BUDGET SYSTEMS FOR HOMECOMING ARE COMPLETED

Committees Allotted Funds Based on Experience of Previous Years

Full operating budgets and final arrangements for financing all homecoming features have been completed under Edwin Schujahn '24, chairman of the ways and means committee.

Each committee on homecoming will be allotted a certain amount of money with which to work, the amount to be determined largely according to expenses of respective committees in previous years.

"Last spring I went over all expense accounts of committee chairmen for the past three years and I believe I have been able to work out individual budgets which will meet demands," Schujahn asserted last night.

"Of course, some features, such as the carnival, will require more money this year because they have grown in extent and scope.

"All committee chairmen will be expected to keep within their budgets. Homecoming is not essentially a money making proposition, but anything which we do make can be used very nicely for such events as Interscholastic in the spring, when there are no sources of revenue to defray expenses.

"We have four sources of revenue in Homecoming, the button and program sales, the dance and the carnival. The amount brought in by each must be guessed at, for it is a risky matter to try to determine such profits by the results of previous years," Schujahn concluded.

Men who have been working on the ways and means committee with Schujahn are A. R. Wiley '24 and M. C. Galvy '24.

No Wisconsin Soil For Social Hatred, Says Gov. Blaine

"There is no soil in Wisconsin for an organization which fosters racial hatred, hatred because of differences in church affiliations, hatred because of foreign languages," said Governor John J. Blaine in his address to 2,500 persons at the mass meeting of the National Lutheran Brotherhood of America in the university gymnasium at 8:15 o'clock last night.

Governor Blaine read a telegram from Governor J. A. O. Preus of Minnesota telling that some important executive business that detained the governor, who was to be the principal speaker at the meeting.

The meeting was opened by the chairman, Mayor Milo Kittleson of Madison. The address of welcome was given by attorney-General H. L. Ekern; the response was delivered by Dr. J. A. O. Stub, president of the Lutheran Brotherhood. Judge C. B. Magney of Duluth, Minnesota, said in his address that he remembered President Elliott of Harvard telling one of his classes, "In my opinion, Wisconsin University is my ideal of an American university."

The first meeting for business will be held this morning at the St. John's Lutheran church. The banquet will be held this evening at the Luther Memorial church.

AG SCHOOL GETS URNS FROM FORMER STUDENTS

Two marble urns were presented to the College of Agriculture by the students in the short courses of 1922. The urns have been placed on either side of the flower bed in the leading approach to the Agriculture building. They will be left there permanently.

Your Paper Goes Into All Corners

From McGill University in Montreal, Canada, from a technical school in the Argentine, from a college in Brazil and from a military school in Honolulu come papers to fill our exchange files. Literally speaking The Cardinal flies to the four corners of the globe. Besides our cosmopolitan exchange list we have a subscription mailing list which includes Mexico, British Columbia, and Paris, France.

The Cardinal is sent to almost every state in the union and the total out of state mailing list is about 800. In the state of Wisconsin there are about 175 subscribers, while in Madison there are almost three hundred besides the regular student subscribers.

The circulation manager is getting out a special letter to some of the more interested alumni asking them to subscribe to the Cardinal. The subscription rate of three dollars for the year is the same for the mail order customers as for the regular subscribers.

HOLD FIRST UNION DANCE TOMORROW

First Rate Orchestras Secured For Regular Lathrop Dances

Students who acquired new telephone numbers for their date books last Saturday at the mixer will be given a chance to use them when the first of the Union Board dances is given tomorrow night in Lathrop parlors. The Union Board has secured Fairbanks orchestra for the opening night. Cohens 7-piece orchestra will play Saturday at the second dance held by the Union Board.

The Union Board dances are given exclusively for university students," said Sam Thompson, chairman of the Union Board dance committee yesterday. "They are run without profit to the students giving them all of the profits are placed in the Union Memorial fund.

The dances have been given for the last two years, and have been well attended. They are strictly couple affairs. The mixers given by the Union Board will come later in the season. Besides Fairbanks orchestra which will play tomorrow night and Cohen's, which plays the next night, Benson and Emanuel's, Bunny Lyon's, Gilmore's, and Summers' orchestras have been secured for dances, which will be given every Friday and Saturday night.

