TO OFFER 400 COURSES HERE THIS SUMMER

Expect Increased Enrollment;
21 Outsiders Will Give Courses

REGISTRATION JUNE 24

More than 400 courses, an increase over the number offered last year, will be given in the 1922 summer session which opens June 26 and closes August 4. Courses in the Law school last ten weeks, from June 19 to August 25.

Registration this year will be held on Saturday, June 24, and classes will begin the following Monday. Formerly, registration has been held on Monday with classes beginning the next day.

Issue Course Booklet

A summer session booklet which gives all the activities and the courses offered is now available and can be had upon application at the registrar's office. All persons whether teachers, students, or others are eligible for attendance at the university during the summer session. Many courses can also be taken under the auditing system.

Twenty-one lecturers from other schools, and public departments of education are to give courses at the university. The department of education has eight of these outside lecturers.

Last year's summer session attendance was 4,547. According to information from Dean S. H. Goodnight's office, the registration this summer will equal, if not surpass, the 1921 registration.

Charles J. Galpin, who has charge of rural sociology in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., will lecture in rural sociology. One of the many outside lecturers on education will be S. M. Kohs, the psychologist from the Court of Domestic Relations, Portland, Ore.

To Maintain Tent Colony
One of the features of the summer session will be the summer tenting colony which is maintained by the university on the lake shore near historic Black Hawk's cave. The colony is open only to students who are here with their families. Well water and all camping conveniences are on the grounds, which are but a short walk from the campus.

Red Gauntlet, sophomore women's organization, will hold its annual spring banquet Friday, May 19 at 5:45 in the Lathrop parlors.

"This is the last time that the sophomore women will get together as sophomores, and we are anxious to end the year well, and to have a strong beginning for our junior career," said Mabel Jobse '24, president of the society, yesterday.

Short talks will be given by Dean Williamson, Lois Jacobs '24, Lila Ekern '24, and Jeanette Kennan '24. The sophomore song for the Senior Swing-out, which Arlene Klug '24 has written, will be practiced.

Mabel Jose has announced the following committees for the banquet: Louise Beele '24, tickets; Frances Wright '24, general arrangements; and Margaret Callesen '24 and Frances Warren '24, publicity.

Tickets can be obtained from any sorority house, from Frances Wright or Louise Beebe at Chabourne, and in Main hall Thursday or Friday.

100 WILL RIDE IN HORSE SHOW NEXT SATURDAY

Change Time to 3:30; Artillery Mounts to Perform

The Horse show to be held under the auspices of the military department next Saturday afternoon on the lower campus will begin at 3:30 instead of 2:30 as was announced.

The program in which 100 entrants will take part will include exhibitions not only by the sixteen artillery mounts which form the nucleus of the show, but also a number of non-military entrants. Among the latter is one horse that won a first prize at the International Horse show held at Chicago this year.

Sororities and rooming houses and various university classes of the Black Hawk Riding academy are entering riders for the mounts. Several Madison people are entering their horses in the events of the owners' class.

The order of events for the afternoon is as follows:

1. Black Hawk	3:30-3:45
2. Chargers	3:45-4:00
3. Five Gaited	4:00-4:20
4. Rescue Race	4:20-4:25
5. Ladies' Three Gaited	4:25-4:45
6. Broad Swords	4:45-4:50
7. Four Foot Jumps	4:50-5:05
8. Pony Race	5:05-5:15
9. Mounted Wrestling	5:15-

Band to Play For Venetian Spectacle

Music for the Venetian Night carnival, May 27, will be furnished by the first university band. The pier behind the university boat house will be cleared, and seats for the band erected, where the players will entertain the spectators during the early part of the evening.

Later, orchestras on all piers will play before judges in competition for the cup that will be awarded the best combination. Fraternities owning piers are providing their own orchestras. A continual and varied round of music will be given during the entire evening.

Press Club Elects 11 to Membership

Eleven students were elected to Press club at its final meeting held last evening in Lathrop cafeteria. With this meeting Press club ended its activity for the year. Officers for next year will be elected at the first meeting of the club next fall.

Usher Friday's Sunset Out with Soft Melody

Just as the sun sets behind the black firs at the back of the stage in the open air theatre next Friday evening, the soft harmony of such old serenades as "Pale in the Amber West," and "Venetian Love Song," sung by the quartet of the Men's Glee club, will float up over the hill behind Bascom hall.

