ENTIRE STATE MOURNS LOSS OF SIEBECKER

Chief Justice of Wisconsin Supreme Court Was Nationally Esteemed Figure

Public officials, lawyers, and educators united in paying tribute to the late Chief Justice Robert G. Siebecker whose death occurred early Sunday morning after an illness of several months. Among those paying the justice tribute were men who had known him as boyhood comrade, as teacher, and as fellow-warrior in life.

Was Student Under Birge

President E. A. Birge said of the great justice: "Judge Siebecker was a member of the first class that I met in January, 1876, when I began my work as teacher of zoology in the University of Wisconsin. He was an able student doing careful, thorough, and solid work in all of his studies. During all the subsequent years his life in the state and his work for the state have shown the same qualities—the qualities that inspire a confidence which grows and strengthens as years pass. His fellows in his profession of law are better able than I to tell of his great qualities as lawyer and jurist. Let me speak as a citizen of Wisconsin to honor him as a man to whom his fellow citizens gladly intrusted his highest interest and those of the public, secure in the belief that they could rely upon his character and judgment to handle these affairs so as to maintain justice and advance righteousness in the state.

Prof. Julius E. Olsen will give the principal address at the Lincoln memorial celebration to be held in the assembly chamber of the capitol Wednesday at 8 p. m., under the auspices of the local Grand Army of the Republic and allied patriotic societies. Haresfoot Offers Opportunities for Dramatic Talent

Cast and Chorus of Jerusalem Junction to Include 30 Roles

Opportunities for every sort of dramatic and musical work are offered in "Jerusalem Junction," the 1922 Haresfoot production, according to officers of the club. Preliminary tryouts will be held tomorrow night at the Wisconsin high school. The cast of the play includes twelve characters, three of which are women.

The ingenue, Delicia Zowie, has a role which requires singing and acting ability, while Belle Bellows, ex-chorus girl, is a part similar to the one carried by Jobyna Howland, in Belasco's show, "The Gold Diggers."

Of the male roles, Addison Sims of Seattle is the juvenile lead who is continually being arrested and placed in the Jerusalem Junction jail, while Ebenezer Zowie is the character lead, representing overseer of the community. Horace Homer Hoakum is the comedy lead, and represents a typical press agent who is hired to make Jerusalem Junction the most popular city of "commercialized virtue."

In addition there are a number of minor parts which require versatile interpretations. The chorus has been enlarged to 24, with 12 girls. The orchestra is planned to consist of thirty pieces, while the production staff is in need of able men who know lighting and scenic arrangements. Applicants will also be received for places on the publicity staff.

Delegates to Y. W. Convention Chosen

Delegates to the national Y. W. C. A. convention, which will be held at Hot Springs, Ark., April 20-26, were elected at an open meeting of the Y. W. C. A. in Lathrop hall Monday noon. The following elections were made: Auta Lyman '22, Gladys Haskins '22, Ima Winchell '22, Isabel Capps '23, Merle Shaw '23, Doris Smith '23, Marion Metcalf '24, Katherine O'Shea '24, Dorothy John '25.

The Y. W. C. A. expects to give $50 to the neighborhood house for the employment of a playground worker for next summer.

Another open meeting will be held next Monday noon to nominate officers for next year.

Critic Says the Octopus Is Good and Then Razzes It

By PROEHL H. JAKLON

In reviewing the Winter Sports number of the Octopus we shall attack the job from a new angle. Heretofore, most Octopus reviews have had for the initial sentence something to this effect: "The Hokus-Pocus number of the Octopus which makes its appearance on the campus today is a good number." Then, after this start, the reviewer has generally shown you what appeared good to him and let it go at that. If some of the material was not as attractive as it might have been, the fact went unmentioned. We hope this article will be different.

To begin, no one will be cheated when he puts out a quarter for the current number of the Octopus. If you can't laugh with some of the stuff, you can laugh at it. If you think that Heinz Rubel's full page spread contains too much of a liquor element, you can console yourself with the fact that books are about the only place nowadays subject to such criticism.

When you see the cover by Hub Townsend, you will probably buy the magazine. No, it's not that kind of cover; we mean something

HAWKEYE OFFENSE GAME TOO MUCH FOR BADGERS; VARSITY GOES DOWN TO 24-18 DEFEAT

Senate Committee to Report on 181

The executive committee of the Student Senate will report on the results of the investigation of alleged unfair condition in course 181 at an open meeting of the Senate to be held in room 1 of the Law building, Wednesday, at 7:15 p. m. The committee completed its investigation yesterday.

President's Guard Tryouts Are Held On Next Thursday

Tryouts for the President's Guard, honorary military unit of the cadet corps, will be held at the armory on Thursday evening at 7:15 o'clock, according to Cadet Major Robert Luening, commander.

Any student taking drill is eligible to tryout for the guard, and each candidate will be judged individually by officers of the R. O. T. C.

