TWO STUDENTS ADMIT GUILT IN SCALPER TRIAL

Student Court Will Hand Down Decision Dec. 5

Of the three students arraigned before the student court last night in the court room of the Law building, two entered a plea of guilty on a charge of alleged scalping of football tickets, and the third plead not guilty.

Decisions will be handed down by the court in the cases of the first two, while the other case will be tried at the next session of the court, December 5.

Harry G. Callen '25, and Sidney C. Charney L 3, the two who entered pleas of guilty explained the circumstances surrounding the case of the alleged scalping sale and asked that the court take all the facts into considerations in making their decision. Callen explained his case briefly with the advice of his counsel and presented his case in legal form.

100 Hear Trial

More than 100 students crowded into the court room to hear the proceedings, which were very orderly throughout. C. F. Dull '23, chief justice having no trouble in maintaining order at any time. The business of the court was conducted very quickly and without obstruction.

Clifford G. Mathys L 3, prosecutor, in his recommendation to the court, said that the cases in question were strictly university propositions and that if scalping cases are allowed to go unpunished this year, an increase may be expected in the future. Drastic measures are being taken in every university in the Conference, and if students knew how easily they might be apprehended, they would not consider such a thing as scalping, Mathys declared.

Acquittal Means Federal Action
While scalping is defined technically as an offense punishable by federal law, the cases of students may come under the jurisdiction of the court. If the students are found guilty the federal court will take no action, but if they are acquitted the federal authorities will take the matter up.

The decisions of the court in the two cases will be made in a few days, and the defendants informed by special communication. A full account of the decision and a court opinion will be published in The Cardinal later in the week.

"PUNKIN HOLLER" WILL BE REPEATED

More than 30 members of state agricultural college stock judging teams will attend the second presentation of the annual "Punkin Holler" Community Meetin' to be held in Agricultural hall tonight, according to plans of Prof. J. G. Fuller.

The judging teams are enroute to the International Live Stock show at Chicago which will be held Dec. 2-9. The Agric Triangle has invited the members of the team to witness its annual community festivity.

An invitation has been extended to the crippled children of the Bradley Memorial hospital to attend the mythical "Punkin Holler" program. Prof. G. C. Humphrey and T. B. Manny grad, have offered their autos to convey the youngsters to the entertainment.

That the "Punkin Holler" Mule will appear on the program Wednesday evening was announced yesterday. Under the care of Harold "Doc" Wicker '24 the mule has recovered from his illness and can perform his old tricks.

CAPT. ROLLIE WILLIAMS

BY CHAS. J. LEWIN

It is customary to hold a wake after many funerals and now that the 1922-23 Conference football season has been laid to rest, with its brow encased in laurel leaves from Michigan and Iowa, the time for post-mortem examinations is upon us.

Like the tin can on a dog's tail, selection of All-Conference mythical elevens follow the gridiron season. Michigan and Iowa are firmly entrenched in first place, joint champions of the Big Ten, the Hawks claiming a title because their team played five games, the Wolverines admitting they are champions because they met stronger teams than did the Men of Jones.

At the conclusion of each football year, there are men who stand out far above their fellow players, men whose prowess has made it possible for their teams to conquer. The year 1922 is no exception.

Backfield Stars Abundant

In every Varsity backfield, there was at least one shining light whose excellent work enabled his team to win. Critics may differ as to the merits of various individuals and there is bound to be a great deal of hair-splitting when it comes to the selection of an All-Conference team, but none can gainsay the fact that, of the 150 or more football players who entered a Conference tilt, 30 emerged head and shoulders above their mates.

GUS TEBELL

Trite questions can be asked about any one of these men who played. Did the ends smash their interference and turn the plays inside? Did the tackles drop opposing ball-carriers without gain, or did they hurry through the line and miss them entirely? Did the guards and centers slide all over the scrimmage line or did they bore straight ahead and get under the line plunges?

Advantage to Winning Stars

When players satisfy the primary requirements and their play exceeds fundamental necessities of a Varsity man, then they are bidding for honorary selection.

Another important fact to be considered is that men who play on winning teams must necessarily be somewhat better than their rivals on losing teams. If they weren't better, their elevens would not finish on top. Thus, an Indiana player who stars against Purdue and Northwestern hardly can be placed on a level with a Michigan player

McGUIRE, EDITOR AMERICAN BOY, IS C. I. P. A. SPEAKER

Walter P. McGuire, of Detroit, editor of the American Boy, Dr. Elizabeth Kemper Adams, national director of Girl Scouts and E. W. Hill, magazine expert of the Jahn and Ollier Engraving company of Chicago, have been obtained as the speakers for the Central Interscholastic Press association convention to be held here Friday and Saturday.

"There is some possibility that McGuire will not be able to come," Fred L. Kildow '23, director, said yesterday. "His daughter is just recovering from an operation but his wire indicates that he is quite sure he can come."

A wire stating that Dr. Adams, who has been touring the Middle West, has delayed a trip East and has cancelled many speaking engagements to be at the convention was received yesterday morning.

The talk by E. W. Hill will be given at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon in Music hall. He will give a stereopticon lecture on "Building Better Annuals."

"A total of 446 delegates have completed registration for the convention," Harold E. McClelland '23 director, announced yesterday. "We have the names of 115 other delegates who are coming, making a total of 561 of the 650 expected heard from already. We will have many more delegates than we have rooms for accommodations."

Sale of coupon books entitling the holder to admission to the convention sessions, banquet, dance and other convention entertainment were placed on sale yesterday.

ELECT 72 TO PRESS CLUB

New Members Elected on Basis of Interest; Initiation, Dec. 12

Seventy-two were elected to membership at a meeting of Press club held last night. More than 150 applications were considered. It was decided to change the time and place of the regular club meetings to 7 o'clock Tuesday evenings, alternating with the bi-weekly meetings of the W. A. A. The place of the meetings is to be determined by the executive committee.

New members will be notified of the initiation meeting on Friday, Dec. 12. First semester freshmen must re-apply in February, due to the eligibility ruling that no first semester freshman student can participate in activities.

"We have selected the members on the basis of their interest in the

FOLLIES FROLIC FEATURES FAST SIGMA NU STUNT

Twelve minutes of rapid-moving musical comedy burlesque will be the feature act of the Fifth Annual Haresfoot follies Saturday night in Lathrop gymnasium and concert room when the Sigma Nus will offer their skit, "Foolish Follies."

The short act is a travesty on the present theater vogue of revues, according to Thomas W. Morony '25, director of the act. Everything from comedy to ultra jazz and dancing specialties will be included, he declared.

The act will open with a short introduction sung by Frank W. Wolfe '23 followed by a "hot piece" by the 7-piece Sigma Nu orchestra, featuring Rollie Ische '26 at the piano.

