PRICE 5 CENTS

1924 BADGERS WILL BE READY ABOUT MAY 25

Year Book is Sent to Press

The 1924 Badger is now on the press and will be ready for distribution on or about May 25th, according to Gamber F. Tegtmeyer, editor-in-chief.

Among the many interesting details as to make-up of this year's book is the cover design. It has been planned with the idea of making it standard, to be used on every Badger of the future. The annuals of Illinois and Michigan use the same cover design every year, the similarity making it possible to recognize the familiar cover at once. The cover is to be made of Fabrik-cid, an imitation leather, of Lefant grain.

To Use Special Ink

A better registering effect of the illustrations will be possible by the use of a special duo-tone ink, which brings out the high lights more clearly.

Twenty organizations will be represented this year which have not appeared before. Church groups make up one-half the newcomers, and new fraternities and clubs complete the list.

Approximately 4,300 Badgers will be printed, although only 4,100 students have subscribed. The additional run is being made to supply the demand of those who have recently enrolled and others who have not yet subscribed but desire to do so.

Job Is Immense

An idea of the immensity of the job can be obtained from the fact that one entire freight car was necessary to bring the paper stock to Madison, and two large trucks, with six men working was required to haul it to the printer.

A new press costing $6,000 was purchased by the Cantwell Printing company in order that the high grade of work desired in the Badger could be accomplished.

NOMINEES MUST FILE PETITIONS WITH GOODNIGHT

Students who wish to run for office in the spring election are reminded by Harold A. Seering '24, chairman of the senate elections committee, that but little time remains for the filing of petitions. All petitions must be presented at the office of the dean of men before 10 o'clock Friday, April 20.

"Delay this week may result in the petitions being thrown out," Seering said. "The rule will be adhered to strictly, and no attention will be paid to those that do not meet the requirements."

Eligibility slips, which may be secured at the time petitions are filed, must be presented to the elections committee with all matter for publication in The Cardinal. Announcements and summaries will be published in the order they are received after they are approved by the committee. Nothing will be published after April 24.

Forest Products Men Go to National Meet in Chicago

G. M. Hunt and F. L. Browne, section of wood preservation, and Arthur T. Upson, section of industrial investigations, Forest Products laboratory, are in Chicago to attend the meetings of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers. Mr. Upson will speak on the dimension stock and hardwood lumber grading work, and Mr. Hunt and Mr. Browne will give addresses on the wood finishing work being done by the laboratory.

THETA SIGMA PHI ELECTS Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary and professional journalistic fraternity, announces the election of Ethel N. Shreffler '24.

TICKET SUPPLY FOR THE BALL IS VERY LIMITED

A limited number of tickets for the Military ball has been reserved for members of the cadet corps, according to Louis B. Rutte '24 chairman of the ticket sale. These tickets will be held until 9 o'clock tonight, when they will be placed on public sale.

Tickets are always on sale at A. E. Smith's music store, Morgan's, and the University pharmacy.

Rutte is anxious that fraternities and other groups who have not yet sent in their orders should phone them to him at once at B. 7244, especially between 1 and 9 o'clock today.

Ticket sales are going stronger than ever, due no doubt to the fact that the use of the Capitol may in the future be denied for the prom and ball," said Rutte last night.

WEYKER HEADS ANNUAL MEET

Agric Triangle Man to Lead Dane County Field Meet

Clem Weyker '25, vice-president of Agric Triangle, has been selected by a committee of Dane county school teachers and health officials to head the annual field day to be held by the school children of Dane County at Vilas Park, June 1.

The event is an occasion of track and field events held under the auspices of the Dane county public health department and the public school organization at which the numerous schools of the county compete for championship honors. The purpose of the event, according to officials in charge, is to develop health and love of wholesome play in the boys and girls of the country schools.

Decide County Champs

Elimination contests are held in each township early in the season to decide the champions in the various track and field events. The survivors of the local play days come to Madison to participate in the finals. A banner is awarded to the section of the county which wins the greatest number of points in the events.

Fifteen townships have already signified their intention of participation in the local play days. The play days are to be conducted under the supervision of representatives of Agric Triangle cooperating with Miss Clara Habernicht, supervising teacher of Western Dane County.

Details Will Be Discussed

Details of the play days will be discussed at the regular meeting of Agric Triangle, in the S. G. A. room of Lathrop hall at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. The discussions will be lead by Clem Weyker '25, T. B. Manny, grad. Lippert Ellis '23, and Miss Clara Habernicht.

From two to five members of the Agric Triangle and the Euthenics club will be sent to each of the townships play days.

All members of Agric Triangle and the Euthenics club are requested to be present at the meeting, tomorrow morning in order to sign for the play days in the different districts.

