WOMEN'S PRESS FRAT CLOSES CONVO TODAY

Mrs. Margaret G. Stone of
New York is Elected
Grand President

Today is the closing day of Theta Sigma Phi national convention. The last business session will be held this morning. Miss Margaret H'Doubler's pupils in dancing will entertain the convention, and afterwards a luncheon will be given by Sigma Delta Chi, honorary men's journalistic fraternity, in the Capitol cafe. In the afternoon, delegates and visitors will enjoy an automobile ride about Madison.

The last affair of the convention will be the Press club musical comedy, "Pi-Pi," at 8 p. m. in the Woman's building, to which all members of Theta Sigma Phi receive a special invitation. This will be followed by a dance.

Alumnae day, the second day at the Theta Sigma Phi national convention of women journalists, had a fuller program than even the opening day. By noon, all the delegates had arrived, bringing the total number of delegates and visitors to sixty-two. Business discussions, talks by alumnae, and election of officers took up the greater part of the day. Installation of new officers and initiation of pledges preceded the banquet in the evening.

At the election of the Grand council, the following officers were chosen: Mrs. Margaret Garvin Stone, president; Sarah Spensely, vice-president; Harriet Daly, secretary; Opal Cannon, treasurer, and Mrs. Vernon R. Seeburger, editor of the Matrix.

The officers were installed in the afternoon and the pledges of Beta chapter were initiated by the retiring grand president. Afterwards a banquet for all delegates and visitors was given at the City Y. M. C. A. After-dinner speakers were Miss Zona Gale, Mrs. Stone, Opal Cannon, and Prof. W. G. Bleyer. Sarah Spensely acted as toastmistress.

Madison saw the first signs of the convention Wednesday night, April 18, when most of the delegates arrived. All trains were met, and delegates were placed in lodgings and sorority houses, by the members of the local chapter.

The real program began Thursday with an opening address by the grand president. Discussion of a biennial state rally, to alternate with the biennial national conventions, and celebration of Founders' day, served to bring the delegates together in a common interest. The reports from the chapters were detailed accounts of the activities engaged in and the progress made by the various women journalists over the country.

Lunch was served at the Kopper

VARSITY DELEGATES GO TO S. G. A. MEET

Wisconsin S. G. A. is represented at the Northwestern S. G. A. convention at Ann Arbor by Marie Bodden, next year's president, and Doris Simonson, the present vice-president, who left last night. Amy Jobse, retiring president, was unable to go on account of illness, so Miss Simonson took her place.

Only universities and colleges having a student government association are included in this convention.

Miss Bodden is commissioned by the local association to invite the convention to meet at Wisconsin next year.

LAW SHOP WILL PUBLISH MAG

Wisconsin Law Review Will Appear as Quarterly
Journal

The Wisconsin Law Review, a quarterly journal, will be published by a board of faculty editors, the first number appearing next October. Prof. W. H. Page is editor-in-chief, and H. S. Richards, H. L. Smith, E. H. Gilmore, O. S. Rundell, J. D. Wickham, of the Law school faculty are the editors.

The magazine will deal with questions of primary interest to the Wisconsin bar. Any legal problems whether concerning the Wisconsin law directly or not will, however, be treated. The circulation of the paper among alumnae and members of the bar will aid the bench and bar in solving Wisconsin problems. A field for original research work by the law students afforded by the review is intended to fill a long left need.

Leon Foley has been appointed student editor-in-chief. The student board includes seniors Kenneth Grubb, Francis Higson, Harry Robinson, Malcolm Whyte, and juniors, Roy Burmaster, Herman Salen, Clarence Soderberg, Joseph Trottman, and Kenneth White.

'BALLET BOOTH' PROMISES RARE TREAT TONIGHT

Specialty Dance Will be Interspersed With Feature
Acts

The first annual "Ballet-Booth" will be given by the Edwin Booth Dramatic society tonight at 9 o'clock in the Lathrop gym and concert room. The "Ballet-Booth" is a specialty dance, and is a well-worked-out combination of a dance, to Thompson's first eight, and a small, semi-dramatic, program of acts to be interspersed between dances. The dance will be informal.

The program as arranged will be of high caliber. "Jerry" Ochsner will be featured in some original interpretations of Mother Goose. Miss Ochsner is undoubtedly one of the most brilliant dancers ever graduated from the university, and since her graduation she has given several successful public exhibitions.

