PRICE 5 CENTS

ACTUAL WORTH OF ARCTIC LAND NOT REALIZED

—STEFANSSON

Noted Explorer Tells of True Conditions Existing in Polar Regions

ILLUSTRATES HIS TALK

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, explorer, in addressing an audience of 1,200 in the gym last night, gave an account of the Polar regions which calls for a complete unlearning of all conceptions now held of the north, and stated that former explorers have refrained from revealing the real conditions of Arctic lands only because of the pleasures derived from picturing the country as a theater of heroic sacrifice, and fantastic romance.

"The light of the north can no longer be hidden under a bushel," said Mr. Stefansson. The time has come when the world must realize the economic worth of the vast plains of the Arctic circle.

Is Not a Dreamer

"Canada will become united from south to north, and as the most important dominion of the British Empire, will soon be giving the United States a close race for supremacy in the western world."

Stefansson, after returning from the north in 1914, realizing the economic possibilities of the fertile plains, and appreciating the ease with which access could be made to the great quantities of oil, coal, iron, and copper which he knew to exist there, had great difficulty in convincing the governments of England, United States, and Canada that he was not a young dreamer, but a man who thoroughly understood what he was talking about.

Not Cold at Pole

"My main point is to drive home the fact that, contrary to every conception of the climate at the pole, the temperature seldom falls under 60 degrees below 0, Fahrenheit, a drop not as great as that in some sections of Montana. In the summer the thermometer rises to 50 and 60 degrees above zero.

"Men have been proclaimed heroes for living in the frozen north, but school children in North Dakota are not aware that they are enjoying life at the same temperature as that of the North Pole.

Lived on Seal Meat

"Temperature depends solely upon the altitude of the land and not upon its closeness to the pole. Poppies, roses, anemones, bluebells, and golden rod flourish in the Arctic.

EVAM SCHEDULES

The schedule for the semester exams is printed in this issue of The Daily Cardinal. All students are requested to clip this schedule and save it for future reference, inasmuch as no other printed copies will be available.

N. O. L. MEET IS WON BY PURPLE

(Special to Daily Cardinal.)

CHICAGO, Ill., May 6—James W. Armstrong, Northwestern, won first place in the 32nd annual contest of the Northern Oratorical league here last night.

His subject, "The Adventure of Peace," was an eloquent plea to maintain the high ideal and courage of war-time. He spoke with force, sympathy and power.

Sidney Bensen, Minnesota, took second with a defense of Soviet Russia. Julius B. Glasgow, Michigan, won third with an appeal for International disarmament. Most of the speeches were attempted solutions for international problems.

Other contestants were not ranked. Erling Ylvisaker, Wisconsin, spoke fifth, just after the winning oration. The delegates dined last night as guests of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary public speaking fraternity.

TOWNSEND TO HEAD OCTOPUS

Lowell, Rubel, and Seaman Elected to Important Positions

Hubert F. Townsend '23 will succeed Rodney C. Welsh, who will graduate from the course in journalism in June, as managing editor of the Wisconsin Octopus. Henry S. Rubel '23 will be art editor, Cedric E. Seaman '23, literary editor, and Arthur Towle '23, business manager for the year 1922-23.

The members of the new Board of Editors are as follows: Charles N. Demarest '23, Kenneth Fagg '23, Margaret Brabant '23, Charles J. Lewin '23, Peter M. Platten '23, Richard Bellock '24, Muriel Leitzell '24, and Arthur Freytag '23.

Other members of the staff follow: Charles Miller '25, associate art editor; Laurens G. Hastings '23, associate literary editor; Porter F. Butts '24, exchange editor; Courtland R. Conlee '24, publicity manager; John Bergstresser '25, and Gordon Lewis '25.

The business staff will be composed of: Milo Smith '23, associate business manager; George Hazen '23, advertising manager; Clark Hazelwood '24, assistant advertising manager; Willard Kirchner '24, circulation manager; Oscar Zander, collection manager.

The qualifications of the managing editor and business manager follow:

Managing editor — Hubert F. Townsend '23. Townsend is now associate editor of the Octopus, member of Phi Kappa Sigma, Delta Pi Delta, Sigma Delta Chi, and Skull and Crescent fraternities, and also a member of Haresfoot.

