GREEK DANCERS ARE PRESENTED BY UNION BOARD

Vassos Kanellos Will Appear at Fuller Next Monday

Vassos Kanellos, premier danseur of the Royal theater, Athens, and Charlotte Markham Kannellou, premier danseuse mimique of the Grecian Ballet, have been secured by Union board to give a performance at the Fuller theater, Monday evening, December 6.

Mr. Kanellos, who was born in Athens, is a graduate of the Classical Academy of Athens. He is recognized abroad as one of the greatest European dancers, and he has received excellent comment by New York critics on his work done there.

Miss Kannellou is well known for her decorative painting and color in stage design. All the scenery and costumes of the production were designed by her.

The artists will be assisted by university women chosen from Miss Margaret H'Doubler's pupils in classical dancing and will be under the personal direction of Mr. Kanellos.

WINS MOVIE PLOT CONTEST

E. MANN HARTLETT

E. Mann "Al" Hartlett, '22, has been announced as the winner of the Varsity Movie plot contest, and his story, "Shanghaied", will be used as the basis for the student movie production.

The story tells of a wealthy southern boy whose riches have always been a handicap to the development of his character and who finds himself forced to earn his own way through school. How he makes good at the University of Wisconsin and escapes from a superfluous fiancee is told in a series of complicated situations.

The production staff has made arrangements with Paul E. Gangelin, '23, to use, as a prologue for the film the introduction to the scenario which he submitted.

PURDUE WINS IN STOCK JUDGING

Wisconsin Team Takes Fourteenth Place in Contest

(Special to the Cardinal)

The Purdue university stock judging team won first place in the intercollegiate stock judging contest held at the international exhibit of national famed animals yesterday at Union Stockyards, Ill. Ill.

The Wisconsin team, composed of Arthur M. Carmody, '22; James Ballantine, '21; George O. Toepper, '21; George H. Clapp, '21; and Phillip W. Gates, '21, placed fourteenth. Wisconsin placed fourth on sheep, ninth on swine, tenth on cattle, and nineteenth on horses. Carmody was high man of the team and was eleventh out of 105 contestants.

The various teams placed in the following order: Purdue, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Ohio, Colorado, Pennsylvania, Texas, Oklahoma, MacDonald, Saskatchewan, Ont., Missouri, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Kentucky, South Dakota, Syracuse, Massachusetts, New Mexico.

The stock show is larger than ever this year. Every state in the Union is represented and there is an excellent exhibition from Canada. Wisconsin is well represented with cattle, sheep and swine, and Wisconsin exhibitors expect to win many blue ribbons.

JONES POSTPONES FOOTBALL FINALS

The inter-college football finals between the medics and the engineers, which were to have been played off on Tuesday, November 30, have been postponed by Coach Jones until next spring, owing to the bad condition of the field, and the closing of Camp Randall. The winner will have the edge on the Nelson trophy.

MADISON MEN GIVE TO UNION

Silent Drive Among Business Men Nets

$10,000

More than $10,000 in subscriptions for the Memoria! Union building has been given within the past 15 days by Madison business men and institutions.

A silent drive by a committee of 18 business men of the city was launched unannounced about two weeks ago. Although but 40 people have been canvassed, the sum of $10,000 has been already subscribed. This will be still further augmented as the drive continues.

Support from leading citizens and every county in the state will be soon asked by the Memorial Union building committee, states H. L. Ashworth, secretary. A systematic drive which was opened last year by members of the alumni in Milwaukee netted $50,000 in three days. Similar drives to be conducted in a quiet, business-like method will be started in leading cities of the state. It is the intention of the committee to put each drive across separately with the co-operation and aid of alumni and business men.

"With practically no expense, the committee has been able with the loyal support of Wisconsin students and alumni to raise $280,000 in one year," Mr. Ashworth states. "The remaining amount of the $1,000,000 needed will be raised, I hope, within the next year or so."

Students at the university raised $90,000 of the amount already subscribed. This sum, which was divided into annual payments, is rap-

Mythical Eleven Includes Weston, Bunge, and Scott

At the close of one of the greatest football seasons in western conference football which has been characterized by many hard-fought, close contests, and many eleventh hour victories, it is impossible to select honorary elevens without meeting a storm of protest from nearly every conference school. One of the outstanding features of conference elevens this season has been the comparative uniformity among the players and there really is no "miracle man" in the whole conference.

