OTTO CLAIMS ARMS ARE THE CAUSE OF WAR

World Conflict Described as Being Most Stupendous Failure

"Arms are the symptoms—war is the disease. We must get behind and below the disarmament movement to that great battle with the type of life that gives rise to arms," said Prof. M. C. Otto, associate professor of philosophy, at the second of the all-university mass meetings on disarmament in Music hall, yesterday. "We must read things deeper, close our mouths, and open our eyes. We must dedicate our bodies and souls to the realization of a better world."

The world war was the most stupendous failure of all history; the allies failed and failed completely to realize the great ends for which they were fighting—to raise mankind to a higher plane of brotherhood. Why has this supreme war time idealism been buried with the heroes who died flying their banners? Some say that there was no war time idealism and nations were led only by the lure of power and spoils, by desire for money, revenge, or venture.

Had No Idea of Action

"But the great mass of American people were never so gripped by a determination to better the world order as at that time," Professor Otto went on to explain. "The reason why we failed to realize our ends is that we mistook a slogan for a concrete form of action. 'Make the world safe for Democracy,' was our cry, but we had no concrete idea of action. When the war ended we were 'all dressed up,' in our beautiful phrase, 'with no place to go.'"

The great crisis is not fear that

American Flags Outline Ground Plan of Union

Two hundred American flags are now proudly waving on the site of the proposed Memorial Union building, outlining the ground plan from the front of President E. A. Birge's house to the Y. M. C. A. building.

"Walk all the way around, and try to realize how huge it will be," said Arthur Kinnan '22, as he put in the last flag yesterday.

Signs labelled, "Commons," "Rotunda," "Theater," will be placed on sticks and trees, designating the exact location of the various parts of the new Memorial Union. You can see exactly where the pool table will be, or the stage, or even the dining room in which goodfellowship and college spirit will reign supreme.

ATHLETIC REVIEW ON SALE NOV. 12

The second issue of the Athletic Review will be on sale at the Michigan game, Saturday, Nov. 12. This number makes football again the feature sport, and includes a review of the season, the latest "dope" on conference standings, and a special write-up on the Minnesota game and the events of Homecoming week.

In addition to the regular departments devoted to track and basketball, there will be a feature cross country article by Meade Burke, and a detailed report of Wisconsin's cross country victory over Minnesota last week.

OPEN SEAT SALE FOR MARIONETTES STARTS MONDAY

Open seat sale for Tony Sarg's Marionettes, which will appear in Madison on Wednesday, Nov. 9, begins Monday, Nov. 7. Tickets may be obtained at Bascom hall, Lathrop hall, and at Hook's.

Mail order seat sale has been open for some time and according to Pi Epsilon Delta, the response has been considerable. Mrs. Flora Filtzer Hertzler is in charge of the mail order sale and orders will reach her at 1618 W. Johnson st. Tickets are selling at $1.50, $1.00, and 75 cents.

PASTEBOARDS FOR HOP GOING FAST

All Cadets and Ex-service Men Invited to Attend Annual Dance

Ticket sale for the military hop to which all members of the R. O. T. C., and Gun and Blade club, and all other ex-service men are invited, began in full force Thursday, when the cadet officers were given a supply to sell to their respective companies.

The price of admission has been set at $1 in order that all members of the cadet corps will be able to attend. Officers, who received a supply of tickets, seemed confident of disposing of them within the next few days.

An octet has been chosen from the president's guard and will sing several popular pieces at the dance as a feature of the entertainment. A seven-piece orchestra has also been engaged by the dance committee.

The ticket sale is under the charge of William Hart '23 general chairman of the dance. Evvard Caluwaert '22 has charge of the special features, and Lawrence Warner '22 is looking after the decorations.

CARDINAL STAFF

CARDINAL POLICIES UPHELD IN DEBATE

Favoring the retention of the present editorial and news policy of The Daily Cardinal, the negative won by a two to one decision in a hotly contested debate at a meeting of Philomathia Literary society last night in 220 Bascom hall.

The question, "Resolved that the present editorial and news policy of The Daily Cardinal should be reversed," was upheld in the negative by Gerald Foster, Roy Hermann, and Malcolm MacDonald. Frank J. Drobka, Harold A. Sering, and Harland F. Gilbert upheld the affirmative.