Play day centers that have already been announced include: Town of Perry, April 27; Verona, May 1; Town of Madison, Monona Park, May 8; Town of Madison, Nakoma, May 9; Springfield, May 10; Fish Hatchery, May 11; Oregon May 12; Blue Mounds, May 15; Roxbury, May 17; Montrose, May 18; Dane, May 23; Cross Plains, May 24; Black Earth, May 25; Final round up, Villas Park, June 1.

Professor Jastrow's Wife Critically Ill at New York

Mrs. Joseph Jastrow, wife of Professor Jastrow, head of the psychology department, is in New York preparatory to submitting to an operation for goitre. At present she is critically ill at the home of her sister in New York City. Professor Jastrow and his small son, left day before yesterday to visit her.

FOURTH ANNUAL JAMBOREE WILL OCCUR TONIGHT

Masquerade Frolic Begins at 8:30

The "Greenwich Village" masquerade party of the university year, the fourth annual Varsity Jamboree, will open officially with the grand march at 8:30 tonight in Lathrop gymnasium.

Last year's attendance of approximately 1,200 may be eclipsed by the masked event tonight, conducted under the auspices of the student senate, Oscar E. Kiessling '23, general chairman, in a pre-party statement said last night and lauded the work of the committees and extended a cordial invitation to the student body to participate in the Jamboree event.

Refreshments Served

Refreshments will be served by the University Commons in the S. G. A. rooms where additional tables have been engaged to accommodate the dancers.

"For the first time, refreshments will be served at cost by the university officials themselves," Kiesling further stated.

Programs will be given at the door. Blue programs have been provided for women and brown ones for the men.

The chaperons are Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Potter and Major and Mrs. John Wood. Who will lead the grand march is to remain a surprise, according to present plans. It is hinted that a prominent football star may lead the costumed march.

Announcements of the prizes and stunts are to be made by Bill Fredericks '23.

To Publish Sheet

Press club's surprise stunt, billed at 10:30 o'clock, has been shrouded with considerable mystery. "Scandal" is promised in a novel metropolitan-like newspaper "extra" which will be published by the journalists and sold for two cents a copy by attractive news girls costumed in a striking manner.

A variety of prizes, the total value of which is estimated at $125, will be awarded to the winning dancers. Three cups will also be awarded for the best stunt, the best costumed men's group and the best costumed women's group. Announcements will be made at 9:30 o'clock by Bill Fredericks.

Many Prizes Awarded

Merchandise prizes will be awarded for the best fox trot, the

OTIS SKINNER IS HERE TODAY

Mr. Otis Skinner, who is presenting "Mr. Antonio" at the Parkway today will arrive at noon from Chicago. After his evening performance at 11 o'clock Mr. Skinner will be entertained by a banquet at the Garden Grill given by the Haresfoot Dramatic club of which Mr. Skinner is an honorary member.

Walter A. Frautschi '24, publicity manager of the club is planning to make the banquet a social time for Haresfoot members and members of the cast of "Kikmi," as well as an opportunity to meet their distinguished guest. Events of the "Kikmi" tour, and financial results will be given.

Alumni members from Milwaukee, Chicago and Madison will be present to meet the actor and discuss Haresfoot work.

Condition Exams For First Semester to Be Held Today

Examinations for the removal of conditions incurred during the first semester of the year will be given this afternoon to approximately 400 students. Only those who have made previous application to take such examinations will be allowed to do so. Those neglecting to take the examinations in "conned" subjects will receive failures. For the convenience of students, schedules are posted in Bascom hall and also

CONCERT HERE BY GALLI-CURCI SEEMS CERTAIN

Although the tabulation of receipts from the sale of tickets for the Galli-Curci concert on May 21 has not been completed, it is reasonably certain that the $5,000 required to bring the famous artist here, will be reached today.

Prof. Charles Mills, of the School of Music, who is promoting the concert, said last evening, "If the response tomorrow is as good as that of today, the concert is an assured thing."

The concert will be held in the Stock pavilion and a crowd of 3,700 can be accommodated.

Student support for the concert is shown by the fact that all the $1 tickets for students have been sold. No forecast was possible last night on the percentage of other tickets sold.

SMITH GOES TO SPAIN MEETING

Professor Will Attend Fourth International Good Roads Congress

Prof. Leonard S. Smith, professor of highway engineering and city planning at the university, will leave Madison Monday for Seville, Spain to attend the fourth International Good Roads congress to be held from May 7 to 17.

Professor Smith will read a paper on "The Relation of Modern Traffic to the Planning of Streets." A group of 200 engineers from the United States are planning to attend the congress. They will leave New York for Seville in a chartered ed boat.

The meeting, the biggest engineering event in Europe, will be attended by 2,000 European engineers. To encourage attendance, the French and Italian governments are extending half fare rates to all those who desire to attend.

A number of papers on vital problems relating to highway engineering will be read and discussed. The meetings will be conducted in three languages, Spanish, French and English. Newspapers will have interpreters at each of the meetings, and translators will be present at the discussions to translate into any language.