Business manager — Arthur Towle. Towle is now advertising manager of the Octopus and is a member of Phi Alpha Delta fraternity.

Haresfooters Give Features at Supper

Special features by "Reggie" Garstang, "Heintz" Rubel, and Porter Butts will be some of the attractions at the annual Mortar Board May supper, May 11, in Barnard court for the benefit of the Mortar Board scholarship fund.

Supper will be served from 5:30 to 8:30 in the court, and a special orchestra will play for the dancers in the south dining room.

Many fraternity and sorority houses are not serving supper on that night in order to aid the May day supper to be profitable enough to maintain the scholarship for the next year. Tickets are 75 cents.

Three Per Cent of All 'W' Men Make Good in Business

What becomes of the athlete after he leaves college?

This question which is being debated pro and con in college circles is answered in the baseball number of the Athletic Review which will be on sale at the Illinois-Wisconsin game this afternoon.

Three per cent of all the men who have been awarded the "W" prior to 1912 have made a place for themselves in "Who's Who in America," according to an article in the Review. The records of Judge Karel, Norsky Larson, H. H. Jacobs, John Richards, Walter Alexander, Max Mason, Doctor Harper, and others, Wisconsin men who at one time were prominent in the athletic world, are quoted as examples of athletes who have become successful business men.

Walter Johnson, star pitcher of the Washington baseball club, has an article in the Review telling of the experiences he encountered while breaking into the big leagues. Every pitcher must have a fast ball in order to be effective, in the belief of Johnson.

Eddie Collins and Sam Rice have also contributed to this issue of the magazine. Collins gives a few ideas on infield play, while Rice, centerfielder of the Washington Americans, has an article on the essentials of outfielding and hitting.

"Baseball As He Used to Was" is the title of a rather humorous article dealing with the origin of the game 4,000 years ago. Themistocles was one of the best shortstops in the business at that time, if the editors of the Review have uncovered reliable facts concerning the athletic diversions of the ancient Greeks and Romans.

Bring Venice Here For Venetian Night

A bit of old Venice will be transported to the University of Wisconsin the evening of Saturday, May 27, when the annual Venetian night program will be given. Lighted floats, decorated piers, and snatches of music are to lend atmosphere to the occasion, and help make Venetian night the biggest event of the spring.

That all campus organizations enter floats in the carnival, and as many other people who have canoes or would like to rent them, is the wish of the committee in charge of the parade. Persons who do not own canoes, but desire to enter floats can obtain information regarding boats from George Parker '22.

Cubs Hold Annual Frolic at Lathrop

A feature dance act by Rowena Brown '23 and Fred Siebert '23, dancing to Boyd's orchestra and a one-act farce are the offerings of Press club in its annual Pi-Nite, the last event in Journalism week, this evening in Lathrop hall, at 8 o'clock.

William Tannevitz '23, Carol Goodyear '23, Kieth Davis '23, and Margaret Daly '23 will appear in the original farce. Special costumes and a dance number will feature this presentation.

A slight of hand performance by a professional artist will follow.

During the intermission the special feature dance will be given. Rowena Brown, 24 will wear the "Handkerchief" gown designed by Hubert Townsend '23 and worn by him in the recent Haresfoot show.

Henry C. Campbell, of the Milwaukee Journal, who was to have closed the lectures for Journalism week was unable to be here. He will probably speak before the end of the school year. Tickets are 75 cents.

BASEBALL NINE MEETS STRONG ILLINOIS TEAM

Game is Called at 1:30 at

J. Williams, 1b	Hellstrom, 3b

Two shifts in the lineup of the Wisconsin baseball team have been made by Coach Guy S. Lowman to put the strongest possible combination on the field against Illinois, pennant-chasing nine at Camp Randall this afternoon.

The game will begin at 1:30, and the track meet with the Suckers, who are said to have the best college team in America, will start at 3:30.

Combacker at Second

Combacker has been stationed at second base again. He played the keystone sack against Notre Dame and Michigan, but Piggott replaced him in the last contest with the Catholics. Second base has been one of the big problems since the graduation of Carson Lyman.

Foy, Skaife, Combacker, and Piggott have played the sack at different times but each displayed some weakness. Combacker appears to have the edge over the others after last week's practice and he may find a regular berth in the infield.

No Hurler Named

Christianson will take Dugan's position in right field. The pitcher-outfielder is a good man to have in the game. He is experienced and is as effective with the stick as he is in the garden.