That the editorial policy of The Cardinal was free and only such editorials that the managing editor deemed unfit for the public are not published, was the opinion of the negative. Referring to its news policy, the negative stated that The Daily Cardinal is a general newspaper, similar to the big dailies of the country. It publishes the news which is an accurate and timely intelligence of events and matters of any sort which affect the interests of the public.

Playing the editorial policy of The Cardinal, the affirmative stated that the paper has failed to take a stand in form of opinions on subjects needing to be analyzed, discussed, and threshed out. It criticized the editorials as being disinteresting manuscripts.

"Some Disarmament Problems" was the subject of a short talk by M. A. Fischer '22, who referred to the situations in Europe and Asia as furnishing obstacles to speeding disarmament. Henry Romberg spoke for a few minutes on the railroad situation in reference to rates and wages.

Campaign for Million Dol- lar Building is Begun; Parade Directions

Weeks of preparation culminate in action today when Wisconsin starts its drive for a $1,000,000 Memorial Union building.

Beginning with a huge parade at 1:30 and an impressive dedication ceremony on the lower campus at 2:30, and ending with the Memorial Union benefit dance in Lathrop hall, this evening, the whole day will be given over to the launching Wisconsin's greatest undertaking toward its successful end. Simultaneously with the students in their drive for $100,000, the city is conducting a campaign for a like amount.

Early enthusiasm will show itself this morning when musicians in 10 autos will be rushed through the university district playing their liveliest tunes.

Parade Starts at 1:30

Starting promptly at 1:30 from the lower campus, the two university bands, 1,700 cadets, the dedication speakers, 500 student canvassers, the personnel of campus organizations, and 24 floats marshaled by Major Orlando Ward will parade down State street and around the square in the largest demonstration ever held in Madison. All students not connected with a parading organization are urged to gather on the lower campus at the head of State street to join in the procession.

The dedication of the site of the Memorial building will take place on the lower campus immediately following the parade. Bishop Samuel Fallows '59, of Chicago, reputed to be Wisconsin's oldest living alumnus, will preside. Responses

Cardinal Staff Will Print Bills On Parade Float

A printing press on which, before the eyes of admiring multitudes, Daily Cardinal workers will print handbills advertising the dedication of the Memorial Union building, will be carried on the Cardinal float in the Memorial Union parade at 1:30 today.

"We're going to show them what practical printers we are," says Don Bailey, who will be in charge, and who possibly will be the man who turns the press wheel. "We're going to use two men to turn the press, and others to distribute the dodgers."

A motor truck decorated with flags will serve as a float, and the small job press will run out a stream of handbills.

WE were out on the scent for material for the column yesterday, and after the fashion of all good detectives, were careful to let nothing slip by unnoticed. So when a little piece of paper, lying in a corner of Ag hall caught our eye, we pounced upon it expectantly. But the contents troubled us and we are still at sea as to whether it is advice for Fussing or for Fishing. However, here it is, presented to you verbatim:

A. of C. Head, Emerson Ela Says Capitol Dome Should Be Lighted To Set Off Building

Says Beautiful Structure Should Not Be Lost After Darkness; A. of C. Bulletin Also Favors Plan

That Madison residents and people of surrounding towns agree heartily with the campaign conducted by The Capital Times to light the capitol building, is the belief of Emerson Ela, president of the Association of Commerce.

"I firmly believe that Madison people agree that the costly state capitol building should not be hidden in darkness unless the cost of fighting the dome and wings is prohibitive," said Mr. Ela. "The state of Wisconsin has spent millions of dollars in the construction of this masterpiece and it seems that some method could be devised to make the capitol the outstanding feature of Madison. Thousands of visitors have commented on the fact that the city's greatest showplace is completely lost after darkness. If Gov. Blaine inaugurates a program of making the building more accessible to the public he certainly will have the public's appreciation."

"When Will the Dome Be Illuminated?" is the title of a paragraph in the weekly bulletin issued by the Association of Commerce, which records the favorable sentiment expressed from different sources on the Capital Times plan to have the dome illuminated. "The statehouse is an advertisement for the state—

CHICAGO GAME HOLDS CENTER OF ATTRACTION

Buckeyes Meet Maroons in Decisive Game—Both Strong

The attention of football fans throughout the middle west is centered on the clash between Chicago and Ohio State on Stagg field this afternoon. The outcome of the game will decide which team will stay in the running for conference championship.