Professor Smith is, so far as he is aware, the only delegate from Wisconsin. He will not return to Madison until about July 1, as he expects to make a survey of highway conditions in Italy, France, Spain, Norway and Sweden after the road congress is adjourned.

THETA SIG CHOOSES

HEADS FOR NEXT YEAR

Marjorie Capron '24 was elected president of Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary and professional journalistic fraternity at the meeting held Thursday evening.

The other new officers are: Anna Stoffregen '24, vice-president; Frances Warren '24, secretary; Margaret Callsen '24, treasurer; and Dorothy Reichert '24, archive keeper.

Marjorie Capron will also be the official delegate to the national convention of the fraternity which is to be held in Norman, Oklahoma, April 26 to 28. Marjorie Ruff '23, Mary James '23, Dorothy Bowby '23 and Mrs. Ruby Black Little will also attend the convention from Beta chapter.

Lake Mendota Dangerous As Ice Breaks Up Slowly

The ice in Lake Mendota moved a little today and begins to show signs of breaking up according to "Cap" Isabel.

"If the weather continues to be favorable the ice ought to be out in three or four days," the captain says.

Warning is given to all students to keep off the lake with canoes. There are open stretches of water in places over the lake and should an accident occur to anyone canoeing in one of these stretches it would be almost impossible to effect a rescue.

PETITION SIGNED BY 926 CADETS ASKS FOR DRILL

Hearing at Capitol is Fiery

The presentation of a petition signed by 926 student members of the University of Wisconsin Reserve Officers Training Corps, asking that compulsory military training be continued, was the surprise feature of a joint hearing conducted yesterday afternoon by the assembly committee on education and the senate committee on education and public welfare on bill No. 185 for optional drill.

President Birge made a lengthy address to the legislators, explaining the history of the military department and how compulsory training happened to be adopted by the university.

Session Is Heated

The session, which was held in room 314, northwest pavilion of the capital, opening at 2 o'clock, was one of the most spectacular and fiery hearings attended by student representatives during the present legislative year.

Assemblyman Herman W. Sachtjen, Madison lawyer, was the first speaker.

Sachtjen's talk was devoted to a recital of how military training "injured" him when he attended the university as a "poor farm boy" in 1905. The legislator told how he was forced by financial necessity to walk from a farm five miles from Madison to school each morning, how he had to walk back to the farm at noon for lunch, and then walk another five miles from the farm to Madison in order to attend drill at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

No charge was made of inefficiency of the present military department.

Urge Optional Drill.

"I see no reason why the compulsory training should be continued," Sachtjen declared emphatically.

Assemblyman A. B. Blomberg, Price, was the next speaker who urged that drill be made optional.

Blomberg, who is an ex-service man, charged that military training instills militarism into the minds of the young students.

Following Blomberg was Assemblyman John Peltier, Door.

Peltier Urges Manual Work.

"DAD" WOLF TO BEGIN TALKS ON ORIGIN OF SECTS

A new series of discussion will be introduced at the Y Sunday when Frederick E. Wolf will give his first talk on the origin of the modern denominations or sects of Christianity.

"My purpose in these discussions is to give the historical setting and explanation for each sect and to point out what is vital in each type of Christianity and therefore valuable for the future," announced Mr. Wolf yesterday.

"Most students from foreign countries are confused by the many divisions into which Christianity has been divided. These discussions will help to clarify the situations.

The schedule is as follows:

April 15 The Ana-Baptist and the Baptist movement.

April 22 The Congregational church.

April 29 The Wesleys and Methodist church.

May 6 The Presbyterian church.

May 13 The Episcopalian church.

WEATHER: RAIN.

Unsettled weather is predicted for today with showers by afternoon or night. Fair and rising temperature is the forecast for tomorrow.

best costumed couple, the most comical couple, the best individual woman's costume, best individual men's costume, best clowns, most original and clever costume, most handsome man and the most beautiful woman.

Judges will be Major John Wood, Miss Ruth Garwood and Dr. J. C. Elsom.

Costumes are still available at the Lathrop parlors this afternoon. A professional costumer has been engaged to supply students with novel costumes, oriental, Spanish, bandits and others of striking character.

Thompson To Play
Jazzy syncopation for the masked dancers will be furnished by a special eight-piece Thompson's orchestra, directed by Bill Thompson '23. Negotiations to obtain a leading Milwaukee orchestra failed, although a guarantee had been made with the local musicians to play for the gala social event tonight.

The price has been fixed at 50 cents, in following with the precedent established by the student senate to reduce the cost of the only costumed party of the varsity year to a minimum.

"It is a party for the students," Kiessling declared as the slogan of the committees for the affair.

Kansas City Man is Chosen Captain of Yale Basketmen

John H. Haas '24, of Kansas City, Mo., was elected captain of the Yale basketball team at the annual banquet recently.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

BASEBALL TEAM TO MEET BELOIT NEXT TUESDAY

Team Returns From South

With a baseball team somewhat crippled from the hard spring training session in the south, Coach Lowman has started home to be ready with his squad to meet the Beloit team here Tuesday.

