BOOMING OF CANNON TO USHER IN SENIOR "CLEAN-UP" CAMPAIGN

150 Solicitors Out to Enroll in Union Every Man in Class of 1924

This is seniors' day. The bark of a 3-inch cannon on Muir Knoll at 7:45 o'clock this morning will mark the opening of the Memorial union clean-up campaign among members of the class of 1924.

Simultaneously more than 150 enthusiastic solicitors—seniors who are determined to put over one more big job for Wisconsin—will start out on their work of making the enrollment of the seniors as life members in the union as near 100 per cent as possible. Alumni, members of the faculty and people all over the state are watching with interest the outcome of one of the largest and most important undertakings of the senior class.

Meet at Lathrop

The field piece loaned by the military department for the occasion will be fired each time 10 new life subscriptions are turned into the Union board office at 752 Langdon street. One shot will mean 10 subscriptions or pledges totaling $500.

Final preparations for the clean-up were made at a meeting of the solicitors in Lathrop hall last night in which Prof. E. H. Gardner, advisor to the committee, Frank Cosgrove '24 and committee chairmen gave short talks outlining the work and explaining the progress of the Memorial union project so far. Instruction sheets and pledge slips were distributed also.

"The Memorial union building being built by Wisconsin spirit is the best thought out building of its kind in the world," Professor Gardner said. "Those in charge of the plans have profited by the mistakes made in other schools and have adopted a set of plans as near perfect as possible. You seniors can help produce what these men have seen as necessary to the future of the university; it is a thing necessary to keep up student morale.

Show Lantern Slides

The sense of unity brought out by the close associations of the building will do much to keep Wisconsin in its rightful place as a leader among the universities of the country."

His talk was supplemented by lantern slides showing the interior plans of the building and sketches depicting the building as it will appear when completed. This was

ARREST OLIVA IN ROSENTHAL CASE

Held on Charge of Selling Liquor Which Resulted in Student's Death

Carmelo Oliva, 717 Milton street will appear tomorrow morning in Judge O. A. Stolen's court on the charge of selling liquor to students in connection with the party which preceded the death of Stanley W. Rosenthal '27, on May 4.

The accused was arrested yesterday morning and pleaded not guilty before Judge Stolen. His bond was set at $1,000 which he furnished yesterday afternoon.

After an investigation, started on May 5, by T. G. Lewis, district attorney, Oliva was arrested. The charges preferred are for selling and possessing illicit liquor and maintaining a public nuisance.

Oliva is said to conduct a pool room and a soft drink parlor at 832 West Washington avenue, at which the members of the party obtained the liquor on May 3. The students were able to identify the place of business, but not Oliva as the man who sold the liquor to them.

After an inquest by medical authorities at the clinic the death of Rosenthal was attributed to a heart disorder which might have caused his death at any time, and that liquor was not a factor in his death.

NEW BADGER HEADS TO BE PICKED TODAY

The selection of the editor and business manager for the 1926 Badger by the Badger Board will be announced tomorrow morning, according to Clifford Huff '26, president of Badger board.

This decision was made at a meeting of the board on Monday. At the meeting the situation was explained to the new members, Frances Porter '26, Dorothy Strauss '26 and Arthur Morsell '26 and to the faculty members, Mr. Jameson and Mr. Hyde. The qualities needed in a person holding the position of editor or business manager and the possibilities of five candidates were discussed.

Another meeting of the board will be held at 12:45 o'clock today in the Union building where the final selection of the heads will be made.

BOARD DANCES TO BE AT BERNARD'S

Permission Granted to Hold Student Affairs at Park Across Lake

Permission to run the next two weekend dances at Bernard's park has been obtained by the Union board. The dances will be strictly student affairs and will be managed just as the Lathrop parlor dances of Friday and Saturday nights are.

"The floor is in better condition for this time of year than I have ever seen it before and we are going to make the dances some of the best of the Union board offerings of the semester," Sam D. Thompson '24, manager of the dances said.

Cohen's, Lyons' and Fairbanks' orchestras will furnish the music for the two-week ends remaining before the examination period. Some of the same musicians probably will be engaged during the summer session when the board will manage the dances as a regular Union board summer activity.

