EDITOR'S FOREWORD

The half century that has passed has been filled with the successful achievements of Wisconsin men who have gone out from the college. During all these years men in under-graduate life have striven and fought, have won glory or suffered disappointment; they have lived a life than which no existence could be more real. At the end of four years they, in their turn, have gone out into the world. Many of them are long forgotten; some of them will live forever in the life of Wisconsin.

It has been the peculiar function of the BADGER throughout its history to be, as far as possible, the chronicle of a year of the relationships established among Wisconsin men and women. It is the aim of those responsible for this volume to characterize as fairly and justly as possible the life at Wisconsin as it really is at the present time, to portray the men and women who are now helping to create her manifold activity.

We have tried in addition to express in terms of the printer's art the beauties in Nature that surround our campus. We have attempted also to indicate the progress and prosperity of our university.

It seems only fair, then, that this book be taken for what it has tried to be—not an analysis of the inner workings of Wisconsin men's minds, or a critical study of Wisconsin men's action—but rather a reproduction of the grand environment in which Wisconsin men and women have lived, are living, and will always live —a book in which is written the ever-present story of good old Wisconsin.

As such, this book, the twenty-ninth volume of the BADGER, is open to you.

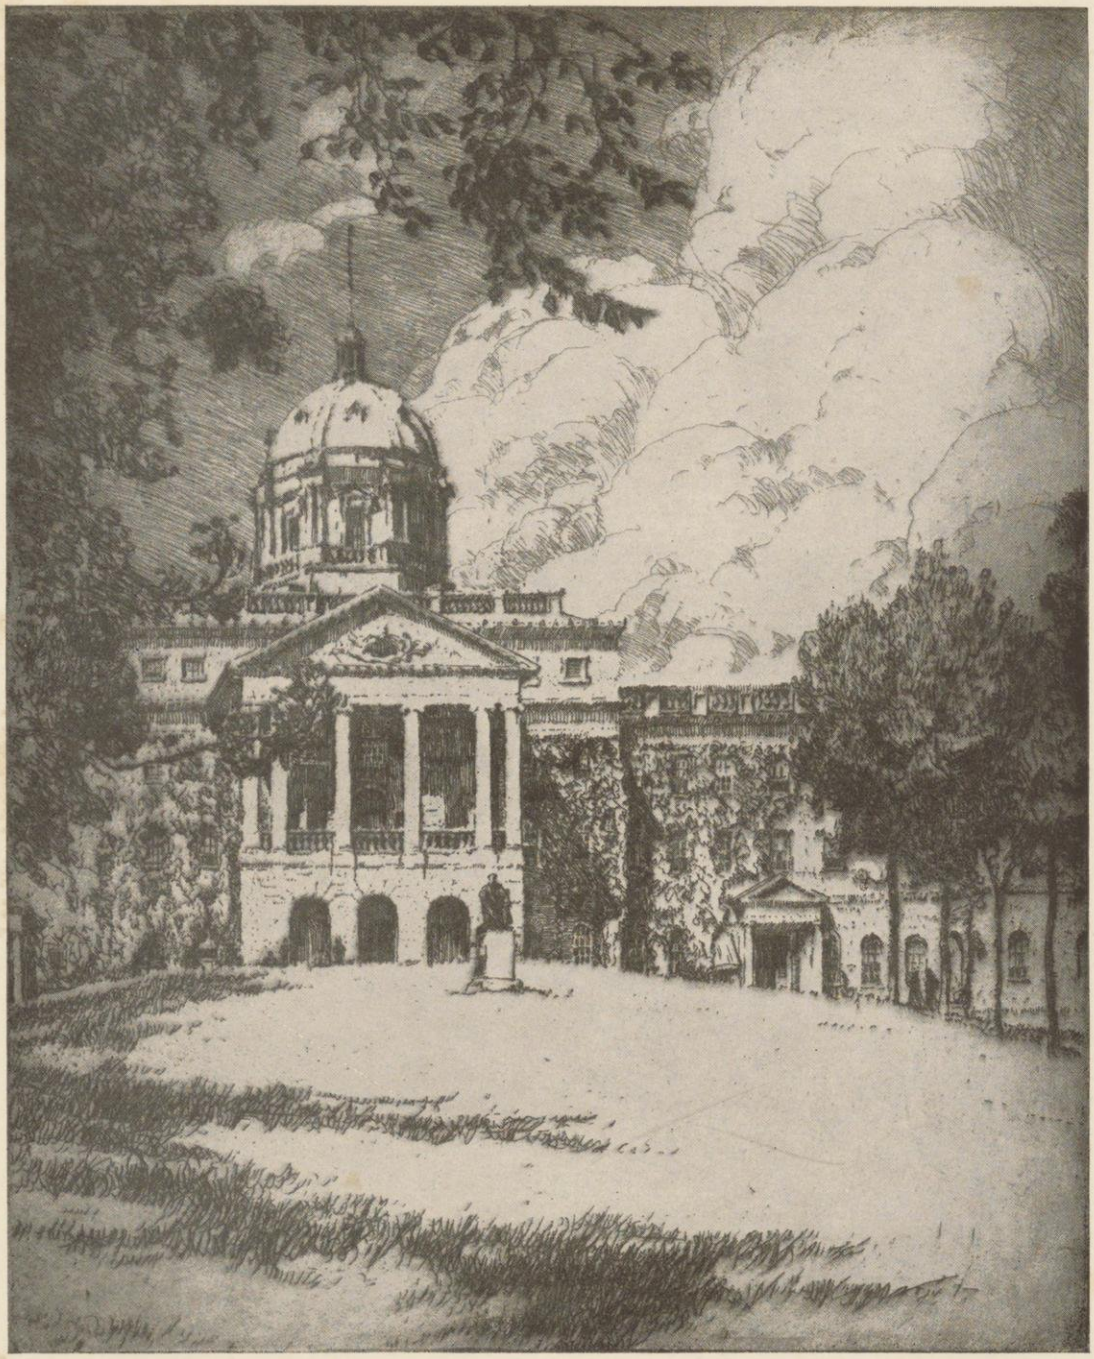
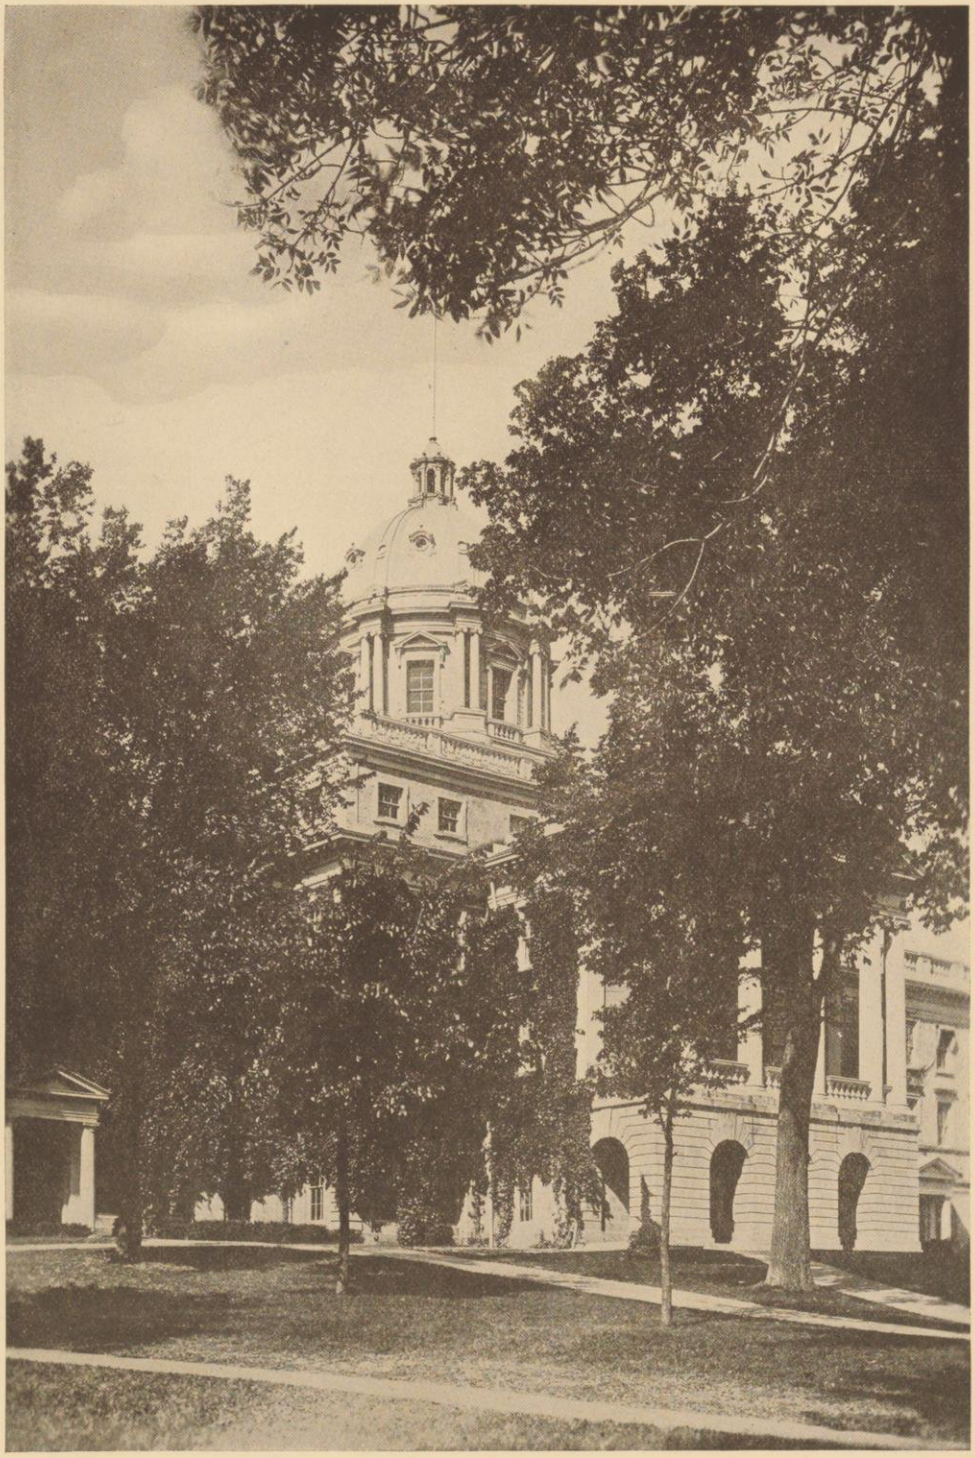
The Spirit of the University

The spirit of the university is as indefinable as her motto, Numen Lumen. This spirit means reverence for the great men of the past and deep appreciation of their contributions to the progress of humanity; it likewise means reverence for the future and a determination to make that future best serve mankind even if cherished views of the past require modification. Each student should eagerly catch from his instructors this spirit and pass it on to his fellows; for in so doing he is doubly blessed. The spirit of the university is to the institution what the soul is to the individual—that imperishable something which ever strives toward the unattainable; and this irresistible striving is that instinct in man which from the time the human race appeared upon the earth has made that race most worth while.

Charles R. Van Hise

Earth dropped these jewels from her spendthrift hands,
Her casket overfull.
O' yet we trust---caught up in some deviner lands,
They may not wholly fall to dust.





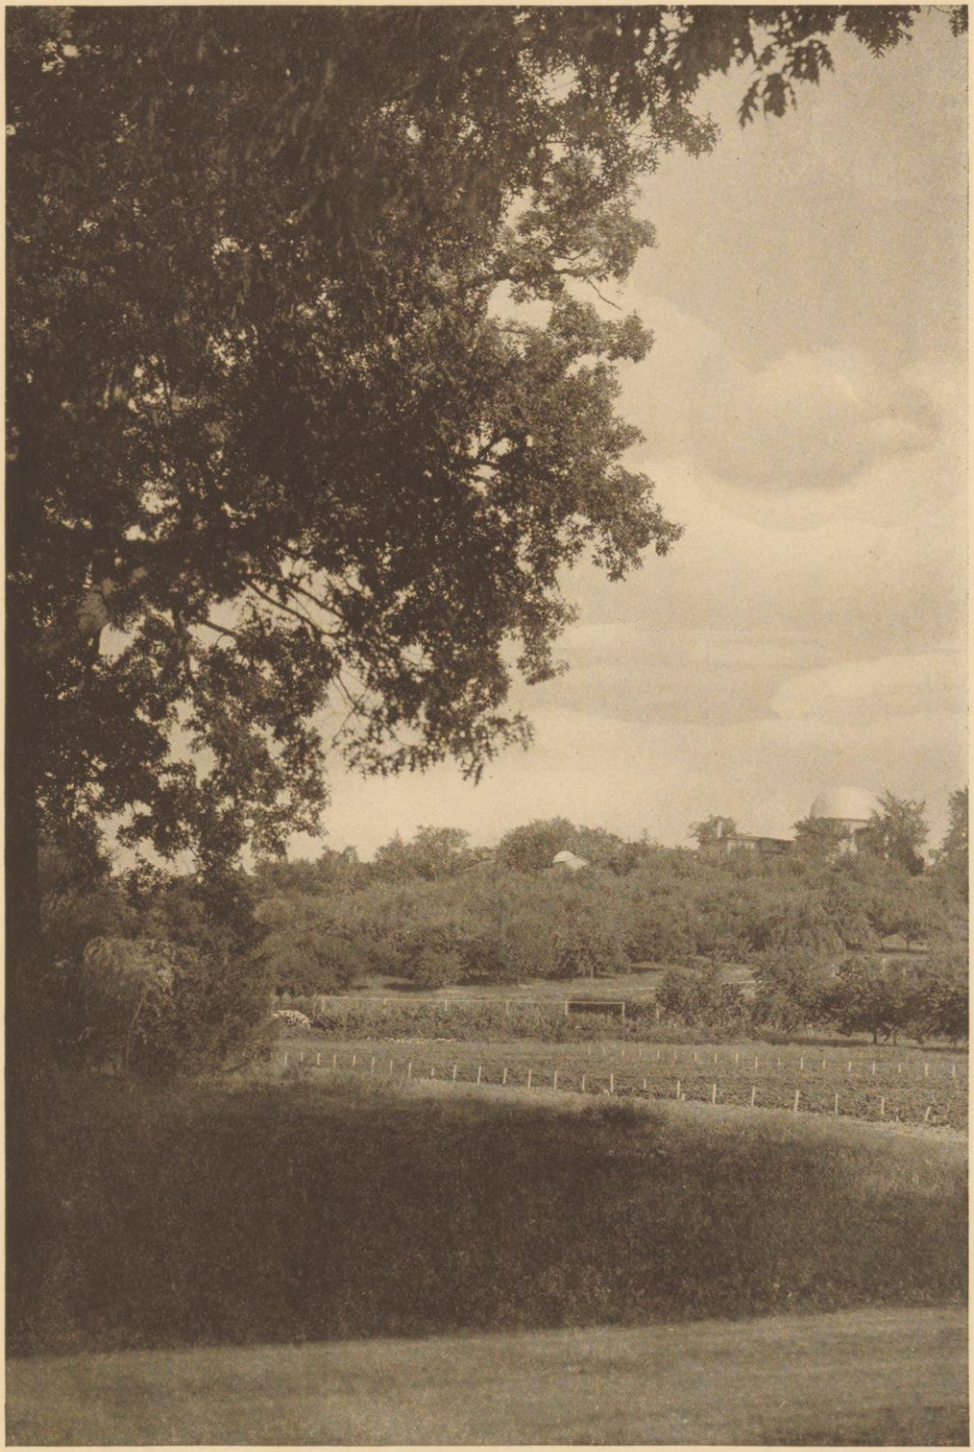
A Haunt
Of old star-gazers, sounding the unplumbed skies

A shady path amid the woods
Chequered with many moods

Half-asleep
The willows keep
Eternal silence on the shore

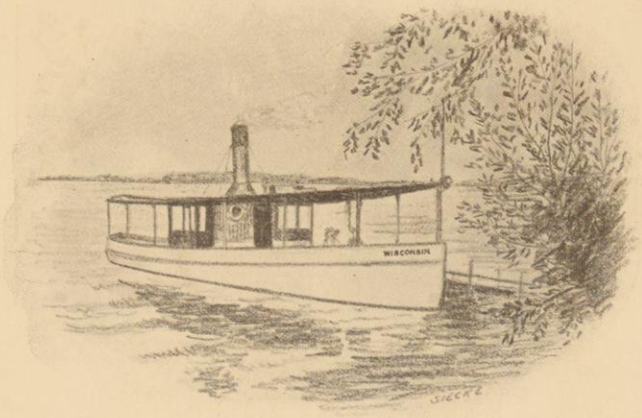
The sleepy woods have all my heart
Where frightened fauns do sometimes start
And glide away among the trees
Like half-forgotten memories

