FORWARD MOVE OF DRAMA IN CHINA TRACED

Chia Lin Chen, Educator,
Shows Development of Chinese Stage

"Charlie Chaplin is very popular in China," said Dr. Chia Lin Chen, Chinese educator, who spoke on Chinese drama in 186 Bascom hall yesterday afternoon. "Moving pictures is almost the only type of drama that we have not developed in China, and films from America are greatly enjoyed."

Singing has always been the main feature and attraction of Chinese drama, Dr. Chen continued. In the traveling troops of players, instructors are employed to teach vocal music. Since the players must enlist in the troups for a period of five or more years, their singing becomes quite proficient.

The earliest acting known took place in 400 B. C., when a peasant used his imitative talent to deceive the emperor. He succeeded in getting a large sum of money through this deception.

Farces Formerly Popular

"Burlesque and farces were very popular from the ninth to the thirteenth century," said Dr. Chen. There was a great deal of punning and satirizations of contemporary persons."

Puppet and shadow-plays were widely used in 800 A. D. as a means of acting out historical drama. The

TENNIS TEAM PLAYS AT EVANSTON TODAY

Will Journey to Michigan For Matches on Monday
With Wolverines

The Wisconsin tennis team meets Northwestern in the first Big Ten tennis meet of the season this afternoon at Evanston. On Monday the Badger quartet plays the University of Michigan team in the second match of a three-day trip.

Coach G. E. Linden has selected the following men to represent Wisconsin against Northwestern and Michigan: Roy C. Gotfredson '22, William J. Pickard '21, Nicholas S. Aagesen '23, and Thomas A. Treadwell '23. All of the men are in good condition after a week of practice and will be prepared to give Northwestern a hard match. Four singles matches and two doubles contests will be played.

The Purple were badly beaten by Illinois in their first match of the season. Michigan has not played any Conference matches this season, and Wisconsin will be its first opponent. The Wolverines possess in Westbrook one of the best players in the Middle West. Westbrook has also earned a place on the Michigan track team, however, and it is uncertain whether he will compete in the match with the Badger tennis team.

"IT'S AMAZING"

Many Pages Devoted to Wisconsin Women in 1922 Badger

"The amount of space in the Badger taken up by the Woman's section is positively —" the editor paused.

"Scandalous!" sweetly inquired the reporteress who was getting the inside dope so she could tell the world all about it—or that is, not quite all but just enough so they would be sorry if they didn't hurry and order a Badger before it was too late.

"It's amazing", said the ever-gallant editor.

Five-one years ago women were admitted to the university for the first time. The pages in the Woman's section of this year's Badger represent the growth of the place women occupy in the university and reflect the scope of those distinctly feminine activities which are treated elsewhere.

The idea of the interrelation of the university and state is carried out in the foreword of the Woman's section in which description is given of the place women now hold in the activities of the school, and the corresponding relationship to the variety of occupation in which they engage after graduation. No longer is women's only career that of teaching or marriage.

Athletics, class organization, Y. W. C. A., and all the other various pursuits in which Wisconsin women engage are fully illustrated and explained. Seven beautiful pages of lovely groups of Miss H'Doubler's dancing classes form a fitting close to this section of the Badger.

DEADLINE SET FOR VENETIAN ENTRIES

Applications for Floats in Annual Water Carnival

Canoes, row boats, floats, power boats,—anything that will float and is decorated is acceptable. Those who do not have boats of their own and wish to enter a float in the parade may secure boats suited for decoration from "Cap" Isabel, by arrangement with "Gus" Tuckerman '23, 621 N. Lake, and "Cap" Silver loving cups will be given for the best and most novelly decorated canoe, float, power boat, and pier. Competition is open to all.

BACK NUMBERS OF OCTOPUS WANTED

A call for numbers of last year's Octopus has been sent out by the editor, who is making a file for the office.

"Anyone who has any copies left would help us by bringing them in this afternoon after 3:30 to the Octopus office in Union building," said the editor. "But the copies must be in good condition, or we cannot buy them."