Special numbers are being prepared for the occasion. Hoffman's "Barcarolle" has been arranged for a quartette offering. Each member of the quartet will sing a solo.

Because the darkness falls so soon, the "Sunset Serenade" will be a little less than an hour long. It will begin at 8 o'clock. Tickets are 25 cents.

Power and Range Shown in Recital Of Carl Fischer

Carl Fischer, Vienna tenor, and formerly a resident of Madison, who sang before an enthusiastic group last evening at the Madison high school, presented a program which was admirably chosen to display the power, training, and range of which he is master. He did not make the mistake so common to artists on tour of "singing down to" his audience.

The program rose to a steady climax, culminating in the last group of arias from the three operas, "La Tosca" and "Lo Boheme" by G. Puccini and "Aida" by G. Verdi. The familiar "Che Gueida Manina" from "Lo Boheme" was sung with dramatic polish and enunciation. The poor acoustics of the auditorium detracted somewhat from the effect of the heavier pieces.

The chief power of Mr. Fischer was displayed in his interpretation of the contrasting passages of many of the numbers. Schubert's "My Sweet Repose" showed excellent tonal variety.

"Lullaby from the Opera Jocelyn" by Godard, with its climactic movement, from tenderness to passionate yearning illustrated the emotional depth of Mr. Fischer's art.

Though not popular in the light sense, the recital included a large number of familiar favorites such as: "Murmuring Breeze" by A. Jensen, "Goodbye" by Tosti, and "A May Morning" by Denza.

Miss Margaret Otterson, accompanist, showed a fine appreciation of the moods of the tenor, especially in the difficult accompaniment of Mozart's "O Wonderous Beauty." Mr. Fischer slightly marred his performance by the constant use of the scores.

Blaine Names Third Woman to Regents

Gov. John J. Blaine's appointment last week of Miss Leola M. Hirschman, of Milwaukee, to membership on the Board of Regents, gives the board at the present time three women members.

This is the first time for some years that there have been three women on the board. The others are Mrs. Florence Buckstaff, Oshkosh, and Miss Elizabeth Waters, Fond du Lac.

Miss Hirschman was appointed for the term which expires in 1928 and succeeds Theodore M. Hammond, of Wauwatosa, who has been a member of the board since 1911, and who served as president in 1917-18.

Octy "Passes Out" In Last Sale Today

The Octopus passes out of the present school year today when the "Passing Out" number of the magazine goes on sale at all university buildings and drug stores.

Bobbed hair, midnight serenades, Picnic Point, more bobbed hair, spring formals, moonlight, and "passers out" in general are featured between the covers of the May issue.

CESTRE SPEAKS TODAY

Prof. Charles Cestre of the French department is to speak on the "French Ideal of Peace," at 4:30 in Bascom hall.

The advertising staff of The Daily Cardinal will meet in the business office of the Union building at 12:45 today.

BOARD TO LAY PLANS TONIGHT FOR CAP NIGHT

Athletic Board Takes Charge of Celebration to Insure Orderliness

NO DEFINITE DATE SET

Complete arrangements and plans for the Annual Cap Night celebration, including the setting of a definite date, will be made at a meeting of the Athletic board at the Phi Kappa Sigma house tonight, following a dinner in honor of the newly elected members of the board. The Athletic board will have complete charge of the affair for the first time this year, taking it over at the request of the Student Senate.

Management Taken From Frosh

The necessity for some organized body of the university, which is in no way interested as a class, to have complete control of the celebration was decided upon after the unfortunate happening a year ago when several students were injured in a class fight, causing a storm of protest from citizens of the state against certain university traditions.

Heretofore, the freshman class has always taken charge of arrangements for Cap Night, handling the affair as they saw fit. To prevent a recurrence such as that which marked last year's celebration the Athletic board will make all arrangements, acting in the capacity of police, as they do at the annual rush in the fall. The rushes have always been conducted in an orderly manner because of the immediate supervision of the Athletic department, and it is thought that there will be less likelihood of trouble or any outburst of rowdiness on the part of spectators if the same plan is adopted for Cap Night.

Larsh To Act Tomorrow

Cap Night is the big day on the calendar for the frosh as they are formally admitted into membership as equals in the student body after they have burned the green caps, the symbol of their apprenticeship. It is not the intention to hinder the frosh in their jollification but simply to see that the affair does not become disorderly.

Two Plan Ninety Mile Canoe Trip To Rockford, Ill.

