BADGER NINE MEETS ILLINI IN VITAL TILT

Lowman's Men Must Win to Keep in Conference Running

Coach Guy S. Lowman's baseball nine will attempt to avenge the 9 to 8 defeat which it suffered at the hands of Illinois last Saturday when the Suckers will be met in a return battle at Illinois field Friday afternoon.

The baseball men will leave Madison at 4:10 this afternoon via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul after a final practice which will commence at 1 o'clock. Coach T. E. Jones' track squad will leave for Urbana at the same time.

The Badgers will make a last desperate attempt to break the Illini winning streak of eight straight conference games. A victory over Illinois Friday will give Wisconsin a chance to tie for the championship provided Michigan defeats Illinois at least once and the Badgers win the remainder of their games.

Illinois Is Strong Opponent

Iowa lost to Illinois by the score of 5 to 2 Monday, and it has become apparent that Wisconsin and Michigan are the only two teams which are capable of giving the Suckers a fall.

"Lefty" Barnes, who was credited with defeating the Badgers Saturday will doubtless pitch for Illinois, while Paddock is expected to be Coach Lowman's choice for hurling duty. The Badger lineup will remain intact.

Northwestern's victories over Notre Dame and Purdue during the past week indicate that the Evanston institution is represented by a stronger nine now than the one which Wisconsin defeated so easily earlier in the season.

TYRRELL MANAGES SENIOR CLASS PLAY

Richard H. Tyrrell, general manager of "Mary's Lamb," the successful Haresfoot production of last year, has been appointed business manager of "The Yellow Jacket", which will be presented on June 20 and 21 by the senior class. Plans for the production of the play are well under way. Rehearsals have been started with Miss Johnson as coach. An office has been opened in the Union building in the room formerly occupied by the Exposition committee.

Tyrrell, besides his work as a member of Haresfoot, is a member of the Union board, and was on the production staff of Union Varsity in 1918. He was chairman of the entertainment committee of the University Exposition. He is a member of Pi Epsilon Delta, and Scabbard and Blade honor societies, and of Inner Gate, Sigma Chi, and Phi Delta Phi fraternities.

PROGRAM OF POEMS WILL BE GIVEN BY NOTED WRITER

Edmund Vance Cooke Gives Entertainment in Music Hall Tonight

Edmund Vance Cooke, America's noted poet, will arrive in Madison this evening at 8:00 o'clock, and will be conducted by members of Forensic board from the Northwestern depot to Music hall where he will give a program of his own poems. Following the lecture Mr. Cooke will be entertained by the Forensic board at the University club.

Mr. Cooke, in addition to being one of the most popular writers of the day, is a humorist, impersonator, and philosopher. For 20 years he has distinguished himself as a reader on the lyceum platform. He was recommended to Forensic board by Prof. J. M. O'Neill, who heard him at Cleveland recently. Prof. O'Neill is very enthusiastic about Mr. Cooke, as are other prominent members of the English department.

Mr. Cooke's poems, which have appeared in the leading newspapers and magazines of the country for the last 25 years, are well known to all classes of people because of the humor, pathos, and human sympathy they contain. Among those which he will recite to-night are, "How Did You Die?", "Fin de Siecle," "The Moo Cow Moo," and "The Other One Was Booth".

Tickets are on sale at the University pharmacy, Hook Brothers, and in Bascom hall. The price is 50 cents.

LOOK PLEASANT!

Journal Correspondent Will Snap Editing Class in Ac- tion

Ambitious scribes, skillfully setting up headlines, will be photographed by the Milwaukee Journal local staff correspondent, Edward Bierer, in the editing class Monday. "We have received all the linotype matter from the Milwaukee Journal of May 7, with the headlines removed," said Mr. Johnson, instructor, "and the class will design front pages patterned after the headline form of many of the leading papers in the country. We tried to pick out the best looking class—with perhaps a few exceptions—for the Journal staff photographer," he added.

This work is of practical value to the students. They learn to know and recognize headline display as used by the various publishers. The Milwaukee Journal expects to use the photograph as an example of the practical work carried out in the university.

CAP NIGHT DATE IS CHANGED TO JUNE 4

Cap night has been postponed from Friday, June 3, to Saturday June 4, due to a conflict with the senior Swingout. When the plans for cap night were first made, the student senate did not know that June 3 had been set aside for the Swingout. It was thought that the Swingout was important enough to be given an evening by itself.

