FACULTY REJECTS UNION'S PROPOSAL, DELAYS ELECTION

Committee Decides Not to Allow Board to Print
Directory

The date of the general fall election was again consigned to the uncertain future yesterday when a faculty committee rejected the Union board's offer to publish the student directory.

Until yesterday the supervising and pushing of the directory by the Union board was considered by Daniel Kerth, '27, chairman of the election committee, as the only means whereby the holding of the voting before Oct. 25, the deadline set by the Student senate constitution, could be made possible.

Hope Abandoned

This hope was abandoned yesterday afternoon when J. D. Phillips, business manager of the university, informed Lowell Frautschi, Union board president, that the committee had refused to sanction the proposal. Although Mr. Phillips gave no approximate date for the appearance of the directory, a previous statement from the registrar's office to Kerth stated that the book could not be completed until long after Oct. 25.

The objection which killed the Union board's proposal, according to Mr. Phillips' statement to Frautschi, centered in the financial complications which would be occasioned.

Deans' Demur

Another serious demur came from the deans, who claim that if the board rushed the printing of the directory for the election, the resulting mistakes would impair the directory's use in their offices.

In spite of the fact that there is little that can be done until the university publishes a list by which voters can be checked, Kerth announced early yesterday that in the event the directory should not be issued by Union board he would call a meeting of the election board to consider other solutions.

FROSH CHEER LEADERS MEET AT GYM TODAY

All Freshmen interested in trying out for freshman cheer leader should meet Red Muller '27, varsity cheer leader, in front of the men's gymnasium at 12:45 o'clock today.

PREPARE LETTERS TO 7,000 FATHERS

Registrar's Office Bustling
With Activity as 20
Co-eds Work

Several students who happened near to the Registrar's office in Bascom hall yesterday afternoon wondered what was going on of such importance at this time of the year. They saw 30 co-eds industriously at work applying pen and ink to an enormous stack of envelopes.

The observers watched the progress for several minutes then asked questions. The wielders of pen and ink were addressing envelopes to the Father's of 7,000 students. All afternoon they worked copying the names and addresses from the cards signed by students during registration, and putting them on envelopes. After five hours at the task, their progress when compared to the whole indicated that the battery of co-eds will be at work all this afternoon, tomorrow and Saturday afternoons to complete their task. Then the invitations to Fathers' Day, Oct. 30, will be mailed out to Badger Dads inviting them to the university's third Fathers' Day.

When this task is completed the battery of workers will busy themselves with 7,000 wrappers for the Fathers' Day edition of the Daily Cardinal which will be issued Sunday and sent to the receivers of the invitations.

Tablet in Memory of Mrs. Olin Arrives

A bronze tablet, which will be placed in the home of President Glenn Frank sometime this week, has arrived at the office of J. D. Phillips, business manager of the university. The regents ordered the tablet in accordance with the provision of the will of J. M. Olin, which gave the university his home in university heights.

The tablet, 15 by 24 inches reads:

"In Memory of his Wife
HELEN REMINGTON OLIN
this home was given by JOHN MEYERS OLIN
to the University of Wisconsin 1924."

HARESFOOT CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Dancers Outline Work for Com- ing Year, Fill Offices

Frank Worthington '28 was elected Keeper of the Haresfoot for the coming year at a meeting of the Haresfoot club last night in the Union building. Harold Himes '27 was elected vice-president, and David Lye '27 was elected to membership in the club. Russell Winnie '27, president of the club, presided.

Dancing classes will start in approximately two weeks, and they will be in charge of Himes, Donald Alexander '27 and James Nelson '27. At present the club has started work on a series of one-act plays.

There will be a meeting of the club at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Haresfoot Loft, and all those interested in writing play scenarios or lyrics for plays have been asked to attend, according to Thomas Furlong '27.

Students interested in chorus or production work have been asked to sign up at the Haresfoot office. A general meeting of all applicants will be held in the near future, it has been announced.

As We Go to Press

The sophomores met the freshmen as they came out of the Agricultural hall meeting and a running fight was staged all the way to the dormitories. Here the freshmen organized their group and while they were doing this, the sophomores started to snake dance to the capitol. The freshmen followed and met the sophomores on State street a block from the square. Members of the class of '30 outnumbered the sophs about ten to one.