A ninety-mile canoe trip in two days is the novel expedition to be undertaken this weekend by two university students, Philip Lawson '22 and William Sovereign '24. The voyagers will navigate the four lake chain from Madison, and the Rock river to Rockford, Illinois.

The two men plan to leave the university boat house Thursday noon, reach Stoughton the first night, spend Friday night at Beloit, and complete the final twenty miles between Beloit and Rockford Saturday morning. They will be the first to make such a trip this season.

The canoe in which the journey is to be made is the property of Sovereign. A large pair of black and white dice are painted on each end, which are interpreted by its skipper in calm weather to be "Paradise," in rough water, as "Rollin' Bones."

At Rockford the two men will attend the annual May party given by Rockford college. The canoe will be left at the college and the return trip will be made by auto on Sunday.

Now if that funny old woman with the D. T.'s will park her quill, we'll tell you all about the Chi Omega weak-end party.

The entire chapter including Dinah spent the week-end in the psychopathic ward across the lake, and upon arriving home they purchased three new divans. The female of the species, etc. . . .

After purchasing the divans they had the crust to institute a mother-in-law's day. Six of so called mothers-in-law attended and rain prevented the other 92 from looking 'em over.

Gaze and pop a simple question,
"Is your noble dome intact?"
Wearily I orb their features,
And I envy not their teachers,
But to humor them I answer,

"May it please your shallow thinkers,

TEN MICHIGAN DORMS READY FOR NEXT FALL

Ten new dormitory buildings, each accommodating 100, are soon to be constructed at the University of Michigan. The first of the buildings, which will cost $100,000 each, will be ready for occupancy next fall, according to plans announced recently.

Construction of the new structures is in the hands of a dormitories corporation, which is being organized by Michigan alumni. Stocks will be issued.

The new student homes as planned will have proctors' quarters, dining halls, and individual rooms for students. The different phases of the work are in the hands of prominent Michigan alumni and men prominent in university affairs throughout the country.

SOCER INTRAMURAL IS PLAN FOR MINNESOTA

Socer may be made an intramural sport in the near future if plans now under advisement by the athletic department materialize. Both Mrs. Luehring and Fred Whittemore, intramural manager, have expressed themselves as being in favor of the installation of the sport at Minnesota.

UNIVERSITIES TO HAVE AEROPLANE CONTESTS

Cambridge and Oxford universities will have a new kind of contest this year in the form of airplane competition. The first inter-varsity flying match will be held at Hindon aerodrome, and will consist of several events.

Most Northern School To Open Next Year

"The northernmost" university in the world will open its doors next September at Fairbanks, Alaska. The Alaska Agricultural college and School of Mines will be within one hundred miles of the Arctic Circle, according to Charles E. Bunnell, former United States District Judge at Fairbanks, and president of the new institution, who is visiting colleges in the states for the purpose of obtaining a faculty and equipment.

The recently completed Alaskan railway from Seward to Fairbanks, a distance of 467 miles, has made possible the development of the interior of Alaska, bringing with it the need for the school. According to Judge Bunnell, the school will be as practical as possible in its work, attempting to solve the problems of the Alaskan miners and farmers. At the outset the college will offer courses in agriculture, general science, home economics, and mining. Special courses will be given to aid in the work of introducing modern methods of mining.

OREGON OPPOSES 6 DAY WEEK

In a popular vote taken at the University of Oregon, students almost unanimously opposed a proposed six-day week, to take effect next fall.

Board May Drop Arts Building Project

The board of education tonight will probably adopt the recommendation of the building committee that no further action be taken on the proposed construction of a manual arts building at the new east side high school, school officials declared today. It was said that the final estimate of the cost of the building was approximately $15,000 more than was at first estimated and that, in view of the need at the east side high school for an auditorium and a gymnasium, it would be advisable at this time to postpone the erection of the building.

Other matters to be taken up include a tentative division of districts to be served by the two high schools, and the appointment of a successor to Paul Graven, who will succeed A. W. Siemers as director of the Vocational school.

Trouble Marks Baker Labor Lockout Here

Claim Union Men Tried To Tie Up Janesville Worker

Labor war last night nearly resulted in violence when several of the union men who are locked out attempted, it is alleged, to tie up a strike-breaker from Janesville and take him back to that city. The presence of three patrolmen at the request of D. Trainor, owner of the Globe bakery where the men are working, put a stop to the fight.