The loss of several games to the southern teams can be laid to many sources, the greatest of which was the injury to three men early in the trip. Ellison, Becker and Aschenbrenner were all hurt during the first few games and the team was weakened by the loss of these men. Aschenbrenner and Becker are both catchers who have been doing the greater part of the receiving during the spring practice.

Lowman is Hopeful

While the results of the games played during the spring trip are somewhat disheartening, Coach Lowman still has bright prospects for the spring season.

"I still have great hopes for a good team for the season," he said in a letter which was received at the gym from Alabama recently. "My men are working well and the scores we are making now are no criterion of the strength of the team."

Indoor Work at Fault

The fact that the men had only a short time to work before leaving for the south, and that they had to work indoors, partly accounts for the mediocre work and the many injuries which have been suffered. In every game, the Badgers worked against seas teams and pitchers who are already in top form, while the Wisconsin men will not hit their stride for some time yet.

If weather conditions permit Beloit will be met here on Tuesday afternoon in the first home game of the season. With a team fresh from a long training trip in the south, Lowman should show the down-staters some good baseball.

STUDENTS HOLD LEADING ROLES IN LARGE CAST

University students will take the two leading parts and many of the minor roles in the production of Percy Mackaye's "Jeanne d'Arc" at the Parkway theater next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, under the direction of Father McDermott. Evansville. Bernadine Flynn '26, will take the part of Jeanne, and Joseph Zellner will appear as d'Alencen. The cast includes 150 people.

The production is one of the most elaborate of its kind ever attempted in this city. The scenery has been especially constructed by the Pitz and Carson studios in Chicago. Many novel lighting effects will be used. The scene where Jeanne is burned at the stake is said to be particularly impressive.

The play is being given for the benefit of the Madison Catholic Women's club to assist them in raising money for a club house.

Iowa University Athletes Awarded Their Numerals

V. C. Shuttleworth one of the halves on the 1922 Hawkeye team, has been secured as assistant coach at the University of Iowa. Spring football started there a week ago yesterday. The board of control of athletics at Iowa has awarded 26 first and secondary letters to university athletes and has given numerals to 21 freshmen.

Northwestern Has 30 Men Out For Spring Football

About thirty candidates answered the first call for spring football at Northwestern university a week ago last Wednesday. The squad were put through a two hour drill in falling on the ball and passing. Scrimmage will begin in a few days.

AMERICA TO GET 1932 OLYMPICS

Los Angeles has been awarded the Olympic games for 1932 by the national Olympic committee. This is the first available date for the United States, because Paris has them for 1924 and Amsterdam for 1928.

William May Garland extended the invitation, saying: "The United States thinks she has a right to the next available games because we are one of the great athletic countries of the world."

"We have built a gigantic stadium at Los Angeles, capable of seating 75,000 people, and we can assure all the facilities worthy of a great athletic event like the Olympics."

There was no discussion after Mr. Garland's address, the committee voting unanimously to accept the invitation.

"In extending to the committee an invitation to come to Los Angeles, I extend it in behalf of the United States. The welcome of the entire country is contained in this invitation and we promise you the greatest hospitality ever witnessed at any Olympic."

COUNTRY MAG HAS LONG LIST OF SUBSCRIBERS

Thirteen counties of Wisconsin and six other states are represented on the staff of the Country Magazine published by students in the College of Agriculture. The "Mag" as it is best known, is now in its sixteenth year and boasts of subscribers in nearly every state in the union and several in foreign countries.

The magazine is a student project from start to finish. Students gather the material which deals with agriculture in all of its phases. The experience gained in this work assists in promoting agricultural leadership.

The counties represented on the staff are Marathon, Clark, Pepin, Trempealeau, La Fayette, Dane, Columbia, Jefferson, Calumet, Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Waupaca and Wood; the states represented are Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, South Dakota, North Dakota and Montana.

Werner P. Meyer, the editor-in-chief, is from Milwaukee. Maynard Brown, managing editor comes from Great Falls, Montana. The art editor, F. J. Tolford, is from Clark county, and H. A. Allison, alumni editor, from Pepin county.

Other members of the editorial staff are J. C. Read, Porter, Ind.; E. H. Rohrbeck, Columbia; Harold Wicker, Marathon; Gerald Jenny, Marathon; Roger Matteson, Chicago, Ill.; H. C. Schaefer, Calumet; and H. L. Goss, Naperville, Ill.

Mrs. T. K. Whitehead, the Home Economics editor, is from Kansas. Hazel Goddard of Dane county is the Home Economics alumni editor. Associate editors in Home Economics are Alice Bullock, Dane county, and Charlotte Wyard, Fargo, North Dakota.