We are using the best music attainable for our dances. We expect this to be our best year," Thompson said.

NO INCREASE IN CARS DRIVEN BY STUDENTS

As many cars are parked in the space back of Bascom hall now as there were during rushing, according to Andrew Brown, in charge of parking on the university grounds.

The average number of automobiles parked at one time is 125, of which about 50 are Fords. Fords are placed in the row farthest from the hall. Additional space between the building and the drive is being prepared to accommodate cars now parked along the drive near Main hall.

More cars are being parked on university property now than during summer school, when the space back of Bascom hall was sufficient, but at present University avenue and Charter street are used.

TICKETS FOR COE GAME ON SALE TOMORROW

Tickets for the Coe game Saturday will be sold from a booth in front of the men's gym.

The tickets are on sale tomorrow from 8:30 to 5 o'clock and continues on Saturday from 8:30 to 11 o'clock, the price being 50 cents with the student's fee card. No reserved seats are to be had as it is a case of the first comers procuring the best seats.

Those students not buying their tickets at the booth in front of the gym will be forced to pay the regular admission price of one dollar at the gate. The game starts promptly at 2 p.m.

Agric Students To Inaugurate Walk Around This Afternoon

ORCHESTRA RATES ARE NOT CHANGED

Fraternities and Sororities Assured of Reasonable Charges For Music

Fraternities this season will be able to obtain orchestras for parties at the same rate that was obtained last year. The maximum price of fifty dollars for a five piece orchestra to play three hours will be charged. Cheaper rates can be obtained for other orchestras.

"Mr. Thompson has seen me with regard to the prices and has made assurance there will be no raise," Dean S. H. Goodnight said yesterday afternoon.

Contracts made last fall with the Thompson and Boyd student orchestras expired last June and some have been signed for the current year. The assurances of Dean Goodnight and G. W. Dollmeyer, president of the Interfraternity council, insure fraternities and sororities of the same treatment received last year.

STUDENTS' MINOR ILLS KEEP INFIRMARY BUSY

The university infirmary is in continuous operation due to many colds, sore throats, and chest troubles prevalent among students at this time of the year. The number of patients is small as compared with other years. Only three women and nine men are confined at this time.

Injuries to the football players is a constant source of worry among the doctors, and everything possible is being done to fix up unfortunate men before the season starts.

The staff of nurses remains the same as last year. Internships have been filled by other men however.

Doctor Mowry is now back from his trip abroad, and everything is set for the year's work.

Foreign Flashes

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 3—Opponents of Governor Walton scored a sweeping victory yesterday in the most spectacular election ever held in Oklahoma. It is estimated that the results will show a seven to one majority in favor of the amendment empowering the state legislature to meet for impeachment purposes without calling the Governor.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 3—On petition of the governor, the district court granted a temporary injunction restraining the state election board from certifying the results of Tuesday's "pretended election."

BERLIN, Oct. 3—The military forces today arrested 200 men outside Doeberitz, charging them with gathering for an attempted military coup against the government.

The fate of the prisoners taken from the Kuestrin fortress Tuesday morning has not been made known.

LAKEHURST, Oct. 3—The giant naval Zeppelin, docked here at seven o'clock this morning. It made the return trip from St. Louis in twenty one hours, including the time spent flying over Chicago and the Great Lakes Station.

DUSSELDORF (Special)—

SOPHOMORES AND FRESHMEN CLASH ON OCTOBER 13

Senate to Investigate Bonding of Homecoming Finance Officers

Saturday, October 13 was set as the date for the annual class rush between the sophomores and freshmen at a meeting of the Student senate last night in the Law building.

Every agricultural student and every woman taking home economics will be at the function, and it is planned to make it a future tradition of the university. The entire faculty together with their families are planning to be present in order to become acquainted with the students personally.

An elaborate program has been planned including speeches of welcome by the most popular Profes-

CHORAL UNION IS CREDITED COURSE

Entered in Curriculum After Reorganization By Professor Dykema

The Choral Union, under the direction of Prof. P. W. Dykema of music, has been reorganized this year, and is now being given as a regular course in the curriculum of the university, for one credit, at 3:30 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday afternoon.