Labor hall resents the importation of bakers from other towns. The police are watching the situation to prevent any violence. The outbreak occurred at 3:30 this morning. No other violence was reported.

The man who was alleged to have been a "scab" dashed out of the Globe bakery to his room across the street at Simon's hotel. Several union men out of work set after him, it was reported. The presence of Patrolman Clarence Bakken and two other officers prevented any attempts to get to the man.

The war between the master bakers and the laborers took a new twist today when it was reported at the Labor hall that several of the master bakers are willing to take back union bakers at the union scale if they would come back without a contract. The union men this afternoon said that under no conditions would they return to their work without receiving some guarantee that their wages would be as before. They demand a contract.

That Madison people are going to pay from 1 to 3 cents more for bread in the future was brought out today by Sam Piper of Piper Bros. and D. Trainor of the Globe bakery. They claim that flour and shortening have advanced 30 per cent in the last 90 days, and that it is only at a loss that they are running their shops. They say that they are the only city in the state that is selling at such a low price. Mr. Piper said that bread would in all probability advance from 1 to 3 cents a loaf, depending on the size.

New Fishing Rules Made For L. Wingra

Conservation Commission Announces Regulations For The Future

The conservation commission today announced new fish regulations for Lake Wingra to go into effect on June 20.

In the future, fishing for black bass through the ice will not be permitted. Another regulation is that there must be no fishing within 60 feet of the gates forming the outlet of the lake.

The conservation commission has also established a daily bag limit. The limit on sun fish, blue gills, crappies, silver bass and calico bass will be 30 for the daily bag limit or a mixed bag of 30 of the above fish.

Prof. Blanton To Conduct Clinic For Children

A clinic for children of all ages troubled with speech disorders will be conducted again this year by Dr. Smiley Blanton, associate professor of speech hygiene, at the university. The clinic, according to Dr. Blanton, undertakes to correct they are manifested through faulty speech such as stuttering. Instruction will also be given in mental hygiene.

"Speech," said Dr. Blanton, in an interview yesterday, "is a delicate thermometer on which is registered the intellectual as well as the emotional attainments of the child.

"If the child with a defect of speech is allowed to go uncorrected he has a great handicap to bear through life. Such children often appear unnatural, cannot converse normally, and feel a sense of inferiority in the presence of others."

"What does he look like?"

THAT'S the first question the general manager of a corporation, employing several college men annually, asks when his representative reports an interview.

It may seem a bit unusual, but a man's appearance often determines the position he gets.

Scholastic attainments, friendly recommendations all help—help a lot—but when organization wants a man to meet men, it wants brains PLUS personality.

Good clothes, carried with an air of confidence are the greatest ally of a "go-getter's" personality.

Mayor to War On Reckless Driving Here

Will Appoint Policemen In Each Ward Is Ultimatum

More information is being sought by Mayor I. Milo Kittleson in regard to a solution of the reckless driving on Madison streets. The mayor said this morning that a Milwaukee man stated to him that the penalty in Milwaukee for driving past a street car was $300.

"Special policemen will be appointed in each ward whose names will be withheld and whose duty will be to gather information in whichever way they may deem fit," the mayor stated.

"Reckless driving must cease. On the busy streets about the square we have permitted them to go past at such corners where there is a policeman to motion them on. We have been permitting them also to drive past a street car on the blind side without prosecution if this is done at such a rate of speed that the driver has absolute control of his car. Should say five miles an hour in passing any blind would be considered safe."

Advises Students to Watch Bank Accounts

"Students who are careless with their signatures and pass books should be more careful and watch their accounts" is the advice of B. R. L. Hommedieu, assistant cashier at the Branch Bank of Wisconsin, who declares that this is the only way to prevent the operation of forgers.

"A loss of nearly $1,000 a year on forged checks, besides the work of tracing the forger by the bank detectives, is realized by the merchants of Madison," he says. "Out of the 2,000 student accounts at the Bank of Wisconsin only a few students are business-like enough to standardize their signatures, spelling out the first name and giving the middle initial."

He stated that only a small percentage of the students kept correct records of their checks so as to know how much they had in the bank at any time.

Scouting Has Big Influence on Boys Here

Dr. Elsom Tells Lions Club of Benefits of Movement

"There is no movement for boys that is so educational as the Boy Scout movement," said Dr. J. C. Elsom in his talk to the Lions club at the Park hotel yesterday.