Second on the program is Willet Kempton, assisted by Don Marvin, in his "Ballet Tragique." This is probably the most finished parody on ballet dancing that has ever been presented here. The other two acts are a character presentation by Lee McCandless, and "Moonlight on the Piano," a musical sketch by "Winkie" Hall, Julia Van Aiken, and Arthur McCaffery.

Most of the tickets have been sold, but a few are still on sale at Morgan's and the University pharmacy. The cost is $1.50, including war tax.

CO-ED MEDIC CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Plans for having the women medical students act as advisors to the premedical students were discussed at the business meeting of the Woman's Medical association yesterday. It was also decided to have the last meeting of the year in the form of a picnic, to be held May 23.

The Woman's Medical association was founded last year, and now has a membership of about 60. Dorothy Ried is president and Margaret Craighill vice-president and secretary.

Woman Can Get Any- thing She Wants, Says Expert

Woman has an opportunity to go anywhere she wants to go and do anything she wants to do. All she has to do is make up her mind what she wants and then go after it. Man will get out of the way."

This is the way Lee A. White, editor of The Detroit News, sums up his opinion of the opportunity for women in politics, in business, and the other fields where women are entering.

"There is no doubt in my mind," he continued, "but what woman elevates the things she touches. Of course some of the pioneers in the new movements are bound to be a rather odd set, but these women gradually drop out and begin something else."

"In the early days of co-education as in the early days of equal suffrage it was the old, manish women who boldly asserted her rights. The queer ones may hinder new movements from becoming conventional but the right kind of woman can get anything she wants providing she wants it badly enough."

JUNIORS SPREAD CLASS DAY OVER WHOLE WEEKEND

Picnic, Dance and Play Will Feature Two-day Frolic of '21 Class

The junior class interests committee decided at a meeting yesterday noon that a junior day would not be of sufficient duration to stimulate class interest, so the idea of having an entire week-end devoted to class activities was carried, and the week-end of May 7 and 8 has been officially designated as "Junior Week-end."

The fireworks for the occasion are to start on Friday afternoon, May 7, when a class picnic will be held at Bernard's park across the lake. The picnic will start at 4:30 p. m., and will last until 7 or a little after. Tickets will be put on sale Monday and can be obtained for 50 cents in Main hall. Representatives will also be appointed in all fraternity and sorority houses to sell tickets.

Boats are to be arranged for to take the juniors across the lake. The boats will leave Park street at 4:30 and 5 o'clock.

Yellow tags bearing a '21 will be worn by every junior during junior week-end, and these tags will be sold for 10 cents apiece on Friday and Saturday, and every junior is expected to display his tag. The tags are also to be distributed through representatives in the houses.

Junior play on the night of May 8 is to conclude the festivities. Announcement of further plans will be made at a later date.

FACULTY MEN TO ATTEND NATIONAL PHARMACY MEET

Wisconsin will be represented at the 68th annual convention of the American Pharmaceutical Association, and the American Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties and the National Association of Pharmacy, to be held in Washington during the week of May 3, by Dr. Edward Kremers, director of the Course in Pharmacy, and Prof. W. O. Richtmann.

Dr. Kremers will present several papers before the scientific and historical sections of the Pharmaceutical association, and Professor Richtmann, who is chairman of the Historical section of the association, will speak on "The History of the Cultivation of Medicinal Plants in the United States."

BADGERS TRIM HOOSIERS BY 4 TO 1 SCORE

Play Indiana Again This Afternoon for Final Decision

By LAWRENCE E. MEYER

Wisconsin played clean-cut, snappy baseball to beat Indiana at Camp Randall Friday afternoon. The count was 4 to 1, and it evened up for a previous defeat. The same teams play at 2 o'clock this afternoon, their last meeting of the season.

"Al" Miller pitched winning ball throughout, and sparkling support kept him out of danger. The only fielding error was Falk's bad heave after a beautiful stop. Miller out-pitched "Kay" Kunkel, especially in the tight places, although Kunkel's mates failed to support him very well.

Coach Kent switched his lineup, sending Elliott to short-stop, and moving Farrington to the opposite side of second bag. The shift worked well, and Elliott's presence appeared to inject the necessary life and punch into Wisconsin's game, both offensively and defensively.