The two elevens appear to be about evenly matched. Ohio started the season in a ragged manner, but their present strength was clearly demonstrated when they defeated the Wolverines two weeks ago. Coach Wilce has several veterans of last year's champion team back, and his new backfield has his style of play well in hand.

The Maroons, however, are known to be a team of unusual strength. Their victory over Princeton two weeks ago makes them the favorites in today's battle, but the Buckeyes are a team which can never be considered beaten, no matter how strong their opponents are supposed to be.

Both elevens are stronger than they have been at any time this year, and the score is sure to be close, regardless of which is victorious. The outcome of the game is of especial interest to Badger supporters, as it will decide whether or not the Chicago-Wisconsin game will have any championship bearing.

While the big game is in progress on Stagg field, Iowa will attempt to continue its pennantward march at Minnesota. After their poor showing against Wisconsin a week ago, there seems to be little hope that the Gophers will be the team which will be successful in putting a crimp in the aspirations of the Iowans. Oss is sure not to be in the game, and McCreery, the only Minnesotan who was capable of gaining any ground whatever last week, is reported to be on the hospital list.

Coach Jones' numerous stars, on the other hand, are in as good shape as they have been at any time this season. Nevertheless, there is always the possibility of the better team having an off day, or of the weaker team playing way over their heads. If Williams' crew is unable to stop Iowa, the latter will undoubtedly proceed through the balance of its schedule undefeated, as neither Indiana nor Northwestern has shown up very well.

Coach McDevitt has taken his Purple warriors to Lafayette to play a homecoming game against the Boilermakers today. He has changed his style of game completely during the past two weeks, and it would not be surprising if the Northwestern aggregation annexed their first victory of the season today. While neither team has won a game this year, the Boilermakers put up wonderful fights both Chicago and Iowa, being defeated by one touchdown each time.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (By W. C. Radio News Service).—Although the Gophers received a set-back in last Saturday's game, the old fight and determination is still there. There is going to be a real game on Homecoming day, and Minnesota is due to stage a comeback against Iowa.

The loss of MacCreery, who has been added to the hospital list along with Oss, is keenly felt by the team, and several other players also received injuries in the game. However, Minnesota expects to be "there with the goods" today.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA ROLL 904 IN FIRST BOWLING LEAGUE

Highest Team Score of Year Made Thursday Night— Standings

The Phi Sig bowling team turned in the highest team score of the year in their third game against the Psi Us Thursday night at the Wisconsin alleys. This score of 904 pins beats the record of 903 pins held by the Tekes since the second night of the season.

Kalley of the Phi Sigs turned in a total of 610 for the three games, and Schmidt, an Alpha Chi Omega, rolled a total of 601 points.

The results of Thursday night's bowling in the first division were as follows: Sigma Chi 2, Acacia 1; Phi Gamm 2, Phi Delta 1; Alpha Sig 2, Kappa Sig 1; Phi Sig 3, Psi U 0; Phi Kap 2, Sigma Psi Epsilon 1; Delt 2, P. A. D. 1; Alpha Chi Sigma 3, Zeta Psi 0.

The standings of first division teams to date are:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Alpha Sig	16	2	.888
P. A. D.	11	4	.733
Alpha Chi Sigma	11	4	.733

with De Pauw today, before entering into the hard clashes against Chicago and Ohio State. For the first time in years, Zuppke's eleven has lost three straight conference games. And what is still more discouraging, nothing short of a miracle can prevent them from being defeated in the remaining games.

Michigan and Wisconsin are resting today in preparation for the clash between the two on Randall field next Saturday. Now that Yost has no chance of winning the conference, his one ambition is to defeat the Badgers. Both elevens are in danger of going stale before the game, but if this condition can be averted, the battle is bound to be one of the hardest in the west this season.

The first Big Three game of the year will take place at Princeton (Continued on Page 7)

HARVARD AND PRINCETON TO CLASH TODAY

By CHUCK

Ho, hum, they're at it again! Harvard and Princeton meet today for the championship of the west.