"To get back to the primitive things is the big need of the world today. Our civilization is too largely artificial. The Boy Scout movement has as its aim this very thing. It teaches the boy patriotism, healthy morals, and love and respect for his Creator."

Dr. Elsom has been the head of the Boy Scout movement in this city for a number of years and has been active promoting its growth.

Resolutions of welcome extended by the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs of this city were read by President R. L. Hopkins. Plans are being made to have a few delegates from this club attend the Lion's convention at Decatur this summer.

The constitution of the club will be drawn up and read at the next meeting. Music at the luncheon was furnished by E. E. Swinney, a club member.

TAKE THE TIME

HERE are no fragments so precious as those of time, and none are so heedlessly lost by people who cannot make a moment, and yet can waste years."

How applicable is that saying to the greater number of university students. How often we waste the moments that should be used advantageously. Yet how often one hears, and says, "I haven't the time." And we make ourselves believe it.

The university student can well take stock of himself. How much of his time is really spent in doing things that may be of profit? How much of it is spent at inconsequential pastimes?

While the opportunity is open for honest endeavor, it is up to everyone to accomplish the things that count. Time is not so long that it can be wasted, nor so short that some profitable thing cannot be done.

FINAL EXAMS

THAT final examinations are not the happiest means of ascertaining a student's fitness to pass a course is quite generally conceded. It is also easily understood that in the majority of courses, no better means has yet been devised.

There is a peculiar psychology which prevents some students from showing their best work when writing a final. There may be an element of fear or of self-consciousness that detracts from their usual competence. Or it may be that some students require a longer time than do others to set their brain working along the grooves of the particular subject in which the examination is given.

Another class of student exists who may be backward until the last few days, but, because he possesses a prodigious capacity for cramming, acquired in those last few days enough knowledge of the subject to permit him to pass a creditable examination. Incidentally he often receives a higher grade than does his more faithful but luckless neighbor.

Whatever the causes may be, the results are obvious. Examinations are not a just way of determining a student's grade.

In those general courses where certain salient points may form the bulwark of the study and in those courses which are based, not on memory, but on one's reasoning power, examinations may be the reasonable and only workable basis for grading.

But there are other subjects where the idea is to accumulate material, to acquire facts for future use, to establish statistics and data which may be an invaluable part of the future profession. In courses such as these examinations would seem to be entirely out of place.

The university requires that a final examination be given for each course and that rule, of course, is not to be derided. But it is pleasing to note that a few of the instructors in courses such as these are making the final examination, if, indeed, there is one given at all, a mere matter of routine, and that the stress is placed on the quality and quantity of daily work handed in during the semester.

To professors who have sensed in this way the vital spirit of what a course should mean and how work should be graded, is due the credit that is given a pioneer in any field. They are flying in the face of certain opposition, but they may have the satisfaction of some day seeing more of the curriculum placed on the same basis.

AMONG ALL-UNIVERSITY ACTIVITIES

WHEN an institution grows within a few years to almost elephantine proportions as the University of Wisconsin has, it necessarily comes about that the majority of the activities of such an institution reach only a small proportion of the whole. It is rarely that the student body as a whole is called upon to participate en masse in a movement or event, but when such a time comes, the event is worthy of support. Such affairs have been the annual Homecoming celebration, the Memorial Union campaign, the Freshman welcome, and a few others of a similar magnitude and importance.

This year the Athletic board of the university and 15 student committees are entering upon a most worth-while project of conducting the 28th Annual Interscholastic Track and Field meet to be held May 26 and 27, on a larger and broader basis. In doing so, the Athletic department and the committees are completing a great work in furthering the glory of Wisconsin, because no better advertisement of the university can be made to worth-while high school men throughout the state than through this gala week-end of athletic festivities and the Venetian Night spectacle.

Like any other body or group, however, the Athletic department cannot work alone. Here is an opportunity for every Wisconsin student to enter in an all-university activity with no trouble to himself but great reward for the school. If each student would write to some high school friend, or especially to his former teacher or principal, and urge him to have his school represented at the meet, not only by athletes, but by students who can come, the results would surprise the entire middle-west and would assure the success of the Interscholastic event for years to come.

Let's get out our stationery and spend a postage stamp or two for Wisconsin!