The schedule of departure of the boats across the lake will be published in The Cardinal Friday morning. Boats will run on schedule so far as possible, but some effort will be made to accommodate large numbers of students if the attendance warrants.

RECITAL TO BE GIVEN BY MUSIC STUDENTS

Students of the school of Music will appear in a weekly convocation recital at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The recital is informal, but open to the public. Numbers on the program are "Pastoral," Scarlatti, piano solo by Roberta Odell '26, "Serenade," Schumann, vocal solo by Eloise Drake '27, "Song Without Words," Mendelssohn, piano solo by Ludelle Hinaman '27, "Sonata in G. Minor," Grieg, "Melodies Arising," Brahms-Kramer, and "Mazurka," Mlynarski, violin solo's by Lucille Scott, "To a Water Lily," MacDowell, piano solo by Maude Gray '26, and "Polish Dance," Scharwenka, piano solo by Margaret L. Keller, '26, "Rhapsody number 12," Liszt, piano solo by Constance Mac Lean '26.

TO TELL PLAYERS OF NEW YORK THEATERS

Prof. Gertrude Johnson of the speech department will talk on the recent New York theatrical season before the regular meeting of the University Players tonight in Lathrop hall. The talk will start at 8:15 o'clock after the regular business meeting beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The final plans for comedy night, which will be held Friday night in Lathrop concert room, will be discussed. Tickets for comedy night will be on sale on the hill all day today and tomorrow at 50 cents apiece.

HAESSLER WILL SPEAK ON WAR IN GYM TONIGHT

To Talk Under Auspices of Industrial Democracy League

Carl Haessler, managing editor of the Federated Press, a labor news service, will speak on the subject "Resistance to War" at 8 o'clock tonight in the gymnasium. Dr. Percy M. Dawson, assistant professor of physiology will introduce the speaker.

The address will be given under the auspices of the newly-formed Wisconsin chapter of the League for Industrial Democracy, the organizers of which were the officers of the Social Science club who resigned recently as a result of disagreement on the pacifist question.

Dropped From Faculty

Mr. Haessler, a member of the class of 1911, was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and was Rhodes scholar at Balliol college, Oxford from Wisconsin from 1911 to 1914. He was an instructor in philosophy at the University of Illinois from 1914 to 1917.

Because of a statement written on a draft registration card which read "I will not accept service if drafted because I cannot patriotically approve of the war," he was dropped from the faculty in June, 1917.

Sent To Prison

He refused his uniform when drafted, and was court-martialed and sentenced to twelve years at hard labor for "wilful disobedience in time of war." He was in prison at Fort Leavenworth and Alcatraz until August, 1920.

"The stream of war never runs dry," Haessler says. "There are too many springs feeding it. One of the most dependable feeders is the American college. When business interests demand that the war stream swell into a torrent, most college professors and all deans can be relied on to pour their drops into the martial ocean. I favor compulsory military drill in full uniform for all professors throughout the summer session as a prerequisite for a Carnegie pension," Haessler declares.

Henmon Returns From Meeting of National Council

Prof. V. A. C. Henmon, director of the school of education returned yesterday from Washington, D. C. where he attended the meeting of the division of anthropology and psychology at the new National Reserve Council building held last Friday and Saturday under the auspices of the National Reserve Council for representatives from the leading educational institutions of the country.

Questions of personnel research with college students were considered at the meeting together with the use of intelligence and achievement tests as applied to college students. Other work of the meeting consisted of consideration of vocational and educational guidance, mental hygiene and general matters of personnel nature.

The meeting was in charge of Professor Jenks, head of the education department of the University of Minnesota. Prominent professors from leading Eastern colleges such as Yale, Harvard and Columbia were present at the conference.

SOPHOMORE CLASS TO HOLD ANNUAL DANCE

The sophomore class invites all university students and faculty members to join in the annual class dance on Friday night, according to John M. Souerby, chairman of the entertainment committee. The dance is to be held at the Candy shop. Jess Cohen's orchestra will furnish the music. A spotlight dance and other features are promised. Mr. and Mrs. Harold K. Meyers will chaperon. Admission fee is $1.50 per couple.