The President's Guard which is composed of men who have demonstrated distinctive ability in drill, was organized last year in honor of the president of the university. The guard takes the leading part in military formations of the cadet corps. A three days hike to Oconomowoc, a formal dance, and a dinner before the Military ball have been planned as the major activities of the organization for this semester.

Green Button Calls Frosh Women Meet

Freshman women will have their first chance of meeting together tonight at a Green Button banquet to be held at 7:15 in Lathrop concert room. The meeting will last only until 8 o'clock, and will be a "pep meeting" to arouse class spirit and enthusiasm for the basketball games, the Green Button banquet, and other freshman activities of the semester.

else. In art work the book abounds

—most of it very good and then some of the other kind. Of the latter, Rubel ought to be shot for doing the frontispiece. Just why the cut at the bottom of page 19 rates a 5 by 6 space is a mystery. But these are the exceptions.

If more satire could be substituted for several of the Walt Mason-style prose poems, the Octopus would benefit. Another thing, what has become of the nonsensical three act plays? They might well take the place of several of the never-read poems. By the way, if you never read the editorials, you might take a look at Cedric Seaman's "Winter Sports"—an example of what one can do with many words and no ideas.

Perhaps we have been a little hard on the book this month, but the Octopus is no longer a struggling institution, and therefore can bear up under anything that might be said. If you think the Winter Sports number is really better than the foregoing tirade suggests, you will be agreeably surprised, and if it impresses you as being worse, then we have failed.

Shooting of Shimek and Devine Features Play; Caeser and Gage Show Up Well

The Wisconsin basketball team took its second bearing of the season when it went down to a 24 to 18 defeat at the hands of Iowa last night. In a furious contest, the Badgers were unable to maintain the fast pace they have been setting and a spirited last-half rally failed to net them enough points to win.

With the defeat, Badger championship stock took a decided slump. From second place in Big Ten ratings with a percentage of .800, the Badgers dropped into a tie for third place with Illinois.

Although they were on the short end of a 14 to 10 score at half-time, Wisconsin came back in the second period, and closing up an eight-point gap, came to within one basket of tying the score. Taylor's basket, which would have evened up the count at 20 all, was disallowed. Iowa forged ahead to ring up 24 markers before the contest ended.

Iowa Takes Early Lead
Shortly after the game began, Iowa took a four-point lead which it held until the end of the first period. Wisconsin battled furiously to overcome the advantage in the second half, but Iowa widened its margin to eight. Spectacular baskets by Gage, who dropped in an overhead shot from the side, and by "Rollie" Williams put the Badgers within four points of the Hawks. A free throw by Taylor and Gage's second basket put Wisconsin in a near-tie, but disallowance of Taylor's successful shot ended the last-minute spurt.

Inability to cage baskets caused the Badgers' downfall. Shot after shot rolled from the rim after the famed short-pass had worked the sphere to within easy scoring distance. Bad passes frequently upset the attack. Several times Badger basketeers tossed the ball (Continued on Page 7)

Parents Victims of Stranded Classmates

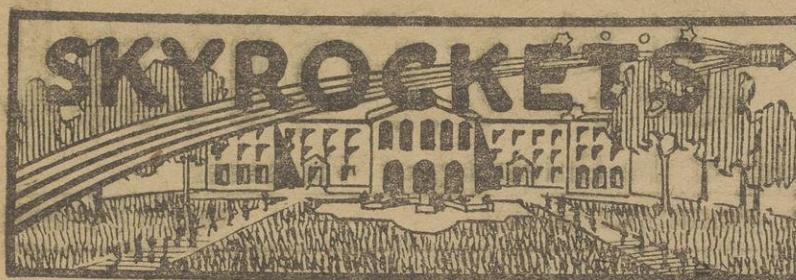

Fraudulent Scheme to Embezzle Parents is Latest Hoax

"I'm a classmate of your son at the university. Just had my pocket picked and I'm stranded. Thought you might help me out because I'm John's friend."

Such a hard luck story has in the last month extracted various "loans," ranging from $10 to $60 each, from the parents of five University of Wisconsin students living in five different cities. In each case, the money has not been returned, the stranded young man has not reappeared, and the sons in the university do not know who the "classmate" might be.

The scheme has been worked in Freeport, Ill., Rockford, Ill., Clinton, Ia., Davenport, Ia., and twice in Milwaukee. In each case the man appealed to the mother of his "classmate," said that he was traveling from Iowa to Indiana, and has given the name of Martin or Harris. It is thought to be the same man in each case.

Because he may be trying to secure "loans" from other parents of students in Wisconsin or other universities, the police have suggested that college students warn their parents against strangers using this or similar tricks.

WE who love wisely and not too well are left unremembered on this holiday of the amorous Saint. This reminds us of many little stories that exhibit the fallacies of Platonic love—and, of course, you know what Platonic love is. It's a blind date when you haven't a car, you've left your money at home on the dresser, no moonshine in sight, and you find out that she's a physical ed. with a passion for Social Control. We'll spare you the torture of numerous and specific details. We know that this isn't a subject for humor, but this is a time when we must moralize, — and hereby hangs a moral, one that's so obvious that we refuse to point it out.

