SECRET BALLOT TO BE USED IN S. G. A. VOTING

Board Creates Judicial Committee

Secret balloting will be used for voting on S. G. A. amendments according to the overwhelming vote cast on the question at the S. G. A. board meeting last night at Lathrop hall.

The board decided to constitute a judicial committee to have complete jurisdiction over all cases of women discipline except in cases of dishonesty, abuse of library privileges and cases involving investigation and punishment equal to the case for men.

Dues For Class Expenses

Announcement was made of the $100 scholarship to Prof. Julius E. Olson toward the scholarship fund of the university. Student Relief fund was given fifty dollars.

It was recommended at the meeting that next year all class expenses be paid out of regular dues instead of having separate dues paid in by Blue Dragon and the other class organizations.

Y. W. To Handle Library

The date for the freshman and junior women's tea to be given by the junior advisers in conjunction with S. G. A. activities has been set for September 23. Dorothy King '25, has been placed in charge of the affair. The S. G. A. walk-out, the picnic-hike held every fall will not be held next year.

The library will be handled by Y. W. C. A. during the summer session. The office requests that the twenty books now out be returned this week to the office, for after that time there will be no regular office hours.

POLICE DEEMED UNRESPONSIBLE FOR WHITFIELD

Because no information regarding the identity of John Whitfield, Cleveland murderer, was sent to the Madison police, Detective Jesse Smith and Lieut. Ole Sefland are not responsible for the murderer's escape last Tuesday night, it was brought out in the testimony given by Chief Thomas Shaughnessy at the preliminary investigation of the facts surrounding the case held at police headquarters last night.

Ralph Scott and Wallace Barr will be called upon later to testify regarding the escape of Whitfield.

The facts showed that the officers making the arrest had no information that Whitfield was the Cleveland slayer at the time and therefore did not warrant putting "come-along" chains on him.

Whitfield showed every evidence of being willing to go along with the officers at the time of the arrest, and it was for this reason neither officer handcuffed him.

Witnesses called into hearing were Albert Kelly, proprietor of Chili Al's restaurant, Sergeant Boyd, on duty that night at the police station, Detective Smith, Lieut. Sefland, G. E. Tegtmeyer, Capt. Harry Davenport and Chief Shaughnessy.

AGS TO DEMONSTRATE Use of Picric Acid

On June 22, annual station day at the university farm, the college of agriculture will demonstrate the use of new lime crushers and the blasting properties of picric acid.

These features of the exhibition are specially emphasized because of the extensive deposits of lime throughout the state and also because of the thousands of acres in need of sweetening.

Additional features of the day

WEATHER: CLOUDY

Partly cloudy weather is predicted for today, with possible thunder storms. Not much change in temperature.

Varsity Athletes Approve Giving "aW's" For Crew

GRADUATION MARCH COMPOSED BY MILLS

Dr. Charles H. Mills, professor in the music department has composed a march which will be used in the graduation exercises this year. The music, which takes eight minutes to play, will be used while the A. B. candidates march across the stage. A 60 piece orchestra began practice on the piece yesterday.

The march has been written so that snatches of the Varsity Welcome and On Wisconsin will be recognized in it, according to the composer.

Dr. Mills is composing the whole ritual for commencement, and he hopes to have it completed for next year's exercises.

SYNOPSIS FOR HARESFOOT DUE

Books For 1924 Show Must Be Given Committee By Tomorrow

Synopses of Haresfoot books for the 1924 show must be submitted to the committee by Thursday evening, according to an announcement given out last night by Porter F. Butts '24, president of the club. Books should be submitted to Butts at the A. T. O. house, B. 186.

The committee which will judge the plays and will decide the winning book is T. Faxon Hall '23, chairman, Clarence Fernberg, Thomas W. Morony '25 and Thomas Mac Lean '25.

Only Synopsis Required

The submitted books need not be finished or completed as to style of writing. A synopsis with sufficient manuscript to show the author's capabilities is all that is required at the first consideration.

After the first acceptance the books will be worked over and revised during the summer months. It is possible, club officers declared, that a system of co-authorship will be used this year in order to unite the best in all the plays that are submitted. This is the plan that is used by the Michigan club and other organizations of successful eastern shows.

Many Books Promised

This far three completed books have been submitted to the committee and several others have been promised within a day or two.

"Haresfoot has never had any books to work upon this early in advance to the actual presentation. The choosing of the book this spring will enable a complete and beneficial revision this summer and will give opportunity for a semester of intensive work on chorus dancing," Butts asserted last night.

Kikmi Scores On

The music for next year will be written on a competition basis. Any university men are eligible to write music for the book. Men who wish to write music should communicate with Butts.

Three hundred copies of the score for this year's production "Kikmi" were received yesterday and have been placed on sale at the University Music shop and at Hook brothers.

WOMEN GRADS TO OPEN CLUB HOUSE

The Madison branch of the American Association of University Women has taken possession of the William F. Vilas homestead at Wisconsin avenue and Gilman street, and will open the new club house in September. Annual dues for the Madison branch are $3, including a the organization.

