PRESIDENT OF CHINA HELPS CHILDS FUND

University Will Raise $3,000 in Next Week's Drive

Working with those Chinese who have had a foreign education to promote the spirit of Christian civilization and the Wisconsin idea of service is what is being done in China by John L. Childs '11 for whose support the University of Wisconsin will endeavor to raise $3,000 next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Childs now have a house in Peking which has become a "Wisconsin-in-China" center, a place where Chinese young men can always find welcome and where they may see exemplified in a practical way the Wisconsin spirit of service. In a recent letter Childs enumerated the specific pieces of work that have been done during the past year.

Among the things done, ten student centers were organized with reading rooms, game rooms, lecture halls, class rooms, and equipment for social service; sixty-nine public lectures were given by prominent American educators and student leaders on national, social, and religious subjects; nine night schools were instituted for poor boys, the teachers of which were all volunteer students workers from the colleges of Peking; fifty-three gatherings for students were called with an average attendance of thirty-six and several home circles for smaller groups were organized; a summer conference was organized in the western hills with a total enrollment of 327 students and leaders from Peking, Tientsin, and Pao-tungfu; three college teams were sent through the country to speak in small cities and towns.

"The outlook for the work this year is the best I have seen since I have been in China," said Childs. "In spite of the fact that a terrible famine has struck North-China and everyone has been called upon to give to the point of sacrifice to the famine sufferers our finance campaign exceeded the amount we set out to secure by $1,000. His Excellency, the President of China, contributed $1,000, sending with his contribution a cordial letter saying he was glad to help 'the noble cause.'"

Wisconsin is not alone in its work in China. Yale is spending $41,000 a year, Princeton, $26,000, Pennsylvania, Harvard, Oberlin, and a half dozen other schools are spending from $4,000 to $10,000 a year.

MISS MAYHEW WILL SPEAK AT BANQUET

Mrs. Abby Shaw Mayhew, director of the girls' Normal school of physical education, Shanghai, will be the chief speaker at a banquet in the Woman's building tonight given under the direction of the Mayhew drive committee. Other speakers will be Miss L. Bascom of the Extension division and Marie Bodden.

Tickets for the banquet must be reserved at the Y. W. C. A. office before noon today. All women working in the drive must plan to attend and all other university women are invited. The banquet will begin at 5:45. Tickets are 75 cents each.

Miss Mayhew will talk about her work in the school at Shanghai and Miss Bascom will discuss the influence that Wisconsin will have through this work. Marie Bodden '21 will speak upon the attitude that the Wisconsin women should take in the drive.

CLANCY TO ARGUE STUDENTS' TESTIMONY WAS CONFLICTING

BING! BANG!

Student Composers Hasten to Finish Prom Fox Trot Scores

With the announcement that the names of those who wish to enter scores in the Prom Fox Trot contest must be handed to the committee between the dates of January 8 and 15, ambitious composers are hastening to put the finishing touches on their masterpieces.

This haste is augmented by the fact that not only will the winner attain fame and glory but also, and more important in these pre-Prom days, $15 in cold, hard cash will be added to his available surplus (or subtracted from his outstanding debt).

"It is very necessary that the names get in as early as possible," said Margaret McDowell, in charge of the contest. "Entrants should call me at Badger 661 or hand their names to me at once in order that tryouts may be arranged."

Tryouts will take place immediately after January 15. The composer may play his own score or have someone else do it. The score, however, must be written out for the final judgment.

No limitation has been placed on the kind of music to be submitted, and in view of the recent discussions of the influence of music on dancing, much interest has been aroused in the contest.

Any student in the university may enter the contest regardless of his class. The piece may be submitted with or without words but the theme of the composition must be original.

'21 BADGER DINNER PROVES SUCCESSFUL

About 200 people were present at the banquet and dance given last night in the Woman's building for the 1921 Badger staff. The entire banquet, from cocktails to toasts, was a complete success. The six course dinner, with dancing between courses, to music supplied by Thompson's best, was followed by a series of short responses, with "Bud" Murphy acting as toastmaster.

Prof. W. A. Sumner, faculty adviser of the '21 Badger, commented on the fine spirit of co-operation which had contributed to the success of the year book; responses made by Wesley Travers '21, editor, Elizabeth Chandler '21, in charge of arrangements for the banquet, Frank Kuehl '21, business manager, Prof. E. H. Gardner, and Prof. F. H. Elwell, all emphasized this same co-operation on the part of the entire staff and faculty, which had resulted in a clear profit, the wiping out of an old debt, and, withal, the best Badger which has been published in the history of the university.

