Valedictory

This evening terminates our high school life. We, the class of nineteen hundred and twenty-four have reached another goal but that which is not the end. It is merely the meeting of a happy past and an unknown future. It is the Commencement of our lives. And what those lives are to be, depends in a large measure upon the foundations we have been building for them in our High School years. Success in life from now on, depends also upon the endeavor put forth by each individual to make it such. Success or failure will follow according to the effort. We realize the truth in the statement "That we will receive from life, as much as we put into it."

Our presence here tonight, as the graduating class of 1924 is due, not alone to our personal efforts, but to the combined interest and efforts of parents, friends, members of the School Board, and Faculty. We fully realize and appreciate the sacrifices made by our parents and relatives, and the time, patience and effort open by the faculty, in endeavoring to train and fit us for life.

We are grateful to the members of the School Board, for their interest and co-operation throughout the under-currents of our school activities. It is that which has laid the foundation for this hour, and has made it possible for us to stand here to-night.

To Mr. Kruschke, especially, are we grateful, for his continued interest and efforts in our behalf for three of the most profitable years, and what we can easily term, the happiest years of our school life.

I repeat, that it is through the combined interest and endeavors of the afore mentioned that we are privileged to stand here before you to-night, as a graduating class.

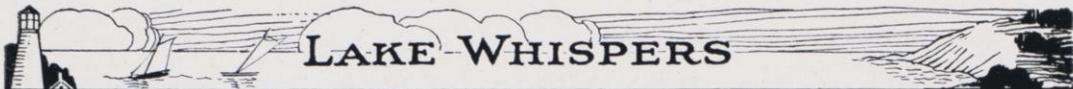

It only remains, there, for each of us to decide for ourselves what we most earnestly desire to get out of life, what we are going to make of our lives. It is up to us to so demonstrate to the satisfaction of parents and teachers alike the quality of our work so that they will feel amply repaid for the sacrifices made.

Classmates, let us resolve that they shall be repaid. Let our class colors, our class motto, and all they stand for, but symbolize, in its larger sense, the principles of the nation. Let those principles fire us with the zeal to make of ourselves such men and women as the United States, as well as Kewaunee High School, shall be glad to claim their own.

Hardest of all is the leave taking. To-night, dear classmates, brings a parting of ways, and friends. Throughout these years of high school, we have faithfully labored together as well as enjoyed many happy hours, but now, the time has come when we must step out into the world, find our place, and achieve new laurels for ourselves as well as for the school we are leaving.

Let us make loyalty our controlling spirit, and in being loyal to ourselves, to our class, and to our school, we shall of necessity be loyal to every larger claim that the American nation can demand of us.

HOMER KIEWEG

Salutatory

It is my great pleasure and privilege this evening, dear parents and friends, to greet you in the name of all my classmates.

To some of you this may be but a pleasant place to while the time away, but to us it is a gleaming milestone along the journey of life, and the interest you show in us by coming to bid us God-speed on the way is most deeply and truly appreciated.

To those of you who have a personal interest in us, as the boys and girls you have seen grow up from infancy, it means of course far more than to the chance guest to whom we are but strangers.

To those, too, who can remember their own thoughts and emotions on similar occasions in their own lives it will be a pleasant reminder of their early hopes and will incite in them a deeper sympathy and understanding of all that we are feeling and dreaming as we enter into the exercises of this evening.

To our parents and relatives it is an hour of pride and affection; to our teachers an hour of mingled joy in our success, and regret we trust, over the necessary parting.

As for us, this occasion closes an epoch in our lives—the most important period that we have yet known and one of the utmost in value in it bearing upon our future career. As we look back on the past four years we feel that we can truthfully say that we have tried to do our best at all times, and in all places, to make the most of every opportunity, so far as we were able to do so. We mean to continue to do that same best at all times and in all the places where Fate may hereafter direct our paths. We are sure that at this time, every one must realize something of what it means to us and while grieving with us at the sundering of dear class ties, that each year has helped to make stronger, must at the same time rejoice with us that we have been able to accomplish so much as we have, while wishing for each of us greater triumphs in whatever work may lie in his course. So much, you see, depends upon the individual point of view,

We ask you then dear friends, to be glad with us and for us, as we enter upon the program of the evening, sure that we are all most earnest in assuring you of our joy at having you with us. We hope that you may all feel that it has been good to be with us this evening and may see in all that we do or say some assurance of your welcome.

I now introduce to you the class of Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-four that extends to you a most grateful and sincere welcome.

SCENE I—

A number of old "grads" of '24 are assembled for a sort of a reunion. They talk over the experiences of the years, and finally, at the suggestion of one, they get out the annual of the year '24 to again enjoy its contents.

SCENE II—

They all decide to go to the camp of an old fortune-teller,—hoping she will be able to inform them as to the fate of the other members of their class. After much grumbling and grunting, Wenonah, the Spirit of Prophecy, finally consents, and the fates of all are decreed.

At the close of this scene, Wenonah calls on her spirits to bring in all the rest of the class, from whatever part of the world they might be. Just as they enter upon the stage, another graduate, having heard of the reunion, rushes in with mementoes, or gifts, for all. After the excitement dies down, there is a call for the good old class song—"End of a Perfect Day."

Chronicles of Class '24

CHAPTER I

Now, it did happen, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and twenty that there did come to the high school of the city of Kewaunee, County of Kewaunee, State of Wisconsin — seven and fifty seekers of knowledge. Some came up from the Eighth grade, where they had for many months been busily engaged in storing their minds with the honey of wisdom; some were green and fresh from a far country; some came from farms where they had been tillers of the soil; and some were from other halls of instruction.

In sooth, were they all filled with ambition and ready to take up unknown duties. Now it so happened that never before in the history of Kewaunee high school, had there been so great a number, and it came to pass, that they were received with wild welcomings and rejoicings by those who would henceforth lead them up the slippery by-ways of knowledge.

It also came to pass that they were received with malicious glee by a certain band of wild beings who were called, "Sophomores," who, because of their fierce taste for Freshman blood, did pounce upon them daily and nightly, and did cause them to suffer great things, and to murmur naughty things in an undertone.

Now, it was so, that this high school to which they had come, was ruled over by one L. R. Sherwood, a professor of much wisdom. He spoke unto them, saying: "Go gather ye in a body, and organize yourselves into a class, that ye may gain in strength, and that your courage may wax hot!"

And as he spoke unto them, so was it done, so that within that same week, they did gather themselves together, and did choose their wisest ones to be their leaders.

And as they dwelt long in this Hall of Learning, they fell in with the customs of the inhabitants thereof, and their strangeness wore away, and they each became as one among the rest.

And it came to pass, that throughout that year, they did take upon them Algebra, English, and General Science, which did cause them much grappling and wrestling, and tears of distress.

And lo! in the midst of their studies, they did take unto themselves the task of publishing a school paper, and added unto that activity—were those of athletics and forensics.

And it came to pass, after some months, that their eyes were turned toward graduation, but many began to make excuses.

The first said, "I am poor in health, therefore I cannot graduate."

Another said, "I must needs toil at home, therefore I cannot graduate."

A third said, "I am dull and cannot learn, I pray thee have me excused!"

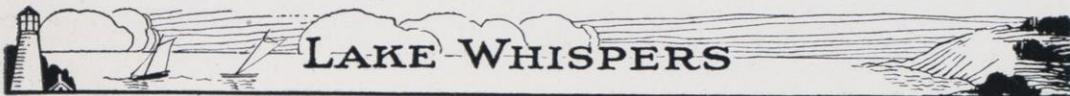

And still another said, "I am going to be married, and therefore I need not graduate."

So thus did this class decrease in numbers at the close of the first year. It also came to pass that L. R. Sherwood, the professor who had thus far led them, did go from this Hall to far distant places.

CHAPTER II

Now it came to pass at the beginning of the second year, many of this illustrious class had given up the struggle, among them were Odelia Stuebs, Polly Wesseley, and Victor Knipp.

And it so happened also, that there dwelt in an adjoining territory one W. F.

Kruschke, a man of much learning and good repute, who, hearing of the departure from his post of L. R. Sherwood—moved from his field of labor and did come to this Hall, that the training of this class might continue for many days.

