FIVE CENTS

SCHOOL OF MUSIC TO PRESENT TWO PROGRAMS TODAY

Choral Union Opens Christmas
Season; Select Students
Give Recital

Two concerts will be given today by students of the School of Music when the Choral Union opens the Christmas season with a concert at 3:30 o'clock, and a group of selected students presents a recital at 8:15 o'clock, both in Music hall.

The program of the Choral Union is planned to be unique, according to Prof. E. B. Gordon, in that the audience will be given a large part in the performance of a pantomime, the actors of which, will merely lead the audience in Christmas songs.

Both Open to Public

Christmas Rose, a sonata by Lester, an American composer, will be sung by Katherine Reid '26 and William Ross, grad., who won first prize in Union Vodvil, with their sketch, "Moonlight Madness." Two numbers will also be given by the union chorus consisting of 85 voices.

In the evening a program which is the first of a series to be given once every month, will be presented by students who have been elected from the regular Wednesday afternoon convocations. This recital, like the concert in the afternoon, is open to the public, according to L. L. Iltis, of the School of Music, who has directed the selection from the convocations.

Announce Program

The complete program is as follows:

I.—Sonata in G (First Movement) Greig—Gudrum Estvad, violinist; Margaret Otterson, pianist.

II. O Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me? Handel; I've Been Roaming, Horn; If You Would Love Me, MacDermid—Katherine Reid '26.

III. Polonaise in C Minor, Op. 26, Chopin—Paul G. Jones '26.

IV. Yesterday and Today, Spross; Mammy Song, Ware—Dorothy Crocker '27.

V. Meditation, Massenet; Mazurka, Mnyardski—Louise Rood '25.

VI. Minstrels, Debussy; Prelude, Whiting—Grace Plumlee '26

OCTY SALES ON HILL APPROACH 1,000 MARK

Approximately 1,000 copies of the Octopus were sold on the hill yesterday, besides the 1,000 sent out through subscriptions, according to Clark Hazelwood, L2, business manager. Five more numbers will appear during the ensuing year. The next publication will appear January 14 in the form of a "Big Five" number, featuring prom.

AD CLUBS UNITE TO HEAR DUNLAP

Madison Organization to Be Guest of Campus Group at Dinner

Members of the Madison Advertising club will attend in a body the dinner-meeting under the auspices of the university Advertising club, scheduled for 6 o'clock tonight in the Fellowship room of the university Y. M. C. A. Mr. W. C. Dunlap of the Klau-Pietersom-Dunlap-Younggreen advertising agency, will speak on problems of marketing and advertising.

Mr. Dunlap's theory evolved after 20 years of experience in the advertising field, is that effective advertising copy is sales copy, based on an expert and detailed analysis of the market for the product.

"In order to build confidence in an article and to smash all possibilities of sales resistance to it," he said, "the advertising manager today must be equipped with a keen knowledge of marketing problems and sales psychology."

Reservations for the dinner may still be made by securing tickets from members of the Advertising club or by calling Ewart Merica '27, at B. 6690.

COLD RESPONSIBLE FOR THREE BLAZES

The cold weather was blamed by the fire department for three fires which occurred yesterday.

Little damage was done by a chimney fire which occurred at 9:30 o'clock last night at the Phi Kappa Tau house, 615 North Lake street. A chimney fire which broke out at 8:45 o'clock yesterday morning in the house owned by Fred Studebaker at 218 North Mills street, also caused slight damage.

Some harm was done to the roof of the house owned by W. Marquowitz, at 235 West Gilman street, when, late in the evening, sparks from the chimney set the shingles on fire.

RECITAL PLAYED ON COLOR ORGAN TO BE GIVEN HERE JANUARY 20

Playing light on an organ much as a pipe organist plays music is the extraordinary accomplishment in high art which Thomas Wilfred will introduce to university and Madison audiences when he comes here in recital, January 20, at the invitation of National Collegiate Players.

Mr. Wilfred, sitting at the instrument of his invention, the color organ, paints moving color and form on a screen before him in rhythm for the eye with the same symphonic effect as the musician plays his harmony of sounds for the ear. He calls his invention the clavilux, or color organ. With its five manuals of stops and keys it presents very much the appearance of the keyboard of a pipe organ.

The clavilux has been proclaimed everywhere as the first instrument to make use of light as a fine art. Such an art, which has been developed up to this time solely by Mr. Wilfred, will soon take its place, according to critics, as a sister to music, painting and sculpture. It will revolutionize stage lighting and production, say some. One expert declares that it is the only new art brought forward in 3,000 years.

The news that he would give a recital in Madison has been particularly welcomed by those interested in physical science, applied arts, and the theater.

COMMONS TO SPEAK IN BASCOM TONIGHT

"The Relations Between Capital and Labor," will be the subject of the speech which Prof. J. R. Commons of the economics department will deliver at 8 o'clock tonight in 165 Bascom hall. The address is the second of a series having to do with significant lines of advance during the past quarter century being arranged by Phi Kappa Phi and the university committee on lectures and convocations. The meeting is open to the public.