WE were all het up the other day, due to an editorial that reminded us that we had a MIND. It said that everybody had a mind, which includes Doc. Hughes, Sammy Becker, Bill Purnell and Walt Schulke, who don't lay claim to anything more than a highly developed nervous system. We were so completely worked up trying to solve the problem that we spent the week end over at Mendota.

LETTING your foot slip sometimes means more than a gay night of gin, flappers, and gin. We fell, only to rise again with a badly sprained ankle. We are thus reaping the rewards of virtue and the straight and narrow path down the hill.

SPEAKING apropos of nothing at all, we wonder why Brother Bryan is so much worried over the monkey question in the Evolution controversy. Every man for himself when he rises to defend his Family Tree. We'll admit that Brother Bryan's ancestors weren't the ordinary kind; they had pink eyes and long, fuzzy whiskers.

HASHEESH.

DIARY OF A DESCENDING MOVIE STAR

DEAR DIARY: Oh, how has it all happened? A year ago I had my flock of Rolls-Royces and my family of puppies; I was appearing opposite the handsome John Carrimore, mother was taking in only two washings a week, and my husband had his allowance. And now! Oh, Diary, I've been asked to wear a bathing suit before the camera! What would my daughters say? What would be the thoughts of my Sunday school class? I've thought and thought, but Diary, I just can't discover the cause of my fall. Of course, there was the party where I played the living figure in the tableau of the waterfall, and, it is true that Drifts saw me, but is that any reason for my many degrading insults. He even suggested that I go with him to see myself in my last picture. Oh horrors! Diary, but the woman always pays! He is continually hounding my footsteps, my husband, I mean. No, I don't mean Drifts is hounding my husband, Oh! Diary, I'm so distracted I just can't write any more tonight. I can only go to bed and sob uncomfited!

Valentine's day affords an opportunity for sending out all those comic ones you have in mind. A list of those to whom you should send something should begin with a certain woman in an office in Lathrop hall and should not end with the guy who is after your pet woman.

OVER SEVEN HUNDRED COPIES OF THE PROM FOX TROT ARE SOLD

HAROLD W. TAYLOR '22

Nearly 800 copies of "Drifting With You," the official fox trot for the 1923 Junior Prom, the words of which were written by Harold W. Taylor '22, and the music by Horace R. Taggart '24, and Jesse Cohen '24, have already been sold at Hook Brothers, at the corner of State and Mifflin streets, the only music store carrying the piece.

This sale compares favorably with those of previous prize-winning prom numbers. Not only students have been buying the song, but town and out-of-town people are demanding it.

"Drifting With You" won the $50 prize offered by the prom committee for the best dance piece submitted this year to the committee. Hook Brothers, the publishers of the number, gave half of the prize.

JESSE COHEN '24

Courtesy Hone & McKillop
Harold Taylor, writer of the words, had the distinction of composing both the words and the music of the winning song last year. He is a senior in Letters and Science and a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

"Shorty" Taggart and Jesse Cohen are each sophomores, the former in Commerce and the latter in Letters and Science. They are both in Boyd's orchestra.

"Two summers ago," Taggart said, "when Cohen and I were playing in the northern part of the state, he came to me and said he had an idea he wanted me to help him work out. We went to the piano and slowly worked up the music of "Drifting With You."

The song was officially played for the first time at the 1923 Prom.

"Drifting With You" was also sung at Prom by "Doc" Dorward '23, a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

AT THE PARKWAY

The William Fox production "Over the Hill," is a picturization of two of the most popular poems in Will Carleton's Farm Ballads.

"Over the Hill" is just a simple homely story with a little old mother as its pivotal character. About her revolves all the meanness and selfishness and loyalty of true-to-life human nature. Mary Carr, a player of distinction, is the mother of the story, and her characterization is one that will live long in the memories of all who see her.

"Over the Hill" is at the Parkway all week.

"There is no single feature of a play that makes or mars that can be compared to the love interest," says little Mitzi, coming to the Parkway Theatre Monday evening, Feb. 20 in "Lady Billy." "A play without a love scene, or some situation in which the attraction of woman for man is shown would be an anomaly, and would never succeed with any audience, for people go to a play to get tips on love-making!"

AT THE STRAND.

Wanda Hawley in "Her Face Value" is now being shown at the Strand Theatre. Some brides are annoyed by in-laws, but in Peggy's case it was her own father and brother, shiftless spongers, who spoiled her married life. Peggy went back on the stage after her disgusted young husband had left her, and nearly yielded to another man's entreaties to get a divorce and marry him. But fate took a hand in the muddle and brought Peggy's true love back to her. There is also being shown on Al St. John comedy, "Fast and Furious," a Pathé Study in Natural Colors and the latest news weekly.

