THREE CENTS

Junior Election Change Voted Down by Board

By ROBERT LEWIS

Reversing the position it took on a straw vote last week, the student board last night voted down a by-laws amendment introduced by Gunther Heller to throw the three junior man positions on student board open to election by all undergraduate men.

The amendment failed to gain the required two-thirds majority in a 7-7 vote, after several board members changed their position "because the date for elections is too close to make the change now."

Although no action was taken, a suggestion by John Bosshard that the board sponsor a forum on peace April 16 in connection with its citizenship training program because "the peace federation is split on the question of peace" brought verbal sparks.

"I don't think it's very wise to get up on the university campus and gabble about something that's entirely out of our hands," commented Chaire Tiefenthaler.

"We can't do anything about it but it's pretty important to be thinking about it," Betty Wells countered.

A student court "with broad jurisdiction" and a conference for all universities and state teachers colleges in the state are projects for which groundwork is being laid, Robert Avery, board president, announced.

The plans for the student court are nearly finished, and will be ready for board action next week. Avery explained that it would be comprised of seven judges, five of them acting and two alternates, and would have power to act upon matters of student conduct and board legislation.

Avery said that the all-state college conference might be valuable in developing student governments in other schools, which would make it possible to throw the weight of colleges throughout the state behind a legislative relations program.

Clear Weather Follows Sleet

The forecast by the airport weather bureau for today is fair and slightly colder with clear skies. The minimum temperature yesterday was 23 degrees above zero.

Sleet and snow yesterday whipped along streets and across the hill, smacking the faces of students with afternoon classes. Eric Miller, North Mall weather observer, reported that the storm was filled with Texas dust, and had extended to Lone Rock, 45 miles from Madison.

The streets department in city hall said that slippery streets was the only difficulty. Sand crews were sent out to remove the danger, but no extra men were needed.

Coffee Hour

President Dykstra will again greet students tomorrow afternoon at the traditional coffee hour to be held at the president's home from four to 5 o'clock. Short course students will be special guests and the whole student body is cordially invited.

Student Set Maker's First Big Job is 'Family Portrait'

At the top of a tall ladder on the stage of the Wisconsin Union theater, a young man in a paint-spattered smock with a rag tied around his head, dips dark blue paint on the front of a setting for "Family Portrait" to be staged by the Wisconsin Players tomorrow through Saturday.

"Kind of silly to spend hours building this set and then to paint it so the audience won't be able to see it?" he calls down from the ladder top. "It's a street in Jerusalem at night, and the only thing that's really important to see is that well there. That's where all the action of the scene takes place, where the story meets Judas."

The young man is Orville K. Larson, student from Sheboygan, who has designed, painted, and lighted the four settings for "Family Portrait," his major production at the university.

"Tug" Wilson, athletic director of Northwestern university and chairman of the NCAA committee in charge of selecting a site for the sectional preliminaries of the national basketball tourney, declared today in Chicago that Madison had been chosen for the eastern prelims.

Up to press time, University of Wisconsin authorities had not been informed of the selection of Madison as site of the tourney. "We are still waiting to hear from the committee," declared Guy Sundt, assistant athletic director.

Prof. Husband Leaves Faculty For Gov't Work

Richard W. Husband, assistant professor of psychology, left Madison last Thursday to take a position with the federal government, it was learned yesterday from Dean G. C. Sellery, College of Letters and Science.

Professor Husband will train executives for the steel industry, under the national defense program. He came to Wisconsin in 1929, and had since become quite popular with students, both on the hill and off. He was a campus sports enthusiast, serving as faculty advisor to the Hoopers.

Husband's field is applied and vocational psychology. He wrote the textbook, "Applied Psychology," used in his course, psych 50. The book was in the process of revision when he was called by the government.

Candidates File Today For 15 Campus Offices

By DANTON LAKE

Bob Berkley, elections chairman,* had the following important announcements to make yesterday:

1. By Wednesday, March 5, at 6 o'clock, each candidate must turn in to the Union desk a publicity article on his experience, platform, and qualifications for publication in The Daily Cardinal.
2. There will be a meeting of all candidates to hear an explanation of the election rules in the Trophy room of the armory at 7:30 Thursday, March 6.

The publicity articles turned in by each candidate will be printed beginning March 8 in the Cardinal in a new public service section being inaugurated this spring, called "Why I'll Vote for—." Order of insertion will be determined by lot at the Thursday night meeting. Each article is to be not more than 400 words in length, type double space, and each must be signed by someone other than the candidate himself. This daily campaign feature is being offered by the Cardinal in addition to the regular

Military Training, Budget Bills Up For Hearing This Week

$339,459 Increase Included in Budget

*To Hear ROTC Bill

*Students to Appear At Sessions Again

By ALEX DWORKIN

Loud in their disapproval of the legislature's move for compulsory military training at Wisconsin, campus leaders, spurred into activity by the anti-compulsory ROTC committee will appear at an assembly judiciary committee hearing of the measure at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Speaking against the bill, which has already received senate approval, will be Nat Heffernan, chairman of the legislative relations committee of student board; Sam Loizzo, chairman of the anti-compulsory ROTC committee; John Kraemer, president of the Young Progressive club; and Josef Shiflar, president of the ULLA.

Heffernan explained at the student board meeting last night that he would present the board's opposition "on practical grounds" to the bill. Carl Runge pointed out that the war department's action in limiting the number of men which it will accept into the Wisconsin ROTC to 1,575 indicates that "the army feels the university can be more valuable in training men for other things than carrying rifles and machine guns."

In a further effort to crystallize campus sentiment against S-16, the compulsory ROTC bill, members of the anti-compulsory ROTC committee yesterday framed a five point resolution re-stating reasons for which they opposed the legislative action.

Reasons for opposing the measure are 1) inability of the university and the army to cope with organization problems created by the bill; 2) the training proposed would only equal six months of regular army training; 3) the charge that the bill is only a reiteration of the selective service act; 4) conflict with the principal of free thought at the university; 5) according to a student poll, 73 per cent of the student body is opposed to compulsory ROTC.

Court of Honor Named for I-F Formal Friday

As the guests of the five assistant chairmen of the annual Interfraternity ball to be held Saturday night in Great hall, five co-eds will form the court of honor for Barbara Matern, Gamma Phi Beta, who will rule over the dance with Hugh Jones, Alpha Tau Omega.

