JUNIOR LAWS AND FRESHMEN

THEY MEET ON THE BASEBALL FIELD.

AND THE FRESHMEN SCORE BUT TWICE.

Eleven to Two Was the Way It Stood—Errors All Around.

The Junior Laws played the first of their series of ball games with the freshmen yesterday. The game was called about 3 o'clock, with the juniors at the bat. It was evident from the start that the freshmen were working against too heavy odds. The weather was unfavorable, being cold and raw and Aston did not get warmed up until four men had crossed the plat, when he succeeded in fanning out two of the law boys, which retired the side.

Then the freshmen started the only streak of luck they had during the game. Fabrick got his base on balls, stole second base, was caught at third while trying to reach it on Gregg's hit. Gregg and Parkinson scored by means of hits and errors. These were the only runs the freshmen made during the entire game. The second inning the juniors made two runs, and the freshmen went out with two men on bases. In the third both sides went out in one, two, three order. In the fourth the juniors made five runs, but the freshmen were shut out. The freshmen then saw they had undertaken a hopeless task and gave the game to the juniors without finishing it.

The errors were numerous on both sides, especially among the freshmen. The heavy batting of the juniors was the feature of the game, especially that of McCull and Karel. The men played in the following positions:

Juniors.	Pos.	Freshmen.
Runkle	c.	Gregg
Falk	p	Aston
Overson	ss	Parkinson
Freeman	1 b	Jackson
Hineman	2 b	Spence
Karel	3 b	Fabrick
McCull	1 f	Bosshard
Spooner	c f	Swathy
McCabe	r f	Davis
Knox Kinney	umpire.
Score by Innings		1 2 3 4
Juniors		4 2 0 5—11
Freshmen		2 0 0 0—2

PRES. ADAMS REPLIES.

He Answers the Charges of the President of Lawrence.

The following letter was sent by Pres. Adams to yesterday's Sentinel and corrects some statements made by President Plantz of Lawrence College: Madison, Wis., Sept. 21.—The letter of President Plantz, published in your issue of the 21st, gives evidence of so many misapprehensions that I deem it proper to state the following facts:

1. The state university teaches no theology; it teaches Hebrew and New Testament Greek for the same Greek that it teaches other ancient and modern languages.

2. The scholarship funds alluded to by Prof. Williams as available for students of Hebrew and Hellenistic Greek are not furnished by the university, but privately, by friends of the department.

3. The university has no agents. For those who volunteer commendation it does not undertake to be responsible.

4. No attempt has been made to draw students from Lawrence or any other university. The person written to by Prof. Williams was represented not as being a student of the university, but a clergyman who had already graduated and was desirous of further studies in Hebrew and Greek.

5. If President Plantz will read anew the letter of Prof. Williams, he will see that he has not correctly represented its import. The department does not claim to teach theology at all; it only tries to teach good Hebrew and Greek.

MAY MANAGES THE BAND.

The University Band met last night and elected Mr. E. M. May, an experienced musician, as manager. Colonel Chynoweth was present and addressed the members. There are extra instruments which are not being played by any one so that any person desiring to enter the band need not hesitate on account of the lack of an instrument.

—The University of Chicago has discarded the name of professor. The members of the faculty are in future to be addressed as "Mr."

ANOTHER SOCIAL FUNCTION

LOCAL UNION OF THE Y. P. S. C. E. RECEIVES.

STUDENTS AND OTHERS SPEND A PLEASANT EVENING.

Miss Fuller, Miss Green and Mr. Vivian on the Program.

Last evening a reception was given by the local union of Christian Endeavor to the students of the university at the Congregational church. It was thought that very few would be present owing to their studies, but at nine o'clock the parlor was well filled.

Most of the evening was spent in pleasant conversation, meeting old acquaintances and forming new ones. A short program was arranged which was enjoyed very much. The first number was an instrumental selection by Miss Fuller. After Miss Fuller responded to a hearty encore, Mr. Woodward, president of the union, gave a short address of welcome. Miss Green next entertained the audience with a violin solo, The Perates Waltz. In response to an encore Miss Green played Spring's Awakening, accompanied by Miss Davis.

Mr. Vivian then gave a few recitals. The selections were happily rendered. The fact that Mr. Vivian was called back twice is evidence of the way in which his reading was received by those present.