Then Yale will meet the Tigers for the southern title. By the process of elimination, two winners will be picked and they will engage in mortal conflict with the football championship of the world at stake. If Walter Camp needs permission, Mars, Venus, Orion, and Middleton will be included in the world. It is doubtful if "deah, old Hawvawd" will stand for this, however. For those boys, the world is bounded on the north by Princeton, on the east by Cape Cod, on the west by the Alleghenies, and on the south by the Commons.

They call themselves the "Big Three." Others call them the "Big Cheese." Harvard and Princeton were both beaten by teams from other sections, but those games don't count. When the season's results are printed, the defeats will be put in such fine type that an ion along side would look like the Woolworth building. When Harvard grads take their grandchildren on their knees, they'll mention Centre in such low tones that in comparison a whisper would sound like blasting in a granite quarry.

Sure, Harvard would have won, but the team was crippled up, and the coaches were sick. Maybe it was. Maybe they were. Harvard may have been half shot. But it wasn't all shot. Not by a long shot.

Everytime a member of the Big Three meets a strong team, it trots out the "B" eleven and tells it to get slaughtered. It usually does, too. People aren't sure why they have a first team down at Harvard. It never plays. The lineup reads like a list of guests at Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt's Halloween party. Somebody says that the players average $1,000,000 a head. Those boys shouldn't be reckoned by the head the hoof is much more suitable.

"Rah, rah, let's twist the Tiger's tail," shout frenzied Crimson rooters.

"Rah, rah, yourself, you rough things," grimly shout the Princeton collegians.

Somebody ought to fix it up so "Rowdy" Elliott, "Tuffy" Sundt, and "Hardboy" Rollie Williams could get a chance at the darlings.

PHARMACOLOGY DEPT. WINS TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The Pharmacology department is undisputed champion of the Medical school staff in tennis doubles. The final match was played Thursday when Brunquist and Schneller won from East and Sutliff, the Histology department team, by the score of 6 to 3 and 6 to 2.

Had the tournament been run off in regulation manner, the final match would undoubtedly have been that which Brunquist and Schneller won from Bradley and Keston, of the Physiological Chemistry department, by the score of 3 to 6, 6 to 3, 11 to 9, 6 to 3.

OSS MADE ASSISTANT GOPHER BASKET COACH

MINNEAPOLIS—Appointment of Arnold Oss, football, basketball and track athlete, as assistant coach of the University of Minnesota basketball squad was announced by athletic authorities of the university. Injuries have eliminated him from football this season.

LEGION HAS ENOUGH TEAMS TO ASSURE SUCCESS

There have been enough entries in the national guard basketball tournament to assure its success, the adjutant general says. Already 25 teams have said that they will be prepared to enter the games. District tournaments will be held in February, with games scheduled to commence by the middle of November.

BADGER TEAM IN GOOD SHAPE

Varsity Completes Hard Week of Drill on Mich- igan Plays

Completing a hard week of practice during which scrimmage and drill of new formations kept the men in tip-top shape, the Varsity eleven will take things easy today before final preparation for the Michigan game at Madison next Saturday.

Varsity and the All-Americans engaged in a tough battle yesterday afternoon as the final of their series of three scrimmages. The third squad attempted to break through the regulars' defense by means of Michigan plays, but the Varsity easily gauged their style of play and prevented any gains. Coach Richards devoted Monday and Tuesday to new plays which Varsity is working on.

The open game, with the forward pass predominantly used, has been perfected by Wisconsin, and it will be no surprise if many forward heaves are employed to defeat the Wolverines. Beginning Wednesday afternoon, the All-Americans and first eleven engaged in scrimmage. Throughout the workouts, the reserves have been trying to pierce the Wisconsin primary defense, but with no success.

Williams May Play Quarter

Various backfield combinations were tried by "Big Jawn." Williams and Gibson alternated at quarterback. It is entirely probable that "Rollie" will get the call for pilot, with "Gib" on the sidelines. Williams' wonderful showing against Minnesota proved that he can direct the team in skillful fashion. He called the right plays at the right time, picked his holes carefully, and was never unsure of his generalship. Combining headwork with ability to return punts for good gains and to carry the ball for steady advances from scrimmage, Williams makes the ideal quarter. Gibson has improved rapidly since the beginning of the season, however, and he will not give up the position without a hard fight.