FRESHMAN WOMEN TO HOLD MEETING

Dean Nardin Will Speak on "Personal Qualifications in Success"

To offer suggestions which may be of help in selecting schedules for the second semester, Dean F. Louise Nardin has called a special convocation for freshman women to be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Lathrop concert room.

Dean Nardin will speak on "Personal Qualifications in Success." In this talk she hopes, through examples from her own life and from actual experience, to suggest future courses and careers for the women of the university.

Following the address a questionnaire, especially prepared for the convocation, will be distributed.

"By answering the questions carefully," Dean Nardin said, "it is possible that some tangible facts may be gathered from which the women may be guided by supplementary suggestions," she said.

"The idea is to make them realize the responsibility which they have at present for intelligently choosing courses which will prepare them for the careers they have selected."

Prof. Snow Tells Nature's Wonders in Second Lecture

"My dear people, just think how perfect nature does her work," exclaimed Prof. Benjamin Snow yesterday afternoon while giving his famous snowflake lecture for the second time this week.

"The wonder to me is the latent force which is behind each one of those snowflakes," marvelled Professor Snow, as he clapped his hands and pointed to a slide of one of the fine, delicate crystals. "The forces there we can not understand or comprehend. That is perfectly marvelous. The ladies here couldn't do it with their tattin'."

Every year Professor Snow receives new slides from W. A. Bently, of Vermont, which he adds to the collection already here.

"Mr. Bently does not take these photographs during a snowstorm," Professor Snow explained in his lecture yesterday, "but he waits until the storm is over. The flakes which fall then are not broken or packed together so that the perfect flake may be photographed."

PROM FOX-TROT CONTEST OPENS; JANUARY 10 SET AS DEADLINE

Consider ye who have musical aspirations, and a place in your pocket for $50 that a chance to have a song of yours played at Prom and at the same time to get the money with which to attend is yours by merely submitting a piece meriting first place in the annual fox-trot contest held in conjunction with prom.

Advice comes from Constance Hammett '26 to get busy on the tune as soon as possible because the deadline for submission of names is to be January 10, two days before the first hearings. No special restrictions are to be placed on the songs, according to Miss Hammett, except that the melody alone will not be judged.

"Orchestration will not be necessary," she said, "but the contestant will be expected to have an accompaniment when he plays his piece before the judges, consisting of the committee on music."

The prize of $50 which is offered will be donated by several local music stores, the highest contributor receiving the right to sell the song selected.

"As is the custom," said Miss Hammett, "prizes for posters announcing the contest will be given again this year. Three prizes of $5, $4 and $3, will be awarded to the best posters as judged from the windows December 17."

Anyone interested in doing this work may call Miss Hammett at B. 2048.

WOMEN'S COMMERCE CLUB HOLDS BANQUET

"Insurance and real estate attract people who are down and out because no investment of capital is necessary," Miss Regina Groves, secretary of the Madison Federation of Labor, told the members of the Woman's Commerce club at an initiation banquet last night.

Her topic was, "The Opportunities for Women in the Field of Insurance."

The initiated members are Bernice Johnson '27, Frances Tuffley '27, Marie Kromer '27, Lydia Ziemann '26, Eunice Sasman '27, Vivian Edwards '26.

GUILD ORGANIZATION WILL HOLD INITIATION

The initiation of 20 women into the Harriet Stroh and Sarah Ely chapters of the Westminster guild will be held at 12 o'clock Saturday. Miss Jeanette Holt, of Chicago, state secretary for guild chapters, will be present at the luncheon which will precede the initiation ceremonies and will assist in the initiation.

OUTING CLUB TO GIVE PINS TO HARD WORKERS

All women who have completed 25 hours of work in Outing club will be awarded pins at 7:15 o'clock tonight in Lathrop hall, during the regular meeting of the club. New members will also be taken in at this meeting which will be the last of the year. Plans will be made for the conducting of a winter sport program which will begin upon the resumption of activities after the Christmas recess.

PLAYERS GET AID IN BUILDING SET

Fraternities, Sororities, Stores Lend Furniture For "Mollusc"

The drawing room which serves as the background for the performance of "The Mollusc," which will be presented by the Wisconsin Players in Lathrop concert room Saturday night, will represent the work of the production staff in getting furnishings from fraternities, sororities and Madison stores.

Agatha McCaffrey '25 is one of the actresses who will appear in "The Mollusc" this evening as Miss Roberts, governess for the Mollusc in the person of Maxine Walker '27. Miss McCaffrey has appeared in amateur dramatics on the campus for several years and is secretary of the National Collegiate Players, honorary dramatic organization.

The production staff under the direction of Mark Porter '25, obtained the furnishings for the set from Delta Delta Delta, Gamma Phi Beta, Sigma Kappa, Pi Kappa Alpha, Alpha Sigma Phi, Frautschi furniture store, Schaefer Electric company, Moseley book store, Miss Gertrude E. Johnson, and William J. Tannehill, both of the speech department.

