wisconsin athletics, and we all appreciated the privilege.

NEW YORK

By C. H. GETTS, '14

Thank you heartily for the wire about the Main Hall fire. We shall devour the MAGAZINE whole at the first luncheon after its arrival.

Send us more of the campus news. We should like to be with you often, and we are eager to rub elbows with you fellows on these weekly occasions. The lunches are booming. Theodore Schroeder, '88, Gilbert E. Roe, '90, J. E. NeCollins, '92, Berton Braley, '05, and a bunch of the other men familiar to you put a good deal of ginger into our last Tuesday's session. Michigan had a party just across the hall. Needless to say we sounded our lungs and ran the locomotive over them.

N. B.—We are meeting every Tuesday noon at Stewart's, 80 Park Place, rear of the Woolworth Building, and it strikes me that it might be well to give some publicity to this fact.—Karl M. Mann, Secretary.

SAN DIEGO

By R. T. NICHOLS, '04

The Wisconsin alumni of San Diego refreshed their memory of college days at a banquet held at the New Palace Hotel, Saturday evening, October 28. The date was that of the Wisconsin-Chicago game and the homecoming day at the University. The club had its own special report of the game sent direct from Madison by the secretary of the General Alumni Organization. The reading of this report, "Wisconsin 30, Chicago 7," was greeted with the old Varsity yell. During the evening other songs and yells were joined in with as much vim as though the club members were again Varsity students. The Wisconsin spirit was in the air, some of the most enthusiastic of the group being those with only one year of graduate work. The president of the club, L. S. Everts, '01, presided at the meeting.

It was decided to continue the organization holding one regular meeting each year on the date of the homecoming game at Madison. Other meetings may be held if desired for special reasons. The only officer elected for the coming year was a general secretary, Roy T. Nichols, '04, who will keep in touch with the Association and the alumni in this city.

The following were present at the banquet: Ida Arzberger, '15, Vinnie Clark, '10, Mrs. Catherine Hardy Dickson, '92, Verna Evans, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Everts, '01 and '02, Bernet Hale, '04, President and Mrs. E. L. Hardy, '93, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Kuehmsted, '06, Mr. Kumley, Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Nichols, '04, C. C. Pease, '04, Ruth Price, '15, and Elizabeth Robson, '67.

WISCONSIN 30; CHICAGO 7

FOUR thousand students and several thousand alumni of Wisconsin who "came home" on October 28 for the Chicago game departed happy for they had seen accomplished a thing they hoped for but hardly expected. They had seen our ancient and honorable enemies—the Maroons—sent back to Chicago defeated by a one-sided score. They had seen Wisconsin's new football machine demonstrate the efficiency of the new coaching regime by wiping off Chicago—30 to 7—and they had seen the first victory for Wisconsin since 1912, and the biggest victory since 1901.

It was the first real test of the year for the team which was composed of many new men and under an entirely new system of coaching and the outcome removed all skepticism regarding Dr. Withington and regarding the Harvard system of coaching.

The victory was the thing that Wisconsin needed and needed badly for, for the first time in years, everyone is satisfied and boosting, and the hope of a permanent system of athletics is apparently assured. The old adage that nothing succeeds like success has again been demonstrated.

Although it was Dr. Withington's aim to produce a team without stars there were a few men whose work against Chicago stamped them as shining lights. The spectacular honors fell to the lot of "Monk" Edler, who was in at Eber Simpson's place at left half for it was Edler who produced the two longest runs of the day. His second—a run of fifty-seven yards around the Maroon right end just after the opening of the second quarter—was the most spectacular bit of open field work the Badger rooters have had the opportunity of cheering for several years.

At that time the score stood 3 to 0 in favor of the Badgers and Taylor called Edler back. Every man on the Wisconsin team got into the interference and there was not a single Maroon who had an opportunity to tackle the speeding back as he turned up the field. Pershing, the Maroon safety, made a desperate lunge but he was out-generated by Edler, who sidestepped and planted the oval directly behind the goal posts, and the rooters went into a pandemonium of delight. A great deal of the credit for the run goes to the interferers who did their work to perfection.

Shortly before, Edler had ripped off a forty-yard run around the same position and placed the ball within striking distance of the Maroon goal. He played a wonderful game, offensively and defensively, three times grabbing forward passes away from would-be Chicago receivers.

