We are moved to the point of telling you a fairy tale of a Prince who once had a boat he wanted to move, but this is too much of a reality to deserve the charming name; suffice it to say that we just returned from a trip with Prince Murad, our illustrious contemporary, Oscar Wildest, and Bud. It was to have been a "little jaunt" during which we, incidentally, would move the Prince's craft. The "little jaunt" proved to be a "journey into a far country," and the incidental task would have made Hercules blush instead of brag about his Aegean Stable job. The Prince as a movie director is acknowledged without peer, but as a mover of boats he deserves the award of the hand painted abstract idea.

THERE THEY GO!
I live here on Main Street
Where I watch
The women and the men,
Then the children
Pass by.

It is then I wonder
Why they go
In the order that I
Have named them
Above.

HASHEESH

We took Hasheesh aside and, confidentially, advised that he take several treatments of Doctor Beatty in Contemptuous Poetry.

When in the woods the other day, the Prince forgot his "bally boat" long enough to perpetrate this one. She: (From out the dark depths) Stop, or I'll slap you!

He: (Some seconds later) Ouch! And then said the Prince, "Ah-h-h-h-h! Again you boys are wrong in following the dictates of your evil minds. Why, that young man was only protecting at the over-zealousness of a mosquito.

THE DESCENT INTO THE MAELSTROM

Oh, I have been at Cedar Grove Where lusty mermaids swam and dove About the beach and under piers, Full-bosomed girls whose luring leers Beseeched me onward, Pride, a fall, And I went in,—my clothes and all! I felt the thick, green waters rise Above my lips and ears and eyes, And all around, when I came to, Was heartless laughter bursting through.

If your desire leads too strong, Lad, take your bathing suit along!

OSCAR WILDEST.

Oscar furnished the comedy relief on the late marine-engineering venture of the Prince. The splash led to the above unhappy result.

LAST MONTH SECOND HOTTEST JUNE IN A CENTURY; NO RELIEF

Weather Will Continue Hot For Week, Belief; Crops Suffer In Wisconsin

June, just passed, was the second hottest June on record in a century, according to statistics furnished by the Meteorologist Eric R. Miller, meteorologist, at the U. S. weather bureau here. The average temperature compiled from readings taken every hour during the month fell only $\frac{1}{4}$ of a degree below the record set in 1873, when the mercury registered a mean temperature of 72.5. The mean for June, 1921, was 72.1.

Despite the fact that June just passed was not as hot as a whole, it showed a higher maximum temperature. Its highest was 91 while in 1873 the mercury hit its highest at 89. Over a period of 48 years June, 1921, was the hottest on record. The temperature for the month was 4.9 degrees above the normal.

July is starting out the same way, according to Mr. Miller. So far the mercury has remained between 10 and 11 degrees above normal and there is no relief in sight for at least five days to come, he said. The highest up to 2:30 today was 91 degrees. A cool drive of wind would take at least four or five days to reach here. Mr. Miller said. Local thunder showers may relieve the heat temporarily but it will continue hot for the remainder of the week at least.

Crops in northern Wisconsin have been seriously injured by a continuation of the hot dry weather, while those in Southern Wisconsin have been improved as a result of the rains June 26 and 27, Joseph A.

Becker of the state crop service reports.

Grasshopper damage is adding to the seriousness of the situation in northern Wisconsin where the pests have overrun the fields.

Winter grains are ripening fast, with rye soon to be out with a fair yield, and winter wheat shriveled by rust and lack of moisture. Spring grains are ripening too fast and are being attacked by rust.

Corn made enormous growths during the week but needs rain badly especially in the northern counties. Early potatoes are ripening in southern Wisconsin two weeks or more early with their stand and condition good. Late planted varieties in central and northern commercial districts are coming up slowly with their stand dotted by rot drying of seed.

The yield of hay, cutting of which continued without interruption is light, and the quality below average. Some second crop alfalfa is being cut in southern counties with a light yield.