If "Rollie" gets the call for quarterback, "T" Gould will probably be shifted to left half for the remainder of the season. Playing half on the offense and left end in the defense, Gould was a power in the Gopher contest last Saturday. "Rowdy" Elliott is sure to retain right half, with Capt. Guy Sundt doing the punting and plunging at fullback.

Badger Wall Strong

With Gould at left half, either Horne or "Jimmy" Woods are likely starters on the flank. The Wisconsin forward wall has played a consistent, aggressive game throughout the season, and it is difficult to see where any change in the center of the wall can strengthen it. Bunge, Christianson and Hohlfeld, Brader and Brumm make a stone wall primary defense. "Gus" Tebell turns in opponents at end and they rarely get by him at right end.

The Wisconsin team will be at the top of its game when it meets Michigan, according to a declaration Coach Richards made recently. "We will have a bellwether at the time of the Michigan contest," Richards said.

Michigan Seat Sale Heavy

Last minute injuries are liable to disrupt any team, however, and with this uncertainty to contend with, Wisconsin's condition cannot be accurately forecasted. There are enough good men in reserve to step into the breach and maintain the strength of the team should injuries upset the lineup.

Seat sale for next Saturday's battle has been heavy. The athletic department has been swamped with applications, and the crowd will probably equal or exceed that which jammed Camp Randall last Saturday.

THE DREAM IS COMING TRUE

TODAY with the resounding burst of the cannon there will be ushered in one of the most memorial days in the annals of the university.

Thousands of Wisconsin students are going to march in parade to demonstrate their loyalty to an ideal. This idea is the erecting of a visible witness to the indomitable spirit that animates Wisconsin.

The many anxious days of preparation are over. The time for realization is here. The arguments have all been made. The appeals have been directed to the hearts of the students. At last, all are awake to the magnitude of the task ahead. Something of the vision of a recreated Wisconsin has met the eye of the soul.

This vision is no new one. Years ago President Van Hise, with his characteristic foresight, dreamed a dream of a greater Wisconsin, in which every student would be bound to every other one in common service. Session after session he pleaded with the legislature for money to build an institution that would unify all the forces of university life. The state could not see its way then to grant the money.

Now the dream of President Van Hise is coming true and it will be the students and alumni and faculty men who will bring it to pass.

As a witness to the living spirit behind this movement a dedication service will be held on the lower campus this afternoon following the parade. Wisconsin summons her sons and daughters to her standard.

They will not fail

BISHOP FALLOWS

IT is seldom that a great university has opportunity to call back one of her sons, such as Bishop Fallows, to officiate in services so far reaching and so prophetic of a greater university and state.

Bishop Fallows received his A. B. degree at the University of Wisconsin in 1859 and his A. M. degree in 1862. He served with great distinction in the Civil War. From 1866 to 74 he served as regent of the university. He has spent the greater part of his remaining years in public service. In the ministry, which claimed him in 1859, he has at various times been called to the highest honors that the clergy could bestow.

Author, army chaplain, regent, lecturer, and bishop—his work has been a constant altruistic endeavor to work for the common brotherhood of man. His work and his life are an honor to his alma mater.

And because this great university honors, respects, and loves her oldest son, she has asked him to officiate at the dedication ceremonies of the Memorial Union—Wisconsin's greatest undertaking.

THEY DESERVE IT

A GREAT deal has been heard on the campus about the high prices charged by some of the business men of Madison. It is probable if country-wide statistics were examined we would learn that the price level in Madison differs very little from that of any other college town of its size.

There are two sides to the question. Every publication on the campus, nearly every activity, whether Homecoming, sending the band with the football team, or what not, is supported in part, at least, by the stores and business houses of Madison.

Without such co-operation many student activities would have but a meager existence. Many a doubtful venture has been given impetus and new life through the generous support of Madison business men.

An example of how thoroughly they enter into the spirit of the occasion is given in today's parade. Madison business men have aided materially. They have entered a float in the parade. They have contributed in no small measure to the success of the Memorial Union.

We hold no brief for those cases in Madison where it is entirely too evident that profiteering is carried on at the students' expense. That such cases exist is known. Some of them have been investigated.

