Seniors Shine as Season Closes

By Art Lentz

U W Sports News Service

SATISFYING and convincing wins over Illinois and Minnesota in the last two weeks of the 1954 football season brought Wisconsin home with a tie with Michigan for second place in the Big Ten championship campaign and a nifty seven-won, two-lost nine-game record.

For the first time, however, since Ivy Williamson took over the coaching reins in 1949, Wisconsin did not go into the final game of the season with a chance to share in the title laurels. Ohio State, one of the two conquerors of the Badgers midway in the season, took care of that by clinching a title tie on the second last Saturday of the 1954 schedule.

Wisconsin's lofty rating in the conference and the overall season mark of 7-2 is only exceeded by the Hard Rock team of 1951 and Williamson now has compiled a record of 26 victories in the Western Conference against 9 setbacks and 4 ties, retaining the title of the "winningest coach in the Big Ten" in comparison with his contemporaries.

While Wisconsin was setting a new Big Ten team record by stealing Minnesota passes, senior halfback Clary Bratt established an individual mark by filching four. And the way he did it! See above.

Back when the forward pass was just a stunt, National Guardian Life had its beginning. Today it is recognized as one of Wisconsin's great institutions. Insurance in force totals over $162 million, an increase of over 56% since Ivy came. Guardian Life, like Wisconsin's football team, has gained national recognition.

Williamson also has compiled a record of 37 wins, 14 losses, and 4 ties at Wisconsin which earns him the accolade of the most successful coach in modern Badger history.

The close of the 1954 season also marked the end of the "Ameche" era. No longer will Badger fans be thrilled by the stampedes of Alan "The Horse" Ameche, Wisconsin's All-American fullback and holder of virtually every school rushing record.

Although injured and kept from carrying the ball against Illinois, he played great defensive ball besides scoring two touchdowns against Minnesota until he had to be taken out of the game because his sprained ankle again was injured.

For all games played—37 in all—Ameche carried the ball 701 times for a net gain of 3,345 yards or an average of 4.8 yards per rushing attempt. He scored 25 touchdowns in his career to set a school mark in that department and wound up as an All-American fullback for the second straight year as well as being chosen by a national magazine as "Player of the Year."

In his collegiate career, not counting the Rose Bowl game in which he carried 28 times for a net of 133 yards, Ameche was credited with 673 carries and a net total of 3,212 yards, both figures setting new NCAA four-year career records.

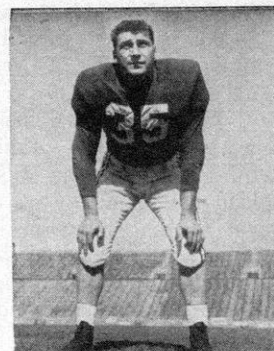

Great as was his rushing record on offense, his defensive ability as a rightside linebacker was equally as impressive in his senior year. He was a true All-American, not only on the field of play, but in the classroom and among his fellow students.

It will be a long time before another stalwart like "The Horse" enters the Wisconsin scene.

Ameche headed up a list of 10 seniors who closed out their football careers with a well-played game against Minnesota. Others were Clarence Bratt, halfback; Bob Gingress, halfback; Ron Locklin, end; Clarence Stensby, guard; Norm Amundsen, guard; Don Ursin, guard; Buzz Wilson, quarterback; Captain Gary Messner, center, and James Temp, end.

Attendance-wise, Wisconsin played to nine sellout crowds at home and away, the total attendance being 524,165, an all-time record.

Against the Gophers, in his Badger finale, Alan (The Horse) Ameche scored two TDs and played a bang-up defensive game—like the All-American he is! Above, he roars for three yards and Wisconsin's third score.

UNTIL Wisconsin's weight and power advantage became evident in the waning moments of the third quarter, the Badgers' ultimate 27-14 conquest of Illinois at the latter's Homecoming game Nov. 13 seemed to the 71,191 spectators only a wishful thought on the part of Wisconsin rooters.

It took some breaks to Wisconsin's advantage to turn the tide in favor of the Badgers but that's football. Wisconsin has lost games in much the same fashion as it has won them, an incident common in the annual Big Ten grid campaign.

At any rate, the fired-up Illini had the best of the Badgers until the roof fell in on them late in the game. Its line out-charged the Wisconsin forward wall and, in general, the Illini had charge of the first half of play.

Neither team approached a scoring position in the first quarter but just before the period ended, Illinois fielded a punt and took possession on its 46. J. C. Caroline, apparently healthy and ready after several weeks' of enforced idleness, gained three yards but Woodson was tackled for a five yard loss by Jim Temp. But, as was the case most of the game, the Illini had the ability of making a long gainer on third down. In this instance, Lindbeck found Mickey Bates with a pass that gained 19 yards to the Wisconsin 38. Caroline picked up six yards as the quarter ended, and, with play resuming in the second quarter, made enough for a first down on the Wisconsin 28.