Letters to all graduating women are being sent out by the American association of university women to give them the opportunity of joining the association, the office of the dean of women announced yesterday.

Junior Crew Cannot Be Compared to Work of Other Teams

Wisconsin's leading athletes indicated last night that they are heartily in favor of awarding members of the junior crew "aW's".

In addition to forming competition necessary to the training of the varsity crew, the junior crew competes with other schools. Saturday they will meet the Culver oarsmen.

"The second crew works just as hard as the varsity," Howard Johnson, varsity crew captain, said last night, "and I think they are entitled to as much credit as the varsity men."

"Of course crew work is different from other sports and it is hard to judge the awards given in the sport, but I think the seconds should receive the 'aW's'."

"After the varsity crew has been picked for a race there are no substitutes put in as in other sports, and if a man is not picked at the beginning of a race he has no chance to compete," Johnson continued.

"I think the department ought to go a step farther and give these men the 'aW' award, as crew work is not comparable with other sports and the A W A award should not be set by standards of other sports."

"Few realize the amount of work that these fellows put in," Rolland Williams, football and baseball captain said. "In addition to their work in training the varsity, they compete with St. Johns Military academy and with Culver."

"These men surely deserve some reward, and I think the idea of giving the members of the Junior crew the 'aW' a fine one."

"A very good idea," Martin Below, football captain for 1923, said. "Considering the amount of work these men have done, I do not see any reason why they should not get the 'aW' award."

"I surely am in favor of granting 'aW's' to the Junior crew," Tom Treadwell '23, tennis and hockey captain, said. "Few students realize the great amount of time these men put in for the university. An 'aW' is as deserving to these men as to members of any varsity team."

AGRICS LEAVE TO SEE STATE DAIRY FARMS

The biggest livestock trip ever undertaken by the animal husbandry department began early this morning, when 45 juniors and seniors under the leadership of Prof. R. S. Hulce left Madison by auto to visit twelve of the leading farms of the state. The purpose of the trip is to give these students first hand knowledge of the best modern breeding methods employed on Wisconsin's greatest dairy farms and to provide training for the stock judging team.

The itinerary includes stops at the following points: Carnation and Pabst farms, Waukesha, Holsteins; the Fox, Guernsey farm and the Feitz Ayrshire show herd also at Waukesha; Hoard's Dairyman farm of guernseys and national dairy paper, Ft. Atkinson; James Mfg. Co. of nationally known farm equipment, Ft. Atkinson; Harding Short-horn farm, Waukesha, and other large farms.

A certified milk farm also will be visited. Graduate students from Kansas, Illinois, and other states will make the trip to become familiar with methods on our famous dairy farms for the purpose of disseminating the knowledge in their own states.

Remove Politics

"Student court elections are held at this time of the year to remove them as far as possible from the field of politics," Seering explained yesterday in answer to an inquiry concerning the time of the election.

"The court should be entirely free from political influence. Elections are made at a different time from the general elections to avoid the 'tickets' and 'slates' that ordinarily influence elections."

A complete list of candidates nominated will be published in The Cardinal Friday morning.

ADVOCATES OF LEAGUE WILL ORGANIZE HERE

The League of Nations Non-Partisan association, an organization recently formed for the advocacy of the league in this country, intends with the cooperation of the students and faculty to organize a branch here.

Although in existence only since January 10, this organization has branches at many eastern colleges including Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth, Vassar, and Smith.

The plan of the organization in most cases takes the form of an executive council in general control of the activities of the branch, with a secretary and treasurer responsible to the council and with such other officials as may be necessary to meet local needs. Such a one exists at Harvard where the council consists of ten. About one hundred members have enrolled.

TICKET SALE FOR CLASS PLAY STARTED TODAY

Fantasy Presented on June 14 and 15

Mail order sale for tickets to the 1923 senior class play, "The Road to Yesterday," opens today, according to Walter A. Frautschi '24, business manager. The prices for the play are 75 cents and $1.

"The Road to Yesterday" will be given Thursday and Friday evenings, June 14 and 15, as part of the commencement activities, in the open air theater at the rear of Bascom hall. The play, a four act fantasy of two periods, is being coached by Miss Gertrude Johnson of the speech department.

Alumni Honored Friday

Two thousand seats will be put on sale. Many class secretaries are making reservations for blocks of seats for their reunion activities. The oldest class to make reservations so far is the class of 1888 which has reserved 25 seats.

Friday night has been dedicated by the play committee as alumni night. It is thought that a play given by the members of the present senior class will be the best means possible to get members of a reuniting classes together for an informal opening activity.

All Seniors in Cast

Thursday night, members of the senior class will attend the play. Prices for both nights are the same and reservations for either performance can be made now. Seniors will take an increased interest in this year's class play because every member of the cast is a member of the class of 1923.

