Varsity Stars Shine Tonight in Union 'Vode'

Starts Promptly at 7:45
With "Red" Hawkins and Jazzers in Surprise

Tonight at 7:45 sharp the famous Union Vodvil orchestra will start the opening number of the biggest Vodvil in the history of the university. "Red" Hawkins and his big-time players have arranged a specialty number that will be the key note to an entertainment which bids fair to make the regular variety show look like a faculty tea.

In the wee small hours this morning musicians, dancers, singers, chorus girls, and miscellaneous artists crept home from the dress rehearsal at the Fuller to get a little breakfast before the 8 o'clock.

See Yourself in Movies
"The Empress of the Nile," the surprise photoplay presented by Theta Delta Chi has occasioned much comment among the staff and cast who saw it at the rehearsal last night. "See yourself as others see you," is the invitation that accompanies this number. The picture is full of students and scenes on the campus and it is probable that you can see yourself as an actor in filmland in this act.

The Fuller management reported last evening that all performances of Union Vode are practically sold out. All double seats are gone, but a few singles may still be secured.

The production staff wishes to caution all fusers that it might be advisable to bring some loose change. Those Delta Gammas have a wicked hold-up act that is likely to make the fusers dig down.

"Twelve big acts," is the offer of the management. The personnel includes nearly 100 people. The program follows:

A—Overture—Union Vodvil orchestra — Raymond "Red" Hawkins, director.
B—Campus Smiles—The Empress of the Nile—Phi Delta Theta.
D—Whiffs from Wizardry—Chas. Morris, Gladys Thompson.
E—Edwin Booth, Twelfth Night, and Red Domino—"Suppressed Desires"—John Warren, Jessie Elane Ellis, Rachel Commons.
F—"You'll be Surprised"—Bud Glassner, Bill Goessling.
G—"Oh My Dear"—Delta Gammas.
H—"Here's How for Who's Who"—Dave Mahoney, Pearl Stewart, Don Marvin.
J—"A Rural Surprise"—Howard Sparks Dodge. The Prattville Stringed Trio—Willis "Slew" Fanning, D. Lee Shaw, Richard "Dick" Ede.
K—"The Moonshiners"—Ray Holcombe, Clarence Schubert.
L—"The Sunshiners in Unsuppressed Desires"—Carpenter and Bickel.
M—"Melody Garden"—Directed by Frances Ellen Tucker. Cast—Alpha Chi Omega.

SWIMMERS WIN W. A. A. HONORS

Four swimmers won honors in the W. A. A. tryouts yesterday afternoon. They are Olga Anderson, Frances Beecher, Janet Lindsay, and Marie Nuench, with 95 points for the first two, 94 and 93 for the last two respectively. The honors count for fifty credits towards the large "W," which is awarded to all women who get a total of 800 credits.

Jamboree Heads Foil U. S. Dry Sleuths to Get Cider for Frolic

"Peanuts, popcorn, candy, chewing gum; peanuts, popcorn, candy, chewing gum," doesn't that remind you of your childhood days? "Besides that we shall have cider and doughnuts and cookies," says the grub committee for Jamboree, the costume ball which will be held in the armory, April 10, under the auspices of student senate and S. G. A.

The Sherman anti-trust law hasn't gotten Jamboree yet for being an incorporated monopoly on fun but Uncle Sam's revenue "cassifiers" say that the cider can not be served in jugs. What are you going to do in a case like that? Why serve cider in bottles but "cider we must and will have," declared one of the committee members when interviewed on the subject of food.

Tickets are on sale for 50 cents and are in the hands of Clarence Jcerndt and Amy Jobse, and members of the ticket staff. The sale indicated that there will be a large turnout and campus gossip has it that there will be some costumes there. The homegrown pippins are calculated to be extra fancy just picked.

SOUTH DAKOTA CLUB PLANS MANY STUNTS

At a meeting of the South Dakota club held last night in Lathrop hall plans were made to have a picnic within the next month, to hold a joint dance with the North Dakota club, to have a banquet the first Thursday in May at the city Y. M. C. A., and to advertise the club among those South Dakota high schools which have students who expect to enter the University of Wisconsin next fall.

The club gave William Clark of Nisland, and Adrian Scolten of Valley Springs authority to get up letter headed stationery which is expected to be distributed among all the members of the club. Carl Benz, the new president of the club, and Evelyn Downs, the new secretary, gave suggestions as to how the club could be improved, during who are interested will be able to attend.