The cast for the production has been rehearsing the last few days in anticipation of a road trip of the show.

TO COMPLETE ANIMAL HOUSE BY FEBRUARY

The new animal house which is being constructed at the rear of the Biology building to make room for the animals which Prof. M. F. Guyer needs in his research work on heredity will be completed by February, according to the building plans. The steel framework which constituted the entire old animal house has been raised and a first floor of brick is being built under it. The second story and the roof will be built of wood.

Applications For Press Club Being Taken This Week

Applications for membership in Press club are being received this week by Irene Norman '25, secretary of the organization. Students eligible for membership are those enrolled in the Course in Journalism, those taking journalistic subjects, or those actively engaged in journalistic activity on the campus.

Applicants will be voted on at the regular meeting of the club next Tuesday evening at the Union building. Officers for the coming semester will be elected and a program of activities will be drawn up.

"Pi Nite" and Press Club frolic are the traditional social events sponsored by the club. Plans are being made for a sleigh-ride party to be given shortly after the holidays for the inauguration of the new semester's activities.

16 ARE INITIATED INTO TAU BETA PI HONOR FRATERNITY

Engineering Society Holds Banquet at Capitol; Sixty Alumni Attend

Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, conferred highest honors on 16 men at the initiation which was held in the capitol last night.

The formal initiation was followed by a banquet which was attended by 60 alumni and active members of the local chapter.

Mead Gives Address

Prof. L. F. Van Hagen was toastmaster for the program which followed the initiation banquet. The initiates were welcomed by Edgar G. Plautz '24, president of the local chapter, and the response was given by Hubert G. Holmes '25. The principal address of the evening was delivered by Daniel W. Mead, professor of hydraulics and sanitary engineering. Dean F. E. Turnau also gave a short talk of welcome to the honored men.

Chapter Installed in 1899

The senior men initiated were George H. Abendroth, Eugene A. Bergholz, Arnold C. Besserich, Donald H. Corey, Harry P. Dupuis, Floyd I. Fairman, George H. Field, Arthur F. Gentleman, Hubert G. Holmes, LeRoy F. Laube, Frank Maresch, Vincent A. Thiemann, William M. Richtmann, Robt. B. Webb, and Arno M. Wiese.

Russel A. Nelson was elected as high junior.

Tau Beta Pi is the oldest honorary fraternity on the campus. The local chapter was installed in 1899. The national organization is comprised of 45 active chapters and four alumni associations.

STOCK JUDGING TEAM WILL ADDRESS CLUB

Talks by members of the faculty and the stock judging team will be given at the meeting of the Saddle and Sirloin club, at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The stock judging team placed twelfth at the Chicago International in a field of 25 other teams. The team from the University of Nebraska placed first in the contest.

Stock from the College of Agriculture won a large number of valuable prizes and premiums at the show. The sheep entries, in particular, ranked among the best in the country. Professors J. G. Fuller, J. M. Fargo and F. Kleinheinz will relate various important incidents which occurred at the International.

POULTRY SHOW TO START SATURDAY

Grand Champion Birds Will Receive Silver Loving Cups

Breeds of every variety of poultry will be shown at the ninth annual Badger Poultry show Saturday, Sunday and Monday, at the Poultry building.

The birds will be judged by Prof. J. C. Halpin, and awards will be made upon the amount of improvement shown in fitting and showing the birds. The entries will be judged Monday afternoon and the prizes will be given out immediately after the judging.

A large silver loving cup will be awarded to the grand champion bird of the show, and two cups will be awarded to the best male and female bird, respectively. Many other prizes have been received from breeders and poultry feed dealers. Baby chicks, poultry feed, water troughs, poultry magazines, and a large number of practical prizes will be available to the winners.

"More enthusiasm has been displayed at the meetings this year than ever before," declared John Kaiser '26, president of the Poultry club. "The short course men have entered the competition in excellent spirit, and 85 entries have already been received."

Burke Tells of Olympics; Captain Valley Talks at Track Meeting

New spirit and a new enthusiasm was injected into the 50 track candidates, who met in the gym last night in the first track meeting of the season. Coach Jones outlined his plans for the coming track campaign, and Coach Burke gave an interesting talk on the Olympics. He augmented his talk by 60 slides that he took while attending the games.

Now that Coach Jones will be able to devote his whole time to developing the track team, the varsity tracksters have an excellent chance of rating high in conference competition. From now until the Christmas vacation is a period of preliminary training. The football men will devote their time to getting caught up on their studies, and the championship harriers will enjoy a brief period of rest after their strenuous season. Coach Jones urged all track men who have not been in any sport this fall to get into the intramural track meets that are being held before the holidays, and get in shape for hard training after the Christmas vacation.

No Outside Activities

For the past few years track men have been too busy in outside activities to give all their time to track. This season Coach Jones insists that his track men give their best work to track. There will be no room for driftwood on the squad of 1925. No men are to participate in interfraternity basketball or water basketball who are on the squad as this detracts from their track work, insisted Coach Jones.