Now it came to pass soon after they entered the hall this year, that they were one and all seized with strange infirmity, which did cause them to act with much fierceness and strangeness of manner, and to grapple and wrestle with their fellows in much rage and seeming ferocity. Wise men did come and look upon them and did finally pronounce the infirmity in the boys as “football,” and in the girls—“basketball.” The wise men knew not the way to cure the malady, and it was very contagious. So, with many anxious fears, and dire forebodings, did the instructors allow the disease to run its natural course, and lo, none were killed, and few were seriously injured, whereat there was great rejoicing throughout the land. And it happened that one Leo Schuller, a youth fair to look upon, and one of much strength and daring was placed upon the team.

And behold, it did likewise come to pass, at about the same time, that the class did aspire to declamatory and oratorical honors, and did give to the people many speeches in debating questions. One Homer Kieweg was chosen for the Debate Team.

And so the Class went on its way rejoicing.

CHAPTER III

Now this, the third year in the history of this great and wonderful class, called Twenty-Four, was one of much action.

And likewise, as before was it discovered that many had fallen by the wayside. They were Orville Kuehl, Frank J. Lukes, Edward Nowak, Edward Walecka, and Cyril Worachek.

Now when the fourth and twentieth day of the eleventh month of the year was fully come, this class did give a Thanksgiving party to which many did come to partake of the good times, and to eat of the good things set before them.

It also came to pass that the pride of the class in football grew to a great bigness within them, for Reinhold Giese, Frank Dworak, Leo Schuller, Raymond Stoffel, Gilbert Ramesh and Rudy Albrecht now were leaders.

Then straightway, it came to pass that certain fair members of the class, having been given the talent of speaking—represented the class in forensics. These maidens were Irene Kuehl, Mildred Petrovsky, Florence Hoffman, and Viola Buettner. Of the youths, it again happened that Homer Kieweg was chosen. And it did happen that Raymond Stoffel a youth of great activity, was chosen leader of the band of Four-and-Twenty.

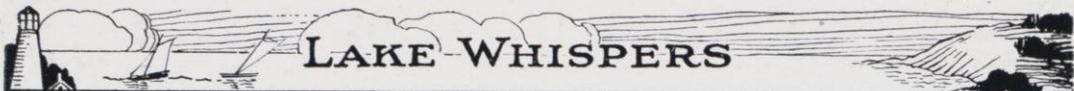

Then behold, in the fifth month of the year, there went up a great cry from the throats of this class. “Let there be a Prom”—and with one consent did they all decide to have one, and there was great rejoicing, and loud songs of jubilation, thereat. So the class did send messages over the land, east, west, north, and south, to all the inhabitant thereof, saying—“Come ye, and trip the light fantastic toe with us and make ye merry with the class of “Four-and-Twenty” and as they bidden, so did they come in large numbers to the place set apart, and when the guests did depart, they did proclaim it a veritable success, and gave much thanks to the class of Four-and-Twenty for the pleasure they had provided for their enjoying.

CHAPTER IV

Then it came to pass that the fourth and last year of their stay in this great Hall of Learning, was one of exceeding hard labor, with but little resting by the wayside; for preparations had to be made for the final departure from the place.

And it did happen that there were not so many to help with the load—Aaron Glandt, Horace Hamachek, James Jansky, Libbie Jelinek, Mayme Jerabek, Louis Walecka and Lester Worachek—having left this class.

At the beginning of the year the class did band themselves together, and did choose as their leader, one Aloysius Nowak, a youth of many talents. He did guide them safely through the pitfalls of the last year in this Hall.

Much struggling did take place, when they did study physics, history and English. Now it was so, that heretofore, they had been of the mind that seniors had not much work to do, but in sooth were their minds now readily changed.

Now in this, the most illustrious year of this Class of Four-and-Twenty, they did run away with the Class Championship in both Football and Basketball. And it so happened that the class did undertake many other activities in this the year Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-Four.

In the beginning of the year, they did decide to publish a big book—called an Annual—and many hours were spent in diligent labor thereon.

Then it came to pass after much effort and striving, that first place in both the declamatory and oratorical contest was awarded to seniors—they being in name, Florence Hoffman and Homer Kieweg.

Likewise, did this class deem it wise to fill their coffers with gold and to cause great money to be brought into the treasury, so that they might well afford to have a wise man speak at their commencement time.

So, thinking these things, the Class took unto themselves the task of presenting to the people a play called "Come Out of the Kitchen." The public was bidden to come, and lo! great crowds did come to this performance, and much money taken into the treasury.

Now, it being, near the time of their graduation, many began to be troubled with thoughts thereof. So they did gather themselves in a band, to choose their Class Song. One fair maiden, Marion, by name—said unto the muse, "Let it be 'Perfect Day'!" And it was so, and lo, the Class did sing with such lustiness and vigor, that it re-echoed from the highways and hedges, and from the corners of the city round-about, and the people did stop their ears, and did flee in terror from the Class of Four-and-Twenty. Aye, even so, did the cats rustle up their backs, and seek refuge.

Likewise, did the class, finding themselves most brave, chose to be their class colors, Old Rose and Silver, and their flower the Rose.

Then straightway, it came to pass that the members of the class began to write down the greatest and most wonderful of thoughts, such as no one ever had thought before, since the beginning of the world, so that people who should come unto them to listen unto words of deep scholarship upon the night of their Commencement should needs not be turned away in deep disappointment.

Likewise did they sew and sew upon yards and yards of fine silks and linen, that the eyes of the multitude should be gladdened by the glitter of their fine raiment, even while their ears should be enlightened by the wisdom of their much speaking.

Now one of their instructors, being wise in the ways of the world and of women, spoke very gravely unto them saying, "Let your essays be of silk, even though your dresses must be of cheese cloth!" But they opened their mouths and answered saying, "Nay, both shall be of silk." and as they prophesied so was it done, even as they had said.

And so it happened that at the close of the year, there were five and thirty of this illustrious Class of Four-and-Twenty. Four years hath this Class of Four-and-Twenty sojourned in this Hall, and gathered in large portions the fruits from the Tree of Knowledge.

Now, I say unto you, it is time for them to say farewell to the Hall wherein these years have been spent, and they must depart thence, to go each a separate way, to lands they know not of. But the memories that ever attend a class of students and the blessings that attend the noble, and good, and true, follow and abide with the Class of Four-and-Twenty, now and forever more.

ANTON STARAL

Class Poem

This is a class of great wonders, this class so full of vigor
We have worked with energy tireless, applying the best that was in us.
For four long years we have studied, four years of such firm endeavor
That we are ranked as the brightest of students, surpassed in scholarship—never.
Each year brought us much greater triumphs, and rewards of much greater richness.
Triumphs in play, as in classes—for in athletics we surely did star.
The first of the class is our Rudy, the wonderful star baseball player.
And Mayme, who always is smiling, was surely a help to the fair.
Our Marion, tall and so graceful, added greatly to all of our pleasures.
While Adeline, so well known and popular, laughed the heartiest of any, I'll swear—
Viola, with her wonderful speaking, brought joy to the hearts of all
And Charles, a shark as a bluffer, used his skill in that line of endeavor.
The best-known of athletes I'll mention, are such as our Frank and our Reinhold.
Eleanore Gries, the daintiest maiden, was pleasant to all she encountered.
Another famed speaker is Florence, who always was helpful to others.
Irma Hoffman, one of this number, always ready for any good time.
The greatest of all the Historians, Ray Jergenson, known to so many.
We have with us a wonderful humorist, known as our Joe Kacerovsky.
And Homer, the best of our scholars, excelled just as much in Forensics.
Alton Koutnik, so quiet and steadfast, worked as hard on his lessons as any.
Very dear to her classmates is Irene, hailed as the greatest pianist.
And Aloysius, our capable President, is versed well in argumentation.
So happy and faithful is Elizabeth, that we can't help but like and respect her.
Helen Paska, a good little dancer, will some day be hailed as the greatest.
Surely Bessie will well be remembered for her skill in Typing and Shorthand.
Now Mildred, who left us so early, we loved for kindness and cheer.
Gilbert Ramesh, mastered the subject—the hardest in High School—that's Physics!
Lucille will some day be known as a clever, successful reporter.
One who joined us in all of life's pleasures was our piquant and charming own Sybil.
We often recall Leo Schuller, as the greatest of all football players.
On Anton Staral we all do rely to take up spare time with his arguing.
Raymond Stoffel, the famed and gifted of speakers, excelled as well in Athletics.
Our Alsen, so demure and so quiet, was respected by all of her classmates.
Our only girl Athlete, Lucy Wesselek, brought honor to the class represented.
Alice, who always was laughing, knew well how to write up good stories.
Yes, we often caught Walter a-thinking, of the girl who left school this last year.
Henrietta, another pianist, dreams always of leading an orchestra.
One more of this group I must mention—that's Ellsworth, a wonderful cartoonist.
And now that I've told you, my good friends—of the Senior Class of this High School
We must pass from here as great victors, from the greatest and of all school
To the Land of much Greater Promise, and we must, as real men and women
Take our places there with the peoples, who have learned the big world's lessons.
In that Kingdom of Real Perfection.