A chorus of six, dressed in bell hop costumes imported from Chicago, will accompany Wolfe on the next specialty song. Following the chorus number a comedy skit will be introduced by Willis Fanning '23. A novelty oriental dance and grand finale will close the act.

"The act will be snappy and will take no more than 12 minutes of rip-roaring fun," Morony asserted last night.

The Sigma Nu act will be preceded by the Haresfoot quartet introducing "Winter Moon", original Haresfoot Follies fox trot and other harmony numbers.

Tickets for the follies are being taken rapidly, according to Sidney Thorson '24, business manager of the follies. Tickets for the dance and vodvil, priced at $2, can be obtained at Morgan's and the University pharmacy or from any Haresfoot member.

who plays well against Wisconsin or Michigan.

Many backfield men surpassed the ordinary. There was a large number of ends. But as analysis converge towards the center of the line, the list of luminaries becomes smaller. Tacklers are not numerous, guards are a scarcity, and there are no centers who rank with the Paul Desjardien of 1912, the Chuck Carpenter of 1917 or the Ernie Vick of 1921.

No Devines This Year

Because the main interest of football fans lies in the backfield and because quarterback is perhaps the most important position on a football team, it will be well to first select an all-Conference pilot.

"Where are the Devines of yesterday?" is a rational question concerning this position. Coaches would have to use a fine tooth comb to discover the man who fills every requirement of a clever quarterback, but "Utz" Uteritz, 140 pound Michigan pilot seems to fill the bill.

This player is undoubtedly the headiest field general in the Middle West today. He was the hub around which Michigan's championship offensive was built. Coach Fielding H. Yost permitted Uteritz to carry the ball only a few times during the season, claiming that his pilot was too valuable a man to risk for a few yards gain.

Uteritz never erred in his judgment; he was a valuable man in the interference, a good passer, and because of his long experiences, is given the quarterback job over Workman, Ohio State, Rune Clark, Illinois, and Shorty Barr, Wisconsin.

Workman gets the place on the second team. Hoge was one of the few triple threat men who played Big Ten football this season. He is versatile enough so that he can play either of the halves as well as quarter back, but he is not as consistent as Uteritz in handling the team. Workman has been called the best forward passer in the Big Ten. Rune Clark, because of his field-goal kicking ability, and Shorty Barr, because of his feats in the aerial line, are given honorable mention.

It is too bad that there are not three halfback positions on a team so Rollie Williams, Harry Kipke, Michigan, and Earl Martineau, the Minnesota French flash, could all place. As it is, Williams and Kipke have a slight edge over the Gopher speedster.

Williams can run the ends with lightning-like speed and rush off tackles with the force of a pile driver. The Badger half is one of the cleverest ball-carriers in the country. He whirls, dodges, and sidesteps on the football field with the same ease that he works on the basketball floor.

Williams is never inactive in a game. If he is not carrying the ball, he is leading the interference and picking off would-be tacklers. On the defense, he is either making the first tackle, helping his mates to down a back, or picking up a lineman who has been forced to the turf. His fighting qualities make him an ideal leader and Williams is selected as captain of the mythical eleven.

At right half, Kipke would make an ideal running mate in a pony backfield. The Michigan man is rated as the best punter in the Big Ten. He is an accurate forward passer, and when he carries the oval, often outstrips his interference.

Martineau rates close behind these two men. He is a star of the first water, a wonderful player on a green team. With Marty in the headliner's role and a supporting cast of 10 experienced Gophers next year, the Gopher should rate with the best. Jimmy Pyott, Chicago halfback and punter, Shuttleworth of Iowa, and Chuck Palmer, Northwestern, are a trio of excellent performers.

Gordon Locke, Iowa, is awarded the fullback position. Locke is unfortunate in that he has been forced to play both quarterback and full this year, but he has borne up well under the shifts and has been the main cog in a championship machine.

Locke made two touchdowns against Ohio State and four against Northwestern. He also scored two against Minnesota and nobody has been able to count the number he totalled in the 54 to 0 debacle with Purdue. A star football player is a "mean" football player. He is out to hit or get hit. Locke is that sort of a man and because of his fighting qualities, Locke takes precedence over other fullbacks.

John Thomas makes a strong bid for honors. But Thomas does not play regularly. He is injected into the fray, a fresh man battering a tired line, and much of his success is due to this fact. Even then, the mighty Thomas could not pierce Coach John Richard's Wisconsin forward wall. Thomas is placed on the second eleven. Cappen, Michigan plunging, smashing fullback comes just outside the charmed circle. Merrill Taft, Wisconsin punting back, plays a fine defensive and kicking game, but he has neither the physique nor the force to drive through opposing forward walls.

Two men, former school-mates and members of the same high school team, oppose each other for the right end position. Both are veterans and both are stars. Gus Tebell, Wisconsin, and Capt. Frank Hanney, Indiana, are in line for the job, but Tebell is given preference because of his steady playing, his uncanny ability to sense plays and be in the right place at the right time.

Many are prone to look upon Hanney as an outstanding man on a weak team, while Tebell ranked high on a squad which was considered for championship honors. Tebell not only smashes interference, —he brings down the runner. He can always grab forward passes and with Kipke, would form the nucleus of an unstoppable airline attack. Capt. Goebel, Michigan, another right end, was so badly outplayed by Tebell in the Michigan-Wisconsin game that he cannot be awarded any honors.

Frank Hanney is a fighter from the word "go", a player who is handicapped because he is so unfortunate as to be with a losing team. Called back from end, Hanney can carry the ball from half or full back. He is awarded captaincy of the second all-conference team.

Bennie Kirk gets the left end position over Kadesky, Iowa. He learned much of his first football under Knute Rockne at Notre Dame and then came to Michigan where for two years he has been on the receiving end of passes from the hands of Goebel, who is called back of the line. Kirk is a smashing defensive player, and it would have to be a sterling back who could skirt his end.

Kadesky, Iowa wingman, has had less opportunity to scintillate because his team is less dependent on forward passes, but the Hawk is a sturdy player. Goebel, Chicago, Ecklund, Minnesota, and Capt. Wilson, Illinois, are men who were considered for a place, but who fell short.

Captain-elect Marty Below, Wisconsin, and Hal Lewis, Chicago, get the tackle positions. Lewis was a powerful forward who bolstered up the Maroon line and helped it to defeat Ohio State, Illinois, Northwestern, and Purdue.

Below has been a mainstay on the Badger scrimmage line all year. He beats Penfield of Northwestern, who is shifted to tackle on the second team. Below was a more brilliant linesman and fully as steady. He was equal to Lewis in feeling the formations and finding the ball-carrier, frequently getting runner for losses. Although through the line to tackle the Capt. Lewis plays guard, he is changed to tackle because of the presence of two other stellar guards.