"The university has made this arrangement as a result of the growing recognition of the value of cultural courses that might be open to the student body," said Prof. Dykema yesterday.

"For this reason, the voice-test given to students desiring to take this course has been made very simple,—merely as assurance that there will be no one admitted whose voice would be poor enough to mar the general effect of the chorus.

"This course has as its aim a more intimate study of musical compositions that can be gained from singing them. There will be, interspersed with singing, occasional appreciative talks that should help the class understand what they are singing.

"Various forms of music will be studied during the year, beginning with sacred music as represented by Handel's "Messiah," and to be followed by operatic, and later miscellaneous forms of part-singing," Dykema concluded.

The course in music appreciation at 11 o'clock on Tuesdays and Thursdays is a parallel course, given in a series of lectures interspersed with musical selections.

CLEF CLUB WILL HEAR IMPROMPTU RECITAL

An impromptu recital given by Jeanet Breitenbach, '23, and Erma Duncan, '24, followed by an important business meeting will be on the program for the first meeting of the Clef club, tonight at 7:15 o'clock in Lathrop parlors.

"The object of the Clef club is to stimulate better music in the university and to encourage more musical activities," said Janet Breienbach, '23, ex-president of the club.

Tryouts for membership in the club are held twice a year, in October for the upperclassmen, and in February for the Freshmen. The tryouts are based on musical talents including interpretation, technique, selections, poise and in a general interest in music.

Soph Commission Meets Today in Y. M. Lobby

The first meeting of the Sophomore commission of the Y. M. C. A. will be held at noon today in the lobby. All members who signed up last year are urged to be present at the meeting. A new vice president will be elected because the one elected last spring did not return.

Castalia to Hear Address and Plans For Coming Year

"How to improve your every day speech" will be the subject of a talk by Miss Margaret Mary McCarthy of the speech department before the members of Castalia literary society tomorrow at the opening program of the year in Lathrop parlors.

A constructive working policy for the year will be mapped out by the officers of Castalia and presented at the business session preceding Miss McCarthy's address. Plans already have been made to introduce many fresh means of raising the general standing of the society, increasing its accomplishments and adding new features to its weekly programs.

"We want Castalia to run on a practical basis this year. Every woman should be made to feel the literary advantages gained from her membership can be directly and virtually worked into her every day routine and applied to her normal curriculum of living. This is why we chose Miss McCarthy to speak on ways of improving our ordinary conversation," such is a summary of the year's plans offered by Helen J. Baldauf '25, president.

Other officers elected last spring for the year 1923-1924 are: Frieda Auchter '25, vice-president; Coraelia Roth '25, secretary; Marion Telford '25, treasurer; Gertrude Kittleson '25, historian; Fannie Gallas '24, representative on forensic board; Dorothy Mack '24, musical director.

Professors and students of the Badger state university give the money to maintain a Wisconsin-in-China representative for welfare work in Peking.

POLITICAL SCIENCE STAFF IS CHANGED

Prof. G. H. Stuart and Dr. Walter Thompson Leave For Other Schools

A change in the personnel of the Political Science department as well as a change in the number of courses has been effected this year. Three new members have joined the staff of the department and the program of courses has been enlarged and in a few cases changed.

The department will lose two of its members this fall. Prof. Graham Stuart has resigned to take charge of the work in international politics at Leland Stanford. Dr. Walter Thompson is to become assistant superintendent of schools in Hibbing, Minnesota.

The three men coming into the department this fall are Dr. Walter R. Sharp of Washington and Lee university, Dr. Joseph P. Harris, Chicago university, and Allan F. Saunders, University of Pennsylvania. Prof. F. A. Ogg, chairman of the department, who has been on leave of absence, will return this month.

Dr. Sharp will give the course in American Government and Politics, which in previous years has been given by Prof. Stuart. Dr. Sharp together with Prof. Pitman B. Potter will give the course in current political topics formerly given by Prof. Stuart. Dr. Harris will take charge of the courses in state and municipal administration. Mr. Saunders will give courses in state governments and political parties. Professor Potter will give the course in Latin America which was given last year by Professor Stuart.

