ALUMNI SPIRIT UNRIVALLED IN RECENT DRIVE

Large Amounts Pledged For Union Memorial in Many Cities Visited By Goodnight

Dean Scott H. Goodnight, who returned Sunday from his campaign trip for the Memorial Union, has met with unrivaled Wisconsin spirit and enthusiasm for the drive among the alumni in every city which he visited.

In spite of bad business conditions, campaigns have been launched with every expectation of success in Sioux City, Iowa; Duluth and Superior, Minnesota; Hibbing, in the Iron Range; Superior and Ashland. A campaign in March was planned in conferences in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

All Pledge Assistance
The Sioux City drive began with a banquet given Feb. 4 by Mrs. Henry J. Taylor '85, at which 40 Wisconsin alumni pledged a quota of $2,250, of which $1,700 had previously been raised. At Duluth, more than 90 alumni at a banquet held Feb. 7 in the Chamber of Commerce, pledged a quota of $8,000. The Memorial Union moving pictures were shown, and the general opinion was that the quota would without doubt be raised. The meeting was addressed by the drive chairman, Lewis Castle '18, president of the Northern National Bank of Duluth, and by James G. Nye 14, and O. S. Andeson, 1900, a Duluth attorney.

Drive Successful
At Hibbing Minn., which has 75 alumni, $2,000 was pledged. A. S. Diehl, chief engineer of the Oliver Mining company, is chairman. At Ashland, Feb. 10, a banquet at the Elmhurst hotel was arranged for by Linas Roehm '21. Carl A. Rudquist of the Ashland National Bank, is chairman. Senator G. F. Merrill, former regent, presided. At a second meeting on Saturday, $2,000 was promised.

Superior Helps
The workers at Superior, in a meeting last Thursday at the Chamber of Commerce, pledged $8,000. The chairwoman is Olaf Johnson, who has a son at the university, and the treasurer is Thorne Langley '19. Other supporters are Regent Peter Eiman, Judge Solon Perrin, J. P. O'Connor of the Extension division, and Clough Gates '02. The committee has also been assured of the support and co-operation of J. T. Murphy, editor of the Superior Telegram.

Engelhardt Elected Head of Ad Club

William Engelhardt was elected president of the Advertising club Tuesday noon. The following officers were elected for this semester:

Philip Lawson '22, vice-president; Horace Martin '22, secretary; Sherman Green '22, treasurer. Directors: Senior member, Willard Rendal; Junior member, Loran S. Clark.

A resume of the activities of the club was presented by the newly elected president, along with the plans of future activities.

Shoultz Appointed Homecoming Head For 1923 By Board

Worth E. Shoultz, editor-in-chief of the Athletic Review, was appointed general chairman of the 1923 Homecoming at a meeting of the Athletic board yesterday.

Illinois will meet Wisconsin in the football game which is the big event of Homecoming festivities.

Hubert Perrin was appointed by the board to manage the Interscholastic basketball tournament which will be held at Madison in March. Perrin will be in charge of committees taking charge of high school teams which enter the tournament.

A minor sport "W" was awarded to John Pugh, Wisconsin gymnast in 1902 and 1903, in recognition of the stellar work he did as a member of the Badger tumbling squad.

SCOTT SPEAKS AT 4:30 TODAY

Error Made in Tuesday's Cardinal; Convocation at Music Hall

Prof. Alfred P. Haake, of the economics department, asserts that, contrary to yesterday's statement in The Daily Cardinal President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern will address an all-university convocation in the gymnasium this afternoon at 4:30, instead of Friday. President Scott will speak in Music hall an hour earlier than was announced; 3:30.

Professor Haake is especially anxious that this change be understood by those who are expecting to hear President Scott. "Another correction," Professor Haake said, "is that the informal conference to discuss the question 'The Use of Psycho-Analysis in Employment and Labor Management' will be held at 8:00 o'clock this evening in the Lathrop parlors instead of in room 122 of the Historical library.

The discussion will be open to members of S. G. A., the faculty and certain students. To accommodate the larger group than was expected at first, it has been decided to make use of the Lathrop parlors on this occasion. But the thing I want most is to have the students realize that the convocation is to be held at 3:30 this afternoon instead of at 4:30, and in Music hall instead of in the gymnasium."

After the convocation this afternoon, President Scott will be entertained at the University club at dinner by members of the economics department.

S. G. A. Adopts New By-Laws Last Night

At the S. G. A. mass meeting last night, in Lathrop hall, a new set of by-laws was adopted to take the place of the old constitution. Under the new regulations members of Keystone will take place of the former council.

Nominations made at the mass-meeting will not be announced until the end of February, when all three organizations, Y. W. C. A., S. G. A. and W. A. A. will have made their nominations for the joint elections to be held in March.

RADIO SERVICE SUCCESSFUL IN NEWS EXCHANGE

Wisconsin Station Made Center of Big Ten Radio Exchange

Recent reports from the university radio station give indication of the success of the Western Conference Radio News service, a wireless exchange between the colleges of the Big Ten formed last May.

The new government commercial license granted last month to the Department of Physics station permits the use of a new wave length, which is especially beneficial to the work connected with the W. C. R. N. S.

Because of the fact that the Wisconsin station is the most powerful in the conference, it has been chosen central station, and all news sent over the service is received and broadcasted by the local chief operator, M. P. Hanson.

Such broadcasts from Madison have been heard as far west as which have been received by the physics department. The tests Monday night were among the most successful so far conducted, and the items received follow:

GEOLOGIST DISPLACES HOBBS
ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Prof. H. A. Brouwer, of the University of Delft, Holland, is now occupying the chair of Professor Hobbs of the geology department, who is at present teaching in Holland under the exchange system of universities. Professor Brouwer is a noted scientist as well as lecturer, and immediately after his arrival in the United States delivered addresses before the Academy of Sciences at Washington.

FATHER'S DAY AT IOWA CITY
IOWA CITY—"Dads' day" at the University of Iowa has been set for February 24. "Dads' day" is a day set apart for all the fathers of university students to visit the university, and programs and dinners are given in their honor.

After one week's work, $20,000 of the $100,000 bond for improvements on the athletic field, has been subscribed.