The representative backfield must be composed of men who as a unit would satisfy every requirement of modern football. There are many brilliant open field runners in the conference, but unfortunately many of these stars lack ability in their defensive play, which eliminates them from the honorary backfield. There must be a punter, a line plunger, an openfield runner, a forward passer and a drop kicker in the backfield. To attain a combination possessing these essential qualities, it is often necessary to drop the name of some brilliant player who has ability in only one thing.

Abundance of Linemen

A strong line is the most important part of a football team. In this department the conference offers a wealth of material to select an honorary eleven from this year, since most of the crucial struggles were determined really between the two forward walls, and there were some powerful linemen developed. It is essential that a lineman possess the rare combination of weight, speed, and aggressiveness if he is to hold his own in the western conference. The tackles hold about the most important positions on the entire team, and men in these places must be fighters who can smash through and topple plays as the ends drive them in.

Big, cumbersome, cool-headed men make the best guards and enough glory is not given to these silent players whose mighty efforts make a team successful. The guard must possess a "nose for the ball" and he is right in the thick of the fight from start to finish.

The center must be an especially aggressive player in conference football. He must be of a roving nature, a man who can shift to the dangerous position quickly. Not a small part of the center's game is to be an accurate passer so that the backfield men will have confidence in this ability to place the ball.

The importance of the ends can-

Intercollegiate Press Association Meets at Milwaukee This Week

Representatives from the Daily Cardinal, the Badger, the Wisconsin Literary magazine, the Octopus, the Wisconsin Engineer, and the Commerce and Country magazines will be present at the second annual convention of the Intercollegiate Press association which is to be held in Milwaukee December 3, 4, and 5.

At the convention last year the association extended membership to any publication of a school recognized by the association, but an attempt will be made this year to limit membership to publications which are represented at the coming convention. This will serve the double purpose of bringing out delegates from important publications and eliminating those from less significant schools. Publications from the following colleges will be represented at the convention: the University of Wisconsin, Marquette University and Milwaukee-Downer, Ripon, Carroll, Beloit, Lawrence, Campion, St. Mary's, St. Clara's, and Northland colleges.

The program of the convention will include conferences with the editors, business managers, and advertising managers of Milwaukee newspapers.

The delegates will be guests at a banquet and theater party given by Marquette and Milwaukee-Downer who have charge of entertaining the delegates.

WILL NOT ACCEPT
SENIOR SUMMARIES
AFTER WEDNESDAY

"Wednesday is the last and big day for the senior summaries," according to Margaret Chambers, '21, who is in charge of the senior section of the Badger. "All summaries must be in on or before Wednesday or they will not be accepted. If you haven't a summary card, stop at the Badger office and write it and pay your $1.50 there. The office will be open from 3 to 6 p. m. both today and Wednesday."

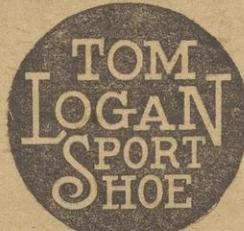

The summaries have been coming in well, Miss Chambers says, but many more pictures than summaries have been turned in. As no pictures are to be used without summaries, it is necessary for those whose pictures are in to see that their summaries also get to the Badger office on time.

Those who do not wish to have their activities on their summaries may omit them, but certain essentials such as name and home address are necessary to go with the pictures.

A fee of $1.50 must accompany the summary to pay for the cuts, engraving, and other expenses of the section. Ten people are at present working on this section, and the work cannot be held up.

University Post Will Elect Officers and Determine Policy

Election of officers and a discussion to determine the policy of the university post of the American Legion will be the important events on the calendar of the regular meeting to be held Thursday, at 7:30 p. m. in Music hall. All men who are entitled to membership will be allowed to come and vote.

Live topics of general interest and of particular interest to legion men will be discussed. George Chandler, '17, who has been present at the trial of the state adjutant will give a report. Robert Mailer, '22, will report on the financial and membership status of the association, and there will also be a report of the committee in charge of the distribution of the Legion Weekly. Explanation of the failure to receive back numbers of the publication will be received.

QUICK TIME MADE IN AGILITY TESTS

Less than 18 seconds was the time required by one co-ed to perform the agility test which consisted in jumping over a rope, climbing a ladder, and running under a horse in the smallest time possible. The average time required was 25 seconds.