Reservations for the play can be made by addressing the Senior Class play, Union building, 752 Langdon street.

RURAL SCHOOL CHILDREN WILL PLAY ON FRIDAY

The children will wear costumes of a humorous and educational nature to bring out the true significance of health and play.

Students of the Agricultural college are showing a decided interest in the "day for kids" and several are working on committees for the parade, track, and field events. Tom Daniels '23 is in charge of the races. Austin Cooper '25 is handling the publicity.

Downtown stores are decorating their windows and planning on a big county day for Madison. Special sales will be one of their main attractions for visitors.

Immediately after rural school commencement in the morning, the children will go to Vilas park for a huge basket lunch. The parade, track, field and all around events will follow during the afternoon.

"God Of Vengeance" Producer, Fined $200, Will Appeal, He Says

NEW YORK — Sentenced to pay a fine of $200 for producing "God of Vengeance," a morality play which a jury decided was indecent and immoral, Harry Weinberger announced on Monday that he intended to carry the case to the higher courts. He said he was acting to prevent the banishment of "serious" plays from Broadway.

Judge McIntyre, who imposed the fine on Weinberger, levied a similar penalty against Rudolph Schildkraut, star of the production, but let off with suspended sentences eleven other members of the case. He warned all against participating again in a questionable play.

Mr. Weinberger's statement charged that "Jewish bigotry" was responsible for the action against "God of Vengeance," and declared that under the law it was administered in his case, 50 per cent of the plays on Broadway could be stopped as indecent and their principals pushed.

"Any interests, under the procedure in this case," he said, "whether they be Jewish, Kuklux Klan, Catholic, protestant, politicians or business opponents, who have a grudge to serve and happen to be in power, can stop any play in the city of New York under the plea or guise of obscenity or immorality."

Judge McIntyre said the jury had decided an important question of censorship, namely, that a moral lesson may not be pointed by the employment of indecent, obscene or impure language and acts.

Weinberger said that he had lost $100,000 on the play and that Schildkraut had been deprived of a role he had played fifteen years.

Double Decker Auto Bus Trims Trees In Milwaukee Streets

MILWAUKEE — The double decker type of motor bus which is such a common sight in the larger cities has made its appearance here. The novelty of riding high above the street appealed to people instantly and most of the persons riding the upper deck haven't any destination, it is said.

The swishing of the lower branches of trees in the faces of persons in the top seats, on Prospect Ave., one of the fashionable streets of the city proved annoying and when the traction company appealed to the city for the right to clip the lower limbs of the trees which have been annoying their passengers, permission to do the pruning was refused in the city.

One morning residents of the avenue woke up to find that 50 trees had been mysteriously trimmed and the stubs tarred during the night. Officials of the traction company admitted the cutting had been done by their employees, and as a result the company faces the possibility of fifty suits brought by the city—one for each tree.

SQUAD LEAVES FOR CONFERENCE MEET TOMORROW

Badgers Are Rated in Fourth Place

The Badger track team, 20 strong, will leave at 9:05 tomorrow morning from the St. Paul station for Ann Arbor, Mich., where the annual Conference track meet will be held Saturday. While the Wisconsin team can hardly look for a win over the other conference teams they are determined to make the best showing of which they are capable, and it is certain that they will not finish at the bottom of the ladder.

Distance Men Win Slams
The Badgers have been working well during the past few weeks, however, and if the breaks are with them, they may oust one of these teams to place one step higher.

Wisconsin has excellent chances to place in the runs and in the hammer throw. Badger half-milers, milers and two-milers have all slammed in their event in dual meets this spring and they should be able to win points against the best Conference competition.

Tom Nichols, throwing the hammer for Wisconsin, has consistently counted in his event and he should be able to place at Ann Arbor.

With Tuhtar, Platten and Donohue all clearing the high jump bar at something over six feet the Badgers may reasonably look for a few points in this event. Donohue also throws the discus and Tuhtar runs in the hurdles.

OHIO STATE TO SEND FIFTEEN TO ANN ARBOR

Fifteen Ohio State track men, will represent the Buckeyes in Big Ten championships next Friday and Saturday at Ann Arbor. If they live up to possibilities, these athletes should place higher than any other team since Ohio's admission to the conference.

Captain Everitt, quarter miler, Kreider, half miler, Kilpatrick, miler, Synder, hurdler and broad jumper, and Petcoff, javelin thrower, appear to be Ohio State's best bets for points. Everitt has been clocked in 50 seconds flat several times this spring without being pushed. Kreider has shown consistent form in the 880 yard run and should place second or third. Kilpatrick has turned in the fastest mile of the year by a conference runner, 4 min. 24 second in the Penn relays.

Larry Synder, chief point winner of the Buckeyes this spring, looks to be a sure point winner in the high hurdles. He has done 15 2-5 seconds this spring, which is as fast as others in the conference have done this year. He is also good for close to 23 feet in the broad jump. Boni Petcoff, football captain-elect of the Buckeyes, has done close to 190 feet with the spear.