Muirhead is given the second team right tackle with Smith of Wisconsin and Petroff of Ohio State also ranking high.

There is little doubt that Pixley, Ohio State, and McMillen, Illinois, are star Big Ten guards. Pixley was Buckeye captain this year. McMillan has been elected to lead the Indians next year. Pixley has been selected for the guard post in previous years, and although he was off to a slow start this year, he closed big gaps in the Ohio wall, making his team one of the most feared in the Conference, even though the offensive lacked enough power to score necessary touchdowns.

McMillen's playing enabled Illinois to hold Iowa to a 7 to 6 score and to beat Wisconsin and Northwestern. In the Badger contest, he intercepted forward passes, something that a guard is rarely able to do. Minnick, Iowa, Mead, Iowa, Abramson, Minnesota, and Swank, Purdue, are excellent guards.

Three candidates for the center job can be found in Heldt, Iowa, King, Chicago, and Ollie Aas, Minnesota. Aas was badly outplayed in several games, while King and Heldt had no difficulty in holding their own against all opponents. Many are inclined to give King the place over Heldt, although the former was unable to stop Wisconsin plunges in the season's concluding game. Heldt passed perfectly all season. King is selected as pivot man on the second team and Aas is relegated to the list of "also-rans."

With an All-Conference eleven composed of these gridiron stars, and an All-Conference coach who could coordinate the play of these prima donna gridders, what team in the country could stop them? Who could halt the sparkling end runs of Kipke and Williams? Who would out-punt Kipke? Who could stop Locke without gain in the line? And who could out-smart Uteritz at quarterback.

The most puzzling attack in the history of the game could be built around this team, with forward passes, field goals and running attack leading to victories that would have to come.

Team Would Be World-Beaten
Kipke and Williams could smash off-tackle and race the flanks. Locke could hurtle into the line. Uteritz, Kipke and Locke could forward pass. Locke and Kipke could bear the punting duties. Kipke is a good drop-kicker and Tebell is a place-kicker.

If, after months of practice to put them in the best of condition, these two teams clashed, which would emerge the victor?

A solo and some French folk songs led by Miss Marguerite Trille of the French department were sung as part of the regular program at the French club by the members at their meeting in Lathrop parlors last night. John Irwin, assistant instructor in French, sang and Miss Trille read a folk story. A scene called the "Le Medecin Mystifie" was presented after which the members of the club took part in different games.

TIGER SUPREMACY IN EAST ACCLAIMED ARMY HAS REVENGE

Harvard As Under Dog Surprises Yale: Rockne Wins

With backers of Yale offering 2 to 1 odds on the outcome of the contest with Harvard last Saturday and supporters of the latter school afraid of losing even on a 2 to 1 bet, the Crimson entered the Yale bowl as the underdog and emerged on the top of the world dragging after them a 10 to 3 victory.

Yale was considered by dopesters as the strongest team because of its exceptionally good showing against Princeton the week before.

Princeton Conquers All

The great defense of the Bulldog was completely broken down under the aggressiveness of the Crimson. When George Owen, the Harvard halfback, grabbed the pigskin and raced 60 yards to a touchdown, Yale and its supporters saw their hopes raise its wings and fly out of the bowl.

"Another case of over-confidence, was the remark which many made. 'It happens in the best of schools.'"

Princeton, who conquered both Yale and Harvard as well as Chicago is considered one of the best teams in the country.

Army Sinks Navy

Army sank the Navy for the first time in seven years, Saturday, when it charged up and down the field for a 17 to 14 win. The Navy made a desperate attempt to come back in the last quarter and succeeded in getting a 14 to 10 lead on the Army goat.

A few minutes later 45,000 people howled themselves hoarse with glee or groaned as though death were approaching when Smythe of the Army threw a pass to Dodd who was standing behind the Navy goalposts.

Dartmouth was another team which upset the dope when it shut-out Brown with a 7 to 0 score.

Notre Dame Coach Wins

The greatness of a coach was shown Saturday, when Notre Dame smothered Carnegie Tech under a 19 to 0 score. With four of the best men on the team at home or on the sidelines, Coach Knute Rockne, took his fighting Irishmen to Pittsburgh and walloped one of the strongest teams in the East.

Crowley of Notre Dame made the last score for his Alma Mater, when, with the ball on the opponents 22 yard line he ran through the opposing team for a touchdown. Notre Dame has one more game to play this year. The Catholics go to Lincoln where they meet Nebraska, the winner of the Missouri Valley conference, tomorrow.

Notre Dame will stack up against some stiff opposition when it meets the Huskers and fur will fly in all directions.

Oak Park and Hyde Park Papers Are Ranked Best

The Oak Park Tabular, magazine of the Oak Park high school of Chicago, took first honors in the magazine contest at the first annual conference of the Illinois State High School Press association, which closed Saturday after a two day session at the University of Illinois.

The Hyde Park Weekly, newspaper of the Hyde Park high school of Chicago, was awarded first honors in the "better high school publication" contest.

First place in classes two and three was won respectively by Proviso Pageant of Maywood and the Review of Streator high school.

No-Cut Rule in Effect For Thanksgiving Recess

The no-cut rule will be in effect over Thanksgiving recess. Notices have been read in the various classes throughout the university that students missing the last recitation before or the first recitation after Thanksgiving in any class will not be allowed to take the final examination in that subject.

Here's Football Afteamath Dope

James W. McMillan, star lineman on the Illinois team was elected captain for next year at the annual banquet given by the Rotary club here Monday night.

Harry G. Kipke of Lansing, Mich., star halfback of the Michigan varsity football eleven, was elected captain of the 1922 squad at a meeting of the "M" men on Monday. Kipke, one of the best halfbacks Michigan has produced, has one more year to play.

California has named Don Nichols as captain of the 1923 football team. He was elected Sunday night at the annual "break training banquet". On the Pacific coast Nichols is regarded as a star halfback and a strategist in football tactics.

The University of Michigan's undefeated football team will make no claim to sole possession of the western conference championship, being willing to share honors with Iowa, another undefeated eleven, it was announced by Coach Fielding H. Yost on Monday.

Coach Yost will continue indefinitely as head of the Michigan football coaching staff, despite his added burdens as head of the university's athletic department, he announced on Monday. He will be unable to devote as much time to the squad next year, however, as was the case this season, and much of the duties will fall on the shoulders of Assistant Coach George Little, who is serving his first year in the Maize and Blue coaching department.

Gordon Locke, fullback on the Iowa team, rated as champions of the western conference, is the individual high point scorer for the season, according to records available on Monday, having marked up 72 points. His nearest competitors are Otis McCreary, halfback of Minnesota, and Chuck Palmer of Northwestern. Each have 24 points to their credit.