Transportation Delay Holds Up Badger Plans

With seven railway officials of the St. Paul line all personally at work to get the 1922 Badger here, distribution is promised for Friday morning.

"No stone has been left unturned in our effort to get the Badger here," declared "Cap" Rasmussen, business manager, who has been devoting his time and energy toward shortening the unavoidable delay.

The Badgers got as far as Galeswood, 18 miles from Chicago, Tuesday evening. Here the second delay occurred when the box car, which had been repaired in Chicago, again broke down. W. J. Willoughby, superintendent of transportation, has telephoned twice from Chicago and made himself personally responsible for seeing that the Badgers get in Madison at 11:30 this morning, either in another car or in this one properly repaired.

The officials working include the local superintendent, the traveling superintendent, the local freight agent, the chief dispatcher at Madison, and the general freight agent, the superintendent of transportation, and train dispatcher at Chicago.

From 8 to 5 on both Friday and Saturday, Badgers will be distributed at Music hall.

All subscribers living in Madison must call at Music hall. No books will be mailed in Madison.

ADVERTISING MEN TO HEAR EXPERT

Manager for Field's Will Talk to Commerce Convoca- tion Today

G. R. Schaeffer, advertising manager for Marshall Field and company, will address the students in advertising and all commerce people at 4:30 this afternoon in the Physics-Economics auditorium. He will discuss the advertising plan and policy of his company.

Mr. Schaeffer is manager of all retail advertising for Marshall Field and company and is responsible for all advertising which appears in the Tribune. He started his career in the wholesale business and two years ago went into the retail advertising. He is a native of Wisconsin.

A short time ago Mr. Schaeffer entertained a group of Wisconsin students in advertising at Field's and showed them how the advertising was conducted. His talk this afternoon will be illustrated by slides and will show how the advertising is conducted, what elements enter into it, and to what extent the success of the great store depends on it. It is a great opportunity for students to get an insight into the methods of big advertising.

Mr. Schaeffer will be entertained at dinner this evening at 6:15 at the city Y. M. C. A., jointly by the University Advertising club and the Madison Advertising club. At this time he will give a short address.

ILLINOIS TRACK MEET WILL BE CLOSE CONTEST

Wisconsin and Illini Squads Are Well-balanced Aggregations

Twenty track and field men will make up the Wisconsin track squad which will compete against Illinois in the most important dual meet of the season on Friday afternoon at Urbana. The squad leaves this afternoon at 4:10 for Urbana.

Two well-balanced aggregations will meet when Wisconsin and Illinois engage on the track. Both squads are strong in nearly every event and both possess only one or two individual stars. Coach Harry Gill has welded together one of the best teams that has represented Illinois in years. His squad holds the Big Ten indoor track championship, and has not lost an outdoor competition this season. Critics class it as the best dual meet track team in the country.

Wisconsin possesses a team which is almost identical with that which defeated Illinois in the meet last year. The Badgers won out in the 1920 meet by a five point margin gained in the last minutes of competition. Wisconsin ranks third in the indoor track rating. In outdoor competition, the Badgers have a clear record of victories.

Wisconsin Has Chance

"Wisconsin has a fighting chance to beat Illinois on Friday," said Coach Jones yesterday afternoon. "Every event will be closely contested. We are especially strong in the middle distances, sprints, and hurdles, but Wisconsin also has excellent entrants in the field events and larger runs. The team is in very good shape to give Illinois a hard battle."

Although Illinois appears to have a slight edge in field events, the squads are evenly matched on the track. Capt. Clyde Nash '21 is one of the best half-milers in the conference. He will stack up against Yates, Brown, and McGinnis in the 880 yard run. Paul D. Kayser '21 will start in the quarter-mile race, and in the hurdles and dashes Albert J. Knollin '22, E. W. Johnson '23, George Stolley '22 will meet H. S. Wallace, S. H. Wallace, Osborne, Donohue, and Prescott.

Mark H. Wall '22 clipped two seconds off the mark in the one-mile run hung up by McGinnis, Patterson, and Wells against Michigan. Clarence W. Wille '22 is the only other Badger who will enter the mile run.

Pole Vaulters Have Advantage

Dewey Alberts, Big Ten high jump champion, and Osborne will compete against Peter Platten '23 and H. W. Armstrong '23 in the high jump. In the pole vault, Dale Merrick '22 and Lloyd L. Wilder '21

All manner of carefully studied profanity fails to characterize the weather of this glorious spring. It is the wettest period the world has known since the rain of good Queen Bess.

