Sharp Appoints 12 Committees to Assist Union

Sixty-Eight Students Named on Groups to Help Council

Lauriston Sharp '29, president of the Wisconsin Union, has announced the appointment of 12 house committees to assist the Union council in the management of the Memorial Union. Of the 87 persons who will serve on these committees, 43 are student men, 25 are student women, 12 are faculty members, and seven are alumni.

The appointment of these committees is evidence that student self-government in a new form is getting under way on the campus. Each committee, composed for the most part of students, will be responsible to the Union council, assisting in the operation of the house, and making recommendations throughout the year for the general direction of the Union.

Some of the committees are already working and others are now organizing. The personnel of the committees follows:

The Committees

House committee: Chairman to be appointed, Katherine Keeler '29, Jessie Price '30, Eleanor Savery '31, Sanford Levings '31, Jack Hustling '30, John Callenback '30, Dave McNary '30, John Bergstresser '25, Prof. C. L. Jamison.

Women's Affairs committee: Sallie Davis '29, chairman; Helen Keeler '29, Marian Horr '30, Margaret Fink '30, Janet Smith '30, Jane Bull '30, Sally Owen '30, Irma Ringe '29, Eleanor Pennington '29, Lee Bacon '20.

Commons committee: James Hanks '29, chairman; Jessica Murphy '29, Sally Owen '30, Emmet Solomon '31, William Campbell '29, Ted Otjen '30, Newman Halvorsen '30, Les Gage '23, Prof. Glenn Trewartha.

Rathskeller Group

Linton Lectures on Environment

Non-Uniformity of Develop- ment Due to Difference in Surroundings

That man's structure indicates his development in regions not uniform, was pointed out by Prof. Ralph Linton, well known anthropologist, and member of the sociology department, in a speech before the Geographers club at 3:30 p. m. Thursday in room 217 Science hall.

He considered first, in "The Influence of Geographic Environment on Man and Culture," the evolution of the human being from lower forms, which he illustrated by the similarity of man's physical structure to that of the anthropoid.

Light Develops Race

What effect has environment on the development of the race? Outstanding in the little knowledge we have thus far to answer the question, Mr. Linton says, is the light factor.

Blonds could not live for several generations in the tropic regions. As a result of the lack of pigment, a secretion of bile, the blond has liver trouble when exposed to the extremely bright sun rays. The effect of the terrific light is counteracted in the Latin type by pigment acting as filter for the rays. This type can live in the northwestern regions too, but the absence of pigment is an asset here in making the most of the little sunlight," Prof. Linton stated.

Blonds Stay Blond

Once blondness is established a race never becomes dark again, unless intermingled with persons who have not lost their color factor.

Nothing beyond pigmentation has been accounted for in the environmental effect upon races. The results of a recent study, he said, tends to prove that the head formation of the immediate children of immigrants (Continued on Page 10)

Prom Work Begins as 150 Are Chosen on Groups to Aid Catlin

Christmas Carol Sing Set for Dec. 16

The traditional custom of singing Christmas carols before the candle-light windows of houses in the sorority and fraternity district will be repeated this season Sunday, Dec. 16. Students interested are asked to meet in the music and arts room of the Union at 7 p. m. tonight. Carols are in charge of Profs. C. F. Gillen and J. E. Harris.

Pyre Journeys East to Bring Murphy Here

Prof. J. F. A. "Sunny" Pyre head of the Athletic council is in New Haven, Conn., today conferring with the Yale authorities concerning the possibility of releasing George "Mike" Murphy, freshman crew coach, in order that he may accept the post of head crew coach here, it was learned last night.

Murphy who has made several visits here during the last few months was said by George Little, athletic director, to be the outstanding candidate for Wisconsin's crew coach vacancy.

Eight Years at Yale

Murphy has been freshman crew coach at Yale for the last eight years under Ed Leader. His methods of developing the yearlings at Yale has created favorable comment. Murphy gained his experience on the Washington university crew of which he was a member for three years. The fact that Murphy was developed by Leader, who was at that time coaching at Washington, and has been coaching under him the last eight years alone is sufficient to give Murphy a reputation.

It is known that the athletic council has agreed upon selecting Murphy and that it is now up to him whether he will accept the position here or not.

Position Here Advancement

In accepting the position here Murphy will be guided by the fact that at Yale as long as Ed Leader is head coach he has little chance of advancement. Wisconsin, on the other hand, will offer him an opportunity to gain national fame in the crew world.

Acting Coach Orth who took over the crew reigns after the death of "Dad" Vail is said to be pleased with the prospect of having Murphy here as head coach. Orth who was stroke on last years eight has had his crew on the lakes several times this fall, and the prospects that next spring will see Wisconsin represented by the strongest crew ever at the Annual Classic at Poughkeepsie are excellent.

Rathskeller Open to Men and Women at Student Dance

The Rathskeller will be thrown open to men and women at the Union dance Saturday, Dec. 8, it was announced yesterday by Bob Calkins '29, chairman of the Union dance committee.

Featuring personality plus and combining surprise numbers with excellent music, the Egyptian Serenaders will furnish entertainment for student dance-goers in the Great hall.

This is the third of the well-known orchestras which the Union has brought to Madison. Singing soloists, a bass fiddle wizard, and burlesque dancing novelties are all a part of their repertoire. Engagements at Eastwood Park, Detroit, Young's Million Dollar Pier, Atlantic City, and Ellitch's Gardens in Denver attracted large crowds because of the versatility of the musicians. Admission is set at

German Department to Present "Modern Berlin"

"Modern Berlin," a movie, is to be given at 4 p. m. this afternoon in the auditorium of the Engineering building. There is no admission charge. The German department is sponsoring the cinema.

Finance, Pre-Prom Dance and Publicity Committees Start Tasks

One hundred and fifty students will assist John Catlin, Prom chairman, in planning and holding the 1930 Prom. Chairmen of committees completed the personnel of their groups late last night and reported to the respective general assistant under whose supervision they are working.

Several committees including finance, pre-Prom dance, and publicity have actively begun work which will culminate two months from next Sunday when Catlin leads the grand march through the marble halls of the Memorial Union building on the night of Feb. 8. The Prom orchestra has not yet been selected.

Higley Announces '30 Badger Theme

Staff Uses 12th Century Ger- man Manuscript as a Model

Theme of the 1930 Badger will be that of a Twelfth century manuscript it was announced yesterday afternoon by Stuart Higley, editor. Through the courtesy of the Art Institute and the Newberry library of Chicago, access was gained to original manuscripts. An intensive study was made of them, copies and photographs of striking parts of the books were made. For the first time, a college publication will make an exact and accurate copy of a manuscript, thus making the coming Badger itself a manuscript.

Higley announces that each page of an opening section will be done in six colors, each page being a reproduction of an original. The first 16 pages of the book will be of parchment paper, each parchment page having a French Fold to the sheet so that the transparency of the paper will not affect the lettering on it.

The cover of the book will be in brown pigskin of three tones. The edges of the pages will be colored and treated so that they will add to the effect of age. These pages are reproductions of the pages of a manuscript more than 700 years old.