Early tobacco is reported to have grown rapidly during the week and to be in danger of too early a harvest. The late planted tobacco is standing still because of dry soil conditions.

The harvest of early canning peas is completed with a light yield. Late peas in southern counties have been saved by rain, and in northern counties are at a critical stage because of lack of moisture.

They have invented a babycab that can be shut up and carried under the arm, but they have not yet invented a baby that can be shut up.

Believe Auto Thief In Crash on Park Street

An automobile smashup occurred last night at University ave. and Park st. No one was hurt. Neither of the parties made their identity known by reporting to the police. A man driving an Oakland car down Park st. crashed into another car coming up the avenue. The Oakland car driver did not remain at the scene to investigate the damage he had done and it is thought possible that he was a car thief.

Asphalt Pavement Torn Up By 12 Ton Girder

The asphalt pavement in front of the city hall was mutilated considerably Wednesday morning by the passage of a heavy grinder, which is to be used in remodeling the Fulcher theater. The girder weighs 12 tons and was brought to the theater building on two wagons drawn by two large moving vans. The wheels of the wagons, on which the girder rested, dug into the warm asphalt, and as they turned, the paving was raised several inches in places.

738 Canines Live In Madison Says Assessor

There are 738 dogs in Madison, according to a report submitted to Harry Buser, acting city clery, by the city assessor, who has just completed a survey of the taxable animals in Madison. Of this number 615 are males and 123 females. The tax on the males is $1 and on the females $2. The collection of dog taxes has been postponed to Jan. 1.

Judge E. Ray Stevens, Carl D. Jackson of the railroad commission and C. B. Lester of the free library commission will soon start for Glacier National Park in Montana. They will spend their vacation by tramping through the park by foot.

If you walk I'll teach you to dance. Results absolutely guaranteed.

EDDY CANVASES HAVE CHARM OF QUAINTNESS AND SIMPLICITY

BY F. R.

The 26 paintings by Henry S. Eddy, which are now on exhibit in the museum of the Wisconsin Historical library, comprise a collection which everyone should see. Many of the pictures are of Provincetown, the ancestral home of Mr. Eddy, and they bear an historical significance for this reason. If, however, the public knows nothing of this old Cape Cod town as a landmark in American history, the value of these pictures would be scarcely decreased. The craftsmanship of the painter is sufficient to establish his reputation among modern artists.

Both the Provincetown School of Art and the Provincetown players have brought to themselves credit in developing modern art which is at the same time conservative and classic in comparison to the cubist and ultra-modern art schools.

Mr. Eddy received his training at the Art Students' league of New York. He maintains his studio in New York and lives at Westfield, New Jersey. Both heredity and environment have aided him in becoming a master in representing the New England atmosphere and quaintness of Provincetown. He had as forebears some New England sea captains, and his grandfather, Henry Stephens, was a noted illustrator.

There is a charm about Mr. Eddy's pictures which cannot be described. One must see and study them in order to appreciate their beauty. Locality is perhaps the fundamental dominant quality. The scenes of the harbor and of Provinectown are the most appealing of all the paintings, in subject and spirit. Quaintness, simplicity, and beauty are the elements which Mr. Eddy has put into his pointings of this old New England town and sea coast. The sea in the distance, the blue sky a shade lighter than the blue of the water, and the landscape in greens and yellows with touches of red, this is the scheme of composition and color for all the Provincetown pictures. Light and shade, representing the effect of shadows and sunlight, together with the soft mellow colors, are especially appealing to the eye. Strong shadows, worked out against bright sunlight, yet soft and filtered in effect, is most evident in the "Red Barn." "Sunflower Alley" is a lovely quaint picture of a narrow road winding up to an old stone house with steep-slanting roof and red chimney, a picket fence with sunflowers growing alongside, and fresh green trees and grass.