NOMINATE YELLOW TASSEL OFFICERS

Final Elections For Junior Organization to Be Held at End of Month

Nominees for Yellow Tassel, class organization of junior women, announced by the nominating committee at the annual spring banquet of Red Gauntlet held in Lathrop parlors last night, are Miriam Inglis, president; Edith Boys, vice-president; Julia Peet, secretary; Louise McNaught, treasurer.

Open nominations for each office made from the floor are Mary Ann Young and Lillian Twenhofel, president; Alice Colony and Roberta Odell, vice-president; Bernadine Chesley and Katherine Kletzsch, secretary; Jane Pierson and Barbara Beatty, treasurer.

Final elections will be held at the end of this month in conjunction with Green Button and Blue Dragon when all officers for the sophomore, junior and senior classes will be chosen.

Alice Corl '25, president of S. G. A. gave a short talk on balance, in which she stated that in the junior year each girl must choose and keep a balance in activities. She warned the underclassmen that the junior year was the one year of college life that would tempt students away from scholastic pursuits.

MAY COUNTRY MAG PUT ON SALE TODAY

The May number of the Country magazine, dedicated to Dean Harry Luman Russel will make its appearance today. 183 snaps of agrie and home-ec seniors are included in this the Senior and Ag College History number. HARESFOOT SCRIBES WILL MEET TONIGHT

All those who are writing or intend to write books for next years Haresfoot show should meet at 7:30 o'clock this evening, in the Haresfoot office of the Union building, according to Tom Moroney '25, president of the club. Plans and suggestions for the plays will be made at that time.

Shooting Affair Takes on Graver Aspect; Coroner's Jury is Impanelled

By FRED GUSTORF

Results of yesterday's investigation into the circumstances surrounding the killing of Peter M. Posepnay '25 by Officer Patrick Powers late Monday night served only to lend the case a graver aspect instead of to uncover motives for the actions of the student, which might aid the coroner's jury in reaching a verdict of justifiable or unjustifiable homicide. Phil H. Sanborn, who is handling the case for the district attorney's office, expressed surprise over the complex turn that the evidence is taking.

R. E. Schneider of Two Rivers, who accompanied Posepnay's father here to take charge of the body, declared immediately upon his arrival in Madison last night that if the investigation conducted by local authorities is not thoroughly satisfactory, citizens of Two Rivers and friends of the slain boy will take the case and push it to the limit.

Hold Inquest Today

The inquest, ordered by the district attorney's office, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Superior court room. The jury which was impanelled yesterday in the presence of the body by Coroner Joseph Stephenson will hear all the evidence and listen to Powers' story of the shooting as well as his wife's description of Posepnay's conduct prior to the tragedy.

Peter M. Posepnay, Sr., grieved over the death of his son, insisted upon viewing the body in its resting place at the Williams undertaking parlors on North Frances street.

Can't Believe Boy Bad

"I can't believe Pete was a bad boy! I can't believe he was a bad boy!" was the only comment that the father could make as he bent over the bruised and discolored features of his son. It was apparent that the elderly little man, who could speak English but slightly himself, had placed great hope and pride in his boy who lay there slain before him.

JURY TO RENDER VERDICT TODAY IN POSEPNY KILLING

Subject of Tragedy Monopolizes Discussion Through-out Latin Quarter

sity and Dr. W. W. Gill, Madison physician, performed an autopsy yesterday afternoon to determine the location of the entrance and exit wounds and the incident angle of the bullet. From the nature of the exterior marks on the head the bullet apparently had entered at the base of the brain behind the right ear, and had passed through and out of the skull at the left temple close to the eye.

This fact, although not reported officially by the examining doctors, whose testimony is reserved for the inquest today, is based upon observation of the head wounds of the victim. If verified by Dr. Bunting and Dr. Gill, this point is in total contradiction to the story as related by Powers and reported in yesterday's papers.

University Not to Act

University authorities will take no official action in the progress of the investigation as long as it is evident that full justice will be done, according to the statements of Dean Scott H. Goodnight, who has looked into the situation thoroughly.

"The university must take the stand that the law must take its course and justice must be done," Goodnight declared. "The university must not appear as a prosecutor in the case, for such action is not justified unless there is convincing evidence that those handling the situation are not conducting it in full pursuit of justice."