We have been perusing with interest a newspaper which someone at the Chi Psi house subscribed for. One paragraph reads: "LENKU DVARPONIAI uzeme Vilniu ir iskeite savo slacheckus nagus nori smaugti musu tevyne!" If, like us, you cannot translate it, get a Chi Psi to do it for you. Any one will do.

The coming faculty baseball game is arousing considerable interest. Last year, you will remember, it was especially fine. The high spots in the game were:

Dad Wolf was ruled out for disorderly conduct.
Dad Vail had the big row with the umpire.

Dean Turneure pitched the deceptive Archimedean curves.

Scotty Goodnight finally called off the game. As usual he gave no reasons.

STORIES BY TWO WISCONSIN MEN ARE PUBLISHED

Collegiate World Has Article by
Hamilton '22 and Coach
Jones

The contributions to the Collegiate World, one written by J. S. Hamilton '22, giving a fascinating account of the university exposition, and the other, by T. E. Jones, athletic director, on the National Intercollegiate Track and Field Meet, are features of the June issue that will represent Wisconsin.

"Exposing a University" is the title of a long human interest article by Hamilton. All the bright lights of the exposition are given with many photographs to illustrate. Beside the work that is being done by Wisconsin as actually shown in the exposition, the article gives creditable mention to the envious record of the faculty.

Chicago Meet Second Olympic
"There is no reason why the National Intercollegiate Track and Field meet of the United States at Chicago June 18 should not in time rival the noted Olympic meet both in interest and in performance," Jones writes. "For many years the honors of the Olympic meet have been taken by the American team, and though the committee in charge of the selection of this team is perhaps as competent as any such body could be, it can hardly be accepted as representative of supremacy in American track."

The meet at Chicago, Coach Jones further writes, will be the first meet to decide the championships in track and field events for the United States.

PORTLAND, Ore.—Invitations to attend the world's exposition to be held in Portland in 1925, were dispatched by the directors to Pres. Harding.

POULTRY CLUB TO CONDUCT SECOND ANNUAL EGG SHOW

Co-operation With State Organizations is Chief Feature of Show

The Second Annual Egg show will be held at the University Poultry building on May 20-21 under the direction of the Badger Poultry club. The members of the club are agricultural students interested in poultry and poultry products.

The show will be well represented by displays from all over the state. Many commercial egg producers have signified their intention of showing and a number of the entries have been received. Special classes are provided for commercial farms, demonstration farms, high school clubs, and student exhibitors. Prizes and ribbons will be awarded to the winning entries and keen competition is expected.

Have Improved Plans

The first egg show was held last year and secured a large number of exhibits from different parts of the state. An extensive advertising campaign has been carried on for the past two months among poultry producers and high schools of Wisconsin and plans are now complete to make the show this year larger and better than last.

The aim of the show is to stimulate interest in the production of good quality market eggs; to encourage grading and standardizing of eggs, and to create a general interest in poultry products.

The judges of the show will be D. H. Reid and O. N. Johnson of the Poultry department. Lewis Taylor '22 is acting as secretary of the show.

JEFFERSON COUNTY PLANS EGG EXHIBIT

Jefferson county is planning to make a good showing at the Wisconsin Egg show to be held at the College of Agriculture, May 20 and 21.

The Jefferson Poultry association cooperating with County Agent Coyner has already secured thirty entries of white and brown shelled eggs and hopes to double this number before time for the show.

The first entry to be received by Mr. Coyner was a wonderfully uniform dozen of Barred Rock eggs weighing nearly 30 ounces from the flock of John Robbins, chairman of the town of Sumner. The entries to date include brown eggs from Rhode Island Reds and Barred Rocks, and white eggs from White Leghorns, Black Minorcas, Anconas, Buff Leghorns, and Brown Leghorns.

SHERMAN PLACES FIRST IN FROSH CROSS COUNTRY

Wells A. Sherman, College of Letters and Science, won the annual freshman cross-country race held over a 2.7 miles course yesterday afternoon. Sherman negotiated the distance in 16 minutes 46 seconds. He was awarded the traveling cup which was donated by members of the 1912 cross-country squad.

William F. Greeley finished second in the race, with Ralph E. Purucker a close third. William W. Sovereign captured fourth place from a large field of runners.