Several new courses have been incorporated in the department this year. The work in municipal government is to be expanded by two new courses, one of which is to be given by Mr. Harris. The course in practical problems in municipal government given by Prof. MacGregor will continue for two semesters instead of one as formerly. A new course in municipal government of the United States is offered in conjunction with the course in state governments. Another addition to the department is a course in local rural government, dealing with counties and towns.

CLASSES BATTLE
OCTOBER 20 FOR TRACK HONORSUnderclassmen Expected to Cop Most Points; Varsity
Men Barred

The annual inter-class track meet, the first track event each fall, will be held on October 20, at 1:30 o'clock at Camp Randall.

All those desiring to enter the meet can sign up any time either by applying to Coach Mead Burke or by signing the bulletin board in the gym annex. Varsity trackmen will be the only candidates barred from the meet. Any other man in any class is eligible for entry.

In former years the meet has always been hotly contested between the freshmen and sophomore class, as the two upper classes seldom are able to present a strong line-up. According to numerous rumors, however, the junior and senior classes will give the underclassmen some stiff competition this year.

The meet serves as an opportunity for men in the various classes to win their numerals. In addition, the outcome should give Coach Burke some idea of the material available in the first year class.

As usual, the freshman will be on hand with an all-round good team. Schwarze and Bononi, who are at present out for frosh football, look like good bets in the weight events. Harris will enter the avelin throw, Kennan the low hurdles, and Postel, Petaja, Dennis, and Cassidy the runs.

The sophomore class will enter Zilisch, frosh captain from last year's track team, in the hurdles; Brown in the high jump and Schutt Kennedy, Butz, Peard, McAndrews, and Smith in the remaining events.

Outing Club Gives Hobo

Hike to Sunset Point

Rags and a bottle, old shoes and almost everything will be seen tonight when dame fashion makes her fall debut in the annual hobo parade. Coeds in overalls, straw hats and beards. What next?

Thirty-five cents a love weenie, buns and cider are the only requirements necessary for membership. Of course it is to be understood that all hobos like to hike and would do it without stopping to breath if. Outing club would only give them all prizes instead of just one to the worst looking bum.

The annual Outing club hobo hike to Sunset point will leave Lathrap hall in two groups, one at five o'clock and another at 5:30 tonight. There will be a big bonfire and stunts and every girl is welcome.

ART FRATERNITY HOLDS
FIRST MEETING TONIGHT

Delta Phi Delta, honorary art fraternity, will hold its first meeting at 7 o'clock tonight in the Applied Arts laboratory machine shop. This will be a purely business meeting to discuss the plans for the coming year. The presiding officers who were initiated into their duties last semester are Mrs. Agnes Tuttle, president; Mrs. Francis Streets, vice president; Miss Laura Kremer, treasurer; Miss Pauline Wyld, secretary.

Plumbers Increase
Despite Dwindling
of Sophomore Class

"The decrease in the size of the sophomore class of the college of engineering is due to the smallness of last year's entering freshman class," according to Prof. A. V. Millar, assistant dean of the college.

Quite a bit of comment has been caused by the statement that that class had decreased in size at the opening of this semester. It is a fact, however, that the entire enrollment of the college of engineering equals or betters that of last year. The freshman class is larger than last year, and the upper classes remain about the same.

The college of engineering is fortunate in the fact that it has adequate room for the teaching, both technically and theoretically, all of its students.

VARSITY FISH PROSPECTS
SHINE WITH NEW TANK

Once more the waters will churn with the happy antics of dozens of swimmers in the varsity gymnasium, for the new tank, looked upon enviously by many freshmen, has at last been filled and is ready for use.

With the filling of the tank the varsity swimming team can also begin practice shortly. Steinauer's greatest trouble last year lay in the fact that he could not get his men into the water until late in the season.

A championship-chasing team should result from the start they will get this year.

DIRTH OF MATERIAL
IN TENNIS TOURNEYCandidates Must Sign Before
Tomorrow to Effect Early
Drawing

Applications for the men's upper class tennis tourney should be in no later than tomorrow night, as drawing for the first matches will begin soon.