Spraying Will Avert
Big Apple Tree Loss

The loss of thousands of apple trees in southeastern Wisconsin over an area extending as far as Oshkosh is forecast by C. P. Norgord, commissioner of agriculture, unless the trees are sprayed as soon as the blossoms fall. This condition is brought about by the appearance of the canker worm. Mr. Norgord says spraying cannot safely be done until the blossoms have dropped but advises that steps be taken to check the pest immediately after. County agents have already made provision to have spraying apparatus ready to use in the orchards, while others have borrowed city spraying machines.

Benjamin G. Lamme

VISITORS at the Chicago World's Fair, in 1893, saw the first extensive use of alternating current ever undertaken, when Westinghouse lighted the entire grounds with this type of current. This achievement marked the beginning of the commercial development of alternating current for power purposes, and brought the induction motor into a prominence which it has never since relinquished. Great and rapid have been the developments since that day, but the most impressive aspect of this progress is not to be found in the spectacular evidences that are visible to everyone, but rather, in the vision and fundamental soundness and determination that have been quietly at work blazing and clearing the trails which the electrical art has followed.

There is, for instance, the synchronous converter. This machine is the most efficient and economical means for changing alternating to direct current, which the operation of most street railway systems and many other processes require. Without it, the development of alternating current to its present universal usefulness would have been tremendously retarded.

The synchronous converter, in its present perfection, is but one of the great contributions to electrical progress that have been made by Benjamin G. Lamme, Chief Engineer of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company. Mr. Lamme, in 1891 when he was Chief Designer, conceived and developed the converter, which, first used commercially in connection with the great Niagara power plan, has since come to be indispensable to large producers of power.

When a man has played so vital a part in electrical progress that his knowledge and vision have contributed to practically every forward engineering step, it is perhaps misleading to attempt to identify him particularly with any one development. His work on the induction motor, the turbo generator, the single-phase railway motor, and the synchronous converter is but typical of the constructive ability which Mr. Lamme has brought to bear on practically every phase of electrical development.

A man of foresight, visioning the alternatives in a problem as well as its hoped-for results. A man whose mind combines great power of analysis with the gift of imagination. A prolific technical writer, whose style is unequalled in clearness and simplicity of expression. Few engineers so thoroughly predetermine the results they actually achieve. Few men capitalize their experiences so completely. And few indeed have at once his thorough technical equipment, his commercial understanding, and his broad human interests.

An institution which has builded its success largely on engineering achievement pays Benjamin G. Lamme affectionate loyalty and respect. The young engineer on his first job, as well as the most seasoned co-worker, finds in him understanding, sympathy, wise counsel, and a conscience; to all of which his associates, in preparing this article, are proud to bear witness.

Steel Merger Formed; Heads Facing Quiz

U. S. Probe Fails To Halt Consolidation; Lay Plans Today

BULLETIN.

NEW YORK — Moses Taylor, chairman of the Lackawanna Steel Co. and E. G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corp., were summoned late today to appear before the Lockwood legislative committee Thursday for examination concerning the merger of the two concerns, ratified earlier in the day by their boards of directors.

NEW YORK — The Bethlehem-Lackawanna steel merger was ratified today by directors of both companies. Bethlehem will pay for the Lackawanna properties in 7 per cent preferred stock and Class B. common stock, giving an aggregate amount of the two classes equal at par value to the par value of Lackawanna's outstanding stock $35,108,500.

Forty per cent of the payment will be made in 7 per cent preferred and 70 per cent in class B. common, Bethlehem reserving the right to reduce the amount of preferred and increase the amount of class B. stock common paid by $1,543,000 par value upon payment of approximately $300,000 in cash. Bethlehem assumes all debts and obligations of Lackawanna.

Directors of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. and the Lackawanna Steel Co. were called into separate sessions to confirm the purchase of Lackawanna by Bethlehem, which will be arranged by a stock transaction, details of which were to be arranged probably late today. Except for a statement by Pres. E. G. Grace of Bethlehem when the merger was announced, that it involved no violation of the Sherman or Clayton acts, interested persons have made no comment on the action of the Federal Trade commission in requesting information before the deal was completed.

The commission's action was taken as a result of a resolution introduced in the senate by Sen. La Follette, who charged that the combination was in restraint of trade and was the result of a se-

Lack of Perspective And Variety Found In Chinese Drawings

A series of Chinese scroll paintings, which have been recently brought from China by C. G. Dittmer, of the Economics department, who formerly taught at the American Indemnity college in Pekin, are on exhibition in the State Historical museum this week.