AFFIRMATIVE WINS AGRIC LIT DEBATE

The affirmative team won a three to two decision in a debate at a meeting of the Agricultural Literary society last night on the question, "Resolved, That a compulsory board of arbitration be established to settle all disputes between capital and labor."

A reading after the style of "Uncle Josh" was given by E. T. Huehn '22, and stunts by J. Weinman '22 followed the debate.

CARDINAL STAFF MEETING

Compulsory meeting of all members of the Daily Cardinal staff Saturday at 1:30 p. m. in S. G. A. room, Lathrop hall.

A. J. Bauer Unconsciously Strengthens Lynaugh's Defense

(Special to The Daily Cardinal)

JEFFERSON, Wis., Jan. 7.—Testifying that the crowd, which followed Matt B. Lynaugh, Madison policeman, down Lake street last May 28, the day on which he shot and killed Carl E. Jandorf, was "hissing and jeering at the officer," A. J. Bauer, a former student of Cedar Brook, Wis., offered the only new angle to the state's account of the shooting, and ended another day of routine narration of incidents surrounding the death of the boy. Bauer will be returned to the witness stand tomorrow morning.

Bauer, a prospective fraternity brother of Julian Lunney '23, who was arrested for the theft of a barber pole of which he knew nothing, declared that he had yelled to Lunney "to run" when he saw the policeman approaching the truck on which the student was standing. Cross examining Bauer with regard to the temperament of the crowd, which started in front of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house, and which proceeded down Lake street behind the officer and Lunney, Attorney J. M. Clancy, defending Lynaugh, said:

Q. And that hissing was quite violent at first? A. Yes, sir, but it gradually subsided as they went down the street.

Q. And that was in the presence of the officer? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you say you heard a shout of "take Lunney away from the officer" from some one across the street above the hissing and jeering of the crowd? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The officer was closer to the person who made that remark than you were, wasn't he? A. Yes.

Q. And he must have heard it, if you did? A. Yes, he should have.

The defense is seizing every opportunity to break down testimony of students regarding the size of the crowd and as to its actions. Mr. Clancy will undoubtedly give considerable time, in arguing to the jury, to the conflicting testimony on these points. Bauer, again unconsciously strengthened Lynaugh's chances for acquittal when he declared that some woman in the crowd yelled, "Why don't you boys lynch that cop?"

Others who testified today were Miss Ruth Anderson and Miss Irene Spiker, who saw the affair from their room in the Grady house, and L. Gerald Koch, William Gallagher, driver of the truck which was used to secure the barber pole, and A. L. Feddersen and Charles Rohr, both students.

WEIRD LIGHTS WILL ILLUMINE ALL AT VARSITY JAMBOREE

Flood lights and color discs casting weird lights on the masquerade dancers are to be part of the program for the All-University Jamboree to be held in Lathrop hall January 15. Dancing will be the principal part of the entertainment, though the stunts and awarding of prizes for costumes will be important features. "Red" Hawkins and his best orchestra will furnish the music.

Costumes for the Jamboree will be on display in Lathrop next week and may be rented at that time. Tickets are being rapidly sold now and may be obtained at Morgan's and the University pharmacy. Special spectator seats will be sold for 25 cents.

MICHIGAN FIVE BADGER FOE IN TONIGHT'S TILT

Wolverines Have Strong Lineup With Many Veterans Back

Coach Walter E. Meanwell and his squad of Badger basketball men departed last night for Ann Arbor where they will meet the Michigan five tonight in their second conference game of the 1920-21 season. They arrived at the Michigan city early this morning, in time to take a short work-out on the Wolverine floor.

Little is known of the strength of the Michigan quintet this season as they have not met any conference teams thus far. Tonight's game being the Wolverines' initial contest of the year, Wisconsin should entertain a slight advantage, since they have already played Northwestern, and engaged in a pair of games with South Dakota Aggies. However, a number of "M" men from the 1919-20 aggregation are again performing on the Michigan team, and a tough battle is predicted.

Meanwell Says Nothing
Dr. Meanwell would not express himself either way when interviewed as to Wisconsin's chance of annexing tonight's game. The little Badger mentor believes that when his men find their eye for the basket he will have as strong an attack as will be seen in the Big Ten this winter. A number of the universities have not developed the strong teams that they have boasted of in the past year, and there is every reason to believe that the Badgers will finish near the top although they were nosed out in the opener at Evanston.