LEONE TROTTMAN

see his face—why it is Aloysius Nowak. In the banquet hall I can see a tall man—he talks rapidly and gestures freely—he is surrounded by a group of pretty young waitresses. He must be the proprietor of this hotel—Joe Kacerovsky.

Ah!—now I discern a school of learning—it is Harvard University. I can see a noble professor before his science class. They look at him in reverence of the vast learning he acquired at Kewaunee High School. Why what is that they call him as they bow in homage before him?—"Professor Homer Kieweg!"

This vision slowly fades away and I can see a studio—a teacher is giving instructions in the latest dance steps to several pupils—why it is Alton Koutnik.

I can see no more—but—ah!—another bubble has burst and I can see a vision—it is very faint but slowly becomes more distinct, now I can see it plainly. It is a—theatre—I hear music—a young woman is playing the piano—she is Irene Kuehl.

Now I can see a new vision, a girl is walking down Washington Avenue in the Capitol City of Wisconsin. She enters Madison Business College—goes to her classes and it is our Mary Muchowski.

Now I can see a telephone exchange—a young woman enters—takes her place—she is addressed as Elizabeth—it simply must be Elizabeth Oswald.

And again through the mist and steam of the cauldron, there looms into view the office of the Bryon High School—a girl is taking notes—she must be the private secretary, ah—now she rises and I can see it is Leone Trottman. She now enters the gymnasium where a young teacher is busy instructing her class in the technique of handling dumbbells. She is addressed as Helen, it must be Helen Paska. The teacher dismisses her class—they walk down the hall while Leone talks excitedly about a dance at which the Lyric Orchestra is going to play.

Now they enter a commercial room—at the desk is a teacher—she has dark curly hair—I immediately recognize her as Bessie Folak.

This vision fades and I see a young bride sitting by a window—she is reading a magazine—a man enters—and as she calls him Rudy—the girl simply must be Mildred Petrovsky.

Ah!—why another bubble has burst and discloses to me a large building. It is that of the New York Herald. In one room I can see many stenographers. As I scan each face I see one which looks strangely familiar—she turns her head and I can recognize Sybil Sinkula. Now, in another room in this large building—at a desk sits a man who is very busy drawing—as I look closer I notice he is working at cartoons.—He rises and leaves the room—on the door is inscribed "E. L. Watertree, Cartoonist."

My eyes follow him—I see him approach a lady—he stops and talks to her and in doing so I can catch the name—Miss Roth—it must be Lucille Roth—a reporter.

This vision is replaced by another. A house is just being built—and as I watch the carpenters' progress in the work—my eyes rest on one man who is small and quick—now he has come down from his ladder—and it is Gilbert Ramesh.

Now I can see a garage—a mechanic crawls out from under a car—he is smeared with grease and is hardly recognizable—I know it is Leo Schuller.

Then crack, another bubble bursts and the vapor discloses four more visions. The first is an orator—he has made a great impression on his audience—It is Raymond Stoffel.

Over here I see a little tea shop.—On the front I can read the following—"Ye Tea Shoppe" Proprietress—Alsen Swagle.

Now I again see a ship.—On its deck are many people—Here is one which looks like Alice Wesselek—she is on her way to the Olympic Meet to represent the United States in the tennis tournament. In the dining hall the orchestra is tuning up. The leader is a small woman—she has light curly hair—it is no other than Henrietta Worachek.

All this disappears and I see a man on horseback—he rides over the hills—I know he is an engineer by the orders which he issues to his assistants. He must be Walter Wessely.

Now the bubbles cease to burst—and I can see no more—my work is ended.

LUCY WESSELEK

Senior Class Will

We, the Seniors of the Kewaunee High School, being of a sound mind and judgment, and feeling that our days in this institution are numbered, do give and bequeath to our under classmen and the faculty the following properties and characteristics, and urge that they will therefore put said properties and characteristics to good usage and so live and be benefited:

To the Juniors we bequeath our pep and success in athletics, so they'll be able to take class championship next year as we did this year.

To the Sophomores we bequeath our collection of cold cream, face powder clippings pertaining to beauty, and rouge and lipstick, in the hope that by these artifical aids, they may become one-half as beautiful as the now deceased class of 1924.

To the Freshmen we bequeath any scraps of paper, stubs of pencils, or erasers, that we may leave behind in the excitement and haste of gathering up cherished treasures for the last time.

We give and bequeath to Mr. Kruschke and the School Board all of the records and files of this illustrious class, trusting that these accounts of perfect behavior, unerring deportment, unsurpassed grades may prove a brilliant reminder of this our glorious class.

To the faculty we bequeath all the amazing knowledge and startling information we have furnished from time to time in our various examination papers.

To Mr. Licking, we bequeath a big heart to use when making out physics examination questions for his 1925 physics class so they will not suffer as we did.

To Miss Newing, we will all of our unexpected written quiz papers so that she may use them as model papers for her (future) classes, also our appreciation for all that she did for us during our last year.

To Mr. Skaar, we bequeath the balance is our treasury to be used in buying a pair of rubber heeled shoes to be used for detective work in the main room the eighth period.

To Miss Doeple, we will a couple bottles of black ink to use when marking report cards, as everyone likes the looks of black ink better than red.

To Miss Adams, we will a talking machine which will give us the rules of the library, so she won't have to talk so much, and also a machine that will work on this order (Will you please leave the library and don't come back for the rest of the week.)

To Mr. Hurd, we bequeath a copy of the pennant which we Seniors won by defeating the faculty and rest of school, and a little good luck, so when playing basket ball at the tournament next year Kewaunee may capture first place.

To Miss Leyse, we bequeath our appreciation for all help and suggestions she gave the Senior girls during the past year, also a package of common pins to replace those which she gave us to use in our physics experiments.

To Miss Ballentine, we bequeath a collection of compasses, protractors, rulers and all other things we used during our course except the immense amount of knowledge we received in the said subject.

To Mr. Olson we bequeath a part of the money left in the Treasury to buy a pair of rubbers, as we feel that he needs a pair in order to get to his home, on Rose St.

To Miss Comstock we bequeath all the trips we have taken down to the gym during our four years in high school as we know she will enjoy the trips more than we did.

The individual members of the class bequeath the following to their under classmen:

Rudy Albrecht wills his ability as a lover to Arno Schwantes hoping that Arno will mend his bashful ways before it is too late.

Mayme Bisely wills her various style of hair comb to Philipine Sevcik, her love for a fictitious Art to Elsie Haszel, but her knowledge of Physics she wishes to keep as she says it is too small to part with.

Reinhold Giese leaves his ability to play football to Floyd Jacobs who will then be able to tear through that line next fall, but the pleasant conversations that he has with the girl across the isle, he refuses to say anything about.

Adeline Bruemmer wills her giggle to Edna Opichka, her ability to entertain to Evelyn Blahnik, but her love for the Irish people she wishes to keep.

Sylvester Ihlenfeldt bequeaths his misleading innocence to Erwin Moudry and a little of his weight to Louis Bargman.

Irma Hoffman leaves Willard Dishmaker her vanity case, as he always did want it, but her frequent correspondence and popularity she wishes to keep.

Leo Schuller bequeaths everything he has worthy of mentioning, to Oswald Molle except his interest in the faculty members.

Lucile Roth wills her ability to compose poetry to Lillian Moudry and her quiet disposition to Sylvia Ramesh.

Charles Campbell wills his ability to bluff to any studious student who wants a vacation, some of his wit to Willard Dishmaker so he'll be skilled in that line, but his dignified look he would like very much to keep.

Leone Trottman leaves her pleasant disposition to her sister Evelyn as she wants it to remain in the family but her love for dances and a certain Orchestra she would like to keep for a while.