Either Capt. Paddock or Hoffman will start on the mound. Coach Lowman declared last night that he would not select a hurler until he saw the men work out before the game. Cloudy and rainy weather has been predicted. Hoffman's deceptive delivery may be able to stop the Illinois slugging crew better than a fast ball pitcher could.

Illini Pounce on Chicago

Two of the best teams in the middle West will stack up against each other when the men of Lowman meet those of Coach Lundgren. Illinois has lost one game this season to Michigan by a 3 to 1 score. The

PHI BETA KAPPA ELECTS TODAY

Phi Beta Kappa will announce its election to membership tomorrow. High scholarship in letters and science, "an active, alert intellectual interest in many fields of knowledge widely separated from commercial profit and most alien to vocation" is the basis for election.

The Wisconsin chapter of the honorary society has 895 living members at present. About 116 members of the faculty, men and women, are affiliated. Those faculty members who have stayed at the university for more than a year have the right to vote while undergraduate members are merely associated with the society.

The United chapters of Phi Beta Kappa today number 89 in all and the living membership is more than 35,000. A golden key "The Phi Beta Kappa Key", is the emblem of the organization.

(Editor's Note—The Duke Di Kakiak is in town for the week-end and we persuaded him to knock off this col.)

WITH a picture of Corinne Griffith (a movie actress—not a co-ed) in scanty garbage before us and a modicum of scotch (furnished by the editor we find it hard to gather together the bally wits for the formulation of quips, voice, and etc. It is quite a task to keep the reader out of a state of anti-insomniis or disawakefulness as O'Henry might, in fact, did say.)

The first requisite of a column is to refrain from the mentioning of personal names as: George Lennox and Shorty Barr.

This reminds us of the almost serious tiff these two gentlemen (oh, well, why not call them that?) had lately. George in a spirit of saving and thrift refused to pay Shorty a debt of honor, one cigar. The argument ensued, it may please you to know, was what woke up Lake street the other night. It's lucky George didn't owe Shorty a piano or a baseball field.

WE ARE handicapped greatly by the absence of Al Rogers. He has been the chief source of gossip around here for the past nine years.

GILL Gnagi runs him a close second.

AND, BY THE way, Gentlemen Lizzie Hoard dropped into town yesterday afternoon. Handsome Bill used to be the pride of the columunist's heart. He furnished plenty of material at all times.

IT IS good to see the familiar figure of Ralphie Scott, the Kappa Sig walrus, gracing the vernal landscape again.

IT IS strange to see the venerable John Moroney stricken by the darts of cupid. Mary Dief, done it with her wiles.

IF STEFANSSON wants really to learn about cold weather, he has only to sleep one winter in the Phi Delta barn.

WE HEAR Ole Hougan is polling a large number of votes in the big beauty contest.

NINE STUDENTS DISCIPLINED BY FACULTY BODY

7 Offenders Required to Do 71 Extra Credits; 2 Are Suspended

Since its report in April the committee on discipline has taken the following actions, which have been approved by the university faculty:

A conference junior found guilty of misconduct in Economics 181, in the face of repeated warnings, must do 6 extra credits toward graduation, and is placed on probation until February, 1923.

Two L and S freshmen found guilty of gross dishonesty, planned beforehand, in an examination in Physics, must each do 15 extra credits toward graduation, and both are placed on probation until February, 1923.

An L and S freshman girl, found guilty of dishonesty in Zoology, f, must do 12 extra credits toward graduation, and is placed on probation until February, 1923.

A Commerce junior, found guilty of misconduct in relation to use of the library, must do 3 extra credits toward graduation, and is placed on probation until February, 1923.

GUS Tuckerman and Dave Mahoney announce that they will give away new one dollar bills at the corner of Murray and State streets next Monday morning.

UNDERSTAND someone asked Heinie Coerper what his vocation was. He replied that it was the last two weeks in August. Suppose he thinks South Bend is a setting up exercise. (Orpheum goak).

BY THE WAY, this young man has fallen out of love impoverishing thereby our stock of material.

A COUPLE of years ago when we were attending this univ. prohibition was still in force to some extent.

HEARD an interesting story about a young Chi Psi who recently had his car stolen. He came home late that night with the front cushion under his arm.