Pyre Will Read at Music Hall Tonight

Walton Pyre, dramatic revelator who will read Francesca Da Rimini tonight at Music hall, arrived in Madison last night. This is Mr. Pyre's second visit to Madison since his graduation in 1899. Upon his last visit here he was proclaimed by critics the greatest and most highly developed artist of the platform.

Francesca Da Rimini is the most successful play that has been written by the American author, George H. Boker, the scenes of most of whose plays are laid in foreign countries as he served as ambassador to both Turkey and Russia.

Mr. Pyre was formerly associated with the School of Expression in Milwaukee, but now devotes his entire time to entertainment. He has recently been appearing before several university and college audiences with much success.

The Heidelberg University daily said, "The work of Mr. Pyre is ideal. He has the love and reverence for poetry as well as the temperament of the interpretative artist."

REPORT ON 181 BY SENATE TO FACE REGENTS

Place Blame on Lack of Facilities; Want New Course; Include Testimony of 125

That the accounting department gave out an excessive number of conditions and fails in course 181 during the last semester; that it has employed a militaristic attitude in the course by locking the laboratory doors, and by a 10 per cent reduction on late accounting books; that students have been treated discourteously; and that quiz papers have not been returned to the students, is the consensus of the report of the Senate executive committee at a special open meeting of the Student Senate in room 1 of the Law building, last night.

Partiality Charge Groundless

organizations show partiality to members of their fraternity or organization were found groundless.

Testimony of 125 Students

The report of the executive committee composed of Wayne Morse, chairman, Ralph Axley, and Maynard W. Brown was based upon the testimony given by 125 students at the Union building last Friday and also on Monday.

The lack of facilities for the proper conducting of accounting course is believed by the Senate to be the main cause of friction between the faculty and students. That discourtesies are bound to a in instances where the heads of the department are overworked, is the opinion of many of the senators.

Want New Course

The necessity of a new course as a supplement for 8a and 8b, but for students not majoring in accounting, was brought out during the meeting.

150 Try Out For Haresfoot Work

About 150 men appeared at the Wisconsin high school last night to try out for some form of Haresfoot work. Announcement was made at the meeting that all men who were not able to appear Wednesday night may appear at the Haresfoot loft Thursday and Friday between 2:30 and 5:30, or may call William Purnell '23 or Carl Bronson '22.

The cast and chorus applicants will meet at Lathrop hall concert room at 2 o'clock, Saturday afternoon. The orchestra men will be notified personally of tryouts by John Mokrejs '23, orchestra leader for this year's production. Any men wishing to do publicity or production work should appear at the Haresfoot loft.

Hear President Scott of Northwestern Convocation at Music Hall 3:30 this Afternoon

THE other night TWO young ladies WERE talking on a STREET car, and WHAT I gathered from THE conversation was THAT they were instructresses IN some department on THE hill. It seems that ONE of them had been to A DANCE the night before AND HAD refused to dance WITH all undergraduates WHO were present there. SHE took great pains to EXPLAIN how she had deemed IT NECESSARY to uphold her DIGNITY and qualified her REMARKS by recalling the WORDS and advice of an INSTRUCTOR in her department

WHO HAD related the difficulties HE HAD undergone in holding a CONFERENCE with one of his "girls". AFTER he had danced with her THE PREVIOUS evening. THE SECOND instructress AGREED WITH her in all THE DETAILS, and as I GOT UP TO get out, I HEARD HER add that she THOUGHT it was wonderful THE WAY the English department UPHELD its collective dignity.

ALFRED—Was it you I kissed in here last night?
Odessa—I don't know. What time was it?

MY MOST EMBARRASSING MOMENT

ONE TIME I got on a crowded street car and as I neared the center of the car, I recognized a man whom I hadn't seen since last summer when we played around quite a bit at the beach where he was a life-guard. I spoke to him and smiled, but at first he failed to recognize me. When I spoke the second time, his face lighted up and he said, "Oh, hello Marie, I didn't recognize you with your clothes on!"

BILL—Say, who was that girl

you picked up the other night?
Dill—Don't speak like that. She's a girl I'd give my name to.
Bill—Yes, but not your right name.

ORIGIN OF POPULAR SAYINGS

TWAS at the great battle of Vitchizrite. General Koolemoff had been chasing the fleeing army of Hertzogovenia for six days, and on the seventh, Koolemoff suddenly learned that his gunners were out of ammunition. With his usual coolness and air of savoir faire and venir de, he analyzed the situation immediately, called for a dispatch boy and sent the following message to the general of the retreating hodd: "Vot you say, big boy, now you chase me awhile!"

"YOU REMEMBER the good-looking coiffure Mary was sporting yesterday?"

"Yes, what of it?"
"Well, she was passing an office building a few minutes ago and a safe fell out of the window and ruined it."

THE INSPIRING REPORTER
(Your Nose Knows)

Today's Question—Do your girls smoke much?
(To be asked of the different sorority houses.)

Kappas—Not as much as at the Salt Lake chapter.

Thetas—At the front door the French maid told us they smoked beaucoup, but immediately a voice rang out, "We do not, we smoke Home Runs."

Pi Phis—Here they told us that they didn't smoke, and so we asked them if they drank anything. They answered, "Yes, anything."

D. G.'s (House mother)—"I can't tell on account of the garlic."

Alpha Chi's—"No. Licorice makes our lips look like that."

Alpha Phi's—"Not during summer school."

FAMOUS LAST LINES
"That's the last time I take her out," said the chauffeur as he wrapped the car around the cemetery gate.

Feb. 23 is Deadline
For Badger Orders

One week from today, the Western Printing & Lithographing company of Racine, Wisconsin, will begin printing the 1923 Badger in its final form. After that date, February 23, the number of books contracted for can not be increased. This means that there will be no Badgers on open sale in the spring and that anyone who has then not sent in his order will lose out entirely.

The custom formerly has been to re-order books for some who have waited till spring to attend to getting a Badger. This can not be done this year, and after next Thursday not one more order can be taken. The price is $4, or $2 now and $2.25 on delivery. Those who wish the books mailed to them will be charged $4.50. Orders may be taken or sent to the Badger office in the Union building.