Raymond Stoffel after due deliberation and consideration wills his ability to court and win, to any male who feels capable of the task. Step up Eddie. But his ability as an orator he wishes to retain.

Irane Kuehl leaves her musical ability to the coming generations. We have, after much physical and mental effort, persuaded her to take this step as we realize that there is no one in school at the present time capable of full filling this position.

Walter Wesseley wills his pull with the teachers to any one who is in trouble, no wonder Mabel is going to be a teacher.

Mildred Petrovsky bequeaths her friendly disposition to Claire Boedecker but her interest in a certain Senior friend she wishes to keep.

Ellsworth Waterstreet bequeaths the art of chicken chasing to Ted Neumann. The interest he takes in teasing the girls, to Earl Kuehl, but his position in the School Band he wants to keep.

Viola Buettner bequeaths her love for Sheiks to Felice Kuich, her ability as a disclaimer to Alice Leyse but her love for the old gray mare she refuses to part with.

Raymond Jergenson bequeaths his skill to bluff and get by with it to Joe O'Konski and his good looks to any person in need of them. (Don't all rush at once.)

Helen Paska bequeaths her talkativeness and giggle to Regina Brusda, and love for a good time to Edna Skala.

Anton Staral wills his love for dancing to Louis Mastaliers and his interest in Physics to Joe Christman.

Sybil Sinkula bequeaths her dancing ability to Hilda Duescher, but her love for the Kewaunee Harbor pier she refuses to say anything about.

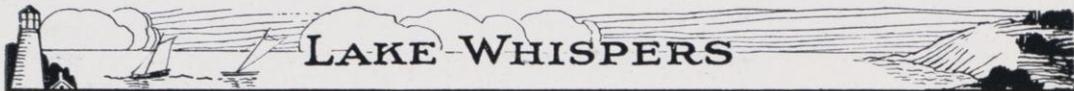

Frank Dworak bequeaths his bashfulness to Alvin Kuehl and his ability to play basket ball, and his place as the star player in the tournament to Burton Kieweg.

Elizabeth Oswald wills to Anna Bisely the title of "the most quiet of our number" and promptness to Bernice Kampo.

Joe Kacerovsky wills his position as any ladies man to any male who would like it. We suggest Joe Konop. (Hang on to your hats there is going to be a stampede.)

Alsen Swagle bequeaths her neat appearance to Edna Prust, and her fair complexion to Arville Paulu.

Alton Koutnik after very careful and deliberate thinking and counting bequeaths

4,867,456 strands of his dark luxuriant growth that covers his cranium to any person who feels that he will be bald-headed in the future.

Lucy Wesselek "the one who studies the hardest" bequeaths her title to Barney Streu, and her position on the basket ball team to Grace Wahl.

Gilbert Ramesh wills his ability to become greater than the scientist "Archimedes" to Walter Kacerovsky so Walter will spend his time in studying the art instead of teasing his neighbors in the Main Room.

Henrietta Worachek bequeaths some of her curly hair to Evelyn Kuehl, some of her pep and her art in making friends to Viola Karnopp.

Aloysius Nowak bequeaths his ability to stall for time in classes just before quizzes to Gilbert Tegen and his position as President of the class to Sidney Karel.

Alice Wesselek bequeaths her cheerful smile to Esther Lipsky with the stipulation that she do it full justice during the school year.

Mary Muchowski leaves her quiet disposition to Beatrice McCosky as she wants to stay in the neighborhood for some reason of her own.

Bessie Polak bequeaths her ability in Science and Mathematics to Violet O'Konski, and her speed in typing to Marcella Rabas.

Marion Boedecker wills one fourth of her height to Evelyn Worachek and her overabundance of pep to Hattie Pavlat, but her interest in a neighbor friend she refuses to give to any one as she expects it to develop.

To Esther Fritz we bequeath all things which are left in the lost and found box, in the office after all claims have been made, and a pound of candy to replace what was taken from her.

To the Janitors, we bequeath our appreciation for many favors rendered during the year, also a faithful dummy to watch the main entrance during the noon hour next year, so they can go about doing their work instead of watching the door.

In testimony, whereof we have to this, our last Will and Testament, subscribed our names and affixed our seal this thirteenth day of June, in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and twenty-four.

During the early part of the school year, the staff for the paper, The Kewaunatolian, was organized. The elections took place in separate meetings of the Junior and the Junior High. Those chosen from the Junior High School act as assistant editors, while those from the Junior class of the school compose the main staff.

This is the first time for many years that the Kewaunee Public School has published a paper. The suggestion came from the Junior High School, but because of the necessity of older and more experienced management, the Junior class of the High School took it over in connection with the English work.

A special meeting was called for the purpose of selecting a name for the paper. Many suggestions came in, but the most suitable was that of Louis Campbell, "The Kewaunatolian."

Hopes are high that the paper may next year become a monthly publication.

Student Council

Dishmaker, I. Kuehl, L. Wesselek, M. Boedecker, Schuller, Stoffel, H. Kieweg.

During the first part of the school term a "Student Advisory Board" was formed for the first time in the Kewaunee High School. Beginning last year Mr. Kruschke made arrangements to allow honor points to pupils who had some special ability in some particular phase of work, such as in athletics, debates scholarships, oratorical and declamatory contests. The seven pupils in the High School who received the highest number of honor points now constitute what is known as the Student Advisory Board, and consists of the following pupils: Leo Schuller, Marion Boedecker, Raymond Stoffel, Homer Kieweg, Lucy Wesselek, Irene Kuehl and Willard Dishmaker.

Homer Kieweg was elected President of the board and Irene Kuehl, Willard Dishmaker and Leo Schuller were appointed members of the "Grievance Committee", and Marion Boedecker, Lucy Wesselek, and Raymond Stoffel members of the "Social Committee." If pupils have grievances about anything pertaining to the school, or if a certain club or class wishes to give a party, they should feel perfectly free to discuss the matter with any member of the respective committees.

Kewaunee School Band

In response to a call issued in October for volunteers to join the school band, about forty pupils reported at the first meeting.

Mr. Carl W. Andre, who kindly consented to direct the band, immediately proceeded to organize and procure instruments for it. Each pupil bought his own instrument, except those playing the bass drum and base horn, which were purchased by the school.

Much praise is due Mr. Andre for his skill, perseverance, and success in training and directing the band. Even though amateurs, their successful concerts this year point to a still more successful future.

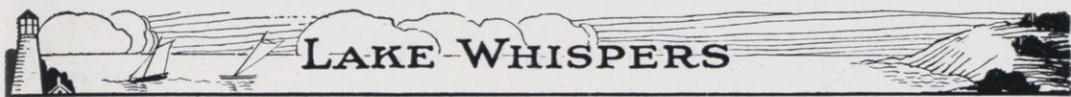

Below is a list of the members with their respective instruments:

The Debate Club

After a splendid response to the call for debaters in the fall of '23 the Debate Club was organized, the charter members numbering about twenty.

The club adopted a constitution and by-laws, and held monthly meetings, for which programs were carefully prepared. The program generally consisted of debates, orations, and extemporaneous speeches.

The following are the officers of the club for 1923-24.

The Lyceum Association

The Lyceum Association was re-organized, after having been substituted for a year by the Literary Society. The many benefits that are derived from such an organization made it necessary for it to be continued. Any student of the high school may become a member, and is charged twenty-five cents, (25c) as dues each semester.

The prime purpose of this association is to support financially the forensics of the year, such as debate, oratory, and declamatory work. Some of the activities that it supported during the last year are: It secured and paid for the three lyceum numbers that were enjoyed by the members of the high school and community. It paid the expenses concurred by sending the debate team to Sturgeon Bay and Brillion. It supported financially the oratorical and declamatory work of the year.

Meetings of this organization were held each semester during which elections of the following officers took place:

Foot Ball Personnel

Mr. Hurd; As coach. Mr. Hurd did what seemed the impossible. He turned out one of the best teams in the school's history, even though five regulars were absent from the former line-up.

Reinhold Giese; "Rhieny", Captain of the team credited the belief of his team mates in his ability. When in action against opponents he was "worthy of his steel", and could not be stopped when smashing through the line.

Floyd Jacobs; "Floydie", playing at left half was a streak. Whenever the team needed a large gain to come within scoring distance a long end run with him carrying the ball resulted in the downfall of our opponents.