In the team standing of points scored Iowa leads with 141, with Michigan trailing with 72, Minnesota 57, Chicago 50, Northwestern 44, Wisconsin 40, Ohio 24, Purdue 20, Illinois 19 and Indiana 7. Opponents of Iowa scored 33 points of Michigan 13, Minnesota 65, Chicago 16, Wisconsin 16, Northwestern 76, Ohio 57, Purdue 99, Illinois 50 and Indiana 47.

Following McCreary and Palmer in scoring efforts are Kipke, halfback, Michigan, 21; Eklund, end, Minnesota, 18; Cappon, fullback, Michigan, 18; Tebell, end, Wisconsin, 16; Zorn, fullback, Chicago; Williams, halfback; Kadesky, end; Parkin, quarterback, Shuttlesworth, halfback, all of Iowa, are credited with 12 points each; Proute, halfback made 12 of Purdue's 20 points.

In touchdowns Locke leads with 12, while McCreary and Palmer have 4 each. Kipke made 3 touchdowns and scored on goal from the field. Eklund made 2 touchdowns and scored 6 goals from touchdowns. Cappon made 3 touchdowns. Two touchdowns were scored by others named above, excepting Shuttlesworth, who made 9 goals from touchdowns, and 1 goal from the field.

Harvard departed from her usual custom November 27 by not numbering her players in the game with Yale. rFederick W. Moore, graduate treasurer of the Harvard Athletic association, declared that this game will not establish a precedent. Others say that players probably will be numbered in only the more important games in the future.

Ohio State has been offered a date for some Saturday in October to battle with Army eleven. Following the victory of the Army over the Navy on Saturday, the schedule managers are busy arranging the Army's program for next year. Several colleges which have never faced the Army may appear on the 1923 schedule. It was learned Monday that the Buckeyes have declined the offer of the Army grids.

Former Badger Captain to Coach Buckeye Team

CARD SPORT —Former Badger H. G. Olsen, former Wisconsin captain and all-conference basketball guard, is the new coach of the Buckeye five.

Olsen turned out state championship quintets at Ripon college, and since coming to Columbus, has been putting the Buckeye candidates through a new system in preparation for the 1922-23 season. Basketball interest is at its height at Ohio State with five out of seven letter men from last season's sixth place Western conference team back and a new coach in charge.

VARSITY MAT CHANCES GOOD

Hitchcock Leaves to Frame Schedule; First Tryouts Next Week

CARD —SPORT Varsity Mat

Wrestling is fast becoming a major sport activity at Wisconsin. This year will find the university represented by one of the best wrestling teams in the Conference.

Three football men who were on the wrestling team last year will report for practice. These men are Nichols, Bieberstein, and Kiessling. They should strengthen the squad considerably especially in the heavy weight class.

Templin, the captain of this year's team is one of the best wrestlers in his class in the Conference. He is in the 158 pound class. Heuer in the 145 pound class is also very good. White of the 135 pound class has prospects of making the squad although there are about eight other strong competitors in this class.

Coach Hitchcock leaves Friday to attend a meet of the Big Ten wrestling coaches held in Chicago. The purpose of the meeting is to make out a schedule and also to change what rules the coaches see fit to amend.

The wrestling tryouts are scheduled for 4:30 o'clock Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday of next week. All frosh interested in wrestling should report to coach Hitchcock on these days for tryouts. Any other men who wish to try out for the Varsity team may come also at that time.

UNLIMITED FIELD OPEN TO WOMEN IN JOURNALISM

Graduates in the Course in Journalism are filling many prominent positions according to a recent survey made by the department.

Among last year's graduates, Ivan N. Peterman, a member of the Student senate, Press club and Who's Who staff, is now working on the Buffalo Courier. Iona V. Irish, a member of the Collegiate league of Women voters, is publicity director and instructor in journalism at Central high school, Tulsa, Okla.

J. Stuart Hamilton, who was prominent in Press club and French club work, is instructor in French at the Honolulu Military academy, Hawaii. Esther O. Naven, a member of Theta Sigma Phi, woman's journalistic fraternity, Mortar Board and Outing club, is traveling through Switzerland and Italy.

Lawrence W. Murphy is outstanding as a 1921 graduate. His experience as desk editor of The Cardinal in 1920 and 1921, editor-in-chief of Who's Who, and dramatic editor of the 1921 Badger has aided him to obtain his present position of director in journalism at the University of North Dakota.

Bertha Zilmer '20, is state editor of the Milwaukee Journal. Zilmer was managing editor of The Cardinal in 1920. Marion Roth, woman's editor in 1920, is assistant to the agricultural editor of South Dakota State College of Agriculture and Mechanics. Owen L. Scott, managing editor of The Cardinal in 1919, is now with the Associated Press at Chicago.

Richards Will Have Excellent Nucleus For Next Year

Despite all the hue and cry, which is only natural, at the end of the football season over the poor prospects for a winning team next year, material of good calibre is enough in evidence to assure a Wisconsin team which will rank with the best in the Conference.

Comparatively few men will be lost through graduation, while a large number of the men on the squad this fall will report for practice next September.

While Gus Tebell's loss will be felt keenly at the wing position, two excellent players have proved this season that they are capable of holding up the ends in true Wisconsin style.

Many Fast Ends

Irish, who has been playing end during the past season, has a year of Varsity competition left and will work next year. Irish is fast and has the necessary height to enable him to nab long passes.

Steve Polaski proved in the Chicago game as well as in the last part of the Michigan game, that he is an end of much ability. What Polaski lacks in weight he makes up in speed and fight.

Below Will Star

In Captain Marty Below, Wisconsin will have one of the best tackles in the Conference. Below is a whale at breaking through the line and tackling the opposing backs for big losses. Although Fat Smith is listed as a senior, there is a possibility of his being in play again next year. He has played only one year of Conference football and is eligible for two more years if he is in school.

For the guard positions, Sykes is in the same position as is Smith. If he plays next year, he will be a big factor in building up the center of the line. Hohlfeld may also be in uniform next fall. He has had considerable experience and will be valuable to the 1923 team.

Bieberstein and Miller both have shown up extremely well when they have played this fall. They each have two more years to play and should prove strong men for the line.

Center Material Abundant

Next year's team will not lack for a center with Ben Pearce and perhaps Tom Nichols in school. They have alternated during the entire season and are pivot men of no mean ability. There is a strong possibility that Kibo Brumm will be able to play again next year. He has played at tackle, guard and center during his two years of Varsity grid work and will be a strong addition to the 1923 team if he can play.

Teckmeyer, who was on the squad until he was declared ineligible this fall, will again seek the center position.