The Badger baseball nine will meet its crucial test of the 1921 season when Illinois and Wisconsin engage in their first game of the year at Camp Randall this afternoon. The game will be called at 1:30 by Umpire Driscoll, and if predictions of members of the athletic department hold true, a record breaking crowd for a Wisconsin baseball game will be on hand. The Minnesota-Wisconsin dual track meet will not start until after the baseball game.

Big Ten Watches Outcome

Arnold Oss, Gopher football and basketball star, is entered in the quarter and half-mile runs. Paul D. Kayser '21 will be pitted against Oss in the 440 run, and Capt. Clyde Nash '21 will furnish the strongest opposition to the speedy Gopher in the half. Nash and Oss have both run the half mile in 1 minute 58 seconds.

Sweitzer is slated to travel the longer distances for Minnesota. He defeated Mark H. Wall '22 by a narrow margin in the Big Ten indoor track meet at Evanston, but Wall evened up the advantage by winning over Sweitzer in a dual contest. Minnesota is weak in the field events, and Guy M. Sundt '22

HEUER IS ELECTED TO SIGMA DELTA PSI

Wilbur J. Heuer, sophomore in the Course of Commerce, was the only one of forty candidates to pass the final tests for membership in Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary athletic fraternity, at Camp Randall yesterday afternoon.

Heuer met requirements in the two mile run, the hundred yard dash and the low hurdles events. He had passed the seven other requirements for membership in the athletic society during the tryouts last fall and this spring.

Although Heuer is the only Wisconsin athlete to pass the requirements this spring, several other candidates for membership are still in the running. John Koch '21, captain of the 1920-21 swimming team, has finished practically all of the ten tests. Tests for the remaining candidates who have a chance to meet requirements will be continued at Camp Randall on Monday afternoon.

LIT ELECTS TWO TO 1922 STAFF

Mavis McIntosh and Margaret Emmerling to Serve on Next Year's Board

The staff of the Wisconsin Literary magazine has elected Margaret Emmerling '23, and Mavis McIntosh '24 members to hold office through the coming year.

Miss Emmerling has contributed several sketches during the year to the Literary magazine. She is a sophomore in the Letters and Science course. Her home is in Milwaukee.

Miss McIntosh has had one or more poems in nearly every number of the Literary magazine this year. She is a freshman in the course of journalism, and lives in Milwaukee. The next number of the Literary magazine, which will be out soon, will be the last issue of the year. Two of the special features for this month will be a story named "The Call", by Paul Ganglin '23, and a play, "A Morality without a Moral," by Horace Gregory '23.

Gilman, of the commerce department in speaking of Mr. Finley.

EXTEND TIME LIMIT FOR '21 INVITATIONS

The time limit for making senior invitation reservations has been indefinitely extended, it was announced at the Kamera Kraft shop yesterday.

Due to the fact that the 5,000 invitations contracted for have not as yet been disposed of, the Kamera Kraft Shop will accept reservations until all have been sold. Should any invitations remain unreserved at the time of delivery, those seniors who have made their reservations will be given preference in securing additional copies.

The invitation this year will contain the complete program for commencement, the various committees and speakers, and the names of all seniors by colleges and their degrees. Copy for the insert is now in the hands of the publisher, and proof is expected within a week's time. The finished program will not be ready before June 5.

MUST JUSTIFY POPULAR RULE

America's Task Lies This Way Declares Mrs. Rosenberry

"Free government has not yet justified itself," emphasized Mrs. M. E. Rosenberry in a speech on "Good Citizenship" before the members of the American Legion Thursday night at Agricultural hall.

"America has still that task before it," she explained. "It behooves all to be pretty thoughtful, for these are testing days. What are our ideals and purposes? We must take time to sit down and think—to meditate a while if we intend to get anywhere."

To show how that custom was characteristic of all men who really accomplished big things. She spoke of Napoleon and told of the hours Washington and Lincoln spent in planning. She questioned as to whether everyone was acquainted with the high ideals and purposes which American citizens should have for the development of their country, and held that ex-president Wilson had made an invaluable contribution to the United States in four priceless documents interpreting to the people their true ideals.