Yon ancient tree
Outwatched the lives of many, many men

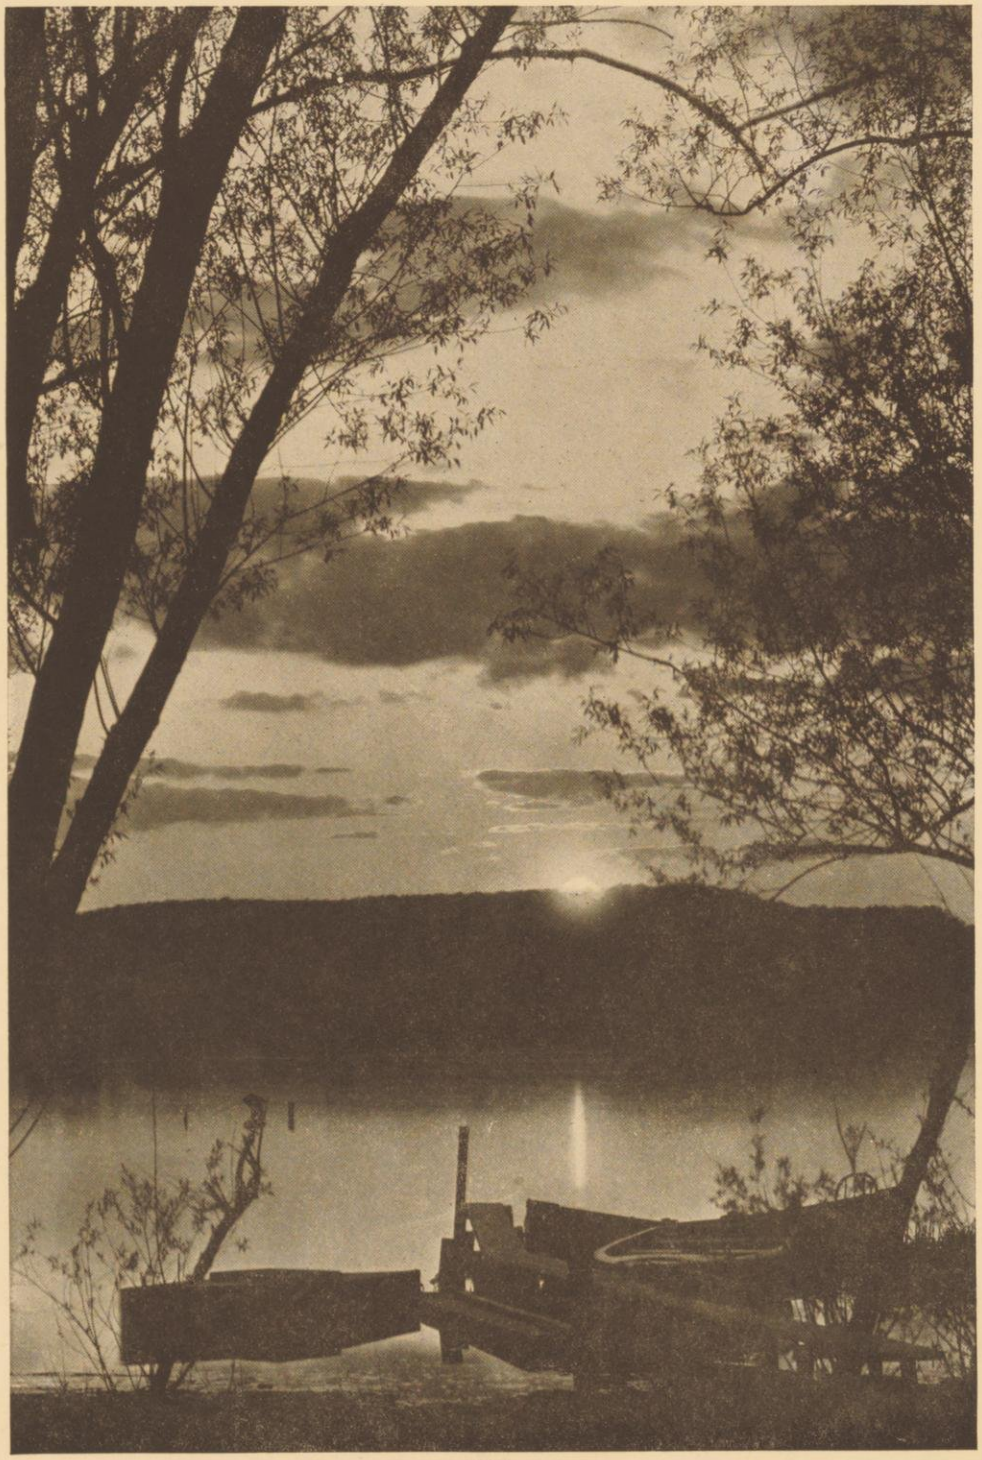


So from the fruits of earth we rise
To musings on the starry skies

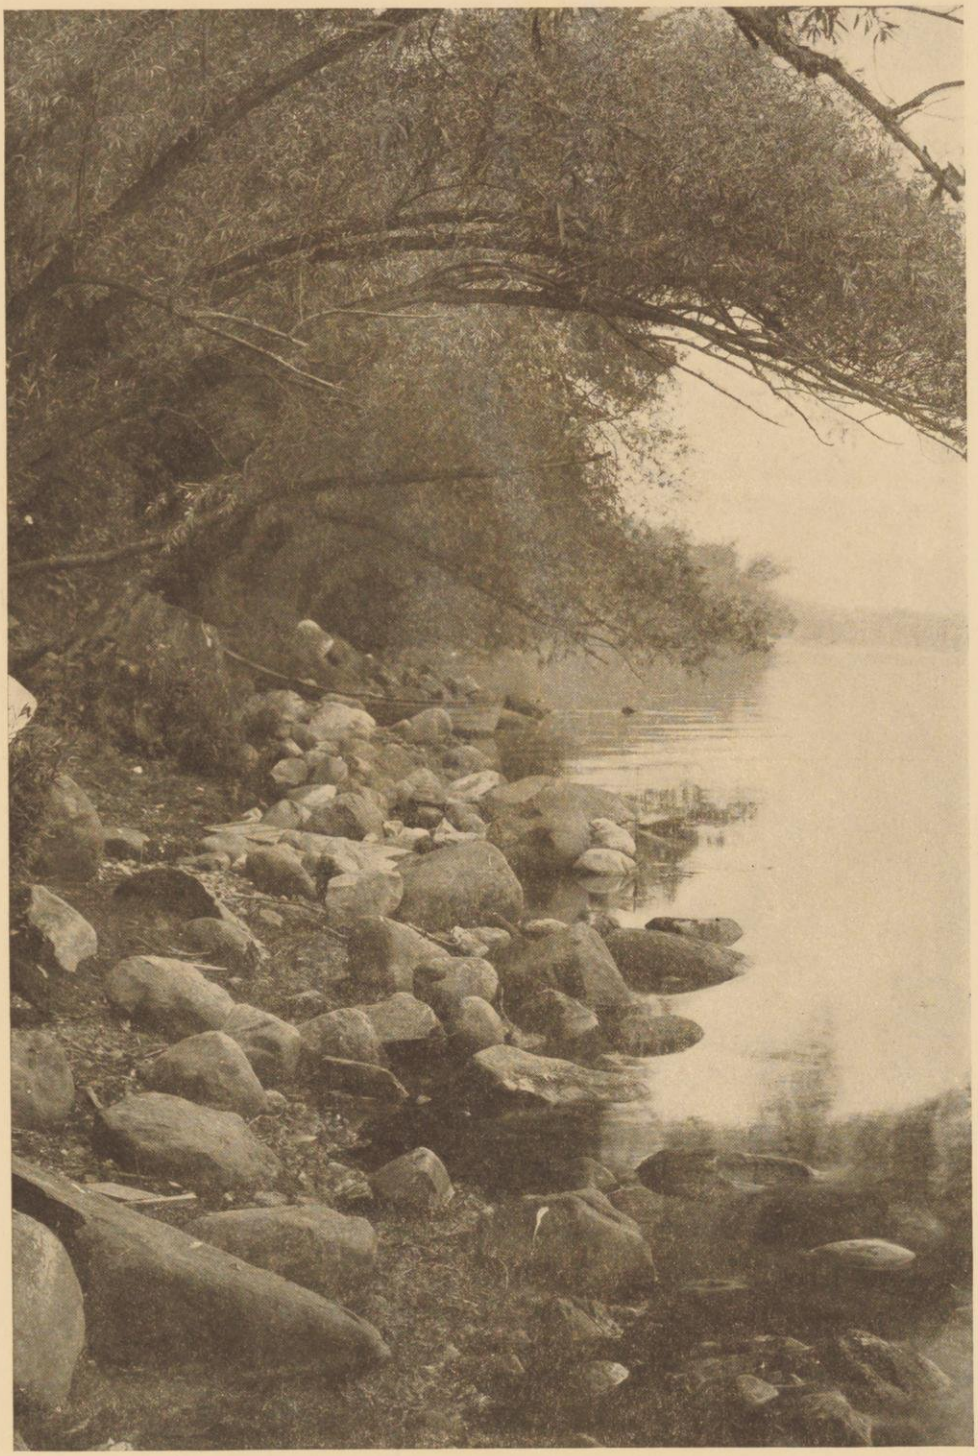
Surely here
On quiet afternoons do naiads come
To haunt the shadows.



A place to dream
And send your soul on misty voyages
Into the silence and the summer skies.

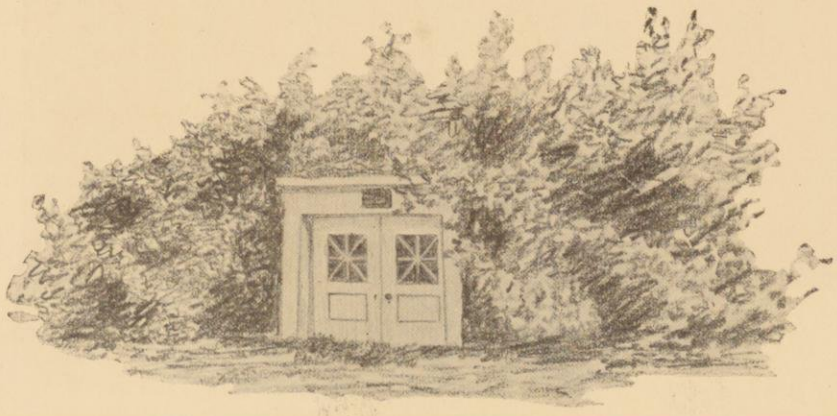


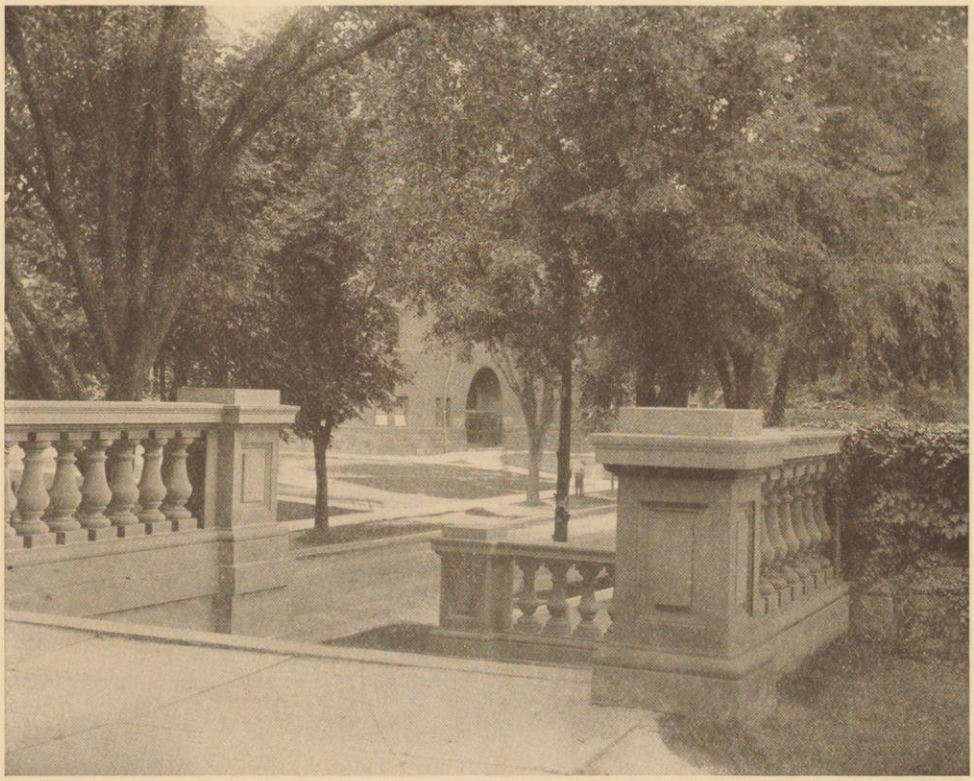
There where the dreaming waters lie
Under the shadow of sun and sky



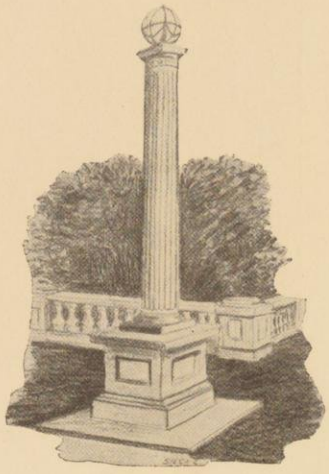
Sermons in stones—a text glossed by the lake
In quiet ripples lapping on the shore

Ascending and descending,
How many hundreds wending
The diverse ways to truth, have come and gone!





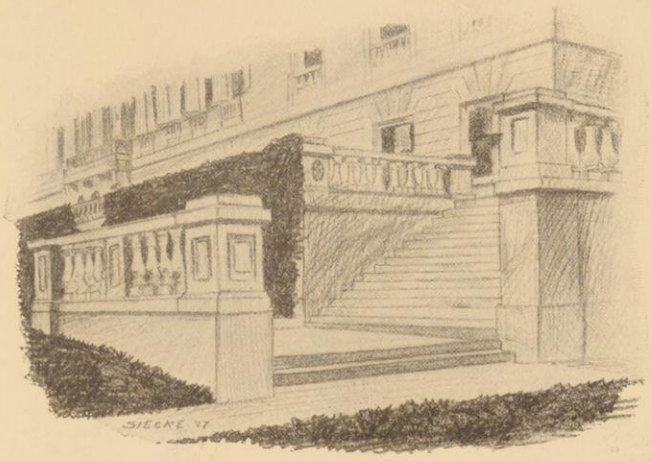
Fitly linked
Gymnasium and library, mind and body,
The Greek ideal that molds our modern men



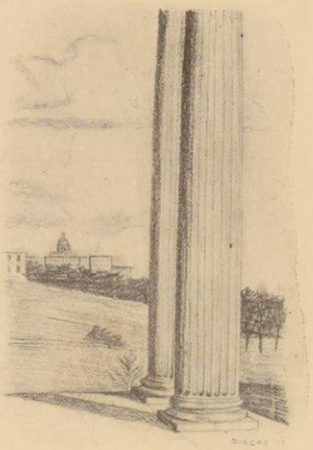
Sentinel pines
Marshalling the magic way to fairyland

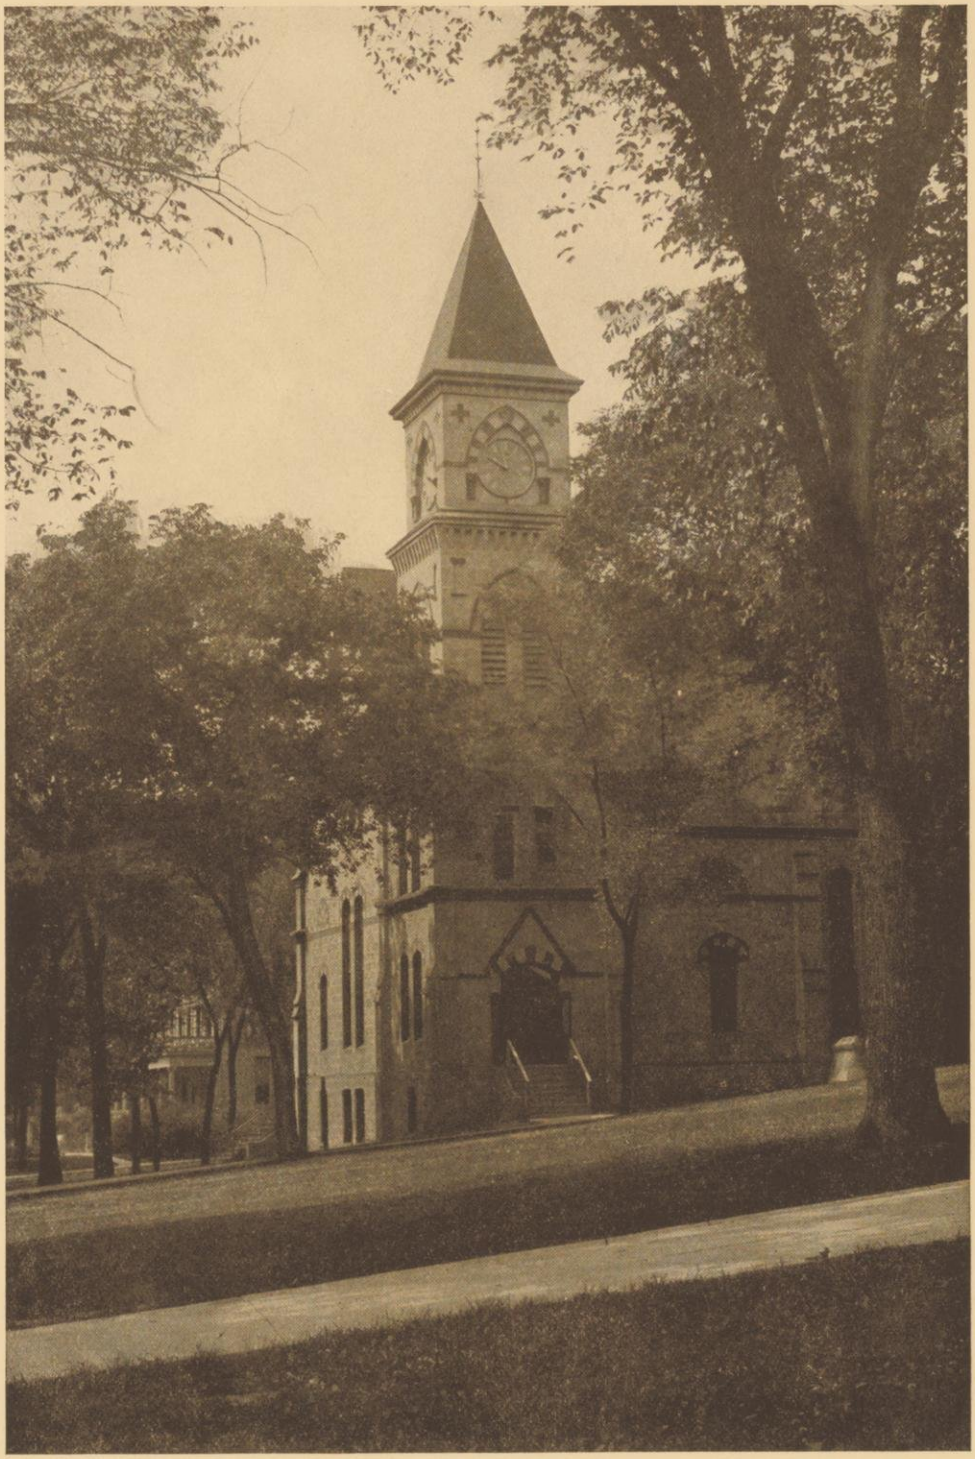
Even in summer
The silver ghost of laughter fills the place

The lure
Of winding roads in shadowy woodland places
That beckon on forever and forever