The agility test, together with a co-ordination test consisting of walking a beam in good form, made up an efficiency test which was required of all freshmen girls this week for the purpose of qualifying them in the honor, intermediate, or novice class in the gymnasium work for the fall term.

This system is being tried for the first time this year and much interest is evinced by woman students in the results which will show up at the end of the year.

THE PROPOSED DORMITORIES

THE recent announcement that the coming legislature will consider the building of university dormitories is greeted by many of us as the awakening of the state to one of the greatest needs of the university. The years of constant agitation that this need brought forth has apparently brought the legislators to a recognition of the conditions.

The contemplated dormitory program, however, is inadequate. The proposed scheme calls for two dormitories—one which will house 150 women, and one which will house 150 men. Neither phase of the plan goes far enough to answer the needs of the university students.

The situation in regard to dormitories for women is more favorable than that in regard to men's dormitories. Bernard hall, Chadbourne hall, and the proposed building would go far, though not far enough, to meet the dormitory needs of the co-eds.

The situation in regard to men's dormitories is far less favorable than that in regard to men's dormitories. Barnard university as there are women. Yet to meet the needs of this large number of men, a dormitory which will accommodate 150 persons is proposed. In a university that has over 4,000 male students, dormitory accommodations for 150 of this number is but a drop in the bucket.

The proposed building plan for dormitories should be enlarged if a truly effective solution for the problems in the students' social life is to be had. As a result of the state's failure to provide a satisfactory solution for these problems, they have grown to their present enormity. Conditions have attained a status in which the dance hall and the pool hall are the only social agencies offered the students. Social advantages arising from friendships and associations with other students are practically unknown to too many of our students. School spirit has sunk low, because no provision has been made to foster it.

If the social needs of the university students are to be met; if the dance hall and the pool hall are not to remain the chief agencies in the student's life; if the students are to reap the benefit of mutual intercourse; if the university aims to develop men who know men, and who know how to deal with men; if the Wisconsin spirit is to mean all that it should mean; then the legislature must do more than pass the proposed measure for small dormitories. The plan must be enlarged so that its effect will be truly felt.

Let us still hope that the next legislature will see fit to give us sufficient dormitories to reconstruct the students' social life.

THE ADS

As a rule we are encouraged to read the ads because of the important part they play in making a publication a financial success. Such an exhortation is indeed proper if we have any interest in a particular publication.

There are also other reasons for reading the advertisements. In the present day papers and periodicals, the ads are one of the most instructive features.

Advertising forms an important link between the public and the producing world. New products, new inventions, and new processes are constantly being brought to the reader's attention through the medium of advertising. Explanations of commercial policy and bits of industrial history are also presented. Through the ads, we are connected to the vital, wide awake industry of the country.

Moreover, advertising is one of the most practical applications of psychology. Advertisements represent the effective presentation of ideas. Advertising is one of the successful ways of persuading people to act in the desired way.

The ads should appeal to the reader. They are instructional. They are beneficial.

WAXED FLOORS VS. BASKETBALL

Editor Daily Cardinal:

On the nineteenth of November, the annual military hop was held. About 300 couples were there, engaged in the pleasures of the dance, —happy, carefree, and thoughtless.

A few days ago, Coach Meanwell openly announced that due to the waxed floor, his players were unable to make short stops, this resulting in the injuries of Fanning and Taylor, in short, putting to naught the endeavors of the coach for the last two months.

The armory with its military setting is without doubt the proper place to hold a dance of this kind; but the fact that the armory is used for basketball, a major sport that is backed by the entire school, surely necessitates a change of place for one of the two amusements. Basketball, representing the whole school, should hereafter hold preference, and the military hop should be held at Lathrop, or in the armory at such a time when waxing the floor will not be a menace to the basketball players.

WHITNEY RUSSELL FUND IS INCREASED

The Whitney Russell Loan fund, one of the two student loan funds now established with the university Y. M. C. A., was raised to an even five hundred dollars by the additional gift of fifty dollars by the mother of Whitney Russell, who started the fund several years ago when he died while a student here. The increase to the memorial fund was made last Saturday, Nov. 27, the birthday anniversary of Whitney Russell.