The other landscape pictures show the same fine outstanding of color and true representation. "Little River" is a picture which shows the work of Mr. Eddy at its best. Careful study will lead to appreciation of the fine work of this canvas.

This exhibit is the first which Mr. Eddy has made in the middle west. The same pictures were shown in Milwaukee during May, and then brought here under the auspices of the Madison Art club.

LET'S GET ACQUAINTED

STATE organizations among the students have already planned social activities for the summer. The eastern and southern states have been among the first to meet and organize. Picnics, boat rides around Mendota, and dances at one of the parks are among the tentative plans.

The idea of association with others from the same state should appeal to everyone. In a large cosmopolitan university such as ours there are students from almost every state in the union. Students from the same state feel a common bond between them. There is a pardonable, even meritorious pride in our home state. Sectional lines and state lines are boundaries for many differences and similarities in customs, accents and social creeds.

To one who has been thrown among hundreds of people from every state in the union, there is a well defined bond of comradeship when he meets another from his own state. Though they may not be from the city—the touch of "home" is there.

It is possible for everyone to join some state social group this summer. Friendships will be formed and ideals and knowledge gained that will be invaluable in after years.

College training consists not only of text-book lore—but also of that fund of generous friendships and comradeships formed during the college course. Much of the technical data and dogmatic axioms and truisms will be forgotten. It would be impossible and unpleasant to remember much of the strictly academic work. The best will be remembered and the college will be remembered by it. And in that best of any college course is the friendships we gain, the ideas gleaned from our mingling with other people, and the capacity to thoroughly play as well as to thoroughly work.

The beauties of Madison and the surrounding country are available in all their forms to the summer session student. Join one of the state groups and enjoy them all—the lakes, Picnic and Sunset points, the many summer camps and picnic grounds—all there for recreation and enjoyment.

BULLETIN BOARD

The Bulletin Board is run as a regular department of the summer session Cardinal. It is open for use by all organizations to announce their activities. Material should be left at the Union building office not later than 3:00 p. m. on the date of issue. Phone messages cannot be guaranteed.

LUTHERAN STUDENTS

All Lutheran summer school students are invited to a launch ride and picnic supper given by Luther Memorial church Thursday, July 7. All those desiring to go will meet at the Park street pier at 5:00 p. m. sharp. Reservations may be made by calling Miss Marion Neprud at B. 7855 or B. 7470. A charge of 50 cents will be made in order to defray expenses.

SOUTHERN STUDENTS

All Southerners will meet in the Cabinet room of the university Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 this evening.

BAPTIST STUDENTS

All the Baptist students are asked to meet at the historical library Saturday July 9, at 3:30 p. m. The group will then go on a short hike to some cool spot along the lake drive. A general social time will follow. Supper will be served at the cost of 25 cents. Let us make this a real affair. Please phone the Baptist student secretary, J. B. Gleason by Friday afternoon, at B. 4226.

MICHIGAN STUDENTS

Due to the various trips that are to be taken on Saturday, the committee has set the date of our picnic for Friday, July 15. There will be two boats leaving the Park street pier for Bernards park at 4:30 and 5:15. A nominal fee will be charged at the picnic grounds. Special for the ladies only—you may bring a man if you wish. Sign up before Wednesday, July 13, at bulletin boards at Bascom hall, foot of the hill or in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A.

INDIANA STUDENTS

All Indiana students are urged to attend the meeting of the state organization Friday, July 8, 7:00 to 8:00 p. m., on the campus between Lathrop hall and the Law building. In case of rain meet in Music hall auditorium. All Indiana people come and get better acquainted.

GUN AND BLADE

Meeting of Gun and Blade Thursday evening, July 7, at 7:15 o'clock in the Union building.

Big Bills Are Signed
By Governor Blaine

The teachers' retirement fund bill reorganizing the present pension system and placing it on a sound financial basis was signed by Governor Blaine last night. An increase of one-sixth in the income tax rates is provided for by the measure as means of raising the $1,000,000 annually needed to finance the provisions of the measure.