The acts of the few should not, in this case, be blamed on the many. It would be fairer to remember the many business houses where a square deal can always be secured, and where the spirit of the university and its many activities are always welcome.

CONTEMPORARIES

STUDENTS AND NATIONAL AFFAIRS

THE majority of university students are indifferent regarding national affairs. Few of them read a newspaper consistently and fewer still read editorials. Nowhere outside the class room do we hear students discussing important questions of the day. Instead they talk of the dance of the night before or how they "got by" in their last quiz. A student who openly discusses world events is rare.

We are living in an age in which many noteworthy events are transpiring. Whether these happen so that the world will progress economically, religiously, and socially, depends on how these matters are taken up by the people who are just entering upon the responsibilities of citizenship.

Students should consider national questions and their responsibilities a part of their citizenship obligations and obligations to themselves.

CONCERNING SCOTT NEARING

Editor Daily Cardinal:

I read with considerable dismay two editorials appearing in The Daily Cardinal concerning the recent refusal of the faculty to permit Scott Nearing to speak in the university gymnasium. I wish to remind the writer that this university is supported by the state of Wisconsin, a type of government opposed to Scott Nearing, Berger, Debs, and their kind. The faculty would be betraying their trust if they allowed disloyalty and radicalism to be preached from university halls.

As between the faculty and the Social Science club, it does not take a sire to tell which is the most qualified to choose speakers for university crowds. During the war the Social Science club was forced to break up, because of its disloyal and radical standpoint.

The most dismaying feature of the editorial is the proposal that the Memorial Union building be used for such speakers when it is finished. The proposal is that a memorial constructed in honor of those who gave their lives for the flag, and for our form of government shall be used as a forum for the airing of opinions of disrespect to the flag; of contempt for our dead heroes; and tending to undermine our republican form of government by sowing the poison seeds of radicalism in the minds of our youth!

This proposal needs no refutation to any loyal citizen. Such an act would be a slap in the face to those in whose honor the memorial is being built.

MUSICAL SCORE OF "4 HORSEMEN" IS MOST AMBITIOUS

Probably the most ambitious musical score ever prepared for a photoplay is the one which accompanies "The Four Horsemen," the feature now showing at the Grand. Ernest Luz, Chef d'Orchestra for the Metro corporation, who has made a special study of the use of music in connection with screen productions, has written a complete score for the picture under the direction of Rex Ingram, its director.

Instead of using bits of popular selections, as frequently is done, Mr. Luz composed an original score to accompany the picture from the first scene to the final "shot." As a preliminary to this undertaking, he not only had frequent conferences with Mr. Ingram, but he watched the photographing of many of the big scenes, both at Metro's Hollywood studios and on "locations" in the foothills of the San Bernardino.

The cast presenting "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" is in all probability one of the most important ever assembled for any picture and includes Rudolph Valentino, Alice Terry, Wallace Beery, and Stuart Holmes, with an ensemble of 12,000 extras. The symphony orchestra will accompany "The Four Horsemen" at every performance.

SPOOKS CAVORT AT BADGER CLUB PARTY

Stalking specters, clammy touches, and wailing spirits appeared in due order at the Badger club Halloween party last night. After the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. parlors, the guests were led through the "spooky" spots of Lake drive to Dickerson's hall at the further end of University avenue. A program of Halloween stunts was followed by dancing, accompanied by Thompson's orchestra. The chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. George T. Thompson and "Dad" Wolf.

Mowry and Kittleson Seek Teachers' Meeting

A movement was started today to bring the State Teachers' convention to Madison in 1922, when telegrams were sent to that association in convention in Milwaukee by Don E. Mowry, secretary of the Association of Commerce, and Mayor I. M. Kittleson.

The telegrams informed the convention that Madison welcomed the organization to the capitol city next year, and was ready to promise comfortable quarters for meetings. At present the association is paying for their use of the auditorium. The telegrams offered accommodations in Madison free of charge.

MAROON-BUCKEYE GAME HELD TODAY

today when the Crimson meet the Tigers. Both teams have been defeated by teams from other sections already this season, which fact will probably detract from the interest that will be shown in the eastern conference.

For the first time in years the Tigers are given the edge in today's battle. Roper's team is in the best shape that it has been at any time during the season, while several of the Crimson warriors are on the sidelines as a result of the clash against Centre last week.