Bond of Union Needed

"Cleavage between city and country dwellers is constantly becoming more pronounced; the need of a bond of union between this country and others is growing greater and greater. When all the world is looking to us in this great experiment, we can't afford haphazard action.

"Where shall we look for leadership except to college men and women? Our living and intellectual conditions decide our morale. The great laboratory of political science is right here in our own state.

"We are a nation of sixth graders. The first worth while constructive thing to do is to better education, and the second—that of better homes—goes hand in hand. Give the children the right kind of homes and they will themselves become good citizens. Don't shift the work upon playground associations and welfare organizations entirely. The home is the ideal place for youth.

Leaders are Needed

"See that the right sort of people are placed in command is my third plea. Women must help in the work of the government and in holding up the standards of the community. One of the greatest difficulties is the absolute supineness of those who hold office. Let the Legion stand for eternal vigilance, honesty, and truth. Know America and its history; keep the faith; and later generations will point to you as the leaven in the fine things for which you so splendidly stood in a crucial moment."

In the business meeting of the American Legion members, Prof. G. S. Bryon gave a summary of the plans for the University Memorial services which are an annual event. It was decided to have a formal presentation of the Legion Post colors given to them some time ago by the women of the G. A. R.

The committee for Memorial day consists of Professor Bryon, George Chandler, Elmer Burns, George Finkle, and Edwin Hammie.

"Pep" session led by Elmer Hintz was followed by a musical program with Miss Helen Sherman in charge. Twenty-five members of the Girls Glee club under the direction of Miss Madelaine Willman entertained with singing, and Miss Reba Hayden whistled. Mess call later invited the guests to refreshments and a social "get-together."

first traveling companies consisted of pageant players.

How acting was cleverly used to defeat the enforcement of a law which reduced the salaries of certain government officials was told by the speaker. The officials came into the presence of the emperor one day wearing apparel, each part of which had been cut in half. When questioned, they replied, "Reduced to half!" The emperor was convinced that it was easier to make laws than to enforce them, and he had the order revoked.

Women Now Participate

"Before the revolution in China, there were very few actresses," declared Dr. Chen. "Now, however, we have women's dramatic clubs. Formerly actresses were not permitted to act on the same stage that actors used. This is still true in Peking, where there are different stages for men and women."

Dr. Chen concluded his lecture by reading one of the most famous Chinese dramas, "Child-sacrifice."

BASEBALL AND TRACK

TODAY at Camp Randall, Badger athletes meet the representatives of two Big Ten universities in two major sports. On the diamond, our men face the Illinois nine. On the track, our men will meet the Minnesota team.

The game with Illinois will be one of the hardest that our team will have this year. With the possible exception of Michigan, there is no other nine in the Conference that will furnish as stubborn opposition as Illinois. After having met some of the strongest teams in this part of the country, Illinois still stands undefeated.

Wisconsin plans to give the Illinois baseball team its first defeat of the season. Our team is well qualified for the task. Among the Big Ten teams that have already gone down to defeat before the Wisconsin nine are Chicago, Indiana, Northwestern, and Purdue. If the student body gives the team whole-hearted support this afternoon, we may expect to see the name of Illinois added to the foregoing list.

On the track, Minnesota will furnish strong opposition. The various meets already held attest Minnesota's strength. However, if a large portion of the student body will be at Camp Randall to cheer our men on, there is no reason why Wisconsin should not gain the honors. With a champion pole vaulter and a champion hurdler, with a generally well-balanced team, and with student support, there is no reason why Wisconsin should not win the track meet.

The athletic department has given a special price of admission for these two contests. How many students will be out to help defeat Illinois and Minnesota?

CAFETERIA PRICES

EARLY in the year, an editorial appeared in this column calling attention to the fact that the prices in cafeterias and restaurants had not dropped correspondingly with the general fall in the price of foodstuffs. Similar editorials have appeared periodically throughout the year. At various times, it has been suggested that the university conduct a cafeteria which would sell food to the students at cost. Yet nothing has been done.