Ceremonies in Rome
Marked by Pomp and Enthusiasm

ROME—Pius XI was crowned pope in the basilica of St. Peter's on Sunday amid scenes of pomp and enthusiasm in the presence of princes and dignitaries of the church. Diplomatic representatives of foreign countries, members of the Roman aristocracy and a vast assemblage filling the great structure to the very doors. The ancient custom was carried out with impressive ceremonies and the newly elected pontiff now occupies the throne of the first pope reported crowned, Leo III, who reigned from 795 to 816.

Pius XI again blessed the crowds from the outer balcony of St. Peter's this time nearly 200,000 people cheering "long live the pope," and waving handkerchiefs and admission tickets to the vatican, which had failed to find them room inside the great church.

89,436 Compensation
Cases in Six Years

Six years' operation of the workmen's compensation act in Wisconsin has resulted in settlement of 89,436 compensable accident cases, the industrial commission announced today in publishing a report on the law's application and its effect on industry. Included among the 89,436 accidents were 1,045 deaths and 6,768 permanent injuries. The total number of working days lost through the reported accidents in the six years was 13,798,050. Handling objects was the most frequent cause of accident during the period, accounting for 23 per cent of the injuries. Machines caused 15 per cent of the total number of accidents, accounting for 26 per cent of the total days lost. Falls of persons rank next in severity and are the most important of all causes of accidents in the construction industry.

Co-eds Can't Smoke;
Rooms Are Too Small

NEW YORK—Smoking by graduate girl students in the dormitories of Teachers' college, Columbia university, is banned on architectural rather than ethical or moral grounds. This announcement was made on Morningside Heights on Sunday, by Miss Margaret Kilpatrick, president of the student body of Whittier hall. "The girls here smoke—we all do," said Miss Kilpatrick, "but we do not all do it here in the hall. The rooms are too small and that is really the reason for the rule against smoking in Whittier."

The Frances Donavan prize contest for the best psychological autobiography of a college woman will be open until April 1. By special arrangement with Miss Ruby Black, editor of The Matrix, through which the prize was offered, any college women may be eligible. Originally the contest was limited to members of Theta Sigma Phi women's national journalistic society. The prize is $100.

"The results of the contest will be used by Mrs. Donavan in her psychological work and experiments," said Miss Black. "Authorship of the manuscripts will remain unknown, as the articles will be identified by numbers, not names."

According to the rules of the contest, the manuscripts must be honest and true accounts of the girl's life. The award will be made on the basis of the best study from the view of the psychologist.

Manuscripts should be mailed to Miss Black, South hall.

WASHINGTON—Secty. Denby appeared before the house naval committee today to recommend that the navy personnel for the next fiscal year be fixed at 90,000 men and 6,000 apprentices as compared with 100,000 men and 6,000 apprentices now authorized. Mr. Denby recommended that there be no reduction in the existing strength of line officers of the navy; and that appointments to the academy hereafter be reduced to three for each member of congress instead of five.

SKATING AND BRIDGE

COACH JONES says that the Ice Carnival Saturday afternoon was the best that Wisconsin has ever had. He believes that it will awaken a general interest in winter sports among students and thereby go a long way towards ridding the school of tea-houndism and its kindred artificial social conventions that flourish so abundantly in the winter. The idea is that out-door sports will compete with indoor amusements to the point that everything from bridge up will die a natural death and their places will be taken by skating and ice-boating. When out of doors recreation becomes popular, then the insipid imitations will have to go, and when these imitations go, the university will be just that much better off. Any plan that will get the student out of doors more and discourage the habit of depending continually upon dances and shows for amusement, and upon climbing the Hill two or three times a day for exercise, is a mighty good one.

All that is needed is to make winter sports popular. The Ice Carnival was a big step in that direction. There is no reason whatsoever why such events cannot become as generally accepted as swimming and canoeing is in the warmer months. A large lake, frozen over every winter, lies at the very door of the university. The Athletic department is very enthusiastic over ice events. And those events are inherently adapted for popular participation because they are just competitive enough to be attractive to all who can skate or are ambitious to learn, and not too competitive as to exclude all but experts. Furthermore, they are not strenuous to the point of exhaustion, but just right for ideal exercise.

The final outcome is up to the students and the Athletic department. These winter events should be made more frequent, twice a month, or even once a week. They should become a regular occurrence so that the students would be gin to expect them; after a few times such contests as last Saturday would become more or less of an institution, and since skating holds far more attraction than its inside substitutes, it will supplant them with very desirable results. Winter sports can become popular; it is up to the students to see that they do become popular. Don't let the wonderful opportunities of Lake Mendota slip by unheeded. Postpone those bridge games until rainy weather.

ANOTHER GOOD START

THE joint dramatic societies have won the eternal gratitude of the student body. They have reduced the admission to their productions. Finally, after years of professional prices, the students can see an amateur performance and not think that they are buying tickets for grand opera. The prices of the past are not to be entirely blamed upon the dramatic societies, because as long as students were willing to pay regular prices, and as long as all student affairs seemed to go on the theory that students could afford to pay high, it was natural for the dramatic societies to keep in the swim of convention.