Others who may squeeze in extra points for the Ohioans are Connell and Powelson, sprinters, Sutton or Lue in the quarter, Ross in the half mile, Russell in the two mile, and Murphy, Patchell and Croft in the weight events.

He was particularly concerned about the annual Michigan-Ohio State game to be played next fall at Ann Arbor.

"aWa's" For The Junior Crew

Editor, The Cardinal:

The editorial which appeared in Tuesday's Cardinal regarding the awarding of "aWa's" to the junior Varsity crew instead of the usual numerals was timely and in the interests of justice. Last year and this the juniors have represented Wisconsin in contests with other colleges,—minor colleges to be sure—but, the question of representation is there just the same. Should class numerals be awarded for such representation? Class numerals mean nothing to the members of the junior crew—they mean nothing because they do not represent the true condition of affairs.

Numerals are usually awarded for superiority in interclass contests, and are appreciated when awarded for such contests, but to a person who has put in a hard spring's practice, who has actually worn a Wisconsin jersey in representation against an outside competitor, the award of 1924's or 1923's seems an exceedingly small acknowledgement of service rendered.

In other sports there is always a probability of substitution during the progress of the game, but in a crew race, the eight that starts the race must finish it. Even the question of substitution of new members in the personnel of the eight is rather dubious, because a crew must work together for some time in order to perform at its best. Hence there is but small inducement for any of the other members of the squad after the first crew has been selected—there usually being very few changes made after this selection.

The rest of the season then is merely hard unrewarded work for the junior Varsity. They have, of course, the satisfaction of being in races, but that satisfaction is but a momentary thing, and fades into insignificance compared with the months of hard work required in preparation.

CREW LEAVES TOMORROW FOR CULVER MEET

The junior crew will depart, tomorrow for the Culver Military academy where they will engage the crew of that institution on Saturday. The men will probably arrive there Friday, so they will have ample time to rest and a few workouts on the course before the race.

The race will be the second one of the season for the junior crew and, although they met defeat at the hands of the St. Johns crew last Saturday, they will be conceded a good chance to win over the Culver men.

The juniors outrowed the St. John's crew for about half the race but lack of condition plainly showed its effect on the Badger men and the necessary spurt at the finish of the race was not forthcoming. Consequently the cadets won the race by the narrow margin of three quarters of a boat length.

The men have been going over the course every day this week in an effort to better their condition before the race next Saturday. The Culver crew is fully as expert as the men from Delafield so the varsity men will have to put up a better race than last Saturday if they are to humble their next opponents.

Berger Olson Leaves Estate Of $70,000; Petition Filed Today

Berger Olson, pioneer furniture dealer and member of the county board from the seventh ward, who died Thursday, left an estate valued at $70,000, according to a petition to prove will which was filed in county court, according to Thomas Reynolds, register in probate.

In the absence of a will, Helene Berger, his widow, was made administratrix. There are four children. Of the estate left by the deceased, $27,000 is listed as personal property and the balance of $43,000 is listed as real estate.

Building machinery and material is being unloaded at Monona yards in preparation for continuation of work of grading for new tracks and for the erection of new buildings. A gang of laborers has been a work for the past two weeks laying temporary tracks to accommodate the contractors, and a gang of 35 men reached here this noon to continue the work.

Last year the award of "aWa's" was recommended, but after a year's consideration, during which time the crew representative had left college, and interest naturally waned, the usual numerals were awarded. With practically all of last year's Varsity back on the job, but little inducement was offered for other members of the squad this year.

Some time ago it was decided that the crew could go East when it had "grown up" sufficiently to take care of itself at Poughkeepsie. Since then every article appearing in regard to the crew has contained the one word "may"—"may go East in 1924", etc.

There is no question of the football team playing games,—whether the team is good, or indifferent they play the usual number of games, and as a result candidates for the team go out with the knowledge that if they can make good, they will see worth while action. On the other hand candidates for the crew see only the bare probability ahead of them, not even the hope of a trip. Of course, eight men make their letters, but what a small inducement this is to the type of man that makes a successful athlete, a man who desires action and opportunity.

Wisconsin rowing must offer these things to the entering athlete, and until it does but few of them will find their way to the crew. Opportunities for recognition of service rendered by the junior crew is a step in the right direction which should be taken, and the award of meaningless numerals for representation of Wisconsin against the minor colleges should be discontinued in favor of something more in the nature of justice.

Let's do everything possible to hasten the day when the banner of old Wisconsin shall again float in triumph down the Hudson!

BULLDOGS BLOW DURING LAST THREE INNINGS

Sluggers Build Up Averages

Wisconsin won an easy 10 to 2 victory from Butler college, Indiana baseball champions, yesterday afternoon in a game which was the best seen in the local diamond this season until the Bulldogs cracked in the seventh inning.