PROMINENT AT MILITARY BALL

CAPT. BLANCHFORD JENNINGS

Our married colony will be represented at the Military ball, April 9 by Captain and Mrs. Blanchford Jennings. Cadet Capt. Jennings is in charge of the special feature to be given during the intermission. He is a junior in Letters and Science and a member of Scabbard and

BABY GRIDIRON MARKS ADVANCE IN UNION DRIVE

New Total Reaches $57,021.46;
Waffle Parlor Runs Union
Benefit Today

A novel and graphic means for depicting the advance of the Memorial fund drive is embodied in the miniature football field which has been laid out on the upper campus in front of Music hall. Each ten yard line on the baby gridiron represents an advance of $10,000 and the ball will be moved forward until the goal has been reached.

The ball today rests on the 57 yard line. Subscriptions previous to yesterday total $55,339.46. Yesterday's returns show $1,682 more which makes the fund $57,021.46 to date.

All proceeds taken in today at the Waffle kitchen will be turned over to the Memorial fund. The kitchen in the Union building is open from noon until 11 p. m. Waffles, sandwiches, ice cream, coffee, milk, cocoa, tea, candy—everything that goes to make a light lunch can be had.

BIG ADVERTISER WILL SPEAK TO COMMERCE CLUB

Homer J. Buckley, president of the Buckley Demant company of Chicago, will address the Weekly Vocational conference held by the Commerce school Tuesday, April 6 at 4:30. In the evening Mr. Buckley, who is recognized throughout the country as the dean of "direct by mail advertisers" will speak before the Advertising club at a dinner which will be held in the banquet room of the City Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Buckley was formerly connected with Marshall Field & Co., and was at one time president of the Direct by Mail Advertising association.

It is planned to make the Advertising club dinner an open meeting, and Evelyn Downs, the new secretary, gave suggestions as to how the club could be improved, during who are interested will be able to attend.

MRS. BLANCHFORD JENNINGS

Blade. He served overseas with the marines.

Mrs. Jennings is a graduate of the class of 1916, a member of Alpha Zi Delta sorority and Phi Beta Kappa. She is at present an instructor in the Department of Romance Languages.

MANY ENTRIES IN FIELD FOR ELECTION TILT

Forensic Board Positions
Hotly Contested; Tickets
Close at 5 Today

With chances to file nominating petitions ending at 5 o'clock this afternoon, seven new candidates have appeared in the field, raising the total of candidates for the 22 board positions to 26.

The most hotly contested of all the elections so far will be for the positions of the two senior members on Forensic board. Four juniors, Clyde Emery, I. Arnold Perstein, Charles Asovsky, and Clarence Fugina are already in the field. Fugina, the latest entry, is vice president of Athenae, a member of 1920* Joint Debate team, of Athenae's team against Philomathia, and was final speaker on the winning team in the sophomore semi-public debate.

So far the only sophomore who has announced candidacy for Forensic board is Sterling Tracy. He is vice president of Philomathia, winner of Sophomore open declamatory contest, and won second place in the final contest to decide the N. O. L. representative.

Few For Athletics
Athletic board elections promise small competition. No candidates have appeared yet for track, cross-country, and minor sports representatives. Two new candidates, Albert Knollin, '22, and C. Seymour Nason, '22, will run in the open election for non-W men.

Knollin was a numeral man on the Freshman track team last year, Freshman basketball, and a member of this year's Varsity track squad. Nason was Freshman track manager last year, assistant cross-country manager, and assistant Varsity track manager this year.

Candidates already running are Stevens Gould for president, George Bunge for vice president, "Mike" Knapp for basketball representative, Frank Weston for football representative, Clarence Wille for non-W candidate, and Carson Lyman for baseball representative. Lyman is a "W" baseball man 1919, Cardinal staff, 1918, 1919, 1920, and a member of White Spades, and Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity.