ESSAY CONTEST OPENED; CLOSES EARLY IN MAY

Two Cash Prizes of $50
and $25 Offered;
Limit 6,000 Words

The William F. Vilas prize essay contest, which is open to all undergraduate students, has begun and will continue into the first week of May, according to Prof. R. E. N. Dodge, of the English department and chairman of the committee in charge.

Two cash prizes are awarded every year to the winners of this essay contest. Fifty dollars is given to the writer of the best paper, and $25 to the author of the second best paper.

This year the subject is confined closely to literary criticisms. The three subjects which may be chosen from are listed below.

1. A major poet or prose writer (fiction excluded) of the nineteenth century, in the light of his appeal to the younger generation of today. temporary literature.

2. Types of the novel in contemporary literature.

3. A dramatist or school of dramatists of the last thirty years.

The choice of subjects is not limited to English literature, but also includes foreign literature.

The rules of the contest are as follows: Essays should not exceed 6,000 words and should be written on paper of thesis size. They should be signed with pseudonyms, and accompanying each should be a sealed envelope marked on the outside with the pseudonym and containing the writer's real name. This precaution is taken so that the marker may not know the identity of the writer until after the paper has been given an unbiased perusal. Essays must be handed in not later than Monday, May 8, to Prof. R. E. N. Dodge.

Old Time Dollar to Be Back

Friday Bargains to Send
"Eagle" Back to Old Values

REPRESENT ALL LINES

Practically Every Merchant
In City Will Offer
Inducements

DOLLAR DAY Friday will be a rare event in Madison, the natural market center of Southern Wisconsin. Merchants on the square and everywhere will offer bargains greater than ever before. A dollar's purchases on that day will look like old times when shoes were advertised for a dollar apiece and trousers "a dollar a leg."

The Dollar Day idea has been growing rapidly in many parts of the United States, particularly in cities where merchants are disposed to give their customers an occasional treat, just for "Old time's sake." This event will far surpass the Dollar Day held here last October, when many special offerings were seized by the crowds which swarmed the streets and filled the stores for the greater part of a day.

From that experiment, the local merchants have learned that both good will and buying habits may be created for the benefit of the customer and merchant alike. The more trade a store has, the closer the margin of profit it can do business on. Quick turnover and small profits go together. Volume is what counts nowdays, and more buyers or larger buyers are necessary, hence the advantage of Dollar Day to both buyer and seller.

Madison merchants this time will not only shave profits here and there, but will actually sell a great deal of merchandise at a loss in order to make Dollar Day the greatest success possible in the interest of customer-contact and the good will for their stores and the city at large.

Many stores will have single items or combinations of articles at a dollar which you could hardly ever expect to find anywhere for so little. For instance, some of the shoe stores, as of old, will sell perfectly good shoes for both men and women at a dollar each or two dollars a pair which sold at one time for as much as twelve dollars a pair. Perhaps some of the men's stores will even offer trousers at a dollar for each leg. Anyway, there will be bargains galore—everywhere—as practically every line of business is represented in this city-wide sale.

It is up to each merchant to work out a plan for his goods that will fit in with the Dollar Day scheme, the idea being to either save the customer a dollar on a purchase or to give extra value for a dollar on that one day. Practically every merchant in the city will offer at least a few special items on which you can make a worthwhile saving.

For the benefit of out of town people, and in order to give them an equal chance with the residents of Madison, the official time set by the committee in charge of Dollar Day is 9:00 a. m., which, with a few exceptions, allows ample time for arrival by train from surrounding towns the same morning. Others might do well to come in the night before, unless they are able to come in autos Friday morning.

There is plenty of parking space for autos. Hotels and restaurants can accommodate a large number of people. Amusement houses and places of interest in Madison can furnish diversion for thousands. Your stay here will surely be pleasant as well as profitable.

His bedroom scenes, wherein he drags off counterpanes and sheets and snuggles under coverlets, cause roars of laughter and much applause.

Anti-Effeminacy Club Won't Find Fertile Soil At U. W.; Columbia Chapter Is Installed

Members Declare War On Goloshes and Cigarettes for Men; Students Here Scoff at New Campaign

There's no Anti-Effeminacy club at Wisconsin, and the opinion seems to be among Wisconsin men that nothing of the sort is needed here.

Beta chapter of the Anti-Effeminacy club came into being yesterday afternoon at Northwestern university, organized by "young men fearing the degenerating influence of effeminacy." The first chapter was installed recently at Columbia. The principal functions of the club are prohibitions of the use of articles held to be too feminine for men to use, most notably cigarettes and goloshes. But Wisconsin men don't think goloshes and cigarettes and such things are degenerating influences.

"I smoke cigarettes myself," says William Sale, managing editor of the Daily Cardinal, "and I don't think they are any less masculine than a pipe. I think it depends on the man who does it, whether the use of even goloshes can be regarded as 'tea-houndish', I can imagine the most hard-boiled sort of a man going down the street in four-buckle goloshes."

"If any such club should be organized here, though I certainly don't think it will," says Reginald Garstang, head of the Commerce Magazine, "I am going to start wearing ruffles on my trousers and lace cuffs on my coat, and see what they could do about it. What a man does and wears is almost entirely his own business."

SENATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS ON 181 INVESTIGATION

The following is the report adopted by the Student Senate:

Gentlemen of the Senate:

We of the Executive Committee at the outset of this report wish to explain our position in this investigation concerning the Accounting department of the University of Wisconsin to the Student Senate, to the student body, and to the faculty of the university.

To the Student Senate we wish to say that in response to requests from members of the student body we entered upon preliminary investigation to ascertain whether or not conditions in the Accounting department justified any action on the part of the Student Senate and upon reporting the results of the preliminary investigation at the regular meeting of the Student Senate, February 8, 1922, we were duly authorized by your body to proceed with a thorough unprejudiced investigation of the various allegations made by the students and The Daily Cardinal. In proceeding with this investigation we have interviewed members of the faculty of the Commerce school and approximately 125 students. To the best of our ability we have conducted this investigation in an unbiased and an unprejudiced manner. And tonight we make a report to you equally as unprejudiced and unbiased.