Elliott Swats Two

Elliott drove in two of Wisconsin's four runs, the first with a line drive to right field good for three bases, and the last with a healthy poke which handcuffed the second baseman. Farrington sent the other two runs home, driving a hot one through the third baseman with men on second and third. Zulfer bagged two singles, but was unable to turn them to account in the scoring.

Indiana's single tally came in the eighth, after Wisconsin had a four-run lead. Catcher Rauschenbach doubled to left field, his third hit in three trips to the plate. Rutorff followed with a hit to short center, sending the catcher home. A hit batsman advanced him, but Davey picked him off stealing third base.

MAT MEN WILL SCRAP FOR CLASS HONOR MEDALS

Wrestling Tournament Planned as Feature of Military Inspection Day

In connection with the military inspection of the university cadet corps, it is planned to hold the university wrestling tournament on or about May 15. Both Captain Woods and Coach Steinauer are trying to arrange for the holding of this tournament, in which the various champions of the university will be decided, according to each weight. Winners, it is planned will receive gold medals as awards, such as were given the boxing champs recently.

Although the season is well over, many of Coach Steinauer's men are still coming out for workouts, and the keeping in shape for this final indoor event. Last evening several of the varsity squad put on an exhibition at the Elks club at their annual initiation banquet. In this manner, and by a couple hours each week in the gym, they are keeping up training and also learning more of the game. It is not definitely known whether the varsity "W" men will be allowed to compete in the tournament, but if so, Weeks, Peterman, Schneider, and Culver, as well as Klass, Olson, Janisch, Mason, Prideaux, Mercer, Spanholtz, Pier, Dunbar, and Bieberstein will be the entrants, with perhaps several other candidates.

DELEGATES AT NATIONAL MEET OF THETA SIGMA PHI

VARSITY TENNIS TEAM WILL MEET
OKLAHOMA STARS

Southern Racket Wielders Here for Opening Tourney on Wednesday

The varsity tennis squad is getting into shape as rapidly as weather conditions will permit, and will be all set for the first match of the season next Wednesday, when the Oklahoma team comes here. The men from down south have been playing all season, and will undoubtedly be mighty hard competition. Owing to the great popularity of tennis this season, a big turnout is expected for the match and arrangements are being made to accommodate as many as possible on the sidelines.

The first rounds of the all-university tournament have almost been completed, and those entered are urged to play off their matches as early as possible. The finals were to have been played on May 1, but weather conditions have made this impossible. It is hoped to have the tournament completed by the end of the week.

At a recent meeting of the Athletic board, the following regulations in regard to tennis were enacted:

A "W" shall be awarded to a man who wins first or second place in single or doubles in a conference meet.

A "W" shall be awarded to a man who wins three matches in singles or doubles during a single season in dual meets against conference teams.

A "tWt" shall be awarded to a man who reaches semi-finals in a conference meet. A "tWt" shall be awarded to a man who wins two matches in singles or doubles in dual meets with conference teams. The winner of any of the awards stated above shall receive a white sweater, V-neck style with a cardinal band around the waist.

Reliable Spring Suits

Today, as never before, the purchase of a new suit must be looked upon as an investment and must be made with the same care that you would exercise in buying stocks or bonds.

You should be sure of what you are buying—that you are receiving full value—but above all you must be sure of the house with which you are dealing.

For years, Baillie-Headquist have been answering and studying the needs of young men for strong, serviceable suits. Our experience is offered you this spring; we will be glad to assist you when you choose your new light-weight suit.

THE AIMS OF THETA SIGMA PHI

HONORARY organizations are considered by many students as mere names, as something students attain and then as instruments on which these students rest their oars. The national convention of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalistic fraternity for women, of which Wisconsin has the second oldest chapter, is proving what a strong, live working body such an organization can be. One of the aims of the society is to encourage its members to continue their work in journalism and to further the cause of women in this field. "Making" Theta Sigma Phi does not mean living on one's laurels; it means rather harder work and more definite journalistic accomplishments.

The pin worn by Theta Sigma women is a gold line-o-type matrix. Many on the campus unacquainted with the intricacies of newspaper making do not recognize this emblem as a real piece of machinery. One student made the remark that he thought the pin was a castle or a high "M." The remark, while not correct, was not amiss. A castle is not too high a goal for the professional women's fraternity and the "M" might stand for many things.