Several men were reported seriously injured, and a number of sophomores were stripped. Police reserves were called out to stop the fighting. The police dispersed the mob, but the freshmen caught the sophs later in various parts of the Latin quarter.

POTTER, BACK FROM EUROPE, GIVES VIEWS ON WORLD COURT

No justification exists for the adverse reaction recently expressed in some quarters regarding the action of the Nations' Members of the World Court on the reservations attached by the United States to its offer to join the Court, according to Professor Pitman B. Potter, of the Political Science department, who has recently returned from attending the Conference of Court Signatories in Geneva where the American reservations were discussed.

"The first three reservations and the first part of the fifth were accepted without so much as a question," said Professor Potter. "The exact procedure to be followed to allow the United States to participate in electing judges would have to be worked out, but no question of granting the power of partici-

DAILY CARDINAL EDITORIAL BRINGS FLOOD OF QUERIES

Article on "Prohibition" Re- printed in Dailies; Frank Questioned

The Daily Cardinal editorial of yesterday morning, "Prohibition and Injustice to College Youth," circulated throughout Wisconsin during the day, and reprinted in several large dailies, merited the attention of one large news syndicate, and some few editors phoned President Glenn Frank because of the interest which the column of printing had aroused among their readers.

Inquiries Arrive

Only a few hours elapsed between the time the Daily Cardinal left the presses until calls came into the editorial offices and into President Frank's office to make inquiries. The Milwaukee Journal, and the Wisconsin News, both Milwaukee papers, were the first to query President Frank. Asked whether the Daily Cardinal was voicing the opinion of the university and whether the university had control over the policy of the student paper, Mr. Frank replied in substance that the Daily Cardinal was not controlled by the university, but that as the student newspaper it voiced the opinion of the student body and was entitled to do so.

The editorial was then reprinted in the Milwaukee Journal and the Wisconsin News. Evening issues of the two local papers, The Wisconsin State Journal and The Capital Times, also carried the effort of the Daily Cardinal editorial writer.

Nelson Answers

James Nelson '27, managing editor, has prepared a sequel to yesterday's account and has sent it to the Milwaukee papers for publication. This editorial appears in this morning's Daily Cardinal on page four.

Until yesterday morning's issue, the Daily Cardinal had not given editorial attention to the prohibition question, and had even limited the use of its news columns on stories pertaining to this matter in an effort to remain neutral on such ground according to its previous policy.

SIGMA DELTA CHI PLANS FIRST MEETING SUNDAY

The first meeting of the present school year of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, will be held at 7:15 o'clock Sunday night at the Theta Chi house. The Wisconsin chapter is to be host to the national fraternity at its annual convention which will be held at Madison, Nov. 15, 16, and 17. Kent Cooper, national president of the Associated Press, will deliver one of the principal addresses at the convention, according to officers of the local chapter.

Opposition to the United States was raised. It was even suggested that we might be invited to participate when any matter concerning the court was under discussion in the Council or Assembly of the League such as the fixing of salaries, increasing the number of judges, or other matters.

Par With Other Nations

"It was with regard to the fourth reservation that the suggestion of placing the United States on a par with the other Signatories was made—in the matter of withdrawal from the Court amendments to its Statute. That is all that we have asked in this connection, namely, that we have the rights which all the signatories have equally, namely the right to withdraw at will in absence of any restrictions on with-

Regents Consider 9 Construction Bids

Preliminary consideration was given the bids for the construction of two units of the Memorial Union building at the meeting of the Board of Regents of the university on Tuesday, September 28, J. D. Phillips, business manager of the university, said yesterday.

Further consideration will be made on all nine bids at the next meeting of the board on Oct. 13. No contracts will be let before then, according to Mr. Phillips.

FIVE INJURED IN FIRST RUSH FIGHT

Sophomores Hold Lake Party Tuesday Night; Frosh Turn Tables

Five men were injured, two seriously when the first sophomore-freshman fight of the year was staged Tuesday night at the new dormitories as a result of the ducking of two freshmen by a group of members of the class of '29.