Gordon Hamley, the business manager is from Fond du Lac. The assistant business manager is Ellsworth Bruce of Milwaukee. Harriet Lewis, Fargo, North Dakota, is circulation manager.

CLEF CLUB WILL HOLD SPRING CONCERT SOON

Clef club's annual open program is to be given Friday, April 27 in Music hall according to the announcement by Janet Breitenbach '23, president of the organization, yesterday.

The program will consist of a variety of numbers including trios, quartettes, duets, vocal solos, and instrumental numbers by the members of the organization. Irma Duncan '23 is in charge of the program.

Tickets will be free and may be obtained from any member of the club at the door that evening, or at Smith's Music store or Hook's music store.

Clef club's membership is made up of women students who are selected for their outstanding musical ability on the basis of competitive tryouts held twice a year.

The complete program will be announced in a later Cardinal.

BEGIN TRAINING INTER-COLLEGE MATMEN SOON

Football Linemen Get Workouts

Beginning next week the inter-college grapplers will begin working out in preparation for the selection of the inter-college champions. Several men have been selected by Coach George Hitchcock to train candidates from the different schools and to captain the respective teams. The coach is selecting men who are proficient in the sport and is giving them complete charge of the work, so that they will become accustomed to such work.

The meets will be run off after the fashion of the Big Ten dual meets. Benbow will captain and train the men from the L and S, commerce, and Law schools. Morrow and Brackett will handle the Engineers, while Gregor will sponsor and captain the agric team.

Linemen Workout

The coach is also conducting workouts for the line men of the football squad. This is in accordance with the policy of Coach Jack Ryan, and the realization of coaches throughout the country that wrestling training is highly beneficial to football men.

There are only a few of the squad out as yet, but Coach Hitchcock expects a large turnout within the week. He is giving them work in bridging and exercise to build up the shoulders and arms. A great deal of the work consists of the Graeco-Roman style. This style is helpful to the linemen in that it improves their stance in the line and trains them to keep their feet, overthrow their opponents, and get the man with the ball in the least possible time.

To Elect New Captain

In the estimation of Coach Hitchcock wrestling is definitely beneficial in that it builds up shoulders, neck and arms. It also helps football men to keep their feet in the inevitable tangle of a hard scrimmage, as well as to think under great pressure and even injury.

The captain of next year's team will be elected at the close of the inter-college meet, according to the coach.

STUDENTS HOLD WORLD TOURS IN MUSIC HALL

A "trip around the world for students will be held at Music hall April 28. Music hall will be converted into a series of rooms representing foreign countries. These rooms will be in charge of the foreign students from their respective countries.

The Chinese students will have a special exhibit direct from China. The Philipine students are trying to arrange to obtain their exhibit from Washington, D. C. South America will be represented by an exhibition. Students as Cook guides will conduct groups of from 20 to 40 students.

Natives of the countries will give talks based on the most accurate information from home. Manufactured articles and works of art will be on exhibit in the rooms. Graphs and charts of educational and political conditions of the countries are being prepared.

After the tours a special novelty program will be presented. The money made at this meeting will be used to establish a fund for foreign students.

"While this is the first attempt of a world tour in the university, it is hoped that it will develop into an annual affair," stated "Dad" Wolf of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday.

Questionnaire Shows That Basketball Changes Are O. K.

High school officials and coaches throughout the Missouri valley believe that the change in basketball rules has made the game materially better according to answers to a questionnaire sent out by Z. G. Clevenger, athletic director of Missouri University and member of the national rules committee. The answers were presented to the National rules committee April 10.

BASEBALL MEN LOSE AGAIN, 3-1

Wisconsin again met defeat on the baseball diamond yesterday when the team emerged from a bitter battle with Mississippi college at the short end of a 3 to 1 score. The southern trip was not as successful as might be desired, but the games were all against seasoned teams who are already in mid-season form. The team is now on its way home for the contest with Beloit here next Tuesday.

GOPHER PREXY ONCE COACHED

Brought Track Victory to Indiana High School

(Special to The Cardinal)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 11.—Louis D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, used to be a coach of athletics.

Athletic authorities at the university and at Minnesota high schools were treated to a surprise last week when Prexy Coffman, speaking at the banquet for teams in the State High School Basketball tournament told how for seven years, when he was principal of a high school in southern Indiana, he helped direct the football, track, and baseball teams.

Incidentally, he brought the track fans to their feet with his description of the way a rangy Hoosier boy trained for the mile run, which his high school had to win in order to figure in an Indiana interscholastic meet.

"Our only chance" said Prexy, "was a tall, incredibly thin boy who lived on a farm about four miles from town. His name was John. With his sister, he drove to and from school daily in a rattletrap of an old buggy. I thought I saw speed in him but he had no time to practice. He had to leave school as soon as classes were dismissed so that he might reach home to do the chores. I sought the sister's advice.

"You just leave that to me," she said, was President Coffman's description. "I'll train him."