Reapportionment of assembly and senate districts on the basis of the 1920 census was also approved by the governor.

Junior College Bill is Vetoed by Gov. Blaine

The junior college bill providing for establishment of two-year college courses in connection with five high schools in the state was vetoed by Gov. Blaine on the ground that it would be "only patchwork upon our present educational system, and affords tremendous possibilities for the expenditure of public funds."

This is the first intimation that the governor would disapprove of the junior college bill, which had gone through the legislature after a hard fight. Eight cities of the state have already made application to the state board of education for one of the five schools.

The governor suggests that high school courses of the state be extended to six years from the present four-year course, as a means of relieving the congestion at the university.

"I favor extending the opportunity for education, and affording every child greater opportunities for education," the governor says. "There are three plans for extending those opportunities; one is by establishing so-called junior colleges; another is by increasing the facilities of the normal schools for giving two years of college work, and the third is to extend the high school courses from four to six years.

"Of the three suggested plans, the simplest, the cheapest, and the best is the third—the extension of the four-year course in high schools to a six-year course, just as rapidly as the local communities desire the extension."

For the first time since his inauguration Gov. Blaine expressed himself on the question of educational organization in the state, as it has developed into the present hydra-headed system.

"This bill is not designed to establish the two-year college course in existing high schools; in fact, it is designed along entirely different lines," the governor says. "It establishes another system of schools.

One of the complaints against our educational system today is that it is too complex, with the many boards and too many supervising agencies with divided responsibility.

"If the state intends to embark upon the policy of establishing the freshman and sophomore years in institutions apart from the university, it is my opinion that the two years ought to be added to the existing high school curriculum, and be under the control of the board of education or school board, the superintendent of schools, and the high school principle.

"Such a plan commands itself for the following reasons: the first two years of college work in many cities in high schools will mean less expense for the taxpayer; it will permit the development of vocational and commercial courses in those communities where such courses are more particularly desirable; it will mean the utilization of the existing buildings, it will prevent the domination of local undertakings by either the state university or any existing state board.

"In extending these greater opportunities for higher education, every consideration should be given to the local governing body of the high schools and the wants and necessities of every community, so that they may be permitted to develop just as rapidly as the communities desire, through the existing machinery, buildings, supervision and instructional force.

"For the reasons suggested, I feel that our educational interests will be better served by leaving the question to a subsequent legislature to solve. In the meantime, more complete information can be obtained, and the experience elsewhere can be learned and then legislation can be enacted along the lines that will mean greater results at the least cost."

35 STATES SEND

PROF. PYRE WRITES
ON TENNYSON STYLE

"The Formation of Tennyson's Style," a study, primarily, of the versification of the early poems, written by Prof. J. F. A. Pyre of the English department, will be issued next month as No. 12 of the Wisconsin Studies in Language and Literature.

The book is the result of a number of years of study and includes chapters on "The Age of Imitation," "Experiments in Metre," "Revision and Standardization," "Mastering Blank Verse," "Maturity: The New Poems of 1842," "The Blank Verse Poems of 1842," "The Princess," "In Memoriam and Maud," "Tennyson's Later Work," "Tennyson's Early Diction," and "Note on the Origin and Influence of the Locksley Hall Metre."

MINING STUDENTS ON WESTERN TRIP

A six-weeks' inspection trip to the mines, mills, and smelters of the various gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc mining interests in the northwest will be made this summer by a dozen upperclassmen of the course in mining and metallurgy. Prof. E. R. Shorey of the College of Engineering, will conduct the party.

The visits will include the American Smelting and Refining company at Omaha; the Homestake and Trojan mines and mills, and the Spearfish Hydro-Electric plant in the Black Hills of South Dakota; the oil fields of eastern Wyoming and the coal fields of the Peabody Coal company near Sheridan, Wyo.; the copper and zinc mining and milling interest in Butte, Mont.; the copper smelting plant at Anaconda, Mont.; the silver-lead mining, milling and smelting industry in the Coeur d'Alene region of Idaho; and the complex gold and silver mining, milling and smelting at Roosland and Trail, British Columbia.