Chief of Police Shaughnessy's order suspending Officer Powers temporarily, pending investigation and the inquest, came yesterday at the request of university officials.

"The authorities have shown every disposition to make a thorough investigation and see that justice will be done," Goodnight repeated emphatically. "The temporary suspension of the officer should not be interpreted as evidence either for or against him," he concluded.

That Posepny was arrested last year on a charge of disorderly conduct, or "peeping," is not denied by his friends, who say that his one weakness was to step aside, if attracted by activities inside a lighted room, and watch proceedings through the window. There is no definite evidence however to indicate that the student was upon such mission when accosted by Powers on the policeman's own premises.

No lights were on in the building at 420 North Lake, to the north of Powers' residence for according to Mrs. T. H. King who operates a girls' rooming house at that address all the women were at the Orpheum show, the same that Posepny attended, and the group returned to their rooms after the shooting had occurred.

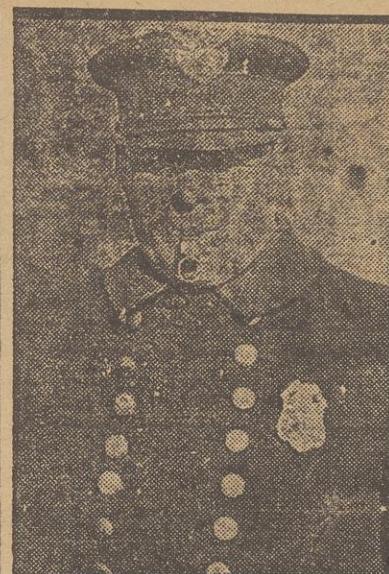

Effect of Shows

The psychological effect upon a person's mind of the mystery play "Cat and Canary" from which Posepny was returning has been given some weight by the dead boy's friends who saw the show with him. Frances Martell '27, who left Posepny at the corner of State and Lake streets five minutes before the shooting took place, expressed the opinion that anyone having seen such a mystery play where screaming and shrieking was so prevalent would still be under the influence of the atmosphere of the show while on the way home.

"Although this point does not explain the boy's presence on Power's back porch, it might have some bearing upon his temporary panic when startled by the order to put up his hands," was the comment of Posepny's room-mate, F. L. Fischer.

Throughout the Latin quarter

Officer Patrick Powers has been suspended from the Madison police force pending investigations concerning the killing of Peter Posepny, student.

and the entire city the subject of the shooting was the sole topic of conversation. On street corners and in classes everyone was discussing the justifiability of the killing. The scene of the tragedy, Officer Powers' unprepossessing residence on Lake street, was visited all day by curious students who wished to have the account of the event rehearsed for them and view the blood stain on the sidewalk near the porch steps.

Collections for flowers were taken up in some of Posepny's classes yesterday and every student who knew the man at all was testifying to others of his integrity and moral character.

News of the killing did not reach The Cardinal until after two o'clock Tuesday morning, too late for the morning edition which had already gone to the press room.

BADGERS TO TACKLE STRONG GOPHER NINE TODAY AT MINNESOTA

Team Leaves to Play Postponed Game; Varsity in Good Condition

Wisconsin's championship aspiring baseball team left for Minneapolis last night where they tackle the strong Minnesota nine this afternoon. The Badger team, after defeating Michigan on Monday, is in the best of condition and will give the Gophers plenty of competition.

Yesterday's practice for the varsity consisted in hitting and fielding. Coach Lowman stressed the infield work because of the errors the team made in the second inning of the game against Michigan.

The batting of the team has shown a great improvement and it will now take a good pitcher to stop Tangen, Goss, Emmanuel, Dugan and Aschenbrenner. These men have been hitting the ball hard and are near the top of the conference batting averages.

Today's game was supposed to have been played last Saturday, but bad weather conditions caused its postponement. The Minnesota squad this year has some good men, as they have already beaten Indiana and Iowa, but have lost to the Wolverines. They have an especially good pitching staff.