George H. Finkle '23, two-miler on the varsity track squad, won the cup for the freshman cross-country championship last year.

FOREST PRODUCTS COURSE FINISHED

The fifteenth course of instruction in kiln drying, given by the Forest Products laboratory in connection with the university, will be completed Friday. Seven men from big industrial plants in the country have been enrolled. The course began May 9, and is repeated every month. Lectures and demonstrations are given.

WILL NOMINATE OFFICERS AT RED GAUNTLET SUPPER

Red Gauntlet, sophomore women's organization, will give a banquet in Lathrop parlors, May 31 at 6 o'clock.

"We want every sophomore girl to be there," said Belle Knights '23, president, "not only because we expect to have a good time, but because the nomination of officers for Yellow Tassel will be held then and we want them representative of the whole class."

"Next year is going to be a big year and we want to start out with a good spirit. We are planning to make a big thing of the junior advisory system and want all the girls to be behind it."

UNIVERSITY BAND CONCERT TONIGHT

Weather permitting, the University band will give the second of the series of open-air concerts this evening at 6:30 on the campus near Music hall.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY

AT 8:30 tonight in Music hall Edmund Vance Cooke, the American people's poet, will read some of the half thousand poems which he has written. One of the poems, "How Did You Die?" was reprinted by a French professor and sent to the men at the front. The Canadian Red Cross also included this poem in packages sent to the soldiers. It has been engraved and hung upon the walls of Cornell university and has been embodied in lectures and addresses by public men and women.

Mr. Cooke writes good poetry, and he knows how to read it. Wisconsin students have not had the opportunity to take in many treats such as this evening's entertainment.

A SERMON

ONLY a little more than three weeks remain before the final examinations. Now is the time to get in that back work which has accumulated in spite of good resolutions made at the beginning of the semester, and now is the time to begin to review for the finals. Fortunately, the weather is ideal for studying. It is cool, and what is more, it offers no temptations for a stroll on the drive or an evening on the lake. These conditions will not last indefinitely. The thing to do is to start now, and you know it. What is needed is the courage to plunge in and to begin the review. Work now and sleep later.

A REPLY TO EDISON

EDISON says that the college man is ignorant and he is not the only one who says so. Most of the people who make the assertion that the college man is uneducated base it on the fact that college men have failed to answer a sufficient proportion of a set of questions of fact which they have drawn up.

The college man's answer is that the questions have not been fair, and that no test simply of a knowledge of facts is a test of the educated man.

What is the real test of the educated man? This question has been answered many times through the ages, but no two of the answers have been the same. In the first place, men have always differed as to what elements a man should possess in order to be called educated.

Most people agree, however, that a knowledge of facts alone does not constitute an education. "Railroad Jack" has, perhaps, more facts on the end of his tongue than some of our professors. One would hardly say that he was therefore better educated, however.

The last generation learned an enormous number of facts. The present generation has perhaps gone too far in the opposite direction and has not learned enough facts to serve as the basis for reliable and definite thinking. The college student should not be classed as ignorant because he cannot answer every question or set of questions which are propounded to him, but he should have at his command a larger number of facts than the average student has at the present time.

STERLING HALL IS NAME GIVEN PHYSICS BUILDING

Dedication Will be One of Leading Class Day Events

The renaming of the Physics-Economics building, which was erected in 1916, as Sterling hall in honor of Prof. John W. Sterling, will be one of the leading events of the Commencement exercises of the University of Wisconsin this year. Dedication will take place on Alumni day, June 21.

Prof. John W. Sterling was the first instructor in the university when it was organized in 1849 with 20 pupils in its preparatory school. In 1858 he became vice-chancellor, acting in the place of the chancellor, Henry Barnard, who was in ill health.

Sterling hall will be the second building on the university campus to be renamed in honor of men of former years who played important parts in the development of the university. During the Commencement program last year, Main hall was renamed Bascom hall in honor of John Bascom, president of the university from 1874-1887, and the ceremony was one of the most interesting parts of the exercise.

Such a special ceremony is becoming an important part of the university's Commencement exercises in recent years. In 1918, a hill overlooking Lake Mendota was dedicated as Muir Knoll, in honor of John Muir, the naturalist. In 1919, the new Lincoln Terrace, about the statue of Abraham Lincoln, was dedicated with a ceremony honoring the memory of 124 university students who lost their lives in military service and linking their memory with the Lincoln statue.