Patricia Knox, Pi Beta Phi, will be the partner of Bill Deerhake, Delta Tau Delta, assistant general chairman in charge of arrangements.

Patricia Park, Kappa Kappa Gamma, will attend with Bill Schilling, Sigma Chi, assistant general chairman in charge of publicity.

Helen Robin, Alpha Epsilon Phi, will be escorted by Ralph Mirman, Phi Sigma Delta, assistant general chairman in charge of music.

Mary Jane Jensen, Racine, will be the guest of Warren Nelson, Sigma Chi, assistant general chairman in charge of finance.

Cecelia Senne, Alpha Xi Delta, will attend with Art Voss, Phi Delta Theta, assistant general chairman in charge of promotion.

Soft lights and back-drops of black and silver with Greek letters will help to make Great hall colorful. Hundreds of balloons with Greek letters will surround the dancers. The balloons will add to the spirit of informality which characterizes I-F formals.

Origin of Lend-Lease Protest Trip Funds Puzzles Students

A month ago 25 university students traveled to Washington to support the American Youth congress lobby against the lend-lease bill.

Previously on Jan. 13, Josef Shiflar, now president of the ULLA, had been sent by plane and train to Washington for the same purpose. He was sent on three days' notice with expenses paid by a will-o'-the-wisp group known as the No Wilson Promises committee.

It is very probable that the money for the AYC lobby was raised on the campus, and it is very probable that un-American organizations did not subsidize the campus organizations. Then again, why the secrecy of the delegate list? Why the unofficial cash transactions? Why do the ULLA books show receipts but do not list the donors?

Exactly what interests 26 persons were representing and how they were financed has caused considerable speculation on the campus. Charges have been made that off-campus groups have been using university organizations as tools. Although executive officers are quick to deny any connections with Communist organizations, they refused Saturday to divulge the names of their active members who "represented" the University of Wisconsin in a protest of the lend-lease bill.

Members of the now seemingly defunct No Wilson Promises committee indicated that $95 had been raised (Continued on page 8)

THE WORLD ... At a Glance ...

Indications that the Nazi spring offensive might already have started were apparent last night when London went through its most widespread air raid damage since Coventry. Although towns being bombed were not revealed, it is believed that points on the northeast coast and Wales were being attacked.

Soviet Russia warned Bulgaria yesterday that it would not support any pro-Axis policy and declared that the Balkan country might cause the possible extension of the war.

Although prolonged debate probably faces the assembly when the biennial university budget is introduced tomorrow, it will probably roll through with little change.

The budget bill, submitted by the joint finance committee of the house and senate, includes an appropriation of $7,742,278 for the university for general operating expenses, an increase of $339,459 over the present biennium.

Among amendments to the budget bill submitted by minority members is a proposal by Andrew Biemiller (P., Milwaukee), minority floor leader, which would forbid the emergency board to cut allotments to the University of Wisconsin and other state schools and institutions. Mrs. Mary Kryszak (D., Milwaukee) would not permit the board to slash allotments for the chairs of Gaelic and Polish at the university.

Biemiller also wishes to re-establish the School of Workers at the university. The school was abolished by the legislature.

The body will start considering amendments to the budget tomorrow. As Republicans have already decided to invoke the unit rule in voting, few amendments will probably be added to the bill.

Under the unit system of voting, the entire delegation of Republicans, which composes a majority of the assembly, will vote for the budget bill, which they have already approved in caucus.

The budget does not include the $1,650,000 promised by Governor Heil for a university building program.

Candidates for campus offices in the approaching spring elections, March 18, will attempt the first hurdle today when they file in the dean of men's office to ascertain their eligibility. The filing deadline is 5 p. m. Fifteen offices will be open; 10 on the student board, three on the Badger board of control, and two on the WSGA administrative committee. It is expected that nearly twice this number will file. The positions are:

Student board: three junior men, one junior woman, four sophomore men, and two sophomore women.

The junior woman elected to student board automatically becomes president of WSGA. The four WSGA class representatives were abolished this year and WSGA officers to be elected are vice president and secretary.

Last Wednesday night the student board voted unanimously to make the chairman of the house presidents' council appointive instead of elective in the position of junior-man-at-large.

With fraternities and sororities unorganized for the spring elections, the campus will have but one organized group, the Badger party. But this organization, too, is gradually losing its identity.

Originally started as a virtually an independent group with a few dormitory and smaller fraternity members, the organization has expanded considerably. It hit an all time high when it endorsed three affiliated and six dormitory candidates last Saturday. It is backing only two people from lodging houses, and one of them is from Langdon hall.

Lodging Houses

At 8 tomorrow night in Great hall of the Memorial Union there will be a joint meeting of men's and women's lodging house presidents.

Final Entry Date

Final date for the submission of scripts in the Wisconsin Players' one-act-play contest has been extended until this Friday, Noel Wallen, contest chairman, announced yesterday.

Wisconsin's stage facilities. "I've worked all over the state, and last year I went to Carnegie Tech Drama school. No place have I found such a friendly, cooperative spirit as here," he said. "It's not only the fine stage equipment, but the splendid directors who really let you work out your ideas."

In 1935 Larson worked in Milwaukee with Stewart Cheney, and at that time helped to put together the original set for Nazimova's production of "Ghosts."

"That was at the Henderson festival," he explained. "I quit a good job, and worked for $5 a week, just because I thought it was such a wonderful opportunity."

Later Larson became art director for four productions of the Milwaukee Federal theater, and technical director for the Milwaukee Wisconsin Players. This group, started originally by Zona Gale, Thomas Dickinson, and Laura (Continued on page 8) from student board front. In the last few days there came to our rather overworked ears a surprising tale of intrigue from those sacred portals in the Union. Remember last time we told of a student board member who stated that the women on the board were of no mental use.

Now another member of this united body says that there is one woman who does do a bit of work on the board.
The only trouble is that she is not a member.
The lady in question is none other than little Eva, and she sits in on the meetings and tells her Nat how things should go for the welfare of good old Badger party.

THE THETAS
are at it again. Did you know that in our recent poll the Thetas won a first in the number of notorious doings? The DGs were a close second.

OH
how shocked we were to find this rather revealing bit of correspondence floating around the other day:

for paying the referee in a couple of days.