Strict adherence to training rules and ability in their studies were two other topics that Coach Jones stressed. Honesty to the school, to the coach and to one's teammates demands that the track man keep in training.

Tryouts January 24

The first tryouts for a place on the varsity will be held January 24. From then on tryouts will be held frequently as Jones is a firm believer in the old adage that competition makes the man.

If a four mile relay team or any of the other relay teams show enough prowess this season, they will be sent to the Penn relays to compete against the best teams in America and England. The last time a Badger relay team went to Penn

The Newest Campus Organization
Is the Club of Varsity Managers

The Manager's club is the university's newest organization. The club includes the varsity managers of the six major sports of the university. The club is one that is taking root throughout the western conference, and it is hoped that all the schools in the Big Ten will form such a group.

The purpose of the club is three-fold:

1. To promote sportsmanship.
2. To increase managerial efficiency.
3. To get high school athletes to attend the University of Wisconsin.

Under the item of sportsmanship the club intends to increase the good will of Wisconsin with other schools in the Big Ten. During

DOC MEANWELL WRITES
NEW BASKETBALL BOOK

A new basketball guide, "The Science of Basketball," a 400-page book by Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, is now off the press ready for use. Dr. Meanwell has been basketball coach for 12 years at the university and under his direction Wisconsin teams have won 179 games and lost 28.

The volume contains 125 illustrations, of which 32 are action photographs, and 80 diagrams of plays, including the set of 40 plays that was published last year.

The 27 chapters of the book trace the history of basketball, discuss equipment, training, care of players and preliminary procedure, take up the technique of single plays such as the free shot, the dribble, the pivot, and finally treat thoroughly various aspects of team play, unbalanced formation, theory of offense, theory of floor plays, and long pass plays, giving illustrations and explanations.

was in 1916 when Mead Burke was an undergraduate star.

Captain Valley spoke a few brief words that were very much to the point. On account of the adverse criticism that has been directed against Wisconsin students and Wisconsin athletics he stated, "I am tired of talking about athletics and want to get out and do something practical to better this condition. If all the men place complete confidence in Coach Jones we can have a championship team."

After the holidays the squad will work out every Wednesday night in the annex at 7:30 o'clock. This is being done because so many of the indoor meets are held at night and the men must get used to running at this hour.

CAGE MEN HOLD FINAL WORKOUT FOR WABASH TILT

Spooner's Loss is Felt; Wackman Works in His Place

The varsity cage men had their last hard workout before the Wabash game last night. Basket shooting took up the first of the practice and they showed marked improvement in this end of the game. They should be able to get baskets if they get a chance to shoot. After the little doctor was satisfied with their shooting, he sent the men through a series of hard scrimmages. Nearly every possible combination was used in order to find the right one for the game Friday night.

The loss of Spooner has given the coach a hard problem to solve. Wackman has been given a chance at the job, and it looks probable that he will be the man to start the game. The man for the other forward is also a question, and the two may not be decided definitely before the whistle blows Friday.

This final grooming of the squad before the contest will put them in the best of shape to meet the Wabash quintet. Meanwell is quite uncertain as to the outcome of the contest, and, as usual, he is not optimistic of the result.

1928 CAGERS OUT SINCE IN OCTOBER

Best Squad in Years; Have Varsity Squad Good Games

Since the first part of October, Coach Levis has been working with the freshman basketball squad. They have been out four times a week, both afternoon and evening, sometimes to practice and more often to scrimmage the varsity. They have been working hard all fall, and as a result of their efforts have developed into the best freshman cage squad in years. Coach Levis feels that they are the best he has coached during his career as freshman basketball coach at Wisconsin, and Dr. W. E. Meanwell says that they are the best since he started coaching Badger cage teams.

Three times have the freshmen met the varsity in open practice games. The first of these games nearly proved a defeat for the Meanwell men, and some feel that if the game had been called at the regular time that the first year men would have been in the lead.

However, one thing is certain, and that is that this was the lowest score of any varsity-freshmen game played showing the yearlings' power. The other two games have been more in favor of the varsity, but each time the freshmen have given the Badger quintet a hard game.

Orph Party Tuesday

Seats at Co-op; Hold it in Honor of Grid, Cross Country Men

The Orph party in honor of the football heroes—sung and unsung—and the cross country men, planned by the Association of Commerce to follow as a climax to the banquet earlier in the evening of December 16, is open to all men students. E. J. Grady has the tickets on sale at the Co-op for the convenience of those who wish to attend.

The tickets will be on sale until Saturday, and Grady hopes that these will be sold out before that time, so that a full house of football and tracksters can be present to enter into the spirit of the "party."

"Shorty" Walsted, varsity cheerleader, is planning a real ovation for the players and runners. The vaudeville bill is being augmented for the first half, according to the Orpheum management, and exceptional entertainment from the stage is to be offered.

The varsity pep band, which played for football games, and which will furnish music at the basketball contests, will be on hand to lend the usual "wim and vigor" to the event.

