The libraries provide public access to a wide range of material, including online exhibits, digitized collections, archival finding aids, our catalog, online articles, and a growing range of materials in many media.

When possible, we provide rights information in catalog records, finding aids, and other metadata that accompanies collections or items. However, it is always the user's obligation to evaluate copyright and rights issues in light of their own use.

East Hampton Sept 4 '82

Dear Mr. Quincy,

I called to see you last evening & was very sorry not to find you at home.

I wanted to thank you before

I left for your kindness in granting us the use of the Old Mill during the past Summer. It has been a constant source of pleasure to every one of our party - it was such a novelty to occupy a Wind-Mill. — I doubt if you can realize how much we all, have enjoyed it.

As an expression of my appreciation I want to present you with a self-registering, or tell tale Thermometer. It will indicate the extremes of cold and heat without any necessity of watching & will enable you to be as wise about the temperature when asleep as you probably are when awake.
& thus add another accom plishment to your list, which I know is already quite long.

I have requested the young ladies to present the Thermometer & to explain how it is set. It is scarcely necessary for me to add that they are full of praises for Mr Downing for his kindness.

Again thanking you, and saying good-bye

Believe me

Very Sincerely
John S. Bussing.