Philo.

This missive was obviously written by old Phil Dressler. It seems to be about some deal with the referee in the recent basketball game between the Badger staff and the student board.

It looks to us like Philo was trying to assure the outcome of the game by well known political methods.

Can you imagine anyone violating the rules of good sportsmanship just for a scant half barrel? It leaves us with a rather bad taste in our mouths.

RED HOT
from the political front is the information that Dave Blanchard, general chairman of prom this year, is going to run for junior man on student board.

This is unusual in that no one even in political circles knew of it until two days ago.

Dick Gagnon, also a possible candidate, has relinquished any thoughts of filing, presumably in favor of Blanchard.

WE SEE
that there won't be any corsages for I-F ball, which is all right, too. Also there will be programs that always make a hit although nobody ever uses them.

Best thing yet is the advance publicity on Boyd's gal singer Howard. She's enough for anybody anytime. We're thinking of making her the T. S. girl of '41.

EX-PROM KING
Dick Gagnon sure took a beating in a Cardinal story Friday. He was accused of being a bad, bad politician just because he's remembering his friends. Dick ran the most profitable prom in years. Is that a "sordid" story?

ONE OF THE
strangest of all campus triangles has been progressing for about three months now. Mary Campbell of Langdon hall is the center. For the past three months she has had a date every Friday night with Beta Bill Hackencamp and every Saturday with Phi Delt Dick Oberly. It's about time that one of the boys got wise to himself.

Auto Engineers Will Hear FWD Manager

F. M. Higgins, sales manager of Four Wheel Drive Truck company, will speak at the monthly meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers, Thursday in the Memorial Union. All mechanical engineers, and ASME members in particular, are invited to attend the meeting.

Mr. Higgins will talk on trucks and also on a new product, the motorized toboggan used in northern winter resorts and by the U. S. Army as a possible winter maneuvers weapon.

Hospital Staff Meets

The staff of the Wisconsin General hospital will meet in the Memorial institute today at 7:45 p. m. The main topic will be "Recent Advances in Our Understanding and Management of Some Postoperative Complications." The doctors who will speak are: Dr. Roy B. Larsen, Dr. Arthur S. Tucker, Dr. Reinhold Kanzler, Dr. Otto V. Hibma, and Dr. Frederick G. Joachim.

The average student at Millsaps college has 2 1/2 dates a week, according to a poll conducted by the Purple and White.

From New York to California, WHA Radio Grads Are Heard

(NOTE: This is the first of two stories on graduates of state station WHA. This story concerns out-of-state graduates. The next will tell of graduates who have found places in Wisconsin.)

Wherever one goes within the United States there will be at least one station in the vicinity with an announcer who has a distinct Wisconsin tinge in his voice. Every one of these men is proud of his training, and every one calls state station WHA his alma mater.

From California to New York, from Missouri to the Canadian border, radio men boast of the training they received on the campus of the University of Wisconsin. Radio hall has contributed outstanding radio men and women to almost every section of the country.

Probably one of the highest places on the list of successful announcers' school at the university would go to James Fleming. Four years ago a WHA announcer, he is now working for the Columbia Broadcasting system in New York.

On the other side of the continent is Victor Perrin, a 1940 graduate. He is now doing free-lance work in Hollywood, specializing in announcing and dramatics.

Chicago has ever been a mecca for Wisconsin radio graduates. At least six former WHA workers are at present earning a living in the Windy city. Verne Hansen, chief WHA announcer five years ago, is a regular announcer with station WGN. Chester Porterfield, who did sound effects here, is now at WGN's talent bureau. Chicago free-lancers are Mary Jones, Eileen Voss, and De Alton Neher.

Miss Jean Hargrave-Simpson is still another field, writing radio scripts for the Chicago public schools.

Radio dramatics as a separate vocation has been emphasized at WHA. One of the WHA players' star alumni is Vivian Fridell, National Broadcasting company actress. Miss Fridell's picture has been used several times by radio magazines in connection with her leading role in "Backstage Wife," an NBC serial.

Another attraction for WHA graduates seems to be centered in Cincinnati, Ohio. There, WLW—once the most powerful station in the nation—employs at least three former Wisconsin men. Kenneth ("Peters") Fagerlin, Michael Hinn, and Archie Stockwell are regular announcers at the Crosley station.

Big cities and small towns are equally well represented in the graduate roster. Rockford, Ill., boasts of John Dixon; Louisville, Ky., has Roy Vogel; and Portland, Ore., hears Larry Kirk on station KXL.

All but smothered by their brothers, are the non-commercial broadcasting stations to which other Wisconsin men have gone. Walter Krulevitch, who was on the campus only last year, is now chief announcer for WILL, the University of Illinois station. E. W. Ziebarth is director of the Minnesota School of the Air, and in a warmer climate Burton Smith teaches radio at Stephens college.

Dr. Julian F. Smith, translator for Hooker Scientific library, Central college is master of 13 foreign languages, two of which, Rumanian and Polish, he learned in a month.

Badgers Will Compete In Tourney

IT'S THIS WAY

by Dwight Pelkin

With Badger fans being unable to see for themselves just what did happen out at Penn State Saturday afternoon as their boxing team battered out a 5½ to 2½ win over the Nittany Lions, we herewith present the match opinions of one man who should know what really happened: Coach Johnny J. Walsh.

From Jackie Gibson's first punch to the last shocker that Verdayne John dynamited on Paul Scally's chin, it was a comfortable afternoon for the young and talented Badger leader—and due in large part to really excellent officiating. Wisconsin need have no fears that any of its boys were "hooked", for according to Walsh it was "the best refereeing I've ever seen in the East." Joe McGuigan is the man to whom the accolade was pointed.

So, with that basic fact in mind, here are John's comments on the Badger invasion of the East:

JACKIE GIBSON'S draw with Victor Fiore—"Gibson boxed very nicely and the fight was probably called a draw because of the other boy's aggressiveness. Gibson definitely landed the cleaner punches and more often. It was a very good fight."

BOB SACHTSCHALE

BOBBY SACHTSCHALE'S win over Bill Stanley—"Bobby just swarmed all over him; he threw body punches and then opened him up for good left hooks and overhead rights to the head. He did a nice job."