The union congratulates itself in securing these members of the program and takes this opportunity to extend each one hearty thanks. Refreshments were served in the basement of the church where all were provided for.

JOURNALS AT THE LIBRARY.

A Little More Money Needed to Secure Them.

During the past week more than one hundred and sixty persons have contributed ten cents each toward securing the daily papers for the university library. The Milwaukee Sentinel, Journal, Chicago Record and Harper's Weekly were secured last year at a combined cost of about eighteen dollars. There was lacking about two dollars in the amount contributed then to balance the account, so that it will be necessary to obtain nearly four dollars more to get the same papers subscribed for last year. It was planned to secure a New York daily if enough could be obtained so that foreign news would be available in the library. In order that those who have not had a chance to contribute may do so, an arrangement has been made with the librarian to receive subscriptions.

A LOCAL SONGSTER.

A Ballad About Violets that Critics Pronounce a Success.

Below are the words of Charles Floyd McClure's sweet song, "When Violets Are There," which is already attracting much flattering attention. Both words and melody are by Mr. McClure, who is a student in the University of Wisconsin, well known through his literary work during terms past. The song has been taken up by the theatrical profession, notably by Miss Julie Mackey, playing the title role in Superba, who is making a great success with it nightly. Critics have pronounced the words as flowing and graceful, and the melody exquisitely sweet. A new edition is about to be issued with a new portrait of Miss Mackey on the title page.

WHEN VIOLETS ARE THERE.

I know a green and shady bower by a gently flowing stream,
Where the air is always fragrant
Where the air is always fragrant,
Where the air is always fragrant, where sweet nature seems to dream;
There you'll find in fairy springtime,
near the softly rippling tide,
Nestling in their leafy shelter, pure and sweet blue violets hide.

CHORUS.

When violets are there, when their perfume rises near,
How my heart within me yearns, for
the one I hold so dear:
How my soul within me thrills, as their fragrance fills the air, Ah, could I but see her, when violets
are there.

Mosses grow there, ferns are drooping
and the trillium nods its head, Honeysuckles and wild roses blossom
there when May has fled;
Summer comes with all her flowers,
breathes the spot with incense
rare,

But the sweetest, dearest fragrance
comes when violets are there,
In my hand are fading violets, through their fragrance steals my dream,

In my heart crowd fading fancies of a half forgotten scene;
To my eyes spring tears of mem'ry,
memory of one so fair,
All my soul yearns to behold her, when the violets are there.

The song is published by Joseph Flanner, Milwaukee, and sold by W.
W. Warner, Madison.

LAWRENCE'S NEW PRESIDENT.

He Is Inaugurated with Much Formality—Bishop Fowler Present.

Methodist clergymen were in attendance in large numbers at the inauguration of Dr. S. Plantz as president of Lawrence university. The exercises were held in the Methodist church last evening. Bishop Fowler was present. Addresses of welcome were made by R. McMillen, of Oshkosh, for the board of trustees; by Myron P. R. Thom for the city of Appleton; by the Rev. J. W. McKay for the West Wisconsin conference and by the Rev. W. P. Stowe for Wisconsin conference. Dr. M. S. Terry, of Garrett Biblical institute, delivered an address, and President Plantz closed with his inaugural address.

Any failure to receive the Daily Cardinal promptly should be reported to the Business Manager.

The Northwestern, published at Northwestern University, anticipates a freshman class of nearly 225. Let's see, we have so far registered 350, haven't we?

An inexperienced gymnast on entering the gymnasium the other day, mistook the chest weight machine for a double trapeze and giving a run jumped and caught the lower bar firmly, but soon sank to the floor much to his surprise. This must have been a freshman.

With the excellent opportunities for athletic exercise and training offered by the new gymnasium, every student should arrange to make gymnastics a part of his regular university work. The work though only required of the two lower classes is open to all students.

The lectures on the use of the library, which are now being delivered, will be found to be very valuable for the new students. The purpose of the lectures is to give the new students some idea of what books will be of service to them and where such books can be found. The new system of cataloguing the university library is also being explained for the benefit of those who are unacquainted with it.

It is a most remarkable fact that so important and healthy a branch of athletics as tennis should receive as little support as it does in this university. If there is any one department of athletics that we are far behind in it is this one; and we cannot understand why this should be so. Undoubtedly one of the reasons why tennis is not more popular here is that it is expensive to keep up the courts and the only way to meet this expense is by comparatively heavy dues. If the regents would be willing to give toward keeping the courts in condition as proportionately as great an amount as they give to other branches of athletics it might result in a much needed revival of this popular sport in the university.

