POLICE NAB 15 IN RAIDS ON 10 MADISON HOUSES

State Prohibition Officers Join in Checking Vice and Illicit Liquor Flow

Madison police and the state prohibition officers raided ten places and arrested fifteen persons on charges of possession of illicit liquor and disorderly conduct, late last night.

Police officials said that last night's activities netted more persons than any series of raids recently.

Arrest Fifteen.

The persons arrested are:

A. Cunningham, 796 West Washington avenue, disorderly conduct and possession of liquor; Ed. Davis, 794 West Washington avenue, disorderly conduct; Susie Williams, 3 South Francis street, disorderly conduct; Francis Davis, 3 South Francis street, keeper of disorderly house; Agnes Gear, 3 South Francis street, disorderly conduct.

Lucille Murran, 751 West Washington avenue, keeper of disorderly house; Johnson Jackson and supposed wife, Lucille, 629 Milton street, disorderly house; Lubetta Rice, 751 West Washington avenue, disorderly conduct; Alice Clayton, 5½ South Murray street, disorderly conduct; Alice Williams, 749 West Washington avenue, disorderly conduct; Henry Jefferson, 707 Regent street, disorderly house; Frances Ross, 707 Regent street, disorderly conduct; Eddie Foster, 707 Regent street, possession of liquor; L. Gilbert, 707 Regent street, possession of liquor.

Dump Liquor in Lake

At one of the houses the police found that the liquor had been dumped into the lake near the shore. With some effort this bit of evidence was rescued and the prohibition officers cooperated with the police in arresting the inmates of the house.

While Jefferson was away from his house the police entered it. He came to the police station to make a complaint that some persons had broken into his house and was immediately arrested as the keeper of the establishment.

STUDENTS PURSUE CAR AFTER BEING STRUCK

Jack Cavandish '26 and M. P. Sullivan '28 were caught in an auto accident at about 10 o'clock last night when the Ford roadster in which they were riding at North Mills street and University avenue was struck by a Ford sedan which forced their car up on the curb. The fenders and front wheels of their car were damaged, but they were able to pursue the sedan to Middleton and back around the campus. While ascertaining the license number of the car they were unable to hail the owners.

SOUTHERN CLUB HOLDS MEETING WEDNESDAY

The president of the Southern club, Robey Nichols, '25, has announced the meeting of the Southern club at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night in the Law building.

SHARES TO BE GIVEN TO W. A. A. MEMBERS

Official certificates indicating the number of shares which each member of the W. A. A. Cottage company holds in the corporation, will be given out in the first regular meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in Lathrop parlors.

Final plans for building together with the results of the drive for money which is being conducted among the women students of the university will be presented. Cottage committees will be announced at this meeting.

More than 250 letters have been sent out to the alumni of W. A. A., urging them to pledge their support to the cottage. The letter also contains an invitation to each alumna to return to the homecoming activities of the association.

City Council Puts Limit on Parking Cars Near Square

The parking limit ordinance was passed without debate Friday night by the city council. Parking is now limited to the business side of the streets adjacent to the Capitol park and on King and State streets from Carroll and Mifflin, to North Murray, to one hour between 7 to 6 o'clock except Sundays. Warning signs are to be placed on these streets.

Aldermen Patrick H. Barry and A. R. Rhode suggested that the city hall be connected with the heating tunnel which supplies heat from the water works pumping station to the Central high and Vocational schools and city library. This steam heating tunnel runs along Dayton street which is only one-half block from the city hall.

Also in connection with the city hall, Alderman Barry suggested that the council chamber be removed from the second to the third floor which has been idle for years, and that the present quarters on the second floor be used for offices. The resolution provides that not more than $7,000 dollars be expended for alterations. The matter has been referred to the city property and finance committees.

SLOGANS PROCLAIM HOMECOMING NEWS

Banners on Cars of Returning
Alumni Will Advertise
Annual Event

"We're Badgers Homeward Bound."

Banners bearing this slogan will be tied on the cars of returning Wisconsin alumni, according to Orm Wernecke, '26, chairman of the new advertising committee which is aiding the publicity committee to spread the news of the 1924 homecoming.

With the Madison Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, and Elks' clubs all donating page advertisements to be run in the Association of Commerce magazine, homecoming will be advertised on a larger scale than ever before.

Red, football-shaped stickers for car windshields are to be distributed through Wisconsin alumni clubs to returning alumni.

"Every nook and corner of the state will be reached by publicity and advertising," said Wernecke last night. "We are anxious to bring back more alumni this year than ever before. For this reason we are asking the students to personally invite Wisconsin graduates they know to return for the homecoming."

"First Hawkeye Invasion Since 1917," proclaims the advertisement in the alumni magazine which also contains facsimile of the banners being sold to alumni at cost.

Cards asking fraternities and sororities to invite their alumni to return are being sent to the chapter houses and posted in alumni headquarters. In this way it is hoped that all alumni will be reached.

Red banners with a white "W" are being hung from the posts along State street and around the square.

Two committees omitted from the list published last week are the committees on art headed by Henry Lathers, '25, and that on special features, Val Guenther, '25, chairman.

CARDINAL-STRAND REEL SHOWS FOOTBALL MEN

A "Know Your Team" series will be the Cardinal-Strand movie starting today at the Strand and continuing all week. The pictures will show individual members of the Badger football team in action, the purpose being to better acquaint fans with the players.

LITERARY STAFF.

All members of the literary and feature page staff of the Daily Cardinal will meet at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon in the office of the Union building. All students interested in trying out for positions in this department may apply at this time.