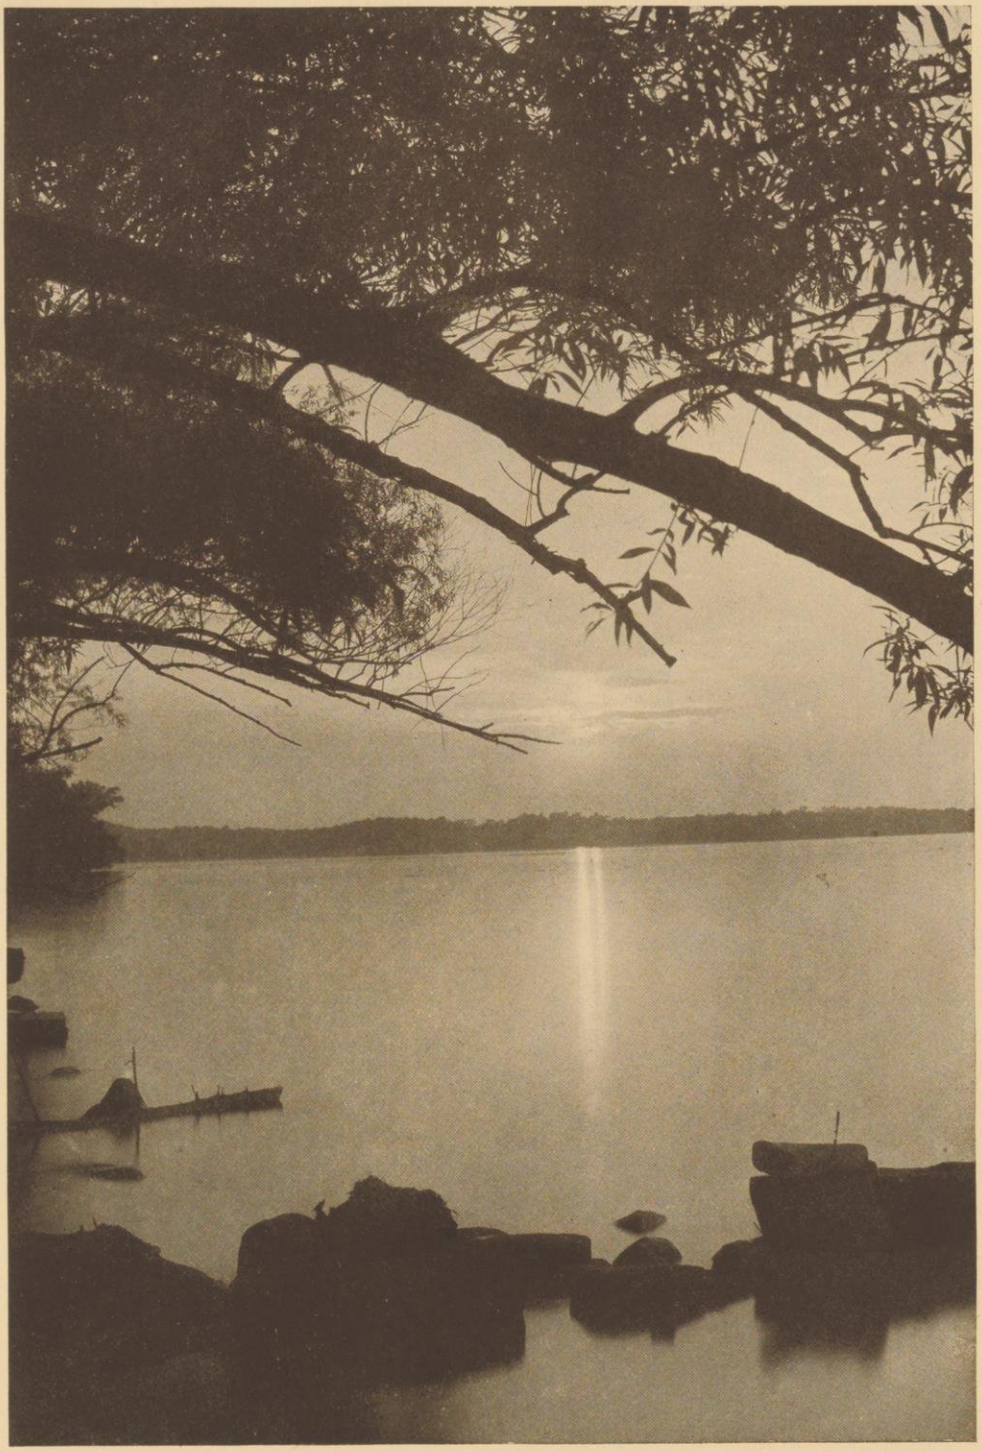


'Twas there we said goodby, my dear,
And never you and I, my dear,
Shall see the moon and sky, my dear,
So tender and so sweet

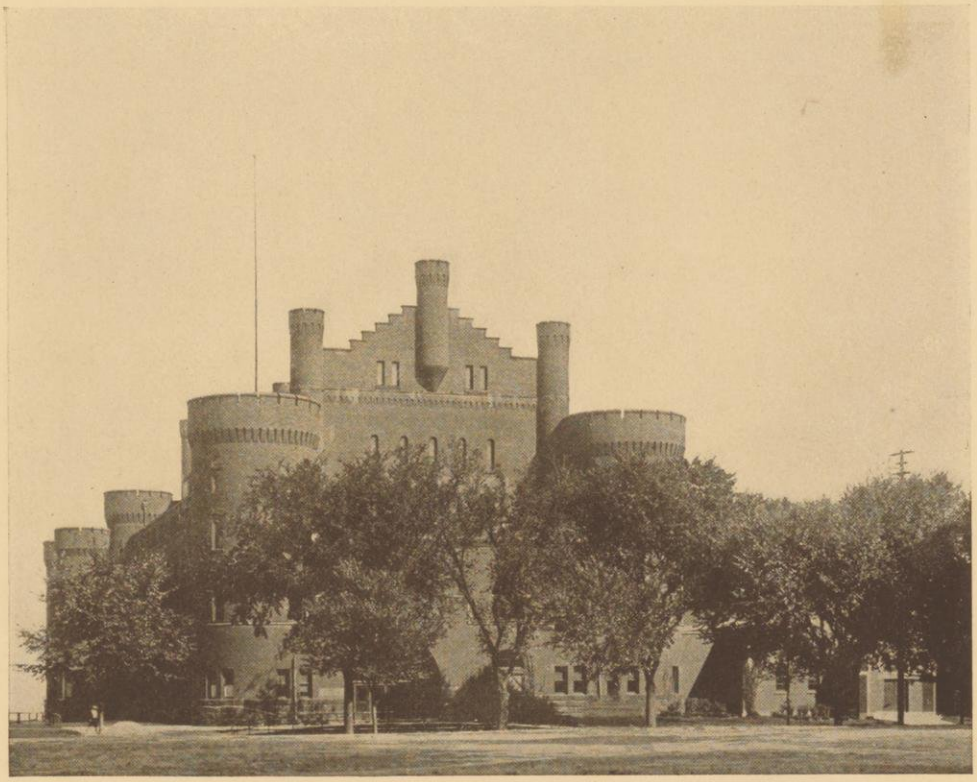




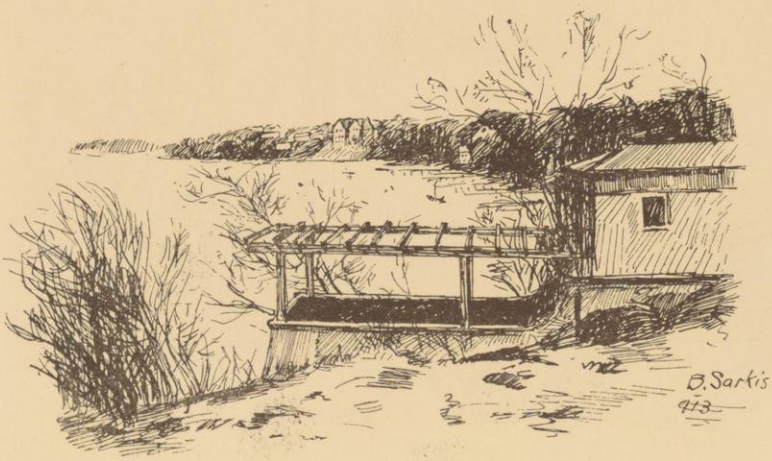
"The horologe of eternity"



Sunsets that a moment rest
Upon the calm lake's quiet breast



"This is the arsenal"

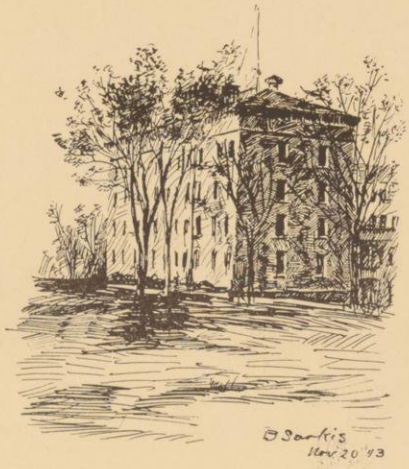


And this—
The abode of crew men
Through many generations

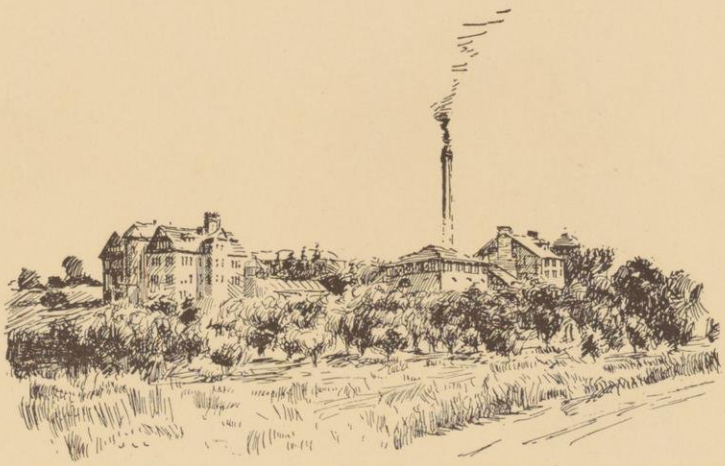
Here is taught the dignity of labor
And the worth of primal things

The democratic road to learning

What need to seek far skies and fairy seas?
They lie around us every even-sun

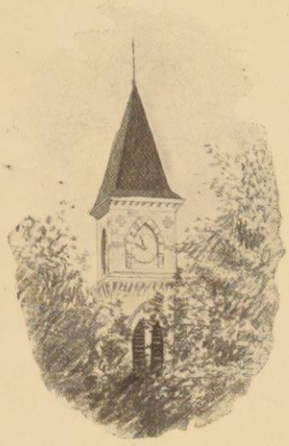


Moon-blanched waters steeped in old romance



Peace, deep peace
Is on the lake and by the quiet shore
And in the large drift of the lazy clouds

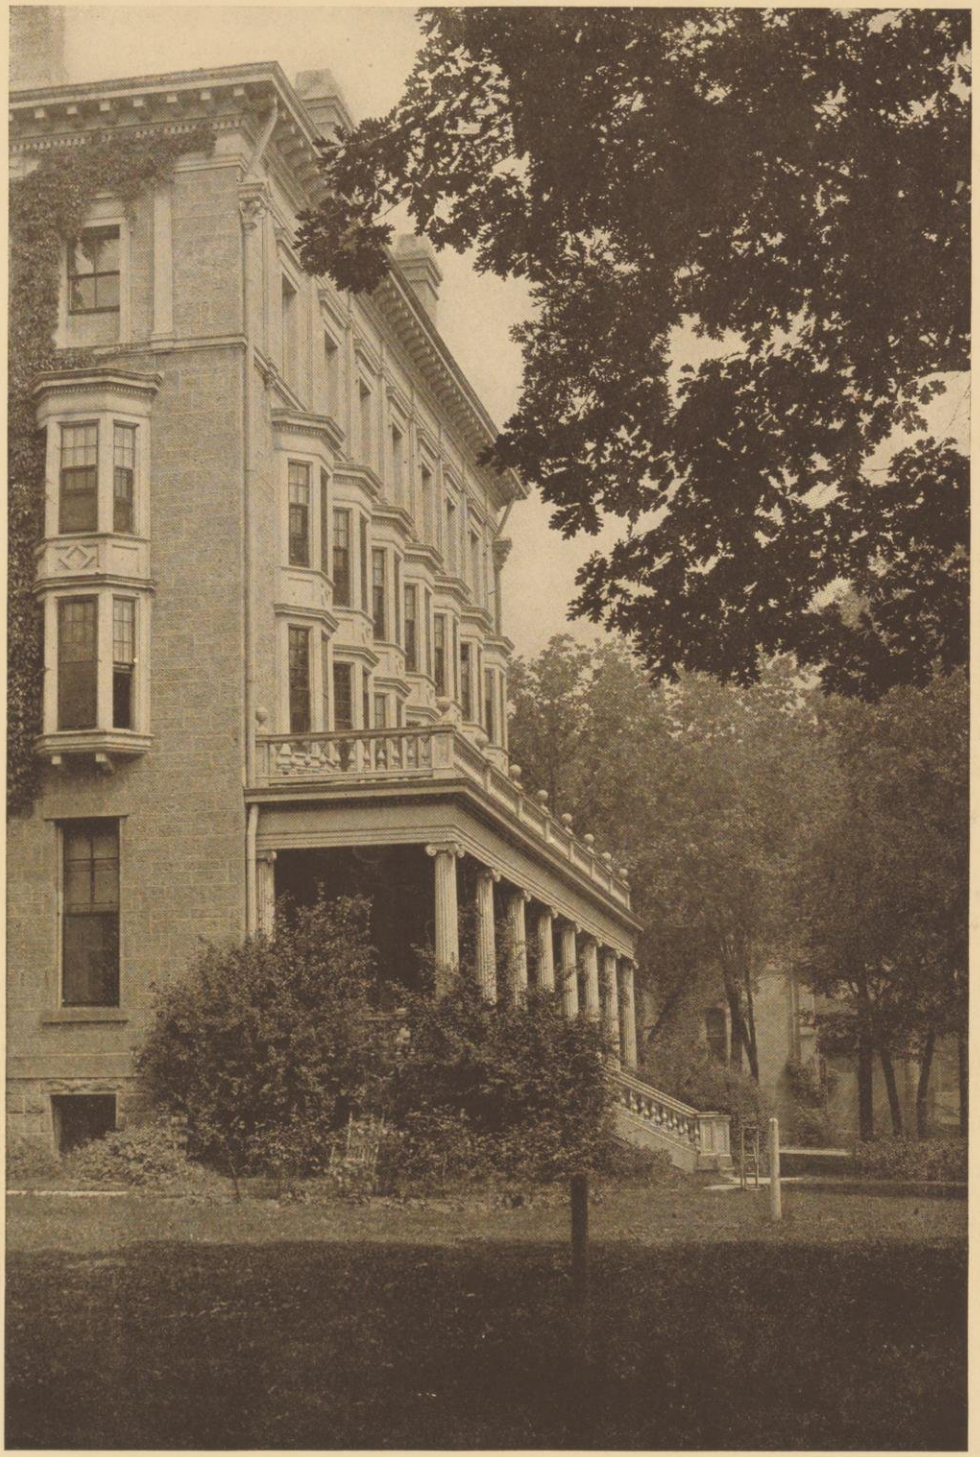
Summer



Pile high the buildings, wall and dome,
Where law and learning have their home
By inland lake . . .

"Democratic vistas"

We are but children of the ancient trees
And seek instinctively our native home



"Old Chadbourne"

FRESHMAN TRADITIONS

Major Traditions

1—No freshman shall wear a derby or stiff hat except on Prom night. The prescribed green cap shall be worn in the fall between registration and November 1 and in the spring between Easter Sunday and the end of examinations.

2—Freshmen and sophomores shall not sit or lean on the gym fence.

3—No freshman shall be impertinent to an upperclassman.

4—Between the first of November and Easter every freshman shall wear on his coat lapel a small green button with a red center.

Minor Traditions

1—No freshman shall smoke on the university grounds except in the Wisconsin Union before May 1.

2—No freshman or sophomore shall wear corduroy trousers.

3—No freshman shall carry a cane unless physically disabled.

4—No freshman shall sit or loiter on the steps of any university building.

CHICAGO AND MINNESOTA GAMES

Old style football—Minnesota's first goal—Chicago gains—Minnesota tries a pass—Bellows round the end.

The 1913 Football "W" Men

"Al" Tandberg was disappointed in his ambition to lead Wisconsin to a championship, but nevertheless won a place among Wisconsin's greatest full-backs. He hails from the ever-productive Chippewa Valley, where he captained the Chippewa Falls high school team. As a freshman at Wisconsin he captained his class team, next he led his sophomore eleven, and later took his fourth captaincy, that of the varsity, after winning all-western positions for two years. Terrific line plunging and strong defensive work have characterized his play throughout.

With a collar bone badly broken, "Tubby" Keeler played through the 1913 season, and didn't give the doctors a chance until the last game had been played. The handicap that will hold "Tubby" down must be more serious than that, and it will take a mighty big handicap to keep him from leading the 1914 varsity, which he is to captain, to a championship. In both his sophomore and junior years, he earned all-western berths by his powerful guard play. He was also the star of his freshman team, playing tackle on this eleven after winning the all-state high school tackle honors at La Crosse. He has earned his "W" in track and served as president of his freshman class.

The standard of line play at Wisconsin was thoroughly "Butlerized" by the game that Robert "Butts" Butler played at tackle during the 1913 season. With a place on Walter Camp's All-American for 1912 making him the player that every opposing team wanted to "get," he played a game even more wonderful than in 1912. "Butts" comes from Montclair, N. J., high school which has produced four All-American players. He played full-back as a "prep," went to tackle on his freshman team, won a place as reserve end in his sophomore year, and as a junior "found himself" in his natural position at tackle. He has also captained the varsity water polo team, won his "W" in track, and presided with dignity over his class.

"Doc" Tormey learned his first lesson in football on the corner lots of Madison and developed wonderfully in high school. He gained his first experience as a varsity player during his sophomore year serving as a reserve quarterback and in the 1912 Chicago game came into the spotlight strong by filling a sudden vacancy in the backfield. His great speed and squirming proclivities made him an ideal "pony" back and throughout the 1913 season he was used with success in this capacity.

"GENE" VAN GENT was groomed for a half back position on the 1913 eleven but while the big fellow gave everything he had he failed to develop as a consistent ground gainer and met with only indifferent success in his last year on the varsity. An injury to his collar bone, sustained on the opening day of practice in the 1912 season kept him out of the lineup most of that fall. "GENE" played center on the basketball team for three years captaining the championship quintet his last year. He is also a "W" man in the weight events.