"I can't prophecy about the outcome of the game," said Coach Lowman last night, "but I hope we win. If the weather turns out to be warm either Christianson or Johnson should be able to beat them. But they have a strong outfit, and we will have to play real ball in order to turn them back."

The infield, with Steen, Goss, Ellingson and Tangen, is getting better every day and few errors should be chalked up against them.

The men who will make the trip are Johnson, Christianson, and Luther, pitchers; Aschenbrenner and Wold, catchers; Steen, Goss, Ellingson, Tangen and Skaife, infielders; Dugan, Emmanuel, Varnay, and Servatious, outfielders. Besides the above, there will be Coach Lowman and Manager Murphy. The man who will draw the pitching assignment has not yet been decided upon, as this will depend upon the weather.

SIG SPLASHERS TAKE FRATERNITY RELAY

In the inter fraternity relay in which six teams competed the Sigma Chi team took first place and Alpha Kappa Lambda took second. The Sig Chi team did not have any stars such as Erv. Gerber, who swam an exceptional race for his team, and Czerwonky, who also helped his team greatly.

The relay was a four man event, each man swimming 40 yards. The race was run on a time basis, the winners making 1:04.4-5 and second place team 1:27.1-5.

The men on the winning team were Aitken, Butler, Monihan, and Gilbreath. The team was well balanced as no man lost any ground but held on to his position. Gerber was anchor man for his team and it was due to the race he swam that his team took second.

There will be two cups awarded. Several teams dropped out at the last moment so that it will not be necessary to give out more.

FROSH TRACK TEAM TO ENGAGE ILLINOIS

Wisconsin's 1924 freshman track team will engage in its first telegraphic meet at Camp Randall on Thursday afternoon, May 15, when it competes against the Illinois first year men.

The freshmen have held trials in the running events and in the field events and are expected to make a good showing against the strong Illini team.

"We hope to beat Illinois," declared Captain Charles E. McGinnis, "but the freshmen at Urbana have several individual stars, in addition to a well-balanced team, and they will give us hard competition in every event."

APPLETON—The Rev. C. W. Gilkey, Chicago, will deliver the commencement address at Lawrence College on June 18.

FRATERNITIES RESUME BASEBALL SCHEDULE

In a postponed game of the second round of the interfraternity baseball tournament the Zeta Beta Tau nine defeated the Sigma Phi crew 6-2.

Games for today are: Theta Chi vs. Delta Pi Epsilon, 6 o'clock Varsity West.

Delta Sigma Pi vs. Kappa Sig 6 o'clock Varsity East.

D. U. vs. Chi Phi 6 o'clock Frosh Field No. 1.

Phi Delta vs. Delta Sig 6 o'clock Frosh Field No. 2.

QUAD MEET DRAWS RECORD ATHLETES

Men From Chicago, Ohio, and Northwestern Compete Here Saturday

Entries from Chicago and Northwestern for the quadrangular track meet which will be held at Camp Randall on Saturday, May 17, were received at the gymnasium yesterday afternoon. Ohio State's entries are expected to be in the hands of athletic officials today.

Although Chicago and Northwestern have decided which tracksters will compete here on Saturday, tryouts are still being held to determine the men who will represent Wisconsin.

Brickman, McFarlane, Jones, Bourke, and Frieda can be counted upon as sure point winners for the Maroons. Brickman will compete in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, 120-yard low hurdles and 220-yard high hurdles, and broad jump, while McFarlane will also run the sprints.

Frieda, who ranks as one of the best weight men in the conference, will throw the discus and javelin. Jones will participate in the hurdle events, and Rourke has entered the distance runs.

With Calhoun, Martin, Kahn, Loveland, and J. Davis in the running events, Northwestern has a quintet of fast cinder path men. Beard high jumper, Bouschor, pole vaulter, and Magnuson shot putter, are other members of the Purple team who have made good marks in their events.

Wisconsin's weight men are going through a week of intensive practice. In the Minnesota dual meet, the weakness of the Badger discus, javelin, and hammer throwers was evident, while improvement must be shown in the hurdle races if Wisconsin expects to place in this event.

START ELIMINATION TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Arrangements have been made by George Berg, director of intramurals, for an elimination tennis tournament to be open to any men on the campus.