LEANDER Ferguson must have suffered terribly with last winter's cold, which apparently made his feet contract. They are now only 18 inches long.

SIGN ON A SCOTCH GOLF COURSE Don't pick up any lost balls until they stop rolling!

In conclusion we must state that Charley Manson is the laziest man on earth. He promised to write a poem for us but failed through his love of intrtia.

THE DUKE DI KAKIAK

A DA—MN GOOD POEM Once again old May rolls by As can easily be seen in air and sky, And puts new life in our young blood, And makes us all feel mighty good. Us seniors must surely hate To think that soon we must graduate.

Remembering lovingly college As we leave these here hallowing haunts.

An L. and S. sophomore, found guilty of dishonesty in Philosophy 43, must do 15 extra credits toward graduation, and is placed on probation until February, 1923.

An L. and S. junior was found guilty of dishonesty in Zoology, f, This being his second offense, he was indefinitely suspended from the university.

An L. and S. junior, found guilty of dishonesty in Zoology, b, must do 5 extra credits toward graduation, and is placed on probation until February, 1923.

One student, accused of dishonesty, refused to appear before the Committee. She was therefore suspended from the university until she chooses to appear.

3 Patriotic Movies Shown on Thursday

Chicken Chasers? Ah, No! Firemen Lend Helping Hand

Herbert Jeffries, Oregon farmer, brought a load of chickens to town Wednesday morning to the Esser Meat market, and today firemen of the central company are enjoying a box of cigars on him.

Just as Jeffries was unloading the birds, something happened, and presently a rooster and about a dozen hens fluttered out of their cages and began to run about the streets, dodging autos and pedestrians. The firemen rushed to the rescue and restored the chickens to their proper abode.

Genuine Talent Is Displayed In Spanish Play

By ALEXANDER FITE

Last night two short plays composed by members of the Club, "La Pregunta Diaria" by Florence Low '23 and "El Idilio de Lolita" by Samuel Wofsy '22, and a longer play "De Madrid a Alcala" by Parellada were presented by the Spanish club with an amount of verve and sureness of dramatic judgment that the writer has seldom seen surpassed in a purely amateur production.

The farce "De Madrid a Alcala" was the most ambitious part of the program redolent with the Spanish atmosphere, and there was not a dull moment in it. Much credit must go to Herbert Sapper '24, George Reed '24, and Calvert Dedrick '24, not only for having brought the play up to such a high point of excellency, but also for their untiring labors in designing and setting up the artistic and appropriate scenery.

Dedrick was a scream as the garrulous unsquelchable Catalonian; he is a born comedian. Sapper as the ubiquitous and noisy cadet, Margaret Sickles '23, as the capricious little bride, Hannah Krome '22 as the flighty doting mother, Charles Hield '22, brother of the cowl, and Bess Fisher '22, so discreetly deaf and dumb until she was ready to say a mouth full—all interpreted their parts in animated and convincing style.

Robert Dustan '22 was also good as the servant in "Idilio" and policeman in "La Pregunta" while Lena Norman '25 contributed the grace and capriciousness that the role of Lolita seemed to demand.

The Ideal College Man Will Be Pictured In May—Commerce Mag

The "Gilded Peacock" will speak when the Commerce magazine will be issued next Tuesday with complete returns gathered by the questionnaires. A composite picture of the "ideal college man" will be drawn by the 500 women who did the balloting.

The women will tell how many men would marry for love, money, or social position, whether a college education makes a better husband, the five greatest faults of men students, the general types of college men, and whether student morals have been affected by modern dress, dancing, and manners.

In the June issue of the magazine, 500 men students will give a composite answer, to the opinions on men expressed by the women students.

A vote on the most beautiful girl in the university, the handsomest man, the ablest professor, the most popular girl, most popular man, and most popular professor, is now being conducted by the magazine.

Student Court May Be Next Step At M.H.S.

Rumor Judicial Body to Handle Offenders at High School

That a student court, before which all disobedient students will be tried and sentenced, will follow on the heels of the formation of a student senate at the Madison high school, was common talk about the school corridors and campus today. Student self government in the school will be an issue for the student body to decide next Monday morning when they meet in the auditorium to vote on the question. Principal Valney G. Barnes declares that in the event the vote is too close, a secret ballot on the resolutions will be taken.