Must Find Quarter

While the development of a man to fill the vacancy left by Shorty Barr's graduation will be one of Richard's greatest problems, there is considerable promising material. Millman will be after the job again next year and is a possible choice. He is rather light, but works much in the fashion of Allan Davey, one of Wisconsin's quarterback stars of former years. If he can emulate Davey's work, Richards can ask for nothing more.

Mike Stone, who played quarter on the frosh team in 1920 probably will be back in school next semester so as to be eligible for competition next year. He has gained considerable fame with Milwaukee Normal school in the past two years, and will help to make the 1923 team a winner. O'Brien, captain of this year's All-Americans is another likely candidate for the pilot position.

Taft to Play Fullback

At fullback, Taft will do most of the work. He is a plunger, a kicker and a fighter who will rate with the best backs in the Conference next year. Radtke, a sophomore this year, is another good fullback though he can be used at half if necessary.

POLITICS AGAIN

"Blow, blow, thou winter wind,
Thou art not so unkind
As man's ingratitude."

AGAIN the university appears in the political limelight, again the but of a bombastic appeal to the agriculturist.

Lieutenant Governor Comings, leading Nonpartisan leaguer, citing the fact that farmers are bearing a heavy load of debt and declaring that the farmer has been reduced to a state of serfdom by the investing public, complains that the university has been blind to his real needs and has been of no material assistance.

When we read that, we thought of the life work of Professor Babcock, of Dean Henry, of William Demster Hoard, and we wondered.

Mr. Comings is a farmer in private life. We wonder if he raises only one crop, puts all his eggs in one basket, or whether he practices diversified farming as insurance against fluctuations in prices of individual crops. The university taught the farmer the advantage of diversified farming.

We wonder if he has any pure-bred cattle, on his farm, and whether he does any dairying. The university taught the farmer the value of pure-bred cattle, the advantages of dairying; and it taught him how to feed that cattle, how to get high quality milk.

Mr. Comings wouldn't have to go very far outside of Wisconsin to find scrub cattle and blue milk in farm communities where motor cars are scarce. He wouldn't have to go very far to find a community where farmers are ruined by the decline of a single crop.

But these facts and many others which might be mentioned in the same connection are not cited by Mr. Comings. He is interested in the fact that the university has not kept the farmer from becoming the "serf" of predatory bankers. For this reason the College of Agriculture has been of "no material assistance."

Immorality is wide-spread these days, Mr. Comings. Would you say that the Christian church has been of no material moral assistance?

But perhaps we are too severe with Mr. Comings. It cannot be denied that the farmer is in a bad way, laden with debt, in many cases bankrupt. Economic disturbances often have hit the farmer in this way, and Mr. Comings promises some constructive suggestions for aiding the farmer.

If it is possible for the university to be of more aid than it has been, it will undoubtedly welcome suggestions as to means. Real constructive suggestions are always welcome.

But we think it is not necessary to deny all virtue before making suggestions for improvement. It might not be so spectacular to make a suggestion without denunciation, but it would be undoubtedly more fair.

But perhaps Mr. Comings wanted to be spectacular, to sound a clarion call which would go far and tell the poor bankrupt farmer that someone, at least, is fighting his battle. Mr. Comings, we presume, knows his business; otherwise he wouldn't be lieutenant governor.

We will be interested in these constructive suggestions, and are wondering what they are going to be. There is little indication in his statement. Perhaps the most significant part is the following:

"In spite of all the machinery of learning and of research the agricultural colleges in Wisconsin and elsewhere have been of no material assistance. How blind they are is indicated by the fact that they have insisted on more production even when the farmer's product was rotting on the ground and could not be moved.

"The fundamental need of the farmer is not more production or more facilities for borrowing money which must be paid back, but fair prices for that which he produces and upon that depends the soundness of the agricultural situation which is essential for a sound national economy. Whether or not the farmer will secure a fair price for his produce will depend to a considerable degree on the increased earning capacity of the masses of the people."

If Mr. Comings has some formula by which the College of Agriculture may regulate prices and increase the earning capacity of the masses, let him bring it forth and to be hailed as the great man of the age. If he can't, why not give the universities credit for making possible more scientific production.

THE STUDENT BENCH

THE student court last night took up the trial of students on charges of ticket scalping, handling the cases in place of and with permission of the federal court.

The recognition of the student court by judicial authority has placed upon it a heavy responsibility, and the determined and business-like manner in which it took up the cases last night shows that it is capable of assuming that responsibility.

The student bench is an institution of infinite possibilities and the way the revived institution has started its work indicates that it will become a strong, worth-while instrument of student self government.

RELIGION ON THE CAMPUS

Is religion neglected at Wisconsin?

When the average student departs from his home city or community for the university, he leaves the very center of his early training in youth. It is home around which groups the youth's interest in religious beliefs. It is the home church in which he is a member.

And the home is often distant from Madison.

In the newer freedom of the university where no benevolent mother or dad keeps a watchful eye over him, the student has his first test of character as well as his first opportunity to follow the inclinations of his sub-self, the Mr. Hyde of our dual personalities.

It is with interest and congratulations that The Cardinal views the erection of the Luther Memorial church on University avenue near the campus.

Representing as it does the growth of a work started 16 years ago to minister to the religious needs of Lutheran young men and women, it now stands a towering monument to the service of the past and a splendid investment to the needs of the future.

It is a cathedral of worship to the Supreme Being; it is an agency for the good of the university and hence for the state.

The Luther Memorial answers the question.

The spiritual life in the student body must not be neglected, and the establishment of religious centers by many churches here for students is a living testimony that the campus religious life has been recognized to be important.

Each huge stone on the cathedral as it climbs heavenward, represents the sacrifice and devotion of fathers and mothers for their sons and daughters at Wisconsin.

The home ties may be distant, but religion knows no mile post.

Looking Back On Wisconsin

IN THE CARDINAL FILES

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

The committee on a college pin during the Thanksgiving holidays placed some designs with Milwaukee jewelers.

The Law school is soon to have larger quarters. The new building will be completed within a short time. The quarters now are extremely crowded.

20 YEARS AGO TODAY

No edition.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

Approximately 2,500 students sign the Athletic board petition in a campaign to allow Wolverines to return to the Conference.

Only the two-step, the waltz and the straight Boston forms of dancing will be permitted at any of the university dances from now on and these will be under the censorship of a competent man who will have the authority to draw the line between eccentric dancing and the permissible forms. Violators of the rule to be ejected.

Tuesday night the victorious football squad which won the Conference championship for Wisconsin this year were entertained by the Orpheum.

5 Years Ago Today

Madison gives a total of $24,571 for war relief.

Richard Lloyd Jones, editor of the State Journal, who has questioned the patriotism of the university publications, will have a chance to place his opinions frankly before the men of Wisconsin when he speaks at the Sunday evening assembly.

WELL!