NETMEN CALLED AS NEW SEASON OPENS MONDAY

Wisconsin Prospects Good

Tennis men should be out for practice the first part of next week according to Coach Linden. The courts are now in shape, the coach states, and the call for varsity material will be made Monday or Tuesday.

Wisconsin has excellent prospects for a championship tennis team this year. Captain Tredwell is back, with Moulding and Hastings, both last year's men. Aagesen, Bennett, and Henika, all of whom have made great showings in the past, will also be available.

The schedule which has been arranged shows some strong teams lined up for the Badger net men. The first match will be with Iowa, on April 28. Fans will have a chance at that time to see Hector Janse, star basketball forward, in action with a racket instead of a ball. Ted Swenson is another one of Coach Schraeder's men who will help to give the Cardinal team a run for their money.

In addition to the regular schedule, which includes Minnesota, Chicago, Northwestern, and Michigan, Coach Linden is planning all-university and inter-class tournaments to start within the next two weeks. The conference tournament will be held in Chicago May 24, 25, and 26.

"And she did. When they started to school, John put on his running shoes, his sister goaded the old horse to his full speed, and in they came to town. John panting after the buggy. Homeward bound, it was the same story.

"Finally came the day for the meet. 'John,' I said, 'how fast can you run the mile?' 'why,' was his reply, 'I'm sure I can't say. I never ran anything under four miles in my life.'

"Well," I said, "you go in and show them how it ought to be done."

NIGHT EDITOR—FRED GUSTORF

THE OUNCE

There comes the time each year when the first year class and the new students of the university must hear and heed the age-old cry of warning against Lake Mendota and its death dealing capacities. With canoes already bobbing in the few open spaces near the shore, that time is at hand.

Only the annual tragedies of the few years past need be rehearsed to demonstrate that the Mendota danger is no myth. And that danger exists this spring as it existed when Mendota claimed its students victims.

Cap Isabel, tender of the life-saving apparatus for years, will back up the statement that the greatest danger in boating exists when the water is cold. Most of the lake drownings have occurred not as the result of swimming inability but as the result of exhaustion in icy water. Rescue attempts, no matter how efficient, are powerless against the numbing force of cold water.

As the ice breaks up and balmy air floats down over Madison, students will get the old-time itch to grab paddle and companion and rush to the lake for an excursion and exercise. But whoa! DANGER! Such itchings when executed before have caused sorrow.

Three things are essential to a "no-drowning season" and should be faithfully attended by the people who may drown and the people who prevent drowning.

First, the boating season should be officially delayed until the temperature of the water warrants navigation. Cap Isabel should prohibit craft from taking the water until the opening date is settled.

Second, the student has a personal and moral obligation to learn and learn thoroughly the manner of handling a canoe before risking his own or a companion's life.

Third, the university life-saving station and system should undergo a complete overhauling to put apparatus and men in perfect condition for service before the ice disappears.

The Cardinal is interested in the ounce of prevention and not in the banner headlines that tell the tale of death and the pound of editorials and investigations that bewail, insinuate, but do not cure.

FADS AND OUR FATE
Perception of a little psychology seems to go a long way for those business men engaged in the gentle art of fooling the people into buying the "latest things out". Free advertising is accomplished if it is only observed into what new story the newspapers are stuffing the most publicity.

The government patent office at Washington reports a veritable flood of applications for trademarks bearing the name of "King Tut", especially in lines of wearing apparel for women.

Nothing new, of course. We already have seen how "radio boots" and "radio bars" immediately followed the beginning of the radio craze.

The possibilities of the idea are almost unlimited. It is now in order for some enterprising popular song writer to come forth with the "Fever-Girl Blues", or why not some "Fifty-Hour Dance Shoes," guaranteed to keep you light and comfortable during a continuous dance of fifty hours,—the kind worn exclusively by the New York girl who completely tires out seven male partners and still keeps on dancing?

We must be modern at all costs, it seems. But in having our up-to-dateness thrust bodily upon us, we begin to become acclimated to a state of affairs continually ephemeral and the persistent search and seizure of something new—fads—blanks what has gone before and we lose only too quickly an appreciation of improvement and a sense of good values.

POLITICAL FEUD AND FUN

Every day is "hello day" now. There must be some reason for it. There is.

In a few weeks the spring elections take place and in the meantime many votes must be corralled.

There are new friendships to be engendered and old enmities to be salved over.

Come to think of it there is something very socializing about elections. One never knew before how many are willing to shake one's hand, whisper something in one's ear, and invite one over to the little political meeting that is to be held in the evening. "Just a few of the student leaders to be there, you know. Of course we want you to be sure and come."

Along with the rumblings of political machinery there occur other interesting tendencies. Politicians, candidates, and their managers, are such friendly individuals that one just must enthuse over them. Everyone likes it even if he pretends not to. There is something nice about a smile and a handclasp even though one knows that at least part of the friendliness is for effect. And if politics are responsible for the smiles, the warm greetings, and the ever-ready cigarette, then politics are not so entirely bad after all.