To the student body we wish to say that we have, as their self-governing body, taken up their complaints and endeavored to discover the cause and justification for the said complaints. We wish to state at this point that we appreciate the co-operation with which the students met us in our hearings. And we wish to impress upon the student body that the Student Senate is their instrument of Student Self Government and that it can only succeed to the extent that it receives the hearty co-operation and support of the student body. And we trust that in the future the students will be more than ever willing to co-operate with their Student Senate.

To the faculty also we wish to say that we appreciate the spirit of fair play with which they greeted our inquiries. Before we proceed further we wish to explain our position with reference to the faculty. There are at all times within the student body criticisms of the various departments and of various courses, some of them justified and some of them groundless. We believe that when those criticisms become so crystallized that they become the chief topic of discussion on our campus that then in the interest of tranquility it becomes the duty of the Student Senate to exert its influence in an endeavor to alleviate the causes that created the criticisms. Such was the case in the present situation and we believe that the student body desired and deserved to know what justification, if any, there was for the charges made. Consequently as the functioning body of student government we felt it our duty and within our jurisdiction to carry on the investigation upon which we report tonight. We trust that the faculty will realize that the best co-operation between the students and the faculty can be obtained by such procedure.

We now proceed to the body of our report:

Charge 1

1. It has been charged that the number of students in Accounting 181 who have been given fails, conditions, and poors the past semester has been excessively large.

The statistics obtained from the Accounting department show that 201 students were in the course; 39 students were failed; 30 students were conned; 57 received poors; 38 received fairs; 29 received goods; 8 received ex's.

This means, gentlemen, that 34.35 per cent of the students in 181 were conned or failed; 28.36 per cent received poors; 18.90 per cent received fairs; 14.40 per cent received goods, and 3.98 per cent received ex's.

The question is, Was the number of students that received low grades in 181 last semester excessively high?

As compared with the percentages in the four semesters preceding the last, we are of the opinion that it was.

The percentage for the four preceding semesters as compared with the last is as follows:

Ex's: 4.7 per cent as compared with 4 per cent last semester—increase, .7 per cent.

Goods: 21.1 per cent as compared with 14.4 per cent last semester—decrease, 6.7 per cent.

Fairs: 29.7 per cent as compared with 18.9 per cent last semester—decrease, 10.8 per cent.

Poors: 26.6 per cent as compared with 28.3 per cent last semester—increase, 1.7 per cent.

Cons: 9.7 per cent as compared with 14.9 per cent last semester—increase, 5.2 per cent.

Fails: 8.2 per cent as compared with 19.4 per cent last semester—increase, 11.2 per cent.

We wish to call it to your attention, gentlemen, that to major in accounting a student must receive a mark of at least good in 181. Therefore, on the average basis of the four preceding semesters, 25.8 per cent are able to major in accounting if they so desire. But, however, the data for last semester shows that only 18.4 per cent of the class can major in accounting—the difference being 7.4 per cent.

Now, gentlemen, we believe that the average of cons and fails of the four preceding semesters, as above stated, is not excessively high. But we believe that the data for last semester clearly shows on the basis of previous years, that the number of cons and fails for that semester was excessively high. We attribute this condition to the final examinations.

The statistics on the final examination show that 7 students or 3.58 per cent received ex's; 14 students or 6.96 per cent received goods; 25 students or 12.45 per cent received fairs; 24 students or 11.94 per cent received poors; 45 students or 22.39 per cent received cons; 86 students or 42.78 per cent received fails.

Gentlemen, these figures show that 65.17 per cent of the students taking 181 last semester either conned or failed the final examination. It is the opinion of the committee that such a high percentage of cons and fails in a final examination is preposterous.

Counting one-third of the final grade as it does, such an examination is insufficient to throw any set of grades out of normal. As shown by the averages of the four preceding semesters, the mode of that normal in Accounting 181 is fair. The effect of this examination was to place the mode for the course at poor.

Gentlemen, we believe that because of the large percentage of fails and cons the final examination should have been scaled up so that the result would have been more nearly normal or some other means should have been devised to accomplish the same end.

The committee wishes to explain that the accounting courses depend one upon the other; 8a and 8b are the foundation for 181; and unless a good grade is received in these fundamental courses the possibilities of a fail in 181 are greatly increased.

Therefore, gentlemen, in concluding this charge, we found:

1. That an excessive amount of students were conned or failed in 181 last semester;

2. That on the basis of the average for the four preceding semesters this has not been true of the course in the past;

3. That the condition was due largely to the nature of the final examination, either as regards the subject matter or the standard of marking used.

We recommend, on the basis of these findings, that the department should in the future be careful that this condition is not repeated and that when it does exist they should endeavor to compensate the grades.

Charge 2

It has been charged that members of the department have been discourteous to students when interviewed in their offices.

At this point in the report we wish to state, fellow senators, that in our hearings conducted in the Union building, we did not receive testimony from only those students that conned or failed the course. In fact, 75 per cent of the students testifying passed the course, many with the mark of good. Approximately 90 per cent of the students interviewed criticized the department on this charge. The students contended that there was a tendency on the part of the faculty to be curt and gruff. Because of the preponderance of evidence on this charge, the committee has come to the fair conclusion that there is justification in the complaint.

On the other hand we find that (1) in comparison to the amount of work required of the staff of the department the personnel is very small, and an intimate personal contact with the students is impossible; (2) the great amount of work that must be done by this small staff makes it necessary that they should be extremely busy, and like all human beings under such circumstances there is often the tendency towards gruffness and irritability that would not be so greatly noticed and sometimes magnified if students had more opportunity to become acquainted with the members of the department.

We find that when students come to know members of the department more intimately the machine-like process complained of does not exist.

We find that at times students failed to observe posted office hours of the members of the department and through such negligence they naturally tend to arouse the irritability of the department; but we believe that students at all times have the right to courteous treatment.

In conclusion we find:

1. That there is some justification for the charge of discourtesy;
2. That at times it is partially due to unavoidable circumstances in the department;
3. That in individual cases students have been partly to blame.