The 1930 Badger promises an unusual scenic section and all scenes will be in duotone, instead of the customary half-tone. The activities (Continued on Page 2)

Deadline Set for Publicity Stories

All publicity stories to appear in the Daily Cardinal must be in the hands of the news editor before 5 p. m., Eugene S. Duffield, executive editor, announced yesterday. Desk editors have been instructed to refuse publicity copy which comes in after that time. The rule is made so that publicity copy, which generally can be written considerably in advance, can be given a desirable position, and be assured of being set before the heaviest rush of news copy is sent to the linotypes.

Beta Gamma Sig to Initiate Four

Four seniors, Glenn H. Arthur, Marcellus A. Heck, Harold J. Moe, and Philip W. Ruppert, will be initiated into the Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary commerce fraternity, Friday noon, at the Memorial Union. A speaker will address the meeting.

Debaters Link Social Clubs With Necking

"I don't believe there is a man or woman in this group who wants to return to unregulated necking. We have made more progress, but don't misunderstand my antecedent of progress."

So said Milton Weinburg, '31, in defending the negative side of the debate, "Resolved that all fraternities and sororities on the campus be abolished," at a joint meeting of Hesperia and Castalia Literary societies Thursday evening in the Union.

No Finishing School

Thomas Stone, '30, of the affirmative side stated that "people seldom come here for academic purposes, especially athletes. The university is no finishing school. Social activities should be abolished and time given to education."

"Fraternities breed snobbishness," said Otto Zerwick, '30, of the affirmative side. "Neither Stone nor I, who are fraternity men, believe in necking. Fraternities and sororities add to the cost of education and breed bull sessions."

Comes to Fraternities Aid

In the rebuttal, Weisenburg said, "Those of the affirmative side give the impression that the University is built around the stadium and the ballroom. Sororities and fraternities are organizations which train men and women to live with others agreeably." Because of lack of judges, no decision was given.

No 'Flu' Epidemic Feared, Infirmary Authorities State

Although the student infirmary is taxed to capacity, and students have been forced to wait for beds, the condition is not the result of the supposed "flu" epidemic, according to the officials of the student health service.

Most of the cases are simply cases of grippe and influenza should not be feared, say the officials of the infirmary. The epidemic is simply one of hard colds and due more to the buctuating weather than anything else.

General warning is issued to those students who have the slightest symptoms of a cold to go to the infirmary and have it remedied. This, say the officials, will tend to lessen the number of serious cases greatly.

W. J. Gaines, instructor of French, was unable to take his classes Thursday because of a severe cold.

Cardinal Workers Get Appointments

Helen Laird '30, William B. Pinkerton '31, and Harold Simak '31 received their official appointments as reporters on The Daily Cardinal at the meeting of the Cardinal board of control Thursday noon. Wilbur Davis '30, Elizabeth Goudie '30, William Kesmodel '31, and Harold Williams '31 were dropped because of delinquency.

Temperature Rise to Be Followed by Cold Snap

After rising temperatures today, more cold weather is expected here Friday night, according to the U. S. weather bureau forecast Thursday.

Temperatures reached their lowest point of the season Wednesday at 7 a. m., with four degrees above zero, and had risen to 11 at noon and to 20 at 2 p. m.

Faculty to See Octopus Matter Prior to Issue

Magazine Heads Meet With Prof. Bleyer to Consider Problems

"As some questions had arisen recently in regard to the eligibility of several members of the Octopus staff, to the best method of having the faculty adviser co-operate with the editor in preventing the publication of undesirable contributions, and to the printing of one picture that was not considered to be in good taste, the faculty committee on student publications met with the student executives of the Octopus at the University club yesterday to consider these matters," said Prof. Willard G. Bleyer, chairman of the faculty committee on student publications last night.

"The students in charge of the Octopus agreed," Professor Bleyer said, "that hereafter they would submit all matter to be published to the faculty adviser before the magazine was published, in order to prevent the publication of anything the good taste of which might be questioned."

Octopus Maintains High Standard

"The Octopus, the faculty committee believes, has been much freer from anything that might be considered objectionable than are many of the other student humorous publications put out by colleges and universities, and the present board of editors desires to maintain this higher standard."

"Unfortunately the standards of much American humor that some students seek to imitate, particularly that of vaudeville and of certain magazines, are rather low, so that a publication like the Octopus which endeavors to avoid giving offense must be constantly on its guard, in the opinion of the committee. With the co-operation of a faculty adviser, the student editors will be able, the faculty committee anticipates, to encourage a better type of humor."

Three Members Ineligible

Popular Actress Shares Lead With Bernadine Flynn Saturday

Appearing for the third time in a Wisconsin Players production, Cornelia Flieth '29 shares leading roles with Bernadine Flynn '29 in "The Cradle Song," Sierra's play in English translation to be presented by the Players in Bascom theater Saturday night, Dec. 8 and on the following Friday and Saturday, Dec. 14 and 15.

Miss Flieth played in "He Who Gets Slapped" and Shaw's "Devil's Disciple," and because of her excellent work in these productions was given the important part of Teresa in "The Cradle Song." She plays in a cast made up entirely of women with the exception of three male characters.

Relies on Atmosphere

Choosing as his setting a quaint old convent in remote Spain, Sierra has created a story which relies more for successful stage presentation on the atmosphere which the actors are able to convey to the audience than the actual plot. Teresa, who has lived in the convent since the day she was left on a doorstep, a nameless waif, knows nothing of the mundane world without the convent walls until she meets the Doctor, played by Francis O'Connor, '29 and Antonio, her lover, played by Harold McCarthy, LS grad.

A race may be conquered but its culture will never be entirely lost, says Professor Linton, who concluded with the statement that you can not get away from culture. This is exemplified in the clothing of American men. In the hot summer sun they religiously adhere to a custom of clothing suited for the cooler climate of Europe where it originated, when more fitting would be the Indian costume and a smile.

Varsity to Meet Frosh for Last Pre-Season Tilt

Basketball Team to Play Tonight in Final Workout

The Varsity basketball team meets the yearlings in the second pre-season game this year, tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the gymnasium. The yearlings bowed to the varsity in the first game played Monday night.

The line-ups for the two teams will be practically the same as it was in the first game, with the same men seeing action. The varsity team will most likely be picked from the following: Miller, Tenhopen, Kowalzyk, Doyle, Chmielewski, Ellerman, Farber, Foster.

Grid Men Appear

Some of the men who have reported from the football squad may again appear in uniform. They are Milt Santenbein, stocky end on the varsity football squad, and a guard on last year's frosh basketball team; Red Oman, a halfback, who may play as a forward; and Red Davidson, a halfback and forward.

Bob Poser, a member of last year's frosh basketball squad, and a slender, accurate forward, may also be seen on the floor.

Offense, Defense Poor

The varsity looked poor in the first contest. The passing was clumsy, and the team was weak on both the defense and offense.

The contest tonight will be the last workout for the varsity before its first season game, which will be with Franklin college next Monday night.

The probable frosh lineup will be Fries at center, Dornfeld and Nelson, guards, and Zoelle and Stein, forwards.

Kappas, Tri Delta, Win Cage Tilts as Race Progresses

Because it got off to such a good start, there seems to be more interest in the present women's intramural basketball tournament than in any other intramural sport played this season. The latest games resulted in victories for Tri Delta, A. D. Pi, Chi Omega and Kappa.