Pat Page's outfit trimmed Chicago on their way here Monday by the score of 8 to 1, but his pitchers could not withstand the pomeling of the Badger batsmen who turned in 11 clean hits, one of which was a home run by Slim Ellingson, Hully Holm kept up his batting rampage by lacing out three hard hits in four tips to the platter.

Slaughter Is Replaced

Jerry Pickford pitched a good game against a bunch of heady hard hitting ball players. He was a trifle wild at times but kept out of trouble easily. The Bulldogs got to him for seven blows but they were well scattered. Pickford had excellent support behind him, there being no serious misplays.

For five innings Slaughter held the Badgers at bay with his speed ball, but in the sixth a base on balls, two hits and an error allowed three runs to cross the plate, putting the Cardinal out in front for the remainder of the game.

Kid Ewing succeeded Slaughter on the mound at the beginning of the seventh after a liner off Aschenbrenners bat struck Slaughter on the foot and badly mangled his toes. Ewing, a freshman, looked pretty good but couldn't keep them on the corners.

Rollie Scores On Error

Butler started out to win the game by Coett, first man up, rapping out a two bagger. He brought in the first tallie when Slaughter singled. The game went on without further scoring until the sixth inning. Hungate hit and stole second, Brown hit clean and Hungate scored when Williams fumbled the grounder. That ended Butler's scoring.

In Wisconsin's half of the sixth, Pickford started off by drawing a walk, Williams made an infield hit advancing Pickford. Ellingson hit safely to centerfield and Pickford scored. Williams was caught between second and third, but came home when the third baseman pegged the ball over second into right field.

Squeeze Play Works

Ellingson held up on third base and scored on the next play when the batter was thrown out at first base by Blessing. Aschenbrenner was tossed out by the pitcher and Tebell flied out to left field.

Holm opened the seventh with a hit to left field. Combacker fanned. Dugan was issued a pass and Pickford brought Holm in and sent Dugan to third by a hit into right field. With Capt. Williams at bat and Dugan on the third corner, the squeeze play was attempted but the pitch was fouled.

The same play was tried on the next pitch and Dugan was run down on the path by the catcher who then threw wild to second in an effort to catch Pickford who scored.

Williams obtained a walk and counted on Ellingson's four bagger. Servatius was out short stop to first. The score was 7 to 2 for Wisconsin.

Final Rally Fails

Ewing had another bad inning in the eighth. Eddie Aschenbrenner, first up, hit safely to centerfield who let the ball go through him and Eddie came home. Tebell connected for a safety and scored when Holm lifted his third hit of the day into right field. Combacker and Dugan both drew passes. Pickford a sacrifice fly to right field and Holm scored after the catch. Williams got another walk. Ellingson forced Combacker at the plate and Servatius grounded out.

With the score 10 to 2 against them, Butler made a final effort to win, but succeeded only in getting a man on first by the free passage route. Butler been defeated only twice before this season.

The near approach of the end of school and the beginning of commencement activities have brought to Madison a swarm of automobiles which clog every court and alley, completely fill up the parking space on Bascom hill and congest easy traffic on State street.

The automobile census shows that the city already has automobiles far in excess of the average city in the country. A little added precaution and an alert carefulness, especially in the university district, will be needed at this time of excess stress to keep the collisions and accidents at a minimum.

There is room for all, but personal watchfulness and obedience to law and regulations are absolutely necessary.

Spring has advanced, classes are finishing their year's work, commencement with its attendant influx of hundreds of guests and friends is near at hand,—and Langdon street from Park to Lake streets is as bumpy as even. Some city alderman will enjoy driving his visiting classmate of '88 or '17 over this broad highway while he points out Wisconsin's Memorial union site and the university gymnasium.

Only one fourth of the senior dues have been paid, according to the class treasurer. Although the commencement date is three weeks hence, university activities are considered closed with the last class at the end of this week. Seniors should square their financial accounts before the balancing of activity books this week. One senior's neglect and indifference make a classes' loss.

Some university activities have their rewards in honor and glory, some in a small pecuniary stimulus, some in publicity,—others serve from a sense of duty and benefit given and get no thanks for the same.

bringing relief from outside labor to some, the university band has a manifold increase in the number of functions it must perform. Military drill one day, Senior Swingout the next, and after that Venetian night with commencement coming soon. Little is the reward these men receive. Even thanks are indifferently presented, yet their need is felt and their tremendous service is appreciated. Each band man deserves the university's gratitude.

Statistics garnered from the exchange list in the Cardinal's office show that not a single college paper in the country has refrained from an editorial on the exigencies of intensive scholastic labor during the last week of school. Trite though the suggestion may be, no better word can be passed along than that of intensive application to academic activities just before exams, and abstinence from all college effusions.

RESPONSIBILITIES

It is a splendid thing to be dependable, to be the kind of person upon whom anyone may count to perform a duty. There are so many duties which must be performed everywhere all the time and competition is so keen that only the conscientious will be given the privilege of performing them.