We recommend:

1. That all parties concerned endeavor to put forth a special effort to minimize the effect of circumstances;
2. That the students and the faculty co-operate more in this matter;
3. And where it may be possible and at the same time necessary the staff should be enlarged in order that more students may come to know these members of the department.

Lots of Hits; Few Misses in Badger Satire Department

"Hit or Miss," the satire section of the 1923 Badger, promises to have many hits and few misses, according to Horace B. Powell '23, editor-in-chief of this year's annual. "Sherry Green's nimble pen drew the title page for this section, which is one of the cleverest covers ever "hit" off for a humor section.

Although this department is well under way, there is still space left for any ideas, jokes, pictures, bits of humor, or nonsense about your friends and enemies that hit the high mark of originality and humor set by Miss Caryl Roberts '23, editor of the "Hit or Miss" section.

Pictures handed in for this department will also count in the picture contest which the Badger is conducting for the next six weeks. Don't miss this opportunity to hit off part of that $50 in prizes which is to be awarded for the best pictures.

CHINA AND THE WASHINGTON CONFERENCE

A FEELING of disappointment and disillusionment is voiced by the Chinese students when asked about the actual gains that have accrued to China from the Washington conference. The same feeling is manifesting itself in the liberal press of this country.

The settlement of the Shantung question is pointed to by many as a signal achievement of the conference second only to the limitation of naval armament. To this view, unfortunately, we cannot give our assent. Although Japan is to give up Shantung, she still retains the control of the railway, the bone of contention, through the retention by China of the Japanese chief traffic manager and a Japanese accountant. So long as the traffic management of this so long will discrimination obtain against American railway remains in the hands of the Japanese, Americans and other nationals doing business in China.

The so-called revision of the tariff rates for China is a mere camouflage. Since 1858 China has been granted by the powers a tariff rate of 5 per cent ad valorem, and after the conference as before it, the same rate will remain unchanged. At present China is levying import duties according to the current prices of 1912 to 1916, and the powers are generous enough to grant China at the conference the right to levy these duties according to current prices of today. The so-called revision is, therefore, a mere re-estimate of prices, and China, instead of having a 5 per cent rate nominal, will only enjoy a 5 per cent rate effective. We in the West complain that China has no stable government, but our real surprise should be how, with insufficient revenues, China can have a government at all.

The Twenty-one demands forced on China by Japan in 1915 while the other powers were busily engaged in the European war called forth an immediate protest from our state department, first, because they violate the Open Door policy which we have traditionally maintained in the Far East; and, secondly, because these demands are more pregnant of ugly realities than even the Shantung question. Since Japan objected, the Conference turned a deaf ear to China's request for a discussion of these demands looking toward their modification or abrogation. The cloud over on the Far Eastern horizon will continue to loom up as it has loomed up in the past.

In view of these points, we need not censure the Chinese for their frank expression of disappointment and disillusionment, but it is only fair to add that, as many of them realize, China must help herself before she can expect help from any friendly nation. While the results of the conference may be negative, the effect, let us hope, will be for the better. They will help to bring together the existing factions in China; they will disown the Chinese of the idea to rely wholly upon foreign sympathy.

"We are beggars at the conference, and beggars always remain in the neighborhood of starvation." With these words of a certain Chinese student we are in complete accord, but we are confident that with the phenomenal development of nationalism in China, that great people will not long remain to be "beggars."

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION FOR WOMEN

YOU see, no matter in what direction this discussion starts, it always works around to the point that men and women are not fundamentally different in mind and character, but their differences in development are largely the result of training and environment."

This recent utterance of President M. R. Barton of the University of Michigan in concluding his discussion on "Are Men Superior to Women?" we quote here to greet the convention of the Women's Vocational conference in Madison today.

Our democracy does not only demand that women in this country should enjoy the same opportunities for education and the same right in voting, but that they should also be given an equal opportunity for economic independence. Since vocational education began in this country, more and more women have shouldered with men the responsibilities of various phases of human endeavor, and the economic independence derived therefrom will make for better and more intelligent citizenship among American women.

The calling for women's vocational conferences marks a step in advance of our industrial system. By concerted action and co-operation the women in this country may soon be able to protect themselves from unfair exploitation by the employers, to insist on just returns for their labor, and to demand sanitary conditions under which to work. While the state undertakes to protect our women in employment, their consciousness of their position and strength will help make more effective measures taken by the state.

No longer should the men regard themselves as superior to women; neither should the women acquiesce in the false assumption that they are fitted only for a limited number of professions or vocations. Their differences in development are largely the result of training and environment," and for a full development of womanhood they can rightly and strongly demand that they be given the proper training and environment. This conference and others that may follow, we hope, will achieve what will strengthen our democracy—vocational education for women.

Communications

In Defense of 181
Editor Daily Cardinal:

In the interest of justice to the University and to the Accounting department, I cannot help but reply to the editorial in the Cardinal of Wednesday, in regard to Accounting 181. Allow me to say that, although enrolled in the College of Engineering, I took the course last semester, and consider it one of the best courses I have ever taken. Furthermore, I failed to notice any of the courtesy or other failings lamented in Wednesday's editorial.

I believe that the whole cause of complaint lies solely in the students who are complaining. Students spend their time in the Accounting laboratory copying problems from their neighbors, or mechanically following prescribed forms. When they come face to face with the quizzes, they cannot or else simply fail to think for themselves, and because the problems require a little mental exercise, the grumblers and slackers fall down miserably. As compared with quizzes in Engineering and other subjects, I consider the quizzes in Accounting 181 to have been as a rule very fair. The attitude of the students in writing these quizzes is, however, altogether different. Terrified by the bug-bear stories of their equally foolish predecessors, they go to pieces under the slightest strain or hitch, and absolutely fail to think. Small wonder the grades are low.

The Accounting department owes it as a duty to the Commonwealth to turn out men and women who really know the fundamentals of Accounting, and who have the ability to think out exacting and peculiar situations. Too many business men are being victimized today by so-called "Accountants," who have absolutely not the slightest conception of the correct principles of Accounting. The State recognizes this fact, and prepares its examinations to exclude these parasites. The problems used in Accounting 181 are drawn from these state examinations. If a person studying Accounting ever expects to pass future state examinations or to consult with men who have passed these examinations, surely he cannot help but wish to study the problems considered in past examinations.