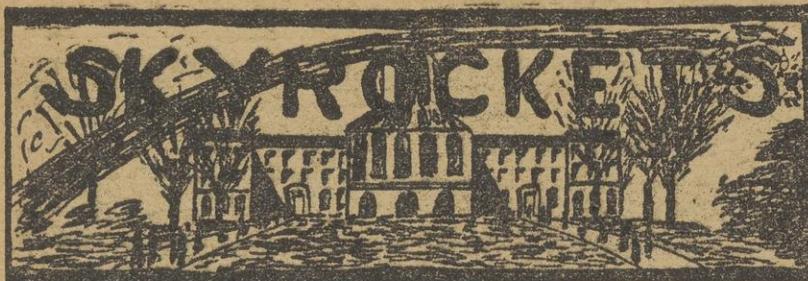

Union Board elections promise to furnish some competition. Three places are open, two for juniors, one of whom must be an experienced man nominated by the board, and one sophomore. Board nominations have not yet been announced. Ver-

AXLEY WINS IN FRESHMAN "DEC"

Ralph E. Axley, representing Hesperia literary society, won first place in the freshman declamatory contest held yesterday afternoon. His oration, an original discussion of "The Party for the Middle Class" in which he pointed out the need for a new political party of liberal principles, was presented in an earnest, forceful manner which left no doubt that he was the best of the seven strong speakers.

John M. Beffel won second place with Wilson's "Flag Day Address," and L. Francis Lamb was third with Roosevelt's "American Citizenship." Both are members of Philomathia literary society.

A LOVELY spring afternoon. Simply divine, and Phyllis stepped out on her porch. From our window we could see her as she moved, a lovely creation of pink and blue silk, her golden hair falling in long ringlets on her shoulder. Suddenly from near the lake, a change gentleman hailed her. She stepped to the edge of the porch, he helped her to the ground, and held her arm as they started towards the lake. Suddenly they came unawares to a mud hole, and Phyllis, to avoid the sticky dirt, lifted her skirt just a trifle. From our vantage point we leaned out further.

We nearly ruined our eyesight until we saw her pull at her hair, which parted from her head, and before us in manly exasperation stood Don Marvin, all ready for a Haresfoot picture.

HAVE YOU NOTICED — That Fannie Ward is playing at the Grand this week in "The Cry of the Weak?"

Vengeance is Mine, saith the Lord Dear Ed:

We think it only fair that the Chi Phis be warned against some vengeful co-eds, whose terrible plan of putting pins in the tires of a Ford will be carried out soon.

WESTON SPEAKS AT FELLOWSHIP MEET

Frank L. Weston, president of the University Y. M. C. A., presided at an informal discussion at the Fellowship meeting last night. Plans and policies for the "Y" at Wisconsin were considered. The work of the past year was reviewed and opportunities for improvement noted.

65 LUMBERMEN IN NEW KILN COURSE

Exactly 65 Wisconsin lumbermen enrolled for the course in kiln-drying of lumber to be given by the University Extension division, within a month after its official announcement. The course has received considerable attention in the lumber reviews and journals, and The Lumber World Review praised it in an article entitled "Kiln Dry-

"Pa" Schlichter came to class yesterday morning with an armful of blue books, and set about in very business like manner to separate the pupils by one or more seats. Then, after he had scared them to death by making awful suggestions as to the subject of his quiz, he leaned back and gave a loud guffaw. Whereupon the class looked sheepish, and crawled out of indignation makeup.

The course is designed for dry kiln foremen, wood shop foremen, superintendents, managers, and proprietors, and is offered by the Extension division in conjunction with the Forest Products laboratory. Improper operation of lumber dry kilns and the scarcity of air-dried lumber are serious factors in the lumber situation and render expert knowledge of kiln drying an absolute necessity, it is said.

TELESCOPE MEN REPORT APRIL STAR MOVEMENTS

Observatory Will be Open to Students Who Wish to See Planets

Astronomical data for the month, furnished by the Washburn observatory, has no clues to offer concerning hydraulic displays in April showers but has detailed information as to the movements of the stars in the heavens.

Mercury is a morning star and reaches greatest elongation west, April 17. It will then rise about 45 minutes before the sun, slightly south of the east point of the horizon. Venus is still a morning star but is becoming lost to view in the light of the sun. Jupiter is the brilliant star near the meridian at a high altitude in the early evening. Saturn reaches the meridian later in the evening and at a lower altitude. Mars rises to the southeast in the early evening and reaches the meridian at about midnight.

Those gay old dogs, Mars, Saturn and Jupiter, still gather for the nightly jollification at the meridian. Mars is a little weary these days after being such a popular lad for the last few years. Popularity is a great enervator.