Chad and Tri Delt offered one of the finest exhibitions of fast playing witnessed thus far in the tournament, Tri Delt winning 14 to 8. The Owen sisters, Salley and Betsey this time, starred for Tri Delt, just as they did throughout the hockey season. Bernice Horton and Lucille Verhulst played well for Chad.

The lineups:
Chadbourne: Verhulst, Stauss, Horton, Marshall, Garrigus, and Horton.
Tri Delt: Holt, Mc Auley, Kruse, Betsey Owen, Salley Owen, and Parkhurst.

Alpha Delta Pi had little trouble with A. O. Pi, the former winning, 31 to 5. Carol played well for the winners.

The lineups:
A. O. Pi: Bell, Adams, Sloan, Thompson, Thompson, Serwell.
A. D. Pi: Winsloff, Cole, Plumb, Miller, Werve, Rhode.

The Kappas managed to win from Delta Gamma, 12 to 4. The game was unusually slow, although Mary Kierman played well for the Kappas.

The lineups:
Delta Gamma: Beardmore, Chase, Purcell, Cheelburg, Mc Cartney, Lyman.

Kappas, Offert, Kiernan, Jingle, Ravenscroft, Wissiger, Greber.

In the last game of the group, Chi Omega won from Coronto, 15 to 6. Charlotte Flint proved the mainstay in the Chi O. The lineups:
Chi Omega: Flint Blocki, Bucklin, Swenson, Posthumus, Dines.

Coronto: Lemmer, Bickel, Mc Cay, Plotkin, Wallschlaeger, and Yahr.

A full schedule will be played Saturday afternoon December 8:

1:00 Gym—A. G. D. vs. Tri Delt
1:45 Gym—All American vs. Charter
1:45 Gym—Grads vs. Anderson
3:00 Gym—430 Sterling vs. Grady's
3:00 Gym—Chi O vs. Delta Gamma

Wisconsin Gridmen Guests at Banquet of Chicago Alumni

The Badger football squad and coaches left Thursday night for a banquet of the Wisconsin Alumni club of Chicago to be held at the Lake Shore Athletic club at 6:30 p. m. today.

A gold watch will be presented to the Wisconsin player who contributed the most to the team's success in the past season. The award is the first annual gift to be made by the University of Wisconsin club of Chicago.

Speakers for the evening will be Director Little, Coach Thistlethwaite, Knute Rockne, Judge "Wallie" Steffen, Dr. Clarence Spears, Captain Wagner, and Captain-elect Parks.

Greek Gridders Play 0 to 0 Tie

Delta Theta Sigma, Alpha Kappa Kappa Battle to Scoreless Tie

Delta Theta Sigma and Alpha Kappa Kappa played a scoreless game in the ice and snow of Randall field yesterday, with a decision still pending. Neither team scored, and the eleventh scored three first downs apiece.

The only team threatening to score was Alpha Kappa Kappa, when they recovered a fumble on Delta Theta Sigma's four yard line. The former Farm house boys held a strong forward wall, however, and the efforts of A. K. K. failed to bring a tally.

There was little "passing in the game, and running was treacherous work because of the uncertain footing.

Fencing Classes Begin Workouts

Wisconsin's largest class of fencers is learning the art of fencing under the tutelage of Coach Art Masley at the armory. There are 35 men on the squad this year, but none of these have had any previous experience in the sport.

The fundamentals in the use of the foils, dueling sword, and the saber are being drilled into the fencers, and Coach Masley hopes to find sufficient good material to form a strong fencing team from this class.

Three veterans from last year's team, headed by Capt. Konnak, will form the nucleus for the varsity team this season. Besides Konnak, Zerwick and Brown are back. Some of the more promising new men who will see action on the varsity team this year are Judson, Graebel, Sinykin, and Perkins.

There will be five duel meets this year. Two of these will be against Milwaukee "Y," and one each with Chicago, Purdue, Michigan, and possibly Michigan State. The team is also entered in the Conference meet to be held later, and should make a creditable showing.

Prof. Carl R. Fish Will Address Knights Pythias

Prof. Carl Russell Fish of the history department will address the Knights of Pythias on "Benjamin Franklin" at their dinner, Dec. 11, to be held in the new temple at 121 West Wilson street. There will be one or two other entertainers on the program, but Prof. Fish will be the principal speaker.

WOMEN GIVE XMAS PARTY

Plans for a Christmas party were completed at a meeting of the Woman's Commerce club Wednesday night. The party will be given in Lathrop hall Saturday Dec. 15 at 1:30 p. m. All members and women in the School of Commerce are invited.

HERE'S the DOPE

By HAROLD DUBINSKY

So successful was the first freshmen-varsity basketball game (from all standpoints) last Monday that Doc. Meanwell has decided to hold another similar game Saturday night despite the fact that the Franklin game comes but two days later.

And Why Not?

These freshmen can put up a real game and after all what better practice for the varsity is available?

Football Squad

How bothersome it is to be a football man. Now they (the Badgers) are compelled to take a trip to Chicago for a banquet being tendered by the Alumni. It seems that these Wisconsin football men will leave Friday, and the banquet will be held at the Lake Shore Athletic club.

Funny?

Both Wegner and Parks were captains of their respective freshmen teams—and were elected captains of the varsity. How about Herber the recently elected freshmen captain? Will he rate?

Poor Milo

Milo Lubratovitch, who broke his ankle just as he was coming into an all-conference position at tackle, was highly pleased with the football banquet. "But," says Milo "I wish the guy who took my hat and left me his, which is two sizes too big, would arrange to have the mistake rectified." All of which goes to prove that Milo learned things in college. Notice the word "rectified."

Dorms Open Race for Cage Crown

Botkin, Noyes, Vilas, LaFollette Defeat High, Fallows, Siebecker, Van Hise

The first games of the men's dormitory basketball race were played in Wisconsin high school gym with eight teams taking the floor. The games, while somewhat ragged and in mostly one sided as far as the final score is concerned, were, nevertheless, fast and interesting.

Botkin house, runners up last year for the title, won its first game in a manner which indicated that it would make a strong bid for this year's crown. LaFollette house, winner of the touch football championship, also showed a fine class of basketball in defeating Van Hise, 26-11. Vilas won easily from Fallows house, and Noyes fought to a bare one point win over Siebecker, 11-10.

Dormitory basketball last year had a most successful season, with interest running high until the very last game, and this year there is every reason to believe that more men will come out for the teams, that interest will be higher, and the race will be harder than that of last year.

Botkin 25, High 6

Scoring consistently by means of a short pass and pivot game, Botkin house decisively defeated High house in a dormitory game. Patterson of Botkin was high man with ten points. Botkin-Patterson, Eberhardt, Waite, Langlykke, Meyer.

High-Steckler, Goessling, Whipp, Rhode, Barret.

Substitutions: Botkin, De Cierca, Ramien, Schifflin; High, Bemis.

Vilas 17, Fallows 2

Holding Fallows to one free throw in each half, Vilas won its first basketball game as it wished. Vilas and Botkin meet in the next round of games.

Vilas—Sullivan, Cook, Stark, Justo, Kornig.

Fallows—Buell, Mahlburger, Kuehlthau, Lemkuhl, Tanaka.

