MUSIC AND DANCE

MUSICAL CLUBS TO APPEAR FRIDAY NIGHT.

AND THEN A DANCE AT LIBRARY HALL.

A New and Delightful Program to be Given—Mr. Bunn Will Sing—Miss Case to Recite—Arrangements for the Party.

The students of the university will again have the pleasure of listening to the Musical clubs, as they are to give a concert at the Fuller opera house next Friday evening. This will be followed by a party at Library hall.

This concert will be in no sense a repetition of the former one, as a program is being prepared which is quite different from the one given at Library hall and on their trip. The Glee club, in particular, is practicing on some new melodies, many of which promise to prove very taking. Among them may be mentioned one written by Andrew A. Bruce, '90, who will be remembered as one of the brightest writers of his time in the university. This has been arranged for the Glee club by Prof. Parker and is said by those who have heard it to be a very fine number.

In addition to several new songs for the club the soloists have been preparing some excellent numbers. Of these one of the most popular will probably be a solo by Mr. Bacon, who sang Ben Bolt and When Violets Are There at the previous concerts. Anyone who heard Mr. Bacon before will be anxious to hear him at this time.

Another of the club's soloists, Mr. George Kelly, will appear at the concert. As he was not well last time he could not appear as a soloist, although he sang in the club. He was, however, able to appear on the trip and won great applause at all of the concerts. He is at his best in the rendering of a comic song. But he is too well known to Wisconsin audiences to need any further introduction.

One of the well known members of former University Glee clubs is Mr. John Bunn. He sang tenor in the club while in the university and was also with last year's club, during his junior year in the law school. He has not been singing this year but has kindly assented to appear Friday evening.

A pleasant feature of the program will be a recitation by Miss Laura Case, ex-'94. She has studied elocution at Northwestern university since leaving the university and even when she was here she was well known for her dramatic ability.

Both the Banjo and Mandolin clubs will have new and catchy selections and their excellent work at the former concert will insure their good appearance at this one.

The concert will evidently be quite an affair socially as well as musically. The boxes have been sold already. Beta Theta Pi has taken two, Rho Kappa Upsilon one, Phi Delta Theta two and Chi Psi one. It is also expected that theater parties will go in the parquet. While it is not known certainly yet every indication points to a large audience.

The regular opera house prices will be charged for the concert. In addition the dollar tickets will secure an admission to the party. For those buying tickets at a lower price, and who also wish to attend the party an additional charge of fifty cents will be made.

This party which promises to form an important part of the enjoyment of the evening, is to be given at Library hall and will commence directly after the concert. Street cars will be in waiting to convey all who wish, from the opera house to Library hall. Nitschkes orchestra will furnish the music while refreshments will be served by the Palace of Sweets.

The sale of seats begins tomorrow noon at the opera house.

—H. A. Sawyer, '96, is being visited by his father, Judge Sawyer, of Hartford, now here with a case before the supreme court.

BADGER IS READY

NINETY-SIX ANNUAL ON SALE TOMORROW.

IT INCLUDES MANY NEW FEATURES.

Numerous Illustrations—Bright Bits of College Verse.

The Badger for this year which has been anxiously awaited for some time, has at last appeared and will be on sale tomorrow. No one will say that the extra time has not been well spent. The Badger is a credit to the university, to the class of '96 and to the board of editors. Typographically it Biographies of representative professors from the several departments, together with portraits, is another good feature. Then there are short sketches and portraits of the 17 new members of the faculty.

The fraternities are given the usual place in the book. Several are represented by new steel-plate inserts. Three new ones, Pi Beta Phi, Sigma Delta Sigma and Theta Nu Upsilon, appear in the list. The sophomore members of Theta Nu Epsilon are represented by apparently meaningless ciphers.

Fine half tones of the musical clubs are given and each club has an appropriate heading, that for the Mandolin club being especially good.

The literary societies have new and appropriate headings and also views of their society halls or pictures of prominent alumni.

There are pictures of the editorial boards of the college papers and of the battalion officers, the officers and members of all the university organ-—Miss Mollie Bertels has returned to her work after a slight attack of measles.

—The local chapter of Delta Tau Delta give a large dancing party at their lodge Thursday evening.

—O. E. Crooker, '96, has been confined to his room for several days past owing to injuries received in the chemical laboratory.

—The game which was to have taken place this afternoon between the Sigma Chi and the Delta Sigmas, has been indefinitely postponed.

—Pearl Doudna, fellow in mathematics, has been compelled to give up his university work on account of ill health. He will go to California for the summer.

—R. G. Thwaites left yesterday for New York where he reads a paper before the American Antiquarian society on "The Story of Chequamegon Bay, Ashland, Wis."

is much superior to the previous Badgers. It is excellent artistically and in literary matter it is above the standard of previous years.