Captain Meyers also put up a great offensive and defensive game. His tackling under punts was deadly, and twice he made spectacular catches of forward passes, one resulting in a touchdown. His first catch came in the first quarter and placed the ball on the Maroon 11-yard line and shortly after Olson kicked his drop-kick from the 18-yard line. The second one came in the fourth quarter when he took a perfect pass from Eber Simpson and ran eight yards for a touchdown. The pass and run netted Wisconsin a 35-yard gain.

Olson, playing his first conference football game, handled himself like a veteran. Alone he scored 13 points for Wisconsin, the first count coming early in the first quarter when he dropped the ball squarely between the goal posts. In the second quarter, after the Badgers had carried the ball to Chicago's 9-yard line, he went through the Maroon center for the distance and a score on a fake play which was executed so perfectly that the Chicagoans were completely baffled. Again in the last quarter, he speared a Maroon punt which had been partially blocked by the Badger linemen and ran seventeen yards around Chicago's right and for a score.

Glen Taylor, the Badger quarter, ran his team in faultless fashion and, in addition to selecting the right plays, put plenty of fight into the men. His kicking was excellent and one of his punts—that in the fourth period—changed the entire complexion of the game. It put the ball from its dangerous position in Wisconsin territory far down into the Maroon field. It was a wonderful kick which really paved the way for Olson's second touchdown. His judgment was excellent and he used plays which kept the Maroons guessing all the time. When Olson went through the Maroon center on his fake, the Maroons were completely befuddled and "Ole" had easy sailing. Following a fair catch by Edler, he elected to punt and, with every badger on-side, he sent up a high punt which was barely recovered by the Maroons. His display of nerve in his kick from behind his own goal-line put the fight into the rest of the team and from then on Wisconsin was unbeatable.

There were no particular faults in the play of any of the Badgers. The linemen—Carpenter, Hancock, Graper, Filtzer, Koch, Kelley and Cramer all played great games. Kreuz, who replaced Berg, played a great defensive game, particularly in intercepting Maroon passes. Gardner, did good work in the line.

One thing that will stand out for some time to come was the Badger defense on their goal-line. On no less than eight occasions the Maroons had the ball inside the Badger five-yard line but they were unable to punch over. It was a defense that even old Badger teams might well be proud of.

The lineup:
Wisconsin	Pos.	Chicago

WISCONSIN 13; OHIO STATE 14

After Wisconsin's overwhelming defeat of Chicago—the first in four years—there were few who would have predicted an Ohio State victory on the following Saturday at Columbus but that what's happened. It will go down in the score books as a defeat for Wisconsin but there are few Badgers who do not believe that the Cardinal could defeat the Buckeyes in six out of seven starts.

Sitting in the stands watching the game it looked to Badger supporters as though Wisconsin was being outplayed, but a glance at the plot of the game afterwards reveals the fact that in only one department—running back kicks—did Coach Wilce's men excell. In every other one the Badgers had Ohio State outclassed by a wide margin. And what really tells the story is the fact that the Buckeyes were never inside Wisconsin's 25-yard line. Still, they won by virtue of two long runs by Harley, their sensational halfback who twice ran through the entire team for touchdowns.

J. W. WILCE, '10

Dr. Withington did not accompany the team to Columbus and this had something to do with the final outcome; but the new coach reasoned that his primary duty here was to defeat Chicago, Minnesota and Illinois. He wanted to get a line on both Illinois and Minnesota and he went to Minneapolis to see them in action.

With the head coach gone and the natural let-down after the hard game against Chicago, the Badgers entered the game lacadaisically. There was not the same grim determination in the play that characterized the Chicago game. Even at that, the Badgers took the ball on the kick-off and marched straight down the field to the Ohio State two-yard line, where they lost the ball on downs. That was the break of the game right there for it gave Wilce's men the spirit they needed.

Wisconsin took advantage of the next opportunity that presented itself, however, for after Hancock, the big Badger guard, had recovered a fumble and placed the ball within striking distance of the goal, a forward pass from Simpson to Captain Meyers resulted in a touchdown and, following the punt-out, Simpson kicked a goal. This was in the early part of the second quarter.