Substitutions: Vilas, Watson, Johnston.

Noyes 11, Siebecker 10

In a game that was slowed by 15 personal fouls, Noyes won narrowly over a stubborn Siebecker team. Beck of Siebecker starred for the losers, and

Greeks to Hold Track Contest in Annex Dec. 12

Entries for the inter-fraternity indoor track meet to be held Dec. 12 and 15, will be closed at 5 p. m. Monday, it was announced Thursday by L. B. Allison, director of intramural athletics. The meet will take place in the gym annex.

Six events will be run off at 3:45 p. m. Wednesday. These include the 40-yard low hurdles, 45-yard low hurdles, quarter-mile, mile-run, pole vault, and broad jump.

The six events to take place Dec. 15 are the 40-yard dash, half-mile, two-mile, shot put, high jump, and half-mile relay. The latter will consist of six laps of the track, a different man to each lap. Saturday's program begins at 2:30 p. m.

Swim Prospects Appear Brighter

Schedule Awaits Approval; Present Squad Has Good Team Strength

"The present varsity squad seems to be better than last year's, and should prove stronger this season if our outstanding men remain eligible," commented Ed Lange '30, captain of this year's swimming team.

Wisconsin's swimming schedule for this season will be definitely decided at the gathering of the Big Ten coaches in the Sherman hotel at Chicago this Friday and Saturday. Joe Steinauer, varsity swimming coach, will represent Wisconsin.

Held Eight Meets

"We are trying to secure two non-conference meets for January and February, making four non-conference meets in all and four conference meets for March," stated Coach Steinauer. The Badger tankmen will have eight meets in all, excluding the conference meet which will probably be held at Purdue university.

The improvement of the team of 1927-28 will be in all the events with special emphasis on the medley relay team. Two seniors, James Wray and Ed Laue, will add materially to the strength of the squad in the breast-stroke.

First String Men

A list of the varsity swimmers who belong to the first string men as revealed by the past meets with the All-Stars follow:

Dashes—Lorry Davis, Capt. Ed Lange, Rudy Shaffter, Art Thomsen and Hank Krueger.

Distance—Reid Winsey and Bob Kelliher.

Backstroke—Art Thomsen, Helmut Von Maltitz, and Jack Vinson.

Breast Stroke—Francis McGovern, "Hips" Czerwony, and James Van Vleet.

Dives—Earl Hatleberg, "B" Cuisiner, and Earl Gernand.

The Cardinal mermen are at present on a light training schedule due to the midsemester examinations. Tri-weekly practices are being held under the critical eye of Coach Steinauer to detect slight defects.

Cohen with five points, led Noyes to its victory.

Noyes—Ley, Reul, Cohen, Ermine, Schmidtel.

Siebecker—R. Galineau, H. Galineau, Schapiro, Hellerman, Becker.

Substitutions: Noyes, Larkin, Sommers; Siebecker, Relinan.

LaFollette 26, Van Hise 11

Showing itself capable of making a strong bid for dormitory honors, LaFollette outplayed Van Hise to win by a good margin. Scandler and Butts of LaFollette led the scoring with a total of 14 points.

LaFollette—Schaffner, Davies, Moore, Reeve, Boesel.

Van Hise—Vass, Newell, Schaffter, Randolph, Bindley.

Substitutions: LaFollette, Butts, Connelly, Scandler; Van Hise, Otto, Rosenthal, Butt.

HOCKEY MANAGERS

Freshman interested in hockey managership are asked to report in Coach Farquhar's office in the gymnasium after 3:30 p. m. today and Saturday. About six men will be needed.

Wagner Gets Bid for Position in East-West Tilt

Rube Will Be First Badger to Play in Inter-Sectional Game

Rube Wagner, captain of the 1923 Wisconsin football team, received further recognition for the sterling work he displayed upon the gridiron this fall, when he received a telegram yesterday morning asking him to take part in the annual East-West football game at San Francisco, Dec. 29.

The telegram was from Dick Hanley, Northwestern football coach, who along with Andy Kerr, coach of Washington and Jefferson, was selected some time ago to choose and take charge of the Eastern team, which is composed of men east of the Rocky mountains. Selection for a position on the team is one of the greatest post-season honors that a player can receive.

Wagner Will Go

Wagner will accept the invitation and will be one of the 22 men to make the trip west. Out of the 22 invitations extended, 12 of the outstanding gridiron stars of the east and midwest have accepted, but an end position is still vacant.

It is reported that Joe Kreske is also under consideration for membership of the team. Tom Lieb, line coach of the Badgers, is handling correspondence with Coach Hanley in this regard.

Organize Dec. 15

The men chosen to play on this team will be organized into a team by Coach Hanley in a meeting, probably at Chicago, on Dec. 15. They will leave for San Francisco immediately following the meeting. It is thought that they will go to see the Tournament of Roses, held at Pasadena on New Year's day.

Barrabee of New York university is the only end available thus far. The East-West game is an annual affair and the proceeds of the game are always donated to charity. The men who make up the personnel of the two teams are usually those who have distinguished themselves during the current season by their ability upon the gridiron.

Wagner will be the first Wisconsin man to be honored thus, since the inauguration of the intersectional struggle some five years ago. Just whether he will be used at guard or tackle is uncertain, but he is able to play either position with great proficiency.

The names of the other men selected by Hanley and Kerr have not, as yet been announced, but it is practically certain that at least one other Big Ten player will be included. This is Holmer, Northwestern, a triple-threat man, who was selected as all-conference fullback by many sports writers during the past week.

St. Francis Loses to Baptist Eleven in Church League

In the first of a series of Church League football games, St. Francis was held to a scoreless tie by the Baptist eleven, but was given the game on the basis of first downs made. St. Francis had five first downs to one for Baptist. St. Pauls forfeited to Calvary Lutheran. One game between Hillel and Wesley Memorial still remains to be played in the first round.

St. Francis held the upper hand throughout the game, but the poor playing conditions prevented them from scoring. The Episcopalians had the ball on the Baptist 4 yard line when the final whistle blew.

The Baptist were forced to concede the victory to a heavier, speedier St. Francis machine. Putney at end, and Tester at fullback were outstanding for the winners, and Anderson showed ability for the Baptists.

The lineups:

St. Francis	Baptist
Putney	R. E.
Anderson	R. T.
Hilty	R. G.
Schroeder	C.
Lumpkin	L. G.
Keehn	L. T.
Kronke	L. E.

For All Wisconsin

-: 1928-29 -:

1. Raise fraternity initiation standards and requirements relating to probation.
2. Establish a point system regulating participation in student activities.
3. Place Madison traffic ordinances on a metropolitan basis.

Those 300 Seats

Mr. Levis Works on a False Assumption in Providing Them for the Public

GEORGE LEVIS' new basketball ticket sales plan, whereby each student ticket will be stamped by the athletic department, and whereby fee cards will be demanded for admittance in addition, should prove successful. As far as student scalping of tickets under the new regulations is concerned, there seems little likelihood that the new idea devised by Mr. Levis will provide any loopholes.

Other features of the system also indicate that the basketball ticket situation this year, at least so far as student sale is concerned, is being handled on a far better basis than in the past.

There is still a sore thumb sticking out through the whole business, however,—the idea that the athletic department must bow to the demands of a faction outside the university. This is evidenced in no other way than through the provision for 300 public seats at $1.50.