The tournament is to be divided into doubles and singles competition, and is to start next week on the student courts. Entries may be

ENTRIES COMING IN RAPIDLY FOR SCHOLASTIC MEET

More Than 500 High School Athletes Signed Up For Thirteenth Event

Approximately 500 men representing between 60 and 70 high schools of the state will be present at the thirteenth interscholastic track meet to be held here under the auspices of the athletic department of the university on May 31 in connection with Venetian night.

In addition to the 500 men who are expected at the track meet, there will be 80 men entered in the state high school tournament which will be held in connection with the track meet.

Organizations of the city of Madison as well as campus organizations are taking a hearty interest in the affair and are planning to help entertain the high school men while in the city for the week end.

The events of the track meet have been divided into two divisions A and B. The first division will include teams from high schools with an enrollment of 300 and over and the second division will take in the schools with an enrollment under 300. The meet is scheduled to start at 1:30 o'clock.

Four standard Wisconsin interscholastic medals will be awarded in each event in each class. A special trophy will be awarded to the individual point winner, and a special medal to any athlete setting a new record. In the tennis meet awards will be given to first and second places.

The athletic department has arranged for reduced railroad rates for the high school teams and the men will be housed by the fraternities while in the city.

CARELESS KILLING

It is a bitter turn that again links the name of a Madison policeman with the killing of a university student, this time, Peter Posepny on last Monday night.

The first impulse of the student body, sympathetic for one of its members, is to express itself in a vehement burst of indignation at the freakish system that allows officers of law to be so careless of a student's life, the system that permits a recurrence of the inexcuseable shooting of May 29, 1920, when Carl Jandorf was destroyed in cold blood by the pistol of Patrolman Matt Lyngaugh for having a minor part in making off with a barber pole for the cap night bonfire.

"The cops are crazily shooting students again," was the first reaction in many parts of the campus yesterday.

But, in the light of strict fairness, the shooting of Posepny cannot be set up along side that of Jandorf as equal in the force of its condemnation of the Madison police force. Lyngaugh, excited and unreasonable, and on duty, deliberately shot Jandorf, knowing he was a student and that his offense was inconsequential. Patrolman Patrick Powers on Monday night was off duty and acting as a private householder protecting his own property. The man he saw in the dark and shot, accidentally so he claims, was to him a prowler and perhaps a professional burglar.

Nevertheless, Powers in civic life is a policeman. He should know how to handle a gun. It is grim irony that the policemen of the Madison department are consistently such bad shots, missing the men they try to hit as in the case of the escaping convict Whitfield, and hitting the men they try to miss as with Posepny.

Granting that Posepny may have had no business in the rear of Powers' house, it is a pretty serious indictment of Madison's police training when one of its veteran officers, responsible to the community for cool-headedness and judgment, more than the average man, so far loses control of himself that he can capture a suspect only by killing him.

Powers, of course, has the right to explain why he shot at Posepny at all. There may have been reasons as yet undiscovered. A fair and impartial coroner's jury has been promised from authoritative sources; the governor has ordered an investigation. It is only reasonable to reserve any condemnation of Powers' until the results of the trials are made known.

No amount of investigating can atone for the loss of the boy's life, of course. That is the sorry part of it. But investigation can, if carried to a forcible finish, inspire the Madison public and particularly the police officers with a truer sense of the value of a human life. And so the trial must be carried to a forcible finish, fair and conclusive. The student body demands the forestalling of any more careless killings.

EVERYBODY'S WATCHING '24

For the first time in the history of Wisconsin's Union, a group other than the paid executives of the organization has undertaken a campaign, voluntarily, to raise more money among its members so that Wisconsin's ideal may be sooner achieved.

The class of 1924 is that group.

Because of the courageous movement of the class, eyes all over the country are turned to Wisconsin today to see if 1924 is sincere! Already many letters from alumni have been sent with the expression that this evidence of student initiative has given birth to a new enthusiasm among the alumni.

Others of the alumni, however, are watching to see if it was a bluff. They are eagerly hoping that what they dreamed for of the students has come and they anxiously await the announced results of tomorrow's canvas among the seniors.

The senior students in charge of the one day campaign have announced that for every ten life subscriptions the cannon will boom once.