The Buckeyes fought back, however, and a well-executed forward pass from Harley to Peabody, the Buckeye end, netted a 20-yard gain and placed the ball on the Wisconsin 25-yard line. The Badger defensive backs were within easy distance of the pass and should not have permitted Peabody to receive it. It proved exceptionally disastrous when, on the next play, Harley bluffed an end run and then cut back over the center of the Badger line for a 25-yard run and a touchdown. Half the team were in a position to tackle him but he managed to get away.

Even this failed to perturb the Badgers and try as they might they could not get together. They lacked the teamwork that stood out so beautifully in the Maroon encounter. There was no further scoring in the third quarter but in the final session, Harley proved his running ability by taking one of Taylor's punts on his own 30-yard line and going the entire length of the field for a touchdown that, for brilliancy, has seldom been equalled on a western gridiron. He side-stepped, dodged, and twisted his way through the entire team, and by the time he had reached Taylor at safety his interference had reached him and Taylor missed the tackle.

With the score, 14 to 7 against them, the Badgers woke up and showed themselves to be a real team. With Kreuz, the Badger fullback, carrying the ball on straight line plunges, the Badgers plowed their way down the field in an unchecked march to the goal-line. Kreuz then smashed his way through for the touchdown that was to tie the score. He went across the line of scrimmage at the corner of the field, necessitating a punt-out. The time was short, the Badgers were excited, and when Simpson punted out to Taylor, the latter's protectors were not properly arranged and Taylor missed the ball and the chance for a tie was gone, for the game ended a few minutes later.

While some were inclined to censure Taylor for missing the kick, yet the blame for the loss of the game falls upon the team as a whole, for had Wisconsin played the same brand of football throughout the game that they played in this final quarter, they would have had enough of a lead on the Buckeyes to discount the loss of the single point that meant defeat for them.

The line-up:

Wisconsin	Pos.	Ohio State
Kelley	L. E.	Bolen
Koch	L. T.	H. J. Courtney
Graper	L. G.	Karch
Carpenter	C.	Holtkamp
Hancock	R. G.	Seddon
Filtzer	R. T.	H. G. Courtney
Meyers, Capt.	R. E.	Peabody
Taylor	Q. B.	Zerges
Olson	L. H.	Hurm
Simpson	R. H.	Harley
Berg	F. B.	Sorenson, Capt.

Score by quarters:

Wisconsin	0	7	0	6-13
Ohio State	0	7	0	7-14

Touchdowns—Meyers, Kreuz, Harley 2.

Substitutions—

Wisconsin—Cramer for Kelley; Guernsey for Cramer, Kelley for Guernsey, Gardner for Graper, Kieckhefer for Hancock, Kralovek for Carpenter, Gray for Filtzer, Keyes for Meyers, Edler for Olson, Kreuz for Berg, Stark for Edler.

Officials—Referee, Eckersoll of Chicago; umpire, Reid of Michigan; field judge, Knight of Dartmouth.

BADGER RUNNERS WIN

Wisconsin's cross country runners won their first dual meet of the season on the day the football team met Ohio State, when they defeated the Minnesota team by a score of 26 to 29.

Arlie Schardt, captain of the Wisconsin team, was the first man to cross the finish line. His time was 27:43½ slightly slower than the conference record for the distance. The record for the five-mile course is 26:15, established last fall by Watson of Minnesota.

Demmer Golden was the second Wisconsin man to finish, although two Minnesota runners crossed the line between him and Captain Schardt. The contestants finished in the following order: Schardt (W.), Wallace (M.), Griffin (M.), Golden (W.), Bolling (M.), Dayton (W.), Lawson (W.), Brann (W.), Edson (M.), Skellet (M.), Johnson (W.), Cross (M.).

It was expected up to yesterday that Burr would run for Wisconsin, but he contracted a severe cold which kept him out of the race. Brann, who took his place, ran a good race, finishing in eighth place.

The Badgers will enter the conference cross country race at Purdue on November 25th. Although the team is unexperienced, it is rated as on an equal footing with the other conference schools.

BADGER CHEER SONG

(By DAVID ROUNT AND HAROLD WHEELER)

Here's to the team that we love so well,

Here's to the Badger's pride.

We're with you, we're for you,

We'll stand by and support you,

Fight, fellows, side by side.