SEEING as how

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving

WE dare you to find

JUST one thing to

Be Thankful for!!

OH YES!!

WE got a good meal for once.

OH Look!!

Dear Hero:

We appreciated seeing ourselves in print the other day, now will you answer us this question, please? Is that big pile of hay on the south side of the campus near Lathrop hall there to make some of the people here feel at home? Thank you

Mary Sunshine

ANSWER TO above question

Yah! That and the Ag. School

WELL now that

THE

EX-Kaiser

Has gone

AND

Got himself

MARRIED again

WE want

TO say

Right here

That we don't

Sympathize with him

At all

HE DESERVES IT!!

Had another interview with Gordy Wanzer the other day and as he walked into the room he was lying on his stomach chewing the corner off the rug and we said, "What's the matter Wanzer, Hungry?" and he says, "H—I no! I'm despret," and we says, "How come?" and he says, "Why I can't find no Prom Queen" and we said, "Well why don't you 'siag' it?" "Why, Gee! Whiz! Gosh!" he retorted, "I got to give some woman an excuse to get a new dress." Well we admired his altruistic spirit and while we were so admiring it, he broke the silence.

"I tell you boys it's an awful state of affairs and we said "What is, Wis?" And he said, "Naw! Quit your kiddin, I'm despret, but, I'll find somebody—I'm working on a 'dark horse' now. 'Well, we always liked 'dapple grays' better but it was all right with us so we kinda thought we'd get some dope on the Prom itself so we said 'Well, what kind of a Prom are we going to have this year?' And he said, 'Capitol!'"

Well, we didn't ask him where it was going to be held but we were glad to find it out, and then he said, "I've got a brand new idea for the Prom this year. You see, it's this way: we're going to have all the chaperones wear O'Sullivan's heels because that will save them a thousand shocks!!"

Well, we didn't want to hurt him very bad so we just dropped a piano on him and left the room.

Try this on your hot coffee:

Pretty hair!

Pretty eyes!!

Pretty lips!!!

PRETTY NICE!!!

HINTS TO STUDENTS

If you have been having trouble with your Profs. today's the day to go up and "talk turkey" to them.

The other day at the Chicago game some guy took his very favorite girl friend to the game and when it was about half through she asked him who the player was, in a white suit, that was always taking the ball and nobody tried to stop him!

Congressman Presents New Educational Plan

The plan promulgated by Representative Reed, West Virginia, to call a conference in Washington, D. C. for the purpose of making the Washington school system a model for the entire United States has met with the enthusiastic support of Major E. A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of education.

He calls Representative Reed's proposal "the most constructive educational service that can be rendered the national government."

"When Representative Reed describes the present method of school organization as 'haphazard,' he describes the condition exactly," Major Fitzpatrick said recently.

Other problems relative to our school systems, especially those dealing with standardization, seem to be solved in the congressman's plan, according to Major Fitzpatrick.

He believes that if Congressman Reed will persist in his effort to make Washington a demonstration of how a public school system in this country ought to be run, he will have rendered a greater service to the country than is possible with the proposed annual expenditure of $100,000,000 under the Smith-Towner bill, or the placing of a secretary of education in the presidents cabinet.

"NERO" ACCLAIMED CLIMAX OF PROGRESS

"The climax of motion picture progress," is what William Fox calls his super-special, "Nero". The picture has been booked for this week at the Grand theater.

Very few persons will be inclined to differ with the producer in his estimate of "Nero". Offering, as it does, every opportunity for massed effects and vital incidents and dealing with an important historical period, it was only necessary for a producer with the vision and the bank roll to engage a director and have him put a company to work.

Then, after a year of the right kind of endeavor, it would be possible to announce that a master-picture had been completed. It proved so in this case, and picture patrons are assured that "Nero" leads the procession when it comes to big doings in screenland.

It is difficult to decide which feature of the picture to mention first. Story, production, sensational features and photography are of equal merit. The acting is splendid, the novel and well-chosen cast having been engaged on the other side of the ocean, except in the case of Violet Mersereau, who plays a Christian princess.

Nero is acted by a French artist named Jacques Gretilat. He is every inch the Emperor as history paints him. Alexander Salvini as Horatius Guido Trento as Tullius, Paulette Duval as Popaea, and Edy Darceia as Acte have important roles.

Gage to Leave Tomorrow For Toronto Convention

Leslie Gage '23, president of the Union board, starts tomorrow for Toronto, where he will attend a convention of unions from 20 colleges and universities December 1 and 2. A detailed study of the Hart Union building at Toronto, the largest and most complete union in America, will be one of the interesting phases of the convention.

Because the plans for Wisconsin's proposed Memorial Union building are being drawn up, Gage will examine the features of the Hart union building which would be of value here.

"The Toronto union has planned all kinds of entertainments for us, from afternoon tea to a complete tour through their elaborate Union building," Gage said last night.

APIS CLUB TO BE NATIONAL

Bee-keepers to Organize at Iowa and Minnesota on Badger Plan

The Apis club, first organized in this country at Wisconsin last spring, will become a national organization in the near future with branches at other agricultural colleges and universities interested in bee-keeping. Iowa and Minnesota will probably be the next universities to organize the Apis club, according to local members.

"To advance this movement throughout the country," says Prof. H. F. Wilson of the etomology department, our members as they go out into the field, will act as extension agents for the club at the university by carrying on experimental research and demonstration work in beekeeping. The Wisconsin club will give active assistance in furthering the Apis movement."

The Apis club was founded in England in 1919. Last July the Wisconsin Apis club received a bronze medal from England for promotion of the bee industry in America.

The club meets every first and third Tuesday of each month, at present there are 18 members including faculty and students. Officers of the club are George E. Marvin '23, president; Walter A. Kuenzli '24, vice president; Richard Butler '24, secretary-treasurer.

Faculty and students members include Prof. H. F. Wilson, Dr. S. B. Fracker, Harvey G. Ahrens, Arthur O. Albertz '23, George L. Arbuthnot '23, Clarence C. Cravens '23, J. Forest Crawford '23, George B. Durham, Ernest E. Ehrhott '25, Victor V. Goss '24, Vern G. Milum, Everett Oertel '24, Edwin J. Rasmussen, Bronson D. Tolman '23, and L. P. Whitehead.

THIRTY JUDGES COME HERE TO SEE BADGER HERD

The university will act as host to more than 30 members of stock judging teams from other colleges, today, according to Prof. J. G. Fuller of the Animal Husbandry department.

The teams will stop off on their way to the International Live Stock show, Chicago, to judge some of the university live stock. Wisconsin is said to have some of the best herds of any state university and judging teams become acquainted with university herds and flocks before going into the contest at Chicago.

The teams will be met by K. P. Sayre, president of the Saddle and Siroin club, and Prof. J. G. Fuller. This afternoon several classes of live stock will be judged.