The frosh immediately formed a protest parade and snake dance, which started from the dormitories and proceeded to the capitol building. Traffic was completely blocked for practically the whole length of State street.

About thirty sophomores were thrown in the lake on the return trip to Adams and Tripp halls. Sophs were immediately called out from all available houses, and they attacked the dormitories. The freshmen repelled the invaders with fire hoses, mass attacks, fist fights, and wholesale duckings in the lake.

The injured men were taken to the infirmary, but officials there refused to disclose their names. One of the sophomores received a broken nose, and two others minor injuries. One freshman is laid up with a broken collar bone, and another with bruises and cuts.

BURNING COMBS INJURE MRS. C. R. FISH BADLY

The explosion of celluloid combs which were brought in contact with a hot electric bulb was the cause of severe burns suffered by Mrs. Carl Russell Fish about the face and neck Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Fish was at the Loraine Beauty Shop having a water wave put in her hair. While her hair was being dried by the application of large electric light bulbs, the combs became overheated and burst into flame. Mrs. Fish is now being cared for at the Methodist hospital.

ADVERTISING POSTS OPEN ON CARDINAL

A few positions are still open on the advertising staff of the Daily Cardinal for expert men and women proof readers and for solicitors.

Tickets on Sale for Cornell Game at Student Rate

Tickets for the football game with Cornell college of Mount Vernon, Iowa, at Camp Randall are on sale now at the university ticket office, 711 Langdon street.

A special price of 50 cents is being made to university students, before 11 o'clock Saturday. The ticket office is open from 8 until 5 o'clock. To obtain the special rate, students must present fee cards.

Sales for the game indicate that there will be over 10,000 people in the stands Saturday, and more, if the weather is satisfactory. Boy Scouts will be able to obtain admission to the game free by wearing their uniforms and scout badges. It was said yesterday that scouts from nearby towns were being mustered, and that they might stage a parade in the stadium before the game. Scouts will enter at gate X.

There are no reserved seats for the Cornell game.

600 FRESHMEN THRONG AG HALL AT BIG MEETING

Organization Plans Completed; Plan Short Sectional Gatherings

Over 600 members of the class of '30 attended the freshman bag rush meeting last night at Agricultural hall at eight o'clock. The meeting was very orderly, and was conducted with a great deal of snap.

Contrary to custom, no chairman was appointed, elected, or otherwise chosen, speakers were not introduced, and there was practically no discussion from the floor.

The freshmen seemed to know what they wanted, and what they were doing, and went about accomplishing it in a radical, but speedy manner. The meeting was adjourned less than thirty minutes after it had started.

Complete Plans

Plans for organization were completed, bag numbers assigned, and bag meeting dates set. The freshmen were told what to wear, and how to wear it. The entire class marched from the meeting to the dormitories, where group meetings were held.

At these meetings bag leaders were chosen and plans for attack formulated. These section meetings are expected to culminate a series of five or more organization meetings which the frosh have held. Two of these were attended by the entire class.

Choose Police

Joe McCartney '27 was chosen chief of police for the bag rush at the athletic board meeting yesterday noon. In completing arrangements for the rush, the board announced that the sophomores will be given a thirteen yard handicap, and that the rush will take place at one o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The rush will last fifteen minutes, as usual. The fifteen police captains are Ralph Merle '27, Charles Nelson '27, Allan Pederson '28, Kenneth Webster '28, Victor Chapman '28, Charles Westrich '27, Charles McGinnis '27, Ray Kubly '26, William Reeves '28, Thomas Carter '26, Richard McKee '28, Max Simpkins '26, Henry Brooks '27, Richard Ratcliff '27, George Schutt '27.

CONCERT TICKETS ON SALE AT HOOK'S

Season Books Available to Public
Tomorrow; Prices Vary

Season tickets for the Wisconsin Union Concerts for this winter's series will be placed on sale beginning tomorrow, at Hook Brothers Music store, corner of State and Mifflin streets, according to Clyde Kluckhohn, '28, Union board manager of the concerts.

The Union board concerts have been advertised this year as the most pretentious ever presented at the university, and the list for the season includes the Ukrainian Chorus, Louis Graveure, Harold Bauer, and Pablo Casals in a joint recital, Fritz Kreisler, Sergei Rachmaninoff, and Sigrid Onegin. All of the concerts will be held in the university Stock pavilion, which has a seating capacity of 3,000.