With a U! Rah! Rah! we'll cheer you boys along,

And with a U! Rah! Rah! we'll praise the team in song;

For old Wisconsin you will play

With all your might,

Do it right, Win the fight.

NEW MEN ON THE CHEMICAL ENGINEERING STAFF

By O. L. KOWALKE, '06

Dr. Charles H. Hecker, recently appointed assistant professor in chemical engineering, graduated from the chemical engineering course at the University of Cincinnati in 1909 and received his doctor's degree in 1913 from the same school. His major was in organic chemistry. From 1906 to 1908 Professor Hecker was associated with J. A. Fay & Egan Co., Cincinnati, machinery manufacturers. In 1913 he went to the University of Illinois as instructor in chemistry and remained there until he came here. His work here will be mainly the development of the industrial organic chemistry.

E. C. Bain has been appointed as instructor in metallography. He graduated from the chemical engineering course at Ohio State University in 1912. After graduation he became associated with the U. S. Geological Survey and later with the Bureau of Standards at Washington. During the past year Mr. Bain did graduate work at the Ohio State and Columbia Universities, specializing in metallography, and received his master's degree from the former University.

CAMPUS NOTES

The American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality held their seventh annual meeting at Milwaukee October 19-21. The following faculty women took part in the program: Professor Abby L. Marlatt, Dr. Dorothy R. Mendenhall, Dr. Amy L. Daniels, Miss Elizabeth Kelley, and Miss Agnes Boeing.

The Medical department found the class of 1920 an exceptionally healthy lot with a relatively small percentage in need of corrective treatment. The freshman classes in corrective gymnastics were decreased by more than twenty percent from last year.

University women conducted the sale of Homecoming buttons this year, captains being appointed from each sorority house, Chadbourne hall, and Barnard hall. The energetic saleswomen exhausted the supply of buttons the first day and printed tags were substituted. The proceeds were $792.69, breaking all previous records. Alpha Xi Delta turned in $164.50 and won a loving-cup, and Chi Omega was second. Chadbourne girls collected $104, beating Barnard girls for a cup.

U. W. Philipp Club was organized by the students with Frank V. Birch, Badger editor, as president. This club was active for two weeks preceding election, holding a smoker on October 31.

E. M. Lebert, former professor of romance languages, has been decorated with the French Cross of Honor for bravery displayed on the Somme front. He was wounded and has been in a hospital at Somme since May.

Theta Delta Chi won the first prize for being the best decorated fraternity house during Homecoming, and Kappa Alpha Theta won the cup among the sororities. The Latin quarter and the city as a whole were better illuminated than at any previous Homecoming.

A mammoth banquet in honor of the 1916 team has been planned for November 25, the evening of the Wisconsin-Illinois game. Arlie M. Mucks has been chosen general chairman, and four live-wire committees have been appointed.

Class elections November 3 resulted in the choice of Morland McMurray as Prom chairman and the following as officers of the junior class: president, William Ross, vice president, Ruth Stolte; secretary, Madelyn Stanchfield; treasurer, Stephen Fox; and sergeant-at-arms, Arthur Couture. Sophomore officers are: president, Donald Jones; vice president, Winifred Bartholf; secretary, Roland Rogers; treasurer, Roland Bethke. The freshman class elected as follows: president, Robert Wiley; vice-president, Ruth Johnson; secretary, Robert Thomas; treasurer, Samuel Marshall; and sergeant-at-arms, Allen Davey.

The Library school has an enrollment of thirty-seven people from thirteen states, at its eleventh session. The enrollment is twelve per cent greater than last year.

An Aviation class of ten male students is studying aeroplanes and aeronautics this year. Prominent men in the world of aviation will speak before this class.

Our military department will probably be one of the first university corps to be affected by the recent act of Congress providing for an officers' training corps, according to Commandant C. F. Crain. It will probably be a four year course, and students electing to take advanced work will receive equipment and the equivalent of subsistence, about $85 a year. Completing the course, the student will be eligible to six months' service as a lieutenant in the regular army, at $100 a month and all the allowances of a regular army lieutenant.

Red Domino and Edwin Booth
Dramatic societies will stage a three-act play. Miss Gertrude Johnson has been engaged to direct the production of the series which will probably include a comedy, a civic piece, and a fantasy.