The Daily Cardinal indicated Tuesday that opening these seats to the public would enhance scalping and defeat the purpose of the university to provide for its student body first. Mr. Levis, by his new system, has successfully circumvented the scalping difficulty. But his department still pays heed to the public. Perhaps it always must, on the theory of student privilege, however the stowaways should not be admitted unless students fail to use all seats. And in an institution of 9,000, there are at least 2,200 desiring admittance to Wisconsin basketball games.

Mr. Levis and the athletic department probably believe that the student is not to be considered the whole show, and maybe they are not so long as there is an interested public for whom to provide. Practically, this idea is all well and good. But it is a false assumption. Basketball exists first and last it seems to us, as a university sport; and so long as there are not enough seats for even one-fourth of the students, it may be wrong to admit the public.

Compton's Letter

Provisions Indicate That Union Shelves Must Be Filled—But How!

IT is conceded that every home should have a library, and the Memorial Union has considered this in the plans for its building. Provisions are made for a reading room with book shelves, but there is still a long way to go before it can be called a library—the shelves must be filled.

F. E. Compton, graduate of the university and president of the F. E. Compton Publishing Co., noticed the bare shelves of the reading room and in a letter reprinted in these columns today advocated a plan for furnishing books to fill the shelves.

While we applaud Mr. Compton's initiative, we cannot help but view the plan which he proposes with some gloom.

The matter of books for the Union is more than a matter of filling the shelves. It is a matter of having a usable library.

Taking stock of the library facilities of Madison we find that between the various rental libraries and the university library there is little space that is not covered.

We submit for the approval of the proper authorities that the Union library should be stocked, not with reference books, not with novels of a transient nature, but with books of permanence that are adapted for casual reading.

Essays, the better class of collected short stories, narratives of travel and exploration, humorous sketches and the like are, we think, suitable for this sort of a library.

The readers in the Union reading room are those who wish to read for a half hour or so between classes or after dinner.

There is little use for texts or a bewildering mass of titles. Books should be constantly on shelf and should not be allowed out.

The selection of a library of this sort is a ticklish matter and an attempt should be made to satisfy all tastes. There will always be criticism of such a library, but if the work is well done those in charge of the selection are to be congratulated.

If Cyrano But Knew

It May Be, Large Noses Would Then Have Been in Style

OUR campus is to become a breeding place for big noses. It is inevitable. Hearst's "One-man university" has issued this health bulletin: "Thinking develops the nose, will power the jaw. The mind that automatically says, 'I can,' pushes the jaw forward. The receding jaw comes of saying, 'I can't.' Try it yourself."

One may be puzzled at first to discover the way the nose moves when one thinks. That is because one has thought so little that there is not much to move. Do not become discouraged easily. The way to knowledge is hard, but from now on the way will be plainly marked, and the learned will be a marked man. A gauge more just than any previous one is facing us.

Instead of giving written examinations, the professors will measure the growth of the student's nose. Instead of credits marking the advancement of the student from class to class until he graduates, his qualification will consist of inches. The direction of growth and the color will count. A down growth will show that he has been burying his nose in his books, a thin growth will indicate keenness, and width will indicate a wide knowledge. A red nose will show vigorous interest in his studies.

Crowded sidewalks will become more crowded. Desks will need to be placed at wider intervals. Perhaps instead of armrests, nose rests will be provided. Instead of Phi Beta keys, the men will receive vast handkerchiefs and the women double-size compacts. Traditions will forbid the freshmen using handkerchiefs more than one foot square. Hazing will consist of making them act as hatracks at the prom. Cheering will consist of blowing noses in concert. Beauty parlors will advertise the latest wrinkle in noses. Instead of high browng our friends we will big nose them.

Brookwood College

A Labor Institution Must Retain Its Impartiality Also

THE only labor college in the United States of any importance—Brookwood, at Katonah, New York—is under the fire of some sections of the American Federation of Labor because of its alleged communist and anti-religious teachings. The accusation smacks of blacklisting and red-hunting, and is hardly worthy of an organization which frequently finds itself under the aegis of "patriotic" organizations.

A. J. Muste, the dean of Brookwood, has definitely denied that the college preaches any one point of view. All opinions are discussed, and simply because communistic and atheistic theories are among them is no indication that the college has yielded to the sinister influence of Moscow.

Vice-president Matthe Woll and others are deluding themselves if they think that a labor college can best serve American labor by echoing the current policies of the American Federation of Labor. A labor college can do most for labor by retaining a spirit of calm and impartial study of the various economic theories.

By THE ROVER BOYS

We have scoured the university, looked over all possible candidates, concentrated on all these who seemed exceptionally promising, and we still stick to our story—Billy Pearce for prom queen or no prom at all.

The chairmen for both the Military and Beaux Arts Balls are announced. That makes two more queens to be selected. But who cares?

We sat gloriously near to Roundy at the Football banquet. The first half duck Roundy got wasn't good enough, so he ups and sends it out for another and when that came out he pinned his ears back plenty and went right into it. Boy that were a great duck plenty best I ever see plenty real groceries to park plenty plenty plenty plenty.

Octy is on the carpet. It hardly seems fair that one man's interpretation of a picture should make it obscene.

But that one man happens to be Dean Goodnight and that means that Octy is in trouble.

Out of fairness to the men editing the magazine, though, we will have to say that the only comments that we have heard on this issue were to the effect that it had a striking cover, that there was a noticeable falling off of shady jokes, and that some thought that there was too much long stuff.

And when it developed that the Octy was in trouble, of course every one began to look through the book to find something BAD in it, and not one out of eight fraternity men thought that the picture was the offensive thing. As a matter of fact nothing about the book impressed them as having need for censorship.

Prexy Frank pulled the fast one of the evening at the Football banquet by appearing in a tux. We expect to see him come into the Orpheum in full dress next.

We went to our eight o'clock Wednesday morning only to find that the instructor was sick and couldn't hold class. We walked the half mile back home, had a cigarette, read the Cardinal and went back over to Sterling for our nine o'clock. That instructor also was sick. Back to Langdon. Back again to Sterling at ten. This one sick too. Wound up at the house at quarter after ten, thoroughly sick of it all.

The point of all this is that if an instructor is sick he ought to have the consideration to put a notice in the paper that he will not be able to hold class. Only twelve out of at least fifty instructors who were ill Wednesday did that. Sheldon did it.

But it is a reform so we are all for it.

It will be possible for the eager rooters to spell letters and make flags by waving their fee cards, much the same as they do at Stanford and other schools that specialize on the more stupid aspects of school spirit.

But it isn't going to keep anyone out of the games. When you rent out your coupon book for the evening to someone else you have to make arrangements for the return of the remaining coupons anyhow. Under the new system the only difference is that the fee card is loaned out and returned at the same times.

By HARRY 'AL' OVER

I have an apology to make to the guy that stole two pairs of socks out of one of the cubicle lockers in the "Make-up Room." First, I'm sorry that they were old and worn out and ready for the junk pile. Second, I'm sorry that they were so filthy and dirty that even I resented picking them up. And lastly, if you wore them, I'm sorry that you are so damn low-down.