The principal fixed stars visible during the month in the evening hours are as follows: To the west: Capella, Aldebaran, Castor and Pollux, Procyon, Sirius, and the bright stars of the constellation Orion. To the east: Arcturus and Spica.

Visitors will be received at the observatory, if the night is clear, on the evenings of the first and third Wednesdays of the month, April 7 and April 21, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA BEAUTY CHORUS HEADS VODVIL BILL

"The Melody Garden" presented by the Alpha Chi Omega sorority will be one of the headliners in tonight's Union Vode program. Color, life, and pep combine to make it a really high class act. Pretty girls, beautiful costumes, clever dances and classy music will put it over as a rare success.

A feature of the act will be Omar Khayyam's Harem, with Reba Hayden staring as "The Bird of Paradise," and Louise Sammons performing in oriental dances.

Mildred Winney will star in a specialty act, "The Melody Man." Percis Davis and Marjorie Cummins have a doll act that is a winner.

AN ALL-UNIVERSITY EXPOSITION

OMEWHAT removed from the memory of the present college generation, an all-university exposition was last held in 1913. War interfered with its regular recurrence in 1917 with the result that the one due next year has a double responsibility. In a parallel sense an all-university exposition means to the welfare of Wisconsin exactly what world expositions mean to the country on a larger scale.

The 1921 exposition will mark the steps in advance taken by succeeding college generations. Coming as it does in a legislative year, it will be a medium for showing the legislators just what the university is doing. Every department on the campus is thus enabled to send its message to the people of the state.

It is a message emphasizing the fact that the university is a potent factor in the life of the state; a factor that should be supported in order that it may continue as a most valued servant of the people—one that takes young men and women and moulds them into leaders who are willing to serve the community in return for the advantages accorded them.

The exposition can further give the people a chance to reassure themselves that tea-hounds and other slackers have no place in this busy little universal world. It gives an insight that is vivid and real; one that cannot be attained by a mere perusal of catalogues. It meets a real need at Wisconsin and should be encouraged.

The splendid results of the first exposition showed among other things a substantial increase in enrollment. Senior classes from all high school in the state are urged to come. The result is seen when many students decide on a university education and come to Wisconsin as the place to get it.

The people ought to know how remarkably their university has improved in the last seven years. An all-university exposition is the most effective means for accomplishing that result. Let's talk it up.

THE ANGLO-AMERICAN CLUB

IF WE know a person intimately, there is always something we can respect and admire. Too slight an acquaintance, on the other hand, may breed suspicion. Prejudice blinds us to very estimable qualities.

These truths apply to nations with even greater weight than to individuals. If two countries are bound by close economic ties, their rivalry tends to kindle envy and strife. If good will is to be maintained, they must know each other's temperaments and appreciate each other's points of view. Their friendship must have a solid basis of mutual understanding.

The United States and Great Britain are today the two leading nations, from every standpoint. In natural resources, machinery for production, finance, and military strength, their position is unchallenged. If their relations remain amicable, the stock of world peace will take a noticeable climb.

Their common language, as was pointed out by Professor Fish in a lecture under the auspices of the Anglo-American club, is actually a stumbling-block, in some respects, to their friendship. Speaking the same language, the people of each country expect those of the other to be just like themselves. The heartiness of the American puzzles and vexes the Englishman, whose reserve, in return, exasperates his more spontaneous cousin.

Unirritated harmony can result only from a sympathetic study of each other's habits of mind. It was to make such a study of Great Britain and the British people that the Anglo-American club of this university was organized. Its charter members are men who spent the spring term after the armistice at Oxford university. Their purpose is to understand Great Britain, through a thorough, unbiased study of the good and the bad in British institutions and British life. Similar clubs in England are learning to know America by the same critical, yet sympathetic, method.

The objective of the Anglo-American club is decidedly worthy. Their study is not actuated by a dazzled admiration of Great Britain. They desire to promote friendship with the British people, but not by spreading abroad fulsome generalities. They are obtaining accurate knowledge, through a critical study of conditions as they are.

A thorough understanding by Britishers and Americans of each other's ideals and problems will beget mutual respect and sympathy. Such an attitude was never so desirable as today.

THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

SPRING RECESS

The spring recess will begin at the close of recitations Wednesday, April 14, 1920. The first recitation following will be held on Tuesday morning, April 20, 1920, at 8:00 o'clock.