To win an all-conference position in his first year of varsity football, HOWARD "CUB" BUCK had to run counter to tradition. But he did it just the same. After his prep experience at Eau Claire high, and a year on the freshman team, he was ready for real competition, and his work at tackle was barely eclipsed, even by the wonderful Butler. "CUB" has played full back and it is his ambition to play that position on a varsity team.

For three years RAY LANGE gave valiant service to the varsity, spending all his time on the left end of the Cardinal line while in the game. In his senior year he won a regular position and held it down in veteran style. "RAYMIE" is heavy and fast, getting down under punts well, and seldom misses a tackle. Some of his work during the 1913 season was the fiercest sort of tackling, and as a consequence, he was hampered at times with injuries which kept him out of the game.

"HOD" OFSTIE didn't think he was good enough to make the freshman team back in 1910. Twelve months later he found a snug berth on nearly every all-western team chosen. Against his will, he was dragged to the camp in his second university year, and placed at end. He stayed at that position for three years, long enough to place him among peerless Wisconsin ends. He clears the high hurdles well enough to boast of a "W" won in this event, and has also negotiated the political hurdles of the university well enough to win the presidency of the athletic board in his senior year, and his class presidency as a sophomore.

"Sheep" Alexander defied the customs of ages when he came to Wisconsin after playing on the Exeter Academy team. He won his letter as a reserve half-back during his sophomore year, was held back by injuries during his third year, and came back strong as a senior, playing a consistent, speedy game as regular half during the entire 1913 season. In serious moments, "Sheep" answers to the name of Arthur Hadden Alexander, and it is the permanent regret of several eastern universities that they were deprived of this euphonious cognoment for use in their line-ups.

After captaining the 1916 team with marked success, "Eddie" Stavrum went out for the varsity and won his letter early in the season at left end, relieving the veteran Lang in most of the games. His playing was of the highest type throughout the season and he branded himself a comer in every way. "Eddie" is particularly fond of breaking up dazzling end runs and is a terror at getting down the field under punts and making his tackle in deadly manner.

"Ed" Gelein delayed his football career until the beginning of his junior year. He started with a rush in the fall of 1912, and played a stellar role on the championship team. A large number of critics placed him at guard on their honorary western teams. His good work continued in 1913. In his second year, he pulled an oar in the varsity eight, but has dropped crew work, as it proved to be too great a strain. He has another year of football to play, being one of the Eau Claire contingent that will take important places on the team in 1914.

Under fire, "Buck" Bellows made good. Throughout the early part of his first year on the varsity he was the butt of the "knockers," but he fought down the adverse criticism, and played his quarter-back position in great style in the big games. His home is in Chicago, but the Maroon institution was never given much consideration when he finished his prep course at Lake Forest and Keewatin Academies, where he had starred as a quarterback. In the first year at Wisconsin he piloted the freshmen. He was Gillette's understudy as a sophomore and took the regular quarterback position in his junior year.

During the seasons of 1912 and 1913 "Walt" Powell, varsity center was the lightest man of the line quintet, but in spite of this handicap played a powerful game. In the 1912 season he was the only man to play the giant Des Jardien of Chicago to a standstill. As a result he was given second place at center on nearly every all-western. Powell played high school football for four years at Reedsburg, captaining the team in his last year. He acted as president of his class in the second semester of his third year, and as vice-president of the athletic board in his senior year.

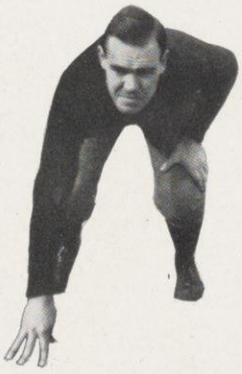
"Herb" Taylor has spent most of his time in either a dress suit or a swimming suit. However, in his junior year he managed to evade his social and acquatic duties long enough to dabble in varsity football. In spite of lack of experience he won recognition in the final games by his sensational sprints through the enemy's defenses. He was used as reserve quarter and half, and seems slated for a regular berth in 1914.

Eight years ago Tom Kennedy played high school football with Ashland High. When he reached the university, he considered himself too old for this frivolous game, and confined himself to the more dignified sport of rowing. However, he joined the "comebacks" in his junior year, and proved to be remarkably spry for an old man. He was used as reserve center. On the water "Tom" has been a member of the freshman eight and the varsity four. He has also held membership in the student conference.

Although he failed to get in the game for the required number of minutes his senior year, Jay Martin was granted an honorary "W" for his brilliant work throughout the season, particularly in the Chicago contest where he repeatedly plunged through the Maroon line for smashing gains. He used a hard driving game, ramming off tackle for the needed yards, and proved himself one of the best backs of the year. Jay confesses that he is an Agric and claims that his football honors have put Bagley on the map.

ZINKE worked at a handicap during his varsity football career for All-American material bobbed up to prevent his winning a steady berth on the Cardinal eleven. After four years of faithful service on the Badger gridiron he was rewarded with an honorary "W" as he had never been able to make the required number of minutes of actual playing. Zinke was a corking good lineman, and proved a ready substitute at either of the tackles where he was generally used.

The Chippewa Valley scored again when it sent LEO CUMMINGS to Wisconsin. An unknown at the beginning of his sophomore year, he soon jumped into the limelight by securing a place as varsity half-back. During his freshman year at Wisconsin he was too busy for football, so that his rise to fame after he did enter the arena was rapid. Cummings is a husky boy and possesses a fighting spirit which will make him a great half back some day. He knows how to keep his feet and pick his holes and showed to advantage in the games he was in last fall.



"MIKE" DAVY played for three years on the Madison high school team and was considered one of the best full backs in the state, notwithstanding his rather slim build. He won his 1916 numerals on the freshman team at full, and last fall was used as Captain Tandberg's substitute when the latter was unable to play. "MIKE" is a light fellow but that fact doesn't seem to handicap him when he is sent through for the needed distance.

"MAC" shone as a star on the 1916 eleven, playing right guard on the freshman team, and when it came time to go out for the varsity, the big fellow showed he had the earmarks of a corking good lineman by filling in at guard and tackle in some of the big games. McMaster is a Hoosier, and received his preliminary football training on his high school eleven. He has a faculty for wearing down his man and getting through and breaking up the play quickly.

The Season

On September 20, a squad of twenty men reported to Coach Juneau for suits and the 1913 season opened with practice twice a day for the next week. There was a wealth of line material on hand and prospects looked bright for another championship. Through graduation and failure to return to school practically the entire backfield of the 1912 championship team was missing and it was here that the coaches met their problem.

On the first Saturday in October we opened up against our old rivals from Lawrence and in easy fashion defeated them, 58 to 7. The following Saturday Marquette journeyed to Madison to renew relationship on the gridiron after a lapse of four years, falling before us, 14 to 0. October 18 saw the Badgers in action on Stuart Field against Purdue. After consistent playing had put the Cardinal in the lead, a bit of carelessness robbed the team of a victory and the game ended 7 to 7. Michigan Aggies, conquerers of the University of Michigan the Saturday previous, came to Camp Randall October 25, and in a heart rendering contest, duplicated their victory of the week previous by humbling the Cardinal, 12 to 7.

Minnesota came down from the northland on November 2, and cast a gloom over the homecoming festivities by defeating the Badgers 21 to 3 before one of the largest crowds that ever assembled for a great contest at Camp Randall. November 9 saw Jack Wilce and his proteges from Ohio State come to Wisconsin where the youngest member of the conference was defeated, 12 to 0. After a period of two weeks in which our entire style of play was changed we met Chicago on Stagg Field and went down to defeat in a terrific contest 19 to 0, losing our chance to tie up the 1913 championship.

The Season

TRACK

With the arrival of our new coach, Tom Jones, who had done such good work with the Missouri athletes, and the good eligibility list left from the exams, the outlook for the 1913 season appeared unusually bright.

There were some new men of excellent ability to fill the vacancies made by the loss of the seniors from last year's squad and shortly before the training started it was evident that Wisconsin would push Illinois to the limit for the Indoor Conference championship.

The season opened with the Indoor Relay Carnival in February and by the middle of March the team found it easy to carry off the honors in a meet with Ripon, Lawrence, and Carroll.

On March 30 at the Indoor Conference Meet at Evanston, our hopes were realized, for Coach Jones' team took the championship from Illinois, defeating them by one-quarter of a point, 33¼ to 33. Chicago was third.

Ohio State was outclassed by a safe margin in the opening dual outdoor meet of the year on May 3, several of the Badgers showing unexpected strength. At Champaign the Badgers met their first defeat of the season, Illinois winning by a score which would have been about even if White, who had broken his ankle running in the Drake relay, had been there to show his heels in the mile and two mile events. Minnesota met us at Camp Randall in the last dual meet of the spring and was easily defeated.

The outdoor conference meet held at Madison on June 7 was the wind up of the Intercollegiate track season. Illinois won back her laurels by carrying off first honors with 47½ points. Wisconsin was a good third with 28½ points, Chicago following with 19½, and California fourth with 15.

The Season

BASKETBALL

Basketball at Wisconsin during the 1913-14 season was surely a great success, both in regard to finances and percentages. Never in the history of conference basketball has any one school won the championship three successive years and when on March 9 we rounded out our schedule with a victory at Purdue, the 1914 team had set a great record for Wisconsin. Two of the seasons were ended with 1000 percent averages, our record for the past three years showing 35 victories and 1 defeat in Big Nine circles.

The season was opened with exceptionally poor prospects, and every one practically conceded the loss of the championship which had been guarded for two years. Coach Meanwell, not ready to give up without a struggle, determined to develop material to fill the gaps left by the loss of Van Riper, Johnson, and Berger, three 1913 stars. All fall the coach and the squad worked hard. Finally, the team had its first trial against Beloit and although the playing was ragged, the weak points were brought out. Unfortunately, the next two preliminary games were farces, as the 50 to 0 score against Parsons College will indicate.

The Big Nine season was opened with a trip to Illinois and Indiana. At Champaign we were forced to the limit to get away with a 26 to 25 victory, but the Hoosiers were easy, the final count registering 59 to 15 in our favor.

Minnesota opened the season on the home floor, the Gophers falling 28 to 7. After the Chicago 17 to 14 victory, the students had their eyes opened and immediately set up a cry for the 1000 percent record.

Following the exams, the march to the championship was renewed. Northwestern was defeated on Feb. 10 at the gym and then three days later Purdue threw a real scare into the crowd of rooters by forcing us into an extra five minutes of play from which we at last emerged with a 25 to 20 victory in our hands. Northwestern, Illinois, and Indiana were comparatively easy and the championship was cinched at Minnesota on Feb. 28. Chicago and Purdue remained but by steady playing the Badgers were able to finish the season with a clean slate.

The Season

BASEBALL

The baseball season for 1913 resulted in the loss of the conference championship which had been won the year before by Coach "Slim" Lewis' squad of heavy hitters. It was only after a hard fight and a series of unfortunate circumstances that the 1913 varsity was obliged to store away their bats and suits with a .333 percentage, three games having been won, six lost, and one tied.

Soon after the opening of the second semester assisted, by "Doc" Haussman, Coach "Bill" Juneau issu d the first call for varsity candidates and some fifty aspirants responded for indoor practice regularly in the annex. Both Captain "Ted" Waller and "Jerry" Brewer, who had figured largely in the success of the nine the year before suddenly left school at this time, a loss which proved a sad blow to the chances. Boutin was elected to fill the captain's vacancy, and was assisted in the work of developing the new team by the veterans Bragg, Hoppert, Mereness, Lampert, and Savage.

After two months of indoor practice, the team got it first real practice in the preliminary games with Milton, Ripon, and Whitewater Normal, easily defeating its state rivals.

The "Big Nine" season was opened with a 9–4 defeat at the hands of Indiana. Minnesota was next and proved easy, the Badgers winning a slow game, 7 to 3.

On the first trip of the season, the team lost close and exciting contests to Purdue and Indiana. In the return game with the Hoosiers there developed a streak of "hard luck" when Jack Savage premier hurler was hit on the wrist with a terrific line drive, crippling him for the remainder of the season.

G. Huff brought his far famed Suckers to Camp Randall on May 10 and the varsity "came back" long enough to hand the Illini a dicisive 8 to 4 wallop. The game with Purdue, May 15, resulted in a 10 to 10 tie after each nine had taken slight forges ahead throughout the ten inning battle. The game was called to allow the teams to catch a train, the Badgers traveling that night to Illinois where on the next day they succumbed to a 9 to 0 defeat. On their way back home, Coach Juneau's players stopped off long enough at Northwestern on May 17 to trim the Purple in a good exhibition of baseball by the score of 5 to 3.

Wet grounds the next week were responsible for the postponement of the Chicago and Northwestern contests at Camp Randall, but in the meantime, the varsity took time enough for a flying trip to Minnesota where they lost, 9 to 4. A 6 to 2 defeat at the hands of the Maroons on May 31 ended the season.

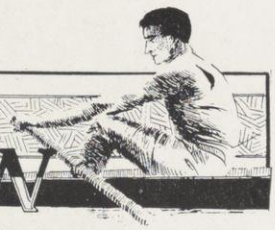
CREW THE SEASON



At the beginning of the 1913 season, prospects for another good crew were indeed rosy. For the first time in Wisconsin's history the crews had worked on Mendota until early December. The spring work on the machines brought out every man from the previous year's freshman crew and five of the veterans who had rowed on the varsity 1912 crew which came within three and three-fifths seconds of defeating Cornell. Regular machine work, however had hardly begun when Captain Maurice Sjoblom was forced to leave the squad because of heart trouble. This was a serious blow to the crew, for Coach "Dad" Vail not only had to change his whole combination but he was forced to lose one of the best oarsmen that ever pulled an oar for Wisconsin. Next came the resignation of Samp, No. 7 in 1912, another crimp to winning prospects.

About the opening of the spring season, the Athletic Council voted to send a "four" to the Hudson to represent Wisconsin in the four oared event for the first time in several years. Coach Vail and the squad hailed the announcement with joy and began active practice daily on Mendota. After a few workouts on the water Vail decided to give his eight sophomores a tryout in the varsity boat in the same order in which they had rowed the year previous, and to place the veterans in the four. These combinations looked fairly promising until the eastern trip had been made and the grind of the Hudson was on in earnest. At the end of the first week of practice, "Dad" Vail had given up hopes of his sophomore eight making a showing like that of his 1912 crew. It was then too late to bolster up his eight from the four, so he pinned his faith on the smaller boat. The "four", however, as well as the "eight" after one of the greatest races ever seen on the Hudson, were only able to land fourth place, proving somewhat of a disappointment in comparison to former records.

"JOE"

The Badger yearlings who performed poorly on Mendota before leaving for the east, made rapid progress after getting on the Hudson, finishing a close second to Cornell over the two mile course. They rowed a very good race.

Let us hope that Wisconsin will soon accomplish that which she has been so long striving to do—Sweep the Hudson.

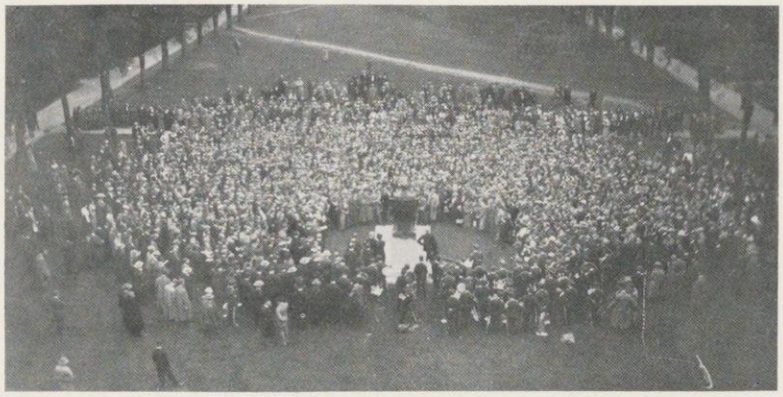
The Philadelphia Visitation



Philadelphia's Mayor Speaks

"We have come to sit at the feet of the wise men of the west. We have come to Wisconsin to learn how the people have solved the problems which are troubling us in Philadelphia. We hope to be able to take back, and I am sure the hope be realized, enough of the spirit of this commonwealth to carry out new ideas of civic improvement in our own city. It seems now as if our pilgrimage will be far more profitable than we had believed possible. We hope while here to discover how the University of Wisconsin is improving the citizenship of the state. We want them to apply some of these ideas in our own city and state."

The Y. M. C. A. Dormitory

Chairman	Al Haake
Secretary	Gay Gullickson
Treasurer	Jack Culnan

In order to bring about effective discipline in the dormitory a court was instituted. Infraction of a number of rules makes one liable to appear before the court. Two cases were dealt with,—both being occasioned by insubordinate freshmen. In one instance a freshman failed to get the mail on Sunday. In the second a freshman was convicted of smoking in the hall and general insubordination. In both cases they were sentenced to additional service at ringing the "buzzers" every morning and taking care of the Sunday mail. The present organization is as follows:—

Judge	Hon. "Dave" Kumm
Clerk	"Gay" Gullickson
Sheriff	"Dutch" Schroeder
Prosecuting Attorney	"Coby" Cobaugh
Janitor	"Oley" Swanson

Elbert Hubbard on "The Wisconsin Idea"

While in Madison at the university I lingered in the library, visited class-rooms, attended lectures, saw the laboratories, passed the medicine ball with the boys, did a little passive track work in the gym, talked a little to various classes, unmuzzling my ignorance on many subjects.

One thing sure, Wisconsin is thoroughly wide-awake, alive and mentally alert. Wisconsin has at least one fad, so far-reaching in its potentialities that it deserves to be called "The Wisconsin Idea." And this is the expansion of the university through the public schools, to the end that the entire state shall be a school campus and every school house an integral part of the university. The idea of education being exclusive and for the elect few is being challenged here as nowhere else in the wide world.

The university is not a collection of buildings, nor an aggregation of professors. It is an organization of the people. And if the people cannot come to the university the University of Wisconsin has provided a way so that it goes to the people.

At the university at the present time there is what is called a "short course" —technically, an agricultural course. This course is open to men and women of any age, without restriction. There are no embarrassing features of examinations. You come here and you enter the classes on payment of a nominal registration fee. You are then as much one of the student body as any one of the students who comes here to take the four years' course.

There are at the present time a thousand men and women—many of them past forty years of age—studying chemistry, soil analysis, history and economics. I met one woman who is eighty-two, who will duly graduate in June and receive her B. A.

But most of these students in the short course are here for six weeks. They come from the farms, the villages, the cities or the towns. A few of them have had college advantages, but most of them have not. Some of them were born across the sea.