When a man is given leadership over a group either in a campus activity or in some field of larger scope, he will never be able to achieve his end if any member of that group upon whom he placed a responsibility is slothful, careless, downright unconscious. It is better that that man should have never been given a position of responsibility.

Too frequently it happens that a youth promises to do a thing, makes himself accountable for the performance of a duty, blusters about his not failing those who are depending upon him, and then forgets all about his obligation.

We knew a man who always found that he had to leave town whenever he was expected to co-operate with his fellows in completing some work. He said that he would much rather remain in the city and help, but that it was imperative that he should be away that particular week-end. When he was asked to do a particular thing, he invariably forgot to do it.

One is inclined to have sympathy with people upon whom no implicit trust can be placed. What, pray, can ever become of them? The peculiar part of it all is that they seem to drift along satisfactorily, probably have a deal better time of life than those who are conscientious, and probably never realize that they are a detriment to society. While those who are conscientious about everything which they undertake are more or less miserable for fear that they will not be capable of carrying out their mission to its fullest extent.

To have a pleasant, easy-going life one should be like the people of the tropics, without conscience or responsibility; to have one of the finest qualities that a man can possess, to be something other than a drain of society, a parasite, one must be dependable to the utmost degree.

DON'T PICK THEM

Three people, one of whom was a student, were arrested for picking flowers on the university grounds last Sunday. All three were fined and severely reprimanded. Authorities are on the watch for further offenses. —News Item.—

The beauty of Wisconsin's campus is excelled only by that of Cornell,—so 'tis said!—and we doubt even Cornell. The hills, the lake, the woods, but above all, the flowering shrubs and plants, both wild and domestic, make for its beauty. Since the attractiveness of the campus especially in the spring depends upon its budding shrubs and plants, regulations are and must be enforced to protect them from the thoughtless and the selfish.

To pick a flower or to break a branch means literally to destroy it and leave a bare unlovely spot on the campus. Such an act is deserving of severe censure. The little pleasure derived from it does not compensate for the destruction wrought. It is neither good fellowship nor good sportsmanship to thus destroy common property.

The campus is and should be the pride of every student. Only the very thoughtless will undertake to mar it for selfish reasons. To maintain its present beauty, there must be whole-hearted co-operation between students and authorities. And that co-operation consists of enjoying the flowers where they are.

THE STAND OF THE COLLEGE PRESS

(Christian Science Monitor)

An encouraging sign of the times is the apparent determination of those who direct the policies of journals published in the colleges of the United States to maintain the highest possible standard in their news and editorial pages. It is a convincing denial of the claim that the demand of educated people, even those of the younger generation is for sensationalism and scandal.

The readers of the yellow journals, so called, are not, generally speaking, those who give serious thought to the solution of everyday problems. In the homes, and in the schools and colleges, the encouragement and promise which can be found in these newspapers and magazines which do not appeal to prejudice or seek to create and then to satisfy an inordinate desire for the forbidden and the undesirable.

in the opinion of other people besides the well-known "mercenary manager"—has not served to change the author's methods of signing his works.

These plays are original bits of spice put onto the stage. Of the Henry Arthur Jones type, they seem meant primarily to amuse; secondarily, to put old ideas into new molds. They succeed admirably in both attempts.

All of them are written in an entertaining style; all of them possess a finished technique. Probably none of them, however, will be produced a century—or let us say two centuries, for prophecies are risky, from now. They are not made of the stuff which will stand the test of time, for they are written for the present generations. Yet while they last they will provide a vast amount of pleasure to their audiences and readers.

For its theme, "The Truth About Blayds" has a reputation of the Shakespeare-Bacon controversy. As the world is still in doubt as to the authorship of the Elizabethan plays, so will the reader remain in doubt as to the authorship of the nineteenth century poems originally attributed to the great Blayds. But as Milne puts it, what does it all matter, "the poetry is still there."

"The Dover Road" is the tale of a "sort of a hotel" run by a millionaire who, in endeavoring to prevent unsuccessful second marriages from occurring, runs his establishment where, with great tact he forces the young run-away couples to make a "trial marriage" before they actually take the final leap. He nips many a possibly foolish marriage in the bud and thus saves many a life from being wrecked.

The lesson, if it can be called by such a stern name, of the "The Great Broxopp," is that an ambitious artist, after he has completed a successful struggle and, incidentally, amassed a fortune, cannot be happy by simply living on his coupons. The Great Broxopp is not a financier; he is an artist, and as such must remain active. His discerning wife realizes this fact, and, accordingly, leads him to unwittingly lose his fortune in order that he may once more have work to do and, by his work may again find happiness.

In the collection each play is as good as another; each is amusing in its individual way.

"The Truth About Blayds", "The Dover Road", "The Great Broxopp", by A. A. Milne; G. P. Putnam's Sons.

To those people of the provinces who follow with a critical and attentive eye the productions of Broadway's theatres and yet are unable for various reasons to witness the productions, Putnam's offer a volume of plays which have drawn much attention in theatre circles during the past year.