However, by breaking precedents and slashing prices, the joint dramatic societies have started a valuable precedent. Productions of any kind by the students are primarily for the students and they should be conducted so that the largest number of students possible can take advantage of them, instead of their taking funds, there is such a thing as playing too much advantage of the student. Even when the proceeds of entertainments go towards worthy on student loyalty and generosity. It is much better to entertain a full house at lower prices than half a house at higher prices, since campus productions are not business ventures. Dramatics and similar entertainments will receive twice the support when they are financially within the reach of most of the students than they did in the days of professional prices. The joint dramatic societies started a good movement.

S. G. A.

ON Wednesday evening is the annual meeting of S. G. A. to consider constitutional changes and make nominations for the ensuing year. The attendance of a majority of the university women is necessary to make the meeting a success. It is the duty of every woman to attend and not to rely on a majority being interested or concerned in college politics being interested or concerned in college politics does not hold any more. In the first place, S. G. A. has been established for some time now, and since it has jurisdiction over the women students, they have got to keep it going. Last year there was a good deal of controversy in American colleges over the desirability of co-education. The women made a strong plea for it and pointed to what they had done in middle west institutions especially. The support of all the women Wednesday is necessary to prove their claims of the ability of women to take as efficient a part in the life of a co-educational university as the men.

A university is a training school for citizenship, and part of citizenship is the active participation in government. The women, after years of effort, have the suffrage. They are in college to get a training to exercise that suffrage, and self government is a good place to get experience. A woman who avoids her duty in college is getting a pretty poor training for outside political duty.

Communications

Editor's note.—Communications to the Cardinal must be limited to 250 words in order to insure their publication. Lack of space makes this necessary.

TOO MUCH TO DO

Perhaps as a transfer from another university my opinion could not represent the actual spirit of things here at Wisconsin.

181 isn't as bad as it is pictured. Surely any course on the hill could be subjected to criticism. The greatest difficulty that the instructor faces comes from within and not from without. To be clear, he is worked to death. He is the head of a department of some 800 students, and is personally responsible for their instruction. Accounting isn't easy, of course not. If it were, the office buildings would have as many C. P. A. signs as they do doctors' signs. I do not mean to imply that other professions are easier to learn or less important, but only to make clear, that the business of a public accountant is a hard one; and a profession, that requires the highest degree of professional skill, and accuracy.

Perhaps it is the instinct for accuracy that compels the regulations. No public accountant can be unfair. The profession is the embodiment of justice.

Professor Elwell is the adviser for the many transfers from the other universities. This is in itself a difficult task, and requires a thorough knowledge of the many regulations, that are necessary to run a community of 7,000 members.

He has a world of correspondence. He is the best known accountant in the state. He must give answer to request for service. His business is public in character. Without regulations and strict ones the business of teaching could not be accomplished.

The students should be fair in criticism. I believe that the remedy lies with the increase of the staff and a greater number of classes and better equipment for handling them. The trouble, if any, is one of physical character not of personalities.

MILES C. HILDRETH '23.

WAS PROM DRY.

I have read of the charges made by the assistant secretary of state, Mr. Gordon, that the Prom was not "dry" and the denials to those charges.

Having been among those present at the capitol on Prom night, I believe the charge that the Prom was not "dry" and that there was evidence of liquor can be substantiated.

AUG. J. SHERR '24.

CONCERNING A DRY PROM
It is indeed unfortunate that Mr. Gordon has been misinterpreted in his statements about the Prom. Without a doubt, Mr. Gordon has the good of our school at heart in his attacks.

No one who is sufficiently informed of the conditions at the Prom can deny the truth of Mr. Gordon's accusations. He is attacking certain conditions that actually existed, and is justified in his statements that the Prom was not "dry," even though this year's Prom was an improvement over that of last year.

VAN HEUSEN
the World's Smartest COLLAR

THE VAN HEUSEN Collar is the greatest innovation in men's dress since the old, high, stiff-brimmed beaver gave place to the modern, soft felt hat.

No other collar can compare with the VAN HEUSEN, because no other collar is made from the same seamless fabric.

And men wear the VAN HEUSEN Collar for the same reasons that they wear the soft felt hat: it is better looking and more comfortable.

The trim dignity of the VAN HEUSEN is not starched nor ironed into it, but woven and tailored into it.

The VAN HEUSEN Collar is as trim as a Tuxedo; as stylish as it is starchless; and as correct as it is comfortable.

Men who scorned soft collars wear it and praise it. And fastidious men—men who like a slight suggestion of the formal, or the severe, in their attire—are fast friends of the VAN HEUSEN Collar.

Nine styles and heights, quarter sizes from 13½ to 18, price fifty cents. Will outwear a half-dozen ordinary collars.

If your dealer cannot supply you with the VAN HEUSEN Collar and the VAN CRAFT Shirt (a soft white shirt with the VAN HEUSEN Collar attached) write us for address of one that can.