Wisconsin has an especially strong defense, which can be depended upon to hold their opponents' score very low. The weak point thus far has been the offense, not in floor work, but in basket shooting only. The outcome of tonight's game with the Wolverines depends almost entirely upon the ability of the Cardinal forwards to locate the ring.

No Change in Line-Up
This week's practice has brought no change in the line-up. Captain Taylor and "Rollie" Williams will start in the forward berths, with Frogner at center. "Jack" Williams, who has a surer eye for the basket than any other member of the squad, will doubtless see action before the final whistle sounds. Caesar and Tebell will handle the defense work. The team will return from Ann Arbor tomorrow afternoon.

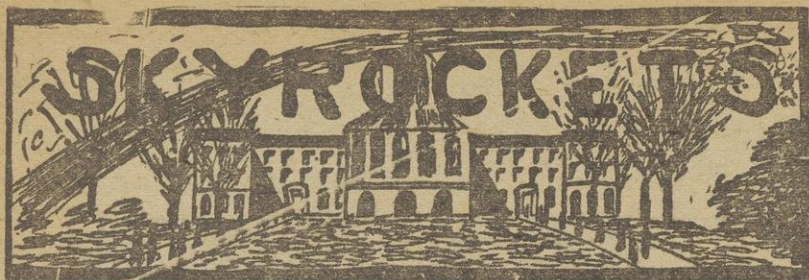

Next Saturday the Maroons will be met at Chicago, and in this game the Badgers will receive the first real test of their strength. It is the opinion of many that Staggs' team is much weaker than last winter, when Pat Page coached, but in their preliminary games Chicago has run up large scores continually. Their exhibition against Princeton was a trifle ragged, although they did win from the Easterners by a narrow margin. Wisconsin fans will have their first opportunity to see their team in a conference battle in two weeks, when the Illini journey here.

UNION BOARD WILL HOLD MIXER TONITE

The first All-University mixer of the new year will be held in Lathrop hall gymnasium tonight at 8:30 under the auspices of the Union board. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock.

A special feature in the form of a folk dance will be given by Julia Hanks '21, and Eleanor Riley '21, at about 9:50.

WELL AFTER five days of school we are not yet rested up from our vacation. We have not been getting enough sleep.

WHICH IS because we have been to so few classes.

WHICH IS because we have been too sleepy.

WHICH IS because we have been to so few classes.

THE ABOVE nonsense is reminding of the anecdote concerning Lord Chumley. The anecdote will not be printed in these columns.

THE NEW YEAR'S WOIST
Can you tell me if Napoleon was an Italian?
Corsican.

THE PHI DELTS threw a masque ball last night. At the request of all present several of the guests were not allowed to unmask. They are to wit:

Dixie Davis,
Louise McFadden,
Alice Evans.

Earl Hardy dressed as a policeman arrested the attention of all.

One of the most conspicuous guests was Eleanor Chase herself in honor of whom the famous phrase was instituted, "Chase Yourself."

THE NEW uniforms of the cadets do much to hide the discrepancies which would be otherwise apparent were breeches in vogue.

THERE ARE a good many persons in school who are doubles of the best known movie artists. Could you tell:

Mabel Drew from David Powell?
Shorty Barr from Jack Pickford?
Hank Gausewitz from Wallace Reid.

Allard Frogner from Will Rogers?
Scotty Goodnight from Hobart Bosworth?

Annette Kellerman from any of our coeds while at dances?
(Of course you could; the coeds carry fans)

SOME of the most neglected things in the world are deserving of a good deal more of our attention than they usually get. Among these are the simple digits. Therefore we present

THE SEEMINGLY queerest thing we have ever heard is the ad. used by some banks which says, "A penny earned is a penny saved." Now of course this may be true, but in the majority of cases a person spends every cent he earns. If one puts the penny in the bank, then the saying holds true.

It would be a good thing if our legislatures would put a stop to a lot of these so-called maxims.

CHIPPEWA VALLEY CLUB GIVES DANCE

More than 350 old graduates, students and friends of the university were present at the annual Christmas dance given by the Chippewa Valley club at Eau Claire during the holidays. This is the annual get-together of the club held for the purpose of carrying the spirit of the university to the homes of the club members, renewing acquaintances, and apprising prospective students of the fact that it thinks the University of Wisconsin is the only worthy institution in the United States.