The only criticism I have of Accounting 181 is that the students are not allowed to examine their quiz papers, in order to profit by past mistakes, but this criticism is far outweighed by the criticism of the attitude of the students taking the Accounting courses. This attitude is the real cause of the reaction or them in the shape of cons and flunks.

In the interests of private and public enterprises uphold the standards of the Accounting courses!

T. B. MAXFIELD, M. E. 4.

Prefer Letters to Phi Beta Kappa Key

Freshmen at Princeton consider a varsity letter more desirable than a Phi Beta Kappa key, according to a recent questionnaire that was filled out. Ninety-nine men favored the varsity letter, while 64 expressed a preference for the key.

Other facts brought out showed that 17 men had stopped smoking since entering college, whereas only two had acquired the habit; 99 approved of the modern girl and 47 did not; 98 had taken a drink before coming to college against 68 who had not. The average number of girls written to by each man was four.

The most desirable extra curriculum office was editor-in-chief of the Princetonian, chairman of the senior council was second, and captain of the football team was third.

One Night Standers Term Life "Weary"

"Ho, hum, it's a weary life, this traveling on the road and hitting these Grand Opera houses in the provinces," remarks the jaded actress of the cast of "On the Hiring Line" as, traveling to Rockford on a one night stand, she studies geography from the car windows.

The nine members of the cast of the Prom play in addition to Miriam Doan, Ralph Scheinpflug and Miss Gertrude Johnson of the public speaking department are contemplating hitting the road on Friday, leaving here at noon to return the following afternoon.

None of the players have ever before traveled in a show. Merle Shaw on being asked her anticipatory emotions confessed:

"I'm pretty excited. None of the jaded actress stuff for me. I'll tell you more when I get back."

Heinz Rubel stated emphatically that the trip was a definite step toward the development of great dramatic activities at Wisconsin. He also expressed himself as possessed of sufficient naivete to suffer from no ennui at the thought of the expedition.

Anti-Effeminacy
Not Needed Here

The third chapter of the Anti-Effeminacy club will not be formed in the University of Wisconsin; there being no need for that sort of thing among men students here, according to interviews with several representative persons yesterday. The purpose of the club as it was organized at Columbia University and installed Tuesday at Northwestern is set forth in the constitution as follows:

"Whereas women are smoking cigarettes, wearing galoshes, both buckled and unbuckled, and otherwise presuming into realms heretofore restricted to men only,

"Be it resolved that we,—the Anti-Feminist club, shall shun and otherwise lay off the lounge-lizard and the arm-chair Napoleon."

Says Fred Brewer, editor of the Octopus and news editor of the Daily Cardinal, "It may be alright for the Northwestern man but we should consider it rather a childish means of drawing attention to the very things that the members pledge themselves to taboo."

Guy Sundt, captain of the Wisconsin football team, recalled the "swat the tea hound" campaign of two years ago when sentiment was aroused against the too slack attendance at a certain ball game which was running competition to a student dance.

"Tea-hounding was pretty bad, then, but now both men and women are pretty sporting about such things and I do not think that there is any need for the eastern society being installed at Wisconsin," he said.

Betty Kinny, president of Pan Hellenic association, says that such things as are tabooed by the Anti-Feminists are neither marks of effeminacy in men nor of masculinity in women and that she considers such things as face powder, galoshes, and cigarettes, items for individual concern, not organization.

"Wisconsin men on the whole are manly, and Wisconsin women are womanly, and there is no need for the installation of the new club here," she said.

That each member must equip himself with one pipe, cob, clay or briar, says the constitution. The by-laws read in part: "Powdering the face after shaving is forbidden. Wasp waisted suits, bell bottomed trousers, decollete collars, and baby ribbon neck ties, bobbed hair and galoshes are expressly forbidden."

Third Music Memory Contest

(A movement to acquaint Madison with the best music, through a contest in naming selections from hearing them. Open to everyone without fee or restrictions.)

SELECTION NO. 23.

For Week Beginning Feb. 19, 1922.

Kamennoi-Ostrow (Small Rocky Island), by Anton Rubinstein, (Born 1830, Podolia, Russia; died 1894, Peterhof, near Petersburg, Russia.)

A Changing Viewpoint.

Thirty years ago the mention of Rubinstein would have called forth primarily the recollection of a great concert artist. But an entire generation of music lovers has now grown up without any knowledge of Rubinstein, the pianist, and he is coming to take his place among the composers.

Great Pianist.

Anton Rubinstein was one of the greatest pianists the world has ever seen. He had a technique of absolute perfection, a phenomenal mastery of all the resources of the piano, and was in this respect the only rival Liszt ever had. But beyond this he had the fire and passion of the creative artist, of the great composer. So it was natural that a great part of his life was spent in giving concert tours all over the European world. In 1872-3 he toured the United States. Finally, in 1885-7, he gave farewell recitals all over Europe, retiring thereafter from active concert work. It was nearly 50 years since his first public appearance, the 50th anniversary of which he celebrated in 1889.

Worthy Composer.

As a composer, Rubinstein will not rank so high. He is of the Mendelssohn school: a fine, rich vein of melody, supported by true and natural harmony, and thorough technical skill, are his characteristic merits. Perhaps his arduous concert tours left him scant leisure for revision and correction. At any rate, there is a certain lack of self-criticism in many of his compositions which led to an excessive output. Nevertheless, his genius was very versatile, and he achieved success in almost every department of music. He has left us a very fine Ocean Symphony—one of his best works—a brilliant piano concerto in G, a masterly violin concerto, some excellent chamber-music, and many beautiful songs.

Numbers of drawing-room pieces for the piano flowed from his facile pen, and these are invariably most brilliant, as one would expect from a successful virtuoso, and often quite perfect in form. His Melody in F was in our first contest. Among his most charming piano pieces is our selection, Kamennoi-Ostrow. Strictly speaking, the music so entitled is but one of a group of 24 portraits for the piano which bear that superscription; but this one is the favorite, and has usurped the name.