Tennis tournaments in the fall have been practically successful in recent years, and Hagan expected a large number of last minute entries.

The men will play on the varsity courts at Camp Randall during the fall season. These courts have been put in excellent condition recently in preparation for the tourney.

Tennis Captain Art Moulding, will be in charge of the tournament and he will be ably assisted by Nick Aagesen, a veteran tennis star who has been on the varsity team several years.

Unless a number of men register before then the tourney will probably be dropped, since only fifteen have signed up so far.

With such men as F. S. Heneka, W. H. Wells, and L. L. Stebbins entered, some keen competition is assured, but there is always the possibility of some new man stepping in and upsetting all predictions.

BOWLING

All fraternity bowling teams not already entered must do so by Saturday night, or forfeit right of entrance. Call A. Bock at Badger 8.

FOOTBALL USHERS

All men desiring to act as ushers at the Homecoming game call Howard R. Lathrap, F. 140 between 1:30 and 5:30 and 7 to 9 o'clock today.

A physiographical diagram of Europe for use in school geography classes has recently been prepared by a University of Wisconsin professor.

Morning's greeting!

The first thing that greeted the eye yesterday was the buck-board drill. Funniest thing to see those boys shoving one of those buck-boards around the field with their shoulders—just like trying to move a steam-roller with flat wheels.

We had a distinguished cub reporter with us last night in the person of Walter—you know who we mean, don't you—Oh, Walter Eckersall of the Tribune—sure, sure.

Every time some player would show up, someone would say, "C'mon kid, Walter's here tonite"—you should see him step around then.

The Frosh scrimmaged against the red jerseyed fellas for a while too. McGee, the Frosh fullback from Chicago and Sauger, a tackle played a whiz of a game. You've got to hand it to those boys when they tear up the Varsity.

Holmes stopped some nice passes, and made a beautiful fifty yard run for a touchdown during practice, which goes to show what the presence of a good sport writer can do.

Wish we could run some of the stuff Jim Brader tells the boys out there to pep 'em up, but no soap.

The All-Americans had a little layoff last night, because of the Frosh, but they'll get their punishment as was tonite of course.

Coach Jones eyed his Frosh with the glee of a newly-made papa, and he certainly has a right to, for they did some nice work—Thank you Frosh!

Dope on Coe College tomorrow

FRAT WILL WELCOME
FRESHMAN ENGINEERS

Prof. A. V. Millar and Prof. G. L. Larson will speak at a welcome under the auspices of Pi Tau Sigma, honorary mechanical engineering fraternity, to be given in the steam and gas laboratory, in the engineering building tonight. Gus Larson will discuss the future of the engineering profession and Dean Millar will talk of college preparation and college work.

Doc Drissen, a member of Pi Tau Sigma, will extend a welcome to frosh engineers, and acquaint them with the purpose and ideas of an honorary fraternity.

Talks will be followed by demonstration of the steam and gas laboratory in full operation, and

Varsity Stars May Join
Efforts in Professionalism

The amount of faith which the state professional teams have in old Wisconsin stars is brought out by the fact that Rolland F. Williams, known to all lovers of conference athletics for his stellar work in the three major sports may sign up with the Racine Horlicks for the remainder of the season.

Williams will be the fifth Madison star which they have taken within the last two years. In case he accepts the offer he will play once more with his old running mate Alva Elliott. Once again the scintillating pair will revive old times as when they amazed the conference with their play.

FROSH AND VARSITY
IN PREMIER TILTYearlings Make Good Showing
Against Regulars; McGear
and Stanesland Star

The frosh had their premier scrimmage against the varsity this afternoon in secret practice and gave the regulars a real workout, though somewhat handicapped by nervousness.

The outstanding new arrivals today were McGean, a plunging fullback and Stanesland, who played a stellar game at left guard. Big Sauger held down left tackle, Barufski was as good as ever at the pilot position, and Posted and Larson oscillated on the wings. Bonini played center and gave a good account of himself on defensive, although he will have to learn to get out of the way of the play on offense, as the boys are forever tripping over him.