The purpose of the fund is to enable students who are temporarily short of funds to continue their work for a period of time without the payment of interest or the necessity of dropping studies in order to support themselves. The individual loans are limited to $10 and are for 30 days only. These restrictions are to prevent a monopoly of the fund by a few persons. At the present time the fund books show that a total of 1063 transactions have been made, and the fund is being constantly called on.

The freshman debating team won a unanimous decision over their sophomore opponents in a debate held last night at Ag hall under the auspices of Agric Triangle. The freshmen were upholding the negative side of the question, "Resolved: that the Nonpartisan League is a Menace to the Farmers of Wisconsin." The winners were George Greger, Christian Conrad, and Harry Clements. The sophomore team consisted of Bert Langen, Carl Rogers and Thomas Dartnell.

CARDINAL PICKS ALL-STAR TEAM

not be over-estimated. An end must be a fearless tackler, and he must always be able to turn the play in. Some strong ends who could even sift through the interference and nail the runner have been developed in the conference produces more great ends than any said that the western conference and Walter Camp has truthfully other part of the country.

Weston and Carney

The end positions on the first honorary eleven are the easiest berths to select and there is practically a unanimity of opinion on Weston and Carney. The great Badger was out of several games but it is recognized that he knows more about the end game than any other wing man in the conference. Carney is a powerful defensive player while his uncanny ability to grab passes entitles him to a place on any honorary team. Belding of Iowa, Cappon of Michigan, Hellstrom of Illinois, and Myers of Ohio State are other able conference ends.

The tackle positions on the first team go to Slater of Iowa and to Scott of Wisconsin, with McGuire of Chicago, Goetz of Michigan, Wiedman of Michigan and Stark of Wisconsin as close followers. The big Iowa colored man is a powerful tackle, while to keep Scott off a conference team would be nothing short of a joke to Badgers who have seen him outplay every opponent whom he has met this season.

Huffman of Ohio State and Hartong of Chicago are chosen for the guard positions on the mythical eleven because the playing of this powerful pair of linesmen has been a big factor in the strength of their respective teams. Penfield of Northwestern, Brader of Wisconsin, Taylor of Ohio State and McCaw of Indiana are all powerful guards who have attracted a great deal of attention.

The center selection is a choice between the great Depler of Illinois and Bunge of Wisconsin, although when the two met at Camp Randall three weeks ago, the Badger had a slight shade over his heavier opponent. On the strength of this showing, Bunge is given the job. Both men were vital cogs in the two great machines in which they worked and there is really little to choose between them. Nemecek of Ohio State is also a great pivot man.

Backfield Hard to Pick

A representative backfield from the many conference stars will be hard to select. The fullback job is the only easy position to fill, since this place narrows down to Crangle of Illinois and Sundt of Wisconsin. Although the latter has an advantage over the Sucker in that he is a great punter, Crangle's terrific line plunging makes him a hard man to stop, and he is therefore placed upon the first team. In backing up the line these two great players are about equal and as in the case of the centers there is little to choose between them. Williams of Indiana is really a half-back but his line-plunging ability entitles him to a position as fullback on an honorary eleven.

Stinchcomb of Ohio State and Steketee of Michigan were undoubtedly the most important halfbacks to their teams of any backs in the conference. The latter is a great punter and would take care of this department. Williams of Wisconsin is probably an equal of either of these two backfield men and only because both of them have had greater experience do they get preference over the Badger star. Injuries prevented Arnold Oss of Minnesota from winning greater fame. Elliott of Wisconsin and Walquist of Illinois are backfield men of rare ability.

Three men, Workman of Ohio, Aubrey Devine of Iowa, and Allan Davey of Wisconsin are being considered for the quarterback job. The Iowa star is placed upon the first team because it is conceded that his great performance during the season meant more to the Hawkeyes than Workman's work did for Ohio State. Although Davey was out of many games, surely a player who can win two games, giving an undisputed claim of second place to Wisconsin by his kicking toe, must be given mention. In addition, the Badger midget is a good open field runner and one of the surest tacklers in the conference. Because of his work in the Minnesota and Chicago games he is placed upon the mythical team.

The first eleven would not be lacking in any department. The line is composed of rugged fighters who would be a formidable wall. The ends need no mention, they would hold their own with any pair of forwards in the country. The backfield has a powerful plunger, two fast halfbacks, and a speedy quarter. Steketee can outpace nearly any kicker in the conference, while Devine is a clever forward passer. With a month's practice it would be interesting to see what such a powerful machine would do against Walter Camp's all-eastern selection.