The plan being given most consideration is the formation of a court to hear charges made against members of the student body, and pass sentence upon the offender. The decision of the student court would be subject to appeal to Principal Barnes.

The resolutions proposed by a group of prominent students will be considered by popular vote first. The move for a clean-up of lax conditions among the athletes and the student body was made voluntarily by a self-appointed committee. Mr. Barnes is greatly in favor of the move and has given it his hearty sanction.

"I have always wanted to see this thing done but I have never suggested it to the students. The move has been wholly voluntary on their part."

First Real Million Dollar Movie Comes To Orph Next Week

The third of a series of big super-plays which will be shown at the Orpheum following the close of the local vaudeville season will be von Stroheim's million dollar Universal production, "Foolish Wives," which recently broke all world's records for attendance at the Capitol theater, New York, where 22,466 people witnessed the performance of the opening day.

"Foolish Wives" was more than 18 months in the course of preparation and the actual cost of the picture prior to release exceeded $1,104,000. Some 5,000 people are seen in the picture and the largest and most magnificent settings ever erected in an American studio are much in evidence according to reports. The von Stroheim play will commence a week's engagement at the Orpheum on Monday afternoon, May 8.

Forty-eight real plate glass windows, each 12 feet high and 4 feet wide, were used in one of the costly buildings constructed for the filming of "Foolish Wives." The glass was used in the front of the set duplicating the celebrated Cafe de Paris at Monte Carlo. von Stroheim demanded the glass so his cameras could catch the reflection of the massive Hotel de France, and the famous gambling Casino, sets constructed nearby. This directorial whim for absolute realism cost Universal $12,000.

AS FRANKLY ANSWERED

IN the latest issue of The Michigan Daily appeared the following courageous paragraphs:

"Fellows! Last week you razed our new men. Don't do that today. If you want to razz anyone, razz Michigan." This sportsmanlike advice was issued by the Wisconsin cheer-leader before the game last Saturday, and the Badger rooters, being of convivial and obedient sort, carried it out most faithfully. They "rode" Michigan's athletes to perfection and without mercy.

One Wolverine player who made an error on a hard-hit grounder was loudly hooted every time he appeared on the field thereafter. Two Michigan men who were hit by pitched balls were vociferously condemned for not getting out of the way and heartily laughed at for stopping to rub their bruised parts. These are but a few examples of how the cheer-leader's advice was followed, and in them is not mentioned the list of comedy epithets with which each Michigan player was hailed in the course of the game.

Thus the Michigan Daily, in its editorial column, sympathizes with the "abused" Michigan players and accuses Wisconsin of poor sportsmanship.

Michigan's memory is a strange one. Those times when the Wisconsin crowd indulged in good-natured "razzing," as good-naturedly suggested by the Badger cheer-leader, Michigan has no difficulty in remembering. But, seemingly, those occasions when the Badger crowd gave a "hand" and a cheer to the good plays made by any Michigan player are forgotten.

Does Michigan expect that such incidents of "razzing" are absent in any game where the crowd of rooters is largely partisan. Were Wisconsin playing at Ann Arbor, can it be that Michigan would populate the stands with a crowd of rooters who would cheer as loud and as long for one side as they would for the other? Can it be that Michigan crowds would entirely refrain from the "razzing" that is part and parcel of any ball game, professional or amateur?

If the Michigan rooters are spirited, their team, at least, is not. It was only a short year ago that Michigan, but at Ann Arbor and at Madison, established a none too enviable reputation for having a team largely composed of kickers and "beefers."

It is but a year ago that a Michigan coach and a Michigan team made such strenuous complaints against an umpire's decision that the decision was reversed. As a result Wisconsin lost their earned victory. It was lost because a Michigan coach and a Michigan team were lacking, as they now accuse Wisconsin of lacking, some of the essentials of college sportsmanship.

Also it was but a year ago that Michigan, while playing at Madison, added to their afore-mentioned reputation. Wolverine players on at least one occasion in the game ran from their several stations on the field to gather around the umpire in a loud and lusty "kick" over a decision. Hardly sportsmanship, Michigan, hardly baseball!

In the game of last Saturday the Michigan player who was most "razzed" by the crowd was so "razzed" because he kicked on a decision at one of the bases and later at the home plate. If a Wisconsin player had showed such poor sportsmanship he also would have been razed. It is a part of the game to take the decisions as they come, or at least to accept them as coming from authority.