Hagermeister was at right guard and Schwarzy, the behemoth from St. Johns, alternated with Strengel at right tackle. Griggsby, Kolb, Kreutzi, Barnum, Johnson, and Tappert all had a whack at right half. The whole practice yesterday consisted of scrimmage of signal drill too warm the young o signal drill to warm the youngsters up.

complete information about the four year course will be given by members of Pi Tau Sigma with the aid of all drawings, reports, examples of shop work and books concerned with engineering courses. Eats will follow. The meeting is open to the public.

BADGER LINEUP TAKES FORM AS
COE GAME NEARS

Nichols and Taft Are Out With Injuries; Children Admitted Free

With the first game of the season, that with Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Ia., but two days away, Coach Jack Ryan has practically decided upon his lineup.

With several men out of practice with minor injuries, there is a strong possibility that many second string men will see action in the first tilt. Unless Coe proves too strong, Ryan will probably send many reserves into the fray before the final whistle blows.

Nichols and Taft are out with injuries and in all probability will not play, as Ryan can ill afford to risk them in a game so early in the season.

Stangel will probably start at full as he surely has made himself known to the All-Americans lately, especially Tuesday when he ran through the whole team and made the lone touchdown for the Varsity. The guard positions will probably be filled by Bieberstein and Millar as both have proven their positions, while the tackles will be well taken care of by Below and Gerber. Irish, who played in some of last year's games will undoubtedly start at one wing position, while Nelson will be his running mate. The pivot position favors Teckemeyer because of his accurate passing and general consistent playing. In the half-back positions there will probably be a lot of substituting to give all an equal chance, but the dope favors Holmes and Whitten. Eagleburger handles the team fairly well so he ought to run it at the kick-off.

The game is going to start at 2 p. m. to enable the Coe team to catch an early evening train for Chicago.

All boys under twelve years of age will be guests of the athletic department at the Coe game Saturday. There will be some pretty sharp competitive cheering from that west stand when it is filled with that bunch of kids, hooting and cheering for their home team. In all probability they will fill the whole west stand.

TEXAN FALSE DEMOCRACY

The possession of automobiles by students has been placed under the official ban at the Universities of Oklahoma and Texas, presumably on the ground that it is undemocratic. The poor, hard-working student who attempts to wrest a college education from a harsh world, with no other assets than zeal and determination—he should not be compelled to witness his more fortunate fellow-students lolling luxuriously in limousines.

"We imagine this poor but worthy fellow trudging manfully to school, while automobiles filled with rich, scornful students pass nonchalantly by, covering him with dust and contempt. This, we suppose was the condition which authorities at the schools named sought to remedy by their latest edict.

Personally, we are poor, if not hard-working; we neither own an automobile nor see even remote prospects of ever owning one—but we are not thrown into spasms of envy at the sight of students who have them. When a car full of melodiously exuberant youth steams by in the stillly night we find it rather a pleasant reminder that we are attending a university, not a knowledge factory. We see no reason to emulate the Parisian rabble of the eighteenth century, which, whenever anyone rode by in a carriage, muttered sullenly: 'A bas les aristos!'

There is too much of a tendency to assume that democracy implies uniformity; that because all men are free and equal they should have an equal number of automobiles. Carried to its logical conclusion, this theory can have but one outcome—communism. In fact, we have often wondered why certain sociological professors and student groups here at Wisconsin have not advocated the suppressed automobile. Thus far, we are glad to note, our authorities have not adopted the pernicious doctrine of Texas and Oklahoma. They are aware, perhaps, that there is nothing quite so undemocratic as excessive democracy.

While we are, metaphorically speaking, patting on the back the powers that be, let us not forget those that have in charge the sale of Homecoming tickets. Purchasing a seat for the game has been made so simple that we were almost ashamed to take one. Too much praise cannot be given to the efficiency of the newly devised system. And now that it no longer takes a whole day to buy a football ticket, perhaps—who knows?—the time may come when it will no longer take a whole week to register.