These three pieces are by A. A. Milne. His is a modest signature, indeed, but it is in keeping with his unobtrusive Scotch character. Even the fact that he has written many successful plays—successful collegiate Press club of Indiana the delegates not only indorsed the policy of the college newspapers in their stand for clean journalism, but demanded that the "larger and more important press," if it desired the support of the schools and colleges, adhere to the same high standard.

It was pointed out that educators are coming more and more to depend upon newspapers for use in the classrooms, and that the papers available were those which adhered strictly to clean and constructive policies. It was observed that "newspapers need to get away from the printing of criminal and other demoralizing news items if they expect to take their proper place in the educational field."

The students in Indiana schools and colleges are not the first, by any means, who have declared their determination to support a clean and progressive press. Eastern and other colleges throughout the country have taken their place in the line.

The movement is symptomatic, because it indicates that awakening noticeable in the homes everywhere, as well as in those public institutions where it is the desire to inculcate the habit as well as to teach the processes of right thinking, to the necessity of discouraging the reading and contemplation of destructive and suggestive matter.

Long ago it was realized that it was the height of folly to sow the seeds of weeds and tares in a field where it is desired to produce wheat or corn.

NAT. COUNCIL TO GIVE $100,000 FOR GRAD FUND

The National Research council has announced that a fund of $100,000 a year is now available for medical fellowships. The fellowships are open to citizens of both sexes residing in the United States and Canada. Applicants for the fellowships must have either an M. D. or Ph. D. degree or equivalent qualifications.

The funds for the fellowships are supplied by a joint contribution from the general education board and the Rockefeller foundation. Each fellowship carries with it a minimum stipend of $1,800 for unmarried fellows and $2,300 for married fellows.

The actual stipend will depend upon the past record of the applicant in scientific work, and various personal considerations.

The fellowships are designed to recruit men and women as medical teachers and investigators. Fellows may choose any branch of medicine or public health for their ultimate career.

Fellows are chosen at semi-annual meetings of the Medical Fellowship board in April and September.

Eleven oranges, symbolizing the fruits of victory, were awarded to 11 women, and one orange was awarded with the help of a flipped coin to one of the two men in the section, as the reward for the best laboratory section in newspaper editing by Prof. E. Marion Johnson Monday.

The oranges were announced as the goal at the beginning of this semester for the contest which was determined by the composite scores given by class vote and from the two instructors in the course on the newspaper problem which was worked out in the lab.

Being an 8 o'clock class and a Monday morning the oranges were a practical form of reward.

CLASS OF 1400 TO LEAVE OHIO

All Parts of Globe to Be Represented at Commencement Exercises

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 29—Twenty two states and nine foreign nations are represented in Ohio State university's 1923 graduating class of approximately 1400 which will receive their degrees on June 12. As usual the majority of the seniors are from Ohio but adjacent states lay claim to many of them.

Of the prospective graduates, 21 are candidates for the degree of doctor of philosophy, the largest number ever receiving this degree in one year.

The 1922 class held the previous record for doctors of philosophy when the degree was conferred upon 13 candidates.

Foreigners Receive Degrees

University officials cite the fact as significant that 16 of the 21 candidates this year had their previous work in other colleges and universities.

In all the university's previous history only 73 graduate students have received the degree of doctor of philosophy here.

Up to 1914 only 15 such degrees had been conferred by the university. Two of this year's candidates are from foreign lands, one being from South Africa and the other from China.

Graduate students numbering 109 are prospective candidates for master's degrees at the impending commencement, which also constitutes a slight increase over last year when 106 such degrees were conferred. The 1922 class also held the previous record in this respect.

The states represented in this year's outgoing class are Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, South Carolina, West Virginia, Florida, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, and California.

The foreign lands represented include the Orange Free State, China, Japan, India, Peru, France, Argentine, British Columbia and Korea.

Mummy Of Indian Chief Found Sealed In Earthen Jar

BUENOS AIRES — A perfectly preserved mummy, believed to be that of an Indian chief, has been unearthed from a hill in the province of Salta, Argentina, near the Chilean border. It was brought to Buenos Aires on Monday together with a large number of implements and artistic carvings and art objects of stone, copper, earthenware and onyx which were buried with it.

The discoverer, Senor Leonardi, of this city, said he found the mummy sealed in a large earthen jar after he had carried out excavating work to a depth of six feet.

The teeth, nails and most of the hair of the ancient chieftain are in a perfect state of preservation, as are the vital organs indicating a method of embalming that may be superior even to the Egyptians.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Re-establishment of David's Kingdom of Israel by the Baptists as a necessary preliminary toward the second coming of Christ was proposed at the Northern Baptist convention today by Emery Davis of Kane, Pa., who advocated a Baptist exodus to Palestine.

Bryan Flays Forty Leaders Who Support Religion And Science

WASHINGTON—The joint declaration issued here Saturday by 40 prominent Americans, holding there is no antagonism between science and religion, was assailed by William J. Bryan in a statement today in the Evening Star, written by Mr. Bryan during a visit to Washington.