The delegates who are attending the convention come from all over the United States. Texas, California, and New York do not think themselves too far away to spend the time to come to a meeting which gives so much help and so many practical suggestions. Women who are experienced as well as those who hope to be more experienced as time goes on are here with eager, open minds to meet the problems which an organization composed of people with the energetic spirit of female news-chasers has naturally to meet.

A fraternal competitive feeling is aroused among the 19 active chapters when they hear of the activities which sister chapters are engaging in on the college campus throughout the country. Practically every college newspaper and year-book now has women on the working staff and these women are invariably Theta Sigma Phis. The brother fraternity is Sigma Delta Chi, of which Wisconsin also has a chapter, and the two professional organizations work together to make for a higher status of college journalism.

THE MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST

A MOVEMENT that is different—that in a phrase characterizes the Music Memory Contest. It asks for no funds; it is not confined to university students or even students and alumni; yet it is primarily a university movement.

To most students the phrase "Music Memory Contest" is rather vague. But it is very real to 200 students of community music who during the past week have made a practical application of their knowledge. Heretofore, efforts to popularize good music have been confined almost altogether to community singing. Another phase, that of community listening, has been neglected.

The present movement is bringing to the people of Madison, where they can listen leisurely, a number of selected pieces. Some are from the greatest musical classics; others, less pretentious, have nevertheless sung their way to immortality. Whatever the type, each selection has as its essence a beautiful melody.

Whenever people are gathered together, these pieces are being played. In every grade and high school in the city, daily or semi-weekly concerts are given in which the selections for that day or group of days are rendered. In the churches, the selection for Sunday will be sung by the choir; pieces from the preceding week will be used by the organist. The music stores and moving picture theaters also have made arrangements to play each day's number.

The influence of good music is impossible to measure, but hard to overestimate. The sense of rhythm and love of melody are fundamental human instincts. Music can supply a spiritual element which is craved especially by working people, whose instincts are not given satisfying expression under modern industrial conditions.

Thoughtful people have regretted that the influence of good music is diminished by its limited popularity. The basic cause of the triumph of jazz is that modern Americans don't have time to listen; the blare and thumping of ultra-modern music is such that he who runs may understand. In Italy, where the people are less rushing in temperament, the operas are the possession of every artisan. The best music is loved more than ephemeral productions wherever its hearers have time to listen.

An opportunity to listen is now being provided, for the four weeks of the contest. At school, at the movies, at church, the tired business man and the harassed student can hear great music without losing one moment of their all-precious time.

The School of Music, which originated the plan, is to be congratulated upon the breadth of vision which conceived it, and the thoroughness of its application. Music is as natural as laughter, and adds power to work and happiness to life. This fundamental truth is being carried into practice on a statesman-like scale.

FAIR SCRIBES TELL SECRET TO SUCCESS

Practical Women Writers Tell Lessons Learned in Journalistic Field

"The chief thing I learned from my year of practical experience in journalism," stated Marian Lewis, grand president of Theta Sigma Phi and member of the faculty of the school of journalism of the University of Kansas, "was that people will respond if you make an effort to bring out the good in everything."

Miss Lewis is an alumnus of Epsilon chapter of Theta Sigma Phi. After leaving the university she edited for one year the school page of The Minneapolis Journal, including a field of 82 schools with a total of 62,000 children.

Learn to Sell Copy
"Learning where to place manuscripts is to me one of the most valuable things that one can get from experience in active journalism," declared Margaret Garvin Stone, N. Y.

Mrs. Stone is an alumnus of Kappa chapter of the University of Montana. Her experience in active journalism, with the exception of one year on a paper in Montana, has been free lance work in New York city.

A Publicity Expert

"A publicity bureau which supplies over 8,000 columns of news a year, gives free syndicate news service to 97 Texas dailies, 850 Texas weeklies, and all college and university papers in the United States, is the most interesting thing I have been connected with," said Ruby Aurora Black, delegate from Texas.

Over 22,000 column inches of published news and 400 stories in students' home-town papers, is Miss Black's modest record for the year, in addition to her work as issue editor of The Daily Texan.

Bring Job up to Ideals

"The most important thing that I've learned since leaving school," queried Miss Florence Collins, alumnus of Beta chapter, Wisconsin, '19, and now woman's editor of the Orange-Judd papers.