The Occident of Sept. 13th contains a communication from one G. Algernon Cross in which it is proposed that the University of California send a team to the intercollegiate games at New York next spring. The writer speaks of one Wilbur who is said to have put the shot 43 feet 10 inches and may enter the U. of C. about Christmas. He has also "heard that Edgrees threw the hammer 131 feet during vacation." With this very definite information as a basis of calculation the writer says:

"In closing, let me repeat that if we can get the money we can send a team east, which would hardly fail to come out third in the games, thus outranking such institutions as Wesleyan, Brown, Columbia, Cornell, and even Pennsylvania to the great credit and renown of the University of California."

Yes, that would be nice for the U. of C.

"As is the custom of the University of Wisconsin all kinds of rumors have been sent out in regard to their foot ball team for this fall. Among these reports was the one that Phil. King, Stagg and Hayner would be there, but, nevertheless, this seems to be without foundation, since Phil. King is coaching Princeton, Stagg is playing with the University of Chicago, and Hayner is captain of the Lake Forest team. How like Madison it is to have the swell-head and great expectations."—Beloit Round Table.

The above characteristic bit of Beloit college journalism will doubtless be of interest to U. of W. students. If the writer of the above had stated by whom these alleged "rumors" had been sent out he would have added much interest to the item and given at least a shadow of probability to the tale. As it is they have a decided local flavor of Beloit. Wisconsin has not been sending out any reports of its foot ball teams and has not yet reached the stage where its students have a jubilee to celebrate a victory over a preparatory school team. They are willing to have Wisconsin's team compared with its opponents (including Beloit by the scores of the games.

THE MINOR DRESS DETAILS.

The minor details of dress are receiving the largest share of attention, and it is these that just now, rather than dressmaker or gown buying, that depletes the pocket-book. With fancy waists, collars, vests, waistcoats, blouses and neck-dressing, one may almost transform an ordinary wardrobe. It takes but little time and less material to fit up some of these pretty things, and the effect in brightening the average costume is eminently pleasing to the eye. The new waistcoat is made with tags, one in the front and one in the back, to button on the skirt band, for the purpose of being kept down and of holding up the skirt. To cover the line of conjunction there is a sash to match the skirt, or ribbon, if muslin, or linen is used. The full vest or front of silk is a boon in hot weather. With a simple blazer suit of duck or serge, with one of these soft-draped waists, one may be as cool as modern dress can be arranged.

COLLEGE POINTS.

—There are one hundred and ninety college papers in the United States,
while England has none.

—About 62 per cent. of the college men of this country belong to Greek letter fraternities.

—Princeton won eleven base ball games last spring before the end of May, and until then had not suffered a single defeat.

—Yale has won forty-five games of base ball from Princeton since 1868, Princeton has won sixteen and there has been one tie game.

—Twenty-eight foreign countries and every American state and territory, except three, are represented at the University of Pennsylvania.

—The Alpha Delta Phi fraternity at Yale is to erect a $100,000 house on Hill House avenue. It will be of stone and one of the most expensive
at Yale.

—The Irish National foot ball team
is now champion of three kingdoms,
having successfully defeated the English, Scotch and Welsh teams.

—James G. Blaine, Jr., is a candidate for the position of center on the Virginia eleven this year.

DECIDEDLY ROMANTIC.

The Democrat this morning published the following sensational write-up of a romance at Ladies' hall:

She stood looking out of a lower rear window of ladies' hall. It was night and the mellow moonlight was ever
and anon obscured by shifting clouds.
She looked like a piece of statuary, so graceful, motionless and beautiful was she. Presently a dark object came creeping slowly and carefully along keeping in the shadow of the hall.
When he saw the open window he stopped. There she stood pensively waiting, her charming figure enhanced a thousand times by a background of brilliant light.
Then watching her closely he gave a short, shrill signal. She started from her reverie with a suddenness that almost caused her to fall from the window sill. She became agitated and glanced apprehensively up and down the hall. Nothing marred the stillness save the echo of a girlish laugh on the third floor. Once more casting a hasty glance at the dark object standing motionless on the ground without, she lightly leapt from the window case and moved swiftly toward him. After some affectionate demonstrations and a subdued consultation with him she moved rapidly around to the rear of the building and he quickly followed. Frightened at her own audacity in leaving the hall the young creature paused and standing panting. Her clandestine lover was at her side in an instant, his lustrous eyes shining out bright in the darkness and his hot, feverish breath burning her soft, velvety cheek. Not a word was spoken. They seemed to understand each other perfectly. His eyes glowed with an intenser light. His whole being quivered as if on fire. She stood looking down into his soulful eyes. Her nerves tingled with suppressed emotion. Involuntarily he took a fatal step nearer to her and with a wild shriek they both rolled down the terrace to the very door of the building. Horror of horrors! There stood the doctor in the doorway.