The Union Vodvil has engaged the Fuller Opera House for December 9, for its annual production. Stage, lighting, and other facilities far superior to those available at the gymnasium, induced the management to secure the down-town play house. Prize cups are offered for first, second, and third honors.

Court-martial on charge of sleeping while on duty, was the order of events November 3, in the student cadet corps. A corporal was court-martialed before Major C. F. Crain, the new commandant, as presiding officer, and nine officers of the cadet corps as a jury.

The new Canoe House, between the two University boathouses has been completed. The Crew house will be changed from its former location to the old Canoe house, which is to be extensively remodeled to accommodate the oarsmen.

Five fraternities and sororities are cooperating in a buying system whereby they hope to reduce expenses. Delta Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Gamma Delta and Chi Psi are the five organizations. Each pays $25 a month to a graduate manager who buys for all the houses, keeps all their books, and uses a cost accounting system.

Professor W. H. Page, connected with the law school of Ohio State University since 1896, will take the place of Professor H. W. Ballantine, resigned. The appointment takes effect in February. Professor Page took degrees at Yale, Ohio State, and Harvard, and practiced from 1894 to 1900. He is the author of two books, "Contracts and Wills" and "Taxation," and of a number of articles appearing in the American and English Encyclopedia. In conjunction with Judge Adams he edited the Ohio Digest and the Ohio General Code which is in general use by the Ohio bar.

A collection of forty themes of various types and grades, has been compiled and published by the English department to be used as material for classroom criticism. The themes are relics of the efforts of freshman English classes of the past.

President Charles R. Van Hise was the guest and speaker of the evening at the 137th regular meeting of the Bankers' Club of Chicago, on October 14. His subject was "Co-operation in Business and Industry."

J. Ortega of Madrid, Spain, has been added to the instructional force of the Spanish department. Mr. Ortega is a graduate of the University of Grenada, and has been in America a little more than a year.

Professor M. V. O'Shea spoke on "Community Welfare" at the Fellowship Banquet at the First Congregational Church, Oshkosh, November 3.

Professor J. G. D. Mack was elected president of the University Club.

Professor A. R. Whitson and W. J. Geib contributed articles on soil analysis for Circular 64, Agricultural Extension Service.

A gymnasium class has been organized for faculty women, the wives of faculty members, and graduate students, at Lathrop Hall, Thursday evenings.

A new club, "Scoops," has been organized by sophomore, junior, senior, and graduate students in journalism of which Paul Kayser is president. The journalism freshmen have a club which they have named the "Cubs," and Randall Gould is their president.

Student Senate elections were held November 10. The new student legislative body will consist of the following: Seniors—George Service, Guy Black, Charles Walton, Randolph Wadsworth, and Eugene Grant; Juniors—Kenneth Curtis, Cecil L. Holman, and Arthur Couture; Sophomores—Joseph Farrington and Russell Palmer; representatives of Union, Cardinal, Badger, forensic, and athletic boards, freshman president, and president of the University.

The first noon convocation of the year was held Wednesday, November 15, with Professor W. A. Scott as the speaker. The second is scheduled for December 6 with Professor Max Otto as the speaker.

No announcement has yet been made of a successor to the recent president of Northwestern University. Since his resignation some weeks ago the board of directors has been conducting the affairs of the University without a president.

The Extension Division is offering courses in chemistry by mail, the work consisting of forty assignments with text and laboratory work. Instructions are given for setting up small home laboratories at low cost.

Mrs. Lois K. Mathews, Dean of Women, is giving a course in "College Administration" for prospective deans of women. The course is somewhat along the lines of Mrs.

Mathews' recent book on The Dean of Women.

President C. R. Van Hise, as a member of the committee on national legislation of the United States Chamber of Commerce, attended a meeting of the advisory council of the chamber at Washington, D. C.

Captain P. G. Wrightston left the student corps November 3, at the expiration of his term, to join the Seventeenth Regiment under General Pershing, in Mexico. Students taking military drill signed a mammoth petition requesting the return of the commandant who placed Wisconsin's student regiments in the distinguished class.

An historical relief map of Wisconsin, showing all places of historical importance, is on exhibition at the State Historical Museum. It was prepared by the State Historical society, from data compiled by W. O. Hotchkiss and F. T. Thwaites of the state geological survey.