There is something to be said in favor even of student politics. It does widen student acquaintance and teach something of the way school affairs are handled. It puts some good men in office and some that are not the best. But that always has happened and always will.

As long as the candidates do not indulge in mud slinging and as long as they are good winners or good losers this year's balloting is going to be a pleasant proposition. It should be. By way of conventional but always appropriate suggestion, we urge early that personal issues be avoided and that every candidate and his friends realize that the other ticket also is composed of excellent people and that at the next election those who are political foes now may be then the warmest of political friends.

It is all good fun for those who are not candidates and should be good fun for those who are. No office ever has been worth losing a friend or gaining an enemy. No office ever will be worth that.

Editors Say—

"WITH UNPREJUDICED EYES" (Christian Science Monitor)

A certain literary critic, in reviewing a novel of life in the middle western part of the United States, recently set down these lines: "At present we are in grave danger of being lost between the two schools—those who insist that to be truthful we must draw up to the surface everything wearisome and degrading in human beings, and those other writers who yearn to sentimentalize over them. We want someone to see clearly and with unprejudiced eyes."

The human being inclines toward extremes in all things. Few see a problem or a situation from more than one angle; those who possess such a gift wander alone through a wilderness. Remember Mark Sabre, in Mr. Hutchinson's novel; they thought him mad.

Watch, if you like, the conduct of the nations in these chaotic times. What evidence have we of any capacity for an unselfish or unprejudiced point of view? Observers of identical scenes give the lie to each other; figures are irreconcilable. The more we look on, the more keenly we recognize that the human outlook is usually biased. Is it any wonder that this condition should enter into literature?

Its presence there is in part due to the fact that many writers are too close to the subjects and scenes of their novels. Like Mr. Sinclair Lewis, perhaps they have suffered themselves from the lack of idealism on Main Street; hence their valiant efforts to expose its deplorable aspects in the hope that they may be bettered. Of course, each exaggerates and imagines that his view is the only true one and that all other writers are hypocrites.

The goal is a long distance ahead; but we can keep it in sight and, as it is approximated, there will be a lessening of conflicting views both regarding the situation in the Ruhr and the depiction of life on Main Street.

FATE, for one reason and another, has decided that I should greet your eager young faces, so full of corn flakes and anticipation, twice a week instead of once.

Herein I start burning my candle at both ends. May its light be the brighter therefor!

"STEWED," NOT AN OLD STUDENT

For the last week or so there has been a "professional" on the streets in the Latin quarters of the city who claims to be an old student of the Law school here, and, being out of luck, is preying on students here.

Today he was seen tackling the men students along the campus walks, between the Home Economics and Pep buildings. His line is as follows:

"Pardon me, you are a university student here? I used to go to the Law school here and have been travelling around a bit. I just got in town yesterday to see an old friend of mine. I have been unable to find him as yet and would like to know if I can get a quarter for coffee."

When one stands near him, he knows the money does not go for coffee but for moonshine. Are the students going to allow this "professional" to do his canvassing on the campus and work under the pretense of being an old student?

PETTY POLITICS

There exists on this campus a system of petty politics which should be recognized and resented by every student with a means in view whereby to eradicate it.

It is disgusting to think that university men and women are willing to stoop to such practices as vote-trading, log-rolling, and nominate-me-and-I-will-nominate-you. Recently, at a meeting of a representative board, two men, carefully worked a system whereby they grabbed off two important positions before the other members of the

FAIRHOPE SCHOOL HEAD SPEAKS ON EDUCATION

Marietta Johnson, head of the Fairhope school, Alabama, spoke Thursday night in Music hall on "An Educational Experiment", under the auspices of the Collegiate League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Johnson for the last 9 years has been conducting her school in Alabama, operating under the principles of education as advocated by John Dewey, professor of philosophy at Columbia.

"The purpose of education is to vitalize the present and minimize preparation for the future," the speaker said. "The child is eager to grow up and when grown he wishes that he were a child again. For this reason adults should study children."

POULTRY CLUB TO HOLD SHOW

Fourth Annual Egg Exhibit
Will Be Staged April
17 to 19

The Badger Poultry club, an organization of the poultry students of the College of Agriculture will hold their fourth annual egg show at Poultry hall from April 17 to 19 inclusive. Last year's show was 100 per cent bigger than the preceding one and from present indications this year's show will be much bigger than last year's.

Exhibitions must be received by Saturday noon. There will be six classes—experiment station class open to colleges of agriculture; commercial class open to any egg producer; demonstration class open to those farms that are under the supervision of Professor Hayes; high school class open to any student that is attending high school at the present time.

Other classes are student class open to any student attending the University at the present time, also any student who attended the last short course. Silver cups will be awarded in each class as first prizes and ribbons will be given for the other places.