The Union board has placed the price of season tickets at $9.75, $8.75 and $7.00. "The tickets have been priced as low as possible, and the opportunity to hear the noted artists we have engaged for prices such as these is certainly rare," Kluckhohn declared.

Tickets which have been reserved with coupons can also be obtained at Hook Brothers. "Although the coupon sale of tickets has been very gratifying there are a great many excellent seats still available at Hook Brothers," Lowell Frautschi '27, president of the Union announced yesterday.

Delinquent Students

The following students had not reported for their medical examination at the university infirmary up to noon Wednesday. Anyone whose name is on this list, will please not fail to report at the infirmary on Thursday, September 30, between 8 and 11:30 o'clock and 1:30 and 4:30 o'clock. Any entering student who did not receive an appointment for the required medical examination should report at the same hour.

Badgers Drive Over Reserves In Long Offensive Scrimmage

Varsity Men Show Power in
One-sided Scrimmage;
Line Improves

Drive, relentless, bone-crushing drive was the keynote of last night's varsity football practice at Camp Randall. Head Coach George Little had eleven cardinal-jerseyed Badgers in a long offensive scrimmage against men of lesser calibre, during which scrimmage, the said Badgers revealed about all the tricks they knew in the art of ball-advising.

As Coach Little drummed into the attacking team that they still had much ground to traverse before they reached perfection, an air of stubborn determination settled over the field. To a man, the cardinal team was charging and blocking as viciously as it knew how, and behind this newly-born fury, the cardinal backs swept to touchdown after touchdown until the number was lost count of.

Tonight and tomorrow night practices will be secret. It is expected that the personnel of the varsity squad will be announced after practice tonight. Many men have practically taken an option on cardinal shirts for the season but there is still room for choice in the reserve section of the squad.

The team that started in scrimmage last night included Capt. Harmon, Crofoot, Rose and Kresky in the backfield, Cameron and Welch on the ends, Kasiska and Leitl at tackles, Wagner and Eves at guards and Wilke at center. During the fray, Wagner was shifted to center and Carney sent in his place. Harmon stayed in only a few minutes, giving way to Barnum, while Bartlett and Shaw saw action in the backfield later on.

Rose took his turn at starring first. Following capable interference he dashed around the end for 30 or 40 yards, hurled a pass to Kresky for twenty more, and finished the deed with an off-tackle run which carried him across the goal.

Crofoot and Harmon slashed through the line and around the ends for all kinds of distance on other drives down the field. Kresky also showed ability to pick his holes and to run smoothly once he was through the line. Long runs were a rule rather than an exception. The cardinal team thought it was terrible if it didn't march the length of the field in seven or eight downs.

A sight for sore eyes was the plunging and passing of Rollie Barnum, whose recent difficulties with the Latin fourth declension nearly caused his ineligibility. No sooner was he in the game than he threw a pass to Kresky which went for thirty yards. He also got a couple of hasty promenades through the line for enough yardage to win most any kind of a game.

When Bartlett and Shaw got in, they seemed eager to prove that though they came second they came second they weren't exactly second best. While Bartlett was making life miserable for the opposing linemen with his off-tackle drives, Shaw wound himself up for

Gym and Fencing Candidates Plan Meeting Tonight

To plan for the coming season, candidates for the Wisconsin gymnastic and fencing teams will meet with Coach Masey in the Trophy room of the Men's gymnasium at 7:30 this evening. All men, including freshmen, who are interested in either of these two sports are asked to attend the meeting tonight.

With four experienced men, Capt. Freytag, Waters, Hollister, and Asplund, returning, the fencing team is expected to be exceptionally strong this year. The same holds true of the gym team to which Capt. Neller, Snavely, Hinterleiter, Schwoerke, and Kuhne, all experienced men, will return.

Both gym and fencing teams engage in meets with other schools and participate in the conference championship gym and fencing meet at the end of the season.