Those who signed the declaration including Secretaries Hoover and Davis, three bishops and other leaders in the political, religious business and scientific world were said by Mr. Bryan to have "put up a straw man and then assailed it with big words."

"There is no antagonism between religion and real science," continued Mr. Bryan's statement. "Science is classified knowledge; therefore nothing is scientific unless true. No truth can hurt the bible. No truth can harm christianity. Our objection is to unsupported guesses put forth by scientists in the name of science. The guess to which we most object is that man is a descendant of the brutes."

Sen. Cummings Gives O. K. To Court Plan

DES MOINES, Ia.—Unqualified approval of the world court under the conditions laid down by Pres. Harding was voiced today by Sen. A. S. Cummings in an address before the Conopus club. Committee Approves Million Fund To Rid Dairy Herds Of T. B.

Approval of the joint finance committee has been given the Schumann bill providing for $1,000,000 to take care of tuberculosis eradication work in Wisconsin. This fund would be used to clean up Wisconsin dairy herds as part of a five-year program to completely eradicate the disease in the state.

At present the state spends $330,000 annually on area test and other plans of clearing up tuberculosis among cattle. It is proposed by Senator Schumann, acting for farm organizations, to increase this expenditure to $1,000,000 annually.

Members of the legislature consider it doubtful whether the governor would approve this bill unless some means of providing the additional revenue is devised. At present the measure contemplates no additional tax.

State Beekeepers Meet Madison August 13-17

The annual state beekeepers field meet and conference will be held at the Wisconsin college of agriculture August 13 to August 17.

A feature of the meeting will be the dedication of the C. C. Miller Memorial library. This is in memory of Dr. Miller of Marengo, Illinois. The agricultural library of the University of Wisconsin was deemed by his friends as the best place for an outstanding collection of bee literature. The library is expected to be the most complete collection on the subject of agriculture in America.

The program early in the week will take up problems confronting the Badger beemen. On Friday the program will be a testimonial to Dr. Miller. On Saturday a pilgrimage to Marengo, Illinois. Dr. Miller's home, will be made by the bee keepers.

Even Pop Seller Must Get Drink Licenses

If pop sold by soft drink parlors contains any degree of alcohol less than one-half of one per cent, the proprietor of that place must obtain a license to sell non-intoxicating beverages under the Severson prohibition enforcement law, J. E. Messerschmidt held in an opinion today to R. H. ischer, district attorney at Shawano county. He held that the Severson law requires that any person selling drinks that contain alcohol in any degree less than one-half of one per cent must have a license. It is a question of fact, the attorney general ruled, whether pop or other soft drinks do contain alcohol.

Announcement has been given out to the effect that Prof. Barry S. of the French department has resigned his position at the university.

Laughs Make Orph Satire Play Great

By E. A.

"Why Men Leave Home", a title which is quite like the old-time sensation relating to the fairer sex is well answered at the Orpheum this week.

This latest play of the Dorothy La Vern stock company, written by Avery Hopwood, of "The Bat" and "Fair and Warmer" fame, is concerned with a reflection upon the "great American wife" who travels around the globe during the summer, spends her time and her hubby's money with other men, and then expects the husband to remain devoted and yet lonesome.

As a laugh inspirer, the latest play of the company is a sure-fire. The audience was swept constantly in hearty laughter during 60 per cent of the two and one half hours time of interest.

Fifi is the typical wife, according to Hopwood who no doubt as far as we know, exaggerated her failings, et cetera, to fit the dramatic possibilities. In this part, Dorothy Le Vern, recovered with glory much of the success which she lost in "East is West". Miss La Vern sure outdid Peggy Joyce as a vamp. Melvyn Hesselberg, as the "tired b. m." furnished plenty of amusement and yet serious reflection on the aspects of marriage and the home.

"Why Men Leave Home" has an odd combination of clean comedy, in a steady continuous sequence, and yet plenty of food for thought for any sociologist, legal jurist, or preacher in the pulpit.

Hopwood, noted for his comedy and dramatic writings, has produced an excellent play.

As one of America's best playwrights, he promises much to give to the American stage humor and thought as the local stock company is evidently giving to Madison theater patrons well-acted and leading plays of the season, judging from the large audience that greeted the company last night.

As for the question, "Why Men Leave Home," we forgot to mention that. But still it's a long answer, and the play can tell it better in two and one-half hours of laughs and thrills more than a mere review.

FRANK J. RENNER MAKES PHONOGRAPH RADIO SET

A combination phonograph and radio receiving set, made by Frank J. Renner '24, is one of the interesting pieces of work done by an industrial art student this year.

By pushing a button the soundbox of the phonograph becomes the speaking box of the radio set which is cleverly concealed at each side of the sounding box. When closed, the instrument has the exact appearance of a cabinet phonograph.

Because of its novelty and usefulness to radio fans, Renner has applied for a patent on this new musical instrument.