IN 1916 BADGERS DEFEATED WABASH

Score Was 24-14; This Year the Result May Be Different

With the approach of the Wabash-Wisconsin basketball game the old fans recall the last game that these two schools played. It was back in 1916 when they last met on the court. Wisconsin played them at the start of the season, and were able to defeat the Little Giants by a 24-14 score. This was the year that the Badgers had the championship team of Levis, Olson, Chandler, McIntosh, Hemming, and Carlson.

Wabash Power Uncertain
Just what the Little Giants will be able to do to the Badger team of this year, is not certain. The squad will be greatly handicapped by the loss of Spooner, the star forward. He has been the main stay of the offense, and a good man on the first line defense. The team will have but two experienced men in their old positions, but the new men are fully capable of filling their positions.

The Wabash team has several veterans, two of the men are playing their third season, and the rest are able backeteers. They have been priming themselves for the Cardinal team since the start of the season, and are expected to give the Meanwell men a hard battle.

TICKET OPEN SALE THIS MORNING FOR BASKET SEASON

Two Sets of Tickets Allowed For Each Series; Regular Prices

Tickets for each of the three basketball series will go on open sale this morning at 8 o'clock, according to Paul Hunter, director of ticket sales. Each person may buy two sets of tickets for any or all the series. No fee cards are necessary.

2,250 Tickets Were Available
Because only 2,250 tickets were available, each student was given an opportunity the first part of the week to buy one series on a fee card. Remaining tickets are to be sold today and tomorrow.

Unsold tickets for the Wabash game, series A, will be sold, separately, on Friday. The seats on the end of the gymnasium will sell for 50 cents, the side seats selling for $1. "W" men may call for their tickets at the ticket office today.

FRAT TRACK ENTRIES ARE SMALL THIS YEAR

So far the entries in the fraternity track meet are far below expectations. With the meet only two days away just four teams have entered the annual clash. Last year at a corresponding time there were three times as many entered. Theta Xi, last year's victor, and Alpha Gamma Rho, runner up, have entered teams again this year. Theta Delta Chi and Delta Sigma Pi are the two other teams entered to date. The Betas and D. U.s are planning to enter strong teams sometime today.

Today is the last day for teams to enter. All teams must have their entries in the hands of Coach Mead Burke by 5 o'clock.

So It Seems

The Octopus is funny again. The tentacles reached out in the Yule-tide number and started in on Wisconsin athletics, and particularly Coach Ryan, after everything was all settled. Oh well, the Octy isn't supposed to be taken seriously.

This afternoon the baseball candidates start their organization, and practice will probably start in the annex soon. Things don't look any too bright for Lowman's men. The only three "W" men who will be back are Captain Ellingson, Tangen and Steen.

Br-r-r. George Martin, he—
Br-r-r, that winter sports king, is plunging true to form this freezing weather by taking his icy baths in Mendota. Yesterday noon I saw him run up to the lake, plunge in, swim about a bit, get out and shake himself like a playful puppy and go back to the gym. Br-r-r.

Now we clear the deck for basketball. We'll be able to tell a lot in this Wabash game Friday night, and the varsity will have to function pretty well to be able to bring out the funeral dirge. Spooner's absence will cut down the varsity chances, and Wackman has been moved to forward to take his place.

The strong Wabash quintet opened with a victory over a strong Indianapolis team last week. As center the Hoosiers have Chadwick, 6 feet 4 inches in height. It looks as though Varney won't have much of a chance on the tip-off against this man.

Brooks may get a chance in this game at center, due to Chadwick's superior height over Varney. Brooks is a little over 6 feet in height, and probably would do better on the tip-off. And this is an important thing in basketball.

Oh! Oh! Reinforcements in the Ryan family. Two boys. Two assistant coaches, too. And so another plank in the Daily Cardinal for better athletics has been fulfilled.

USUAL TRIP SOUTH WILL BE TAKEN BY BALL PLAYERS

Six Games With Mississippi Schools; 13 Arranged For Regular Season

Announcement was made yesterday by Coach Guy S. Lowman, that the baseball team will take its southern spring trip as usual. The southern schedule which calls for two games with the University of Mississippi, two with Mississippi College, and two with Mississippi A. and M., will undoubtedly be a strenuous one owing to the fact that the Badgers will have little opportunity for outside practice before the trip.

Meeting Today

Mr. Lowman also announced that there will be a meeting of all candidates today at 4:30 in Dr. Elsom's office in the gym. This meeting, he said, will be in the nature of a conference to arrange all the men's academic schedules so as not to conflict with practice, which will start after the Christmas holidays.

As a nucleus upon which to build the 1925 nine, Lowman has only three letter men, Captain Ellingson, Tangen and Steen.

The Schedule

The conference schedule which was arranged at Chicago last week is as follows:

April 14—Northwestern at Evanston.

April 18—Preliminary game.

April 25—Illinois at Madison.

May 2—Ohio at Columbus.

May 4—Michigan at Ann Arbor.

May 9—Michigan at Madison.

May 12—Minnesota at Minneapolis.

May 16—Northwestern at Madison.