Big Ten Football Camps

Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Dr. Spears again appeared at practice yesterday, speeding things up and shifting around his forward lineup. He placed Tuttle and Wheeler at ends, moving Walsh to the second team, while Almquist was replaced by Riedal, a sophomore in the backfield.

Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Coach Yost again cut the Michigan squad last night, dropping 15 men. The earlier part of the workout consisted of blocking and tackling practice, while the backs punted. Gilbert showed up especially well in the latter.

Iowa

IOWA CITY, Ia. — Ingwerson, with only two more days of drill before his first game, ran the Hawkeyes through departmental drill yesterday. Ends down on punts, dummy tackling, charging, and signal drill took up most of the time.

Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — With the quarterback job left open by the failure of Vic Salmi, of Gary, to return to school, Coach Pat Page is hunting around for a man to fill the position next Saturday. Frank Eibley, who played end for two years, seems to hold the winning cards. He is a capable cool-headed fellow, well versed in Page's strategy, and ought to handle the position with ease. Sibley is captain of the Crimson.

Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio. — It seems that Wile will use a passing attack against Willenburg Saturday from his stress on the aerial work this week. Last night the squad was again drilled in the airplane style, working entirely on short pass formations.

a long, long run and cut loose from his own forty yard line, where he rushed around left end sixty yards for a touchdown.

Arkansas Ice Toter

This is the Arkansas ice man, not the famed Arkansas Traveler. And his name is Herman McKaskle, student and athlete, who is one of the multitude of freshman athletes who have just started their collegiate careers at Wisconsin.

The cake of ice which Herman is seen toting in the picture is only a little 300-pound cake, and the youth astride is one of the puny 200-pounders seen around here. The other two photos are also of McKaskle as civilian and grid star.

McKaskle still goes in for heavy work and can be frequently seen tossing trunks around one of the Madison depots—and believe Herman, co-eds' trunks with everything from flimsies to fur coats are heavy.

The "Grange of Arkansas" as someone in the southern state dubbed him, hails from the town of England there. He was something of an all-state performer both on the field and in the classroom. At Wisconsin a B. A. looks insignificant, he is striving for a M. A., and a Ph. D. Incidentally McKaskle hiked to school, and Arkansas is a mean walk from here.

UTERITZ, BADGER BACK COACH, WAS AN ALL-AMERICAN QUARTER

By Harold Lambole

A position on the late Walter Camp's mythical All-American football team is indeed a signal honor and to Irwin Uteritz, now coach of the Wisconsin backfield candidates, went such an honor as quarterback during his football career at Michigan.

Uteritz was hailed as one of the most brilliant quarterbacks that gridiron fans have seen. The forward pass attack of Uteritz to Kipke was one of the most deadly in the game and opposing coaches always had this combination to worry them.

Uteritz has been called one of the Big Four field generals in recent western football history sharing that honor with Studdreyer, of Notre Dame, Devine, of Iowa, and McMillan, of Center college.

His work on the Michigan year-ing squad won for him a position on the varsity eleven in his sophomore year, and from that time on until his graduation in 1923, Uteritz was always a sure fixture on the Wolverine lineups. He was named All-American quarterback in 1923.

His athletic activities are not limited to football and his position on the diamond squad was equally noteworthy. He made the varsity in his sophomore year and captained the nine when he was a senior from the short stop position. Two years ago Uteritz was a member of the Westerbury baseball team which won the championship in the Eastern League that year. Last summer he was a mainstay with the Madison Blues.

Uteritz came to Wisconsin last fall from Northwestern where he spent one year as assistant to Glenn Thistlewaite. He likewise helped Lowman with the baseball nine.

That Prohibition Editorial

Some degree of comment seems to have been aroused throughout the state because of an editorial in yesterday's edition of the Daily Cardinal discussing "Prohibition, an Injustice to College Youth." The editor has been assailed by newspapers throughout the state regarding the policy of this newspaper toward the 18th amendment. The editorial speaks for itself, in saying that "the extreme prohibition law has proved a failure. There should be no stigma attached to the publication of this fact. Not only has it been a failure, but it has wrought evils which cannot be undone. These evils are felt most painfully by the youth of the country and particularly the college youth."