CELLO IS CONSIDERED MOST EXPRESSIVE OF INSTRUMENTS

By SHELDON HENDERIKSON

Despite the fact that the cello fulfills more functions than any of its stringed brethren, despite the fact that musicians and critics have considered it the flower of the stringed flock for a long time, it is only recently that it has received its due from the general public. But one great artist, Pablo Casals, who is to play at the university gymnasium on February 17, has finally made it known and loved, as no other cellist has ever succeeded in doing. Quoting from a periodical, "Before this man the masses and the intellectuals have sat alike enraptured."

Recognition is Slow

There are two reasons why recognition has come to this instrument so slowly,—there have been few great masters of it, and amateurs play it with only the most agonizing results, for it is very difficult. Its size is unwieldy and its strings twice the length of violin strings. Casals was the master of it at the age of fourteen. He played in a Barcelona cafe at that time (the cafe music there is the equivalent of our smaller concerts here).

But Casals was able to play the violin and the organ equally well at that age. Then why did he choose the cello with its comparative difficulties and obscurities as a concert instrument? These are the words of Casals: "I chose the cello because it is the instrument having the widest capacity for expression: on it one may do more than rhapsodize or agonize,—one may philosophize." Casals is today acknowledged to be the greatest living interpretive artist and for the great breadth of his powers he finds the cello the most satisfactory medium.

Seats for the Casals concert may be obtained at the music store of A. E. Smith. An early selection will insure good seats.

All Varieties of Entertainment Is Offered at Orpheum

By PROEHL H. JAKLON

All varieties of entertainment are offered at the Orpheum the first half of the week, and the bill runs the vaudeville gamut from roller skaters to danger-defying aerialists. No single act stands out particularly, excepting, perhaps, that offered by Trixie Frigana.

Rosa Kress Duo

Color and grace on rollers. The couple were agile on their skates.

Jack George Duo

All two people acts this week are duos. The cullud gem'man gets away strong with a rather novel background, but his companion has a nasal voice.

Bert Stoddard

If the "forgetful music teacher" had let his instruments talk, the audience would have been better pleased. His playing was mellow and so were his cracks.

Robert Reilly & Co.

Catchy Irish songs rendered by a comedy man and maid assisted by a bright and impudent youngster. A few dancing steps and a little harmless comedy made the act pretty and restful.

Trixie Frigana

Her "Bag o'Trix" was surprising, to say the least. It won reluctant approval from the more refined members of audience, and thunderous applause from those who had no young lady friends with them.

Four Flying Valentines

The human basketballs defied gravity successfully in baby-blue tights. The act abounded in elasticity and speed.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

TANK MEN TO MEET ILLINOIS IN DUAL MEET

Big Ten Records Likely to Fall When Badgers Swim

Coach Joe Steinauer, of the swimming squad, announced yesterday the team that will meet Illinois in a dual meet on Saturday. Sixteen men will accompany Steinauer to Urbana, where the meet will be held.

Steinauer will send his strongest combination against the Illini in the relay event and the Badger quartet stands an excellent chance of coping the banner event of the meet. So far this season the relay team has established an enviable set of times, both in trials and in meets against the Milwaukee athletic club. J. J. Lambole '22, F. C. Davies '22, L. A. Sollitt '22, and Johnson Bennett '24, are the four men upon whose shoulders the burden in the relay will fall. B. F. Story '24 will be taken as substitute in the relay event.

Lambole in Dashes

In the 40-yard dash, Wisconsin will enter two fast men in J. J. Lambole and L. A. Sollitt. Lambole is the Badgers' best bet in this event, and so far this season he has turned in two victories in as many starts against the M. A. C. aquatic squad. His time have always been close to the 20 second mark.

In the 100 yard swim, Steinauer will enter his best bet—Johnson Bennett, and the new Badger star is expected to give the fans a real treat in this event. His swimming this year has been remarkably good and he has several times lowered the conference records in practice swims. F. C. "Hap" Davies will also enter the century and should give the leaders a real tussle for the honors.

Bennett in 220

Bennett will be entered in the 220 yard swim as well as the 100, and with Lambole will attempt to add to the Badger points in this event. Bennett in his last appearance last semester lowered the conference record in this event and turned in an easy win over Thompson of the M. A. C. Bennett will be watched with interest by the swimming fans of the conference for greater things are being expected of the Wisconsin ace.

Captain W. K. "Bill" Collins '22 will be Wisconsin's best entry in the dives. Norman Koch '24 who has been progressing fast under the tutelage of Collins and Steinauer will also taste his first big meet when he enters the dives.

May Break Records

H. E. Czerwonsky '24, who has astonished swimming fans by his great exhibitions of breast-stroke swimming, will enter that event against the Illini. His times have been dangerously close to the standing record in the breast-stroke and he will be given his first opportunity to test his ability against conference swimmers in the Illinois meet. H. Pope '24 and "Bill" Collins and Rudolph Pabst '23 will also be entered in this event.

B. W. Heubner '22, S. A. Waalke '23, and A. H. Lahman '23, will be entered in the plunge. This event has been Wisconsin's weakest point in the M. A. C. meets this year and fans will be interested to see how Steinauer's men will stack up against conference competition.