BADGER LAUNCHES ON SUBSCRIPTION CANVASS MONDAY

Forty Captains Head Year
Book Solicitors; Will See
Every Student

Forty captains, each heading a team of assistants, will invade the campus on Monday to obtain subscriptions for the 1926 Badger, the university yearbook.

The drive will continue through the week until every student has been personally approached.

Each captain has been assigned to a number of resident houses and students so that the entire student body will be canvassed and has been instructed to appoint his or her own solicitors to cover the territory assigned, explains Ben N. Anderson, '26, business manager of the 1926 Badger, who with the co-operation of Charles Kading, '26, circulation manager, is directing the subscription campaign.

4 AUTOS WRECKED IN MIDNIGHT CRASH

Frank Comey's Car, in Wild
Dash, Meets Grief at Langdon Curve

Two automobiles were complete wrecks and two others slightly damaged as the result of a crash, early yesterday morning at the Langdon street curve. Frank I. Comey, Milwaukee, operating a Cadillac touring car at a rapid clip up Langdon street, collided with a Ford coupe parked in front of the Pi Beta Phi house. Cars parked along the street were jammed one into the other in rapid succession by the impact of the collision.

The driver was hurled over the windshield to the pavement, but sustained only minor injuries. He walked away leaving the damaged car to be hauled away later. Three policemen and a crowd of men and women dashed to the scene. Efforts to locate Comey have been fruitless. Before this accident he struck John Hobbin's car on State street.

The force of the collision sent the damaged coupe ahead 25 feet into William Hobbin's car, sending that in turn down the street into Edith Jorris' roadster. The first Ford is the property of Madge Burt, '26, 609 Howard place and is so completely smashed that action is being taken by its owner. The fender of Miss Jorris' roadster was bent into the tire.

COE HOLDS WISCONSIN SCORELESS FOR THREE PERIODS IN 7-7 GAME

Vi'let, With Code
Id da Hed, Bissed
Seeig da Coe Gabe

Because Violet, Wisconsin's black bear mascot, missed the game with Coe college yesterday, due to a severe cold that she caught while sleeping out one night, the Badger team nearly suffered a signal defeat. For, how could our boys be expected to play their best when there was no little Violet to lend a supporting growl on the side lines?

The black bear, which lives at the Phi Kappa Sigma house and which was brought down from the Canadian woods last summer by Herbert Earl, '28, slipped its collar the other night and got loose from its cage. The next morning the boys found her rather the worse for having spent the night playing outside her cage, and first aid had to be administered in the form of a good, hot drink. So it was not deemed advisable by her medical advisors to let her risk catching more cold at Camp Randall.

Since Wisconsin will want to be sure of counting on Violet for moral support in the coming big games, care will be taken in the future to keep her in good health. For this purpose, she will probably be put under S. G. A. rules, and her hours of retiring watched carefully until her pep returns.

EXPECT 700 DADS FOR GOPHER GAME

Student-Father Section Will Be Filled; Banquet in Armory

Plans for the entertainment of 700 fathers for the week-end of October 18 were perfected at a meeting of the faculty-student committee held at the Madison club at noon yesterday.

"Fathers' day plans have succeeded far beyond any of our expectations," said Dr. H. C. Bradley, chairman of the committee. "We have 525 reservations for the banquet now, with 30 to 50 more arriving daily. When our first plans were made we were somewhat doubtful of getting the 250 fathers necessary to fill the student-father section of 500 seats at the game."

The original plan was to invite faculty members to the banquet in such numbers that there would be about one faculty man for every father. This plan can scarcely be carried out, with the large number of fathers who are coming, because no banquet hall in the city can accommodate that number, according to Dr. Bradley.

It is thought that attendance will have to be limited to 300 faculty members, and this number will be distributed at the tables so that one faculty man will sit with every two fathers.

The banquet arrangements have been placed in the hands of Don L. Halverson, director of the department of halls and commons. The large registration has made it necessary to serve the banquet at the armory, since the capacity of Lathrop gymnasium is limited to 600.

The feature of the banquet will be the address of President Birge as host to the fathers. It is also intended that visiting fathers will speak. An orchestra has been secured, and the Varsity quartet will sing a number of selections, including the version of "What's the Matter with Father" written for the occasion.

Shifting Plays, Passes, Mark
Kohawk Offense; Badgers
Lack Winning Punch

By KEN BUTLER

The state of Iowa sent another of her favorite-son elevens to Madison yesterday to tear down what prestige was left to the Badgers by Ames last week, and Coe, decidedly a dark horse in the race, smashed, plunged, tore through and around the Wisconsin team and returned home to the Cornhusker state with a moral victory to place alongside its near-win of last year.

Holding a 7 to 0 lead until the last quarter, Coach Eby's warriors fought a last ditch engagement and allowed only a tieing score, although Coach Ryan's men used every strategy of the game in an effort to push over a winning touchdown.

Two Yards to Go

Just a few minutes after the touchdown by Wisconsin that tied the score in the last quarter, the Badgers tore down the field towards the Coe goal line. Doyle Harmon returned a punt 20 yards. A forward pass, Leo Harmon to Polaski, netted 40 yards and sent the Wisconsin stands into a wild ecstasy. Doyle Harmon ran the right end district for 20 yards. Leo Harmon gained four yards and Doyle Harmon two. Barnum added two. The ball was only two yards from the Coe goal line—only two yards from victory.

Now was the time for Harris to make his plunge, but Harris had been taken out. There were four minutes to go. This was the climax and things had the makings of a real football game.

But on the next and last down the Badgers failed. Shortly after the whistle blew and the score ended in a tie, with Coe, if anyone, on the top of things.