"Whether drinking at universities is on the increase or decrease is not for us to say. We should say that it is probably lessening, but that is beside the point. Even though drinking is on the decrease it is becoming more and more demoralizing in effect. To use it would seem much more preferable to have each of 100 students drink legally a glass of good beer than to have one incapacitate himself with a bottle of rot-gut alcohol."

Language could not make our position more clear than it was thus stated yesterday. Prohibition has turned a temperate people into a whiskey drinking race. Nullification, accept it or not, is being practiced by the American people and they will continue to disobey that law as well as others so long as the extreme 18th amendment stays in the Constitution. The problem is a basic one, and the arguments have been advanced many times by those more able than we. The American citizen will buy bootlegged alcohol and whiskey any time of the day, but the average person would refuse to buy a piece of smuggled silk. Bootlegging has become a prosperous industry—so prosperous in fact that they are organized against any modification attempts. Fighting the professional reformer allied with the bootlegger will be a tough job. Shirking the task will get us nowhere.

As a university newspaper we are and will be assailed as corrupting the minds of youth. As a college organ we are supposed to fold our hands in prayerful attitude and smile blissfully upon an innocent world. May we suggest that we are human beings, that we have the same problems, the same questions, temptations, and reactions that the rest of the American people have. University students, paint them as beef-eaters or cake-eaters as you will, are not a segregated type aloof and apart from the rest of the American people. We have here a little community which is nothing more than a cross-section of opinions from Maine to California, from Texas to North Dakota.

The college student is a thinking being, moreover. The motto of the University of Wisconsin is, as expressed by the Board of Regents, "Truth first." In 1894 that body expressed itself as follows:

"Whatever may be the limitations which trammel inquiry elsewhere, we believe that the great State University of Wisconsin should ever encourage that continual and fearless winnowing and sifting by which alone the truth can be found."

President Frank has said that truth can be found only by an uncompromising recognition of the facts. The facts in the prohibition case are only too clear. The extreme amendment has proved a failure and so we shall continue to declare.

In reply to the somewhat childish inquiries as to whether the University of Wisconsin as an institution is for modification of the amendment we wish to say that the Daily Cardinal is representative of the student body of the university alone. This paper is owned, edited and controlled by students. As a private corporation, the Daily Cardinal decides upon its own policies entirely apart from any faculty "policy." It sometimes happens that the editorial policy is in accord with university policies, but only because the editors have reached the same conclusions, and not because of any faculty influence. The prohibition question has no relation to the university itself, but to university students as part and parcel of the voters of the nation.

We stand by our guns.

The lusty cries of 1930 as they tramped over the Hill and paraded down State street Tuesday night were heart-warming to all upperclassmen. To 1929 they were a spur to their own organization, an infusion of vigor into the blood of a class which has had little to get excited about since Cap Night; to Juniors and Seniors they were a tangible and convincing proof that the heralded benefits of the dormitories were already reality. Several times in the brief week since the university opened have there been indications that in the dormitories there was vigor, and enthusiasm, and ideas all bottled up and about to explode . . . and even more important than all of these which we have always had in large measure at Wisconsin was a new quality which we have perhaps lacked in recent years: UNITY.

Vigor, and enthusiasm, and ideas focused and centered . . . not upon a small group . . . but upon a larger unit: the Class. If 1930 can organize, can become a real unit with pleasant and worth while occivities, and can thus attach loyalties of individuals more directly to the university than before, it will indeed be the most important element of the New Wisconsin.

We are glad to have the dormitories; we are glad we seem to have there a live bunch of men; we hope you can stir up all of your class and set an example of activity which the upper classes will be veritably forced to imitate. '30 Out!

The Union Concert Series

To a greater or less degree, every student in the university is conscious of his opportunities for intellectual development, for technical training, for physical growth, for social polish; and these opportunities are taken advantage of according to the individual equation. But a large number of students are almost unaware of the possibilities found here for the growth of the purely cultural side of their lives. This culture does not mean the social veneer which which William Allen White calls the best substitute for an education that some people are capable of acquiring, but it does mean the appreciation and understanding of the artistic forms of expression, music, art, literature.

There are various means of cultural development provided in this university community beyond the regular curricula. Of these, word is particularly timely concerning the concert series which the Wisconsin Union is bringing here this year, beginning with a recital by the Ukrainian National Chorus on Nov. 16.