WARREN JOLLYMORE'S win over Frank Stanko—"He was up against a rugged type of boy who kept charging, but he kept him off with a sharp left jab and a hard right hand. It was a good fight, but 'Jolly' was sharper."

GENE RANKIN'S win over Bill Richards—"Gene still wasn't up to top form; he did fight against an awkward type of boy, but he wasn't as sharp as usual. He did win clearly though."

RAY KRAMER'S loss to Jim Lewis—"Well, Kramer had the guns to win with but didn't use them. He was a little too slow in reacting. Ray was never in danger himself, but he did almost have him knocked out at the end of the second round. Lewis was a very good boy, remember—he's Eastern intercollegiate champion."

BILLY ROTH'S TKO over Les Cohen—"Bill didn't look as good Saturday; he wasn't aggressive enough and was swinging wildly, although he did have a good left hook and landed some very hard blows. The boy he was up against was rugged and a good man too."

PHIL PRATHER'S loss to Paul Mall—"He fought a very good boy who kept backing away using uppercuts that made it difficult for Phil to get in at him, although he did get in some nice punches."

VERDAYNE JOHN'S KO over Paul Scally—"John fought a very smooth fight and used a good left hook. He got his KO with a left hook that was really pretty."

Thus, Johnny Walsh's views . . . and he should know.

With news concerning Captain Nick Lee's possible inability to fight this week because of mumps symptoms still indefinite, Coach John Walsh began his boxing team's preparations for the Michigan State fight yesterday.

Lee is "under observation" at the latest report, and no definite news will be known until later in the week as to the Badger leader's condition. It is improbable that he will be in uniform against the Spartans, however, because of training conditioning reasons.

MICHIGAN STATE STRONG

The team came out of the Penn State match in generally good shape, and although the results were gratifying as to total score, there is still considerable room for improvement on the part of the individual fighters.

Michigan State's team boasts a fine record to date, possessing four victories without a single defeat. The victims are West Virginia (loser in two matches by 4½-3½ and 5-3 scores), Temple 6½-1½, and Bucknell 5-3.

Moving pictures of the Penn State bouts will be shown tonight, while Michigan State reels will be shown the boxers later in the week.

Because of the state high school basketball tournament, the Miami match has been shifted to Monday, March 17 (from Saturday), and there is a possibility that the Idaho match later in the month will also be shifted to a Monday date if Wisconsin gets the NCAA regional basketball tournament for its field house.

Badger Wrestlers Win One, Tie One Over the Weekend

By LARRY ROTH

Coach Martin's improved wrestling team closed their dual meet season last weekend by swamping Northwestern, 24-6; and gaining an unexpected tie with Purdue, 16-16.

Earl Hager and Bill Bennett starred for the Badgers with pins in each of their two matches. However, Johnny Roberts kept up his excellent season's record with a pin and an easy decision. His record for the year includes six victories in eight matches.

RITZ WINS FIFTH

Lightweight Erv Ritz also starred with two decisions, thereby capturing his fourth and fifth tilts in a row.

The Cards showed complete mastery over Northwestern, losing only two close decisions. After Blackmore won his match easily, Halada dropped a two point decision to Taylor.

Then Bill Beaumet and Erv Ritz both easily decided opponents Weinstein and Puharik. In the 155 pound class, Busch lost a heartbreaker to McMillan.

ROBERTS THROWS TRUBEY

But this was the last chance the Wildcats had to cheer, for Wisconsin's Earl Hager pinned Bob Barton in 4:30. Not to be outdone, John Roberts threw Captain Trubey in 3:45. Bill Bennett completed the rout by surprising Chambers in 3:30.

Against Purdue the Badgers showed the drive and fight that they suddenly gained a few weeks ago. Behind 13-0 at the end of the first three matches, and 16-3 after the fifth tussle, the Cards marched to a sensational tie.

Roger Blackmore was completely outclassed by Fredericks, now unbeaten for two years, and was pinned in 2:30. Jerry Halada found an equally tough customer in Allman, being thrown in 2:07. Foster won a wide decision over Beaumet to give the Boiler-makers their early lead.

BENNETT TIE MATCH

After Erv Ritz easily beat Papurca, and Britt maintained Purdue's advantage by eking out a win over Wisconsin's Busch, the Card heavy stars went into action.

Roberts couldn't quite throw Captain Hlinka, although he came close to it time after time. Hager threw Eviston in five minutes.

Bill Bennett, up against a very good man, Ruggieri, was tied with his man at the end of the regular nine minutes. In the first overtime, he came from the bottom to pin the Purdue star in 10:10, giving Wisconsin the tie.

Madison May Be Regional Site

By MARTY SIEGRIST (Cardinal Sports Editor)

The University of Wisconsin basketball team, newly crowned champions of the Big Ten, will compete for a national championship in the national collegiate tournament, the preliminaries of which will be held March 21 and 22, probably in Madison.

Athletic Director Harry Stuhldreher received the official invitation from the NCAA committee yesterday and has announced that the faculty athletic committee has voted to accept. Although the eastern regional preliminaries will in all likelihood be held in Madison, Wisconsin has not yet been officially notified of the site.

MADISON APPROVED

Madison has received the approval of the NCAA committee in charge of selecting the location and an official announcement will be made as soon as the three other eastern representatives have been selected.

Since the tournament in the past has been held on a neutral court, it will be necessary to secure permission from the other entrants before the preliminaries can be held on the home court of one of the contestants, Guy Sundt, assistant athletic director, told the Cardinal last night.

'NOTHING DEFINITE'

Although reports from Chicago indicated that Madison is a prohibitive favorite for the site, Sundt declared, "We have nothing definite yet. We are still waiting to hear from the committee about the location."

Because of the huge crowds which turn out in Madison for basketball, the financial advantage of holding the prelims here is sufficient to induce the other teams to waive the right to a neutral court.

BADGERS RESUME DRILLS

The other three teams which will compete against Wisconsin for the right to represent the East, have not yet been selected. The University of Kentucky and Rhode Island State have been prominently mentioned as possibilities.

The winner of this eastern regional meet will play the western winner March 29 in Kansas City for the national championship.

Bud Foster, coach of the champion Badgers, was out of town yesterday and could not be reached for comment. Previously he had expressed his own and the team's willingness to seek national laurels in the tournament. After a rest the early part of this week, the Badgers will resume drills Thursday afternoon.