The Wolverine team is very evidently composed of men who have played years of baseball and who should by this time have learned the ethics which govern rooters and players. Their lack of sportsmanship cannot be attributed to their youth nor to their inexperience in the game.

It is to be regretted that the Wolverine baseball team is not imbued with some of the same spirit as is its football team.

But it is more to be regretted that Michigan, while conveniently forgetting so much, also forgets that it is best to clean the home camp first.

WISCONSIN DEMOCRACY

WISCONSIN boasts of its democracy. The university prates of it; also does the state. And, if the term is interpreted in its original meaning, we should be proud of our democracy.

The trouble is that we are not accepting it with the limitations that should be placed upon it. Lincoln, in his Gettysburg address, told us that all men are created equal. This is the spirit in which the Declaration of Independence was written; this is the spirit with which we entered the world war and which has moved America throughout its national existence.

While all men must be accepted as being created equal—that does not mean that throughout their lives this equality will continue to exist. Some will have inherited tendencies which will cause them to be geniuses in their chosen field. Others will be the commonplace, but dependable sort that forms a bulwark supporting our nation. Still others will be spending a major portion of their lives behind prison walls or in insane asylums.

"Democracy makes strange bedfellows." Let everyone be accepted as equal, but they should then prove their worth. In the struggle for existence the natural law rules that the stronger or brainier shall survive. That is the law of nature; it is the law of business.

U. W. Scored For Condition At Randall

City May Cut Breeze Terrace Off of Paving Program

The elimination of Breeze terrace from the paving program of the city is recommended by the board of public works, unless the university gives definite assurance that it will co-operate in remedying the unsightly conditions prevailing along the west side of Camp Randall. The argument over the widening and paving of Breeze terrace to accommodate football crowds led to the adoption of the following motion made by Frank W. Lucas:

"That no definite action be taken on the Breeze Terrace improvements until the University gives definite assurance, by proper authorities, that they will co-operate with the city in remedying the unsightly conditions prevailing on the west side of Camp Randall;

"And that the council request that the proper legal authorities of the university submit to the council its plans of such improvements together with a statement of what action it will take in removing the unsightly features, and in what time it will do so; and further suggest that the university appoint a committee to confer with the board of public works on the matter."

Protests against the improvement of Prospect avenue from Regent street to Commonwealth avenue and of Vilas street were also received. John T. Kenney appeared in person to oppose the paving of Vilas street. A delegation of other property owners along the street favored the improvement. The petition protesting the improving of Prospect avenue was signed by S. T. Walker, C. P. Norgord, R. H. Morrison, J. G. Milward and E. P. Bridgman.

The state is exempt from paying street assessments but it has offered to donate a 17-foot strip of land along Camp Randall for street purposes. The street will have a width of 47½ feet. At the council meeting May 12 the board of public works will request the city clerk be instructed to advertise for bids for improving the 29 streets.

Swimming Becomes More Popular As Weather Moderates

Lake Mendota no longer holds that cold horror for swimmers which it did in April but still is a bit deceitful in its appearances these May days.

Lately it has enticed about a hundred swimmers into its waters each day only to make them shiver and shake with cold. Yet when these people pull themselves out of the water, they are loathe to leave and only turn and plunge back, thinking that it isn't so bad after all.

Only two fraternity piers from which students can swim are completed, the Chi Psi's at the foot of Henry street and the D. U.'s at the foot of Frances street. The latter supports a twenty-foot high-dive and boasts the added attraction of a portable radiophone.

Vera Poppe Charms With Cello Recital

Miss Vera Poppe, English cellist, gave a pleasing recital before an enthusiastic audience at the Christ Presbyterian church Thursday evening. She added to her numbers by her winning personality plus her interpretation in words of all the compositions.

Miss Poppe played best the slow, dreamy pieces—those which required lingering tones and deep feeling. "Le Cyne" by Saint Saens, that number which is played the world over by successful musicians, was perhaps the best. Clarity of notes, tonal coloring which indicated deep emotion, displayed her ability.

Rummel-Brockhausen Engagement

The engagement of Frieda L. Rummel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Rummel, Cincinnati, O., to Herbert H. Brockhausen, Milwaukee, was announced last evening at the formal dinner dance given by Delta Delta Delta sorority.