Leo Schuller; "Schyler", at tackle could if need be hold one side of the line himself by his fierce tackling and accurate football knowledge. His three years of experience was an asset and no opponent could stand the pace set by him throughout the season.

Earl Kuehl, right halfback played a fast game. No member of the opposing team could equal his smashes through the line and off end. His value to the team could easily be seen when he was out of the game because of injuries.

Oswald Molle; "Ozzy", playing quarterback was a splendid passer and open field runner making many scores on trick plays and running the length of the field on the kickoff. He will be back for next year and will be a great asset.

Raymond Stoffel; "Bean", right guard played a fast game and was always alert.

Ellsworth Waterstreet, and Gilbert Ramesh, "Rummy", were invaluable in the line at left and right guards respectively. Their blocking was the main reason for the success of the plays of the back field.

Frank Dworak; "Frankie", playing center outplayed every man against him. Though outweighed in many cases, he smashed holes for Giese which enabled him to make gains. In two games he did the unusual for a center by blocking punts and dropping on them for touchdowns behind the goal.

Joe O'Konski; "Konski", at tackle was a hard tackler and a fighter until the finish. His smashing tackles caused backfield men of other teams to worry considerably when coming around his side of the line. His fight and determination have won him the right to lead next year's aggregation.

Edward Pelican; "Eddie", always held down his end. He was adept at pulling down passes and breaking up interference, and will have to be reckoned with next year.

Other members of the team were: Joe Christman, Robert Putman; Walter Wessely, Robert Mastaliers, Charles Campbell, Walter Kacerovsky, Harry Holub, Patrick Cmejla, Ervin Moudry, George O'Konski, George Swagel, Sylvester Ihlenfledt and John Gauger.

Resume of the Season

When the season in Football loomed up in the fall of 1923 prospects in the Kewaunee High School were the brightest experienced in years.

Robert W. Hurd, the new coach, and an athlete of unusual ability, had complete supervision of the men. He found good material in the squad of twenty-four men that reported.

With only a week's practice, yet confident that they would bring honor to the Purple and Gold, Coach Hurd's grid warriors made their first road trip to Manitowoc. Penetrating the line at will and thoroughly outclassing the Manitowoc squad, the local team had things pretty much their way from the time of the first whistle. In the first quarter through a series of line plays and shifts they scored their first touchdown. In the second they sent across another and two more in the last. Final score 26-0, in our favor.

The next week the squad journeyed to Gillette and defeated them by an overwhelming score, 59-0. The locals were confident of victory, knowing that the opponents were not strong on either defense and offense as was demonstrated in previous games between the two teams. The local team's confidence perhaps detracted from their playing, but still, Gillette was unable to cross Kewaunee's goal during the entire game.

On October 6th, Sturgeon Bay invaded our quarters with the determination to "carry off the bacon." However, the northern's attempts were frustrated and they were turned back, sadder and wiser by a score, 40-0. One of the largest crowds in the history of Kewaunee sports was present and enjoyed thrills that came during regular intervals of play.

October 13th, the squad journeyed to Oconto Falls. Although Oconto Falls was known to have a powerful machine, the local boys felt confident that they would continue their winning streak. There was a shift in the line-up the night before and the locals went into the game minus two stars. However, they were able to score one touchdown, but failed to get the extra point. Oconto Falls scored one touchdown and an extra point thus making the score 6-7, Oconto Falls victory.

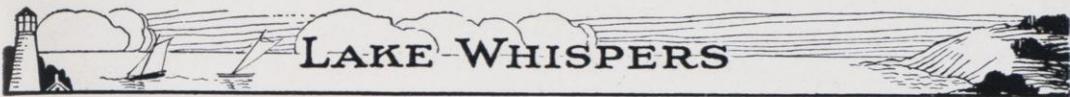

But the squad was not defeated in spirit, when they journeyed to play the Two Rivers aggregation at the southerner's field the following week. Purple and Gold hopes went soaring high. In the last quarter the locals tore through for the only score in the game, handing defeat to the southerners by a score, 6-0. Fumbles and slow field cheated the local eleven out of two more touchdowns.

On October 27, the second home game of the season, the husky Oconto Highs blew in but failed to pierce the Kewaunee line. They were then compelled to resort to a passing game but were at a disadvantage because of the wet field and wet ball. An enthusiastic crowd of rooters watched the local boys wallow through the mud and turn the trick for Oconto by a score, 26-0.

The next week the East DePere aggregation fell before the onslaught of the local grid warriors. The local highs were able to make their gains by straight football, penetrating the forward wall of the visiting squad for long gains. Final score, 12-0, the local elevens' favor.

On November 12th, the squad after another week of hard practice journeyed to Algoma to give battle to the old school rival. Accompanied by a crowd of rooters they battled to a scoreless tie. At one time Kewaunee carried the ball within three feet of the Algoma goal line, and even the continuous round of "Come On Kewaunee, let's go!" failed to give the boys the punch to carry the ball over. Again they started another march but lost on a fumble. Final score 0-0.

The football season this year was characterized by celar sportsmanship, good fellowship, and teamwork among the players. The credit for the splendid supervision is given to Coach Hurd. There were no individual stars this year as a strong unity existed at all times between the players. Graduation will cut heavily into the squad, six regulars and two substitutes will be lost. They are Dworak, center; Ramesh, left guard; Waterstreet, right guard; Schuller, left tackle; Stoffel, right end; Giese, fullback; Campbell, quarterback; and Wessely, left guard. At least seven letter men will return to school next year. In addition to the regulars returning, a wealth of substitute material will be available.

Basket Ball Season

The Tuesday following the last game on the football schedule the members of the squad disregarded their football gear and engaged in the inter-class basket ball tournament. This inter-class contest was held in order to give some basis for the selection of the first squad of the high school team. The Seniors and the Juniors each won from the Sophs and the Frosh by large scores. High interest was manifested before these two winning teams met. The Seniors however found little difficulty in subduing their formidable underclassmen and defeated them decisively, thus capturing the inter-class championship for two consecutive years.

After a week's practice, December 7, the team faced Mishicot in the local gym. The locals succeeded in running up a lead of nine points in the first half, the score being 14-5. Coach Hurd inserted several substitutes late in the game and the locals had tasted their first victory, 22-15.

Next week Friday, December 14, the team journeyed to Casco. The villagers were swept off their feet by the whirlwind onrush of the local quintet. Coach Hurd's battlin' regulars jumped up to a good lead in the first half of the game. The second team was put in action late in the game and showed themselves to be real players. This was Kewaunee's second victory, 34-8.

The Friday before Christmas vacation the team journeyed to Luxemburg. The opponent's confidence ran high, and they were sure of handing defeat to us that evening. However they were surprised when the first half found the score 16-1, they bringing up the rear. Little more spirit on Luxemburg's part was shown in the second half, but they were unable to turn the tables and the result was our third win, 24-10.

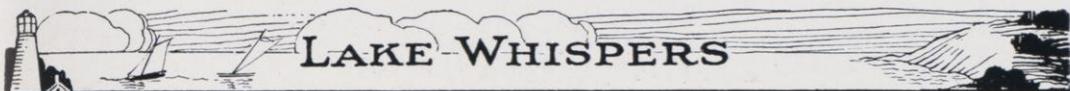

An unerring barrage of baskets from every angle and distance was uncorked by the local quintet against Casco, in the gym, Friday night, January 11. The local team did all the damage in the first half of the game and so overwhelmed the villagers that they lead by a decisive edge at the rest period. The same brilliant teamwork of the locals characterized the second half, and they romped away to a 41-16 victory over the dazed villagers.

On Friday, January 18, Two Rivers came down with the intention of riding Kewaunee "roughshod" as they stated in their local paper. The game bristled with thrills from beginning to end. Two Rivers was never in the lead. At the end of the first half we lead but by a very small margin. In the second half the team went in with the intention of putting the game on ice, but Two Rivers intentions were the same and both teams substituted freely. With but two minutes to play and Two Rivers only trailing along within two points of Kewaunee, the local high finally clinched the game by caging two successive field throws. The game ended with Kewaunee in the lead, 21-15.