PAVEMENT TO COST $253,826

Parker Announces City Street
Paving Totals For 1922

Permanent paving of Madison streets this year cost $253,826.72, according to figures compiled by E. E. Parker, city engineer. ## BLAINE TO GO TO CONVENTION

Will Leave For Washington
Friday; Acts on Call of La Follette

Governor Blaine announced yesterday that he will leave for Washington, D. C. Friday to attend the conference of Progressives called by Sen. Robert M. La Follette. He will be accompanied by Herman L. Ekern, attorney-general-elect for Wisconsin.

The governor is scheduled to talk to the meeting on the work of the Wisconsin tax commission in uncovering unreported income of corporators, which are assessable under the state income tax law.

Governor Blaine is understood to be in accord with Senator La Follette's views that the recent election served as a mandate to Progressives over the country to join forces in an effort to secure legislation which they favor.

Bran Bread Help to Barr in Keeping Thin

"Everybody loves a fat man," are familiar words that must have dropped from the lips of a corpulent individual, one not playing football.

After many workouts this fall, and many consultations with the "Correct Weight, One Cent" machine Shorty Barr decided that though it wouldn't be bad to be loved, that the scales would have to register fewer pounds for speedy action on the gridiron.

So Shorty gave up eating bread. He hated very much to do it as he had been accustomed to eating lots of bread. Boiled potatoes wouldn't even fill the vast expanse.

Then one day someone sent Shorty a few slices of the bread served at the University club. It was bran bread, unlike the regular variety. This was very tasty; it had some foreign elements blended into a mixture that Shorty pronounced "exquisitely". And it contained none of those weight-producing elements.

The women in the kitchen at the club heard how enthusiastic Shorty had waxed over this food that he could eat, so they got together and fixed up a dainty box for Shorty. A small box was tacked up in the kitchen and over it a placard bearing the words, "Bread for Shorty Barr." And day by day they saved their pennies and dropped them in and so it came to pass that this modest coffer was filled to overflowing and each

20 PUSH WORK OF INSTITUTE

Full-time Members to Promote Activities of Farm
Body

For the betterment of agriculture and the marketing of farm crops, 20 Badger farmers and farm women will carry on the work of the Farmers' institute throughout the state during the winter months.

The first institute was held 35 years ago at Hudson, Wis. Now there are 210 institutes held each year, lasting two days and consisting of 10 talks on farm practices given by the members of the staff.

The full-time members of the institute will be assisted by various members of the College of Agriculture faculty, the county agents, and agricultural, home economics, and extension specialists. Other outstanding farm men and women will devote a part of their time to the work.

Those from the agriculture department who shall assist with this work, according to E. L. Luther, superintendent of farmers' institutes, are H. W. Albertz, John Brown, George Briggs, F. L. Busback, H. W. Ullsperger, Griffith Richards, L. H. McKay, E. J. Delwiche, and J. B. Hayes.

Ripon Graduates Filling Many Important Posts

A recent canvass of Ripon college graduates, from the first class of 1867 through the class of 1922, brought to light the following data: 384 have graduated, 431 men and 317 women are still living, making a total of 748 graduates at present. Forty-four graduated from the school of music. In the professions there are 165 teachers, 41 professors, 9 writers, 9 librarians, 84 scientists, 16 engineers, 18 farmers, 18 physicians, 25 lawyers and 72 religious workers. Of the 72 religious workers, 50 are ministers, 15 missionaries and 7 are social workers.

119 G. O. P. IN LEGISLATURE

13 Socialists, One Democrat; Varied Interests Are Represented

An analysis of the political complexion of the 1923 legislature, completed today by Elmer S. Hall, secretary of state, shows that 119 members class themselves as republicans, one as a democrat, and 13 as socialists. This shows an increase in the socialist delegation to the legislature with a falling off in the number of democrats.

The senate has 30 republicans in its membership and three socialists, with no democrats. In the last session there were two democrats and five socialists in the upper house. The assembly has 89 republicans, one democrat and 10 socialists, all the socialist members coming from Milwaukee. Five socialists and two democrats served in the lower house during the 1921 session.

Out of the membership of 100 in the lower house, 65 are definitely affiliated with the La Follette-Blaine faction of the republican party, while in the senate 17 out of the 33 members have a like affiliation, giving the governor a clear majority in both houses. The socialists in the past voted with the La Follette faction on practically all measures.

Practically all interests of the state are represented. The upper house has in its membership six farmers, eight lawyers, two salesmen, four bankers, one publisher, one editor, one municipal contractor, two manufacturers, two lumbermen, two physicians, two real estate dealers, one wholesale grocer, an agent and an insurance man.

Fifty-two farmer members of the assembly give that class control of the lower house, which in addition has nine lawyer members, three machinists, a locomotive engineer, three other engineers, a fish dealer, a taxi-driver, one florist, a journalist, two bankers, one iron dealer, a laundryman, a printer, a cigarmaker, a painter, two real estate men, an insurance agent, an assessor of incomes, and a secretary of a county manufacturers' association.

Women Take Important Places in Professions

"No longer are there professions for the women but there are women in the professions," Dr. Elizabeth Kemper Adams, educator and author, said in her talk in Barnard parlors Sunday evening.

"Help students to help themselves. Full information is more important than definite placement during college, and a woman should be in the school a great deal of the time to give the students help and advice in choosing their life's work," she continued.

Professional work should not be discontinued when women are married, but ways should be devised to keep in touch with the outside work during the first few years of marriage, in her opinion.

"Look seriously at the thing you are going to do. New fields were opened during the war and women should hold these places open. Teaching is a good form of occupation for the college graduate. Salaries have risen and there is a great chance for initiative in this field," Dr. Adams asserted.

Clemenceau Address is Heard Over Radio Here

The address of M. Clemenceau, "Tiger" of France, delivered yesterday afternoon in the auditorium at Chicago, was received by radio in 113 Sterling hall at 4 o'clock yesterday.

Conditions of the atmosphere were unfavorable and the address was hard to understand. Static electricity and the distance that the address was relayed caused it to be indistinct.

Mayor Thompson spoke first, followed by Clemenceau. A great applause was given the former premier of France as he started to speak. Cheers and applause broke forth during the address and caused the speaker to hesitate some time.

Resume Paving Work on S. Fairchild Street

Paving of Fairchild st. has been resumed with the arrival of another shipment of cresote blocks to the Quinn Construction Co. Only two blocks of the street remain to be paved.

Gus Finally Finds Lost Megaphone

"Golly, but I was glad to get it back!" said Gus Tuckerman, varsity cheerleader, yesterday with real feeling in his voice, in speaking of the recovery of his megaphone which was lost at the Michigan game more than a week ago.