Thompson's best played for the dancing. Decorations, programs and refreshments held to the regular club standard of quality.

Huge Alaskan Crops Shown by Lumpkin

Rev. H. H. Lumpkin, rector of Grace Episcopal church, gave an illustrated talk on "A Trip to Alaska" at the meeting of the Men's Union of St. Andrew's church held recently at the parish house. Rev. Lumpkin spent five years from 1914 to 1919 in Alaska as a missionary and came into close contact with life inside the arctic circle. He showed pictures of the immense crops in the heart of ice-bound Alaska. Prof. E. B. Gordon directed the music and refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. These meetings are to be held on the evening of the first Monday in every month from November to May, and are under the supervision of the "Steering Bunch."

GUN AND BLADE TO HAVE SLEIGH RIDE

An old style sleigh-ride party followed by refreshments is the plan for the next Gun and Blade party, according to the announcement made at the last meeting of the organization. If the weather man should continue to prove unkind and not furnish the necessary amount of snow, the sleigh-ride party will be turned into a dance and social evening.

The event is to be held the Friday following resumption of classes after Prom. It is urged that those members desiring to attend, communicate with the secretary, Maynard Brown, or the social chairman, Eiel Myrland, so that the proper number of conveyances may be procured.

Gun and Blade also is making plans for a banquet to be given soon in honor of prominent speakers from Illinois. The banquet will be followed by vaudeville or a dance.

WISCONSIN IN CHINA

JACK CHILDS, who has pushed the frontier of this university into the heart of China, is now going through more trying experiences than he has met with during his residence of five years in the newly born republic of the Orient.

The student strikes which grew out of the economic struggle with Japan naturally taxed the energies of Mr. Childs to the limit. Despite the disorganization that resulted, the reports are that Wisconsin's representative not only kept his work among the students going, but that he has also greatly enlarged the scope of his activities. He is now the most important figure in the student life of Peking.

Another condition that Mr. Childs has to face is the terrible famine that has fallen upon China. In addition to his regular duties he has thrown his strength into the fight against the threatened calamity that has loomed up.

Wisconsin is proud of this record of service. It reflects credit not only upon Jack Childs but also upon the university and the nation he represents.

His work must continue. His university must support him in his splendid mission. The forthcoming campaign to raise $3,000 among the men and $1,800 among the women is not an ordinary "drive." It is a privilege to show confidence in an undertaking which is producing untold good.

A SPLENDID ENTERPRISE

UPON the heels of the report of a remarkable year's work comes the announcement that a new Y. M. C. A. building is to be erected on the site of the present structure. The board of directors have approved plans for an edifice that will not be surpassed as a student home anywhere in this country.

Accommodations will be provided for nearly 400 men in the most modern dormitory quarters. These men will have their own private dining hall. A special boat house will be built. The present facilities for service to various student organizations will be greatly enlarged.

There is no thought of duplicating the work of the Union Memorial building. Each will naturally supplement the other.

The realization of these plans will be a big asset to the university and will enhance a form of service that has become indispensable at Wisconsin.

MANY BADGERS AT EAU CLAIRE PARTY

More than 350 grads, students and friends of the university attended the annual Christmas "W" party given at Eau Claire by the Chippewa Valley club. "Varsity Toast" was sung under a large red electric-W at the opening of the reunion of loyal Badgers of the valley.

The Chippewa Valley club will hold a social meeting at the university Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Refreshments will be served. All students from the Chippewa valley have been invited to attend.

C. J. STUDENTS DO NOT FAKE NEWS OF UNIVERSITY LIFE

Bleyer Says that Responsible Students Ought to Be Disciplined

"No journalism student or graduate of the Course in Journalism has been in any way responsible for the news stories to which objections have been raised," said Prof. Willard G. Bleyer, director of the Course in Journalism, in discussing recent newspaper articles reflecting on the conduct of university students.

"The objectionable stories in the papers this winter have generally been written by regular members of the staffs of the newspapers or the news agencies. In some instances these reporters and correspondents have been students, but not students in the Course in Journalism.

"When fake news reflecting on university students is published, the Student senate or the Self-Government association should see to it that the guilty student reporters and correspondents are brought before them and disciplined, since the Student court is no longer in existence.

"Such student action against irresponsible student reporters and correspondents would be much more effective than any other that could be taken. The adoption of resolutions may do some good, but severe disciplinary action would be much better.

"No self-respecting newspaper will knowingly publish fake news, or will keep on its staff reporters and correspondents who have been proved guilty of faking.