Men and their wives come here; some of them grandparents, whose children have grown up and moved away. They have a little money and a little leisure, so they go to the university. Then I found mothers entered as students who had sons or daughters taking the regular college course.

The opportunities thus offered for any citizen to enter the college at any time and feel that it is his college, that he is a part of it, is a great step to the front. These people are not tabooed among the regulars; they are not smiled at; the spirit of the hoodlum is not in evidence. Gray hairs are respected; calloused hands are honored; furrowed faces—earnest, sincere, sane, poised—look into yours.

The University of Wisconsin is organizing hundreds of towns and villages on the civic center basis, using the schoolhouse for lectures, debates, clubs, moving pictures, stereopticon shows and any and every thing in the line of education and human betterment. The idea that the school-house is a place for children only, and this at certain set hours, is a fallacy that the Wisconsin idea has exploded.

Socrates said, "I would set the young people to work, and send the old people to college, because poetry and philosophy should be the solace of those who have lived long." If a college education is a good thing, then all of the people should have it.

This is the Wisconsin idea. And the methods being used to bring this about are of a very practical, tangible, common-sense sort. The plan works.

A Tragio-Comie Drayma

which outclasses the small-town stuff that precedes it even as a "picnic for two" surpasses a chaperoned evening in Sterling Court.

The Entire Drayma is Guaranteed to be

Uncensored

And its authors will be intensely disappointed if they have not libeled you most grossly and maliciously. (As for the Regents, we're going to Hahvahd next year anyway—so "come on and blackbird us, you faculty."

IN SHORT

If you have been treated with any degree of consideration, we want to apologize for being polite. We know that the chairman is a mean, nasty man, and glory in the fact.

If you are prominent, learn that the penalty of prominence is publicity for your pernicious perfidies. So let those who have been muckraked pat themselves on the dome and say, "Lo, we are it."

The Port of Missing Men

A Tragedy in One Act

"Willie"

"Jack"

Scene—Ferdy's Place.

Time—Four o'clock in the afternoon. Chairs and tables are ready for business and the wieners are smoking on the free lunch shelf. Enter Wallie Erdman surreptitiously and with stealth. His water spaniel, Mendota, has come in behind him and is immediately attracted by the odor of the steaming wieners. He goes over to the shelf, suddenly becomes excited, and finally bursts into tears.

Erdman—What ails you, Mendota?

Spaniel (trying hard to control himself)—'Tis he, Scotty Collie. Why, Wallie, that dog and I used to get poodled together when we were at school at Hamburger. It's a terrible fate to be put in tights that way.

The conversation is interrupted at this point by the entrance of Tip O'Neil and Bill Conway. TIP, hurredly and looking at his watch—Are we late?

Bill Conway—There doesn't seem to be a quorum here yet.

Erdman (brightening perceptibly)—Oh, I'm glad you've arrived. I was so afraid some freshman would see me in here.

Bremer (hammering loudly on the bar)—Order, here, Order I say.

Tip O'Neil (hastily)—Of course. That's what we came here for. Gimme a beer.

Loud Chorus from All—Oh, Gracious! What'll we do?

Bremer—Who's going to pay for this drink?

(Conway is thunderstruck and cowers into a corner trembling.)

Erdman—I'd pay for the drinks only I've forgotten how. (Puts his head in hands and sobs softly to himself.)

Leeming (scared but trying to appear calm)—Of course, Stew you ordered this.

Stew White (fumbling hurriedly through his pockets)—Peculiar, you know, old chap, but I put on one of Paul Lillard's suits by mistake and there isn't any money in it.

O'Neil (Depositing his Ingersoll on the bar)—Don't mention it, old man; nothing at all I assure you. Gentlemen (this in a solemn voice) Gentlemen, I move we adjourn to continue our shopping at the Co-op. One doesn't need money there. (Grunts of approval and they file out, leaving Ferdie glowering at the miniature "Big Ben" on the bar.) (Curtain)

OKAYAMA (life-long friend of Toke's)—the goddess of cheap notoriety.

SCENE—Gettsi's boudoir. Framed pictures of Irv White, Dave Saposs, etc., littering walls.

Toke is bucking with one eye on a report of the student waiters' union.

Enter Illona, the aforesaid Goddess of Fame.

ILL.—Love me, Tokerama, follow me! Gain me! I am yours for the asking.

TOKE—Nope, I'm satisfied with Okayama; besides I have my woik—my duty to Japan

ILL. (Throws beautiful arms round Toke's neck and kisses him avec beaucoup de passion)—Come, Tokerama! Come! COME!!

TOKE (trembles and finally yields to her wishes)—I WILL COME!

ILL.—Ha, now I spurn you! Away from me! As long as you were content with your own miserable temptress I yearned to win you away from her. Now I see you are no better than the rest of your associates. AWAY! I am not for you nor such as you!

The Autocrats of the Cockroach Stable

(Ye Cardinal Kittens)

Enter the firm, Ralph S. Growl and Grover L. Narrowpeddle. Grover is probably the biggest member of the firm or else appearances are again deceiving us.

GROWL—It can't be done, I say, it can't be done. Why just the other day some—

GROVER—What can't be done, you wop?

GROWL—Why you big—

GROVER (Sourly)—I know it. You needn't rub it in. Begin, you trained grape-nut, and tell me what can't be done.

GROWL—Well we can't run this business any longer without having enough grub. Why—two pounds of ham isn't enough for seventy-five people.

GROVER—It is too, the way we cook it.

GROWL—Well we've got to have enough grub around here to let people know what kind of a place we're running. Why the other day a couple of fellows blew into the office and wanted to pay their rent. I asked them if they didn't mean board and they said no. They said that everybody at their table brought his own food with him and they simply wanted to pay for using our dishes. I asked 'em if they hadn't noticed food on the plates when they were brought in.

GROWL—Yes, and other things are happening right along, too. A guy told me the other day that our chops were misnamed. He said that instead of calling them lamb chops and pork chops we ought to call them sheep-shavings and pig-whittlings. A waiter told me the other day that the soup was so thin that it leaked out of the bowls before the men could get away with it. One of the track men told me that it made him dizzy to see the soup running around the training table. (Growl and Narrowpeddle here lapse into moody and impotent perplexity which finds its expression in silence.)

GROWL (Finally musing)—Of course we might get Wallie Erdman to pass a law forbidding freshmen to ask for seconds.

GROVER (brightening)—That's a good idea, Growl, you old hectic hic-cough; I'll have Denny Crile reported to Prexy as a heavy eater and that ought to be enough to have him kicked out of school again.

(Linking arm in arm, the two saunter out, Grover reciting aloud:)

"Wind may calm and wind may blow,
But our Sunday chicken will last forever."

Fred Pinkerton—

We, the undersigned, having procured a double table, and having appointed our own steward for smokes, and having got the spiflicated cow cook back again (he was drunk last night and we got porterhouse steak with chicken for dessert), do hereby request your return to the gang. Great Song Hit by Alice Bitner

ALL DRESSED UP AND NOTHING TO WEAR

Sung with great feeling by Aiken Hektoen.

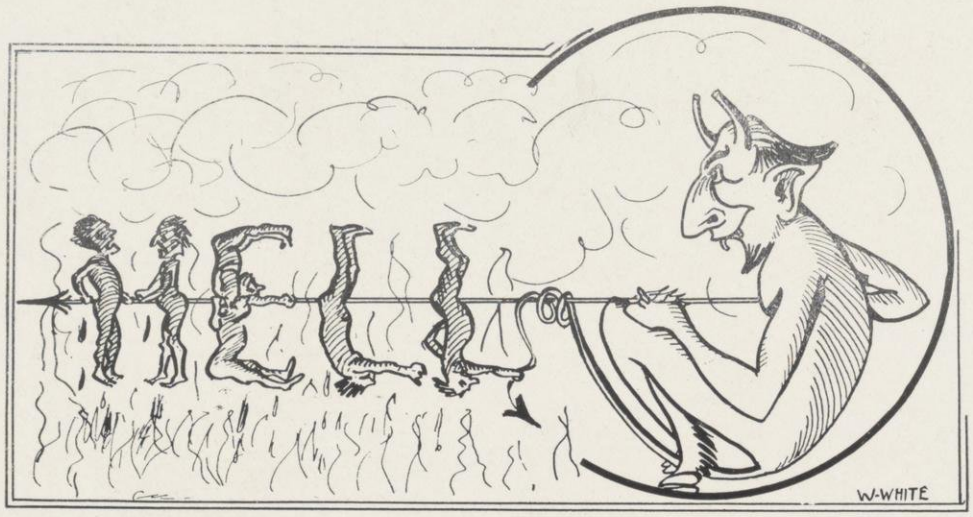
Do You Tango?

Dedicated to Mrs. Vernon Castle and Frank Gotch

Do you grab your girl in frantic embrace?
Do you close your eyes and screw up your face?
Do your feet get hysterics and breath give out?
Do you hunch up your shoulders and gyrate about?
DO YOU TANGO?

Do you rebound from one couple into the next?
Forgetting completely your Sunday School text?
Do you raise a formidable elbow defense?
And go whirling dizzily hither and thence?
DO YOU TANGO?

Do you twist your spine about twenty degrees?
And move up and down on the hinge of your knees?
Do your coat tails fly or your hair pins slip?
As you clumsily tango an Argentine dip?
DO YOU TANGO?



A modern play acted by modern actors in a modern way

WHERE—The everlasting bonfire. (Impressionistic setting; subdued tones of dull red intermingled with flashes of bright blood-hued light. Snaky music—suitable for any of the modern society steps.)

WHO—Hank Murphy at first. Others will blow in—you'll see them soon enough.

WHEN—Oh any time.

OVERTURE

THE "WAR IS HELL" RAG

TABLEAU PRIMIERE

HANK (solus and unhappy)—"This is sure enough the inferno. We're all on an equal footing down here and us guys can't make no holler yellin' about how we're downtrodden by the aristocrats. No way of makin' an honest livin' here." (Sobs audibly with his head in his hands as he remembers the days of the Daily News.)

(Enter a wreck of a college student. His eyes are bleared, his footsteps shaky and his expression tremulous. It is Wallie Erdman.)

WALLIE (To Hank, who is still tearing his hair, an old habit contracted after the barbers raised the ante two blues)—You—Hank! You here?"

HANK (uttering low wails while his chin sags to the southeast)—"Don't talk to me."

WALLIE (unsteadily)—"I thought I was doing you a favor."

HANK (pricking up his listeners and coming back to life)—"Ah—ah. I'll have a chance to take a crack at them yet!" (Manfully)—"You shut up."

(Enter Perc Schley wearing a neat red uniform of the Hell-Quick Service cleaning company. Modestly yet with a shadow of an assured air)—"Mr. Murphy here?"

HANK (tragically)—"YOU!" (Coldly yet dispassionately—"Yes, I'm here. Whadayuwant?"

PERC—"Package for you in the next room. I'll bring it in in a minute." (Exit Perc merrily and blithesomely.)

HANK—(Aside-stroking fringe on lower edge of front part of head)—"A package for me? Can it be the bombs? No—it must be the suit of clothes they took from me last Tuesday when I came down."

WALLIE (recovering from stupor in corner)—"Package? Who's got a package?"

(Re-enter Perc with big sloppy bundle. Presents b. s. b. to Hank who undoes the cord.)

HANK (Reading)—"Here's your suit. You'll find a jug in the package containing the soup we extracted in cleaning."

WALLIE (Who has read over his shoulder)—"Haw! Haw!"

HANK, sublimely)—"You shut up you—second Gus Wernicke you."

(Enter Nellie Trottman, Pa Trottman and Dean Birge arm in arm. Nellie sees Hank and smiles, giving a fine example of an open countenance.)

NELL (Slowly closing mouth and gradually opening eyes as they heave into view)—"Where ju fellers come from?"

CHORUS—"Oh hell!" (Hank becomes despondent again, Erdman goes back into stupor and Schley writhes on the floor.)

NELL (Nothing daunted, characteristically)—"Come on, papa, come on, Dean Birge, let's find some place to sit down."

(The Dean has the air of a hunted rabbit. Glances furtively over his shoulder at every noise and keeps behind Pa Trottman.)

PA TROTT—Very well Nelson. (Reverting to native German dialect)—"Thiss remintess me of my young days at Tsedarburg."

(Exit what came in last—all three of it.)

(Nell has dropped a bill from the Psi U house and Hank picks it up, thinking it is elastic currency.)

HANK—"Ha! He flouts me with it. Hell or no hell, I'm going to start something!" (Tense moment.)

Hesitating curtain while audience sits aghast.

Rising movement is now riz.

PART TWO

(There are no acts or scenes in this drayma. The reason is obvious enough. It would be against all precepts and commands to let any of the characters live through more than one scene, so we have to begin all over again. Then too, this is the new drayma.)

SECOND OVERTURE

"Hearts and Flowers" - - - By the Hellish Band

Introducing T. KLINGENBERGER URDAHL. KLING steps softly into the scene, closely followed by handsome Gordon McKay and roaring Al Haake.

KLING (in soothing Swedio-Dutch accents strongly enhanced by adenoids)—"Well I guess I'll git the sentiment of the kimunity down here. Mr. Mackay, please open the window."

AL (Coming back with the nice German accents)—"O let me do it for you, Mr. Uhrdahl. (Looking around)—"Aber ach wo sind wir nun? Kinder, kinder, how did we get down here so soon?"

(All three weep and retire toward upper right.)

Enter Irv White and the reincarnated Denny Crile.

IRV.—"Where's de gang? A lot of us guys must be here, all right." (Takes a look at Urdahl, blanches, and walks away dejected. Turns back and soliloquizes) —"If he can get in here what's the use of raising hell for four years? Dat guy can get anywhere and he never done nobody nothing."—(Sobs violently and exits.)

Denny (Who has remained quietly gazing at Haake's flowing locks)—"Oh Goodness—Sweet Chrysanthemums—what in ——" (The rest has been censored.)

(Denny has a decided lurch in his walk. Walks unsteadily up to Al Haake, and flashes a copy of the Blackbird in his face.)

Al (with bristling hair)—"You— — you—" (Very dramatic.)

(Al swoons and falls into the arms of McKay.)

(Re-enter T. K. licking his lips. Sees inert form of his beloved disciple on the red hot floor and points accusing finger at Denny. Diabolical leer plays upon features of the college rake.

Urdahl attempts to speak but meeting the eye of Denny can only revert to his mother tongue. Babbles incoherent German gutturals (the regular line he pulls in his lectures) and swallows quickly and convulsively.)

Who's Who and Why

THE KNOCKERS' CREED

I believe that this is a punk University, that Dean Birge's ability entitles him only to represent the Sophomore class in the Student Conference; that the majority of the faculty are moss grown fossils, that the rest are mere atoms wandering aimlessly about in space; that that consolidated rag known in the vernacular, as the Daily Cardinal, is the worst yet, that the old woman who runs the gym and showers ought to be canned; that outside of the Monastics and the Delta Gammas, the Commoners are the most undesirable organization in the University; that the brewery interests control the Y. M. C. A. officials, the S. A. E.'s, the Alpha Phis, the Psi U's; that Inner Gate, White Spades, Pink Garters, Green Umbrella's, Half Hose, Yellow Helmets, and the Red Tri-Angle's are a positive menace to the University; that the Conference and Sam Hickox are jokes; and

A SONNET

Alone it stands on lower campus land,
By some athletic bone-heads set apart;
An institution showing lack of art,
By simps 'twas builded and by ivory planned.
Beyond the ordinary student's hand,
Beyond the ken of the untutored brain,
As is the Gamma Phi to country swain,
Only the favored few can understand.
A work toiled over with the greatest care
Yet which the scoffing, careless crowd goes by,
A gooey, messy bunch of mud is there,
On those June days that Lowell calls so rare.
A blow to those, of beauty who are fond,
A lasting monument, George Ehler's Pond.

"Durn Yeh, Tommy Atkins"

[TO TOMMY ATKINS—COMMANDANT]

I walked int' the captain's office for to see about my cuts;
Tommy sets me cleanin' guns along a bunch o' yearling muts.
"Here's me finish for a week," I thinks, till Tommy up and grunts,
"That'll do, men, all your cuts are scratched. I'm goin' out for lunch."
Oh it's "Cuss you, Tommy, durn you, Tommy, blast your bloomin' guts;"
But it's "Thank you, Mister Atkins," when he scratches off your cuts;
When he scratches off your cuts, my boys, he scratches off your cuts,
Then it's "Thank you, Mister Atkins," when he scratches off your cuts.

I looked across the campus for to see if Tommy A.
Was agoin' to make me lug a gun on such a muddy day.
Then I hollers, "He's a good un," and I gives my thanks to him,
For Tommy hadn't raised the flag to flap above the gym.
Oh it's "Cuss you, Tommy, durn you for a bloody, bloomin' vag;"
But it's "Thank you, Mister Atkins," when he doesn't hoist the flag;
When he doesn't hoist the flag, my boys, he doesn't hoist the flag;
Then it's "Thank you, Mister Atkins," when he doesn't hoist the flag.

AND MERE MAN WONDERS "WHY"

Oh! The girls they sigh for him
Oh! The girls they'd die for him,
But none'll get him,
The handsome Ken!

There is Ernestine and Charlotte,
There is Esther, too, and Lily—
And a host of Gamma Phis who,
When he smiles on them, just beam.
There are Kappas, Delta Gammas,
All a-following, half silly—
E'en the Pi Phis stop their chatter
When they see him cheer the team.

But though the girls they sigh for him,
But though the girls would die for him,
Still none of them have caught him yet—
The "handsomest of men."

BUCK SWEEPS POLLS AT SOPH ELECTION

WICKHAM AND FRAWLEY TO BE BROUGHT UP ON CHARGE OF CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT VIOLATION.

(By The Telegram's Special Correspondent.)

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 11.—After one of the most bitter political fights ever staged at the University of Wisconsin, Howard B. Buck, varsity tackle, and candidate for all western position, was elected to the presidency of the sophomore class. Never since the famous Ofstie was railroaded into the presidency of the athletic council, has there been such an exhibition of political subterfuge and chicanery witnessed at this institution.

Graft was rampant throughout, and as a result, Wickham and Frawley bosses for the Buck crowd, will have to go before the student court to stand trial for a violation of the corrupt practice act of the student conference. The supporters of McMaster, Buck's opponent at the polls, claim that Wickham and Frawley used underhand methods to swing the election. They charge that Buck himself took two influential Alpha Delta Gamma girls to the nickle show the night before the election, and that these two thereupon pledged their support to the Buck forces. Buck denies the allegation, insisting that it was Wickham who took the girls, and that Frawley supplied the funds. He denies that this has any bearing on the election, or that the girls were approached for political purposes.