"The Chinese have no idea of perspective. To tip the drawing at an angle is the only way to get the true proportion," Mr. Dittmer said yesterday.

"Chinese paintings are highly allegorical. Some incident or character from Chinese classical drama is usually depicted. Certain combinations appear invariably, such as a stork and a moon. This characteristic of combination is typical of Chinese work and is rarely absent," Mr. Dittmer added.

Conventionality in execution, the use of contrasting colors, and the prominence of birds are the chief characteristics of Chinese art. The paintings are usually made on web silk, and then pasted on a fine grade of paper. The scrolls are used for wall decorations in Chinese homes.

SECOND CREW ENTRAINS FOR CULVER MEET

Senior Crew to Meet Washington after 13 Years

The Junior Varsity eight will entrain tomorrow for Culver, Ind., where they will meet the crew of the Culver Military academy in a race on Lake Maxinkuckee, Saturday.

The Junior Varsity crew is composed the men who were selected from the four college crews which have been practicing all winter. Culver has a good crew, but in spite of this, Coach Vail is taking his junior oarsmen to the Hoosier state with the expectation of defeating the Military academy.

Varsity Races June 12

Another race has been scheduled for the first Varsity eight to be held June 12, with the University of Washington. The Badger crew has not met Washington since 1909, when they defeated the westerners. The first crew will meet the University of Manitoba May 27, and on the same date, the junior eight will meet St. John's Military academy. Both of these races will be held on lake Mendota.

The heaviest man in the boat is Benson, rowing No. 7, who weighs 179 pounds. Capt. Newcombe, No. 8, is the lightest man with the exception of Coxswain Kitchen. He tips the beam at 157 pounds.

Both Crews Heavy

The Senior Varsity crew averages 163 1-9 pounds. With Coxswain Hanley excepted, the men average 170 1-2. Personnel and the weights of the Varsity eight follow: Capt. G. O. Toepfer, No. 1, 158; C. N. Puestow, No. 2, 163; O. L. Jones, No. 3, 173; P. G. Okerstrom, No. 4, 169; R. J. Schuetz, No. 5, 170; E. H. Crozier, No. 6, 177; H. E. Johnson, No. 7, 178; F. C. Prehn, No. 8, 176; Coxswain E. V. Hanley, 104.

Gophers Make Golf Inter-college Sport

The Senate Committee in Inter-collegiate Athletics at the University of Minnesota recently voted to establish golf as an inter-collegiate sport on the same basis on which the hockey squad is now operated.

With the action of the Committee golf promises to become one of the most popular summer sports at the University. A large squad of candidates is expected to make their appearance for competition from which the Gopher team will be selected.

Already Director Luehring is making plans for the season. At present he is attempting to arrange for games which will in all probability be scheduled if suitable dates can be secured.

There are at present 30 men attempting to swing their way into fame on the Maroon and Gold squad. The team will be selected through an inter-squad tournament and all men who are contemplating going out for the sport should make their intentions known immediately. One qualifying round has already been played and additional tryouts are scheduled for the near future.

P. A. D.'s and Phi Sigs Win Tuesday's Tilts

P. A. D. and Phi Sigma Kappa were the winners in the baseball games of the interfraternity baseball series which were played yesterday.

The P. A. D.'s won their game by a 11 to 9 score, the entire contest being featured by heavy hitting. Park was on the mound for the winners, and Peterman did the hurling for the Alpha Chi Rhos.

Many errors by the losers gave Phi Sigma Kappa a 11 to 7 win from the Betas. Adols pitched for the winners, while McCoy was the losing pitcher.

An announcement was made yesterday that all games in the interfraternity league must be played by Saturday. The semi-finals are to begin Sunday, May 21.

PRESENTING—"Paddy" Paddock

Capt. Forrest Paddock

"Wisconsin pitching ace" is the title won by Capt. Forrest G. Paddock, premier Badger twirler who is leading his team to a high position in Big Ten conference standings.

For three years, the hurling of "Paddy" has been one of the outstanding features of baseball at Wisconsin. He entered as a sophomore from De Kalb, Ill., and was a member of the freshman nine in his first year at Madison.

His clever assortment of curves and hooks baffled the Varsity outfit, and while on the yearling nine, Paddock continually set the regulars down with one or two hits in practice games. He became the first moundsman on Coach Guy S. Lowman's club last season. After pitching consistent winning baseball throughout the entire season, he went into the last game against Michigan and beat the Wolverines out of an expected championship by winning, 7 to 6, in a tight game. Two men were on bases in the ninth inning when Paddock struck out the last Michigan batsman.