The third inter-sectional game of the year will be played this afternoon when Coach Rockne's line up against the Army. The westerners have not shown their usual form so far this year, and there does not appear to be much chance of their being the second midwestern eleven to humble an eastern team this season.

MEMORIAL UNION DRIVE OPENS TODAY

will be made by Gov. J. J. Blaine, Walter J. Kohler, president of the Board of Regents; Dean S. H. Goodnight; Israel Shrimski, president of the Alumni association; Arthur H. Kinnan '22; and Mayor I. Milo Kittleson of Madison.

Shots to Open Campaign

Following the dedicatory pronouncement by Bishop Fallows and an address by George I. Haight '99, three shots will be fired from the military department's field piece announcing the start of the week's campaign.

Tickets for the Memorial Union dance in Lathrop hall are on sale today at the Badger Pharmacy, the University pharmacy, and Morgan's.

Show Movies at Dance

Motion pictures contrasting the conditions at Ann Arbor in the $1,400,000 Michigan Union building with those at Wisconsin will be shown during the intermission of the dance tonight. One thousand feet of film will show the advantages of the Michigan building, the site of Wisconsin's proposed structure, the campaign workers, the cramped office and recreation space in the present Union and the Alumni buildings, and the long lines of students before the cafeterias in the university district.

Willet Kempton '23 and a force of men worked all last night to assemble the film for tonight's showing. The Strand theater will have the film Sunday.

Detailed parade directions prepared by George Hazen '23, chairman, are as follows:

Parade Directions

All floats and marchers must be in line ready to start by 1:15 p. m. The First Regimental band with the cadet corps following will lead the parade, starting from the lower campus at exactly 1:30 p. m. The band will meet on the northeast corner of the lower campus. The Second Regimental band will meet on Lake street near University avenue, facing State.

The cadet corps will meet on the lower campus.

Gun and Blade and other Federal board men will meet at 1 o'clock in the club rooms at the Union building, and from there will go to Park street between Langdon street and the lake.

"In view of the fact that the building is a memorial to the service men, we, who are here are duty bound to do our part in making this parade and drive a success," urged Paul Tobey, president of Gun and Blade.

The speakers' cars will line up immediately behind the Federal board men on Park street, facing Langdon.

All students marching with the student body will gather on the upper campus at the head of State street.

Blue Dragon, W. A. A. Yellow Tassel, and Green Button will meet on Park street between Sterling court and State street, facing State.

The canvassing personnel will gather in Sterling court just off of State street.

Position of Floats

The following floats will collect on Murray street between University avenue and State street, facing State: Y. W. C. A., Euthenics club, S. G. A., Alpha Delta Pi, Red Gauntlet, Outing club, Athletic board, Wisconsin Engineer, Badger, Commerce club, Polygon, business organization's float, and A. C. F.

The following floats will collect on Lake street between University avenue and State street, facing State: Student Senate, Union board, Cardinal, Octopus, Haresfoot, Faculty, International club, Philomathia, Hesperia, Athenae, Y. M. C. A., Law school, and ceremonial float.

The Line of March

The line of march from the lower campus is up Langdon street to Park, over Park to State, down State to the square, around the square to Wisconsin avenue, up Wisconsin avenue to Langdon, and back to the lower campus.

Five hundred students have been drilled for weeks in salesmanship by "Ned" Gardner, of the faculty, and are ready today to make a personal appeal to every student on the campus for support in the $100,000 drive.

Professor Gardner made an inspirational appeal last night to 200 fraternity men gathered in the Chi Psi house. "It's the greatest thing ever attempted by the greatest university in America," Gardner said. Two hundred men gave "Ned" a skyrocket and pledged their support.

OTTO CALLS ARMS THE CAUSE OF WAR

the statesmanship is not powerful, that the world forces are not mighty, but that the public may once more be misled; that they will once more mistake the slogan "Disarmament" for concrete action, and that individuals will participate in the shouting and believe themselves in contact with the actual motion causing the shouting.

America Should Lead

America should lead in the disarmament movement—this movement to remove the symptoms and thereby cure the disease. From a purely selfish standpoint we have much to gain and nothing to lose. A future war will not be a war of arms but a war of gases. In this America leads the world.