THE SOCIAL DOOR

The open season for open housing arrives with its customary promptitude and eclat. Venerable and almost decrepit as we now are, we can still recall the thrill of our first attack upon those inscrutable strongholds, the sorority houses. It is with feelings of mingled envy and indulgence that we witness the young and verdant Lotharios preparing for their annual onslaught.

Open house, as a formal institution, represents probably the peak of campus sophistication. In no other social function do students give such an adequate expression to the instincts of polite and cultured society. The very fact that such an institution flourishes is proof of our redemption from the barbarous, proof that we know our stuff, and can on occasion be au fait, if not comme il faut.

Where there is learning, there should be culture, and where there is culture, there is bound to be sophistication. Reasoning from this syllogism, we can deduce that since our sophistication is unbounded, our learning must be immeasurable, and very profound indeed.

One can readily see that it would be quite disastrous if the practice of opening houses should ever fall into decay and disrepute. To the sororities, upon whom falls the burden of maintaining this phase of Wisconsin life, we extend unstinted praise and encouragement. And our warmest sympathies accompany the social neophytes who are about to be initiated into the Mysteries of the Open Door.

ILLEGAL LEGALITY
(Cornell Daily Sun)

A surprising insight into the operation and mental reactions of the French courts, and also upon the postwar attitude of the French nations toward things American is shown in the acquittal of a prisoner who had stolen thirty thousand dollars from the American Express Company. Counsel for the accused based his defense on the ground that youth will be youth, that the American Express Company had exploited the French during the war, and had, in short, too much money anyway. The jury returned its verdict in five minutes with the admonition that the culprit pay back the money when he could.

Outlandishly illegal as this must seem, it probably met with the approbation of most Parisians, whose indulgent sense of humor seems to be able to outweigh their respect for immutable precedent. American judiciaries would stand aghast at such frank forgiveness on the part of a court, while at the same time striving earnestly to attain a similar end through a more circuitous and more conventional device. Such methods, they would be sure, would undermine completely the power and efficacy of the courts; yet we wait without much apprehension for a crime wave to follow the French decision.

First Issue of Lit Abounds in New Features

BY F. D. C.

The Lit opens its new year with an entirely new makeup and an evident internal regeneration. The cover, by Muriel Leitzell, representing a peaceful lake at twilight, scarcely prepares the reader for the magazine's cataclysmic contents.

Most of the poems are in free verse, so free as to approach irresponsibility. Among these may be noted Passing By, by Leon Herald, and Six Essays in Sentiment, by Carl Rakosi. Prose unintelligibility is represented by Me and On the Planes, by Margery Latimer, and Bue Curtains, which are apparently letters from someone to someone else.

Two good stories, Cloth, by Harriet T. Haydon, and Against the Forest, by Catherine Meyer—also a charming verse, Ce que c'est, by E. Louise Smith—scarcely suffice to relieve the general tone of cosmic obscurity. Zona Gale's much-heralded article turns out to be a half-page didactic reprint.

Perhaps the best features in the magazine are the book reviews and the editorials. From the latter we learn that the mission of the Lit is "to publish the surprisingly excellent work that is being done here." After what has already been said it will probably be superfluous to remark that the work referred to appears to be a good deal more surprising than excellent.

INTERCOLLEGiate CLUB TO BANQUET THURSDAY

Intercollegiate club will have its semi-annual banquet October 11 at six o'clock in Lathrop parlors. All new and old transfer girls are invited to come. The purpose of the meeting is to give new girls an idea of all campus work.

Lois Jacobs, president of S. G. A., Marian Metcalf, president of Y. W. C. A., Esther Bilstad, president of W. A. A., will each talk for a few minutes, telling the girls of their respective activities. Dean F. Louise Nardin and Mary Anderson will make short addresses telling the girls of fields of activities into which they may go.

Dinner will be served for 50 cents, and all girls from other schools here for the first time are urged to attend, and get acquainted with the school and the people in it.

NEW BOOK BY PROF.
LEITH IS COMPLETED

The structures in soft rocks, the strength, density and volume changes of the rocks, the structural conditions in the interior of the earth, and field methods, are some of the new features which have been incorporated in the new edition of "Structural Geology" by Prof. C. K. Leith, chairman of the Geology department.