H. F. Copeland '22 will be Wisconsin's only entrant in the back-stroke.

To Play Water Basketball

The water basketball team will be composed of men who are to enter the events and W. Wood '24 who will go along as a member of the basketball squad. The order of events for the meet will be as follows: Relay, dives, 400 yard dash, breast-stroke, 220 yard swim, plunge, back-stroke, 100 yard swim, water basketball game.

The following men will make the trip to the Illinois meet: Coach Joe Steinauer, Captain W. K. Collins, E. N. Peterson, manager, J. Feb. 15 and 16.

Local Ski Meet Will Attract Noted Stars

National Champions to Perform at Dual Meet Saturday

Movies of the daredevil feats of the artists of the icy slide will be taken at the big ski meet to be held on Muir knoll Saturday. The films will show the Wisconsin riders in action against the Minnesota team and the deciding of the Wisconsin state amateur championship as well as featuring the exhibition jumps of Ragnar Omtvedt, national amateur champion, and Lars Haugen, national professional champion.

Arrangements have been made by A. K. Drewry '22, president of the Badger Ski club, with the management of the Strand theater to film the meet, and the pictures will be shown in the Madison theaters and in other towns throughout the state so that everyone will be given an opportunity to see their local stars in action.

Of State Interest

Publicity for the meet has been extended through the press of neighboring cities, and from the number of entries pouring in, the contest promises to draw a large out of town crowd to Madison. The jump will be one of the biggest held in the West, and preparations are being made to handle football sized crowds on Muir knoll and the lake front.

Plans for the transportation of snow have been completed and the frozen vapor is due to arrive from Eau Claire on Thursday. The cars will be switched to the heating plant track, and on Friday the snow will be hauled to the slide in trucks. Tom Norberg '22, in charge of the work on the slide, is an expert on the subject, and can be counted on to put the hill in first class condition.

Many Prizes Offered

Gordon Taylor '23 has charge of prizes in cups and medals valued at over a hundred dollars, which will be given to the winners of the various events. C. E. Silver, in charge of entries, announces the receipt of applications from La Crosse, Stoughton, Stevens Point, Superior, Milwaukee, Chippewa Falls, Eau Claire, and many other cities. It is not yet certain whether the Norge Ski Club of Chicago will participate or not. Other committee men in charge of the affair are: Publicity, Kem Fagg; tickets, Ned Krotz; gate officials, Ned Wengel.

J. Lambole, F. C. Davies, L. A. Sollitt, John Bennett, B. M. Story, Norman Koch, H. E. Czerwonsky, H. Pope, B. W. Heubner, S. A. Walker, H. F. Copeland, A. Lahman, Rudolf Pabst, and W. Wood.

Ygdrasil Society Has Lincoln Celebration

The Ygdrasil society held a Lincoln program at a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Larson Saturday night. Papers on Lincoln were read by Prof. Julius E. Olson, the Rev. Stanley E. Lathrop, Nils P. Haugen and others. President Paul Knapland presided.

WASHINGTON—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, oldest member of the house, announced today he would not be a candidate for re-election as representative from the 18th Illinois district.

The former speaker announced his intention to retire from politics in an eleven word statement which read:

"I am not a candidate for election to the 68th congress."

The Illinois representative, one of the most picturesque figures in congress, will be 86 May 7. He is serving his 23rd term as a member of the House.

LOCAL DELEGATES.

Gen. Charles G. Dawes, supervisor of the U. S. budget, B. T. Meridith, former secretary of agriculture, Frank Cannon, president of the Wisconsin Good Roads association, and Dean H. L. Russell of the college of agriculture of the University of Wisconsin, will be among the speakers at the convention of the Wisconsin Real Estate Brokers' association at Eau Claire, Feb. 15 and 16.

Puck Squad Goes Down to Defeat Before Michigan

Veteran Wolverines Are Too Much for Inexperienced Badgers

Before the vicious attack of the veteran Michigan sextet, Wisconsin's hockey team went down to its sixth consecutive defeat yesterday afternoon by a score of 6 to 3. Hampered in their training by poor ice, Coach A. K. Viner's puck squad were in poor shape for the meet, and although flashes of brilliant individual play featured throughout the game, the Badgers fell an easy prey to the steadier team work of the Wolverine ice artists.

The Badger pucksters got away to a poor start in the first period, and early in the game Barkell, the speedy Michigan center, ran the rubber down the ice and slammed home the first count against the Wisconsin team. The Badger puck chasers braced and held the score at this point throughout the first period.

Michigan Score Fast

Starting with a driving attack in the second period, Michigan rapidly rolled up three more points against the Badgers' weak defense. Combacker at left defense, played a brilliant game, and with Captain Grieve at center, fought gamely, keeping up the morale of the Wisconsin men. Baker at right wing, and Tredwell at goal also played well.