Englund Sets Records

Gene Englund finished his conference competition with a total of 162 points, thus establishing a new Wisconsin individual scoring mark. The former figure was 139, set by Hod Powell in 1938 and tied by Englund last year.

Besides this the fiery Badger pivot man equalled the field house record of 27 points in a single game when he poured through 12 field goals and three free throws. Englund's total matches that established by Ohio State's Jimmy Hull in 1938.

Johnny Kotz, burly Rhinelander forward, stamped himself as probably the finest Wisconsin sophomore to play in the Big Ten. Kotz scored 114 points and converted 20 of 26 attempted free throws for an efficiency of 76 per cent.

Climaxing his collegiate career, Ted Strain netted eight valuable points against Minnesota to raise his total to 62. Charlie Epperson and Fred Rehm were close behind with 52 and 44, respectively. Don Timmerman, a worthy replacement for Englund, ended with 22.

Wisconsin Is Proud of Its Basketball Champs

Hail the champions! The undisputed crown of Big Ten basketball is now resting on the heads of a Wisconsin team for the first time in 23 years, and Wisconsin is proud of its 1941 champs.

A record crowd at the field house testified to that fact Saturday night by its resounding ovations. Students swarmed Langdon street and the Memorial Union Sunday to honor their team and its coach. The press has nothing but praise for the Cinderella team which rose to the heights in Big Ten basketball.

Happiest of all were team members and their coach, Bud Foster, and they had reason to be happy. Rated as a second division team at the start of the season, the well-coached Badgers broke records and traditions in piling up victory after victory right up through the final crucial games with Indiana and Minnesota. Highlighting every game was Badger spark and team spirit. This Wisconsin team loves their basketball, and many times came from behind to pull a game out of the fire.

These Badgers were good sports too, and many of the finest compliments paid them came from enemy camps. Poise, confidence, spark, fair play, and ability—that was the Wisconsin Five of 1941.

They refused to be beaten, and when a team feels that way, there's no denying them. No, there's no denying the greatness of the Big Ten champs, and Wisconsin can well be proud.

Press and Politicians Shake Hands Over New Election Rules

The Daily Cardinal this spring anticipates no disagreements with the student board and its elections committee over campaign publicity such as marred our relations last fall. Why? Because the board has agreed that the editors of the campus publications shall have a voice in laying down the policies of political news regulation.

Instead of summary censorship of all manner of stories this month's coverage will be characterized by objective reporting in the best newspaper tradition under regulations evolved not by an arbitrary board agent but by the elections committee together with five campus editors.

This working arrangement is not only the practical but the logical solution to the clash of principles which cropped out last November. Under its constitutional grant of authority to "supervise and regulate all extracurricular activities of the student body," the student board considered itself justified in taking whatever steps it thought necessary to preserve a fairness of publicity among candidates for campus office, even if such action resulted in complete hamstringing of the student press.

Over against this claim was the whole American tradition of free press, as represented by the student owned and edited Cardinal. What board-leveled publicity laws had come to mean was that any mention of any candidate in the press, either directly connected with his campaign, during it, or not, was liable to interpretation as an elections violation. This was manifestly unfair, both to the publication and to the students.

The board was failing to appreciate the new concept of press freedom, that it is not so much the right of the publisher to print as the right of the public to read.

Under the system of control put into effect this week, the Cardinal recognizes the board's obligation to run fair elections and its own obligation as a semi-public utility to be as objective as possible in the interests of not barring to any candidate the campaign methods available to another. On the other hand, the Cardinal and the other campus publications deny completely the student board's right to censor news.

Between these opposite poles of opinion the board and the press have found a common meeting ground in a joint committee of supervision. Out of this cooperation should come a strengthening of the hands of both the student board as a legislative body and the press of the campus as a vigilant public servant.

acts. The editor was forced to resign and eventually was eased out of the university.

There were numerous other acts of similar nature that exemplified mob rule in its worst forms—anyone who disagreed with the "truth" was simply not tolerated.

THE WISCONSIN FACULTY

certainly did not distinguish itself with its defense of liberties in the last war. Apparently freedom of the press on the Wisconsin campus meant nothing to them, yet they wanted to go half-way around the world to impose "democracy" on other peoples.

Yet we have another faculty group that talks of "a duty to decent people everywhere." And then of "the restoration of the right of self-government to all the victims of totalitarian aggression." Apparently they want us to send soldiers to Poland, Denmark, Norway, and a half-dozen other places to defeat Hitlerism. Some people never seem to learn.

The circulator of the petition speaks disparagingly of the argument that we should aid Britain to save ourselves. Rather he wants to have America's youth murdered for some illusory "ideal." Certainly, after this past experience, the only reason for waging a war should be that of self-defense—but it still has to be proven that there is such an issue today.

War means a loss of democracy—and perhaps not temporarily, and yet democracy is the "ideal" these warmongers speak of. Some people even believe that war might mean an end to the capitalistic system that has made America what it is today. We have a great number of problems of our own to solve right here; let's concentrate on them.

It's My Nickel

Jerry Sullivan

AN OPEN LETTER TO WISCONSIN MEN:

Some 80 of our faculty members, most of whom would fit into the comic strip version of the Retired Gentlemen's club, composed of well-upholstered gentlemen snoozing away in equally well-cushioned easy chairs, have come to the momentous decision that if necessary America's youth should be sacrificed in warfare.

(Several Cardinal staff members have commented over my shoulder that the average professor is not well-padded, but is rather, an anemic, neurotic type.) But in any event, these gentlemen who are beyond the age of military service have found a new theme, that, while not as catchy as "save the world for democracy," is equally as noble in sentiment. This time it is "that the destiny of America ought to be finally achieved only within the larger destiny of mankind."

THERE IS NO NEED TO

dwell on what war means to those of us who will have to do the actual fighting, but what of the effect on our university? Perhaps a short review of what happened to the University of Wisconsin the last time we tried to solve the problems of the world by force would be relevant.

Faculty petitions bring to mind the famed denunciation of the late Senator La Follette by an hysterical faculty, several of whose members said afterward that they had been threatened with the loss of their jobs if they did not sign the petition. One instructor was ousted for refusing to follow the brow-beaten mob.