Under the rules of the university, students who are absent without excuse, from the last recitation before recess or the first recitation following it, will not be admitted to the examinations at the close of the semester in the studies from which they are absent.

Students who desire to be excused should make application in writing on or before Wednesday, April 7. Applications for excuse must be addressed by students to the dean of the college to which they belong. Answer to such applications will be ready on Saturday, April 10, and may be obtained at the deans' offices.

The rule of the faculty applies to graduate students who are residing in undergraduate classes and to undergraduates in all colleges.

Registrar.

MATHEWS TALKS TO CHEMIST ON COLORED PHOTOS

Tells of Practical Possibilities in Metallurgy and Food Tests

A lump of cane sugar will look like a futurist painting, a cross-section of an angle-worm like a beautifully mottled brown easter egg, and a section of a rock like a Greenwich village dress motif, if photographed in polarized light under a microscope on an autochrome plate. This was demonstrated by Prof. J. H. Mathews in his illustrated lecture on "Color Photography" in the Chemistry auditorium yesterday afternoon.

Color photography has been perfected to such an extent that it is of practical use to the scientist in metallurgy, in chemistry, in making food tests, and in zoology, Professor Mathews explained. It has been used very successfully in making colored

Everything Wrong? Take it Out On the Wronk Number

Is everything all wrong? Do you have three mid-semesters one day and four the next, and two papers overdue, and no dates for next week-end, and a feeling that nobody loves you generally?

Well, you are just the person that the editors of the Wrong Number of The Octopus are out sleuthing for. Sit down right away and write a wrong contribution, and put it in some Octopus box before tonight, which is the deadline for all wrongdoers. Just writing this spicy quip will set you right again, if the experienced editors are not wrong. And no matter how wrong your little joke is, it will not get you in wrong if it gets you in the Wrong Number.

moving pictures, but the cost has been so great that it has not been practical to produce them commercially. Colored moving pictures have been produced commercially, but the process that it has been necessary to use has not made the colors register absolutely accurately.

When one speaks of color photography, one does not mean a colored print, but a colored negative. Its colors may be seen either by throwing it on a screen or by holding it up to the light, Professor Mathews pointed out. The three primary colors, blue, green, red, constitute the basis of color photography. By means of screens containing these colors in geometrical arrangement, or by means of more than 1,536,000 starch granules colored with these three colors to the inch, in a sensitized celluloid, colored plates may be produced.

MACHINERY TAKES FARM HAND'S PLACE

More and better farm machinery may help to solve the problems presented by the present scarcity of farm labor, according to F. W. Duffee, of the agricultural engineering department of the College of Agriculture.

One piece of farm machinery which Mr. Duffee believes may do much to enable the farmer to spend more hours afield this summer is the light farm truck. Medium-sized farm trucks will make possible necessary deliveries and other trips to town after the day's work is done in the field. They will make possible a great deal of the usual hauling of the farm by the farm women and boys, while the teams remain in the field. Many farmers are buying such trucks throughout the central states at present.

Scribes Plan Trip

Members of the Journalism department are planning a spring trip to Chicago for the first day of vacation. All the large newspaper plants will be visited, and the method of metropolitan news gathering will be studied. The party will be chaperoned by Prof. W. G. Bleyer, and Prof. G. M. Hyde.

U. W. Student Weds

Announcement is made of the marriage of Lulu M. Dalay of Cleveland to Lieut. Howard I. Potter, a graduate of the university with the class of '15. Lieut. Potter served 17 months in the 26th division. He was awarded the croix de guerre, being cited five times for bravery. Since his discharge from the army he has been with the Metropolitan Life Insurance company of New York and is now a supervisor in the group insurance department with offices in Chicago. Potter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman H. Potter of Baraboo.

ILLINOIS SOLONS
INSPECT VARSITY

URBANA, Ill.—Coach Harry Gill, Manager Joe Mohr, and '15 Illini tracksters including Captain Bob Emery Spink, Prescott, Donohoe, Wilson, Bennett, Dave Brown, Buchanan, Wharton, Naughton, Yates, Wallace, Schuh, Weiss, and Osborn left for Berkeley, Calif., where they are scheduled to meet the Bruins in a dual engagement April 3.

This is the first time in six years that an Illinois team has made the trip to the Pacific coast. In 1914, Coach Gill's men lost to California in a dual meet after a close fight.