Second Team Begins Game

That Coe was not considered as strong as she turned out to be was evident from the kickoff. Ryan, at the last minute, decided to send in his second team, and they started off with a 12-yard run by Barnum, followed by an eight-yard gain by McGivern. But Stangel was forced to punt and in a few minutes the smashing Coe backs were tearing down the field at a menacing rate. Smith, star runner of the Kohawks, made 22 yards through right tackle. Mowrey heaved a pass to Makeever which netted about 20 yards.

The Badger seconds found themselves defending their goal on the six-yard line. But the team rose to the occasion and straightway Barnum tackled for a nice loss. Burrus was sent in for Solbraa. Bird, Pence's understudy, tried a place kick which was blocked by the giant Schwarze who broke through the line. Smith recovered it and on the next play tried a pass, which was fumbled almost on the Badger goal line. The pass was called incomplete and the ball went back.

Stem First Coe Offense

Smith passed to Strong, and Schwarze broke through again and blocked another kick. The ball bounded off and rolled towards the center of the field. Schwarze was hot after it, but the lighter and more speedy Coe player soon overtook him and pounced on the ball.

The tide of onslaught was stemmed.

Ryan sent in several regulars, mostly backfield men. Smith tore around left end for 28 yards and was finally tackled by Doyle Harmon. A pass, Smith to Buckton, netted 15 yards. It was fourth down and three yards to go for first down. A drop kick was attempted but fell short. Doyle Harmon returned the ball 30 yards.

The next attack by the Badgers resulted only in a series of no gains and losses and Stangel was forced to punt.

Coach Eby made a strategical

HARRIERS VICTORIOUS OVER MARQUETTE IN FIRST RUN, 20 TO 35

Shimek, Hilltop Star, Finishes First; Seven Badger Runners Follow

The Badger cross country team defeated Marquette yesterday morning by a score of 20 to 35. The Cardinal harriers had rather an easy time of it and took most of the places. First place, however, went to Shimek of the Hilltop team. He ran a good race and finished ahead of the field in the fast time of 20:33 over the 3.9 mile course.

George Berg, official starttr, set the men off at 11:10 o'clock. Ten men were running for Wisconsin and seven for Marquette. Of these, all but two finished. Murphy of Marquette, and Carter of the Cardinal squad, were taken sick on the course and could not finish.

Kubly Is Second.

The Badger harriers showed real form. In the meet yesterday, Shimek of Marquette was first; Kubly, W., second; Petaja, W., third; Captain Piper, W., fourth; Perry, W., fifth; Bergstresser, W., sixth; Cohen, W., seventh; Schwenger, W., eighth; Weber, M., ninth; Schilke, W., tenth; Link, W., eleventh; Lynch, M., twelfth; Schuette, M., thirteenth; Shafer, W., fourteenth; Turek, M., and Smith, M., fifteenth.

The time was exceptionally good as this was the first meet for either team. Shimek, the winner, is the man who took first place in the mile run at the state interscholastic here some years ago. The Wisconsin men finished easily, and did not seem to be exhausted.

Coach Burke was very well satisfied with the showing his men made and thinks that the season will be successful.

HARVARD DRIVE NETS $475,000 CONTRIBUTION

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—A gift of $475,000 has been made for the division of chemistry in Harvard university from the family of the late E. C. Converse of New York, one of the most prominent of the group of international financiers who founded the United States Steel corporation, it was announced by the chairman of the committee to extend the national service of Harvard university. The gift is in response to the $10,000,000 drive started last spring by the university in an endeavor to improve the business school, the division of chemistry, and the division of fine arts.

PURDUE LOSES ITS THREE-SPORT STAR

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 11.—Three branches of sport at Purdue university received a severe blow Friday in the announcement that George U. Spradling, star football and basketball player and distance runner, was withdrawing from college on account of an injured knee and general ill health and would go to California for a sojourn of several months. Spradling was the high conference scorer in basketball last winter and was picked on most all-conference quintets.

So It Seems

Wisconsin failed miserably in its game yesterday. There is no getting around that. And she failed in just that department of the game in which she excelled last Saturday, that of being able to rise to the situation and put over a touchdown when it was needed.

But that wasn't the only fault by any means. Fumbling, poor tackling and general lack of fight were mixed up with occasional streaks of brilliant playing.

The line played well and at the same time it played poorly. Out in the open the line opened holes big enough to let two runners through. In the pinches they were defeated before they started.

The Badgers can't hope to get anywhere without a passer. Harris threw one good one when it was needed, but at other times his passes were yards from the man designated to catch them.

Coe seems to be Wisconsin's jinx. It was the same story last year. But cheer up. Right after the Coe game last year we beat Indiana 52 to 0. Therefore, by substitution, we will walk over Minnesota next week. Maybe.

That Coe touchdown in the first quarter certainly was a sorrowful event for Wisconsin—the first time the goal line has been crossed this year. Even last year Coe did not score across the goal line, the three points having been made by Pence's drop kick.

One cause of trouble in offense work still hinges on a too slow interference for Doyle Harmon and Pat Andrews. Although this fault was not as noticeable as last week, it still exists and needs ironing out if these men are to gain on line attacks.

PRACTICE TURNS TOWARDS FIRST CONFERENCE TILT

Season's Hopes For Badgers and Minnesota Hinges on Next Saturday's Game

With three more or less close preliminary games entered on the experience side of the gridiron ledger, the Badger squad starts practice in earnest this week for its traditional rival, the Gophers. While Wisconsin has not shown true Big Ten mettle in its prelim games, neither has Minnesota, and considering the increasing strength of the small college team, the dope favors genuine battle on Camp Randall field next Saturday afternoon.