The Wisconsin leader started this season with the same effectiveness that he has always shown on the mound. In the first Big Ten game against Northwestern, Wisconsin, won by a 4 to 2 count. Against Minnesota, he pitched air-tight ball and the Russell Ford Gophers were let down with a solitary run while Wisconsin swatsmiths amassed eight.

Paddock suffered his first defeat when Michigan knocked him out of the box at Madison. The Wolverines won by a 9 to 2 count and no twirler in the Big Ten would have been good enough to hold them. "Paddy" came back the next Saturday day, and pitching in mid-season form, enabled Wisconsin to score a 4 to 1 victory over Illinois. He lost to Illinois in a 3 to 2 game last week-end, but mitigating circumstances put the cause of the loss on other shoulders than "Paddy's."

He will be a big factor in the rest of the Badger pennant chase. Paddock is one of the best pitchers that has ever represented Wisconsin. His consistency, baseball wisdom, and leadership abilities make him a real captain on the field. Paddock is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity.

Breaks Leg in Jump When Cleats Catch

Samuel B. Walker, freshman engineer from Racine, Wis., broke his left leg while broad jumping in a track class at Camp Randall yesterday morning at 11:45.

An x-ray examination disclosed a bad break above the knee. Walker is being treated at the University infirmary.

MICHIGAN AND PURDUE TIED IN TITLE RACE

Upsets May Give Badgers Pennant Chance

CONFERENCE STANDINGS

	W	L	Pct.
Michigan	4	1	.800
Purdue	4	1	.800
Illinois	5	2	.733
Wisconsin	4	3	.571
Ohio	2	2	.500
Northwestern	2	3	.400
Chicago	2	3	.400
Minnesota	1	2	.333

Although three defeats have put the Badgers practically out of the running for the conference baseball championship, the winner is still a matter of conjecture, and plenty of upsets may occur before the curtain falls upon the season.

Michigan and Purdue are tied at the head of the percentage column with four games won and one lost. The Wolverines have a series of hard games facing them, however, and it is doubtful as to whether or not they can finish up without dopping any more tilts. Illinois, Wisconsin, Chicago, Iowa, and Minnesota are the teams which still appear on the Wolverine schedule, and three of these stand even chances for victories.

Illinois and Iowa loom up as the best possibilities for spoiling Purdue's chances, although either Chicago or Northwestern may be able to upset the dope and humble the Boilermakers.

Coach Ward Lambert's nine has been the darkhorse of the race this season. Early season doppers did not consider the Boilermakers when making their predictions, figuring that Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan were the class of the conference.

Illinois is far from being out of the running for the championship. Judging from the performances against the Badgers, Coach Lundgren has a team which is fully as strong as are the Wolverines, and any team which has to meet Illinois is in for a hard fight. The Suckers have played two more games than have either of the leaders, and they are consequently in a position to stand the added defeat.

Badgers Play Four More

The Badgers have to play only four more games before winding up the season. Iowa comes here on Saturday for a return engagement, and Northwestern is due at Camp Randall on the following Thursday. Wisconsin goes to Michigan May 29, and on June 2 the season will close against Chicago on Stagg field. The latter clash was to have taken place several weeks ago, but the game had to be called off on account of rain.

Two Nominated For Blue Dragon Head

Elizabeth Kirk and Louise Moore were nominated for president of Blue Dragon for next year at the Yellow Tassel banquet which 200 junior women attended last night in the Woman's building. Other nominations were: Vice-president, Norma Carl, Miriam Arey, and Elsie Iverson; treasurer, Belle Knights and Elizabeth Shafer; secretary, Florence Hupprich, Marjorie Ruff, and Wilma Trost.

Similes and metaphores twinkled and sparkled in the toasts given in response to Merle Shaw's demand, "Tell us of what the Junior class reminds you." To Irene Clayton it was a baseball game; to Betty Thorkelson, a garden; to Wilma Trost, a circus; to Isabelle Capps, an automobile, and to Dean Nardin, a chime of bells.

At the election which will be held Wednesday, May 25, each Junior voter is asked to drop a 10-cent piece into the box beside the ballot box. The money will be used to defray expenses incurred by the class in carrying out traditions.