The Badgers' three counts were scored in the final period. Striving desperately to make up their lost ground, Combacker, Ledin, and Grieve each succeeded in placing the puck squarely between the posts of the Michigan goal. The Wolverines responded to this attack by scoring a final two points, and the game ended with the youthful Wisconsin team at the small end of a 6 to 8 score.

Although the new sport has not been overly successful in its early games, with good weather this week, Coach Viner hopes by rigorous training to put the team into shape for a better showing against Notre Dame, whom they meet this Saturday, and for the Michigan trip which will wind up the season.

The Line-ups were:

Wisconsin:
Grieve, captain, center.
Baker, right wing.

Tredwell, goal.

Substitutions were: Fisk for Ledin. Goals scored by: Grieve 1, Combacker 1; Ledin 1.

Michigan:

Sauregret, right wing.

Barkell, center.

Comb, goal.

Substitutions were: Steketee for Barkell, Barkell for Steketee, Steketee for Sauregret, Follis for Kahn. Goals scored by: Barkell 4, Steketee 1, Kerr 1.

Varsity Mat Men to Grapple With Purple Saturday

Poor Showing Against Gophers Due to Ineligibility Rulings

The Wisconsin wrestling team will meet Northwestern university here at 7:30 on Saturday evening. In spite of the defeat by Minnesota, Coach Hitchcock is not without hope of downing the Purple mat men.

The Badger mat team is in bad shape at present. Five of the best men are ineligible. These are Holmes, Klass, Haddorff, Allison, and Doehler. The loss of these five is very noticeable. Another man who is lost to the wrestling team is Barry, who is now on the baseball squad, and is devoting all his time to that sport. Five of the seven men who were in the Minnesota meet were in their first wrestling meet of any kind. This fact excuses the Badgers for their defeat, and makes the showing that they did make seem exceptionally to their opponents instead of handing it to a mate.

"Northwestern will put up a hard fight," said Coach Hitchcock, "and if we defeat them, we will have to do better than we did against Minnesota." The men are receiving intensive training this week, and are improving in form.

Defense Steady

The defense was steady, but not impenetrable. Hawkeye tossers sneaked around the side and behind the Badger defense for baskets. With the injection of "Gus" Tebell shortly after the second half began, the Badgers began their spurt. Although the doubtful back guard was forced to wear a brace to strengthen his injured leg, his aggressiveness and fight put Wisconsin in a fighting mood which improved the attack and defense.

A crippled Meanwell team took the floor at the beginning. Irish was in Gibson's place at center and Gage started at right guard in place of Tebell.

A scoring duel between Captain Shimek of Iowa and Taylor of Wisconsin gave an edge to the Hawkeye. Taylor has been on the top in conference individual scoring records with the Iowa captain close behind. Shimek netted three baskets and six out of nine free throws to improve his mark, while "Cop" was forced to be satisfied with one basket and four out of eight free throws.

Gage Stars

"Les" Gage again showed that he has developed into one of the best utility men possessed by Wisconsin. Playing guard and then forward, he dropped in two neat baskets and showed an effective floor game to keep his team in the running all of the time.

Capt. Ceaser slapped in two baskets and these, coupled with continual aggressiveness, made "Duke" an outstanding player during the contest.

"Battling Gus" Tebell forgot the handicap of an injured leg while he held Iowa tossers to two baskets during the time he played in the second half.

Aubrey Devine, All-American quarterback in football, failed to score for Iowa. His mates, Lohman and Burgitt, divided counting honors with Shimek. Each of the men netted a trio of baskets.

good under the circumstances.

Northwestern Strong

Northwestern is considered a strong team, although it has not won any conference meets. The Purple mat men were defeated by Chicago and Illinois. The scores, however, were very close in both cases. In a practice meet, the Evanston men defeated Nebraska by a large margin.

"Northwestern will put up a hard fight," said Coach Hitchcock, "and if we defeat them, we will have to do better than we did against Minnesota." The men are receiving intensive training this week, and are improving in form.

LINCOLN WOULD WANT UNITY OF ENTIRE WORLD

—WILLARD

Spirit of 1865 Would Mend World's Difficulties

"If Lincoln were alive today he would stand for the unity of the whole world just as he stood for the unity of the United States in 1861," said Rev. W. W. Willard of Beloit, before the Kiwanis club at the Y. M. C. A. this noon. The title of the speech was "The Life, Character, and Services of Abraham Lincoln."

"Lincoln might be compared to a diamond," he said, "which has been exposed to attrition. A pebble, after such exposure becomes round and smooth but a diamond becomes angular. This angularity distinguished Lincoln from other men."

"We honor Lincoln not because of his great muscular strength or even for his wonderful mentality, but for his absolute allegiance to the concept of righteousness."

He showed how Lincoln, regardless of self, always did that which seemed just to him.

Rev. Willard recounted several new Lincoln stories, saying that "It is inevitable that one should at least mention some stories, because Lincoln himself was famous for them."

Dean H. L. Russell, of the college of agriculture will speak at the next weekly meeting of the club on "Economic and Business Conditions Prevailing in the United States."