Lindebeck, back to pass, was thrown for a yard loss. Temp, hurt on the play, was taken out and did not return that afternoon. Caroline then added three yards and Lindebeck passed to Woodson in the flat. Woodson was hit hard, fumbled and the ball rolled to the Wisconsin 13 where Illinois recovered for a first down.

It took only three more plays for the touchdown. First Lindebeck tried a sneak for three, Caroline got three at tackle, and Woodson slipped around the Wisconsin right end for the score. Wiman booted the point and with 11:30 left in the first half, Illinois led by a 7-0 score.

After an exchange of punts late in the period, Wisconsin took over on its 38. Billy Lowe shot through tackle for five yards, then took a pitchout from Haluska to gain seven more, putting the ball in midfield. Haluska fired a long pass which Howard caught on the Illinois 25. He ran to the Illinois 19, was hit hard, fumbled but recovered the ball for a first down on that point. Gingrass at left half slammed through for three and in shots at the line, Thomas, who had replaced the ailing Alan Ameche after four minutes had elapsed in the game, picked up the yards that made it a first down on the Illinois 8.

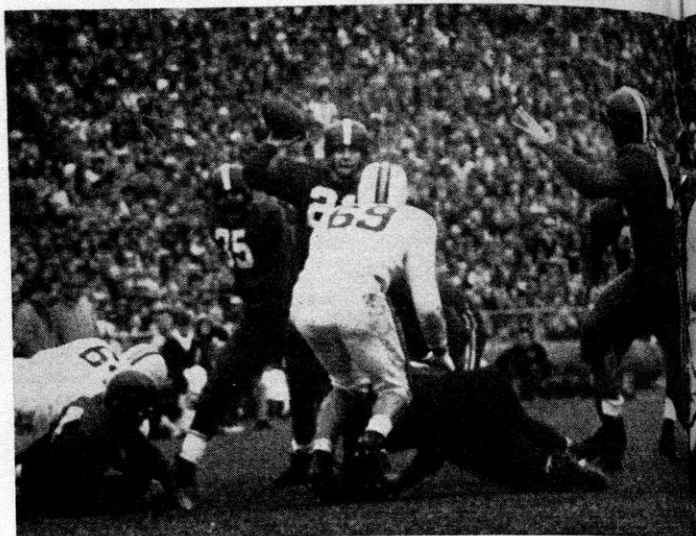

Lowe chipped in with a yard gain, Thomas added three, and then Gingrass sped around right end, cut in and scored standing up. Buzz Wilson booted the point and the game, with 4:49 left in the second quarter, was all tied up 7-7.

The Illini, however, came right back, Lindebeck taking the kickoff on his 24 and returning to midfield. He passed to Bates for 11 yards, then hit for another seven yarder, this time to a tackle, Oliver, who was eligible because of the unbalanced lineup.

Wisconsin braced momentarily, dropping Lindebeck for a five yard loss but Caroline scooted 17 yards around end on third down . . . and Wisconsin took time out. Jefferson, right half, ran for nine yards and Bates, the fullback, on a reverse, got to the Wisconsin 4 before he was stopped. Caroline buzzed around end on the next play for the TD and Wiman converted. That made the score 14-7 in favor of Illinois and the quarter ended seconds later with Wisconsin on the mid-field stripe.

Right at the outset of the second half, Wisconsin had a good chance to score, Miller intercepting an Illinois pass on the Badger 40 and racing back 34 yards to the Illini 26. However, a back-in-motion penalty coupled with a stiff Illinois defense held up Wisconsin and Illinois took over on downs on its own 24.

A moment later, Illinois also had a good chance when Lowe fumbled Caroline's punt and Illinois recovered on the

Here was a well-executed short pass from Miller to Locklin that gained ten yards to the four yard line and set up Wisconsin's first touchdown against the Gophers. Locklin got hold of the ball on the ten yard line.

Wisconsin 34. A penalty for having an ineligible man down-field on a pass attempt hurt this chance and Wisconsin got the ball finally on its own 30.

Thomas stopped a minor Illinois threat later in the period by intercepting a pass on the Wisconsin 48 and returning to the Illinois 46. Things started to go in reverse for Wisconsin as Haluska was smothered on a pass attempt, losing 10 yards. Wisconsin, on the next play, was penalized 15 yards for illegal use of hands, making it first down and 35 to go on the Wisconsin 29. A pass on the next play was incomplete and on third down, a screen pass to Bratt was complete but only added a three yard loss to the staggering deficit.