Another week of practice and the team journeyed to Sturgeon Bay. This game was supposed to have been but a practice game in preparation for the big Manitowoc tilt. The first half found Kewaunee leading but by four points and the team knew that more fight would be necessary to put across a winning game. There was little change in the lead between the two teams but the northerners by a series of long shots and luck crept within a point of the purple and gold score, the score at that time being 13-12. The last few minutes found the two teams fighting on even terms, but Kewaunee managed to flip in a field goal, thus making their sixth successive win by a score of 15-12.

The next week, February 2, the team met Manitowoc. On all the dope Manitowoc probably was the strongest quintet Kewaunee was meeting this season. The game was a thriller from first to last. Manitowoc lead the first half by 9-7. The second half proved to be a repetition of the first. Neither team seeming to be able to score decisively. A few minutes before the final whistle the score had been tied, 13-13. But the break came when the opponents scored four lucky shots from over half of the gym, making the score 21-13.

The next week the purple and gold quintet again broke into the winning column by defeating most satisfactorily, Algoma, the oldest and most bitter rival. The first half found Algoma helpless and the half ended 16-5. However in the latter portion of the game they came back with fight, but Kewaunee was able to maintain the lead and won by the score 20-16.

Luxemburg met us the next week with the intention of reversing the former decision. The first quarter was a poor exhibition of basket ball, but a change was made in the local highs lineup and things looked brighter. Then with four regulars in the game, Luxemburg was thoroughly outplayed. The only field goal they were able to claim was made in the first stage of the game. Kewaunee was again victorious, 17-3.

With a record of nine wins out of ten games the team journeyed to Algoma none too confident of success, for Algoma had given Kewaunee a hard fight on the home floor. Algoma had already contemplated on an easy victory, but after the first few minutes of play their hopes were ruined. Every local high player was in the pink of condition, full of fight and carried the game on with a rush. The first half ended, 13-2, Kewaunee in the lead. The two points Algoma made were on free throws. The second half was a repetition of the first when Kewaunee High again outthought, outshot and outplayed Algoma, and piled up a final score of 25 to Algoma's 5.

On Friday, March 7, Sturgeon Bay met Kewaunee in the local gym. The game seemed to lag in the first half and Kewaunee left the northerners one point in the lead at half time when the score stood 7 to 8. Both teams fought desperately for the lead in the second half, but the Purple and Gold determined to add more laurels to their season's record by a score of 16 to 12.

West DePere was the last game on the high school basket ball schedule. The team journeyed there and outplayed the DePere quintet in every stage of the game. The first half ended with a score 11-2, Kewaunee's favor. The second half featured a little more spirit on DePere's part, but as far as victory was concerned it was Kewaunee's 17-8.

March 13, 14, 15, found the team battling at the district tournament at Two Rivers. Kewaunee came into the conference a dark horse but soon proved to be a real contender for the tourney honors. In the first game the boys were pitted against Sheboygan Falls. The game resulted in an easy victory for Kewaunee by a score 22-11. On Friday evening, Sheboygan was their opponent. This game was to decide which team would enter the finals and Kewaunee nosed the Sheboygan quintet out by a score 12-11. Saturday evening Manitowoc and Kewaunee played for final honors, both teams having previously won two games in the tournament. Owing to the fact that the Kewaunee players were handicapped in every stage of the game, Manitowoc proved to be the victor, thus giving Kewaunee second honors in the district tournament.

Captain Edward Pelican was chosen to fill the left forward position on the all-conference team. Reinhold Giese, guard, was chosen as member of the second squad, and Frank Dworak, center was also a leader in the tournament.

GIRLS' BASKET BALL SEASON

KEWAUNEE AT WEST GREEN BAY JANUARY 11

After many weeks of persistent practice the girls had their first game at Green Bay, the West High girls being their opponents. Having always practiced the six men style of the game and not adhering strictly to boys rules, the team was naturally put in pretty dire circumstances when a few minutes before play they learned they would have to play the entire game using only five men and boys rules. However they put up a splendid fight losing only by a score 13-8.

KEWAUNEE AT STURGEON BAY JANUARY 25

Again the squad determined to break into the winning column, when they took their second road trip, this time to Sturgeon Bay. Confidence ran high, the girls played hard and things seemed to come their way when in the first few minutes of play one of the local girls scored a field throw. But their lead was short lived, when the first half saw the score 7-2. The girls came back in the second half determined to put across a winning game, but as the seconds ticked away only Sturgeon Bay was able to score. Final score 11-2.

K. H. S. ALUMNAE AT KEWAUNEE FEBRUARY 8

When the high school alumnae came up to battle with the purple middied Hi Six it was their idea to conquer all. In the first half both teams maintained their edge and battled to a scoreless tie, however the fast teamwork of the Hi Six had left the alumnae dazed. The second half found things going merrier and soon the Hi Six had scored a field throw. From then on to the end they were successful in putting over a gain of 9 and thus handing a tasty defeat 9-0 to the alumnae.

STURGEON BAY AT KEWAUNEE FEBRUARY 29

A few weeks later when the Sturgeon Bay High School girls played their return game with the Hi Six, they found their task decidedly harder than in the previous game. Owing to ragged teamwork on the part of the local six the first half ended with a score 4-2 the northerner's favor. The second half gave a few more thrills when the score was tied, but Sturgeon Bay finally made a break with one field goal. It was then a question of minutes the local purple middied Hi Six trying hard to even the score again. They tried a number of hard shots but none rang true, thus bringing the score 6-4 in favor of the northerners.

WEST GREEN BAY AT KEWAUNEE MARCH 7

Another week of hard practice and the girls met West Green Bay in the local gym. Although outsized in most cases the Hi Six fought hard for victory, but the sturdy West Highs lead in the first half, 10-4, and continued their reckless pace to the final session. Both teams doubled their first half score, in the second half, giving the Bay team the victory, 20-8.

FACULTY VS. KEWAUNEE HI SIX MARCH 21

Answering a challenge from the Hi Six the school faculty turned out Wednesday night, March 19, to attempt to subdue their challengers. In the first half the Hi Six featured in fact and accurate teamwork and put the faculty somewhat off their feet. The rest period found the score, 19-4, the Hi Six in a brilliant lead over the faculty. In the second half the faculty were again outclassed. Final score 29-8, the Hi Six in the lead. "We won, by golly, we won!"

Base Ball Season 1923

Baseball as a sport in the High School athletics has not been fostered to any great extent. We have never taken any great interest in it in our school until the past few years when this particular activity began to be revived. We can now prophecy with confidence that baseball will become one of our foremost sports. During the 1923 season four games were played with the following results:

|        |          |    |                        |    |
|--------|----------|----|------------------------|----|
| May 12 | Kewaunee | 6  | Algoma Training School | 17 |
| May 19 | Kewaunee | 6  | Algoma Training School | 3  |
| May 26 | Kewaunee | 4  | Algoma High School     | 8  |
| June 2 | Kewaunee | 12 | Algoma High School     | 8  |

A game had been scheduled with Sturgeon Bay but was postponed until the 1924 season.

Junior Prom

The 1923 Junior Prom, which took place at the Opera House, Friday evening, May twenty-fifth of that year fairly eclipsed all other social events held in this city for a long time.

The Junior Class of 1923 succeeded in completing a decorative scheme which has seldom, if ever, been equalled by amateur talent in this city. The members of the class worked for weeks to make the hundreds of chrysanthemums and securing enough cedar, which formed a major part of the decorations. Lattice work was covered by the Decorative Committee, with old rose and silver paper. The entire balconies and the stage front were banked with one solid mass of evergreens and the old rose chrysanthemums intermingled in the evergreens added a touch of color. Overhead were graceful swoops of old rose and silver streamers. On each of two sides were booths which were also done up in old rose and silver and which did justice to the rest of the decorations.

At twelve o'clock everybody took partners for the grand march which was led by the President of the Junior Class. The Gloe-Naidl orchestra furnished its best of peppy dance music.

Delicious refreshments were served by a local society and the punch available throughout the evening was excellent.

The compliments received by the Junior Class were many and it was commented on as the very best Prom ever given by the students of the local high school.

The Junior Class, in making a success of the Prom, has only shown again that it is trying hard to live up to its class motto "EXCELSIOR."

THE GET ACQUAINTED PARTY

On Friday evening, September 23, the freshmen, teachers, and all the students had an occasion to make their debut in the high school social world at a party given by the Sophomore Class.

The dancing and games were entered into with keen interest. Music for the dancing was furnished by the Amos Walecka Orchestra.