One Interpretation.

Kamennoi-Ostrow is the name of a small island at the mouth of the Neva, near Petrograd, on which an imperial palace stands, and it may be supposed that the composer set himself the task of conveying various moods suggested by the charm of the place and its surroundings. Our portrait begins with a soft undulating figure which might well suggest the gentleplash of waves on the shore. In the third measure a soft, slow melody commences, carried through 37 bars in the left hand against the undulating figure in the right; one thinks of a boat, softly rocked by the waves, floating quietly down the stream. Now follows a second movement in somewhat faster time, with a high C sharp ever recurring like an unanswered question. The travelers are wondering perhaps about the water that lie beyond. The boat slackens, and they listen to the surf afar off, depicted by great arpeggios that grow ever longer and more impressive as the boat moves onward. The travelers make their decision to press onward, and are greeted by a furious rush of dashing waves, through which the boat rapidly passes. Now it is in the open, and the original melody recurs, stronger now and with a much more agitated accompaniment. On and on they go, until at length they come into calmer waters. There is a suggestion of the second movement, then a last dying reminiscence of the dangers through which they have passed, a sigh of relief, and a final chord as the boat's nose grounds on the shore.

AT THE STRAND

Lloyd Hughes in "Love Never Dies"

Lloyd Hughes in "Love Never Dies" will be the attraction at the Strand theatre for four days starting today. The story of "Love Never Dies" lives up to its title. Lloyd Hughes has the role of a successful, self-made engineer, who finds his home life broken up by rumors that center upon his supposed mother. From the tangle he frees himself by severing himself from all former surroundings; but the ties that bound him to his wife are too strong to be broken by such a step. A spectacular train wreck features in the early part of the story, and has its counterpart in the thrilling rescue of a drowning man from the waterfalls in the last reel

The new offer is expected to be submitted soon by Secty. Weeks to congress which has before it the offer of Henry Ford.

AT THE MAJESTIC

Cecil B. DeMille's superb Paramount production, "Saturday Night" now at The Majestic is said to be one of the finest pictures ever produced by Mr. De Mille, and that is saying much. The story was written by Jeanie Macpherson, author of many De Mille screen classics and the cast is practically all star. The story deals with the marriage problem, the effects of environment on humans and allied questions and Mr. De Mille has handled them with the skill and artistry for which he is famous.

Wisconsin Invades French Magazine

That Wisconsin spirit is invading France might be intimated by the appearance of a 1500-word article on "La Maison Fraîche" du Wisconsin" in "L'Illustration" for January.

"The 'Maison Fraîche' is a little piece of France in a strange land" the article states and elaborates on the advantages to students of French and French students in America of this center for department interest.

Table talk, favorite songs, co-educational spirit of the University of Wisconsin is well and intimately drawn by the writer.

University and fraternity piers during bathing and boating season are shown in the big illustration under the heading. A view of French house makes the article familiar to Wisconsin students.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

VARSIETY TANK MEN PREPARE FOR ILLINOIS

Will Have Preliminary
Tilt With Frosh;
Leave Friday

Coach Joe Steinauer is sending his Varsity squad through its paces daily in preparation for the first conference meet of the season, between Wisconsin and Illinois. The meet will be staged in the Illini tank on Saturday afternoon and the Badger squad will leave Madison on Friday afternoon for Urbana.

Today the men will be put through a stiff workout, which will be the last before the meet. They will be sent over their distances in competition against the freshman squad. The yearlings have been giving the Varsity a stiff rub in the different events and have been instrumental in getting the Badger squad into condition.

Depend on New Men

Steinauer will have several new men to spring on conference swimming fans and these men who have showed up well in preliminary meets against the Milwaukee athletic club, will be depended upon to carry off many points for the Badgers. Johnson Bennett '24 is Steinauer's best bet in the 100 and 220-yard swims. He has been negotiating the former distance in times close to the minute mark and with conference competition he stands a good chance to break the record. The 220 yard has already fallen several times in practice, and Bennett has broken the record with only mediocre competition.

J. J. Lambole '22, Wisconsin's best entry in the 40-yard dash, is also bidding to be one of the best sprint swimmers in the conference. The dives will be taken care of by Captain William Collins and Norman Koch '24.

Collins a Help

H. E. Czerwonsky '24 is a new man who has developed into a fast breaststroke swimmer and Steinauer is looking to him to smash the conference record in his event. He has made the distance in under the record and has done so handily with no close competition. Captain Collins is also a breaststroke swimmer of no mean worth and will be entered in this event in addition to the dives.

Relay Team Fast

The Badger relay team, composed of the four fastest men on the squad, is regarded as one of the speediest in the Conference. Steinauer has worked them into excellent form. The record in this event has been approached on many occasions and the Badgers should swim the relay in time under the present record. J. J. Lambole, F. C. Davies '22, L. A. Sollitt '22, and Johnson Bennett '24 are the four men who will represent Wisconsin in this event. The team is one of the best average combinations ever turned out by Steinauer, all of the men swimming the distance is almost equal times.

The Badgers will be weak in the plunge and backstroke. B. W. Heubner '22, S. A. Waalke '23 and A. H. Lahman '23 will enter the plunge and H. F. Copeland '22, will be Wisconsin's lone entrant in the backstroke event.

Riding Contest Open To All Sororities

An inter-sorority riding contest will be one of the features of the Little International Horse show to take place in the Stock pavilion on March 4.

Each sorority is permitted to make one entry which will be judged on form in the saddle, and put through three paces, walk, trot and canter.

The plans for the Little Inter-

PROSPECTS FOR BADGER TRACK TEAM ARE GOOD

Knollin, Spetz, Johnson, and Ellison Will Face Notre Dame

That the meet with Notre Dame this Saturday would be a hard one was emphasized by Coach Jone last night at a meeting of the Varsity track squad. Although the Catholics have lost a few of the good men from last season, little advance dope has been obtainable on the real strength of the South Bend squad, and they can be depended upon to demand the utmost from Wisconsin's men if a victory is to be counted upon.