"Frances! Frances! Frances Willard, get up and come in here!" cried that awe-inspiring individual. Then stepping out and snatching up her pet cat
the doctor whisked back into the house while Pickarts' tomcat scrambled to his feet and sorrowfully wended his way homeward.

FASHION AND FANCY.

The Latest Ideas Evolved by Modiste
Mantua-Maker.

An extravagant novelty is to trim a light silk petticoat with frills of chif-fon of different colors.

The fashion of displaying ribbon on the hair of little misses and young girls is revived, partly for the sake of convenience and partly to give a dressy effect. Braids are tied with bright satin ribbon, curls are held in place by them, and above the top of a single braid is thrust a tiny butterfly bow, or the curls on the brow are held in place by a band of baby ribbon.

Black serge dresses are trimmed with watered silk, edged with ecru lace, and black hopsacking is adorned with jet and yellow lace.

Sets of three gold and silver butterflies in filagree, with some decided color shading in the center, are sold for the waist, the top of the shoulders and the hair. There are some of the most fairly like flowers, such as pink mimosa
and the tamarisk, made in the same filagree thread to be used for the same purpose.

The truly aesthetic woman will welcome the sashes which have appeared once more. They are worn in the back, tied in front or on the side, as they are most becoming, and are made of soft silk, satin or moire, with long ends falling almost to the bottom of the gown.

An unusual combination in handkerchiefs showed bolting cloth with a border of Smyrna lace. Some very pretty fine linen handkerchiefs were bordered with beautiful point de Gene.

Scalloped crepe edges in various designs are still seen on mourning veils.
There seems to be quite a demand for white net d'esprit for children's veils.
For the summer hat there is nothing daintier and cooler looking—and, I may add, nothing more perishable—than folds of tulle in black, white or dark blue.

Satins are exceedingly fashionable and are just the thing for dressy costumes made up in the quaint styles of the Louis Philippe era. Black is by far the most used.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

—The Badger board meets this evening at 6:30 at Ladies' hall.
—John I. Marshal, of Chicago, is a guest of Registrar Hiestand.
—Gordon H. True, '94, is spending a few days at the Delta Upsilon lodge.
—F. Pecker takes orders for Meyer & Co., merchant tailors, Chicago. Best rates on suits that from $16 up.
—Ganot's Physics, Genung's Outlines, and Draughting Instruments have been received at the Co-op.
—The freshman class in Greek will hereafter recite to Prof. Smith on Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays, and to Mr. Laird on Tuesdays.
—The newly organized Milwaukee Medical College and School of Dentistry was formally opened last evening. The college has a capacity for 200 and about 100 students have already enrolled.
—Knox Kinney, '94, has accepted the position of telegraph editor on the Madison Democrat, and will begin work next week. W. D. Schoenfeld, '97, who has been occupying the position for the summer, will continue his work in the university.
—The lecture by Prof. Hubbard tomorrow afternoon will be given in the physical lecture room, Science hall, and not in the law building as previously announced in the calendar.
—Pres. and Mrs. Adams have gone to Evanston to be present at the dedication of the new library building of Northwestern University. Pres. Adams will give a short address. Justice Windsor, librarian of Harvard college, will give the principal address at Northwestern.

Pope Leo XIII. is a great admirer and friend of birds. In his library and in the alcoves of his reception-room a number of them are kept, and their chatter always interests the pontiff. "You see," he once said to a foreign minister who had called to pay his respects, "these birds are my diplomat. Whenever I receive any one here he can only make a report as to my amiability, and can seldom understand my words, because the chatter of these songsters drowns all that I say. The visitor cannot tell what I say, and often cannot tell whether I have even spoken."

Locals under this head is a word.