Anticipating an enormous demand for tickets for this contest, Paul Hunter, director of ticket sales, will start open sale of tickets at public rates tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock. He reports that a number of good seats are still available for the grid classic that has become to be a tradition on the campus.

First Conference Meet

This will be the first Big Ten battle for both the Badgers and the Gophers. On its outcome hinge the season's hopes of both Ryan and Spaulding's squad.

There is, besides, the zest that comes from the meeting of the understudies of two coaches who are entering their second year in Big Ten competition. Spaulding, formerly of Kalamazoo Normal, has great hopes for his team, despite the loss of Martineau and Eklund.

Ryan, formerly of Marquette and Dartmouth, is combining intensive training with all his coaching strategy to produce a winning team.

The games with Dakota, Ames and Coe have been real eye-openers to Ryan's men. The squad has, at least, learned a lot of football they did not know before. Much will be done this week by way of improvement.

ROCKNE CONCENTRATES ATTACK FOR BADGERS

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 10.—Coach Knute Rockne considers the Wisconsin-Notre Dame game an all-important one for the Irish, and has concentrated all of his superfluous energy upon the problem of developing an incomprehensible attack and an invincible defense. The Fighting Irish squad is slowly assuming the shape of what the experts call the most strategically successful team of the season.

Ryan, formerly of Marquette and Dartmouth, is combining intensive training with all his coaching strategy to produce a winning team.

The games with Dakota, Ames and Coe have been real eye-openers to Ryan's men. The squad has, at least, learned a lot of football they did not know before. Much will be done this week by way of improvement.

ALUMNI, BOOSTERS AID IN BRINGING PREP STARS HERE

Fraternities Encourage Athletes to Attend Wisconsin; Basket Tourney a Factor

Alumni, fraternities, coaches, and team-boosters figure in the many methods by which high school and prep school stars of note are brought to Wisconsin to work out under the Badger banner.

Many are brought by grads who never forget their alma mater and who are on continual lookout for prospective athletes, much as a newspaper man is always a newspaper man and tipster, no matter where he is nor when he is there. High school men of fame are met by the alumnus who lives in the same town. He is then given a talk in which the greatness, the benefits, the fame of Wisconsin is explained. Possibly he is given a date with a fraternity and this is always a good attention.

If he lives nearby, he is brought up and introduced to the fellows and shown around the school. The gymnasium with all its trophies of former Badger teams that were winners help him determine that Wisconsin is the best school.

If men are interested enough to write to the athletic department, they are replied to and are sent department literature, and also the Wisconsin Athletic Review. In no case, however, is the man written to first, as this is a violation of the conference rules.

move, sending in Bird and Rittgers for Smith and Mowrey. A pass, Buckton to Sheldon, went for 34 yards. The ball was now on Wisconsin's five yard line. The Badger line held an onslaught through center. After one unsuccessful attempt, Rittgers plunged through for three yards and a touchdown. Coe made the extra point by a well directed pass, Makeever to Sheldon. Wisconsin 0, Coe 7.

Doyle Harmon and McAndrews started a little engagement of their own and netted nine yards on two trials. Harris went over left end for 20 yards but fumbled. It was ruled that the fumble was made after the ball was dead and Badger hopes ran high. Doyle Harmon ran off-tackle for four yards, McAndrews made five yards through the opposite side of the line. Harris passed to Doyle Harmon but the pass was incomplete. Doyle Harmon tore through left tackle for 18 yards, and repeated with four yards through the same place in the line. Harris was given the ball for a last mighty plunge, but fumbled and Coe recovered as the half ended.

Wisconsin Slow Starting.

The Badgers couldn't get started at the beginning of the second half. But the between-half medicine had pep up the Kohawks and they gained nine yards and then five yards. Two passes were tried, but neither was successful.

McAndrews started an attack for the Badgers with a pretty 30 yard run around left end. Doyle Harmon added eight yards, Pat McAndrews wriggled through tackle for three yards. Harris heaved a pass to Doyle Harmon which netted 12 yards. Harris plunged through center for four yards. A pass over center to Stevie Polaski gained eight yards more. Harris tore through center for seven yards. Doyle Harmon jumped over his interference and took the ball nine yards nearer the goal. Plunging, tearing, Harris gained six yards on two attempts. Then came two losses on end runs and a pass was intercepted by Strong, ruining Badger hopes for a touchdown.

Score Tied, Seven All.

Then came a series of gains which led to the tying touchdown. Harris passed to Stangel, who missed the catch. Harris made nine yards on an off-tackle play. A pass was attempted, caught by a Coe player who fumbled it, and recovered by Wisconsin. Harris was held at center. A pass, Doyle Harmon to Leo Harmon, gained seven yards. Harris went over for first down. A pass was incomplete and Doyle Harmon was stopped dead. Harris heaved a long, accurate pass over the goal line to Doyle Harmon. Leo Harmon kicked goal. Wisconsin 7, Coe 7.

Spurred on by an even score, Wisconsin tore down to the Coe goal line again and failed when the plucky Coe team, worn out but still fighting, held them.

Coe an Able Foe.

It was a different attack than Ryan's men have met this season. A baffling shifting of linemen, a varied attack, combined with a fighting spirit that never lagged, all helped Coe in putting up Big Ten brand of football.

No astounding defects in the Badger play were uncovered; it was just a case of a small college team with nothing to lose and everything to gain. The Badgers were forced to uncork new plays to gain ground.