The night before the election, the McMaster contingent circulated the opportunities which they throw away. Yale and Princeton are jokes, compared to the University of Wisconsin. They know a little about culture, but they know nothing about education. And the University of Wisconsin knows a good deal about both.

VAN HISE PRAISED

"President Van Hise," continued Mr Steffens, "is in a class by himself among college presidents. He has the broadest conception of what a university should teach, how it should teach it, what it should represent and stand for, what it should work for and what its relations to the people and the problems of the present should be, of any college president in the United States, bar none. Your President Van Hise is a great man.

"The only thing in which the University of Wisconsin seems to fall short, as I casually observe it, is that there is not enough mixing, just plain good elbow fellowship, between the faculty and the students. The best education is never got in the class room; it comes from just sitting down and talking to a fellow. That's the way to get next to ideas, to discuss and analyse problems. Your laboratory work has some advantage. It is good but the pure class room work, where you're called up by your card

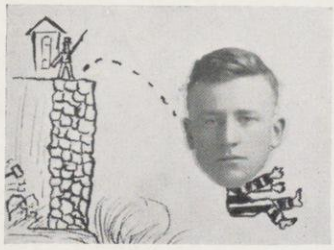
Well, here we are, just BROKE OUT, and sure to get a hand from the public, because we shall print elucidating confessions and revelations written by our own MOST FAMOUS CRIMINALS. Glance but once at the names of the authors, and you will be convinced that we have the PICK OF THE CHAIN GANGS

HOW TO SWIPE A "W"

(Being Confessions on this Honor Stuff)



I usta think it was a hard game swipin' one of them "W" things. But say, 'taint nothin' to it! If youse only know the lay of the land, its just as easy squeezing one of them "W's" out of the athletic council, as it is to swim in Lake Ehler.

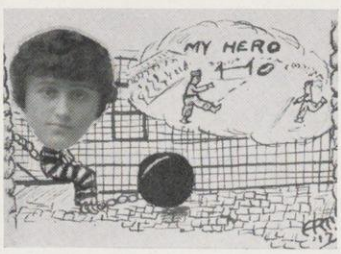
In the first place, I might as well let on that I ain't no good. Some people think I am, but 'taint nothin' to it. But you don't have to be to win a "W," if youse goes at it right. Here's the tip. TALK! TALK! TALK!, and when you get tired of talking, TALK SOME MORE! Why say, I just naturally haunted that athletic board until they had to give me a "W." I talked 'em into givin' it to me.

Why should I worry about running my head off on the track like Ofstie and them fellers, when I could get my "W" talkin? Sure! This is the way I worked. I usta go in when Doc Ehler was busy, and talk. Pretty soon he'd kick me out, but that was part of my game. Then next time, he'd send me to Meanwell. Then Meanwell would kick me out. Another part of my game. Next, he'd send me to the athletic council. Same thing: kicked out.

But here's the point. They soon got tired of kickin' a fellow out! Result? Gave me a "W" to get rid of me. Easy when you know how.

BREAKING IN

(Being the Confessions of a Famous Co-ed)



Well, I'm in now, but believe me, it was some job! When I first sized up that Gamma Phi chapter house, I thought I'd have to give it up, for it sure looked too exclusive-like for me. But that only goes to show what perseverance and a system of watchful waiting will do. Pres. Wilson aint got nothin' on me!

But I suppose youse girls wanta know how I got in. First time I took my jimmy kit, and had a try at the Gamma Phi house, there was nothin' doin'. I almost worked my head off, gettin' no sleep, worryin' so I couldn't get my lessons, but it wasn't no use. You see, 'twas like this. Inside the house they had a couple of sorority watchdogs, who kept watch to see no one gets in that don't belong. No use tryin' the break in gag while they was there.

So what did I do? Dead Easy! I waited 'till them watch dogs was graduated from school, and then makes the grand break the night after. Easy? Say, nothin' to it! And while I'm talkin' about it, you oughta read my book entitled "200 ways of breaking into a sorority." Sold 800 copies at Chadbourne and Barnard last year. Bound to do the business. For real inside dope, read the book, or write me personally.—And them Kappas—Shush! Didn't like 'em anyway.

CAMPUS TYPES

NUMBER I

The Sweet Young Thing

Life wouldn't be worth living without the Sweet Young Thing. Take your stand outside Main Hall at eleven-fifty any day and watch the peaches glide past.

You can't miss the Sweet Young Thing. There will be men all around her fighting to carry her books and to get a place by her side and a goodly number bringing up the rear.

This exhibition is always a delight to the spectacled maiden who has stringy hair, a last year's hat, and a Phi Beta key, and who usually walks alone.

One of the striking things about the S. Y. T. is that she always signs up for the pipe courses under young and handsome instructors. She is surprised to learn that there are women on the faculty, never having noticed them. All she has to do to get an Ex. out of a course is to smile and show her dimples.

Allow us to present Miss Esther Kelly.

NUMBER II

The Politician

Shall we not choose as a representative politician the most successful man who has ever manipulated the affairs of a class at Wisconsin?

Is there a more pure and spotless character among University politicians than Babe Jackson?

Do you remember the champagne supper that he gave at the Madison Club a year ago?

Could anything be more touching to a class than to have its dance committees and their friends so royally entertained? Babe certainly made himself popular.

He always did have taking ways.

All this reminds us of the delightful summer that Louis Zollner spent in European travel after managing the Junior Play some time ago.

It is really a pity that such lovely characters should be restricted in their financial machinations by the invention of the cash register and student court investigations and the like. "Ask Finny."

NUMBER III

The Actor

When you see a person striding across the campus with figure tense, gazing into the middle of next semester, and muttering, "Ha! Ha! me Lawd," then you may know that Edwin Booth is preparing to afflict the public or that a new playlet is being evolved in the fertile brain of the eminent author-actor, Mr. Leroy French.

The actor is a very brilliant and a very wise man. He can tell you just where Sothern fails, and how to improve on Shakespeare, but there is one thing this eighth wonder cannot do. He cannot write a worse playlet then the one he recently produced before the long-suffering Union Vodvil audience.

It was he who wanted to give Mary Jane's Pa" for the Junior Play so that he could make Henry Dixey's version of the title role look like the hole in a doughnut.

NUMBER IV

The Athlete

There is in our midst one who is known to us all, or if he isn't it's not his fault. He has himself firmly convinced that he is the original and only man who is worthy of notice around these parts.

His happiness is complete when he can don one of those abbreviated track suits, trot nonchalantly out before the breathless, admiring crowd and easily clear six feet in the high jump with a graceful bound.

He breaks world's records without half trying. What a modest smile he wears as the judges hand him the gold medal. When it comes to modesty a violet has to go some to keep up with him.

But one more gold medal is nothing to him. He has so many now that if he ever gets hard up he can just sell them and live in luxury forever after.

That is really true because he told me himself. As a rule he hates to talk about himself. He always waits to be coaxed and he knows just exactly how to get an unsuspecting, innocent mortal to coax him. Then stop him if you can.

Have you ever been presented to Bob Wahl?

SEASON 1913-14

TO THE PUBLIC:

The management has taken no pains, nor has is gone to any expense to make the audience feel at ease during this program, however objectionable the acts may be.

We request that anyone wishing to have a cab called or to make a telephone call do not wake the ushers, since the management does not wish them to be aroused owing to the inadequacy of their pay.

Rubbers, co-eds, mackinaws, babies, Theta Delts and other nuisances should be left in the lobby or taken out into the alley. No smoking, clapping, loud talking, laughing, or chewing of gum shall be allowed by order of the Board of Health or other disturbances.

Anyone wishing to stay to the end of the performance should make special arrangements with the management to have the lights left burning. No girl who is not of age shall be allowed to remain through acts marked with a star (*) without an escort and chaperone.

In closing we request you to lend us your co-operation in making four million dollars for the management. We have no competition, so you can't go elsewhere.

We thank you for your attention and suggest that you read the advertisements in this program since they will divert your attention from the acts on the stage.

Before Morbid Throng, Fearless Student Prosecutor Opens Frank Stone Case

"INNOCENT AS AN S. A. E." SAYS ACCUSED "BOSS"

Was The Coco Cola Spiked?—Question Agitates Throng At Opening Session of Court

Before a morbid crowd of seekers after thrills, Frank M. Stone, accused junior class "boss," today began the ordeal of his long trial on grand jury charges brought several months ago. The crowd that thronged the court room filled every seat, hours before Chief-Justice Brewer called the court to order. Women predominated, the bright colors of sorority girls mixing with the more somber hues worn by the five and ten cent store contingent.

"I contend now, as I have contended since the grand jury first got the goods on me, that I am as innocent as an S. A. E. can be." The accused machine politician spoke quietly to the group of newspaper men who gathered around him as he stepped from his roadster at the foot of the Hill. "Furthermore, boys, I may be a crook, but they can't prove it, and anyway the money is all safely salted away."

Alf Bushneck, prosecuting attorney, was confident that he would secure a conviction when the case opened.

"Gentlemen of the court," he perorated, "I shall show the pernicious influences of this man Stone in the light

RICHARDSON GETS HIS PAY CHECK—STOCK MARKET STUCK

In spite of the present stringency in the athletic department finances, William Officeboy Richardson, insistant to the athletic director, received his monthly salary check yesterday. As usual, the amount was $17.36.

Mr. Richardson was loath to state to the Cardinal's financial reporter as to what use he would make of the money, fearing that undue publicity might cause a panic on the stock market. It is rumored, however, that he will pay his bill at the Beta house for September, 1911.

Considerable surprise was expressed that the athletic treasury could stand the drain of the payment. The department has been under a heavy strain lately to pay for the water in the lower campus pond.

SOCIETY NOTE

THE DAILY CARDINAL NOW BELONGS TO YOU. IT IS YOUR PAPER. Under the recent articles of incorporation, the DAILY CARDINAL becomes the property of each and every student of the University of Wisconsin. The Cardinal is now your paper, YOUR OWN PAPER, YOUR VERY OWN PROPERTY! JUST THINK!! Here is something to be proud of. We should all be proud of the Cardinal because it is our paper. But remember the regents won't have beer ads in our paper, so let's all begin to pay our subscriptions! Let's show how much we appreciate the fact that the Cardinal is our own paper! Let's pay up what we owe (yes, for Gawd's sake) and let's be proud of the Cardinal (that's asking too much even if we do owe money). And remember it's our own paper.

Also don't forget who it is that makes the Cardinal possible. (It's out at last). It's the advertisers. Don't patronize them. Ed Kohl did. Let's all get out and patronize the advertisers and show them we're proud of the Cardinal. (They know no better). Remember it's our own paper, our very own. We are printing a list of the advertisers, so you won't have to read through the paper to find out whom to patronize. We got them, they'll get you. The Cardinal is your own paper. Don't forget it. (Oh, if we only could).

HAAKE CONFESSES; DRANK DARK BEER?

CONFERENCE LEADER CONFESSES THAT HE ENTERED A SALOON

CONFERENCE TO INVESTIGATE

"I am forced to admit that in my misguided youth I once went into a saloon," said Alfred Politics Haake, President of the University Y. M. C. A., in an address to the student conference yesterday evening.

Pandemonium broke loose in the conference chambers following the sensational confession of the Rev. Haake. It was fully five minutes before Chairman Hickox was able to quiet the rioting galleries, and even on the floor of the conference, wild scenes were enacted. A roar that made the pounding of the presiding gavel inaudible came from the Socialist side, where Hank F. Murphy '15

PREXIE CHIDES ERRING VOTERS

SELF GOVERNMENT REFERENDUM ALMOST GIVES PRESIDENT HEART FAILURE, BUT

MORRIS MEYER CAME TO THE RESCUE

"I'm real angry," said President C. R. Van Hise, when asked his opinion of the student self-government referendum vote. "To those nasty students who voted against my self-government, I can only say with all possible severity that they are not nice."

Until it became evident that self-government had been retained by the overwhelming majority of 23 votes, the President was under a severe strain, and exhibited considerable anxiety. However, all through the ordeal of counting the votes, Al Kaane stood manfully by the President, and had a bottle of smelling salts ready every time a strong anti-self government precinct was reported.

At one time, when self government was running behind, the forces that were receiving the returns at Prexie's headquarters considered the expedient of sending Morris Meyer, chairman of the elections committee, after some more blank ballots, so that there would be no danger of a miscarriage of justice. Later, when the agric returns came to the rescue, Prexie congratulated Mr. Meyer upon his efficient work.

P. DALY WIELDS A JUICY CHOP, AND NOW FROSH DISLIKES THETA DELTS

WILL PERCIFER SIGN PLEDGE?

Hurling a large, greasy pork chop across the table with great force and excellent aim, Percifer C. Daly, '15, caused the loss of an excellent prospect for the local chapter of Theta Delt yesterday evening. While the damage done was limited to the destruction of a two dollar cravat, an Anoka collar, and one excellent pork chop, members of the chapter view the affair as serious, and refused to express opinons for publication. Coming as it did in the midst of the rushing season, the incident has caused considerable excitement in fraternity circles.

The freshman, whose name has been withheld, was the guest at dinner of the chapter. Daly entered the dining room several minutes after the others, and was evidently under spiritual influence, even to the extent of having difficulty in locating his seat. He had just been served with the pork chop which figures in the case, when he noticed the pres-

A clear surplus of $10,000 profits, unadulterated and unreal, the gain on the 1914 Badger, was announced at one o'clock this morning when "Bushwah" Brandel got Prexy out of bed to tell him the good news. A. Woodbe Hallam was also overjoyed at the news, having been of some slight assistance to Brandel in getting out last year's book.

Brandel will present each member of the Badger Board with a check for $100 in token of his generosity "Wallie" has already purchased a new Ford in which to collect several hundred bills that are still due him.

"Art" Hallam will receive $15 for his services in assisting Brandel. "Art" has promised to buy a white shirt and four white collars with his share of the proceeds.

INCITED RIOT? MURPHY HELD BY CHICAGO POLICE

Badger Student Charged With Causing Riot of Striking Dish Washers

"I DON'T LIKE HOT WATER" SAYS ACCUSED MAN

Leader of "Dish Rag-Red Flag" Faction In Varsity Politics Is Interviewed

CHICAGO, ILL., FEB 31.—Charged with inciting riot, Henry R. Murphy, a student at the University of Wisconsin, was arrested here today while addressing a street meeting of striking dishwashers, and was hurried to the Clark Street station, where he is held for $5,000 bail.

The office of the state's attorney accuses Murphy of responsibility for the beginning of the riot of striking dishwashers yesterday.

The imprisoned student, who is only seventeen years of age, is known as leader of the "Dish-Rag Faction" in Wisconsin university politics, and was imported by the striking dishwashers here to aid them in their fight for 18 inch dish-rags and less hot water.

"I have always objected to the use of too much hot water for any purpose," said Murphy today, "and the plight of the man with the dish-rag here has so aroused my noble sentiments so that I feel I must help him. Our slogan at the university is 'Dish-rag and Red Flag' and the dish-rag is now dominant in university politics. Personally I am a great leader, and expect to run for governor as soon as I am of age, which will be in four years."

COMMONORS CAN WHITE; CHARGE HE DANCED TANGO

"Irv" White was indefinitely canned from the Commoners last night on the charge of dancing the Argentino Grab, the newest of the naughty, naughty dances. White offered a defense except that he was "against the frats" and that T. N. E. was trying to blow up Main Hall.

Clark Getts declared that he had seen White in company with Miss M. Neprud at the Woman's Building last Saturday evening. The Argentino Grab, it will be remembered, was introduced by Senor Julius Hosman and Birdie Arnold in the Union Vodvil last December.

tried to proclaim above the noise that this admission meant the downfall of Haake's reign as political boss. The section of the floor which holds F. M. Stone, '15, Gilbert Waite, '15, and other prominent protagonists of the brewery interests, exhibited great pleasure in the confession.

A motion for an investigation of Mr. Haake's past conduct, was proposed by F. Menzo Hall, '15. A powerful impassioned speech by Hank R. Murphy, brought the matter to a vote. The speech declared "that under a government of the people, by the faculty, and for the students in this glorious college of ours, we should not permit a single blot on the escutcheon of our fair university."

The speaker went on to say,

"While the predatory interests in their selfishness may wish to hide the enormity of such a crime from the glorious sunlight which filters through von windows, I must protest against the muzzling of free and democratic opinion, and with Abraham Lincoln I declare, Let there be shine."

BOLLENBECK BREAKS VARSITY SKI RECORD

Tremendous excitement reigned tonight in athletic circles when it was learned that Joseph William Bollenbeck, special correspondent for the Stoughton Hemhorage, negotiated a jump of three feet and two inches in the annual compet of the University Ski Club, of which he is janitor.

The record here established beats anything the University Ski Club has as yet accomplished, and Joseph is justly proud of his daring jump. It is rumored that Joseph will tender himself a banquet in honor of the event, but he claims that he is so busy with his fifteen newspapers, that he has not time to give himself a banquet.

The ski club, on the strength of the sensational jump made by Joseph, will have their pictures sent to all the leading papers of the universe, with a statement of the heart breaking jump done in sepia to accompany it.

HOLD YOUR HAND OUT, NAUGHTY GIRL

After the S. G. A. mixer was all over, we were invited by the janitor to take a look at the hall used by the girls. It was awful. We never saw such a mess in our lives. We were led to wonder how old some of our girls here are, anyway. Can't people of college age behave like ladies? Punch and crackers were served at the mixer, and it seems that there are some girls who don't know how or what to eat.

There were crumbled crackers all over the room, and punch stains were everywhere in evidence. Does this show good breeding? We ask you, does it? If not why not? Some of the girls went so far as to sprinkle cracker crumbs down the in'nards of the piano. There is no excuse for this last piece of depravity.

Women of Wisconsin, wake up to this frightful condition of affairs! Let's join the S. G. A. and see what we can do for the manners and customs of our women co-eds! This sort of thing has simply got to stop, that is all there is to it!

DING-A-LING—NO THE NUT FOUNDRY HASN'T MOVED TO CHAD

(We suffered from this all last year)

Ding-a-ling went the dinner gong with a harsh discordant jangle through Chadbourne's gloomy corridors.

Slyly slinking, slithering frosh No. 1 peeped around the corner and winked wickedly at frosh No. 2.

"O hell", she simpered sweetly.

"Hist, is the coast clear?", and back slunk the watchers.

Crash!!