The faculty members might have had some grounds for criticism if La Follette had been disloyal after the declaration of war, but, instead, all he had done was urged that war profits be heavily taxed as they were in England. Those who found patriotism extremely profitable tried to weaken his undoubted influence by calling him unpatriotic, and the attitude of our faculty was extremely convenient.

The unprecedented majority La Follette received in the election immediately after the war and the legislature's later condemnation of the faculty petition were certainly vindications of his record.

TYPICAL OF WHAT MIGHT

be expected of the student body during war-time by the professional patriots behind the lines (mighty far behind them, mind you) might be another stock pavilion session such as was held during the last war. After marching for an hour in the rain, the student military corps was forced to sit in the damp stock arena for several hours listening to a boring "patriotic" lecture—the result, two deaths from pneumonia, 300 cases of grippe, and one case of rheumatism. Not bad, eh? And then the boys were called "unpatriotic" by the Princeton professor who did most of the orating because they were restless and began rattling their rifles!

Because he made a quip about the Liberty Loan buttons in private to another professor who "tattled" to university administration authorities, Professor Feise's "resignation" was announced.

A Parade of Campus Opinion

France is still a potent factor in the European power-politics game, consensus of undergraduate editors.

By ASSOCIATED COLLEGIATE PRESS

FRANCE

Effectiveness of General Charles de Gaulle's Free French forces in aiding the British in their African successes, continued rumblings from Vichy and Paris, and the growing belief in well-informed circles that Marshal Petain and Reichsfuehrer Hitler are heading for a showdown, have served to focus attention once more on the situation in which conquered France finds herself. Undergraduate students of foreign affairs in the United States feel that France's role is still destined to be important, despite the fact that Petain's regime has virtually no alternative to complete collaboration with the conquerors.

At Iowa State college, the Daily Student waxes skeptical in calling attention to Petain's recent assertion that France is a sovereign nation, vested with the duty of defending her soil, extinguishing divergences of opinion and reducing dissidences of the colonies. "According to the French official," continues the Student, "an agreement was made for the two countries (France and Germany) to collaborate in rebuilding a crippled France. Hitler 'forced one to no dictate; no pressure,' Petain said. Maybe so," observes the Iowa publication, "but somehow it just doesn't ring true. The stigma of Hitler's propagandistic methods seems to taint Petain's every word. It is hard to believe that Hitler won't shape the rebuilding of France as he wants it."

The University Daily Kansan joins in the view that "the French government, totalitarian since its armistice with Germany, has little choice but to accede to whatever terms may be offered by the Axis in peace negotiations, regardless of the consequences—chief of which would probably be a declaration of war on Great Britain. And a declaration of war on its traditional ally would precipitate a breach of diplomatic contact with the United States and South American nations which Petain considers essential to France's welfare in regard to hoped-for and much-needed food supplies."

It is pointed out by the Cornell Daily Sun that "with France unwillingly, or otherwise, lining up with the Axis powers, the question of her colonies has come back into the news. President Roosevelt is reported to have warned the Vichy government that further signs of military cooperation between Germany and France may result in this country seizing Martinique and French Guiana. But there are other elements in our affairs with France. Most important, there is Dakar, in French West Africa, a port which an offended France might turn over to Germany. This base on the South Atlantic, some 1,800 miles from Brazil, in event of an Axis victory would be a seat of operations for any attempt at penetration of this hemisphere. It is, of course, out of the question for our navy to go over to Africa and occupy every potential 'enemy' point of operations. Nevertheless, the fact remains that the president will have to consider the role of Dakar, in any decision which will determine future relations with France."

Thus, while formal United States friendship for France continues, the consensus of collegiate editorial thought is that Germany will tighten its iron grip on France and that the prostrate Vichy government will be forced to assume a key role in Hitler's attempt at world revolution.

This Queer College World

All the girls connected with dramatics at the University of Rochester, N. Y., are getting stocked up on aspirins. They're sure their headaches in the next few weeks will be noted for their frequency and severity.

They've decided to produce, March 7 and 8, "The Hand That Rocks the Cradle," a musical comedy written by three seniors, Virginia Betts, Rita Weingartner and Marilyn DeLiguori, and a junior, Virginia Forquer.

Betty Jones '41 has plunged into the task of directing the extravaganza which consists of a mere six acts with six separate casts.

And here's the kicker: The goal of the modest production is to portray the roles of all the great women of the past in moulding history.

BOY! Hurry up with those headache powders!

Chairmen Announced For the 17th Annual SDX Gridiron Dinner

Appointments of chairmen for the 17th annual Gridiron banquet sponsored by Wisconsin chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, were announced yesterday by Tolman Holten, president. The 1941 banquet will be held on Monday night, March 31, in the Great hall of the Memorial Union. General chairman is Tolman Holten. James Moses is in charge of debates, Walter Curtis is custodian of the Red Derby, and Jim Schlosser is handling invitations. Chairmen of entertainment are Don Anderson, alumni, and Sid Jacobson. Other chairmen are Martin Siegrist and Marvin Rand, treasurers; Howard Samuelson, printing; and Bob Houlehen, promotion. The Gridiron banquet is a stag affair and admittance is by invitation only. It annually attracts 400-500 faculty members and students, Madison businessmen, and state newspapermen to hear well-known speakers discuss and debate politics, sports, and world events. This year's speaker has not yet been announced, but it is expected that arrangements will be completed before the invitations are sent out next weekend.

Alberta Arnold

"To make people around you happy is a true part of putting your ability to the service of the community." This was the observation of Alberta Arnold, special guest at Sigma Epsilon Sigma's informal fireside chat Friday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock in Lathrop lounge. Alberta, who last year did "internship" work in Washington, D. C., in connection with the political science department, spoke to the 30 members present about her experiences in the nation's capital. She is now back at the university working for her master's degree on a political science fellowship. One thing Sigma Epsilon Sigma does is to remind members of the ability they have demonstrated. But with this comes the responsibility of putting that talent to work for the advantage of the community, the speaker observed. "My internship at Washington makes me realize what tremendous problems the government is working to solve. For example, I had a chance to participate in the discussion of a 12-page outline form proposing a national relief plan for a six-year period," she explained. Sally Jones and Katherine Marshall brought around hot chocolate and doughnuts while Florence Ovrum, president, conducted the short business meeting. Dean Davis, faculty advisor, sponsored the meeting.