The Physics-Economics building, to be known as Sterling hall, is the latest structure to be erected on the campus. It houses the departments of physics and economics and the course in commerce.

CHINESE RELIEF FUND IS NEARING QUOTA DESIRED

Amount Set for Students Lacks $170—Faculty Pledged Double

Ten days after the formal conclusion of the drive, the Chinese Famine fund has increased to a total of nearly $3,800, of which $1,625.91 was the contribution of students, and $2,160 was given by the faculty.

On the advice of the student committee, a quota of $1,800 was set for the students, which meant a saving of 600 lives. Only about nine-tenths of that amount has been raised, although checks have been coming in from fraternities even up to yesterday, and it is hoped that enough money will be contributed soon to make up the $170 so that the students may go over the top for their full quota.

"While the students have done very well," says Prof. E. A. Ross of the Sociology department, who is in charge of the drive, "we hope that the remainder of the amount set by the student committee will come in soon."

Double Faculty Quota

The faculty committee did not set out to raise any stated amount, but it was generally anticipated that about $1,200 would be contributed. This amount has been nearly doubled. It was supposed that the entire amount given by the university would be between $3,000 and $4,000. So far nearly $3,800 has been donated, which means a saving of 1,200 lives. This money is sent to the general headquarters in the famine district, at Tientsin.

Nearly everything in connection with the appeal—the headboards, flags, signs, placards, and souvenirs were contributed.

Jack Childs, Wisconsin's man, is the secretary of the Pekin committee, collecting funds from the Chinese themselves.

MULTITUDE OF VARIED ACTIVITIES FILMED BY UNIVERSITY CAMERA

In one of the university's buildings where students now attend classes daily, hear lectures on political science, law, and journalism, and walk in and out in a habitual routine manner, was enacted one of the great scientific discoveries that meant millions of dollars to the world.

Romance in the heart of a commonplace building on the campus, that is passed daily by thousands of students, has been used for the theme of a motion picture made by M. E. Diemer, university photographic official. The film which was made several years ago is now distributed and shown over the world. The actors were the discoverers themselves.

The reproduction of the milk test discovered and donated to science by Dr. Stephen M. Babcock was the subject of the film itself. The building was South hall where all of the experiments were made. The actors were Dr. Babcock, Dr. W. A. Henry, former dean of the College of Agriculture, and Prof. Thomas C. Chamberlin, former president of the university, and now a professor at the University of Chicago.

"The Babcock-Henry film which we took some years ago is now distributed all over the country and the world," declared Mr. Diemer yesterday in his photographic shop in the Old Soils building near Agricultural hall. "One of the unusual features of this university-made film was that all its actors were the same men who conducted the final experiment in 1890."

The completion of the film was made and then taken to the photographic shop. This laboratory which has the most well equipped apparatus in the Middle-West occupies the entire top floor of the Old Soils building. The "Military Ball," and "Rush Day" movies were given the final touches here.

Photographic work is done of all kinds. A lady may call up and want a portrait taken of her in her wedding gown. The College of Agriculture may ask for some lantern slides, colored prints, or pictures and movies of live stock. The library officials may want a photograph of some rare documents.

Even microscopic pictures of plants and views of anatomical specimens are taken.

All the photographic work of the university as well as other special work for private individuals is done in this busy section. The motion pictures have been made for the most part for the College of Agriculture. In this respect the university has perhaps more films of this kind in circulation than any other in the country.

"The Value of Milk" was the subject of one film which has had a wide distribution. Over 70 copies of this one university-made picture are in use today in this country and in Europe and Canada. A new edition of this film will be made this summer.

The Wisconsin Good Roads association engaged Mr. Diemer recently to make a motion picture and photographic survey of the landscape and roads in Wisconsin. Pictures were made of the Dells, lakes in the northern part of the state, the beautiful scenery along the Mississippi river, and other unusual spots of natural beauty. Pictures of the natural bridge in Sauk county were taken.

During vacation last summer, the official made a trip with his wife and a party of friends to Alaska where special pictures of the scenic wonders were made for the Canadian Pacific railroad.

Movies of university events whether the re-enactment of the Babcock milk test by its original conductors or the Homecoming football game, they are all made in the university photographic shop. Three assistants aid the official. Until recently he has been connected only with the Forest Products laboratory and was doing the university work as a side line.

Two automobiles were damaged Monday night when a street car crashed into the rear of a Case touring car owned by B. B. Clarke, at State, Henry and Johnson sts.