May 23—Chicago at Chicago.

May 25—Illinois at Urbana.

May 29—Minnesota at Madison.

June 1 (Tentative)—Iowa at Madison.

June 6—Chicago at Madison.

TWO VARSITY HARRIERS STILL WORK OUTDOORS

Two members of Coach Burke's cross country squad are still traversing the old cowpath trail each night instead of taking their track workouts indoors in the annex. Anyone of these cold December afternoons about 4:30 o'clock Walter Butz and Clyde Dickinson, bundled up in sweat clothes, can be seen running out along the lake drive. The harriers claim that a brisk run in the frosty weather makes them feel good the rest of the day. While this kind of exercise does not correspond to most student's idea of a good time, these two tracksters seem to get a great deal of pleasure from their chilly runs.

If you want to have your name in the paper when you graduate from the university, plan to graduate at any time other than the regular commencement in June. It's easy for a paper to publish the names of 46, but when it comes to a thousand or more—

Look over the front page of any metropolitan paper sometime with the view in mind of finding how much of its space is taken with constructive news articles and how much is devoted to murders, ex-convicts, propaganda, divorces, robberies, silly accidents and general scandal. The question is, does the supply create the demand or the demand the supply?

The library has acquired 200 more books since September, but it is doubtful whether that number will make up for the books which have been taken from the stacks or reading room shelves and never returned. It might be a good idea if, just as an experiment, the library officials declare a day when students may bring back books which they have taken and not be in danger of being fined. This stunt might get some of the lost books back.

CHRISTMAS TREES

Now that Christmas is drawing near and our thoughts are turned towards all its symbols, the Christmas tree looms up as an important item on the shopping list. Most of us little realize the problem that the cutting of these trees presents and the fact that if steps are not taken immediately our forests are in danger of denudation.

The trouble mainly lies in the fact that of all contracts the lumber contract with all its promises as to conduct when cutting is the most readily broken. The Manchester Union, in an article on the Southern scrub pine, says that "of some 1600 baby trees springing up from self-sown seed but 150 are alive at the end of 85 years, the period of growth." This startling mortality, due to the terrific struggle that goes on in a forest for light and water would certainly provide us with Christmas trees, provided that careful forestration, and intelligent thinning out of the trees that will die anyway and leaving only the healthiest trees, will insure for our forests a healthy future.

This, then, is the real solution of the problem and a measure such as was proposed at the recent conference at Washington on the utilization of forest products, which suggested the passing of a federal law against the sale of Christmas trees, would not only take away one of the best loved symbols of Christmas, but would be a great waste. For what use are these small pines which will die if they are not thinned out, if they are not used as Christmas trees?

JAZZ AND ART

Jazz music has a new champion in no less a personage than Otto H. Kahn. In a recent address, which naturally caused a good deal of comment, Mr. Kahn said: "While it is easy to deride jazz, any movement, which in its rhythm and in other respects, bears so obviously the American imprint, which has divulged new instrumental colors and values, which has taken so firm a footing in our own country, aroused so much attention abroad, and is an object of such great interest to foreign musicians visiting here—any such movement has a right to be taken seriously." This tribute was qualified when Mr. Kahn said that jazz was "as yet imperfect and spotted with crudities" although it is "vigorously alive."

This estimate of jazz comes from a man whose opinions will probably carry more weight than even those of a professor of music, as he is a musical connoisseur as well as a munificent and outstanding patron of the opera. Mr. Kahn believes, however, that jazz has a future, that is if it tends towards the higher levels which it has sometimes reached. The Springfield Republican, which dealt with this problem recently, points out that the greatest point in favor of jazz is the fact that it can be well presented by a comparatively small group of musicians and has been a boon to the public in that it has supplanted the terrible performances of the former orchestras, which were too small for their duties.

All these comments on jazz are unusually favorable, as most criticisms of jazz are usually adverse rather than favorable. Mr. Kahn, when he spoke of "new instrumental colors and values," made a very good point. The "doubling", that is, the playing of more than one instrument by a player, which is so common today, especially with saxophone and cornet players, certainly adds interest and "color" to the modern dance. The "new instrumental values" refer to the saxophones and to the different tones produced by the brass section by means of mutes, tin cans, and derbies. All these things are modern; they probably shall not last, but who knows what they may lead? As Mr. Kahn pointed out, jazz is still in its infancy, and no one knows what will result when the present craze disappears, if it ever does.

The jazz band is a departure from the usual concert band in that it eliminates all stringed instruments except the banjo, substituting wind instruments instead. The piano has come to the front, sharing honors with the trombones and saxophones, without which no jazz band of today can exist. The greater part of the adverse criticism of jazz is due, for a great part, to the low standards and performances of the majority of jazz bands, which the Springfield Republican says yield only "a depraved noise." However, at its best, the jazz band is capable of effects both captivating and ingenious and no one who has heard a really good jazz band can truthfully say that there is nothing to justify its existence; no dance today could exist without it. Certainly a music critic and lover of Mr. Kahn's calibre would not have placed jazz with art, had he not good reason to do so. Mr. Kahn, knowing music as he does, would not have expressed such hope for its future had he not given the matter due consideration. Now the question is, will jazz climb to the higher levels of which it is capable and thus insure itself a future, or will it tend towards a "depraved noise"? Jazz, even though Mr. Kahn be too hopeful, will have a future well worth watching whether it survives or perishes.