Out went the lights in the trunk room, and Nettie Karcher rolled down the hall. Roll on, oh ship of state.

Down slunk the unsuspecting frosh on the coast of Africa. From the voluminous folds of grandmother's cloak they drew seven alarm clocks. "Revenge is sweet. Fair maid, we have thy slumbering hours under our control. Tonight shalt thou slumber not, but shouldst list to the tinkle-tinkle of the Big Bens under thy bed".

Wearily she crept into her trundle bed. Pathos, pathos. Sleep, sweet sleep, that knits the ravelled sleeve of care. Oh shades of Morpheus, and also window shades!!

Twelve o'clock, sounded the mellifuous voice from Music Hall. Buzz, Buzz, three times Buzz, answered the bureau drawer in muffled notes.

Buzz, buzz, four times buzz, sang the laundry bag. And she shut that one up, too. And so on toiled the long and weary night, whilst the hours crept noisily from the dark recesses of the room.

The morning came, and came wrath. But let the dead bury their dead. The moral is clear.

ence of the rushee. Evidently he was displeased.

"What the blankety-blank-blank!!! ARE YOU HERE AGAIN.!!!" he shouted. Grasping the pork chop, he flung it across the table, where its flight ended in a crash which made the freshman see stars and pork at the same time.

With the help of several of the brothers the rushee was separated from the remains of the chop and Daly was propelled to bed. Both are reported as doing well, but the freshman announces that he does not think favorably of accepting a Theta Delt pledge

ODDITIES IN THE NEWS OF A DAY

YES, SHE'S A GAMMA PHI

Ethel Garbutt today began suit against the editor of the 1915 Badger for putting her picture in the so-called "Beautiful Co-eds" section. Miss Garbutt declared that she is not beautiful, has never been beautiful and never will be.

Ethel is real peeved and doesn't like the "ed" at all. The picture that Ethel said was not beautiful is in the "real" 1915 Badger.

It is expected that the editor will plead guilty to Miss Garbutt's assertion in the preceding paragraph.

CHAD WINS OVER BARNARD IN WARM FOOTBALL SCRAP

Nettie Karcher Stars For "Midnight Maids" In Co-ed Championship Game

"SCRAMBLED" EGGE BARNARD LUMINARY

Line-up Includes Heavyweights, And Molly Gedney; Welter, Calhoun, And Miner In Game

Sticking the pigskin under her arm in the last second of play, Nettie Karcher, star fullback of the Chadbourne Midnight Maids, plunged to victory this afternoon in the game that decided the championship against the Barnard Hall Black Crooks. The score was 345 to 340. This decides the Coed championship of the university.

The style of play of the two teams was radically different. Where the Black Crooks resorted to nifty trick plays and snappy formations, the Midnight Maids depended upon the plunging ability of Karcher to advance the ball. The game was characterized by rough play on the part of the Midnight Maids.

Molly Gedney and Harriet Green, the two pivot women of the game, engaged in roughing tactics, and the field was strewn with their switches and puffs.

The critical period of the game came in the last few minutes of play when the Midnight Maids had succeeded in placing the ball on the Black Crooks' ten yard line. With ten yards to go, Porter was sent against Isabel Gambole, but was thrown for a loss.

An attempt through right guard Egge netted one foot. Mayberry then took the ball for three yards around Frances Smith. With only 1 down left, and seven yards to go, the Midnight Maids held a consultation. On the next play, the ball was given to Karcher for a plunge over Isabel Gambole, and the stocky fullback succeeded in tearing her way through the hair pulling Black Crooks for the score that won the game. The lineup:

Was you to the mixer last night? We was and we had a fine time.

Fie for shame, swimming team. Why can't you keep eligible? Look at our debaters. Do they ever drop below?

We have a new pair of ear muffs but they don't protect our hands from the cold when we have to drag them out of our pockets (patched not patch) to speak to the co-eds. Why do we have to doff our hats to women anyway? Our socialistic profs tell us all about the real status of women, don't they?

Ask her to the Germanistische Gesellschaft tonight. That will settle it. (If that doesn't nothing will.)

Why not give the debaters sweaters to wear behind the forensic W?

Oh, let us remember that we are here primarily for scholarship and our studies. Let us study hard and please Prexy and get high marks and please Pa and Ma. Everybody out for Haresfeet Tryout tonight.

DISHWATER, SUDS, AND ARISTOCRATS

To the real student here, the thinker, who works his way through school washing dishes (sob, glub, splutter) it is a patent (nice word, Clark) fact that there are many of the idle rich at the university who are making money on the side. (Can he mean sophomore pipes?) Lots of frivolous fraternity men with no stability or real manhood to them are earning money sufficient to pay their debts and furnish them with spending money. What right have they, the masters, to oppress us and grind us under the heel of capitalism so that they can hog the jobs and cheat us out of our rye-bread and Eight Brothers? How can we permit these scions of the aristocracy to use their influence as members of the rich classes to deprive us of our jobs? Why should we let them handle newspaper jobs with fat (No, Clark, somebody has been toying with you) salaries while we poor worms (we agree with you, Gettsy) slave in dishwater and suds (Suds?) for a mere pittance? (Oratorical climax a la Athena) it is bad enough for us to have to let them go to the university at all without having to see them take our jobs away from us that need the money. (Good work, Clark, why not give this in the senior open, some time.)

CLARK HALLAM GETTS.

BOOST THE DEBATERS (OUT)

We take off our hats to the debating team that defeated Minnesota last night. The men fought every inch of the way, and demonstrated that Wisconsin can hold her own in the forensic world as well as in athletics and other activities that don't amount to anything. NOW LET'S ALL GET TOGETHER AND SHOW THE DEBATERS THAT THE SCHOOL IS BEHIND THEM. (Yes, about 200 miles behind.) LET'S SHOW THEM WE APPRECIATE REAL WORTH. WHY NOT GET UP A MONSTER PARADE (Yes, why not?) AND MEET THE HEROES AT THE STATION. WE HOPE WE CAN COUNT ON PRESIDENT VAN HISE'S BEING AT THE HEAD OF THE PARADE TO MAKE THE WELCOMING SPEECH. LET'S GIVE THE MEN A ROUSING WELCOME AND SHOW THEM THAT WISCONSIN APPRECIATES REAL MEN. EVERYBODY OUT! REMEMBER THAT THE DEBATERS ARE THE ONLY MEN WORTH WHILE.

(Written by ME, Al Haake, closer for Wisconsin, on the train coming back from Minnesota.)

of the clear and beautiful sun that Prexie allows to shine on Mendota. I shall tell you of the meetings of the Tweed ring, styled by their leader as 'the good and true,' forsooth; I shall tell you of how they gathered on Sunday afternoons in the bedroom of Frank Merriwell Stone to plan their raids on the public treasury, to divide the loot of the week passed, to strengthen the clutch of its vampire talons on the class of 1915. All this and more shall I lay bare to the core even as Denny Crile bares the heart of a rabbit in the medic lab. Facts I have nix, brains I have nix, but I am an orator, and I SHALL LEAD YE UNTO THE LIGHT."

Witnesses will take the stand for the prosecution tomorrow in an effort to substantiate the charges that upkeep bills for Frank Stone's Lozier runabout and Coco-Cola bills at Schwoeglers are being paid by the junior class, that the $600 loss sustained by the junior prom was due to the unearned increment which found its way to the pockets of the class "boss," and that other members of the ring participated in the alleged graft jackpots. That the Coco-Cola bought with class fund was spiked, is another contention of the state.

COMMUNICATION

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY CARDINAL:

Can you explain it please to me why I didn't make Haresfoot? I tried out and didn't heard a word from it. Later my friends they tell me the men who make it the chorus are in the same frat together with the manager. At the next meeting of the student conference there is going to be a investigation under which it will be looked up the matter with the system here anyway. I am not a frat student and I would like to know why not am I not? Ain't I good enough for them? They can't last here anyway, that's what Dave Saposs he told me the other day. And you can't deny it and you know it. You are probably a frat guy. OO how we hate youse guys. You say you run every communication but I bet you don't dast dare to run this one and you know it.

"WHY GO TO CHURCH"

To the Editor of the Daily Cardinal:

In answer to a circular letter addressed to me as one of the most prominent students in the public eye (Let's get the cinder out) I am pleased to say as follows:

I do not go to church

1. Because I like to save the ten (be reasonable Sam we know it's five) cents my mamma gives me every Sunday.

2. Because when I was hard up once I sold my Bible and I don't know what to do with my hands when I'm at church listening to the minister. (Is that the only place Sam?)

3. Because church usually commences too early and lasts too late. (Consult a physician Sam, it can be remedied.)

4. Because I took a course in Bible history once and I know it all, anyhow.

5. Because when I go there I have to keep still. (It must be hell right, Sam.)

6. Lastly and most importantly, because I am up-to-date and don't believe in anything but what Prof. Ross teaches and he says "oh sugar" to religion and he knows more than I do. (He probably does at that but it's an awful admission. Sammy.)—SAMUEL STEAMSHIP HICKOX.

Thompson's Band

A blonde-haired little doll
Came to school last fall
In society she made an awful, awful whirl;
Every single night
She fussed with all her might
And every man in college buzzed around this little girl.
But Legler got the lead,
You heard the others plead:

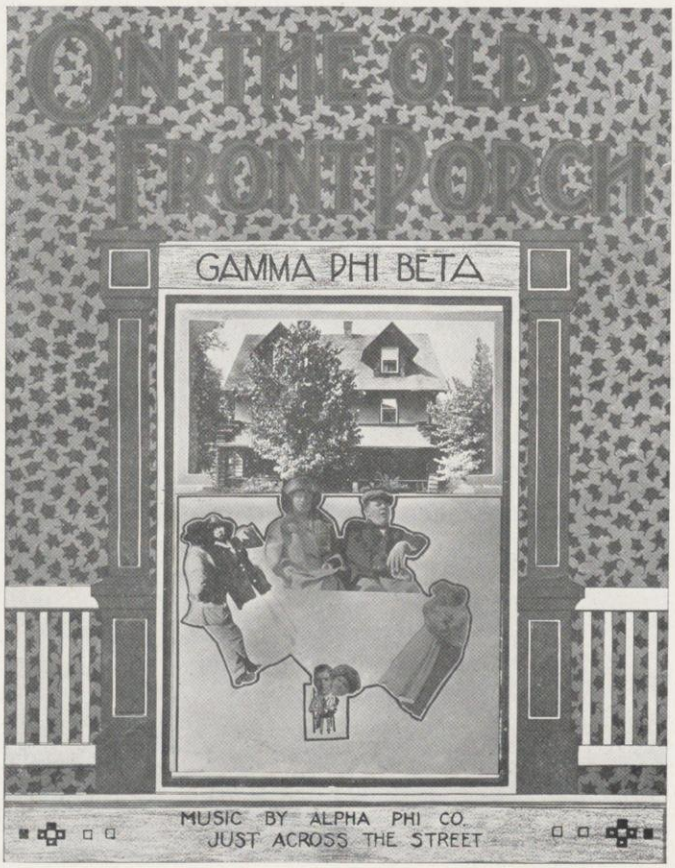
CHORUS

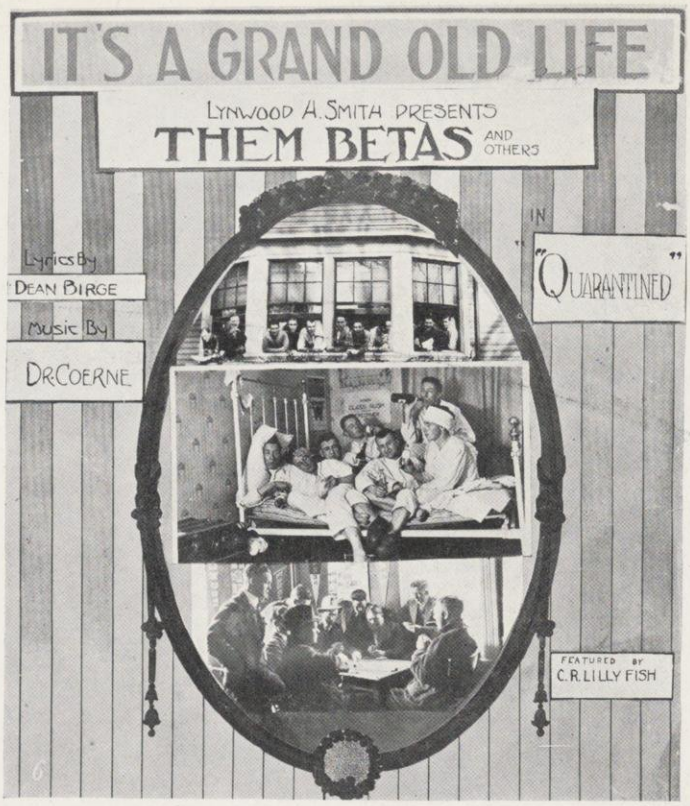
Where did you get that girl
The Zeta Psis are saying;
Where did you get that girl
To Fritz they all are praying.
Bill and Louis've missed her
Like they would their sister;
Please, O please, sir,
Won't you loan her mister?
Can't you give me one little date
Herb Taylor is crying,
And Lyman Park is sighing,
The Alpha Delta brothers
And lots and lots of others
Yell—Fritz, where did you get that girl?

There's a lovely place that I know
Where the Gamma Phi's all go,
They are always there
When the weather's fair
And everyone has a beau.
Each night when the moon is bright
For one spot the girls all fight,
For the parlor?—No.
For the chap-room?—No.
Well everyone knows just where they go.

CHORUS

Out on the old front porch
Hildegarde and Art come;
On the old front porch—says Win
I am going to sit here and cinch the swing for us,
Cause Allan's coming over and he'll make an awful fuss
Out on the old front porch,
If someone else is on the old front porch, Clear out!
Allan comes and tells the old, old story o'er again
Till all at once a voice rings out, "The clock is striking ten."
He lingers long to say goodnight as is the way of men
Out on the old front porch
—Oh Allan,
On the old front porch.





It's a grand old life.
You cut all your classes
And fill up the glasses;
A grand old life.
It's just like a beautiful dream:
You just lie around and you don't have to buck,
You live in soft shirts and you know you're in luck.
All morning you snooze
And your friends send you —refreshment,
It's a grand old life.

It's a grand old life.
Fatimas you smoke
You don't care if you're broke.
A grand old life.
For the Chi Psis and Deltas keep you stocked
Cause they're sorry for you, but you smile up your sleeve
And you hope and you pray that germ never will leave;
Till dawn breaks you play
Then sleep all the next day
It's a grand old life.

Listen to me while I tell you,
Of the Spaniard that blighted my life;
'Twas at the bull fight where I met him,
I'd been watching him throwing the bull,
And while I was munching my Wilburmilk nut bar,
My heart with affection grew full;
Oh yes!———Oh yes!
I loved him, but all that is past.

CHORUS

If I catch that Julio Hosmanio, the toreador,
With my red-headed temper I'll dislocate his bally jaw
I'll find this bull-slinger, I will!
And when I catch that Sigma Nu stinger I'll kill
He shall die! He shall die!
He shall die tiddly-ti-ti-ti-ti
He shall die!— He shall die!
For I'll raise a bunion on his Spanish onion
If I catch him at Chadbourne tonight.

Love and Dance are the weavers of dreams,
And they toil when the
Prom moon gleams;
Turning out from their
looms lovely futures for
you,
When the dreams of your
Prom come true.
But the Commoners worked
night and day,
Till they took days of
dreaming away.
For our house parties, joy
Of a dear by-gone day
Have been banished by Commoner's sway.

CHORUS

Here at Wisconsin, where prom once was looked on as the best thing,
Roughnecks now reign
and "Democracy" is the song that we sing.
We can't bring girls from
that home town of ours
Maybe not sport our dress suits, nor yet send her flowers
Now all the imports are raving because they will not get there,
Now all the Greek boys
are saving but yet they all swear.
White and his Rough-
necks have wrecked Prom
for us,
Just listen to Herb Taylor
cuss.

We're "strong in the East," boys without a doubt,
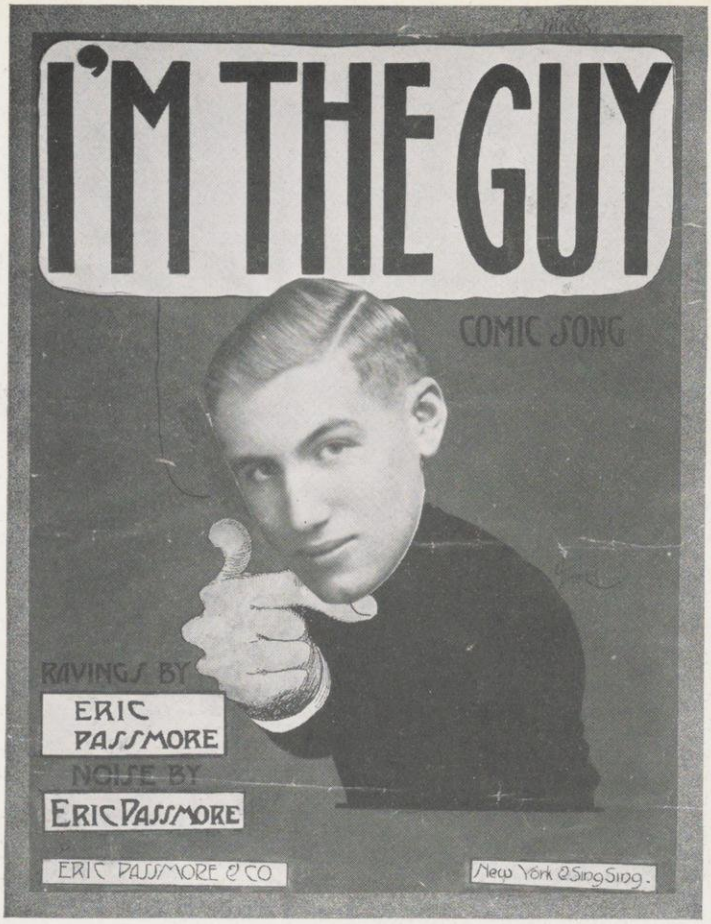
D. K. E.
D. K. E.
But even Jack Wilce
couldn't help us out,
D. K. E.
D. K. E.
We pledged two men
back in 1902,
But one went Chi Psi
and the other Psi U.

CHORUS

We—need—sympathy
Sympathy—you bet we
do;
Here we had those guys
hooked,
Salted and pledged and
anchored and booked;
But they would not fall
for our stuff—
—Said we were too all-
fired rough;
So-we-lost "Nook" and
"Fletch."
We need sympathy.