F. E. COMPTON INTERESTED IN UNION LIBRARY POSSIBILITIES

(Released to The Daily Cardinal)

To The Wisconsin Union:

Mrs. Compton and I went to Madison a few days ago to look over the beautiful Memorial Building. As a book publisher, I was naturally especially interested in the library and its possibilities. I thought what a splendid thing it would be if we could build here a collection of books like the famous library of Oxford Union, at Oxford university, England—a collection that should represent the best work of the best minds of all times and all countries. Not a reference library, but a library to browse in—a library that should irresistibly lure its readers into making acquaintance with the best in literature. And then I started wondering how such a collection might be started.

You, of course, have already plans for building up your library, but it occurred to me that you might not have considered the idea that flashed into my mind, and I trust that you will not consider me presumptuous in offering it to you. It is this:

First, a considerable number of our alumni have made their mark in various lines of literary work. Others are at work in the publishing field. If all the former were to contribute copies of their works, and if the latter would contribute suitable titles from their publications, we would have at the outset the nucleus of a most interesting and valuable collection.

Second, nearly every person who has gone through the university has come in contact with a few books that have profoundly impressed him and become a vital influence in life. An appeal to all graduates to send in copies of such books, that they might influence succeeding generations of university men and women, would undoubtedly meet with a large response.

I am putting the first of my suggestions into deed by sending a ten volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia. This encyclopedia, which, you may be interested in knowing, is the largest selling encyclopedia both in this country and in England and the British colonies, may be called strictly a Wisconsin product, since the editor-in-chief and all the officers of the firm of F. E. Compton and Company, publishers, are Wisconsin men.

Popularity of Poets

E. Haldemann-Julius, in Atlantic Bookshelf.

American poets can now be measured properly as regards their popularity, for here are the indisputable figures of a year's sales in the 5-cent book library.

	Copies
Poems of John Greenleaf Whittier	17,500
Poems of Edgar Allan Poe	14,500
Poems of William Cullen Bryant	14,500
Poems of Walt Whitman	11,000
Poems of Ralph Waldo Emerson	10,500
American Poetry of Today (Anthology)	9,000
Courtship of Miles Standish (Longfellow)	8,000
Poems of Oliver Wendell Holmes	7,000
Vision of Sir Launfal (Lowell)	6,000
Poetry of the Southern States	5,500

I have tried the manner of the Kipling titles—using some popular poem as the lead—with Poe ("The Raven"), Bryant ("Thanatopsis"), Holmes ("One Hoss Shay"), and so forth, with mild success. Whittier is first, and Poe and Bryant are tied for second place in the reading hearts of their countrymen, with Whitman and Emerson close thirds. Yet, if you had been asked, you might have guessed Longfellow as first.

British poets are in demand as follows:

	Copies
Harlot's House, and Other Poems (Wilde)	40,000
Poems of Robert Burns	21,000
Poems of John Keats	13,500
Tennyson's Enoch Arden	13,500
Scott's Lady of the Lake	13,000
Poems of Percy Bysshe Shelly	12,500
Alexander Pope's Essay on Man	12,500
Macaulay's Lays of Ancient Rome	12,000
Coleridge's Ancient Mariner	10,500
Great English Poems	10,000
Goldsmith's Deserted Village	9,000
Ballad of Reading Gaol (Wilde)	9,000

Robert Burns wins first place without any argument. I leave out Oscar Wilde's book because of the title—it is "The Harlot's House" which jumps up the demand for that selection. Keats and Shelley sell on the merits of their names alone. "The Ancient Mariner," "Lays of Ancient Rome," "Enoch Arden," "The Deserted Village," and "The Lady of the Lake," are famous titles. Pope's "Essay on Man" does not suggest verse, and sells so well largely because it implies a discussion of mankind—or so I interpret its popularity.

Yellow pine trees of southern Nevada have been found to exceed 500 years in age.

Goat's tallow and beech ash were the ingredients of the earliest kind of soap.

Museum Displays Relics of Wreaths

Giant Specimens Contain as Many as 5,000 Seeds
and Nuts

A relic of the wreath making era, 1840 to 1875, is on exhibition in the state historical museum. It is a wreath two and one-half feet in diameter constructed almost entirely of seeds and nuts.

Women and girls 60 years ago spent long hours trying to outdo each other in making wreaths of unusual materials. The museum has quite a collection of them. The wreaths adorned parlor walls, some in memory of relatives others merely as decorations. They were made of hair, cotton, wool, yarn, paper, wax, seeds, feathers and other materials. Some of the hair wreaths contained locks of three or four generations of a family or of numerous friends.

The seed and nut wreath in the museum must contain about 5,000 seeds and nuts, of more than 100 varieties. The seeds—grain, flax, sunflower, fruit, beans, coffee, cloves—are arranged to represent various kinds of flowers. They are glued to cardboard and provided with green paper wound stems. Only one kind of seed was used in each flower. As an example of patience, the work is remarkable, for kernels of rice, barley and wheat have been arranged in concentric circles, as many as 600 in a single flower. The nuts are mounted singly on stems to represent buds. Flowers and buds both are covered with varnish.

Gentlemen:
As my Christmas present I purchased for myself a pound of your tobacco (Edgeworth) in 1/2 lb. flat tins. This morning on the tram I met a man with whom I am only slightly acquainted, and filling my pipe produced your tin, at which he exclaimed: "I am not a pipe smoker, but occasionally I have a try in that direction and I consider that the tobacco in your hand is the finest made."

I am in entire agreement with his statement.

Yours faithfully,

Porter Attacks Wealth Belief

Tells Liberals of Social Differences in Money Distribution

Attacking the "religion of prosperity," Paul Porter, field secretary of the League for Industrial Democracy, told the members of the Liberal club Thursday evening in Bascom hall how the vast wealth of America was centered into one small group, leaving the rest in bitter poverty.

President Glenn Frank, who was asked by the Wisconsin Student Independent in an open letter to attend this meeting, was not present. Prof. Selig Perlman of the economics department introduced Porter.

"Nearly 13 per cent of the population owns 90 per cent of the country's wealth, while the rest of the 87 per cent own only 10 per cent of the wealth," declared Porter.

Wealth Concentrated

Concentrated wealth secures concentrated power used for their ends, explained Porter. This rich minority secure control of the newspapers, schools and to some extent representatives of the government. "This," he said, "has never been truer since the last eight years, where government is for business and by business."

"Wisconsin is the most liberal of universities, though there have been instances of administrative interference," Porter stated in connection with the select minority to control education for their own private purposes.

Porter added: "Real leadership must come from the laborers themselves; but they can receive encouragement from the intellectuals." Students should not take an active interest in labor movement for sentimental or missionary motives, but for a real desire to mete justice to the greatest number of people in our economic system.

Need Intelligent Co-operation

This can be done, he explained, by intelligent co-operation: supporting labor reforms; taxing heavily those with an income tax over $50,000; social reforms aiding the poor; nationalization of certain of our industries, and so on.

Paul Porter, who is a guest of Dr. Percy M. Dawson of the physiology department and the Experimental college faculty, is being given a luncheon by the Liberal club this noon in the Old Madison room of the Memorial Union.