And thereby hangs a tale.

It seems that Gus was a courtier a fair Alpha Chi at Ann Arbor and while calling on her had left the huge horn on the porch. Evidently some souvenir-hunter availed himself of the opportunity to bag some big game and purloined the megaphone. At any rate, it was nowhere to be found.

A pathetic letter from Gus pleading for its return in time for the Chicago game was printed in full in the Michigan Daily, student paper. In part, he says:

"It is not very valuable or anything like that, but I would rather lose an arm than that old horn. I need it badly for the Chicago game and promise my best efforts to help turn the tide in favor of Wisconsin, of course, and incidentally Michigan, if you can help me find it."

The letter was effective, for right on the heels of its publication came a telegram from Coach Yost saying that the megaphone had been found and would be left by him at the Union depot in Chicago on his way to the Minnesota game.

"Gus" got the megaphone, all right for the game on Saturday. It was the same horn, none the worse for wear, but just a little bit different—for Coach Yost had inscribed in crayon the Michigan-Wisconsin score, "M. 13, W. 6."

BALLAD IDOL SINGS FOR BADGER CROWD

Al Jolson, popular ballad idol, gave a tribute to Wisconsin spirit when he gave a song and dance for about 200 Wisconsin students gathered at the College Inn, Chicago, following the football game on Saturday.

The star found it impossible to resist the diplomatic overtures of "Gus" Tuckerman, varsity cheer leader, and the lusty shouts of "We want Al" from the students and finally consented to sing "Toot, Toot, Tootsie."

The students considered it an unusual treat, and were doubly appreciative, in view of the fact that Mr. Jolson felt tired after his marvellous performance in "Bombo" at the Apollo.

"He has never done anything like that before in his professional career," said his manager afterwards, in commenting on the incident.

Previous to this Isham Jones played "On Wisconsin" and "Gus" Tuckerman from the stage led the crowd in the Badger song and in numerous cheers for everybody and everything responsible for the success of Saturday's game. And it was this manifestation of school spirit that the famous songster responded to.

Radio Gives Service to Fans in Arctic Region

The radio broadcasting station farther north than any other is in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

That the interest in radio has already extended a thousand miles north of Edmonton to Fort Norman, where the message telling of Carpentier's defeat by Dempsey had been received almost before Dempsey himself realized that he was victor, shows that the world-wide radio audience is growing larger constantly. Fort Norman is but a short distance from the Arctic circle.

Lyceum President to Lecture Here Dec. 7

Mr. Elias Day, president of the Lyceum Arts conservatory of Chicago, will deliver an address here December 7 under the auspices of the Forensic board. Mr. Day has been engaged in lyceum work in the past, but in recent years gradually has been dropping out of the kind of work. He will read from his own work.

Martha Riley Speaks at Watertown Monday

Miss Martha Riley, director of social work of the state board of health, spoke at a meeting of the Catholic Woman's club at Watertown on Monday night. She will speak at Waterloo on Tuesday and at Marshall on Wednesday.

Woman Enrolls in Short Course in Cheesemaking

The enrollment of a woman in the short course in cheese making and dairy engineering has done much to spur on the men in the course.

The girl is Miss Selma L. Damrow, Fond du Lac, and her enrollment in this course shows that women are not going to be left behind in the long strides being made by the dairy industry.

Miss Damrow is 23 years old and has worked for several years for Damrow Bros., Fond du Lac manufacturers and distributors of dairy and cheese making equipment.

"I never have known the least thing about a cheese factory or the manufacturing of cheese," Miss Damrow declared. "I decided to learn the mechanics of the dairy equipment and how it is used. Some day I want to become a saleswoman or handle the sales end of our business."

Instructor Sandschi under whom Miss Damrow works in the class of cheese making says she is one of his best pupils.

Announcement was made last night at the Kappa Alpha Theta house of the engagements of Miss Elizabeth Knecht to Mr. Charles Bates of Chicago. Miss Knecht attended the university last year and was a pledge of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. She is attending the Chicago Kindergarten college this year.

Unlimited Field Open to Women in Professions

"Journalism is a profession that needs a certain amount of specialized talent. The woman who intends to enter it as a career must be definitely interested in it, for there is no field in which competition is keener. Unless she feels assured that she is fitted for it, that she will be happy in it, and that she will attain success, no woman should choose journalism as a profession."

This is the opinion that Mrs. Frank B. Morrison, graduate of the Course in Journalism, expressed in Esther Vilas hall in the third and last of a series of talks on journalism as a profession for women.

Mrs. Morrison traced the short history of journalism classes to less than 17 years back and the first indefinite university journalism course to less than 14 years ago. Despite the youth of this profession, it is fast becoming one of the most popular courses of study, she said.

"The profession of journalism is an extensive one for women to enter, for it includes the seven chief divisions of newspaper work, magazine work, special features, specialized journalism, country, advertising and art journalism. Closely allied to these main fields are opportunities as book reviewers, proof readers, translators, readers in book offices and publicity managers."

STATE BUDGET UP AT SESSION

Blaine Goes Into Conference With Board of Public Affairs

The state board of public affairs went into executive session with Governor Blaine today to consider and revise financial budgets submitted to it by state departments and institutions. A trimming down of the budget requests, totalling approximately $53,000,000 for the coming biennium, is looked for by board members.

Increased appropriations of nearly $9,000,000 are asked by the state departments to carry on their work for the coming two year period. The governor before budget estimates were drawn up, asked that each division of the state government hold its requests as nearly as possible to the expenditures during the past biennium.

Even Vicious Boy Can't Be Sent to Green Bay

Until a boy has reached the age of 17, he cannot be sent to the reformatory at Green Bay no matter how vicious his tendencies, J. E. Messerschmidt, assistant attorney general, advised the state board of control today. The board of control reported that a 16-year-old boy in the state industrial school at Waukesha was of such a vicious character that his presence is detrimental to the other inmates, and it is asked that it be permitted to remove the youthful prisoner to the state reformatory.

Definite plans for the work of the club have not been made because time is needed to get the 60 members who already have qualified for membership, better acquainted. A fancy dress Christmas party for members and guests will be given at the Y. W. C. A. rooms December 15.

No Lectures But Daily Conferences

At Babson Institute they make a business of teaching business to college trained men who wish to fill positions of responsibility and and trust without spending years at routine work.

Standard office equipment throughout. No classes or lectures, but a business schedule of work from 8:30 to 5:00 o'clock, including daily conferences directed by men with years of business experience, and discussions with active factory and office executives at their plants. This removes the instruction from the hypothetical stage and helps the student to look at things in the same light as a man actually engaged in business.

Babson Institute, an educational institution endowed for the purpose of fitting men for executive responsibilities, invites you to send for the booklet, "Training for Business Leadership." Write today.