Students Organize Riding Club After System of English

A novel riding club called the Prince of Wales Riding club has been recently organized. The club is sponsored by the faculty and is an authorized university organization.

The club's officers and members are modeled after the English officers of the royal stable. The master of the horse is Charlotte Logeman '26; Ellen Dryden '27 is secretary or remembrancer, the master of ceremonies of the whip, is Eugenia McQuatters '27; Herbert Brueckner, owner of the Blackhawk Riding academy, is the exchequer, and Marion Wallaeger '27 and Helen Mueller '27 are the rest of the officers who constitute as a whole the board of governors.

The aims of the club, according to Miss Logeman, are to promote good horsemanship, have organized competition, and to bring together those interested in riding. Men as well as women can belong and the club is not exclusively for students. Townspeople who are interested may also be members.

Three Years Ago

The Badger basketball team started the season with an easy victory over the Michigan Aggies, 27 to 18.

The Men's Glee club presented its thirty-fourth annual concert at the Parkway. The club has been enlarged from 20 to 40 members.

Tryout dates for the pre-prom play had been set. "On the Hiring Line," was the play to be presented.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—The first Indiana State Student Christian convention opened this week when representatives from 24 colleges and universities convened for the initial session of the three-day course. More than 300 delegates are attending the convention.

NORMAN, Okla.—The blowing of the power plant whistle at the University of Oklahoma is used to notify dates when to leave. The idea was suggested and approved by members of the women's league, which is composed of all women in the university.

TO REPORT PROM ACCOUNTS DAILY

Finance Chairman Holds Office
Hours For Recording Each
Days Expenditures

Plans whereby the cost of prom up to date will be known at the end of each day have been made by William Howard, chairman of the finance committee.

Daily reports will be submitted to Howard giving itemized accounts of all expenditures, no matter how small the amount. This is necessary, according to Howard, because merchants do not submit their bills for two or three months and there would be no other way of knowing the cost of prom.

Howard has requested that chairmen of the other committees try to make their interviews with him at the hours that he will have every day in Dean S. H. Goodnight's office. His office hours will be from 11 to 12 o'clock on Mondays and Wednesdays, from 3:30 to 4:30 o'clock on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 10 to 11 o'clock on Friday, and from 9 to 10 o'clock on Saturday.

Those working with Howard on the finance committee are Howard E. Willey, Andy Norgord, Donald F. Hansen, William J. Taylor and Lenore S. Luenzmann.

With the Alumni

For the first time in the history of the university, the president will have an opportunity to welcome back his own classmates at the reunion in June. President Birge received his doctor of law degree in 1915 and has sent an invitation for that class to reunite with him this spring. Because of that unusual honor, plus the fact that they had the largest registration at the reunion of 1920,—totaling 178,—the class of 1915 has adopted the slogan of "The Outstanding Class." The Milwaukee branch met on December 5 to discuss the reunion plans of June, which will be their tenth anniversary. William A. Foster of St. Louis, Missouri, the class president, presided.

Philip La Follette, a graduate of 1919, is now district attorney of Dane county, just as his father was in 1880. He spoke before the Milwaukee Open Forum on December 9 on "The Rich, the Poor, and My Father."

The sport editor of the Milwaukee News submits the name of Oscar Osthoff as a favorable candidate for the position of university athletic director. Mr. Osthoff was a football, swimming, track, wrestling, tumbling, and baseball star at Wisconsin before his graduation in 1910.

The marriage of Katherine Schmedeman and Carl W. Hayden took place on November 22 at the Straits Settlement in Singapore. The bride was graduated in 1922. Her husband is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and is manager of the International bank at Singapore. The father of the bride was the United States minister to Norway during the Wilson administrations.

Clara Louise Moore '23, was married to Ralph Oliver Olson, Jr., on November 27 at St. Joseph, Missouri. The bride is a member of Delta Delta Delta, Phi Kappa Phi, and the honorary sociological society. Mr. Olson was graduated from the University of Minnesota and is a member of Beta Theta Pi. He is practicing law in Bellingham, Washington.

DEPARTMENT HEAD AT HARVARD GOES TO YALE

Criticism has been rife at Harvard as the result of the resignation of Prof. George P. Baker and the latter's acceptance of the position of head of Yale's department of dramatic art. The Harvard Crimson, student publication, places the blame upon the faculty and the board of overseers for not providing Professor Baker with "decent quarters and equipment for his work," thus forcing him to leave. Professor Baker has been on the Harvard faculty for 37 years and founded the famous "47 Workshop" during that time.