The noise of booming cannon tomorrow should be so deafening that its reverberations shall penetrate to the ears of Wisconsin's most remote alumnus.

Everybody's watching '24 today.

The open-shop campaign has hit the organized labor movement a severe blow. In 1920 the American Federation of Labor had a membership of 4,078,740. It lost 710,000 members in 1922 and 269,167 last year. These are the figures of the Labor Research Department of the Rand School, friendly to labor.

The drop in membership is surprising for last year, which was a widespread period of shortage of skilled labor.

WE GROW SLOWLY

Everyone is familiar with the popular argument that the easiest way to make a thing look odious is to make it compulsory and those who are continually advocating the abolition of all restraints upon university students never lose an opportunity to protest that they are now mature men and women and will seek and pursue the right things without any paternalistic, secondary school supervision. Much as we should like to believe that the University of Michigan is ready for such conditions, the facts are hopelessly against us. Before we can hope to approximate the status of the great English and continental universities, we must give evidence of an intelligent spirit which for the most part seems absent here at Michigan.

These remarks are prompted by a consideration of the small student interest in the large number of University lectures offered every year. During the year now drawing to a close, the University and the Oratorical association have brought to Ann Arbor nearly forty speakers, most of them of international eminence and most of their lectures free to the public. And yet the student body, with rare exceptions, has been utterly apathetic towards this intellectual banquet proffered them and many students probably graduate without any knowledge that University lectures exist. Dr. Livingston Farrand, Robert Frost and Bertrand Russell have had large audiences, but it was evident that the faculty and towns-people in each case were almost solely responsible for the crowded auditorium. On the other hand, such distinguished visitors as Dr. R. A. Millikan, Grant Showerman, Professor Sorokin, Professor Ehrenfest, Professor Charlier, Dr. H. G. Multon have talked to many rows of empty seats despite the fact that they were widely advertised and there was no admission charge. The Oratorical association lectures which are offered at a nominal price are only slightly more popular and there again it is not the University men and women who patronize them most heavily.

The unavoidable conclusion of all this is that the University student body is intellectually dormant, an opinion which, however, most discerning observers can form without examining attendance at non-compulsory lectures. Until the student body can, of its own initiative, manifest some interest in the things of the mind, all our boasted civilization and liberal education is a sham and a delusion. The reception accorded these famous men may be regarded as a pretty accurate barometer of the state of campus intelligence. We have in one sense, experimented with education freed from the evil of coercion and found that the students are not yet ready for such independence. Until they can prove their fitness for the freedom they seek, their demands for it are simply laughable.—Michigan Daily.

Subscriptions Total $20,000

That the Senior class had already contributed $20,000 to the Union fund was the statement made by John Dollard, secretary to the Union, last night.

"The Senior class has done much for the Union," said Jack, "but the credit should not go to those who haven't done their part." Today those who haven't subscribed to the Union will be asked to file their subscriptions so that '24 can go over the top 100% strong."

Here Are the Facts:

Total now subscribed, $891,000.
Total amount needed to build the Union, $1,250,000.

If every Senior subscribed his rightful $50 share, the Seniors will add today, $50,000.

Do your bit today Senior! For the Union—for the glory of old '24!

Sam Thompson—"Waukesha will be my next stop. I'm going to try to make better Thompson's Malted
Milk for the tap room of the Union.
It'll deserve the best."

Evelyn Smith is coming back to do post graduate work in English here.

Marjorie Capron Groves '24—is going to be in Chicago doing free lance writing, with household duties as a side issue.

BULLETIN

Fighting was reported heaviest last night in the vicinity of Murray, Lake and North Francis streets—these were mostly hand to hand combats without the aid of the artillery.
Over a dozen old alibis were killed or taken prisoner. Field Marshal Tex
Dawson and Brigadier General Frautschi ordered three battalions over the top at eight this morning.
'24's great offensive is expected to sweep everything before it—another laurel for old '24!

Hundreds are rally- ing to the CAUSE!

birthright—the right to build their part of the Union. Off Muir Knoll the Cannon will today mark the progress of the Senior subscriptions will boom forth in celebration of $500 more for the Union.