At this point, the control of the game completely changed hands and Dame Fortune smiled benevolently upon Wisconsin . . . in fact beamed.

Levenhagen punted but the ball was partially blocked, spinning crazily forward where it was deflected again by an Illinois player. When they finally uncovered the pileup, it was Clarence Bratt of Wisconsin who had the ball and, of course, it was first down for the Badgers, this time on the Wisconsin 38.

From here, the Badgers started to look like themselves again and the resemblance to former victory showings was no coincidence minutes later.

Levenhagen promptly banged through tackle as the Wisconsin attack shifted to inside stuff and Bratt added seven more. Thomas and Levenhagen chipped in with five yards altogether and it was third and five on the Illinois 42 when the third quarter ended.

Gingrass opened the final period with a shot over tackle good for six yards, added two more, and Bratt really stirred the stands with a stampede of 14 yards around end.

That made it first and 10 on the Illinois 20. Haluska hit Locklin for 11 yards, Gingrass carried to the Illinois 4 but Illinois was offside, so the ball was left where it was downed. Bratt picked up two and Gingrass shot through tackle for the touchdown. Wilson tied up the count at 14-14 with a successful conversion.

Gingrass kicked off to Caroline who was downed on the Illinois 10 and Illinois, failing to move the ball, punted to Bratt on the Illinois 41. Two plays failed but Thomas, on a fullback draw play, boomed for 11 yards. Bratt made a yard and Haluska's pass was incomplete.

Again Dame Fortune smiled favorably on the Badgers. Haluska's third down pass was intercepted on the Illinois 10 by Lindbeck who got all the way back to the Illinois 40. However, Bates was charged with pass interference and Wisconsin was given the ball on the Illinois 15.

Bratt immediately slammed through the middle for nine and Thomas added three for a first down on the Illinois three, from which point Gingrass scored on an end run. He also booted the extra point and Wisconsin led 21-14 with 6:20 left in the game.

After the kickoff, Jefferson fumbled on the first running play and Gray recovered for Wisconsin on the Illinois 33. Gingrass and Bratt got the necessary yardage for a first down in two quick opening plays. Thomas took a pitchout from Miller and ran for seven after which Bratt hit for eight big yards to the Illinois 8.

Bratt took the ball for two quick thrusts, the TD coming on a four-yard dive over the line. Gingrass missed the conversion but the score stood Wisconsin 27 Illinois 14 with 3:20 left to play.

Illinois took the kickoff and, taking to the air, fairly flew down the field to the Wisconsin 25. The Illini failed on a fourth down pass when the gun ended the game, the ball being on the 20.

Wisconsin 27, Minnesota 0

WISCONSIN PLAYED the best 60-minutes of football it displayed during the 1954 season in defeating Minnesota by a 27-0 count. From the start of the game, it was immediately apparent that the Badgers were ready for the Gophers and the game never once gave the aspect that something else besides a Badger triumph would result.

In the victory, Wisconsin's defense was terrific, particularly against passes. Badger secondary backs intercepted seven Minnesota tosses to set a new Big Ten single game mark while Clarence Bratt, senior right halfback, also established a conference mark, previously held by many, by stealing four Gopher aeriels.

Ameche, slowed up considerably by a sprained ankle, was not able to carry the ball with his usual success but his defensive play in the first half was a tremendous factor in stifling any Gopher threats.

Wisconsin won the toss in this final game and elected to receive. However, the Badgers couldn't move past the Wisconsin 21 and Gingrass punted to Dick McNamara who was downed on the Minnesota 39. On third down, Gingrass intercepted a Swanson pass and ran 18 yards to the Minnesota 31. Here a penalty turned up to ruin a possible Badger threat, Wisconsin giving up the ball on downs on the Minnesota 27.

Minnesota failed to gain, so punted to Bratt who was stopped on the Wisconsin 30. This time, the Badgers were not to be stopped.

On a reverse, Bratt took the ball on the single wing and raced for six yards. Ameche, off the single wing, bucked center for two, and Miller, still using the same formation, sped for 13 yards to a first down on the Minnesota 49.

Ameche was stopped for no gain, Miller ran for eight on a keeper, and Ameche followed with a four yard tackle thrust to put the ball on the Minnesota 37. Locklin just missed Miller's pass on the next play and Ameche ran for four yards on a pitchout. Miller, back to pass, found Temp in the clear for an 18 yard gain and that made it first down on the Gopher 15 yard line.

Bratt made only one on a quick opener, then Miller jump-passed for 10 yards to Locklin. Going into the single wing on the four yard line, Miller bowled over tackle for the first touchdown of the game, with 2:56 left to play. Wilson converted and Wisconsin led 7-0.