City College of New York has set up a student aid fund in memory of the late Prof. Howard Green, for 23 years director of the Business school evening session.

Fordham university has added lecture courses on recent advances in pharmacology and practice and theory of first aid.

Warren Nelson Is All-around Man Likes Sports, Dancing and Beer

By BETTY KAISER

Friendly? Yes. Interesting? Very. Fun? Lots. If you were going to describe Warren Nelson, assistant general chairman in charge of finance for Interfraternity ball, you would probably use all of these adjectives. Besides that, he's the kind of person whose sincerity and earnestness gives people immediate confidence in him. Maybe that's why the Sigma Chis elected him as their president this year.

Besides this office, Warren has been active in various campus activities during his four years at Wisconsin. He was a member of Pyramid, and also of Mace; he did work on the assisting staff, and this year he is vice president of interfraternity board.

The thing that he is most proud of, though, is his position at third base on the varsity baseball team. He likes softball, too, and last year was named as the third baseman on the all-university softball team.

In addition to baseball, Warren has played on various intramural athletic teams. Basketball is another of his favorite sports. "I think our varsity team is great this year," he said. "It's swell to be on top for a change."

Warren is one of those rugged individualists at Wisconsin, who dislikes bridge intensely. He claims he'd rather play poker any time. He's fond of dancing, though, and when on dates he frequently goes to the Badger inn or Lohmaier's. His date for I-F ball, incidentally, is Mary Jane Jensen from Racine.

"In my spare time, I like to read all the available stories about the Wild West. I have quite a library of them," he said.

If you were to ask Warren what he liked best about Wisconsin, he'd probably answer, "Spring, provided it is accompanied by a good supply of bock beer."

This July will find him in a training camp, for his draft number was one of the first to be called. "The draft is a fine idea, but I only wish I could have had a higher number," is his only complaint.

After his year in the army, Warren plans to go into the business of retail merchandising. "Unless," as he claims, "they decide to make a first-class general out of me!"

Between the I-F board, being rushing chairman for Phi Sigma Delta, and my studies, it's hard enough to keep a good balance." An econ major on the hill, Ralph plans to enter Law school in the fall. He likes athletics, especially bowling, and wants to go out for the spring handball tournament.

A fraternity's a wonderful thing, thinks Ralph. "Here you are, living with a swell bunch of fellows. You're all working for each other, not just for yourself." Says he, "It's terrific, I think. What you get is intangible, but, boy, it's terrific!"

Questioned about his favorite dance band, he thought perhaps Glenn Miller. But none of this jitterbug stuff. "I like to dance, and I like to dance

Chad Informal

Plans for Chadbourne hall's spring informal are progressing rapidly with the various committees working hard under the chairmanship of Marion Truckenbrod. As for girls—"Women are the source of all evil," he announced firmly. "I like a girl who can be a lot of fun on a date. One who likes to do things on the spur of the moment. If I feel like dancing—OK. If I want to sit quietly and talk—OK. The girl's got to fit her mood to that. Do I have trouble in finding girls who will do that? Not a bit."

Drama takes a commanding position in the entertainment lineup with two major dramatic productions scheduled for appearance here. Tomorrow night the Wisconsin Players, directed by J. Russell Lane (better known as "Rusty" to all) present "Family Portrait" on the stage of the Union theater. The production will run through Saturday night.

Johansen will be heard in a solo recital in the Union theater.

That's the lineup for the week—take your pick.

There has been a slight change in the program scheduled for tomorrow night's Pro Arte recital. Due to the fact that the quartet will not return to Madison from their eastern tour until late tomorrow, the Brahms Piano Quintet in F minor for string quartet and piano will be substituted in place of the clarinet quintet originally scheduled. Which means that Mr. Johansen will play in two works instead of one tomorrow night, playing the quartet in C minor for violin, cello, viola and piano in addition to the piano quintet.

According to word received from New York, the response to the broadcasts of the Free Company's radio dramas Sunday afternoons, has been most encouraging.

A letter from James Boyd, national chairman of the Company, states that in the first two days after presentation of William Saroyan's "The People With Light Coming Out of Them," over 400 requests were received by station WABC alone for scripts of the broadcast.

Next Sunday's play will be Robert E. Sherwood's "An American Crusader." Franchot Tone will play the lead—Elijah Lovejoy, an early crusader for abolition of slavery.

The program can be heard over the Columbia Broadcasting System Sunday at 1 p. m.

Fred Waring's "Pleasure Time" comes over NBC every week night. Glenn Miller's "Moonlight Serenade" can be dialed over CBS on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 9 p. m., while Professor Quiz is heard over CBS tonight at 8:30 p. m.

Chinese Checkers, Bridge To Be Played At French Meeting

Bridge and Chinese checkers will be played in French by members and guests of the French club tomorrow evening at their regular meeting at the French house at 7:15. The meeting is changed from the regular Tuesday night to Wednesday night for this week only.

Since no English will be spoken during the evening, this will be an excellent opportunity for anyone interested in French to practice his conversation, and to learn to play bridge as the Frenchman plays it.

Refreshments will be served, and anyone interested in French, as well as members of the club, is invited. Those who wish to have dinner at "la Maison Francaise" before the meeting may make reservations at the house, 1105 University avenue, or at the French office, 209 Bascom hall.

Miss Gladys Cook and Rufus Crane are in charge of the program.

Prof. Buck Lectures On Place of German Drama Over WHA

"The Place and Contribution of German Drama" will be the title of the talk by Prof. Philo Buck of the comparative literature department this afternoon at 3:45 on station WHA. Professor Buck will open the second semester series of quarter hour radio programs sponsored by the German department. The title of the series is Great German Dramas.

Throughout the semester various faculty members will review different German plays on the weekly program. The series, which is under the direction of Herman Salinger, instructor of German, will cover plays up to the turn of the century.

Bonnie and Orrin at Capitol

Bonnie Baker and Orrin Tucker, the engaging couple above, take their rhythm and romance from top spots in radio, and serve it up in generous and sparkling quantities in their first screen effort, Paramount's comedy with music, "You're the One," which comes March 8 to the Capitol theater. Brunette little Bonnie is seen as a blonde in the picture, but her tantalizing, wee voice hasn't changed at all. The film features Jerry Colonna. Also, on the same program, the new March of Time presents "Americans All."