Coach Ryan has even more information on his men now than he had last week. A multitude of men were used. The Badger mentor has a full week in which to iron out the defects and build up a stronger offense and defense in preparation

His Play Improves

HERBERT SCHWARZE

Schwarze, giant Badger tackle, made his first big entrance into Badger grid play yesterday and gave an excellent account of himself. He blocked two Coe punts and opened large holes time after time. As the line has been the subject of much shifting and experimentation by Ryan, Schwarze's good showing may win for him a permanent place. He entered here from St. John's last year.

for the first Big Ten game to be played with Minnesota next Saturday. This week will see much of the team's listlessness gone. The Coe game has its good effects—it will spur the Badger hopefuls on to harder work.

The lineup follows:

| WISCONSIN POSITION | COE         |

W. A. A. MEETING

An important meeting of the W. A. A. will be held at 7:15 o'clock, Tuesday night in Lathrop parlors.

FIGURES SHOW COE EXCELS IN PASSING; BADGER PUNTER BEST

Figures on the Wisconsin-Coe game yesterday show that Wisconsin excelled in yardage from scrimmage, yardage on return of punts, first downs, and length of punts. Coe, on the other hand, was best in the forward pass game. Wisconsin completed five passes to Coe's seven and the Kohawks made 90 yards to the Badgers' 70. Smith, speedy Coe backfield man, was high in individual yardage, making 80 yards to Doyle Harmon's 75.

The figures follow:

First downs: first half, Wisconsin 5, Coe 7; second half, Wisconsin 8, Coe 2.

Number forward passes: first half, Wisconsin attempted 1, completed 0; Coe attempted 7, completed 4; second half, Wisconsin attempted 12, completed 5, 2 intercepted; Coe attempted 9, completed 3.

Calmness or Nervousness Are Traits of Wisconsin Coaches

By GEORGE DENNIS

Badger coaches, on the sideline during a crucial Big Ten game in which their team is playing, give way to many emotions varying from calmness or even sulkiness at one extreme to high strung nervousness at the other.

John Richards, former gridiron mentor, was a combination of both stoicism and calmness. With the team on the winning end of the score, "Old Jawn" would stroll up and down the sidelines with his old tweed coat draped about him in Napoleonic fashion and his pipe pouring forth volumes of smoke; that was always a sign that the Badgers were having the best of the argument. But if the team should be meeting with reverses John would slouch down in his seat and sit the game out in meditative silence.

When the going is smooth, Coach Jack Ryan takes it calm and even chats with the subs, but if he going gets a little rough or if he has a new man in the game that he is trying out, all his attention is put on every play and no one can get a word out of him. If the occasion demands, Jack becomes quite wrought up as was the situation at the Michigan game last year. Jack was in there speaking for the team all the time.

For a true type of nervousness a person should watch Coach Walter E. Meanwell during an exciting basketball game. The little coach works harder during a game than the team.

One of his noticeable traits is his habit of running over to the timekeeper during the last few minutes of a game. From then until the final whistle blows the coach can be seen either going or coming from the timekeeper's table. This particular habit causes Big Ten timekeepers no end of trouble. At one time the wonder coach was seen to actually get down on his hands and knees and crawl over to the timer. After the game is over, especially if it was victorious, Meanwell is himself again.

As an example of perfect stoicism we have Coach Guy Lowman of the baseball team. From the time that the first ball is pitched until the last man is out, Lowman does not move from his position on the coach's bench. He is calmness personified. When the men come to bat a quite word or two of advice is all that Lowman ever says. He loses all that tenseness that is so characteristic of his actions while coaching on the practice field.

Another example of calmness, although of a different variety is exemplified in Meade Burke, cross country coach. It is quite natural to think that a coach would be

HAWKEYE-OHIO TIE IS BIG UPSET OF
SATURDAY GAMESChicago Makes Good Comeback
By Defeating Brown; Purple Shows Strength

One of the upsets in yesterday's grid battles was the way in which Ohio held the Hawkeyes to a tie game. The Iowa eleven was conceded more than an even chance to win. This will hinder Iowa's chances for a championship team as a tie game will lower their percentage to such an extent that unless the other Big Ten leaders meet with defeat they will be out of the race.

Northwestern, Purdue, Illinois and Chicago all showed strength in their contests. Chicago especially made a big comeback after their poor showing last Saturday by defeating the strong Brown team. Northwestern again showed its prowess by piling up a big score against Cincinnati. The Purple are developing one of the strongest teams they have had for several years.

Indiana Suffers Defeat

Indiana was the only team in the Big Ten to suffer a defeat. The southern team from Louisiana proved too much for the Hoosiers. Michigan had a tough time with the Michigan Aggies and were fortunate to emerge with a 7 to 0 victory.

Some of the conference teams will have to show considerable improvement within the next week if they wish to stay in the running, as many of them face each other Saturday.

In the east Yale and Princeton failed to come through as expected. Princeton was held to a scoreless tie by Lehigh and Yale barely eked out a 7 to 6 win from Georgia.

The easterners were given quite a shock when the Hilltoppers walked off with their game with the Navy. It was hardly expected that the Marquette men would win from the Annapolis team.

Next week will see some real games and a definite opinion can be formed as to who has good chances for the Big Ten championship.

DESK EDITOR—LLOYD GLADFELTER

If Columbus were to come back today, 432 years after, we wonder. Yes, we wonder!

The Prince of Wales will come through Madison tomorrow at 4 o'clock in the morning. Too bad he can't stay over for an 8 o'clock.

When father comes to Madison next Saturday we hope he'll like it so well he'll enter for the second semester.

