WRESTLING TEAM WILL MEET AMES

Varsity is Handicapped by Illness of Middleweight Man

Handicapped by the loss of Ivan H. Peterman '22, who is ill with tonsillitis, the Wisconsin wrestling squad is scheduled to meet the Ames grapplers at Ames, Iowa, on Saturday, January 29. H. M. Pier '22, 158-pounder, will take Peterman's place in the middle-weight division.

The remainder of the Badger squad of grapplers is in excellent condition, and under the able tutelage of Coach G. T. Hitchcock the team has developed the amateur style of wrestling, something few of the men had practiced much heretofore.

The men who will make the trip with the Wisconsin mat squad are: C. J. Posepny '23, 166 pounds; P. P. Livingston '22, 125 pounds; Captain L. G. Culver '21, 135 pounds; W. H. Klass '23, 145 pounds; H. M. Pier '22, 158 pounds; H. H. Holmes '23, 175 pounds; Ora McMurray '21, heavyweight division.

Ames is recognized as having one of the strongest wrestling teams in the middle west, and has scheduled meets with leading eastern universities. The Iowans possess the best team that Wisconsin will meet this season, but the Badger

HEAD FINANCE, AND PRESS PUBLICITY COMMITTEES FOR 1922 JUNIOR PROM

WILLIAM B. ELLIS

William B. Ellis is in charge of the ways and means committee, with the duty of providing a way to meet all Prom expenses and keeping the affair on as economical a basis as possible.

Ellis is a member of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and a junior in the College of Letters and Science. He won his "W" as football manager last fall and is a member of Inner Gate and Ku Klux Klan. He entered as a sophomore from Brown university.

events. It has been the policy of the publicity committee this year to keep Prom in its rightful position as the leading social event at the university and, at the same time, curb any stories which may reflect a "colored" handling of news.

Sale, a junior in the College of Letters and Science, is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and of Ku Klux Klan. He is desk editor of The Daily Cardinal, was on the athletic staff of the 1921 Badger and is editor of the Press section of the 1922 Badger. His home is in Louisville, Kentucky.

I found her in the concert room at Lathrop sitting on a box among the debris of one of those imaginary drawing room "sets" which are devised to test the actor's imagination.

She threw back her short brown hair and looked up at me with a faintly worried expression in her direct blue eyes.

"Please don't say that only bobbed haired girls will be admitted to Prom, or that I take a complexion bath in milk every day, or that I have a leading part in Mrs. 'Bumpstead-Leigh,'" she begged.

"I'm only the maid, you see, and I really don't do much," she added modestly.

"Everybody's crazy to hear about your Prom dress," I suggested.

"I'm crazy to see it myself," she replied. "It's being made at home, you know."

"Blue and silver is the color scheme. The dress will be of King's blue velvet with blue and silver brocade, and there's to be a

CIVIL ENGINEERS ELECT OFFICERS

At a special business meeting held Tuesday evening, January 25, the University of Wisconsin Civil Engineering society elected the following officers for the second semester: H. H. Wheaton, president; James R. Price, vice-president; O. N. Rove, secretary-treasurer; H. M. Ford, critic; A. R. Striegl, publicity agent.

FLOREA MADE CHAIRMAN OF VARSITY EXPO

Preparations for Gigantic Spectacle Will Begin Soon

William B. Florea '21 has been appointed by Union board as general chairman for the university exposition, which will probably be held in the university armory and gymnasium annex soon after the spring recess.

"To make this exposition a success, the hearty co-operation of a large number of students will be necessary," said Florea last night, "and a great many responsible positions will be included in the committees."

Chairman Florea will appoint his assistants and the committees early in the second semester, and work on the mammoth spectacle will be begun at once. Great care will be taken in making all the appointments, any only those best fitted for the positions will be selected.

The general purpose of the 1921 all-university exposition will be to educate the people of the city and of the state as to what the university has to show and as to what it is doing. Every department in the institution will give a demonstration of its work, showing the latest achievements in its line and the work of its students.

The last exposition was held in 1915 and was a gigantic affair. Over 8,500 people attended, coming from all parts of the country. There were 86 exhibits which filled 15,000 square feet of floor space. It is planned to make the exposition this year even greater than the previous one.

Since 1915 many new departments, and only those best fitted versity and much additional research work has been done by several departments already established. Exhibits of all these new features will be included in the exposition this year, and will undoubtedly add much to the demonstrations.

RIECK WINS FIRST IN 8 MILE SKATE

Long Distance Ice
Race

Thirty skaters, including twenty-eight men and two women started the eight mile race across Mendota and back yesterday afternoon at 4:45. Chester Rieck '21 returned first, having made the fast time of 26 minutes and ten seconds. He came in far in the lead of the nearest man following. Mabel Duthey '24 won the women's race with the time of 38 minutes and ten seconds. Bernice Elver '23 took second place in 40 minutes and 15 seconds.