Despite the fact that the price of foodstuffs has generally lowered, the cafeteria owners have seen fit to effect little or no reduction of prices. For example, the cafeterias are now able to buy eggs at approximately twenty-five cents per dozen. Yet these same cafeterias, with their unreduced prices, receive between a dollar and a dollar and a quarter per dozen. Figuring the cafeteria expenses exceedingly high, the profit must still be at least a hundred per cent. Other foods furnish similar examples. The cafeteria owners have kept their eyes on war time prices, and the students have paid the bill.

Again, the university has taken no action to provide a cafeteria that would serve food to the students at cost.

People marvel at the vast amount of money expended by the students for university education; yet nothing is done to diminish the cost of the students' food—the largest single item in the students' budget.

How long will the students be forced to pay war-time prices while the cafeteria owners pay peace-time prices and smilingly pocket the difference?

BIOLOGY PROFESSOR
ABROAD FOR YEAR

A "traveling fellowship", offered by the American Field Service association, is the unique opportunity which will take O. L. Raber, instructor in botany, to France in August. Dr. Raber will leave immediately after the summer session and resign from his position in the university. He expects to be gone at least a year.

The American Field Service association was formed with the purpose of cementing friendships begun during the war between the American and French, and to this purpose each year are given twenty scholarships to commemorate the men in the field service of the war. These are for one year and may be renewed.

"I will probably go to Montpellier, Fontainebleau, and to the Sorbonne at Paris," said Mr. Raber. "I shall study plant physiology. Until school begins, which is in November in France, I shall be living with a French family in the provinces, learning the language. I am looking forward to the year as somewhat of a holiday, particularly as I shall not be working for a degree. I have never been abroad, and I have almost decided to go around the world before I return. The summers I will spend in traveling through Europe."

Dr. Raber took his bachelor's degree at the university of Indiana, and his master's and doctor's degrees at Harvard.

OHIO ADOPTS NEW PLAN

Trustees of Ohio State have adopted a 12-month school year plan. The school year will be divided into four quarters, and the ordinary four year course can be completed in three years of continual attendance. Students can enter the university at the beginning of any quarter, which are separated from each other by a week's vacation.

GIRLS QUALIFY FOR LIFE-SAVING CORPSTwenty Pass Tests in Official
Red Cross Examination

Twenty university women have successfully passed the official Red Cross examination for life-saving and are now qualified to act in the capacity of official life-savers. "In all my experiences with women swimmers I have never seen a crowd of girls wherein each was such an excellent swimmer," said Dr. William H. Halsey, the examiner from the life-saving headquarters at Milwaukee.

The girls have organized themselves into a life-savings corps and application for a charter from Washington is being made which will make them a regular branch of the first aid department of the Red Cross. The corps was organized under the auspices of the Dolphin club for the purpose of promoting interest in swimming and life-saving. The life-saving corps will hold joint meetings with Dolphin club. The officers of the new organization are: Olga Anderson, chairman; Marcia Hinkens, instructor in life-saving; Inez Levenson, secretary and treasurer; Mary A. Brownell, faculty advisor.

Seven of the girls who passed the test were made qualified examiners and future applicants for the life-saving corps can pass the tests before any three of the examiners. The tests given by the examiners include breaking of four strangle holds on land or in water, four standard carries, diving from the surface for weights, Schaefer method of resuscitation, and an oral quiz on methods. The seven girls who qualified as examiners are: Mary A. Brownell, Helen Smith, Marcia Hinkens, Inez Levenson, Olga Anderson, Mabel Winter, and Julie Watson.

The membership of the corps is as follows: Olga Anderson, Marjorie Boesch, Mary A. Brownell, Margaret Butler, Katherine Ely, Gladys Hadley, Elizabeth Kirk, Esther Sargent, Dorothy Schager, Helen Smith, Lillian Stupp, Marie Walter, Elizabeth Waterman, Julie Watson, Victoria Werner, Dorothy Westendarp, Mabel Winter, Marcia Hinkens, and Inez Levenson.

fold, since there is one more game scheduled with Illinois.