Porter was graduated from the University of Kansas, and was an editor of the Daily Kansan, the student paper. In the summer of 1928 he took a study trip with Upton Close through China, Manchuria, Korea, and Japan, making observations of the political situations of the countries visited.

Edgewood High Invites

Students to Xmas Bazaar

LOCAL EIGHTH GRADERS SEE JUPITER VIA TELESCOPE

"By Jupiter," said the Lowell grade school boy as he looked through the observatory telescope at the star which at that same moment was glittering above the French play audience in the Union, the epicureans in the Chocolate shop, and the relaxation seekers at the Orph, "I see its moons. One by one Wednesday evening the members of the Lowell eighth grade, in leather jackets and helmets or plush coats and red tams, mounted the little starway to look through the giant telescope which pointed through an aperture in the revolving, vaulted white ceiling of the observatory, at Jupiter, that gracious democrat who plays second fiddle to our moon although he has six moons himself.

An Annual Visit

Once a year before entering high school or vocational school, the Lowell eighth grade is taken to the observatory on visiting night for a cosmic squint at the universe.

Evidently the eighth grade was not especially impressed with their telescopic view of that which they will eventually contemplate on balmy nights, under less scientific conditions. Apparently they believe that one star in the sky is worth all its moons through a peephole.

"I can see it better through here," said one small boy, tilting his chin at the dark blue oblong of sky on which Jupiter was segregated like a specimen on a slide; like a knight in shot-proof armor staring amusedly at the vain cannon which was the telescope.

Just a Little Ball

A thirteen year old pressed one eye screwed to the peephole above a gum chewing jaw. "It looks like—like a little ball," he said with wickedly courageous irreverence. A giggle ran down the waiting line of children—it was as though the thirteen year old had audaciously crept up behind the Lord and tweaked his ear.

Teachers and pupils were not the only ones who took advantage of visiting night at the observatory. Several fur coated mothers lifted their children to the eye of the telescope, and then, with pardonable pride, explained to their offspring a few facts about the startling overhead of the world to which they had brought them.

Dad Comes Back

Two youngsters scampered about their father still on the slim waist-coated side of middle age. Before he came to the university, he said, he had decided that one of the first things he would do would be to look through the observatory telescope. But his college years shot by before he did so, and it was only after he married and came back to Madison to live that he took the opportunity. Now he lifted one of his own little boys to the step ladder beneath the telescope. Jupiter glittered above the Union, the Orph, the Chocolate shop, and in the retina of the telescope's eye as the old graduate's son peered at the heavens even his father did not understand.

22 Men Kiss Star in Movie Try-Outs

It's a hard row the "movie" actresses have to hoe, sometimes.

There's Alice White, for instance, who was in quest of a leading man to play opposite her in "Hot Stuff," a First National production. One of the requisites was that the Romeo must know how to kiss.

Twenty-two aspirants applied for the job. Twenty-two underwent screen tests. Twenty-two folded Alice in their arms and did their best.

"Make it real!" exclaimed Mervyn LeRoy, the director.

Little Alice emerged with her hair mussed and started home.

"Good night, Mr. LeRoy," she blurted. "And if there are any more fellows in Hollywood seeking jobs you kiss 'em yourself. I'm through."

The successful man will be announced this week.

Being Puppeteer Requires Talent

Sarg's Marionettes to Be Presented Here
Dec. 10

The expert puppeteers of Tony Sarg's Marionette company will present their wooden actors in "The Adventures of Christopher Columbus" at Central high school Dec. 7. Tickets are now on sale at the Ward-Brodt music house.

Despite the fact that manipulating dolls looks like a lot of fun, the business of being a "puppeteer" is not so simple and easy and playful as audiences and critics sometimes imagine.

To handle the score or more strings attached to a figure, and to make it walk, dance, sit, and gesticulate like an honest-to-goodness human takes a rare kind of genius, plus months of painstaking practice. To read lines and project them from behind the scenes while working the intricate controllers of the puppets from a bridge high above the miniature stage, requires dramatic talent equal to that of the most finished Broadway actor.

But this is just the A B C of what is expected of the people who breathe the life into the puppets. They must also be singers, instrumentalists, scene-shifters, electricians, and first aid experts—all at a moment's notice during a performance.

Nor is the diction of an E. H. Sothern or the voice of a Galli-Curci enough to satisfy the exacting demands of Tony Sarg. He has long prided himself on the perfection of his puppet animals who often play leading roles in his plays. So, each of his puppeteers must speak at least one animal language.

University Chess Club Peps Up Old Game of Chess With Exhibition Match

When collegians plunge into the ancient and decorous game of chess they do to it what Paul Whiteman did to the two step. Chess has always carried connotations of sombre, stuffy drawing rooms, and gouty old men, but the connotations are gradually going the way of other venerable traditions under the gay leadership of the University Chess club.

The club plans to hold a match by radio with the University of Chicago. It also plans to put on an exhibition game on the giant board, using costumed art students as chess men. The latter project will offer plenty of opportunities for horseplay by the knights, flirtations between the king and queen, and sanctimonious approval by the bishop.

Ten members of the faculty have already signified their readiness to play the master minds of the Chess club. The club will offer an exhibition game in the Union next Sunday afternoon.

Candidates File Finance Reports

Dane County Schmedeman
Club Has an $81
Balance

The Dane county Schmedeman-for-Governor club ended the campaign with balance of $81.35. Subscriptions were accorded the club of $1,105.35. The total expenditures were $1,020. The balance of $81.35 is still in the treasury.

Such was the final report of the club filed Wednesday. Several other final reports were filed. The total expenditures of the democratic national committee in Wisconsin, outside of its gifts to other organizations, were $1,041. One of the largest Wisconsin contributions listed was Fred Pabst of Milwaukee, who is credited with taking care of advertising to the amount of $2,500.

The Alfred E. Smith club of Milwaukee county spent $1,919.84. All its bills are paid.

The La Follette republican club of Milwaukee county also has a balance. It spent $766.95 in the campaign and has on hand $251.65.

The third district organization for Herbert Hoover received in contributions, between Oct. 30 and Nov. 27, $3,846.24. It expended during that period $2,436.89 and the remainder went to pay bills incurred before. Most of the money was for advertising matter and headquarters' salaries.

The workers' communist party in the state collected $486.17 and spent that amount. The largest subscription was $15, from a Milwaukeean.

Tony Sarg Brings Famed Show Here

Puppets Appear in Play at Central High School This Evening

The world's smallest show troupe arrived in Madison last night to spend today resting before their performance of "The Adventures of Christopher Columbus" at Central high school this evening.

It is rumored that the members of the troupe will be confined to the cramped quarters of a few property trunks all day, but the performance will not suffer in the least from the discomfort of the cast. In fact, the little actors seem not to mind the confinement in the least. They are the well-trained puppets of Tony Sarg, famous showman and illustrator.

Dolls Are Life-Like

The fact that the dolls are made of wood so as to be immune from physical ailments, does not impair their life-like qualities in the least. Their wooden heads are much less inclined toward the temperamental, they never tire under the severest strain, and when they literally wear out, new life is easily given them by a clever member of the "first aid" department.

The average Marionette whose role requires just ordinary "acting"—such as walking and moving the hands—can manage to get along with 12 or 18 strings. If a puppet must strum an instrument, smoke a pipe, play cards, shoot off a gun, or do some other complicated feat, six or eight additional strings are usually required.