The Badger team this year shows a better balance and a greater strength in all departments than has characterized Wisconsin team in many years. With star men eligible in all events Coach Jones is looking forward to a record year, and intends to aim at first place in the indoor conference meet.

In the 40 yard dash, Spetz, Knollin, Johnson, and Ellison will stack up against Gus Desch and Hayes of Notre Dame. In the 440, Montague and Ficks of Notre Dame are rated only as fair against Johnson and Spetz of the Badger squad. In the 880, Meredith of Notre Dame is the only opponent of note whom Ramsay and Wade will have to fear.

In the distance runs the Catholics stand but little show against Wall, Finkle, Rossmiessel, Schneider, and Wille. In the hurdles, Wynn and Desch who holds the world's record for the lows, will strongly oppose Knollin, Stolley, and Newell. Johnny Murphy, who has done 6 feet 4 inches in the high jump will work against Pete Platten and Gibson.

Ski Club Will Try Out Slide Saturday

Members of the Badger Ski club will tryout the new slide on Muir knoll on Friday afternoon or Saturday morning so that any necessary alterations or adjustments may be made to put the hill in the best possible condition for the tournament to be held on Saturday afternoon.

The team of five men which will represent Wisconsin in the dual meet with Minnesota will be selected at this time.

In order to make it possible to land safely after a comparatively slow leap and long drop, the landing ground, or the slope below the take-off of the slide, is half again as steep as the average jump in the United States, being at an angle of 38 degrees. In this respect it more closely resembles the Norwegian hills. Leaps of 100 to 120 feet are expected.

There is no jump in the country which is better located for the convenience of spectators since it is in the very midst of the university grounds and is only two blocks from the car line, at the foot of Park street.

Will Tour Michigan And Indiana Feb. 18

The Varsity hockey team will make an extended trip through Michigan and Indiana, from February 18 to 22. It is practically definitely arranged that they play Notre Dame at South Bend on Saturday, Feb. 18. Their other games are certain.

On Tuesday, Feb. 21, the Badger puck chasers will play the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, and on Wednesday, Feb. 22, they will take on the Michigan Aggies at Lansing. Two substitutes will be taken on the trip. Makeys, Tredwell, Baker, Grieve, Combacker, and Blodgett compose the regular team, and Ledin and Fisk are the substitutes who will go along on the trip.

national are not yet completed, but are under the supervision of Raymond Kliffendorf.

Two Eliminated in Frat Basketball

The Kappa Sig quintet defeated the Delta Sigma Phi team last night by a score of 17 to 7. The Zeta Psi's swamped the Deltas 18 to 5. The two losing teams are eliminated from the championship series.

The Kappa Sigs have won all their games so far, and they and the D. U.'s are showing up best as contestants for the cup. The Kappa Sig team, which defeated the Delta Sigs was composed of W. Morrison, C. Morrison, Meyers, Miller, and Below. Of the 17 points which the team scored, Miller made six points, Meyers made five, C. Morrison two, and W. Morrison four.

The men who played for Delta Sig were H. Christianson, A. Christianson, Birdelbough, Nichols, McCoy, and Stebbins.

The Zeta forwards were Mahoney and Taft. Their center was Stolte, and the guards were Parks, Willey, Hartlett, and Hardy. Stolte and Taft starred for their team. McCord and Hippe made the points which the Deltas scored. The other Delt players were Schiffen, Teckmeyer, Atkinson, and Davis.

Both of the defeated teams, the Deltas and the Delta Sigs, had won all their games in the preliminary series, so their elimination from the final series shows the strength of the winning teams.

NEW QUINTET IMPROVING AS CONTESTS NEAR

Last Week's Injuries
Force New Combination

The Wisconsin basketball team is being sent through a series of hard practices in preparation for the games against Michigan and Minnesota which appear on the schedule this weekend.

Last week injuries forced Coach Meanwell to form a new combination to play against Illinois. The new five, however, worked so well that it is difficult to tell what the lineup for future games will be. The team is at least better fortified with substitutes than it has been at any time this season.

Badgers Handicapped

Tebell is fast recovering from his injuries, and should be in fair shape to start the game at Ann Arbor. He and Irish will leave the back guard position well taken care of, and the latter will still be available for use at center in case he is called upon to work there.

The Badgers have been handicapped this year in that they have not been able to work plays from the tipoff in a majority of games.

If this week of practice puts Gibson back into shape, the team may be able to get the jump on Michigan, and this factor is worth several points in any game. If the sophomore center is not fit for service, Gage can be used, and this insures that the fighting strength of the team will by no means be weakened.

Gage Valuable

Gage is at present playing a brand of ball that is practically as good as that of any of the regulars, but his natural position at forward is being filled by more experienced players. The fact that he can play any position on the floor makes him valuable to the team, and he is certain to see plenty of action in the remaining games.

Jack Williams is also on the reserve list, and is well able to fill a forward position at any time. He was a regular for a time last year and is well used to the Wisconsin style of play. Coach Meanwell used him for a few minutes in the Illinois game, but his play indicated that he was not used to the players well enough to fit into the teamwork smoothly.

The team will leave for Ann Arbor Friday. They will have plenty of time to get home and limber up a little before taking the floor against Northwestern on Wednesday night.

Lose 5 Men; Meet Milwaukee Feb. 18

Handicapped by the loss of five men, the Wisconsin gymnastic team will engage the Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. outfit for the second time this season on Saturday night at the gym. The meet will be held in conjunction with the Wisconsin - Northwestern wrestling matches.

The Badgers took the measure of Milwaukee, 252 to 192, in their first competition of the season. Kubosch, who worked on four pieces of apparatus, Hammann, Krieger, Koch, and Thompson, fencer, are lost to the team. With these five veterans missing from the lineup, Wisconsin will face a tough job to defeat the Milwaukeeans.

Kitchen and Porth, high point winners in the Freshman-Varsity meet held last Saturday, are expected to win their events. Kletzein, Hansen, Leitz, Pflaeger, Bumer, Rand, and Stevens are other Badger gymnasts.

Zarse is individual star for the Milwaukee squad of tumblers. Zarno, B. Redeen, W. Redeen, and Wilmot are other good men who will compete for the "Y" team.