Sorority Announces Scholarship Offer To Frosh Women

Self-supporting freshman women interested in obtaining a $25 Sigma Epsilon Sigma scholarship, may obtain application blanks in the office of Dean Davis in Lathrop hall, it was announced yesterday.

Each applicant is asked to prepare a brief statement of her plans for the future, her health, and her financial needs. Two letters of recommendation, at least one of which should be from a university professor, must also be sent to Dean Davis, faculty advisor of Sigma Epsilon Sigma.

Applicants must have carried a minimum of 12 credits during the first semester.

To raise money to provide three to five scholarships each year, Sigma Epsilon Sigma members have given benefit card parties, collected old clothes for rummage sales, and sold campus calendars.

This year members are selling colored maps of the university, and selling apples in Lathrop hall.

Needy Chinese Get 6 Meals for 5 Cents

In a speech before the World Student Service fund committees of the university and several other state colleges, Dr. T. Z. Koo, international secretary, expressed his appreciation for the interest that American students have shown in helping needy students of other lands.

In the United States students are raising $100,000 for the fund.

Dr. Koo gave a striking example of the value of even an insignificant nickel: "For five cents a Chinese student is able to get six meals."

Dr. Koo spoke to representatives of all the student churches and also of Milwaukee-Downer, Milwaukee State Teachers, Eau Claire State Teachers, Ripon and Carroll colleges at St. Francis' house last Sunday.

Protest Trip--

in three days to send Shiftar to Washington. When questioned as to how so much money could be raised and from what sources, lobbyists gave several explanations.

Student churches are said to have contributed some of the funds, but check-ups show that none of the student churches officially donated. Local labor unions were contacted, said one official of the never university-recognized No Wilson Promises committee, for donations.

Questioning about financing 25 students for the four-day trip, the Cardinal was told that about half of the students paid their own way. This amounted to approximately $20 per person. About $120 was apparently necessary to have the delegation attend the conference over what the individuals paid.

As for the transportation itself, the American Student union arranged for chartered buses to carry the students from Chicago to Washington and back for $12.50.

The ULLA did not carry on its cash transactions through the Union financial advisor, Ray Hilsenhoff. Last cash transaction in Hilsenhoff's office is dated Feb. 13 when $15 was withdrawn from the account, leaving the account approximately $13 in the red. Until a few days ago this had not been paid back.

day of circulation on the campus include Bob Lampman, president of the University YMCA; Howie Boorman, chairman of the university religious council; John Bosshard and Carl Runge of student board; and John Kramer, president of the Young Progressive club.

In an attempt to get the student body to attend the hearings today, anti-compulsory ROTC committee heads will supervise the circulation of 1,000 mimeographed handbills to students at key campus positions this morning.

The handbills, carrying statements supporting the committee's stand by President Dykstra and Col. Weaver of the military science department, urge students to visit their assemblymen and to attend the hearing to "prevent military encroachment" and "... undemocratic regimentation of our university."

Contacted last night, Col. Weaver stated that unless he was "requested to" by the judiciary committee, he would not attend the hearing today.

Sherry, was the original little theater group in the United States.

"NO EXPRESSIONISM"
"I don't believe in expressionistic stuff," Larson said. "The theater should be for the great majority of the people, not for an esoteric few. You might call this set for 'Family Portrait' simplified realism.

"The big problem in this play is not so much the settings themselves as the shifting. We have about a dozen trucks out in the stage shop, and every one of them is in use.

"I start from a floor plan," Larson explained, pointing to the big sets, "and work architecturally. Usually I do the sketches after the set is made, as a matter of record only."

New Talent Sought In One-Act Tryouts

An urgent call for new talent was sent out yesterday by Ben Park, chairman of the one-act play committee of the Wisconsin Players.

"Tryouts for the Wisconsin Players' coming production of one-act plays will be held at the Wisconsin Union Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of this week from 3:30 to 5:30. Everyone interested is urged to hustle over and try his thespian talents," Park explained.

The one-act plays are being jointly sponsored by the Players and the Wisconsin Union.

Residents of the dorms will act as hosts at their annual open house which will take place from 2 to 5 p. m. Besides invitations to guests of these residents, over 500 special invitations have been issued to prominent city and campus leaders.

Exams Helpful Part of Course, Students Find

A majority of American college students believe final examinations are a help rather than a drawback. Nevertheless, nearly 55 per cent say that there is room for improvement in the method of testing a student's knowledge in a course, a nation-wide survey representing the nation's college enrollment shows.

Shortly after fall semester examinations had been held on most campuses, Student Opinion Surveys of America, the scientific weekly poll of college thought, had its interviewers ask a representative sample of collegians, "Do you believe final examinations are a help or a drawback to you personally?" Exams are a help, nearly six out of every ten (55 per cent) declared.

And the reasons most often mentioned are exemplified by these typical comments:

"Examinations make me review and assimilate what I have been learning; they give me a bird's eye view of the course."—Swarthmore freshman.

"Exams make me work. I never study until I cram for finals."—DePauw senior.

"They help me to catch up with things I may have overlooked in a course."—U. of Pennsylvania (Johnstown Center) junior.

There are many, many students, however, who disagree. This is what some of them said:

"Exams work me into a nervous state; I don't remember anything."—Wooster college (Ohio) sophomore.

"I have to cram for finals. I believe in shorter tests throughout the year."—Montana State freshman.

"Examinations are not a true evaluation of one's knowledge. It is better to learn by daily study than cramming for the final."—University of Denver sophomore.

Despite the majority belief that exams are a help, only 45 per cent of the nation's students, in answer to the question, "Do you believe final examinations should be continued, or should some other method be found to test your knowledge in a course?" chose the first alternative.

Women students believe finals are less a help to them than do men, the poll shows. Likewise, women students are much more prone to discredit final examinations as a good method of testing a student's knowledge in a course than are men. The emotional strain many say is caused by exams may explain the women's greater dislike for finals. One girl admitted, "They scare me to death."

A course in Latin-American history has been added to the curriculum at Lafayette.

Lees-McRae college students, Banner Elk, N. C., have organized the country's farthest-south skiing club. Members make their own skis in the college wood-shop.