Ticket Sale Successful

The production is recommended as one of the most highly entertaining offerings to be presented by the Community Progress club this year. Members of the committee in charge of the presentation report that the ticket sale at the Ward-Brodt music house has been a great success, and that there will be a few good seats obtainable before the performance this evening.

Annual Xmas Fair Feaures Play and Flag Decorations

Flags and booths representing different countries will make a picturesque setting for the International Christmas fair given by the Y. W. C. A. on Saturday from 2 p. m. to 9 p. m. The twelve booths will sell inexpensive gifts imported from China, Armenia, and Italy, as well as leather goods, stationery, food, handmade playthings, jewelry, and novelties.

The entertainment will include a play, "The Persian Poppy," beginning at 3 p. m. a matinee dance from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. a doll show displaying a number of collections which Madison people have brought from many nations, fortune-telling booths, and a checker board mystery table.

In the evening the Egyptian Serenaders will play for a dance sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. and the Union board.

Lillian Krueger '30 is general chairman of the affair and Kathleen Graybill '30 has charge of general arrangements.

The present experiment is for checking the ability of girls to learn a complex neuro-muscular activity. The boys' tight-wire walking classes have turned in their data to be compared with the results of this new class.

Enthusiasm marks the activity of the hockey candidates. They have been practicing regularly for the past three days and been doing their work in a serious manner. Meiklejohn, and Kreuger two of the fastest veterans have been putting on exhibitions. They have speed galore. Then Thomsen, a 180 pounder, looks like wonderful material. Farquhar means business evidently. The hockey rink is nearing completion. He made the caretakers sprinkle the surface before they had even finished the framework. At the present time Coach Farquhar is in Chicago to attend the coaches meeting and arrange the program for the coming year.

Rector Is Ill; New St. Francis House Erection Delayed

Building operations for a new St. Francis House and social commons will not be begun for at least another year, according to Madison Episcopalians, although the future erection is assured.

The delay of building operations is probably due to the facts that the diocese did not immediately attain the goal of its drive and that the Rev. Norman C. Kimball, rector of the St. Francis House has been ill for some time.

Of the $250,000 in pledge sought by the Milwaukee diocese of the church recently a little over $150,000 was pledged, and this amount was to be used to build a new St. Francis house at University avenue and Brooks street, and the endowment of the St. Francis mission.

This Is All About Censorship

New Show at the Capitol Recommended, Little Else Included Today

By BOB GODLEY

WE warn you right now that we are going to use most of today's column to talk about censorship . . . and as we do not know yet how the Octopus came out in its little struggle we will be sort of abstract . . . which is well and good.

Free speech and free press have been talked of a great deal. We feel that each means "liberty without license . . ." We are not going to talk about that. Instead we are going to talk about censorship of student publications and student dramas. The ideas expressed herein are those of this writer and not of the editorial staff of the Daily Cardinal . . . which may or may not have ideas on the subject.

The whole point of the matter is this—that which is offensive to the public will not be presented to the public unless the public is warned.

New York

The attitude in New York has been to allow a play which is suspected of being shady to run long enough for the hard-boiled regulars to see it and then close it up.

For example: "Pleasure Man" . . . "The Captive" . . . and a string of others.

But

Here, however, those two plays would be escorted out of town on a rail, their authors lynched and the theaters fumigated.

Well and good. The population of Madison is not yet broken into such stuff.

Sex was the motivating force of many plays on Broadway a few seasons ago.

The situation is less acute than it was, but for a while it was so bad that even George Jean Nathan quit going to the theaters.

Here

None of the above seems to apply here. We have the Octopus, carefully guarded in order to prevent alumni and taxpayers from getting a wrong idea of the university.

Wisconsin Players is restricted to a petty removal of unsuggestive scenes because the powers that be feel that someone in the audience might have a dirty imagination.

What if one character does love another a bit too thoroughly? Don't the students and faculty members believe that such things are possible? Isn't such an action often an intrinsic part of the plot?

No! All of our female characters are Elsie Dinmores and all our heroes are Rollos.

At that it is better to err on the side of caution.

Art

After laughing at Lysistrata on Saturday morning and later trying to spank someone for allowing such a thing to be presented, we find that we are being called a lowbrow who can not appreciate Greek Art.

If Lysistrata (as presented Friday night) was Greek Art, the writer of this column is Alexander Woolcott.

That play should have been censored. In the first place, amateur actors can not present such a theme without a great deal of histrionic ability.

In the second place, the spirit of the cast seemed to be "have a good time, this is our chance to show off."

And finally—the whole thing was crudely handled.

Octy

The Octy claims to be 99 44-100 pure. It is almost that.

In comparison with many college humor journals it is a lily, pure and virginal.

The editors have sometimes tried to sneak fast ones through the censor (not by him).

But this is a small matter. Octy is usually clean enough to let the co-eds read.

We know that the censor this year (Ken Olson) is much better equipped to catch fast ones than the retired guiding light. He is up on modern slang.

Example

The former censor once deleted the following—"and after the show they went for a ride on the drive and stopped under the willows. Because he could think of nothing to say he tried to kiss her. He didn't succeed."

We wrote those lines and don't know yet why they were removed.

Conclusion

Silly censorship of that sort is a joke. Meanwhile "Lysistrata" gets by as Greek Art.

Why not trust Troutman and the students . . . and see what happens. Really powers that be . . . we are not the dirty minded infants we are suspected of being.

Capitol

Here's a short review of the new picture at the Capitol.

Mary Astor plays the lead in "Romance of the Underworld," and we think that it is one of the best crook pictures yet.

There is only one killing. Critics all over the country have applauded this picture.

The story is not much different than usual. Mary is a speak easy hostess who goes straight after falling in love.

However, it is the best acting she has ever done and the picture is not full of impossibilities.

Recommended . . . (by Hank Baker)

Example

A reporter answers the phone. It is a call from some outlying station. An accident is being reported.

"Great stuff . . . (to the others) shut up! . . . Anyone hurt? . . . fine . . . what's his name? . . . Spell it . . . S - C - J - Z . . . Oh, the hell with it!"

Coolidge Asks Large Appropriation for Wisconsin's Needs

In the annual budget message delivered to Congress at its opening by President Coolidge he asked for an appropriation of $575,000 for the Forest Products laboratory in Wisconsin in 1929.

Of this amount $32,400 is to be used for experimentation in paper and pulp manufacture. For Wisconsin rivers and harbors, the total request is about $2,500,000, provision for Milwaukee harbor being among the items.

President Coolidge also asked for $903,500 for the National Soldiers' home in Milwaukee and $600,000 for an addition to the Milwaukee postoffice. There is also the request for $110,000 for a federal building in Oshkosh, Wis.

Other requests for the state of Wisconsin include $215,000 for fish and game refuges and nearly $200,000 for Indian schools. Wisconsin will receive several million dollars out of a total request for $74,000,000 for federal highway aid.

who in turn see that all seniors are taken care of.

(7) Carry a small white towel, folded neatly over right arm. When meeting a senior spread the towel on ground, kneel on same, and say respectfully:

"Greetings High and Mighty Senator, I am but a lowly worm."

(8) Carry an umbrella.