"I think that it is the fact that after you get through college you find your job very different from what you thought it would be. But while conditions don't come up to your ideals you will just have to take things as they are. Keep your ideals but get down to your job and then perhaps some day you can bring your job up to meet your ideals."

Don't Wait for Your Nurse

"The ability to sit right down and write when the circumstances demand, without waiting for what is known as inspiration or the proper environment, is one of the biggest things that practical journalism has taught me," said Miss

Sarah Spensely, Alumnus of the Wisconsin chapter.

Miss Spensely is a graduate of the university with the class of 1918. She has been connected with The Minneapolis Tribune as feature writer, but at the present time she is doing free-lance fiction writing. Miss Spensely is the newly elected grand vice-president of Theta Sigma Phi.

Learn to Make Friends

"It is not the actual writing that it the important thing in newspaper work," said Louise Ludlum, graduate of Wisconsin with the class of 1919, and now reporter for the Sioux City Journal.

"The big thing my practical work has shown me is that the securing of the news and the organization of the material is more important than actual ability to write."

"The next thing that journalism has taught me is the necessity of making friends with the people with whom I come in contact," said Miss Ludlum, addressing the meeting of the delegates.

Miss Ludlum was women's editor of The Daily Cardinal in 1918.

WOMEN'S PRESS FRAT PLEDGES WIDE PROGRAM

Wisconsin Chapter Found- ed in 1910 Was Second One Organized

Founded at the University of Washington, Seattle, April 8, 1909, to bring women journalists together, to confer honor on those distinguishing themselves in journalism, and to do constructive work in bettering conditions for women journalists, Theta Sigma Phi, now has chapters in 19 colleges and universities and a membership of about 1,000.

An honorary and professional journalistic fraternity for women, Theta Sigma Phi picks its members from the most promising women actively engaged in journalistic pursuits. Its policy has been to form a connecting link between undergraduates and the professional field of journalism.

Since its founding, the number of Theta Sigma Phi chapters has increased at the rate of from one to four every year. The nineteenth, at New York university, was installed April 15, 1920. The other chapters are all in the Middle or Far West.

Among the honorary members of Theta Sigma Phi are Ida M. Tarbell, Zona Gale, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, and Fannie Hurst.

An occupational bureau has been made a part of Theta Sigma Phi's program for future administrative work in bettering conditions for women journalists. A central bureau will be established in some large city, which will keep track of opportunities for women in all lines of journalistic work, and give necessary information to any applicants.

Infield Looks Frisky

Zulfer, substituting for Willigrod at first base, filled the bill very well both in the field and at bat. The home infield looked very good in spite of the slow field. Emmanuel had three plays in left, one of them a sensational catch of a foul fly, and another a difficult play in short left center. He failed to hit safely, although twice he drove the hostile fielders to the cinder track to capture his drives.

Greater X-ray Service — through Research

FOR years after the discovery of X-rays it was evident that only intensive research could unfold their real possibilities.

Meanwhile, scientists of the General Electric Company developed the process of making wrought tungsten. This proved ideal as the target in X-ray tubes and its use for this purpose soon became universal.

Then further research resulted in the development of an X-ray tube of a radically new type — the Coolidge Tube — with both electrodes of wrought tungsten and containing the highest attainable vacuum.

But the complication of high-vacuum pumps made the new tube in large quantities impossible. The answer to this problem was the Langmuir Condensation Pump, utilizing mercury vapor in its operation and almost automatic.

To meet the need for simple X-ray apparatus during the war, the G-E Laboratory developed the Self-Rectifying Coolidge Tube, which made possible portable outfits at the front. The latest X-ray outfit of this type is so small it can be taken conveniently to the home or to the bedside in the hospital.

Thus the Research Laboratory of the General Electric Company continues to serve, that progress in things electrical may continue for the good of humanity.

DR. WOODBERRY LAUDS SHELLEY IN LAST LECTURE

Answers Critics Who Hold English Poet Lacked Thought, Form, Human Sympathy

In the third and concluding lecture of his series on American and English poets, Dr. George Edward Woodberry refuted criticisms made of Shelley, to the effect that his poems lacked thought and form, and that the poet was wanting in human sympathies.