Coach Carl Lundgren will start the same men against the Cardinal as have been in the Illini lineup the past few games. Lundgren is confident that his team will dispose of the Badgers as they have done with all other rivals. Although his men did not win from Chicago in their recent game by as great a margin as Wisconsin did last week, he believes the Illinois team to be stronger all-around than Lowman's aggregation. "Lefty" Barnes will start the game for the visitors. He did not work against the Maroons, but was kept on the bench. In his last game against Ohio State, Barnes was routed in the third inning, but that was the first time he has not completed and won any game which he started. Jackson and McCann will be held in reserve by the visitors.

Paddock in Box

Paddock will undoubtedly oppose the conference leaders, unless he fails to show his usual form when warming up this afternoon. Lowman will keep "Bill" Williams and Christianson in reserve in case that Paddock gets away to a bad start. Davey will do all the receiving. The same men who opened the game against Purdue last week will take the field against the Illini this afternoon.

SHAEFER ADDRESSES
ADVERTISING CLUB

G. R. Shaefer, advertising manager of Marshall Field's department store, Chicago, will give an illustrated lecture Thursday, May 19, at 4:30 in the P. E. P. building on the work he is doing in retail advertising.

Mr. Shaefer is coming here under the auspices of the Advertising club, but the lecture is open to all university students.

FIRST OF CONCERTS

The first of the open-air concerts, given last night by the university band on the university campus, was well attended. The next of the series will be given next Thursday evening.

The program was as follows:

FORMER BADGER TRACK COACH IS LIKED AT IOWA

George Bresnahan Praised in Editorial in Daily Iowan

George Bresnahan, formerly assistant in track work and cross country coach at Wisconsin, and now head track coach at Iowa, received the following tribute in The Daily Iowan, under the editorial heading "Looking Pretty Good."

"Perhaps it is a little too soon to start handing Coach Bresnahan any of the well known bouquets that go with success but the showing of the Varsity track team in the meet with Northwestern university on Saturday indicates that his men possess some pretty good stuff."

Bresnahan started his career here a few months ago under rather discouraging conditions. Several of the men who were looked upon to carry a share of the track team's burden this spring were declared ineligible just about the time the indoor practice was commenced. That put the new coach in a hole right at the start. He was forced to find material to plug the gaps and just how well he has succeeded was shown on Saturday.

That Coach Bresnahan has his men in good condition is indicated by the breaking of three university records. Such results come to a large extent through the manner of coaching the men are given. Campus gossip has it that Bresnahan "knows his stuff" and that he will continue to show his worth the longer he remains here.

Bresnahan has youth and with that comes the enthusiasm always necessary for success. Besides, he has a thorough technical knowledge of the sport. Those are pretty good qualifications, it seems. He has made a strong start in the few months he has been here. Let's hope, to use a trite phrase, that the future will be rosy for him.

AT THE ORPHEUM

Bothwell Browne and his Bathing Beauties in a revue of 1921, together with four other entertaining Orpheum circuit acts are holding forth at the popular Monona avenue vaudeville theater for the last half of this week, including the three performances today and tomorrow. The matinees today and tomorrow start at 3 o'clock, with the two performances nightly at 7:15 and 9 o'clock.

You can date back

your clothing dollar

to 1915 and cash it at

The "CRESCENT"

The Swiss people were the first to date their coinage—400 years ago.

Ever since then the problem has been how to date the dollar up with the biggest dollar's worth.

For example; you couldn't expect a 1921 dollar to take a 1920 price ticket out and show it a good time. You have got to introduce it into a store where the new prices prevail if you hope to accomplish a good current value.

At this store you can buy good clothes at 1915 prices—that statement is closed to argument—but open to investigation.

Are you willing to be led to water?

Remember we can't make you drink—unless you want to.