In the arrangement of the statistical matter several innovations appear. In place of the old class cuts, symbolical of anything and everything, this Badger contains well drawn illustrations representative of each class. There are the cap and gown senior, the swell junior, the arrogant sophomore, etc. The photographs of 130 seniors covering 11 pages add much to the attractiveness of the first part of the book. Statistics of the junior and senior classes give an account of each person's work in the university, the honors taken and the societies to which he belongs. This is a new feature for the Badger, though quite common in other college annuals. It will probably prove one of the interesting features of the book.

In the part devoted to athletics there are pictures of all of the 'Varsity teams and of the '97 class crew. The record which the university has made in athletics is given in full. There are also four pages of snap-shots of the gymnasium, field day, football games and the regatta.

The art work is especially good. The reader, as he opens the book is greeted by one of Gibson's girls and then in order that all schools of art may be represented the next page is drawn according to Beardsley. The headings for the university organizations are all of them good and form one of the neatest features of the book. Among them may be mentioned the ones for Hesperia; the Joint Debate League; Nora Samlag, The Junior Prom., to which is devoted a page; the Athletic

Boathouse Company.

President—J. B. Kerr.
Secretary—S. H. Cady.The way to patronize the base ball team is to attend the games.Explanations for absences from military duty are in considerable demand at present.The current number of The Critic contains a flattering review of Mr. O.
G. Libby's monograph on the distribution of the colonial vote.The concert of the musical clubs deserves to be a success after the efforts that have been made by the management. Make up the deficit.Perhaps the lower campus is the best place to put that new library building —at any rate it is too late to kick now, and we are thankful for it almost anywhere—but it is a fact that this new building will from one point of view mar the most picturesque part of the college landscape. It will take away many of the trees on the campus, will partially shut off the view of Science hall and the lake, and will, it seems to us, seriously jar upon the harmony which strikes every one in approaching the university from the city. At least, this is what we think. We hope it will not be so.Statisticians sometimes develop extraordinary estimates. Mr. Patrick Donan has figured out that the salt and soda held in solution in the Great Salt Lake of Utah are worth (at current market rates) six times the entire assessed valuation of the United States; and he adds that, if they would be sold at those rates, the proceeds could pay off all the national debts in Christendom, and then leave every citizen of this great republic comfortably well off for life.

association; the Boat House Corporation, and the Musical clubs. The illustrations for the literary matter are excellent, among the best being a bit of quaint, old English lettering, together with scenes on the university shore, on page 283, the interweaving of the letters and illustrations in the poem on page 304, the heading for the prologue, the illustrations for the tale of "How the Face of the Clock Was Cracked," and for "The Bachelor's Reverie."Scattered through the book are groups of small university views.
These have been well selected and are very well engraved, as are all of the half tones in the book.Coming now to the literary matter the most noticeable features are the bits of college verse which are not grinds on anyone. And then the grinds are not so numerous as in former years. They are not wanting, of course, but there is nothing very violent about them. "How the Face of the Clock Was Cracked," is a clever bit of prose in old Dutch style. The "Varsity Vignettes" are very good as as "Tragedies by the Teaspoonful" much after the same style. Other prose articles are "The Philosopher of the Concert Tour," descriptive of the recent trip of the musical clubs; a thesis "Concerning the sources, causes and results of the phenomenal emigration from the Collis Universitatis to the Schola Legalis."Among the poems are "Two of a Kind"; "After the Prom." in which the co-ed describes her partners; "College Yells," after the late Edgar Allen Poe; "Two Days," a poem which many will appreciate. "Wear This Tonight," and "A Bachelor's Reverie," the two last by C. F. McClure.There are a number of "Grinds" on students whom we know, but it would probably not be well to call attention to any of them, particularly.The Badger has returned to more nearly the old shape of '92, which makes it more convenient to handle.
It has in all 400 pages. The book is bound in green buckram with a panel of darker green linen, and is stamped in gold with a simple design. On the whole the book is a production creditable to the class and the university.The Badger will be placed on sale tomorrow morning at Library hall. To accommodate those who are down town a limited number of copies will also be on sale at Bradford's music store.Nothing is known of the report in circulation in the United States that the Prince of Wales will visit the United States in the autumn in order to be present at the races for the America's cup. Inquiry has been made among those who are close to the prince and all those who have been questioned on the subject disclaim any knowledge of any such intention upon the part of the heir apparent.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO.

How to Cure Yourself While Using It.

The tobacco habit grows on a man until his nervous system is seriously affected, impairing health, comfort and happiness. To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco, to an inveterate user becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves.
Baco-Curo is a scientific cure for the tobacco habit, in all its forms, carefully compounded after the formula of an eminent Berlin physician who has used it in his private practice since 1872, without a failure, purely vegetable and guaranteed perfectly harmless. You can use all the tobacco you want, while taking Baco-Curo, it will notify you when to stop.
We give a written guarantee to permanently cure any case with three boxes, or refund the money with 10 per cent. interest. Baco-Curo is not a substitute, but a scientific cure, that cures without the aid of will power and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew or smoke. Sold by all druggists, with our ironclad guarantee, at $1.00 per box, three boxes (thirty days treatment), $2.50, or sent direct upon receipt of