Dr. Woodberry confessed to having acquired, in early youth, for the works of the English poet an ardent devotion, which had grown keener rather than had abated during the years of his critical study.

"True, there is more feeling than thought, more image than idea in Shelley; but we should not fall into the error that there was no thought there," the speaker declared. He pictured the poet as the ardent young reformer, immersed in ideas at first of political change by direct action, which in later life became more abstract as Shelley's thinking developed and he became an advanced Platonist.

He was intensely concerned to the end of his life in human betterment. This fact, Dr. Woodberry asserted, should be sufficient, when it is understood, to meet the charge that Shelley was lacking in warm sympathy, although his sympathy was of a sort that concerned itself with masses rather than with individuals.

Fortification Bill Passes the Senate

Sugar Arrives But Rationing Continues

Arrival of a few carloads of sugar at wholesale houses has not served to relieve the situation here materially because the wholesale grocers serve customers within a radius of 100 miles of Madison and each customer receives only one or two bags. Sugar continued to retail at 36 cents a pound, one pound to a customer. Two wholesale grocers were expecting another carload each on Friday.

The threatened famine of gasoline has been put off by the arrival of a few cars of gasoline. If the supply continues there will be no danger of a famine, but the reserve supply here has been practically exhausted and service stations will be dependent on rail deliveries.

THETA SIG MEET CLOSES TODAY

Kettle for delegates and guests. Dean F. Louise Nardin and Mrs. Irene Taylor Mallory, one of those pledged by the founders at Alpha chapter, gave interesting talks.

Lee A. White, editor of the Detroit News, gave an open talk at 3:30 on "The Function of the Journalistic Fraternity." Afterwards business was resumed, and questions of national and international expansion were discussed.

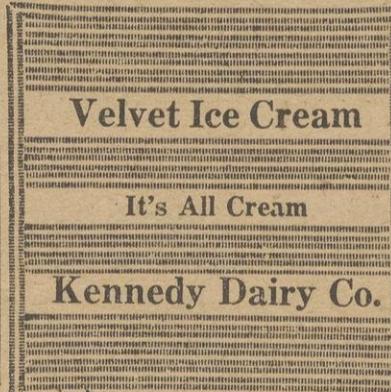

In the evening a reception for the Grand Council and members of Theta Sigma Phi was held, in Chadbourn hall parlors.

On Friday morning the business meeting was chiefly concerned with the discussion and adoption of a plan for an employment bureau for women journalists. Plans for alumnae organizations were discussed, and a committee was appointed to decide on one of two programs.

Talks by Theta Sigma Phis who have made good all showed the true journalist's power of making things interesting. Vina Lindsay, of the Kansas City Post; Sarah Spensely, of the Minneapolis Tribune; Elizabeth Leitzbach, of the McClurg Publishing company; Florence Collins, of the Orange-Judd papers; Louise Ludlum, former woman's editor of the Cardinal; Frances Davis, of the Kansas City Post, and Lyle Bryson, were the speakers of the morning. Zona Gale gave talks in the morning and afternoon.

GRAD WILL STAR IN FACULTY PLAY

Even the faculty play owes some of its appeal to a member of Theta Sigma Phi. One of the leading feminine roles of "The Importance of Being Ernest," being staged by the Curtain club in the High school auditorium on May 4, that of Cecily, the charming and appealing ingenue around whom much of the play centers, is to be taken by Miss Bertha Ochsner, an alumna of Beta chapter and prominent in literary and dramatic circles in the university.

Miss Ochsner while in college wrote and acted in at least two of her own plays given by Red Domino of which she was a member and in whose plays she often took part. Besides these plays he became in other way distinguished for her literary ability. Since her graduation a year ago he has become well known in Madison for her clever dancing.

ALASKAN MISSIONARY GIVES SLIDE LECTURE

The Rev. Hope Lumpkin, rector of Grace Episcopal church, will give a lecture on various phases of Alaskan life, illustrated by colored slides, Wednesday night, May 5, in Guild hall. Church students and others interested in the subject are invited to attend.

For several years the Rev. Mr. Lumpkin has been in charge of a parish in the vicinity of Fairbanks, Alaska. He recently assumed the rectorship of Grace church. His slides are beautifully colored and represent snapshots of the northern region in which he worked.

The annual meeting of the St. Francis society of church students will be held preceding the lecture.