The announcement was cleverly made in the headlines of a miniature newspaper which also carried the couple's photograph, as well as a news and editorial section which contained humorous comments on the event. This style of announcement is particularly fitting since Miss Rummel and Mr. Brockhausen have been prominent in campus journalistic circles.

Miss Rummel graduated from the university in 1921, and is a member of Delta Delta Delta and Theta Sigma Phi. She is at present a feature writer on the staff of the Wisconsin State Journal. Mr. Brockhausen is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma, Sigma Delta Chi, and Delta Pi Delta fraternities, and will graduate with the class of 1923.

Between 100 and 200 veterans and Madison people attended the entertainment under the auspices of the Sons of Veterans for the benefit of the Soldiers Home at Waupaca at Music hall last night.

An unusually good feature of the entertainment was the music, furnished by Prof. Bach's 35-piece orchestra. Pictures showing the recent Madison celebration of Grant's anniversary were particularly enjoyed by a number of civil war veterans who attended. STRONGEST OF TRACK SQUADS INVADES TODAY

Formidable Illini Meet Badgers at 3:30 at Randall

Invading the Badger track squad at Camp Randall at 3:30 this afternoon is without doubt the most formidable aggregation of track stars ever faced by a Wisconsin team and, as Coach Thomas E. Jones believes, one of the finest college track teams developed in the history of the sport.

"The only team that I know of which can be compared with this year's Illinois team are the champion Wisconsin teams of 1915 and 1916," Coach Jones stated yesterday.

May Tie World's Record

The quartet of Suckers, Wharton, McGinnis, Patterson, and Yates that broke the world's four-mile relay record at the Drake relays can all cover the mile in about 4 minutes 25 seconds. Wharton, Scott, and Swanson are each good for 9 minutes 50 seconds or better in the two mile grind.

A competent surveyor from the engineering department will be on hand this afternoon to make exact measurement in case Angier who broke the American record in the javelin at Drake comes through for a better mark. The husky spearman has to improve only a few feet to tie the world's mark of 219 feet 8 inches.

Badger Runners Reliable

Osborne of Illinois has cleared 6 feet 6 inches in the high jump, just 17-16 inches below the present world's record. The quartet of 440 yard dash men entered for the Suckers are all sprinters of considerable ability. Sweet, Schlapprizzi, Fessenden, and Fitch make up this group.

The most reliable Wisconsin runners who will be pitted against the Illinois long and middle distance veterans are Wall and Rahsay in the mile, Hohfeld and Wade in the half mile, and Rossmeissel in the two mile. Wall was winner of the mile in the outdoor Conference meet last year and is certain to give the downstate men keen competition.

Starts at 3:30 Sharp

The Badgers will be strongest in the pole vault, the shot put, and the hurdles. Merrick in the vault should win with ease; while Sundt's performance in placing second in the shot put at Drake indicates that he will cop this event. Captain Knollin and Stolley are two of the foremost Conference hurdlers and are apt to prove too much for Gill's stick jumpers.

The first strart's gun will sound promptly at 3:30 o'clock. James D. Lightbody referee and starter at the inter-allied games will officiate.

College Crews Race This Morning at 11

The inter-college crew race will be held this morning at 11 o'clock. Teams will be entered by the following colleges: Letters and Science, Agriculture, Commerce, and Engineering.

From the four college eights which compete today, eight men will be chosen to compose the second varsity crew which is to row against St. John's Military academy on May 27. This race and the one between the first varsity crew and the University of Manitoba, which will take place the same day, will be the main features of the water carnival to be held in connection with Venetian night.

Some changes in the regular varsity crew may result from the inter-college race to be held tomorrow. Some of the best men from the college crews may replace men who have been practicing regularly with the first crew. Besides the second crew which will meet St. John's, a third varsity eight will also be selected from the four college crews. All the crews have been practicing every afternoon on Lake Mendota, but today will be the first opportunity afforded this season to witness a crew race.

Members of the first varsity at present are: G. O. Toepper, captain, D. C. Newcomb, stroke, C. B. Puestow, G. C. Turner, E. M. Plettner, E. H. Crozier, H. E. Johnson, R. J. Schuetz, and E. V. Hanley, coxswain.