Wonder what those who were agitating for a game with Marquette this fall think now?

In four weeks an alumnus of the university may be chosen president of the United States. How many students know who he is?

We, ourselves, were unable to see the game yesterday afternoon, and our ticket burned in our pocket, and we were sore. But upon driving through the Latin quarter we saw many who apparently had no excuse for missing the game. They were probably doing what they most wanted to do by not going and in that way hurting their university, but we did not see one who looked at all happy.

A long needed automatic traffic signal has been installed on the corner of University avenue and Park street. It is a fine thing for Madison to catch up with the world. Those who have had occasion to pass that corner several times lately will agree that the "go" signal facing Park street does not stay on long enough to permit the line of cars to pass. The lights ought to be retimed. We wish the local traffic police officers would get automatic too.

OUR WORTHY FOE

Yesterday our foes from Iowa again proved that they were worthy of the best that Wisconsin has to offer. A year ago a fighting team of men from Coe college played Wisconsin to a standstill for more than a quarter of the game and finally succeeded in getting her expert kicker close enough to the goal to put over a three-point counter. Yesterday a fighting, desperate team from the same institution gave an excellent exhibition of American college sportsmanship and clean athletics.

Disappointing as the result may be to us we can feel proud with Coe that we met a rival worthy of our skill. Perhaps we were thinking too much of what is coming in the conference games to worry about the result yesterday; perhaps we thought Coe would be easier to defeat without the incomparable Pence; but whatever we think now, we must admit that Coe deserves all the credit we can give her.

Such contests cannot help but make for a more friendly feeling between the two institutions. No one who saw the game yesterday could ask for more in the way of his money's worth: a gallant team fighting to the last whistle and not suffering any by comparison.

Come again, Coe! We like you.

IN THE BULRUSHES

It is interesting to note that three of four dances exclusively for students last night advertised as special features of their entertainments orchestras from out of the city. At the same time there were numbers of students who play in orchestras who were idle.

One of the chief criticisms of prom and the military ball in past years is that outside orchestras have been imported for such special occasions without local student talent being given thorough consideration. Anyone who has heard Haresfoot and Union vodvyl orchestras recently will agree that it is not necessary to send out of the state to get good music. Added to this is the argument that the students need the work to help meet their expenses in the university.

The students claim that they cannot get enough work or more pay for fewer engagements under the existing system. If outside orchestras continue to crowd them out of the field they insist that they must have more money to make up for the time that they do not have work. Certainly they are entitled to consideration before outside professional orchestras that demand more for their services.

Why look for something that is not any better when there is something just as good at home?

ON BEING COLLEGIATE

When "Four Wheels; No Brakes" was first seen on a campus car, everybody agreed that it was clever. Then it was scribbled on every rattle-trap in the city. It became old, and the wits had to think up some new slogan or application for their nameless contraptions. And some of these are clever, albeit they are embarrassing to the woman who reads them.

The point is that the thing has gone too far and casts a reflection upon the students. The city sports like it, but people of refinement have a right to place the strongest objections; and their opinion is far more valuable to the university than the local boy who can run the table three times in pool.

Now is just about the right time to make some erasures, before Homecoming. For the alumni to read the vulgar quips on student cars is not a recommendation, and they are less likely to send their children to school here.

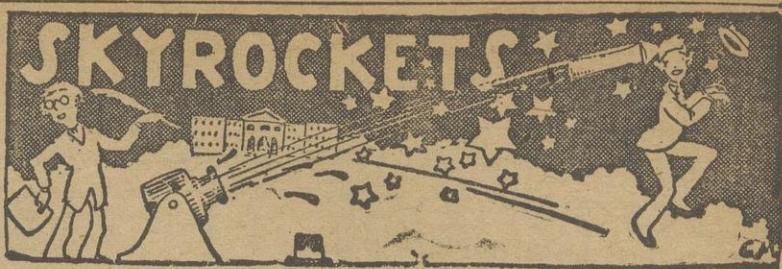

And there is one other thing. It is a typical "college boy's" stunt. They are the only ones who would think of painting a car red, white and blue. Although they are cock-sure that they can get away with it, nevertheless, it is a certainty that they are losing one of the things that a university education can give, namely, culture. It looks so foolish to see a big, mature chap with a heavy beard, who is perhaps 25 years of age, riding down the street in a trick Ford holding a red umbrella over his head, and wearing a silly grin. Most of them ought to be out heaving coal; but if they must stay here let them grow up, and at least try to look intelligent.

RETURN THE BOOKS

Through the negligence, not to say dishonesty, of former students in the university, there are many library reference books in the various boarding and fraternity houses, some of which have been there for years. They are easily recognized by the call number pasted on the backs.

They are volumes that have been spirited out of the library for study without the student's signing up for them, and so no record has been kept. True, the acts were committed by those who stole them, but is it not just as wrong for the present occupants of the houses to see them on their shelves, know where they belong, and fail to return them?

One of the reasons why outside reading here is considered a joke is that the time spent in finding the books to read is far in excess of the time actually necessary to do the work after they are secured. Return the books that you see lying around and in that way help the rest and indirectly yourself.

NOTICE INTELLIGENTSIA

SKYROCKETS has come to the conclusion that, for its more enlightened readers, it will, from time to time, print book reviews. Today's will initiate a series of four which, if liked by the cognoscenti, will be continued; amici probantur rebus adversis.