A number of the men making the trip will remain in the west to work for the rest of the summer.

The trip has been made half a dozen times in the past and is planned as part of the regular work in the course in mining and metallurgy beginning with this year. Besides being of general interest, the trip gives the men a chance to get underground many times and to have a real taste of the mining industry.

the preface implies that theories of metre have reached a more settled condition since my first studies of Tennyson were made," the author writes. "I had forgotten the disturbance which the votaries of free verse have raised in the temple of poetic art. Perhaps I ought to explain, that the solemn irony of bringing forward, at this late day, an academic discussion of Tennyson's restrained and thorough-paced verse is quite accidental and void of malice."

WOLF LEAVES FOR EUROPEAN INVESTIGATION

Y. M. C. A. Man To Study
Conditions Of Faculty And Students

Frederick E. Wolf, general secretary of the university Y. M. C. A., will leave Madison tonight for New York, where he will board the New Amsterdam, Saturday, for Geneva, Switzerland, and a several months' tour of Europe.

He is leaving upon the recent request of the International committee of the Y. M. C. A., asking him to tour central Europe to study faculty and student conditions in Germany, Poland, Austria, Hungary, and Czechoslovakia, with the ultimate purpose of making a report embodying suggestions for remedying the existing deficiencies.

Mr. Wolf will be met by Conrad Hoffman, formerly connected with the Agricultural college of the university, who will have charge of the routine of the tour. Mr. Hoffman was with the Y. M. C. A. in Europe during the war, and was the only representative remaining in Germany to look after the prisoners after the close of the war. The remainder of the party will consist of Secretaries Stewart, Wilson, and Devendorff of the Y. M. C. A.s of Yale, Illinois and California, respectively; A. R. Elliot, of the International committee; Prof. Thomas Graham of Oberlin college; and President Bell, of St. Olaf's college.

In addition to investigating the conditions of these countries, Mr. Wolf will carry the greetings of American students to the students

Scoops Busts In On Sig Phi Boarders But Thinks He's Found A W. K. 'Love Nest'

The summer session is no work for those staying at the Sigma Phi house on North Prospect Ave. Cool, roomy residence, fine surroundings, large expanse of lawn, and, best of all, a good cook. "Tom" has fed Sigma Phi's hungry for seven years. And not one remained hungry.

Those who enjoy this fine residence during the summer session are:

Mr. and Mrs. Royal Clyde Agne, Zanesville, Ohio, and daughters, Jean, Caroline and Phiscilla Ray. Mr. Clyde is community organizer for the American Red Cross, Lake Division.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Peck. Mr. Peck, who is high school principal at Menominee Falls, is taking Educational work; Mrs. Peck is taking a course in public speaking.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. O'Connell, Hutchinson, Kansas. Mr. O'Connell is taking a course in Dramatics and Journalism, while Mrs. O'Connell is mastering the Elements of Public Speaking.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Frostad comes in conference throughout central Europe.

The economic conditions of these regions are at present reported to be far from good. The cost of living is high, and the wages low, which makes it difficult for the students to continue their education. There is also a mental and moral pessimism reported among the European students. In Germany many have the idea that conditions can only be remedied by the return of the Kaiser. Besides investigating these problems, the members of the party will endeavor to ascertain just how seriously the influence of Lenin and Trotsky of neighboring Russia, is felt among the faculties and students of central Europe.

Upon his return for the opening of the university term in the middle of September, Mr. Wolf will speak here regarding the conditions observed during the course of the tour.

from Princeton, Wis., at which place Mr. Frostad is high school principal. Here he is taking the summer course in Educational work.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Barnes Woodside call Middlefield, Ohio, their home. Mr. Woodside formerly did grammar school work, while Mrs. Woodside is a school principal at Middlefield. Mr. Woodside is at present taking a course in English and Educational work.