AT THE ORPHEUM

"Oh, You Women", a satirical farce, heads a mediocre bill at the Orpheum for the first half of the week. Although there are some funny lines in the sketch, the act relies on exaggerated interpretation for humor.

Martha Hamilton, a striking woman, plays the part of an aspiring woman who gambles away her husband's income and gets her furniture and clothes on the installment plan but who neglects to pay the installments. How the installment collector pesters her et cetera and how her husband discovers her, produces many laughs.

Buddy Walton has personality as well as looks and does the Nan Halperin stuff in a manner that gets across strong.

With the same cycle of songs that won him much praise last year, Count Peronne is back with his Italian classics and popular ballads. Trix Oliver, who is an accompanist of merit, assists him.

Offering chatter and nothingness, Moss and Frye, two colored comedians, have an act that is popular. Both men have good voices.

"Time and Title" is the head under which the first act is billed. It is made up of daring bicycle feats.

Arco Brothers with an elaborate setting appear last. They do difficult athletic stunts.

AT THE FULLER

No woman ever went into politics for a more peculiar reason than that which impelled Barbara Marvin to pick a candidate for the State Assembly. Apparently, too, there never was so strange a selection made for political office.

The story is told in "Bab's Candidate", a sprightly comedy visualized by Vitagraph, which will be shown at the Fuller theatre today with Corinne Griffith in the role of Barbara.

There was method in Bab's seeming madness. She had her own good reasons for wishing to insure the defeat of the man she loved and intended to marry. Her choice of a candidate seemed utterly preposterous, but Bab knew what she was doing in this, and she conducted an ingenious and successful campaign.

DOLPHINS WILL GIVE EXHIBIT NEXT WEEK

A swimming exhibition that will overshadow any previous one given by the Dolphin club is promised by Elizabeth Waterman, '21, head of stunts for the program which the club will put on Dec. 9, at 7:30 p.m.

Fancy diving, exhibition strokes, and various kinds of swimming, are among the events planned. There will also be new feature stunts and a repetition of some of the stunts put on last year.

The exhibition is open to all women and to any men who are invited.

At The Theaters

The latest Realart picture featuring Wanda Hawley in "Food for Scandal", supported by Harrison Ford is showing at the Strand Theatre for the last time today.

It is said that this new play is entirely different from "Miss Hobbs." Realart arranged this with premeditation in order to demonstrate Miss Hawley's versatility. The actress appears as Sylvia Figueroa, a girl of a proud old California family whose depleted finances cause her to become "Maybelle Flowers," the "Kissing Girl" of the "Vanities." And, of course, no end of fun commences when into the plot are stirred one poor lawyer-lover, several stage door "Johnnies," a wedded pair who do and don't want a divorce, and an Italian count with pronounced amatory intentions. The transition from daughter of a famous old Spanish-California rancher to show-girl gives the star splendid opportunity.

Special interest attaches to "Food for Scandal" because the scenes at the "Dane-Figueroa" ranch of the story were taken at no less famous a shrine than Ramona's Home at San Diego, California.

"Food for Scandal" was adapted from "Beverly's Balance," by Edith Kennedy.

There will also be shown a comedy cartoon, the latest news weekly and Luke DeLukes Film-osophy.

NEW STUDENT DIRECTORY HAS IT ALL OVER THE FARMERS' ALMANAC

By Alice B. Munro

The new student directory just out has it all over the old Farmers' almanac we all were brought up on, in the way of instructive and interesting contents, if one just reads it intelligently.

Like all almanacs, this one has a Goodyear, of which six Weeks, three Days, and four Knights are mentioned especially.

The Weather is fully covered. Winter, especially, is well represented, with one Hoar, two Frosts, three Snows, and two Freezes. But Spring and Sommer are not neglected—we feel quite a Warmth when we see the telephone numbers and addresses of two Suns, Showers, Rein, and Drought.

Undue publicity seems to have been given to one fraternity. Adelt is the only fraternity man mentioned. But there are a couple of other fellows to help him hold his own against Barnard and Chadbourn, who are listed quite near together.