The Union concert series has been established for many years, and has furnished the students of the university and the townspeople of Madison with artists of a calibre which no other organization could undertake to provide. This year marks a new epoch in the history of the series: six artists, instead of three of past years, are being brought to Madison. The course is remarkable not only for its extensiveness, but also for the fine balance of the program and the superlatively fine quality of the artists—Rachmaninoff, Kreisler, Bauer and Casals . . . these are names to conjure with in the world of music, and the other attractions, while not perhaps so long famous, all promise an unusual musical treat.

These artists are brought to Madison with the lowest possible overhead expense, and students are given an opportunity to hear these artists at less than half the price they would pay in a city theater; virtually at cost they have a chance to develop their ability to appreciate good music, a power which not only will provide them with a source of pleasure throughout their lives, but will also be a valuable asset to them in the business and social world of which they are to be a part.

Gene Tunney, the new heavyweight champion, is not collegiate in spite of his academic tendencies. A photograph of Tunney weighing in before the big fight shows that he was wearing garters.

We were talking to a new sorority pledge yesterday who told us that she was enrolling in a swimming class for divers reasons. We scooped the Octopus (out Oct. 6) on the quip by over a week.

For the benefit of our over-taxed readers, Garibaldi and Mussolini, hereinafter described as the party of the first part, will today subdivide the lot of jokes they have a lease on and deed over the property right to them to Skyrockets, a corporation, hereinafter described as party of the second part. (And we're not realtors either; we've just started Econ 1a.) The subdivision is to be as follows:

1. JUST JOKES

"Oh, lovely," gushed the beautiful creature from the provinces up-state as she walked into one of the State st. restaurants. "This must be one of the Greek houses the college boys are always taking about."

2. DUMB JOKES

"Gee, that girl has rosy cheeks, hasn't she?"

"No, she's pale as a sheet."

"Well, aren't there white roses?"

"Must be raining outside."

"How do you figure?"

"Guy just came in with a raincoat."

3. PHILOSOPHIC PHLINGS

On the whole, we have great hopes that a Union building is soon to be erected.

Now that we have made this column we can say that we are humorists of Skyrockets RANK.

Apropos of the heralded gynarchy, a contemporary once remarked: "Woman now wants to run the ship of state. She is no longer satisfied to rock the cradle; she wants to rock the boat."

4. PUNS

Harry: I see Schwab isn't buying any more pig iron.

Harrier: No? How come?

Harry: He has taken to buying Kosher steel.

A former policeman enrolled in The School of Music recently. We infer that he ought to know his beat.

The boys were out in the back yard working on our roomie's Marmon's insides. "That job is a lot of fun," says I. "Yah, funny as a clutch," comes back Benito.

The highway Commissioner was showing a party the work being done on a road. A young man in a lumbering tractor came along. "By the way," said the Commish, "that fellow is a University Student." "Indeed," utters alady, "I suppose he's one of those Rhodes Scholars."

5. LOVE, ET CETERA

Advice to the Lovelorn
Amor vincis omnia, says Benito

Dear Garibaldi: (Skyrocket's Spesial adviser to the Amorous)

Last year I met a very beautiful and charming sorority girl. (Greek letters on application, Ed.) We became extremely good friends. We disagree on only one thing—she pets and I disapprove of that—utterly! She is very unkind about it, and calls me "Old Stick." What shall I do?

Yours truly,
Old-Fashioned Otto.

Ans. Dear Otto: There, there, Otto dear. You're not an "old stick," you're an impenetrable forest.

Garibaldi

And thus sang they, spoke they, told they the tale. Olim, Don Juan to the home of his mother came, after years of philandering. And he sat down at the feet of his mother. Naively gazed he up at her, and said, "Mother, I am now a great lover."

And the grande dame looked down smilingly and indulgently upon her favorite son. And thus she spoke: "So's your old man."

6. PERSONAL

ODE

Last night my dear pal Benito Went out with a girl named Carlita.

She was taller than he. So he said, "by gee, I must sleep in a stretcher, Saprista!"