Last but not least:

Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Meyer. Mr. Meyer, who lives at Elburn, is coach at the high school of that city.

Almost forgot the most important thing of all which has been going on out there. You see, they're all nice young people, even though most of them are high school principals, or superintendents, or hold other advanced positions. So, because they are young and enjoy excitement, they decided to hold a big celebration, with Mr. and Mrs. Woodside as the principals. This would be strange, but the celebration occurs at a time when such an affair was indeed appropriate. I'll tell you the secret. The leading man and lady are Newlyweds. Just been married. So just go up to them and say what I am going to say:

Congratulations,
From

"Made in Madison" exhibits will be seen in the lobby of the Bank of Wisconsin every week beginning today. Through the efforts of Don Mowry, secretary of the Association of Commerce, and R. L. Hopkins, president of the bank, it will be possible for all local manufacturers to display their products in the lobby of the bank. The first exhibit is by the Madison Kipp Co. All Madison manufacturers desiring to have their products exhibited are asked to see either Mr. Mowry or Mr. Hopkins.

DEANS TO MEET FOR DISCUSSION

Will Take Up Topics Of Interest To Girls' Advisors And Deans

The first of a series of discussion groups for the consideration of topics of special interest to Deans of women and advisors of girls will be held in the office of the dean of women at Lathrop hall Thursday. Miss Louise Nardin and Mrs. M. H. Mendenhall, acting dean of women, will lead the discussion.

"These informal gatherings are being held to offer assistance to many of the women students who are called upon to act as deans and advisors, and to give them the foundation principles needed for holding such an office," is the statement made by Mrs. Mendenhall in regard to the matter. "Miss Nardin, who will open the discussion tomorrow, will analyze the duties and responsibilities of the work and emphasize the relation of the dean to the community. It is planned to have the group propose topics, problems that they have encountered, and with a round-table discussion attempt to arrive at a solution of the difficulties attendant on this type of work."

Miss Nardin has served as Chairman of the National Committee of College Deans for two years and in this capacity has arranged the programs. This discussion group is to be the fore-runner of a formal course in this work which may be offered sometime in the future.

Man Strikes Woman On Street; Fined $25

James Kane, 533 W. Main st., was fined $25 and costs in superior court this morning for being drunk and disorderly. The charge was brought against him by Mrs. J. H. Purcell who alleged that Kane struck her while she was walking down the street.

CAMPUS FILLED AT FIRST MIXER

State Groups Formed When Students Meet Informally

President E. A. Birge and Dean S. H. Goodnight made short speeches to the thousand students who attended the first all-university mixer held at 8 o'clock last Friday night on the campus south of the Law Building and in the gymnasium of Lathrop Hall. A snake dance, singing, sneezing and handshaking also helped to make the evening an interesting one.

College songs and yells filled the air when Prof. Gordon organized the students according to states on the campus, after which the groups marched in snake-dance formation to the Lathrop gym, where Prof. Gordon lead the gathering in Wisconsin songs.

Dean Goodnight then spoke and cordially welcomed the students of the 23rd summer session.

"It is the ideal of the University of Wisconsin to send its students home strengthened both mentally and physically," he said.

He also mentioned that two students were drowned in Lake Mendota recently, and cautioned everybody to abide strictly by the regulations and thereb avoid any further occurrences.

A rousing skyrocket greeted President Birge when he was introduced. Being the oldest student present, he said, he was very pleased to welcome everybody to the University and the State of Wisconsin. He characterized the summer session as the most representative assemblage in the country, the students coming from nearly every state in the union.

Then came singing and community sneezing and handshaking by which many students became acquainted with one another. This was followed by a general get-together party. Next Friday night will be international night. There will be a short program followed by a social hour.