The eight mile course lay between the university gym and Governor's point on the opposite side of Mendota. A large crowd witnessed the event and much ability was shown in the racing. Rieck, the winner will receive a medal from Coach T. E. Jones and his time will be set up as a record to be broken in future races. It is planned to make the distance race an annual event. Because of the excellent condition of the lake for skating this year, and the large amount of enthusiasm being shown in the sport by the students, more meets are to be held including a mixed double event.

Other men placing in yesterday's race according to their order are: Robert Blodgett '23, Victor Bittner '23, John Cole '22, Irving Cox '22.

Frogner and Travers Are Named to Run Bulletin

A new university publication devoted exclusively to athletics became a concrete project decided upon at the meeting of the athletic board yesterday noon. Allard Frogner '22 was appointed editor of the bulletin and Wesley Travers '21 is to be the business manager.

The purpose of the bulletin is to encourage all athletics at the university and to print all the significant news about both major and minor sports. If you want to know more fully why our next five football games with Chicago will be played on Stagg field instead of Camp Randall, where the homecoming money goes, more about the situation with Ohio State, or when the new toboggan slide and ski jump will be in use, the bulletin will tell you in detail.

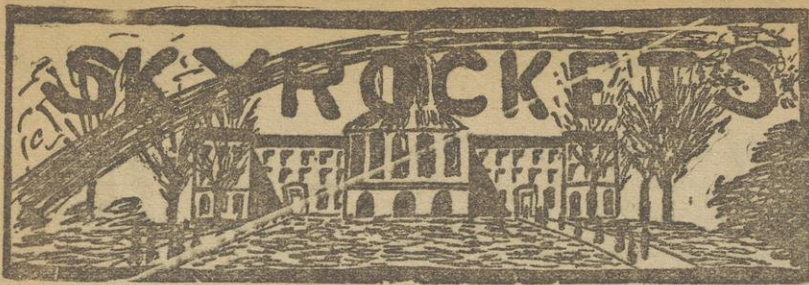

Several years ago such a bulletin was published, sold on the campus, and sent to high schools throughout the state to encourage the best athletic material to come to Wisconsin. The practice was discontinued in 1912, but the idea was recently revived by the Council of 40, an organization for studying university

MILTON COLLEGE TO HAVE OFFICIAL ATHLETIC COACH

Milton college, for the first time in many years, is to have an official athletic coach. The position will be filled by George H. Crandall, a graduate of the college, who also studied at the University of Wisconsin in the year 1916-1917, receiving his M. A. degree here.

THE FIRST thing we have to say today is in the way of warning. Countless contributions have been appearing recently in "Life," "Judge," "Vanity Fair," etc., bearing the name of the Duke. They are doubtless the work of vile imposters who are trifling with our good name. (You'll admit there is nothing wrong with the name).

WILLY HOARD takes occasion to write us asking why he has been neglected so of late. You see Bill, you didn't used to be much of a fussy, so we could kid you on that score. But now you have become such a confirmed old lizzie we can't phase you a-tall.

CLIFFORD BISCHOFF came out fifty dollars behind with his books in accounting lab. "Tsall right," says Clifford, "I'll make it up out of my own pocket." This was last semester—Cliff. has just lately written his con. exam. in the same. Such is ingenuity's reward.

ABOUT THIS time of the new year some of our resolutions begin to fail. Ye Duke has started to smoke again for instance. Of course he always uses tobacco moderately. Like Mark Twain, for example, he never smokes while eating, while sleeping, nor does he smoke two cigars at a time.

PENSIVE

And if more than one mouses are mice,

Then we cannot see

That the plural of souse isn't sice.

OCTUPUS SALE TO CONTINUE TODAY

The copies of the Octopus left from yesterday's sale are to be sold on the hill this morning, in Bascom hall, the P. E. P. building, Agriculture hall, the Biology building, and the Engineering building.

The sales went very well yesterday, according to Norman D. Scott '23, circulation manager, and the rest of the Octupi will probably be sold by noon today. Many students are sending copies away.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the past 24 hours was 22 to 3 p. m. and the lowest was 18 at 11 p. m. Sun sets at 5:03.

The storm in the south reached the east Gulf and Atlantic states this morning, accompanied by rain. Clear and cold weather follow it northward in the lower Mississippi Valley and on the southern plains. Clear and warmer weather precede and area of low barometer that is approaching the Pacific coast.

ROSTOVTZEFF LECTURES ON RUSSIAN ART

Outlines Five Periods of Advancement in Arts

Painted pottery, curiously wrought vases, deftly carved battle-axes, and earrings of fanciful design, discovered in old tombs bordering the Black sea, were shown on the screen by Prof. Michel Rostovtzeff in his illustrated lecture on "Greek and Oriental Art in South Russia," at Bascom hall on Wednesday afternoon.