This edition is greatly revised and enlarged and an attempt has been made to cover the whole field of structural geology including its later development. It is being published by Henry Holt and company and is now being used by students in the department.

The first edition of "Structural Geology" was published in 1913 and was less than half the size of present one.

70 EMPLOYED BY HALLS, COMMONS

More Women Than Men Work in Kitchens and Dining Rooms

More than 70 men and women students are being employed as waiters, kitchen mechanics, cashiers, laundry assistants and caterers by the department of halls and commons this year. This is the largest number of student helpers that has ever been employed by the commons, Miss Mabel C. Little, director of the department of halls and commons states.

Of the total number approximately 46 are women students. They serve as waitresses in dormitories, in the serveries and in the bell rooms. Those who work in the dining rooms and serveries receive their meals for their services, while the bellroom girls are paid by the hour.

The men, who number about 27, are busied at a variety of odd jobs. One man is employed to fold towels in the student laundry. About half a dozen are stationed behind the steam tables in the cafeteria at meal times. Some assist with preparing vegetables and checking the food when it comes to the kitchen. Still others do dishwashing, trucking and clearing tables.

When caterers are wanted to serve at dinners or banquets given by university organizations, these men are called upon. The head waiter keeps a list of these men and they are paid a certain rate for each function at which they serve.

A large number of jobs are paid for in cash and others at the rate of one meal for each hour of service. Most of the students are employed three or four hours a day.

A list of students desiring work is kept on file in the office of the department of halls and commons. Requests for work far exceed the number of jobs at present, but these will be filled as soon as vacancies occur, Miss Little says.

NOTICES FOR BULLETIN MUST BE SENT EARLY

Notices of meetings and lectures should be sent to the office of the dean of men, 22 South Hall, by Thursday of the preceding week in order to appear in the weekly bulletin published by the dean's office.

The dean's office often does not learn of a meeting until the day before it takes place, and consequently cannot announce it in the bulletin.

The bulletin, in order to be effective, should contain announcements of all meetings of interest to students. These bulletins are posted in 60 locations in university buildings and in 20 locations in public places around Madison.

A STORY FOR FRESHMEN

Old Wisconsin students know it well

FOUNDED 10 years ago to serve Wisconsin students, The Toggery Shop has grown by leaps and bounds from a very small store to the large modern establishment pictured above.

EVER since the store was first opened its one thought has been to provide those things which Wisconsin students needed and wanted. It has always been the students themselves who determined what merchandise The Toggery Shop should carry and what price it should charge for its service.

THE result of this unusual merchandising ideal has been extremely gratifying. The decided preference which university men have voluntarily expressed for Toggery Shop Clothes and Furnishings has made this store "The Store for University Men" in reality.

MOST of our older friends in the student body have been in already to talk over old times and to renew friendships. TODAY, however, we extend a cordial invitation to you—Wisconsin's newest sons—to come in and get acquainted.

LOCAL HISTORIANS MEET IN EUROPE

University is Well Represented at International Congress in Brussels

The University of Wisconsin was better represented than any other institution at the International Congress of Historians at Brussels this summer, according to Professor Carl Russell Fish of the history department, who has returned from a trip to England and the continent.

"No institution had so many representatives nor had so many papers presented as the University of Wisconsin," said Professor Fish.

Of the twelve American historians present, three were from this state; Professor Knaplund, Professor Restevetoff, and Professor Fish, all of whom met in Brussels by accident. Professor Fish spoke warmly of European hospitality:

"You see," he remarked, "although the society has met regularly every two years except during the war, it never has met in the United States because European historians could not then afford to attend. Their hospitality is thus somewhat embarrassing to Americans, since we have not the opportunity of returning it."

All three of the Wisconsin professors presented papers before the society. Professor Knaplund spoke on "Gladstone's Ideals of Colonial Policy;" Professor Restevetoff on "The Economic Crisis of the Roman Empire in the Third Century;" and Professor Fish's subject was "European Expansion in the Nineteenth Century."

"The expansion of Europe outside of its own boundaries has been studied only in America, not in Europe itself," continued Professor Fish. "My aim was to interest European historians in the importance of American history to Europe."