THE SUBMARINE BOYS ON PIKE'S PEAK

By James Joyce

In this stirring narrative our old friends, Hal, Bob and Gus, are found exploring the highest peaks of the Cordilleran uplift. With their submarines they dart hither and yon about the chasms and other things. The old charm of the author holds us as it did in his former novel, "The Camp Fire Girls in Amalfi." Best of all in his new novel is, despite the criticism of Professor Babbitt (Harvard) and H. L. Mencken (Hinkey Dinks) is the following passage:

"After this the firemen carried the child down stairs and the president of the First National bank presented Mrs. Rooks with an armful of Jacquimots and a new revolver."

And again, the scene in which the old cow is killed to feed the practically starving Hypersthene is powerful as it is potent.

No less gripping is the debut of Felice into Griggsville society, or where Anhauser, the dog, recognizes his dead mother, Supine, with the family garbage can firmly grasped between his thumb and index—Gawd! in the words of a local English pundit, what patbos!

We understand that Comey the Chi Psi is quite the efficiency man these days. Yeh, he drinks hair tonic, and whatever slops over helps his mustache. (We meant to pull that on Walsted, but dammim, he shaved IT off.)

We wonder what is going to help Comey's check book. We've been in accidents in Cadillacs ourselves.

Did you ever hear the dumb crack about the young man that applied at a bank for a position, and when asked what would he like to do replied:

"Oh, I'm not particular, but just don't have me taking care of drafts because I catch cold so easily."

An speaking of banks and money, the two greatest debts that interest us these days are the German debt and the Kappa Sigs'.

We guess they are both INTERESTED in them too.

We asked our Dad what he thought that college had done for us, and he replied,

AG MEETING MONDAY TO DISCUSS BADGER

The stand that the collega of agriculture is to take in regard to the limited space allotted to it in the 1925 Badger will be finally determined at a meeting of the agricultural college federation board on Monday evening, in Ag hall, according to William J. Zaumeyer, '26, president of the board.

The committee appointed to supervise the matter consists of Prof. W. A. Sumner, Herbert C. Schaefer, Aileen Thiesen, '26, and William Zaumeyer.

They are to report at the meeting the general action that the Ag school should take about the Badger summaries of last year.

BAD GRAMMAR

The biggest hit that appealed to our humor this week happened when three couples of us were sitting in Lawrence's last night. The waiter said,

"Do one of you fellows want all of the checks."

Every time we see Bunny Lyons singing a song, we are tempted to ask if that funny far-away look in his eyes is due to the same cause that a friend of ours has.

We asked the friend to play a game of billiards, and he said,

"No, I can't. Every time I look at the three balls I think of my overcoat."

Alton B. Packard, cartoonist and humorist of the Redpath Lyceum bureau, will appear at 8:15 o'clock Monday evening at the First Baptist church.

This is the first of a series of eight numbers which the Baptist church will present during the winter as a part of its community service work.

Mr. Packard illustrates his lectures by cartoons, drawn before his audience. His remarks and songs, as well as his impersonations of well known people, make his lectures humorous, it is said.

BILKEY OPPOSES LA FOLLETTE FUND

Asails Ekern's Plea For Uni- versity Financial Aid in Campaign

In an attempt to dissuade the university from contributing funds for the support of the La Follette-Wheeler campaign, H. Edward Bilkey, '12, secretary of the war camp community service of New York city, wired the Daily Cardinal, expressing the thought that the university should consider the approach nothing more than "trading on the fair name of the University of Wisconsin."

Mr. Bilkey says that La Follette is not an asset to the university, but a liability to both the university and the state inasmuch as he has given both a "black eye" throughout the entire country.

The cause of Mr. Bilkey's opposition arises from the appeal from Attorney General Herman L. Ekern, head of the finance committee of the La Follette-Wheeler campaign, to the university for funds for the presidential campaign.

When Indian Summer Comes, Who Will Forecast Winter?

It is not a question of the poet's fanciful "Oh, wind, if winter comes, can spring be far behind," but when is winter coming? How soon will we have to send home for our fur coats and overshoes?

Those who have a scientific understanding of nature and the elements smile and shake their heads at us who would follow signs and would believe in weatherlore. These wise men will not forecast conditions long in advance, for they say they are sure only of yesterday's and last year's weather.

Opposed, however, to the harsh scientific viewpoint is the man who too watches the moves of nature and sees in them something of the whimsical.

Each year the beaver starts her home at a different time and builds in varied degrees of staunchness. Wild geese do not always migrate at a set date. Ears of corn vary in the protective qualities of their husks. The Indians attach a pretty, romantic significance to all of these signs.

Lovers of nature who have watched them say we will have an average winter. Comparison of previous records in the weather office in North hall indicate this, too. The earliest trace of snow was recorded as falling on October 3, 1921, and we must not be deceived by these balmy Indian summer days. Indian summer comes for a week, sometimes two, in October and is very likely to be followed by a cold snap—perhaps real winter.

While the mole is burrowing his winter dugout, and the forest creatures are growing their winter shagginess, it would be wise to send for red flannels, for winter is coming—quick and sure.

Irving Cafeteria

419 Sterling Court

"AN ECONOMICAL PLACE TO EAT"

Why We Called It "Windsor Room"

URANKLY, the University Cafeteria outgrew its quarters. Hundreds of students and townsfolk thus gave their approval of the delicious food from the Central Kitchens.

But with the authorization of new space in Lathrop Hall came the conception of the only element that had been lacking—atmosphere!

How delicious is food when mixed with romance!

And so we ordered Windsor furniture for this new space and called it the Windsor Room. We pictured you, as a guest, in a graceful Windsor chair; now zestfully eating tender chicken or savory steak; now munching Miss Ganser's delicious chocolate marshmallow cake—but mentally immersed in reveries of the picturesque scenes of Windsor Castle or colonial Plymouth.