They are the sort of Suits that lend poise and charm and pay a high compliment to the good taste and refined atmosphere of the women they adorn.

Every woman who selects a Suit from this selection knows in advance that her personal appearance will excite only the most favorable comment.

What is your preference—a smartly tailored Navy Blue Suit or a novelty effect of more youthful design?

DRESSES ARE BEGUILING IN WAYS UNUSUAL

So smart of line, so charming in every way, no woman can look upon these exquisite creations without being wholly fascinated by them. And every fashion-wise woman must give these dresses her whole hearted approval.

Every style and every silk fabric seems represented. Particularly appealing for Easter wear are distinctive modes in foulard designs. They are appropriate for afternoon or street wear and achieve fashionable straight line and extended silhouettes by means of drapes, flounces, cartridge pleats or side ruffles. Filet and organdie are used effectively as collars and vestees. Girdles and belts are of self material, satin or grosgrain ribbon. We emphasize the attractive prices at

CASTALIA WINS JOINT DEBATE

Get Unanimous Decision
Over Pythia by Strong
Rebuttal and Argument

Well organized rebuttals and superior delivery won a unanimous decision for Castalia in the closely contested Castalia-Pythia debate held last night in Main hall.

Castalia, represented by Benita Berg, Mabel Gregg, and Frances Sawyer, supported the negative side of the question, "Resolved, that the Industries of the United States be organized on the plan of Whitley Report." The affirmative was upheld for Pythia by Dorothea Levi, Alice Outhouse, and Cathryn Mykel.

The debate was characterized by clear, concise arguments. Arguments on both sides showed careful attention to detail and comprehensive understanding of the industrial situation in the world today.

Miss Dorothea Levi opened the debate for the affirmative with a concise statement of the question and the meaning of the Whitley Report. She explained that the Whitley Report calls for a joint organization of labor and capital in the United States with joint committees each having equal representation. The affirmative tried to prove that present conditions in the industrial world demanded a change, and that the principle of the Whitley plan had successfully tried in both England and America.

The negative was introduced by Benita Berg. She established the point that there was not sufficient organization in either capital or labor to warrant such a plan, nor was it adapted to American industry.

Dean Nardin presided. The judges were Dr. D. S. Robinson of the philosophy department, J. C. White, superintendent of the heating plant, and Leonard S. Smith, engineering department.

DAYLIGHT SAVING ADOPTED AT OHIO

COLUMBUS, O.—Ohio State university will fall in step with the daylight-saving ordinance.

Secretary Carl E. Steeb announced that university clocks will be turned ahead one hour at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, April 4. This means that students will gain an hour's sleep over the week-end, but will be forced to get up at what used to be 6 a.m. in order to make 8 o'clock classes.

Mr. Steeb declared he was in favor of getting students up in the "wee hours," since it seems to put more life into them. "I wish the ordinance would take effect this week," he said.

SPRING GRID SQUAD BEGINS WORK MONDAY

Coach Richards Expected
Here to Start Practice;
Men to Report

Spring football practice, with about 50 men expected to participate in daily drills for one month, will open at the university next Monday afternoon. The field at Camp Randall is being put into shape for the work.

Coach John Richards will be on hand, it is hoped, to start the practice and will remain in Madison until it is well under way. He will then turn over direction to his assistants, among whom will be Herb Cramer, former Badger end, who coached the frosh eleven last fall, "Chuck" Carpenter, center and captain of the 1919 team, and "Red" Weston, captain-elect for the coming season. Coach Richards will return before the month is up, in order to note the progress made.

Instruction in all the fundamentals of the grid game will be given, with scrimmage not on the book until the last week of practice. Kicking, passing, blocking, tackling, simple formations and participation in various exercises intended to result in speed and strength will make up the work. The sessions, according to plans, will be stiff, as the time has been shortened somewhat in order to get away from the grueling and inefficient practicing in hot weather.

Other Squads at Camp

Camp Randall will indeed be a busy place when the gridders come out, as the baseball and track squads are now located there, having been on the ground two days already.

The last indoor track meet of the season will be held Saturday in the gym annex. It will consist of an inter-college competition and tryouts for Sigma Delta Psi, honorary national athletic fraternity. In the inter-college competition, all men who have not represented the university in competition are eligible. College insignia will be awarded to the winners of first places.