Last summer Benito visited the Ford plant. On a wall in the factory he saw a metal frame with a picture of Edsel Ford in it. And the metal was stamped, "Genuine Ford Product."

First we went to see "Aloma of the South Seas." That was exciting. Then we saw "The black Pirate." That was exciting.

Garibaldi wishes to obtrude personally here and say that, like his illustrious predecessor and co-rogue, Stew, he too is a denizen of the wilds of Arden. Yes, indeed, at present he is the only nut there.

After going all summer for the first time without garters, Garibaldi bought and donned a beautiful pair of green garters to other day. The color is, he says, a sort of Paris Green.

PROF. P. B. POTTER GIVES WORLD COURT VIEWS

(Continued from page one) drawal, and the right to be consulted and have our consent obtained before any alterations are made in the agreement. These rights we are to enjoy—as we would enjoy them even without our fourth reservation.

In regard to advisory opinions there are two demands made by the United States. The demand made in the first part of our fifth reservation is a demand for publicity in the rendering of advisory opinions. This demand has already been granted: The Court now follows the procedure outlined in our own reservation.

U. S. Privilege Sought

The demand made in the second part of the reservation alone made any difficulty at Geneva. The difficulty has been solved, as far as the somewhat incomplete texts of the action taken at Geneva which have been printed in our newspapers indicate, by pointing out that the privileged position which the United States seeks in the demand for a right to veto the rendering of an advisory opinion on a matter which concerns or which she claims concerns her has already been recognized by the Court as it was recognized as belonging to non-member nations in the Eastern Carelia case where Russia in effect vetoed the rendering of an advisory opinion by the Court on a matter which concerned her.

The Signatories have no thought of placing the United States on a plane of equality with themselves in this matter—as the speeches by Rolin of Belgium and Negulescu of Roumania in the Conference clearly indicated—as it would be impossible for them to do in view of the fact that we do not belong to the League and can be subjected to its action only with our own consent, as indicated in Article XVII of the Covenant of the League itself. Finally the Signatories must and may assume that we will claim an interest and exercise a veto in good faith and not abuse such a power; the fact that any such veto would be exercised by the President rather than by irresponsible politicians or headline writers is reassuring on this point.

"All in all there seems to be little justification for the excited comments of the last few days or for the fears—or hopes—that the effort of the United States to join the Court will fail."

16 COLLEGE HEADS WISCONSIN GRADS

Dr. Hetzel Second Member of Class of 1906 to be Elected

When Dr. Ralph Dorn Hetzel was recently elected president of Pennsylvania State college, he became the second member of the class of 1906 and the sixteenth alumnus of Wisconsin to receive an appointment as president of a college or university. Dr. Frederick R. Hamilton also of the class of '06 was made president of Bradley Polytechnic Institute, Peoria, Ill., last June.

Eleven alumni are now college presidents, and five more are heads of Normal schools, according to data compiled by Porter Butts, alumni recorder. They include Dr. Max Mason '98 at the University of Chicago; Dr. David Kinley '93, University of Illinois; Dr. Charles Lewis Berch '96, Connecticut Agriculture college; Dr. John Lee Coulter '08, North Dakota Agricultural college.

At the head of smaller colleges are Dr. Edward L. Hardy '93, California State Teachers' college; Prof. William O. Hotchkiss '03, Michigan School of Mines; Prof. John W. Leedy '16, Maron college; Prof. Francis E. Peterson '16, Park Region college; Dr. Charles A. Stell '09, Central Academy college; and Ye Tsung Tsur '10, Tsing Hua college, Peking, China.

Normal school principals include Prof. Jesse H. Ames '07, Prof. Charles McKinney '10, Prof. Alexander C. Roberts '06, Prof. Asa Royce '04, and Prof. Harvey S. Schofield '04.

In the alumni section of the 1025 Badger Dr. Hetzel, who was cited as a distinguished alumnus, was characterized as follows.

"Mr. Hetzel, otherwise known as 'Humpty' was very active on the campus. He was captain of the varsity crew, held class offices, belongs to Hesperia and was a prominent debater. He was a member of the Edwin Booth dramatic club and belonged to many honorary societies, in addition to working on the Badger and other publications.

He was a typical all-round university man."