"The whole cause of war is an unhealthy idea of life, and we can't cure disease or war by shouting about it," concluded Professor Otto.

On Monday at 11:50 Prof. Carl Russell Fish will speak at the third disarmament mass meeting in Music hall, and on the following Wednesday, Dean Scott H. Goodnight and Dr. Graham H. Stuart will close the series. At this time all students are requested to be present.

"We want to draw up some form of resolution suggesting concrete ideas from the University of Wisconsin, to submit to the conference in Washington," was the plea put forth by Miss Sonya Forthal, president of the Collegiate League of Women voters.

Zero Hour Will Mark Program

Citizens to Face East in Prayer On Armistice Day Here

J. H. LEWIS TO SPEAK

Tree Planting Service Is Feature; Mass Meeting In Evening

The planting of a tree in the capitol park, which grew before Gen. Pershing's headquarters in France during the war, the observance of the "zero" hour by school children and citizens, and a speaking program in which Ex-Sen. J. Hamilton Lewis, Chicago, Gov. J. J. Blaine, and Mayor I. M. Kittleson, will participate, will mark the Armistice day activities in Madison a week from today. Final plans were announced at a meeting Thursday night of the program committee in the council chamber of the city hall.

A program, to begin at 10 o'clock in all Madison schools, has been arranged. It will conclude at 11 o'clock, and at that moment, the zero hour, all the children will stand in silent reverence for two minutes. Schools will then be dismissed for the remainder of the day.

The public service will be held at the west entrance of the capitol at 10:30. It will open with singing under the direction of Prof. E. B. Gordon. An address by Justice Burr W. Jones, of the supreme court, will follow. At 11 o'clock everyone will face east and remain silent for two minutes, at the conclusion of which Gov. John J. Blaine and Mayor I. M. Kittleson will descend the steps and lay wreaths on the cenotaph, with a few words in memory of the soldiers of the State of Wisconsin.

The tree planting ceremony will follow. One of six trees sent to America by ex-Secretary of State John S. Donald will be planted at the Wisconsin avenue entrance to Capitol Park. This tree stood at Gen. Pershing's headquarters in France during the war.

Churches will be open from 11 to 12 for individual prayer. During the afternoon, tributes will be laid at the foot of the cenotaph in the form of donations of individuals and organizations.

James Hamilton Lewis, former U. S. senator from Illinois, will deliver the address at 8 o'clock at the evening massmeeting in the stock pavilion at the university.

JAZZ MUST GO SOONER OR LATER SAYS DON ZELAYA

"Jazz is injurious to the physical and moral sense of each individual who takes a decided interest in it, and sooner or later it must go," said Don Alfonso Zelaya, son of the ex-president of Nicaragua and well known concert pianist, in an interview last night at the Orpheum theater where he is playing for four days this week.

"There is only one kind of music—good music. Because it is invisible and intangible, music is the highest form of art," is the way Mr. Zelaya characterized music.

Mr. Zelaya, whose father was president of Nicaragua from 1893-1910, entered West Point where he studied military tactics and other branches of science for three years. Later he supplemented his earlier musical education abroad, and he is now touring American vaudeville circuits where he combines his musical accomplishments with his pertinent philosophy.

Besides appearing in vaudeville, Mr. Zelaya has played before the music departments at the University of Illinois, University of Michigan, Cornell university, and many others. He is a Theosophist, and by his extensive foreign travels has come into contact with many followers of this belief.

SCOTT ADDRESSES COMMERCE WOMEN

"Commerce women are pioneers," declared Prof. W. A. Scott at the Commerce women's banquet last evening. "They have been coming into the business world gradually for two generations, but the real business woman is still a pioneer and must fight against the superior advantages possessed by men."

"Mediocrity in the common-place things will not count," said Prof. Stephen Gilman. "Belief in one's work, and untiring devotion to it, will bring success. And this also applies to the commerce world."

Seventy-five people attended the banquet, which was held in the Woman's building. Elizabeth Thwing '22, president of the Women's Commerce club, acted as toastmistress. Responses were made by Irene Hensey '20, of the accounting faculty, by Laura Hein '22, president of Alpha Gamma Pi, honorary commerce sorority, and by Susie Schaeffer '25, who extended a welcome to freshmen in the course.