"It is up to the students to prevent themselves and the university from being misrepresented to the newspaper reading public by the thoughtless fellow students.

"When the offending newspaper men are not students, the attention of their superiors should be called to their delinquencies, and no good newspaper editor will turn a deaf ear to well-grounded complaints against the accuracy of the news published in his paper. Every editor is trying to give his readers what he thinks they want. If readers of any newspaper object to the kind of news that they are getting, they should register their objections with the editor. If there are enough objecting readers, an editor will soon change his policy with regard to the news to which his readers take exception."

TWELFTH NIGHT TO PLAY "FOURTEEN"

"Fourteen," a very clever comedy by Alice Gerstenberg, is to be presented by Twelfth Night on the occasion of its first appearance of the season. The play concerns itself with the difficulties which a New York society woman encounters in arranging a dinner for her debutante daughter, for whom she is very ambitious. One by one her guests fail to appear at the last minute. Others must then be invited, and as a result Mrs. Pringle has much trouble in formulating a new seating arrangement of the company. As a culmination of her distress, she is overwhelmed and delighted with the knowledge that the Prince of Wales is to be one of her guests.

The cast for the play is as follows:

Mrs. Horace Pringle, a woman of fashion—Helen Double '22.

Elaine, debutante daughter—Julia Harrington '23.

Dunham, butler—James Brader '22.

Coach, Mary Parkinson '21.

Properties, Aline Hall '23.

This play, together with the Rushlight, by Monica Barry O'Shea and the Dead Departed, will be presented in the concert room of Lathrop hall Thursday evening, January 18.

AT THE STRAND

Maurice Tourneur's "The Last of the Mohicans," as adapted from the greatest story of the American Indian ever told by James Fenimore Cooper, is being show at the Strand theater for the last times today, continuous 2 to 11 p. m.

Bryant Washburn

"All the world loves a lover." And all the world enjoys just a little laugh at honeymoons and honeymooners. "A Full House," starring Bryant Washburn, which will be shown at the Strand Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, is a rollicking story dealing with the mix-up which results when a husband of a day goes on a business trip which involves him in complications including love letters, stolen jewels, thieves and policemen. Bryant Washburn has a strong role and Lois Wilson is his leading woman. It is a Paramount picture. There will also be shown a Mack Sennett comedy.

AT THE GRAND

King Vidor positively refuses to have anything to do with a picture that is not ideal for the clean-minded, positively refuses to entertain propositions from any one who would have him picture an entertainment on the screen that did not also have a moral value. It is to the good and the better life that Vidor looks for his happiness and for that of his audiences, and along that line is his endeavor.

His latest output, "The Family Honor," now showing at the Grand, is, however, by no means a colorless or uninspired story. It has its thrills as well as its pastorales, melodrama as well as its comedy. Vidor stars no one, preferring to feature the thought behind his story, but Florence Vidor, the director's wife, has one of the principal parts in "Family Honor," and acquits herself most creditably in the performance thereof.

THRIFT WEEK IS ENDORSED

Thrift week observance by Madison received unqualified endorsement by a number of leading organizations this week, and many more are said to be in like mood relative to this broad educational move. The Madison Technical club Tuesday night voted to hold a special meeting on the first day of Thrift week, Jan. 17 (Benjamin Franklin's birthday), when a Thrift program will be staged. Notable speakers are being engaged by the president, Daniel W. Mead, assisted by other officers.

The Madison Association of Commerce, Madison Real Estate board, Kiwanis club, Roxana club, Madison Federation of Labor, Anchor Savings and Loan association are among others voting endorsement.

Tendering on behalf of the board of directors the cooperation of the Association of Commerce, Secretary Don E. Mowry wrote to Secretary F. O. Leiser, of the Thrift week committee: "National Thrift week offers to everyone a program of economic education which is essential in the life of everyone of us."

The Madison Real Estate board, through E. J. Fisher, chairman of the committee, pledged that its members, "both collectively and individually, heartily endorse the Thrift week campaign, and promise to cooperate with the local committee."

"Appreciating the broad purpose underlying the thrift movement," declared the Roxana club, "and realizing the financial necessity for thrift in its broadest application, during the coming year, the Roxana club heartily endorses Thrift week."

The Kiwanis club, pledged its interest in that program and its cooperation with their fellow member, H. H. Hites, who is chairman of the Madison committee in charge of Thrift week activities, in "carrying out a successful and helpful thrift week for the people of our city."