To be sitting in one of the Windsor chairs that has descended, in style and appearance, from the first English Windsors!

A tale has come down the years that George the Second of England was once caught in a storm and sought shelter in a shepherd's hut. Here he found a beautiful chair, laboriously fashioned with a pocket knife! He was so pleased that he at once brought it to Windsor Castle where others were made to seat Lords and Ladies for many a royal feast.

But that is only one incident in the history of a chair that's steeped in the romance of centuries—from old Windsor Castle to Pilgrim days; from George of England to George of America.

And so we called it "Windsor Room."

It brings back the chivalry of Windsor Castle, the romance of Plymouth Rock, and the old-fashioned hospitality of the Virginia plantation.

Hurrah! Chicago
Dean Objects to Detaining Classes

Professors have objected to the shuffling and scrambling which occurs in classes two minutes before the close of a class. Students have been called discourteous and lacking in refinement for leaving a lecture as an instructor is uttering his final pearls of wisdom.

Now comes an objection which steps on the toes of professors. And the complaint is that they hold the classes too long. Added to this the objection comes from the dean of faculties of Chicago university.

Lest it not be believed, we quote from the statement which will make all temperamental professors yield to rule. It follows:

"To all Instructors:
"Several flagrant instances of holding classes beyond the proper class time seem to make it necessary to remind the faculty once more at the opening of the year that according to our present schedule, classes begin upon the hour and close fifty minutes after the hour.

"It is of course natural that if we are deeply interested we should feel it a fatal mistake to close in the midst of a sentence and particularly if for any reason we have been delayed at the beginning of the hour; but the only fair plan for both the student and for other instructors is that we take the risk of probable loss on the part of students and close the class promptly."

HOLD FIRST VESPERS

Two Music Stars on Orph Program; Toured in Britain

After a concert tour of the United States, England, and Canada, Albert Lindquist and Leonora Allen are returning to vaudeville for a short time. These young musicians combine tenor and soprano. They have arranged their repertoire into a series of song and duets from the opera, musical comedy and concert stage.

During the past summer in London Mr. Lindquist and Miss Allen were one of the successes of the season. At the Coliseum they were recalled several times after their appearances and were held over for a second week at the theater. On the last night of their London engagement, Mr. Lindquist and Miss Allen received an ovation at the finish of their performance. As soon as present contracts expire another tour of England will be forthcoming.

These two artists who have appeared as soloists with some of the great symphony orchestras and choral societies of the country, have combined to present moments of musical beauty from various fields of music.

Economy, Fashion Go Hand in Hand With Socks, Ties

For once, economy goes hand in hand with fashion. The latest in collegiate socks is red, blue, and brown stripes on white known as Rockford socks. They are made up in bright colors to suit the fastidious man on the hill. They are displacing even the favorite diamond and over-plaids that match the sporty sweaters that accompany knickers.

English regimental stripes lead in neckties, with snappy, striped bow ties coming next. One haberdashery on State street complained of a shortage in striped ties. Light weight flannel shirts in grey and white are among the newer features shown in another store. Silk "tux" shirts are staking a comeback, according to clothing stores catering to the collegiate trade. In the same store, more than 90 per cent of the stock is made up of the newest styles in extreme color combinations for the particular college man.

RADIO WAVES FOUND INFLUENCED BY MOON

From observations recently made on European long wave signals, it is believed that radio waves are directly influenced by the moon. This is the explanation for certain degrees of static, encountered at times, given by the American Radio Relay league. Short wave signals eastward are now being observed in further experiments.

While the new moon was up or in its last quarter conditions of static were found particularly bad. The best signals came across from Europe when the moon was in its first quarter, or in full phase.

These observations did not take into consideration any of the normal impediments such as fading, thunderstorms, or local disturbances.

"Following the drive the order for the total number of books to be printed will be given to the printer and students must reserve their copies now in order to be assured of them upon publication next spring."

A new system of awards to the solicitors obtaining the highest number of subscriptions will be inaugurated with the drive this week. In addition every solicitor obtaining forty subscriptions will be given a free copy of the volume.

Special sections will be devoted to student life, athletics, extra-curriculum activities, Memorial union, colleges, and seniors.

The senior section will be unique in Wisconsin annuals. A new page arrangement has been devised to give each picture and summary special prominence. The arrangement is being kept secret to preserve its exclusiveness.

The scene section will have a new page arrangement and art work hitherto unused in university publications, which is also being unannounced in order to reserve it for the 1926 Badger.

An unprecedented amount of work has already been accomplished toward the 1926 Badger. The opening scene section is ready to be printed and is awaiting the order for the total number of copies of the book to be published.

Michigan Debaters Beat Oxford Team on Liquor Question

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Michigan came out victorious in the long heralded debate with Oxford college, Wednesday, when the audience voted 1,247 to 520 in favor of the Wolverines. The subject for the international debate was, "Resolved that this house is opposed to the principle of prohibition."

Malcolm MacDonald, son of the British premier, is a member of the Oxford team, and opened the debate. He declared that "a sober nation is a good and healthy nation, but the Michigan team must prove that the principle is right, that prohibition has resulted in sobriety, better health, and greater respect for constitutional law."

MacDonald was here when word came of the downfall of the labor party. He evidenced no surprise and explained that he had expected such a result.

"It had to come eventually, and it will be the best way to clear the air of British politics," he declared. He further said that the government knew the issue would come up and took this opportunity of getting a vote of confidence on this relatively unimportant amendment rather than on the Russian treaty which would have been a major issue in the election.