The judges will be Professors Halpin, Hayes, and Reid, all at present associated with the Poultry department.

Eggs will be available Saturday morning for student exhibitors. There is no charge of admission.

Billings Gets Thtill Out Of His Last Dime

"MR. BILLINGS SPENDS HIS DIME"

Featuring Walter Hiers.
Presented at the Majestic.
Released through Paramount.

By CHATTY

Neither we nor the bellhop think much of a dime these days, but Mr. Billings (in real life, Mr. Hiers) certainly got enough thrills out of his last dime to last either us or the bellhop a half a life time.

Little thought Mr. Billings when he was fired from his clerkship and spent his last dime or a cigar named after his secret love that adventure and love would pursue him.

They did. And within the course of the usual seven reels the fat and romantic hero finds himself transported to a very unstable country named Sans Sauci, substituted for the august president of the aspiring republic in a revolution in which his life is melodramatically saved by his true love, the president's daughter, who got him in the predicament in the first place.

He emerges, still fat, safe, and happy, and is received into the heart and arms of his adored cigar lady, also the presidents daughter.

Thrilling? Sort of. But we weren't much impressed. Nor were we moved to try ours on a cigar. With our last dime we shall buy a hot dog and coffee.

LEGION BEGINS LONG PROGRAM OF ACTIVITIES

The American Legion started a program of school activities to last all of the remainder of the school year last night with a mixer at Lathrop hall. Prof. R. S. Owen, of the topographical engineering department, commander of the university post, is leading the work.

"Shorty" Walstead, '25, gave several songs and skits as the feature of the mixer. Music was furnished by the 9-piece Badger orchestra. Professor and Mrs. Owen, Mr. and Mrs. John Baker, and Professor and Mrs. E. M. Gilbert were the chaperones.

For Memorial day the legion plans to have a fitting program and bring some well known military man to give an address.

Birge Explains Land Grant Bill to University and Provisions

Peltier, who is 62 years old, declared:

"Instead of military training, men should be compelled to dig sewers and other manual labor in order to get them in physical condition and learn what real work is. I am 62 years of age," Peltier said, showing his rugged hands to the hearers, "and have never had a bit of military training."

The first student to speak was Thomas Amlie, law 3.

"The indoctrination of the military spirit into the minds of students" was deplored by Amlie who presented his reasons why military training was detrimental to students.

A woman, Mrs. Hoebel, closed the pro's discussion. She declared with firmness that the work of the military department was very efficiently cared for by the athletic department.

Only one hour was allowed for each side.

Birge Explains Land Bill.

President Birge opened the hour's discussion devoted to representatives again at the optional drill bill.

"I suppose that I will have to be classed with the opposition of this bill, although my purpose is to give only the history of the military department and how it came to be compulsory."

Birge then reviewed clearly the land grant bill and answered numerous questions about it. The land grant bill, which provides for compulsory military training here under federal supervision and support, was explained to the legislators.

Success Due To Training.

Assemblyman Charles B. Perry, Milwaukee, spoke next, stating that Sachjen's present success was due to the hardships inflicted upon him by the military department.

"I had several boys in the army overseas during the World war," Perry commented. "None of them are blood thirsty as the result. Military training is a good thing."

Rutte Explains Petition.

A captain in the student corps,

Louis B. Rutte '24, author of the student petition, explained how the petition happened to be started and the methods used to obtain signatures.

The petition was started two days ago, Rutte stated. A total of 926 students out of the approximate 1100 members enrolled in the corps signed the following, presented to the committee:

Believing that compulsory military training has for 60 years been most useful in training the country's citizenship at the University of Wisconsin; that the loss of this training would be injurious to the university, to the State, and to our nation; that compulsory training inflicts no hardship on the student since the requirement toward graduation would be replaced by another; that military training is essential for better citizenship, and develops bodily and mental coordination, obedience to authority; we, the undersigned, request that military training remain compulsory.

"I appeared before the military companies," Rutte informed the legislators, with the information which I have obtained from a high official of the military department and a coach of the athletic department to the effect that compulsory four hours of athletic training would be substituted for the compulsory military training if it should be abolished.

"We should hate to be students during the time when the military department failed. The department here has a tradition for 60 years. Action by the legislature abolishing training here would only besmirch the fine war record of Wisconsin."

Rutte repeated that statement that he did not coerce any student to sign the petition.

Leitz Also Speaks.

Frank Leitz, lieutenant colonel of the drill corps, spoke to discredit charges against military training. He answered Senator John E. Cashman's charge that students should spend their time in learning the constitution and the declaration of independence, with the statement:

"I can learn that in one hour. I challenge you to learn in two years what I have learned in the military department."

A freshman expressed his belief that the proposition was "sold" to the students. His views apparently impressed the committeemen. Report of the joint committee was not complete late last night, according to information obtained by The Cardinal.