When they hear me talk,
When they see me walk,
People turn around and stare at me;
Everybody knows that my English clothes,
Are the very newest, don't you see?
All my shirts and ties dazzle peoples' eyes,
And my strips and checks are works of art,
With a stick and glass, my middle name is class,
I can capture any maiden's heart.

CHORUS

I'm the guy who put the dash in haberdasher,
I'm the guy who always knows the latest walk,
I'm the guy and I'll try, to be stylish till I die,
I slightly drop my R's whene'er I talk;
I'm the guy who follows all the fashions,
And you may not know it but it's true;
On the square I am there, I am known everywhere,
For I'm the guy who put the Nu in Sigma Nu.

Pat

And what is so rare as a dance with Pat
That surely is perfect bliss,
For she whirls and she glides
She pivots and slides
And you know that she never will miss.

But try as you may you cannot get a date
Pat has so many strings to her bow,
And sad is your fate
For some D. U. or Zete
Has beaten you to it, you know.

You keep right on calling up 2335
In the evening—the morning—at noon,
And at last find her there
Just to hear with despair
That she's all dated up until June.

The Feminist Movement

I wandered lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host of co-ed daffydils,
Out on the turf in frenzied strife,
A-playing hockey for dear life.

Conglomerate as the mess that serves
As beefsteak-hash at Miss B. Crowe's,
They rushed and smote and swerved
While "Kit" drew blood from Nita's nose.
Two dozen saw I at a glance,
And every bloomin' one wore—bloomers.

The wind above them shrieked, but they
Outdid the storm in piercing din.
"This 'gentle-creature stuff' don't pay,"
Said "Sid", and walloped Mary's shin.
Their clubs wrought havoc. Such a rush
Would make a Fuller stage hand blush.

The fearsome sight doth haunt me yet.
At lectures, when my mind's asleep
The scene returns. I can't forget,
I see again with eyes that weep.
And then my heart with terror fills,
And shudders at the daffydils.

Freshman Bible

Guaranteed by the Y. M. C. A. to contain nothing harmful to the morals of the first year men

After you have selected a room, made things cozy, paid your dollar to the Y. M. C. A. and written home to the folks it is time for you to become acquainted with some of the faculty, at least by reputation. That is, those who have reputations.

Saint George Woof Ehler almost classifies under this reputation ruling, but it is not his reputation that gets him in here. No, children, it's his marvee-lous resemblance to Abraham Lincoln. Mebbe some time the regents are going to put a statue of George on the upper campus. Woof gets four thousand pipicks a year . . . Yes.

You must learn to love our Georgie,
He has made athletics pure.
You must go and hear him lecture,
It's a great insomnia cure.

Still harping on Abe (Woolley, 234 ld.) we must remark that the boy who has provided all this inside information on the Father of the pickaninnies is one Carl Russell Fish.

Carl's maiden name was Lilly, but he has gone back on the name time and time again. C. R. is the history department, that is he and Alpie Dennis are. In answer to an oft-repeated query, we say with surety that Carl does not smoke King's size Pall Malls all the time. Sometimes he sleeps.

With an oar as a weapon, Carl has fought his way to the summit of the mighty mound of BADGER after-dinner speakers. His stories are the kind that have to be reserved until after dinner.

We have it on good authority that Lill was some dawg at college. In fact he was the regular Bill Harding of the Brown Beta chapter in his younger days. Nevertheless, he knows something about the subject he teaches, and on that account we are going to let him off easy. He is looking for a wife incidentally. We can recommend him as being young, docile and handsome. Perhaps there's still a chance, girls.

FRESHMAN BIBLE

Next, boys and girls, take a slant at Prof. Cairns. Treat him kindly, children, remembering that he has to associate daily with Bill Leonard and the rest of the English department. To all well behaved pupils who agree with everything he says, Bill sometimes goes so far as to slip a C. The rime scheme of this next pearl is ABAB. (Proof that we learned something in English once.)

OH GIRLS, HERE COMES "PINKY" STARCH!!

If you happen to be one of the miscreants who will sink to the miserable depths of taking "pipe" courses (see Cardinal editorials) you will soon come to know "Pinky" Starch, who advertises the psychology of the Saturday Evening Post. Annually "Pinky" receives a score of offers of real jobs with salary attached, said offers coming from real advertising firms, but he loves his work, so he stays in the basement of U. Hall.

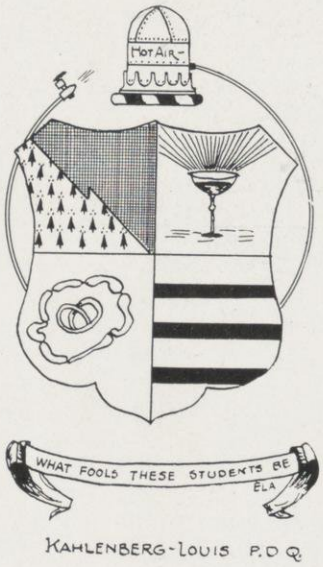
"Pinky" delights in psychological tests, in which you, as the AVERAGE MENTALITY, are the subject.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he announces, "We will now have a little practical test. This test is a very difficult test. I shall show you a checkerboard, and then you will tell me how many of the black squares are black, and how many of them are red. Please do not allow your personal prejudices to influence the results."

TOO MUCH STARCH AND NO PEP

INTRODUCING LACKPEPPER

FRESHMEN staying right down in the basement we discover that the faculty also includes some glorious examples—of what not to be. Fringstance, there is Prof. Willard Lackpepper, head (ivory) of the Sun-Shine Journalism department. Every morning Mrs. W. Lackpepper B. who also does the voting for the family, dresses Willard, arranges his tie, feeds him some Mellen's food and sends him forth into the croo-el world. If all goes well and there is no temptation by the wayside, then W. Lackpepper arrives safely at his cave in the basement of U. Hall, where he is sheltered by Grant Milinery Hyde, seven scrub-women and Sumner Slichter. Here he moulds the future of the world's journalism. The minds of his students are as putty in his hands (transmutation of the elements) and after he has taught them all he knows (darn little) he gets them a job chasing obituaries for the Dew Center Gazette (if they are lucky.)



KAHLENBERG-LOUIS P.D.Q.

PROF. JULIUS TAMBUSHAELVE OLSON

If you are not a Norwegian we feel sorry for you; that is, if Prof. Julius Tambushaelve Olson of the Minnesota department gets wise to it. To tell him that you never heard of Ibsen or Bjornsen Bjornsen is as bad as telling Irv White that you never heard of the Commoners. Down in his basement he teaches you the elite way of eating ludefisk and drinking coffee, and you should not miss his advanced course in appreciation of Norway's national fruit, the ludefisk.

If you ever doubt that Norway is the only country on the globe, ask Olson, and he will tell you how they licked the Swedes in the year of the poor fish harvest. "How to tell a Swede from a Norwegian" is one of his courses recommended to all first year men.

Now we're coming to the sunavagun we've been after all the time. Here he is, gentle readers—Louis Kaiserschmalz Kahlenberg.

You ask what would happen if Wilson should die
And the government be swept away?
That's simple—to Washington we would send HIM
Ane have HIM run things.
Who?

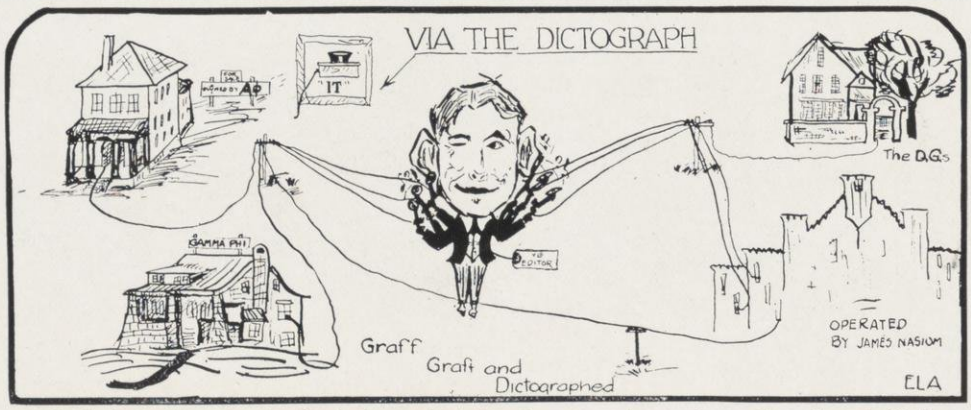
"Very Strong in the East"



Believing that one half of the university does not know how the other half lives, we have installed in this here now Universitatis Wisconensis a complete dictograph system. Transmitters have been located in various sorority houses (all but the Alpha Xi house—nobody cares what they say), in various fraternities, in G. Woof Ehler's office, in Commoner Hall, and other places.

Turning on all the receivers at once produced a terrific noise, but as soon as the Gamma Phi and Barnard graphs were shut off, the scandal began to drift in.

A Lecture on the Times

Nonchalantly delivered by

PROF. CHARLES DEAN COOL

Philosopher, Humorist, and Educator

Gentlemen, out of nothing great things like the world are often made. Out of an initial topic like Clark Getts I'm going to make a lecture. I hope it'll be great.

Gentlemen, who, what, and why is Clark Getts? I don't wish to seem pedantic but I modestly claim that I know. He's the real man of destiny. Think of the hard life he has led and note the unsmirched personal integrity with which he emerges nonchalantly out of a chaotic past and runs for a political future. Think of his dauntless and undrownable spirit.

In 1776, when the green-vizored rebels rose in protest Apostle Getts suffered violence at the hands of the raffish though not untutored mob. Dampened, but not daunted, with noble and superb reserve, he dropped the subject as the subjects had dropped him.

I say he has a big future before him, and I say that not on account of his ability but because of his youthfulness. In my mind's eye I can see Clark doing much greater things in the future; instead of being deposited in a lake by a small mob, he'll be thrown into the ocean by a nation. As a matter of principle, it seems too bad that he'll get off without a sentence. "There's a destiny that shapes our ends" and, as Erdman says, "You can't fool all of the Freshmen all of the time." We hope he doesn't get much, but whatever Clark Getts (will the gentleman who threw that please call for it after the lecture), we assure him our continuous support (we taxpayers have to support that sort of institutions anyway you know). Gentlemen, I consign him to centuries of undying fame (the evil that men do lives after them.)

GETTSIE AND THE BOYS

Hold Your Hand Out, Naughty Boy

Let us now dwell for a few moments on the more humorous side of life, or the Commoners, when it was known that the Commoners were simply against fraternities, the Kappa Phi Gammas and Alpha Sigma Phis said "we should bibble." I agree with Mr. White and believe that they should be held just as responsible as fraternities; they deserve it for professing to be such.

A funny anecdote occurs to me and I may as well insert it here. Mr. Irvin White, having just arrived in this country from The Republic of Commoners, was about to be naturalized. On being asked if he had read The Decisions of the Student Court, The Woman's Section in The Cardinal, or Dean Birge's song entitled 'Kiss Me Good-night," he answered "No."

Justice Brewer asked him rather impatiently what he had read.

Up spoke White, slightly ruffled and indignant, "Your Honor, I have red hair."

Justice Daly Herpicide sadly and sternly admonished White against introducing any more local color into the ceremony and Irv was finally made natural.

Why We Have Contempt of Court

Gentlemen, I wish that I had the time to speak to you on many other subjects which demand attention. Would that I could dwell on the Gamma Phi daily receptions in the reading room at the Library; but you must remember that this is not a stump speech. I should like very much to mention at greater length Bill Holmes, the only living student who has never swiped a note-book from the Co-op or offered a cigarette to Prof. Kahlenberg.

But as Fredie Bremer says at midnight "Gentlemen, I must close now."

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Contrary to the usual custom, the Editor-in-Chief and the Satire Editor of the 1915 Badger will not leave Madison when the Badger appears. They will receive from six to six in the editorial sanctum.

Seven Smith and Westson's, one rusty Winchester, and fourteen Gatling Guns will assist in the reception. Come armed.

N PASSING

Having previously indulged in a foreword, the editor of this book offers an apology for again intruding himself upon these pages. We wish to make several explanations and to give a little honor to whom honor is due.

To begin—in the matter of several inconsistencies that exist in this Badger, a number of them are concerned with the mechanical necessities of book-making. Here and there it has been deemed desirable to pass lightly over some subjects that harmony in the whole might be retained. Mistakes there are, although we have tried "our darndest" to keep them out. We hope they are few.

We acknowledge our indebtedness to Mr. Colgate Buckbee of the Bureau of Engraving, and to Mr. Oliver M. Rogers of the Rogers Printing Company, for their painstaking efforts in creating this volume.

To the entire Badger Board are words of appreciation due. The following men we desire to designate in particular as those whom the class of 1915 should appreciate for their work on this Badger. They are Henry Murphy, Phil Robinson, Ray Mackay, Royal Roberts, Hugo Boguslawsky, Norris Stoltz, Eric Passmore, Boshnakian Sarkis and Will Foster.

The editor wishes to thank the photographers, DeLonge and Thomas for their uniform interest and cooperation.

Thanks to those many alumni who have written letters of advice and criticism, and to members of the faculty who have helped, and, finally, thanks to the large body of students and personal friends whose interest and cooperation the editor of the 1915 Badger has sincerely appreciated. With this the book is finished—and we are through.

(Ball Bearing, Long Wearing)

Because of ball bearing typebars, the keys respond as readily as perfect piano keys. The capital shift works with equal ease —no lifting of a heavy carriage but simply shifting the light typebar segment, thus insuring absolute accuracy.

No fingers can move too fast for this machine—there isn't one delaying movement from "Salutation" to "Signature." Instead of expensive and awkward attachments, all change controls are connected with keyboard—including shift key, shift lock, space bar, back spacer, ribbon key, line spacer and margin release.

Another advantage—this machine is complete in itself for all kinds of work: tabulating, billing, large envelopes, cards or paper as narrow as a postage stamp.

An Appropriate Corporate Emblem

At one of the recent Elmendorf lectures in Milwaukee there was shown on the screen an immense Indian banyan tree and those who saw it realized that they were looking at a real wonder of nature.

Every branch from the main body of a banyan tree throws out its own roots, at first in small tender fibres, several yards from the ground; but these continually grow thicker until they reach the surface, when they strike in, and increase to large trunks, and become parent trees, shooting out new branches from the top, which again in time suspend their roots, and these, swelling into trunks, produce other branches, the growth continuing as long as the earth contributes sustenance.

On the banks of the Nerbudda, according to Forbes' Oriental Memories, stands a celebrated tree of this kind, which is supposed to be that described by Nearchus the admiral of Alexander the Great. This tree once covered an area so immense, that it has been known to shelter no fewer than 7,000 men. Though since much reduced in size by the destructive power of the floods, it is said that the remainder is still nearly 2,000 feet in circumference, and the trunks, large and small, exceed 3,000 in number.

The banyan tree was adopted as the central figure of the corporate seal of The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Those who are familiar with the facts recall that the company was chartered by the legislature of Wisconsin in 1857, but did not begin the actual issuance of policies until November, 1858. At that time its head office was at Janesville, Wis. In 1859 it attracted the attention of certain Milwaukee insurance men and they were enabled to have it transferred to that city. There it began to issue policies in large numbers, but not until it had been in operation nearly ten years was the discovery made that the company had neglected to adopt a corporate seal; so, on February 17, 1868, the present seal, with the corporate name of the company surrounding a banyan tree and the motto "We Spread to Protect," was formally adopted.

By this time the company had branched out into some of the neighboring states, and during the year in which the corporate seal was adopted it issued 11,719 new policies covering insurance of nearly $25,000,000, making in force at the end of that year 27,-887 policies representing $50,000,000 and more of insurance.

The total income of the company for the year was just a little over $5,000,000, with assets a little below that amount.

During the ten years the company then had been in existence there had been 447 deaths covering $772,000 of insurance. In comparison with the figures of the present day this showing is intensely interesting.

The annual report for 1913 shows that the company operates in forty-three states of the Union. The new business paid for during the year totaled 50,513 policies covering $133,190,255 of insurance, and the gross totals at the end of the year were 505,051 policies and $1,304,385,035 insurance.

The death claims alone were about one million dollars during 1913, a sum greater than the total amount of death claims paid during the first ten years of the company's existence.

The amount loaned by January 1, 1869, on the security of mortgages was $1,584,419. On January 1, 1914, the company had loaned on mortgage securities a total of $169,408,050. On the former date, it had bonds to the amount of $124,700, and on January 1,1914, had nearly $76,000,000.

President Geo. C. Markham has been at the head of this company nearly six years. It is interesting to ncte that during his incumbency the business in force has increased from $950,000,000 to $1,304,000,000. The assets of the company have increased from $248,000,000 to over $310,000,000. In 1868 the annual receipts of the company were about $5,000,000. In 1908, when he was elected President, they were about $46,000,-000, and in 1913 they were over $61,000,000.

The significance and appropriateness of the banyan tree as related to the service of The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, are striking.

It has paid out in death losses and endowments since its organization over $26,000,000 in New York; $21,000,000 in Wisconsin; $19,000,000 in Illinois; $15,000,000 in Pennsylvania; $14,000,000 in Ohio; $11,000,000 in Massachusetts, and so on throughout the forty-tthree states in which it operates. It spreading beneficence has taken root and thrived in the commonwealths in which flourishesthegreat institution of life insurance.

Girls!

The place to get Good Eats is Findlay's Food Shop, State & Mifflin, phone 6-2-0-4.

Frinstance, you know those London & Edinburgh dainties—not the imitation, but the genuine—made by Huntley & Palmers and McVitie & Price. Well, Findlay's have them all—just the dandiest morsels for spreads you ever saw!

There's Currant Fingers, Polar, Cinderella, Cuban Fingers, Arrowroot, Monarch, etc.—all 35c the pound. Then there are the Golden Flakes, with which to make strawberry shortcake without baking—we'll show you; and dozens of other tempting goodies.

Also Olives—all kinds, styles, shapes and combinations; an infinite variety of pickles, sardines, salmon, crabs, shrimps, deviled ham, boned chicken, salad dressings and ketchups; peanut butter, creamery butter, whipping and coffee cream; grape juice, cider, ginger ale—all drinks for fun without the "morning after;" dates, large handsome shelled nuts, figs and—but what's the use? "Get it at Findlay's!"

And, O, Yes! Never forget Findlay's Teas (for teas) and Findlay's marvelous exhilerating, dry-roast Coffees for all coffee occasions.

Go to Findlay's, Girls, for—why for just everything "From soup to nuts."