Pole vault—Illinois, Chandler, Collins, McHose, Osborne, Wisconsin, Merrick, McClure, Hamman, Tomlinson.

Discus throw—Illinois, Carlson, Coughlin, Angier, Cannon, Kappemacher. Wisconsin, Otto, Woods, Norem, Knollin, Sundt, Yaudes, Witten.

Javelin—Illinois Angier, Carlson, Osborne, Hill, Wisconsin, Sundt, Norem, Stehr, Nichols, Yaudes.

Hammer—Illinois, Hill, Oakes, Cannon, Wisconsin, Nichols, Norem and Yaudes.

Shot put—Illinois, Cannon, Coughlin, Carlson, Angier, Wisconsin, Sundt, Gude, E. H. Gibson.

TENNIS MEN TO MEET MINNESOTA

The Wisconsin tennis team will engage in its second conference meet of the season today, when it stacks up against the strong University of Minnesota squad. Coach Linden left last night for the northern school with four men. Capt. "Tommy" Tredwell, Roy Gotfredson, "Art" Moulding, and "Larry" Hastings comprise the Badger team.

Although Gotfredson has developed a large blister on his foot Thursday, Coach Linden declared that with careful doctoring the Badger racket wielder would be in good condition. The Wisconsin team completely annihilated Northwestern university here last Saturday, and a victory over the Gopher team will put the Badger men in good condition for the Conference meet, May 27-29.

In the Big Ten meet last year the Badger team defeat Minnesota in doubles. Norton, Minnesota's tennis ace, is greatly feared in Conference tennis and will offer stiff opposition to Gotfredson, who will play first man for the Wisconsin team.

Star Prep Swimmers Visit Capt. Bennett

Dick Howell and Russell Ward, star Chicago prep school swimmers, are in Madison as guests of Capt. "Johnny" Bennett, Big Ten swimming champion and probably the best natator that has ever represented Wisconsin.

The two Chicago swimmers are members of the Hyde Park High school championship team. Howell holds the interscholastic record in the 100 and 200-yard dashes, and Ward is a star in the 40 and 100-yard swim events. Howell's record in the 229 is better than the inter-collegiate mark.

Brassie Wielders Meet Beloit Today

The Wisconsin golf team will meet Beloit college in its first match of the season at Beloit today. Four members of the squad left yesterday for the State Line college town. Morton Frost, Henry Capen, "Buster" Bach and "Larry" Bauer will each play 36 holes against their Beloit opponents.

BASEBALL NINE MEETS STRONG ILLINOIS TEAM

Game Called at 1:30 at Camp Randall Today

Illini pounced on Chicago and won 10 to 2, Thursday. They connected for 12 hits while "Lefty" Barnes held the Maroons safe.

With Barnes out of the way, Coach Lundgren will use either Jackson or Bunker today. Jackson is first choice on the mound. He is a twirler of the first rank. Bunker and McCann rate above the average Big Ten moundsmen.

Lowman Satisfied

In a seven inning practice game played Thursday afternoon, Wisconsin defeated the Madison French battery nine, 2 to 1. Christianson started for Wisconsin and permitted one run. Pickford took up the mound duties in the fifth and set the Flashers down without any tallies. A squeeze play engineered by "Duke" Ceaser, who bunted, gave the Badgers their two runs in the last inning.

Coach Lowman is satisfied that his team is in the best possible condition.

"The men are physically fit," he said last night. "They are all set to go and should put up a strong game both at the bat and in the field."

Suckers Are Confident

Illinois is confident that its team will "take" the Badgers in the Badgers in the same way that Michigan turned the trick last week.

Coach Lundgren has smoothed out many of the rough spots which cost his men a game from Michigan. A few changes have been made in the lineup, and the team is batting and fielding in an improved manner. The Suckers feel that their wins from Iowa and Northwestern have started them on a long string of victories.

THREE YOUNG CUBS ARE HOLDING THE SPOTLIGHT

Two slugging outfielders from the Pacific Coast league and one young hurler with the gentle name of Percy Lee Jones are hogging the limelight with Bill Killefer's Cubs at present. Statz is living up to the rep he made with Los Angeles last year when he fielded well and hit .310. Miller, with Oakland last year, slugged along at a .349 gait and is playing the same whale of a game with the Cubs. Percy Jones, who broke in with Killefer's crew last year, looms big.