A "get acquainted" spirit characterized the party and the purpose for which the party was given was well answered.

THE FRESHMEN PARTY

On the twenty-first of February, the Freshmen class entertained the Sophomores at a party in the gymnasium of the High School.

Those who attended spent the evening in playing games, trying for prizes, and dancing. Toward the close of the evening light refreshments were served, after which the strains of "Home Sweet Home" wound up a most pleasant and enjoyable occasion.

HARD TIME PARTY

On November 16th, the Senior Class gave a "Hard Time" party for the Juniors and faculty. This was one of the best attended and most enjoyable events of the year. A grand march was held to determine the three persons who were the "hardest" and the prizes awarded were a bottle of catsup to Floyd Jacobs and Raymond Stoffel, a sample box of crackers to Robert Futman and a box of "Zip" to Miss Comstock. After the prizes were awarded, dancing was enjoyed, and later, lunch was served. The party broke up about eleven o'clock.

ROASTS

—:—X—:—

Irene: "Oh dear! I wish the Lord had made me a man."
Homer (bashfully): "He did. Look at me."

He: "I have never seen such dreamy eyes."
She: "Perhaps I never stayed out so late before."

Mr. Licking: "What causes the water table to be so uneven, Homer?"
Homer: "The caterpillar attraction causes it."

Us editors work till our hair is gray,
Till our finger tips are sore.
But some poor fish is sure to say
I've heard that Joke before.

Chas: "Going to have dinner anywhere tonight?"
Viola (hoping): "Not that I know of."
Chas: "Gee! You'll be awfully hungry by morning."

Frosh: "You can't imagine how many boys have asked me to the Prom!"
Senior: "I don't have to. You've done all the imaging that is necessary."

At the Junior Hard Time Party

Homer: "What are you looking for?"
Raymond (who plays the part of Rosie): I just found this pin.
Homer: Well, what of it?
Raymond: You never can tell but what something might happen and come loose.

A Senior's Calendar

Monday morning late to class,
'Tuesday, quiz, I didn't pass;
Wednesday had a two hour date,
Thursday found the girl don't rate.
Friday flunked another test—
Saturday's my day of rest.
Tomorrow morn I'll sleep 'till one;
Another week of toil is done.

Little Leo Schuller, sat in the corner
Writing his final exam;
Working his bluff, he looked at his cuff
And said, "What a bright boy I am."

Philanthropy

Science courses oft remind us
We can help if we but try;
In passing on we leave behind us
Note books for the other guy.

Mary Paska—"Look at the football team practicing in the mud. How will they ever get clean!"

Helen Paska—"Oh, that's what the scrub team is for."

Miss Newing—In the sentence, "The girl is beautiful. "The" is the adjective.
What is "beautiful?"

Ellsworth—Merely a compliment.

Irwin—I asked if I could see her home.

Louis—And what did she say?

Irwin—She said she would send me a picture of it.

Coach Hurd—"What's the matter Giese? Where were you last night?"

Giese—"Well, I don't know but what I ought to be tired. I had to stay up with the baby."

Hurd—"And how old was the baby?"

Photographer to football player come to get his picture taken:

"And you want your picture taken? Full-Face?"

Football player—"No, half-back."

Giese at Hotel: "Hey, waiter, there's not a bit of real coffee in this mixture."

Waiter: "Some little bird told you, I suppose?"

Giese: "Yes, a Swallow."

Oh what is so rare as a perfect exam
Or an O. K. in our physic's manual,
Or no mistakes in a typing test
Or our name spelt right in the annual.

Homer—I hope that you all have noticed that I haven't said a word for the last five minutes.

Leone—Well, why break the record.

Viola—I'm said to have one of the best complexions in school.

Adeline—Honest?

Viola—None of your business.

Mr. Licking—Leo, is the current positive or negative?

Leo—Negative.

Mr. Licking—Are you sure?

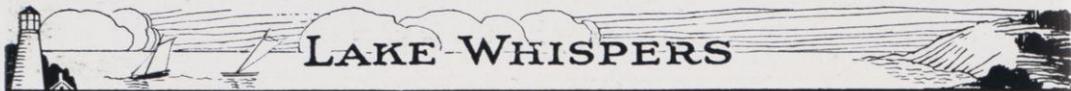

Leo—Positive.

We have been wondering why Irma used her powder puff suddenly last Sunday when the minister said, "I am glad to see all these shining faces before me."

Did you ever hear of Paul Revere
The guy who warned a town?
He didn't have much on Joseph here
For spreading news around.

Rudy loved a maiden
He loved her very dear,
But every where that Rudy went
He saw "No Spooning Here."

Mr. Skaar is my teacher: I shall not pass
He maketh me to study references; he criticizeth my work:
He restoreth my fright; He maketh me to recite, though my knees shake;
Yea, though I walk through a maze of names and dates, I shall not get there, and many are with me;
His units and his standings they worry me,
He giveth me a test in the presence of my classmates;
He useth no mercy; my grief runneth over,
Surely zeroes and failures shall follow me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in the Kewaunee High forever.

He Might Have To

She—The man I marry must be able to take a joke.

You Can Always Tell

You can always tell a Senior because they are sedately dressed.
You can always tell a Junior by the way they swell their chest.
You can always tell a Sophomore by their curiosity and such.
You can always tell a Freshmen, but you can't tell him much!

What's the use of learning
An ancient History date
When I can make a modern one
At quarter after eight.

Tales of Campbell all remind us
We can raise a mustache too,
With a bit of fuzzy cat fur
And a little glob of glue!

Mr. Licking—"I'll have to give you a zero this time, Harry."
H. Holub—"That's nothing in my young life!"

Little Patrick had a hobby
At the tender age of four,
And his hobby was a horsey
That he rode upon the floor.

Later when he went to High School
Still his hobby was a horse,
Which he used to great advantage
Trotting through his Latin Course.

Floyd Jacobs—What is the breadth of suspicion ?
Raymond—Spearmint. (He ought to know.)

The following epithet is an extract of a certain Senior Girl's Diary found in the girl's cloak-room by the scandal editor.

Feb. 18. Oh! diary dear, what a headache I have. Rudy had a party last night and, and—well, you know how it is dear diary, don't you? This will have to end as I can write no more I feel so punk.

Feb. 19. Had a horrid old test in History today. Mr. Skaar sure must like to see us suffer, the only consolation I have so far in History this year is that he changed my seat for once.

Feb. 21. This is the twenty-first, dear diary—too bad I had to slight you yesterday, but I wasn't feeling very well. You see the night before Viola and her friend went out leaving poor old me all by herself, but Charles C. came over—didn't enjoy myself much—that imitation mustache of his does tickle so.

Feb. 22. Just came home from school and am in the best of spirits. Something funny happened in school today. Pat C. tipped right over backwards in Latin II—Homer was too close to him to be above suspicion.

Feb. 24. Dear Diary, the big secret is out—I have found out what the "Sooners" are. You'd never guess!

Feb. 25. Today I made my appearance in school wearing a new onyx. It really is almost as big as Frieda's lode stone, though of course it came from a different source. Speaking of feminine ornaments, Marion and Viola each brought a dozen pairs of ear rings to school today and passed them out among the girls. Later in the day we found a portrait of Vi called "Sour Grapes", and can you imagine it, it featured a pair of her ear rings. Another pair of them happened to get attached to the ventilator in the Physics room. Today's rumor has it that the boys have organized the A. C's. I wonder what that means—I'm determined to find out. The cats! I wonder, diary dear, since it is a society against the girls, whether or not it could mean the anti-chem—But no; I'll not write it down till I make sure.

Feb. 26. Today Miss Newing made us learn a number of quotations from Macbeth.

Feb. 27. Dear Diary, fear no more, the boys no longer have it over on us. The girls today organized the "Toons". The club is limited as each girl must have a name ending in "oon." I tried all week to get in but it seemed that there was no word ending in "oon" left for me to adopt, when while hunting through the dictionary in a hope that one still was left I ran across "Baboon." It does not sound so very nice, but anything to get even with the boys.

March 5. Forgive me, diary dear, but I had to spend all my spare time on my declamation. At last it's over with. Besides, nothing very shocking did happen during this time anyway. Today was made memorial as Charles came to school with the fuzzy growth on his upper lip shaved off. It really was a good riddance.