L. AND S. SHOWS ENROLLMENT GAIN

Colleges of Agriculture and Engineering Have Decrease in Numbers

The university enrollment figures for this fall show that there has been a continued increase in the enrollment of the College of Letters and Science, while the College of Engineering and the College of Agriculture have lost 68 and 48 respectively.

The College of Letters and Science has an enrollment of 5,574 students as compared with 5,458 last year. The new total includes 3,037 men and 2,537 women, just 500 more men than women. Among this number are 28 fellows, 19 scholars, 544 graduate students, 890 seniors, 1,088 juniors, 1,262 sophomores and 46 special students.

In the Medical school there are 163 students, including 14 women, as compared with 157 last year. The School of Music lays claim to 88 students, approximately one half the number in the Medical school. Of those specializing in music 79 are women and nine are men.

The Graduate school shows an increase of 85 this year, giving a total of 788 students, of which 235 are women and 553 are men. Their distribution among the various colleges shows Letters and Science leading with 591; the College of Agriculture second, with 156; and the College of Engineering third with 41.

The present enrollment of the College of Engineering is 1,032, including 3 fellows, 1 scholar, 37 graduates, 188 seniors, 211 juniors, 256 sophomores, 329 freshmen, and 7 special students.

The enrollment in the College of Agriculture shows 39 more men than women, 364 men and 325 women, making a total of 689 students, of which 12 are fellows, 6 scholars, 138 graduates, 130 seniors, 131 juniors, 133 sophomores, 135 freshmen, and 4 special students. Students of each of the four years are most evenly divided in this school.

The Library school has an enrollment of 37 women and one man.

As a whole, the number of men exceeds the number of women students by barely 2,000, the College of Engineering making a difference of 1,000.

Capart to Talk on Egyptian Aesthetic Problems Monday

The events surrounding the recent discovery of the tomb of King Tut, ancient Egyptian mummy, constitute in part the substance of Prof. Jean Capart's talk on "Problems of Egyptian Aesthetics" to be given at 4:30 o'clock next Wednesday in 165 Bascom hall.

Professor Capart, of the University of Liege, Belgium, and educational director of the Royal Cinquantenaire museums at Brussels, has made five expeditions to Egypt and has published numerous works on Egyptian subjects, among which is "The Tomb of Tutankhamen." His lecture will be illustrated.

As a result of his extensive research work into the problems of Egyptian aesthetics, Professor Capart was made commander of the Order of the Nile, and this year is visiting professor to America for the commission for relief in Belgium.

Bleyer Goes East For Conference on International News

Prof. W. G. Bleyer, director of the Course in Journalism, left last night to attend the conference on international news and opinion to be given under the direction of the Social Science Research council in New York city, Saturday.

The conference will consist of a group of 15 men, three from each of the following organizations, the American Political Science association, the American Sociological society, the American Economics association and the American Statistical association.

Among those who will take part in the discussion of subjects of international news interest are Dean Walter Williams of the University of Missouri; Dr. Slosson, director of the Daily Science News Bulletin; Prof. Merriman, chairman of the National Social Research council; Bruce Bliven, connected with the Detroit News and the New Republic and Walter S. Rogers of the department of political science of the University of Chicago.

SWENEHART TALKS AT DRAINAGE MEET

Explains Use of Pyrotol in Cleaning Ditches to Convention

"Cleaning Ditches With Pyrotol," was the subject of the speech given by John H. Swenehart, professor of agricultural engineering, before the meeting of the State Drainage association which is conducting its early session here this week.

Pyrotol is an explosive that was used during the war. Professor Swenehart outlined how dynamite, which can be obtained from the College of Agriculture, could be used to clear ditches economically.

The State Drainage association meets once a year for a three day session. There are morning and afternoon sessions each day of the convention which are open to all students.

Among those who spoke before these meetings are Floyd W. Duffee, association professor of agricultural engineering, who spoke on "Working the Marsh Land;" Edward R. Jones, professor of agricultural engineering, whose topic was "Relief for Drainage Districts With Delinquent Taxes;" and Prof. Otto Zeasman, who spoke on "Working the Soil."

The conference will end today at noon.

PARIS — Premier Herriot was confined to his room today with a serious attack of grippe. A physician's bulletin said the malady was accompanied by a swelling of the leg.

Richness of Life, Power, Happiness, Our Aims, Says Prof

The three principal objectives of human beings are personal power, richness of life, and happiness, stated Prof. D. D. Lescobier of the department of economics in his speech on "Realities," recently given at the Y. W. C. A. vespers.

"These are not mutually exclusive," he stated. "Power may enrich one's life and increase one's happiness. Richness of life may be one of the causes of happiness. On the other hand happiness may come in a life in which there is neither a consciousness of power nor of riches.

"By power, I mean the ability to do something well, however small. By richness of life, I mean the fullness of life—knowledge, appreciation of music, friends, social influence even if in humble circles, the abundance of living.

"And by happiness, I mean that satisfaction in life which comes with the consciousness of a life well lived. Mere things may give a semblance of power and richness, but the power, richness and happiness that are a reality come from within one's personality," Professor Lescobier concluded.