Prohibition does not seem to have reached the directory yet, although even there the demand exceeds the supply. There is only one Beer for seven Steins, and one Glass is occupied by the one Sherry, no doubt, although there are Waters too, for the two Bryans in our midst. It was probably one of these who asked the foolish question "Whybrew?"

Wisconsin is just overflowing with politicians—all ticketed and labelled. Among the famous Republicans are Harding, Hughes, Taft, and La Follette, while the Democrats claim several Wilsons, Cox, Bryan, House, Hoover, and Daniels. Henry Ford and Lloyd George are also among our fellow students.

Other literary lights and world-famous names we may meet some day at a mixer are Dickens, Bennett, Scott, Burns, Caesar, Robert Illinois is represented in the enrollment by 27 men, the largest representation of any outside state.

Badger Farmer is Killed While Hunting

MARINETTE, Wis.—John Smester, 60, a farmer, old resident of Amberg, was accidentally shot and killed by R. B. Ballew, another farmer near Beecher Lake, yesterday as the men were leaving the Ballew home on a hunting trip. The bullet struck him in the groin and he died shortly after.

TICKETS OUT FOR Y. W. C. A. BAZAAR

Plans for the Bazaar of the Four Seasons, which is to be given by the university Y. W. C. A. December 12, are progressing rapidly, according to Dorothy Dwight, general chairman. The ticket committee, which is headed by Cleo Parsley, has had 3000 tickets printed but expects to dispose of them in a short time, and have more printed.

Tickets were issued to the sororities and fraternities for sale yesterday and those left will be recalled Thursday, December 2. Open sale on the hill will begin Monday, Dec. 6, and will continue until the day of the bazaar.

The plans so far include a program by the Men's Glee club, dances by members of Miss Margaret H'Doubler's dancing classes, and a joint production by Red Domino and Twelfth Night dramatic clubs. "Nevertheless," by Stuart Walker is the play that has been chosen and Rachel Hauck, a member of Twelfth Night, will coach the production. Eleanor Steele and Mable Winter have made a canvass of the stores of Madison and have received a large number of gifts from the merchants.

ICE HOCKEY CLUB

There will be a meeting of the U. W. Ice Hockey Club on Tuesday night, November 30, at 7:15 p. m., in the cabinet room of the Y. M. C. A. All members are urged to be present, since plans for the coming season and other important matters will be discussed. All men interested in hockey are invited to attend this meeting.

LITTLE SICKNESS AMONG STUDENTS SO FAR THIS YEAR

Clinic Issues 100 to 150 Excuses to Students Every Day

"Serious illness has been much rarer than usual among the students so far this year", said Dr. Robert Van Valzah of the university clinic yesterday. "By far the commonest cause of illness among the young adult students is the group of upper respiratory diseases, including colds, grippe, and tonsilitis. Close contact in crowded rooming houses, class rooms, dance-halls, and theatres, and exposure due to insufficient clothing, are the conditions which bring on a large number of cases.

"It is impossible to predict whether or not there will be another influenza epidemic this winter", said Dr. Van Valzah. "According to the history of great epidemics in former years, it is to be expected that if influenza does recur, it will be in an increasingly lighter form each year."

There are from 100 to 150 excuses issued daily at the university clinic, which indicates that approximately from one to two per cent of the 7000 students are absent from classes every day on account of illness, in spite of the fact that the general health is unusually good this year.

Statistics recently collected at Harvard indicated that the average time off on account of illness is less for the college student than for the soldier or the industrial worker.

The figures for the army and navy in peace time run about nine days a person a year. Industries usually expect similar figures.

GYM FLOOR MAY BE USED FOR PRACTICE

With the beginning of interfraternity basketball there comes an increased desire for the use of the gymnasium floor for practice purposes. To simplify matters, the Athletic department will issue each Tuesday morning in The Cardinal a list of open dates when the main floor will be open to any outsiders for practice.

This week the varsity basketball squad will have full use of the gymnasium during the following times: every afternoon from 4 to 6; Saturday afternoon from 2 to 6; and Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights. This leaves the following hours open: every afternoon from 1:30 to 2:30 o'clock and from 3:15 to 4; and Thursday and Friday nights from 7 o'clock on.

Fraternity teams and any others desiring practice should take advantage of these open periods. There will be another list published in The Cardinal next Tuesday morning.