The library school and the department of journalism have compiled three lists of books concerning various phases of journalism, for college students and members of the profession who desire information or reading on journalistic subjects.

Examination for Rhodes scholarships to Oxford University were written Oct. 3 and 4, by one University and one Carroll college student. They compete with those who write next year, because no Rhodes scholars are to be sent from Wisconsin until 1917-18.

The State Supreme Court recently decided to close several suits against Madison election officials, in the lengthy controversy over the rights of students to vote in Madison. Under the verdict, no students are to be permitted to vote in the university city except those who are earning their own living, or who intend to reside there permanently.

A library course for prospective high school teachers was opened by the Wisconsin Library School staff, this semester, at the Wisconsin High school building.

The department of agriculture, co-operating with various manufacturing concerns, sent a "Land Clearing Limited" over the Soo line, into ten northern counties of Wisconsin, during September and October, giving demonstrations in clearing land of stumps.

Major Charles F. Crain and Lieutenant Fitzmaurice have arrived in Madison, to take charge of the student cadet corps. Major Crain, who succeeds Captain P. G. Wrightson as commandant, has been stationed at Oswega, N. Y., and Lieutenant Fitzmaurice has been detailed at Grayling, Mich.

The first convocation of the semester was held October 13. A. C. Harte addressed a large student and faculty gathering, on the subject of war prisons.

The Wisconsin Carroll club, a purely social organization consisting of former Carroll College people, has been formed with an original membership of twenty-eight.

Bulletin 272, published by the Agricultural Experiment station in August, contains articles by A. B. Whitson and T. J. Dunnewald on "Keep Our Hill-sides from Washing." Bulletin 273, of September, contains articles, statistics, and a directory concerning "Distribution of Public Service Stallions in Wisconsin."

The extension division's September bulletin on general information and welfare contains a discussion of "The Eye in Industrial Accidents," by Dr. Nelson M. Black of Milwaukee. An October bulletin has been issued to show the cost of various courses in correspondence.

BOOK NOTES

Contemporary Politics in the Far East (D. Appleton and Company, New York) by Stanley K. Hornbeck, assistant professor of political science. The volume deals with current political institutions and tendencies in the Orient, and will probably be of particular moment when the final political adjustment between China and Japan and China and the European countries is attempted.

The Boyhood of a Naturalist (Houghton Mifflin Company) by the late John Muir, '97. This volume, which is one of the Riverside Literature series, consists of selected chapters from The Story of My Boyhood and Youth. It is prefaced with a short character sketch of the author.

William Oughtred (Open Court Publishing Co., Chicago) by Florian Cajori, '83, professor of mathematics at Colorado College. The work contains a sketch of the life of the great seventeenth-century teacher of mathematics, some of his principal and minor works, a resume of his influence on mathematical progress and teaching, and of his ideas on the teaching of mathematics.

China: An Interpretation (The Abingdon Press, New York, $2.50 net) by Bishop James Whitford Bashford, '73, resident bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in China. This work, as is suggested by the title, was written largely for the purpose of quickening the interest in China, to help make that vast country and its people better known to the world outside. "It is the result of twelve years residence, some seventy thousand miles of travel in China, and ten thousand more in Japan and Korea, of hundreds of conversations with the Chinese upon all possible subjects, but chiefly about things Chinese, of unnumbered talks with foreigners of long residence in China concerning the Chinese, of the reading or examination of more than five hundred volumes on China, and of considerable meditation upon the problems of the Pacific Basin. The aim has been to make these problems understandable by Western peoples." (The author).

The Road to Everywhere, by Glenn Ward Dresbach, '12, formerly editor of the Wisconsin Magazine, associate editor of the Sphinx, and a contributing editor to the Cardinal. Of this work the New York Times critic remarked: "If Dresbach continues to run out the excellent poetry he has produced in The Road to Everywhere, he will soon rank with Tagore, Masters, and the other leading poets of the day.

The Principles of Accounting, by Stephen Gilman Jr., '10, son of Professor and Mrs. S. W. Gilman. The author is a member of the staff of the La Salle Extension University, Chicago, publishers of the book. The work is designed to present the basic principles of the science of accounting, rather than to serve as a reference, and it is to be used as a text.