March 7. Today was not without its surprises. The bottle of liquid refreshment that Charles was positive we girls had hidden on him turned up in the dark room. As yet there is no more news as to the whereabouts of Irma's make-up box. Suspicion is pointing its fingers at those who sit near her desk.

March 20. Dear Diary, as tomorrow is the first day of Spring all the Senior girls vowed to come to school with ribbons (hair) on. As one girl said we are all looking so old and sedate lately we thought it would be a pleasant change.

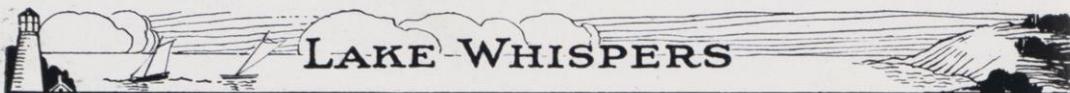

March 21. Not to be outshone by any girls I wore the giddiest thing I could find and you can imagine my remorse when the rest all wore black as though they were mourning.

March 22. Oh for crying out loud! My last decent looking handkerchief is gone. It is whispered among us of the shy sex that some of the boys are collecting them. One boy in particular has quite a supply. Rumor has it that each girl will get hers back—cleaned and pressed as a graduation gift. I sincerely hope so!

March 24. Today the Seniors play the faculty and rest of the school. From what I hear it is mostly rest of the school. Strange things are doomed to happen today. I'm all on pins—can write no more till the excitement is over.

March 25. Dear Diary! It was as I suspected. The seniors naturally put it all over the rest of the school. The afternoon of the game our famous Cartoonist applied his chalk diligently and the outcome was a caricature of the game. The senior appeared making a basket with a halo above his head. The faculty team was all laid out on the floor with Mr. Hurd at the very bottom. I was in suspense all evening. You know, diary, that I and Irene had an Eskimo Pie bet on the game. But it was of little avail as they happened to be out of season.

March 30. Today was not without its surprises. I was in the English room with Gilbert when all of a sudden Frieda rushed in all out of breath, "Give me the first annual," she managed to say. From further conversation we learned that a feud was on among the girls to see who could get the first annual.

Extra classes are to be held after school each day. If interested apply to Mr. Licking.

WANT ADS

WANTED: A quick way to grow eyebrows. Sufficient remuneration if plan is workable. Walter K.

GIRLS: Something for your hopeless chests. A number of unclaimed but serviceable articles from the Lost and Found box are to be auctioned off on Friday of this week in the office. Range from safety pins to hairnets—seldom used. Miss Fritz auctioneer.

PERSONAL: Will the person or persons who eloped with the insides of my vanity box please return same as my complexion is in dire need of same. Irma H.

PERSONAL: Will the person who promised to get me a banana split for securing for him that picture of Miss Doeple please come across. Am still waiting. E. H. F.

BOYS: Use "Hair-Stick". Made by the Chemistry classes. Guaranteed absolutely pure as it contains nothing but that well known hair-oil, lard. For references see Ted Neuman or Earl Kuehl, both of whom will vouch as to its ability to stick.

EAT AT THE DOMESTIC CAFE: Light dinners a specialty, also conservative lunches. The following is the menu for a three meal day: Indian meal, Corn meal, and Oat meal.

SCANDAL COLUMN

Edited by the scandal editor every now and then.

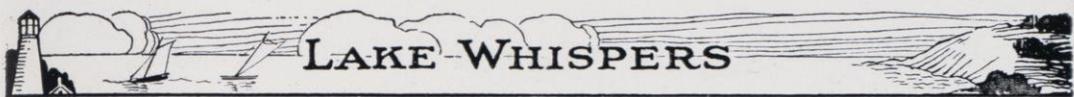

We walked by the contribution box for the "Lake Whispers" the other day and what did we see but a Freshman put in a penny and wait for the gum to come out.

A rumor that Homer and Charles had the privilege of scrubbing the office floor is about. As yet, no reason has been given for this.

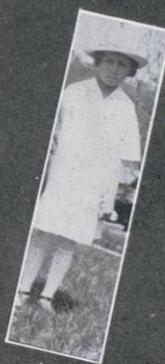

What was our surprise the other day when Homer walked into the main room wearing Eleanor's wrist watch.

At last we found out why it was that Viola almost died laughing the other day in Physics class. From what we have heard, the cause of it was the fact that Homer Kieweg started to wiggle his ears.

Another mystery is afoot. The other night after play practice Charles looked high and low for his cap but to no avail. It turned out the next day that someone had stuffed it in Vi's pocket and it was not discovered until the next morning. However, Charles managed to get home without it.

HOME

Home reflects character. More, it moulds character. Home is the image of thought, exposed, inviting the gaze of the world. As your home is, so are you. Then make your home as you want to be—in good taste, dignified, ennobling, to be admired. But see to it that it is also beautiful, comfortable and durable.

We dream of a castle in Spain, but we build a cottage in the country. And therein lie the interest and the picturesqueness and the abiding charm of a small house. It is a realization in parvo of big things. It is an adequate satisfying of our desires for a home in which to express personality and develop a life and shelter the next generation. Most of American life centers about and is concerned with the small house, with the men and women who have realized in the actuality of lumber and brick and cement, in the reality of shadowed lawns and quiet garden paths, the big dreams for which America stands.

DATES TO BE REMEMBERED BY SOME AND OTHERS

When Freida wore a lace curtain to school.
When Miss Ballentine wore a bedroom slipper to school.
When Oswald Molle walked into town carrying a half of a custer.
When Walter K. started the fad of wearing brightly hued socks to school.
When Viola wore "Chiefs" necktie to school.
When Miss Doepke got some new records for the Victrola.
When Viola bobbed her hair for the second time.
When Homer yelled out "Oh! my garter is down as he passed Eleanor's seat.
When Irma Hoffman came to school with a raincoat.
When Freida got a new lode stone
When Alton got the latest haircut.
The time that Homer walked into the main room wearing Eleanor's wrist watch.
The time Lincoln got off his perch above the English room door and took a shower.
When Irma's vanity case was mailed back to her.

The teacher was explaining to the class a lesson on gravity.
"Now, Alton, it is the law of gravity that keeps on this earth.

Alton—How did we stick on before that law was passed?

We were in the office the other day and it seems as if cold weather was coming around again as several of the Seniors were there asking Mr. Kruschke about their sheepskins.

She was walking towards school reading her history lesson which she should have done the night before. "It's too deep for me" she sighed as she stepped into the manhole.

“AND HERE IS YOUR BATHROOM”

What a satisfaction to be able to offer a private bathroom to your occasional guest! And what every-day-in-the-year comfort your household would derive from increased bathing facilities!

You can have that extra bathroom, equipped with beautiful, snowy-white Kohler fixtures. A surprisingly small space will suffice—no larger than a good-sized closet. And the cost will probably be considerably less than you suppose.

Consult the good plumbing dealer who handles Kohler Ware in your neighborhood. We shall be glad to mail a booklet on Kohler Ware to all who are interested.

Sound Economy

Sound economy is based primarily upon self denial. So the first step to success depends on yourself, do what you ought to do rather than what you want to do. The easiest one to fool is yourself, and the most dangerous kind of deception, too. That's especially so in money matters. The man who spends all he makes is deceiving himself. Start saving, open an account here and start up the stairway of prosperity.

Often, as this or that friend's home has been spoken of you have heard, "and isn't her bathroom just wonderful?"

Is yours? Is it modern or does it belong back with long skirts and leg o' mutton sleeves?

We'll show you how any bathroom can be made modern at a cost you can afford.

Let us send you some booklets illustrating and describing modern bathroom fixtures. They're really interesting.

"Jahn & Ollier Again"

ACHIEVEMENT

The goal of every ambitious man and firm is typified in the rapid growth of the Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company—the universal esteem in which their art and plates are held by the large national advertisers—and the enviable reputation for prompt deliveries which they enjoy.

Delivering this same high quality and careful personal supervision to schools has built up for us the largest college and high school annual engraving business in America—400 books yearly.

Thirty thousand square feet of floor space (4 floors) and over two hundred and fifty skilled employees are required to meet the constant demand for "J&O" commercial photographs, art, color process plates and photo engraving (one complete floor is devoted to color process work).

Intelligent supervision of all work by many skillful office service men eliminates your troubles. Sales service men sent everywhere