Within the next five minutes, Wisconsin boosted that lead to 20-0. Minnesota received the kickoff and took possession on its own 26. The hard charging Badger line rushed Quist on his first pass attempt and threw him for a 10 yard loss. Dick McNamara was set back three yards on a sweep and Quist punted to Bratt at midfield. Bratt, who played probably the best game of his career, snaked his way back on the punt return before he was finally brought down on the Minnesota 29.

Once more, Miller called for the single wing and, as tail-back, took the ball and raced down the sidelines to the one-yard line where he was pushed out of bounds. Ameche was stopped at the goalline in a try at center but he blew tackle wide open on the next play, hurtling into the end zone for the second touchdown of the game. This time Shwaiko tried the conversion but it was wide, so Wisconsin's score was 13-0 with 14:54 left of the second quarter.

The third touchdown was not long in coming. Gingrass kicked off to Cochran, who ran back to the Minnesota 42. However, Minnesota was charged with clipping and the ball placed on the Minnesota 27.

Quist was rushed on the first play, fumbled the ball but Dick McNamara recovered for Minnesota after an eight yard loss. Bob McNamara got but one yard on a center thrust and Quist, again being rushed hard, finally went out of bounds for another eight yard loss. On punt formation, Quist was slow in getting off the kick and Messner reached in to block the punt. The ball bounded off the ground and Amundsen grabbed it on the 12 yard line, dashing back to the Minnesota three before he was hauled down.

Ameche immediately crunched over tackle for the touch-down and Shwaiko's conversion try was good, putting the score at 20-0 with 12:58 left in the period.

From then on the play centered in midfield with neither team making a serious invasion threat until the last play of the half when Bratt ran 26 yards to the Minnesota 34 only to fumble and have Minnesota recover.

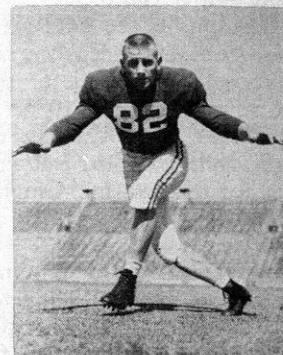

Wisconsin outgained Minnesota 180 yards to 19 in passing and rushing the first half and held the ace fullback of the Gophers, Bob McNamara, to just 15 yards in 7 tries. Minnesota only completed one pass in nine attempts and had three intercepted in the first two periods.

Minnesota started out the third quarter with a sustained drive on the kickoff which brought it 40 yards to the Wisconsin 21 and first down. Here, the Badgers braced. Bob McNamara netted only four yards in two carries and then Swanson was dropped for a nine yard loss by Wells Gray. A fourth down pass failed and Wisconsin took over on its 26.

The Badgers picked up one first down but were short on the next series, Gingrass punting out of bounds on the Minnesota 12. Bob McNamara added up drives of two and four yards but Cochran's pass on third down was grabbed by Bratt who returned nine yards to the Minnesota 16.

In three plays, Wisconsin had its fourth and final touch-down. First Bratt sped around end for seven yards, then Gingrass smacked through right tackle for five more. Bratt again swept left end, going the remaining four yards to the score. Shwaiko booted the point and the scoring ended at 27-0.

Minnesota came back moving some 40 yards to a first down on the Wisconsin 34. Here Bratt came up with another interception, stealing a Swanson pass on the 19 and returning to the Wisconsin 26. A penalty of 15 yards plus a fumble set the Badgers back to their 14 and Gingrass got off a quick kick to the Minnesota 47 where Swanson fielded the ball and got back to the Wisconsin 44.

A third down pass by the Gophers was intercepted by Bratt who made a great diving catch of the ball but Minnesota returned the compliment three plays later when Bob McNamara snared a Miller aerial. The Gophers then completed two of four passes to reach the Wisconsin 19 but on the first down play, Messner intercepted a Swanson pass on the 13 and returned for six yards.

On second down, Billy Lowe scampered 27 yards around end but a clipping penalty discounted that gain to five yards . . . and soon Wisconsin had to punt again. Minnesota gained possession on its 30 and two quick passes were completed for a total of 31 yards. Three more plays found the Gophers on the Wisconsin 26 but they were a foot short of the necessary distance four plays later.

Taking over on its 17, Wisconsin made a bid for another score. Levenhagen carried for six, a pass by Haluska was incomplete, but Lowe, on a pitchout, ran left end for 15 yards. On the following third down, Haluska passed to Lowe who ran out of bounds after a 49 yard gain. But Haluska's next pass was intercepted on the goalline by Swanson and the game ended on the next play.

Quarterback Jimmy Miller's running sparked in the Minnesota game. Below, he's taking off on a big gain to the one-yard line. The Badgers scored two plays later.