"Where Gothic art finds its source is revealed by late excavation discoveries in the North Caucasus and valleys of the Danube and Dniepr rivers," explained Professor Rostovtzeff. "Russia made a very real contribution to oriental and Greek art, for the nomadic tribes that found their way to the South were not of the true barbarian type. They showed the same development and same cultural life as the inhabitants of Egypt and Mesopotamia."

The five periods of artistic advancement were outlined, beginning with the prehistoric and proto-historic periods, and including the Greco-Scythian period, and Greco-Sarmatian epoch, and the Gothic period.

In quest of the Golden Fleece, came the Greek Argonautae across the Aegean sea up to the River Kuban in the North-Caucasus where the great "Maikop" was buried, surrounded by gold and silver objects similar to those found in Pre-Babylonian Mesopotamia and Pre-Dynastic Egypt. And what was the Golden Fleece? These so-called barbarians, Indo-European tribes of the same stock as the Persians, possessed it—the secret of copper and iron invention!

Then came the Scythians in a throng to settle down quietly and build a strong centralized government among the natives and inhabitants of Greek colonies on the Black sea. For the bringing down of precious stones from the Ural mountains, and hides and fish from forest and stream, they received in return oil and wine from central Asia and highly developed Greece. Through the energy and skill of these Greek vassals from whom they exacted tribute, and with whom they intermingled, contributed something, their oriental art remained fundamentally unchanged. The Scythian religion, customs, and artistic expression dominated, as shown by the old relics brought to light. A vase carved like a dragon, a huge horse in relief, lions and beasts of all kinds cut in metal, hark back to the Persian and Central-Asiatic objects of art—not those of Greece.

"About 300 B. C. came the Sarmatians," stated Professor Rostovtzeff. "Like their predecessors, they came not as destroyers; and like them, they made use of the blessings of Greek civilization, but did not cast aside their old habits and tastes. Greek technique was adapted to their animal style of ornamentation and polychromy; the new style was accentuated and elaborated by the half-Greek population in the cities on the Black sea.

"At length, after a new and successful wave of conquest of the often-disputed Russian territory the Goths from Germany took the power. They adopted the Greco-Sarmatian methods and ideas of their subjects. It was that same style that spread all over Europe, known under the name of 'Gothic Art.'" grapplers hope to give them one of the hardest battles of the year. C. W. Mayser is handling the Ames grapplers.

"We hardly expect a victory," said Coach G. T. Hitchcock on Wednesday afternoon, "but Wisconsin will at all times be in the running against the Ames wrestlers, and the worst that the Badgers can expect is an even break. Although the loss of Peterman will put Wisconsin at a disadvantage, Pier will handle the middle-weight division in an able manner. Every member of the squad is in the pink of condition, and the men have improved considerably since the beginning of the season. The squad needs more bantam-weights, light-weights, and heavy-weights to prepare for the Illinois match on February 25, and any man who reports will have an excellent chance to break into the squad."

The rules of the match call for the winner to obtain two out of three falls, in seven minute periods. In case neither of the wrestlers secures a fall, the judges will decide the bout on points for aggressiveness and form.

WHAT MAKES A UNIVERSITY STUDENT?

THE state of apathy in which university students have viewed national problems has long been in need of attention.

Ask the average student about the Congressional investigation of a naval holiday, the reasons for the refusal of the United States to recognize Soviet Russia, the motive behind the renewed open shop movement, the facts in the recent shipping board scandal, or any of a dozen "topics of the day" which the average newspaper reader knows in part at least, and the blank expression which comes in reply indicates that something essential is lacking.

There are those—fortunately, they are few in number—who contend that students ought to cut themselves off from a knowledge of world affairs; that the time spent in getting acquainted with what is going on about us should be used in perfecting preparation.

We cannot reconcile ourselves to a belief that this is proper procedure. If followed to the letter, such a plan would make the graduate's entry into the world of practical affairs a relatively harder task. It would make it necessary for him to spend a period of uncertain length in picking up the threads of current happenings, when a keener interest in his undergraduate days would have kept him abreast of the times.

If students who refuse to acquaint themselves with only an average knowledge of world problems could realize the error in their ways, apathy would soon be replaced by a determined desire to go beyond the class room assignment in educating oneself. Such latent cogs in a student personnel often give rise to a valid indictment of a university education.

In our own case, the people of the state are justified in looking to their university for leadership. They give millions to support this great labyrinth of learning; they deny themselves well earned pleasures in order that we may become better fitted to foster the ideals on which the university was founded; and, withal, many of us refuse to go without the pale of regularly assigned work in order to become better equipped to toe the mark.

It makes little difference if a student comes to know "what's what and who's who" in the world through the medium of the press, pulpit, or class room. The fact remains that he should know.

A new constitution and by-laws were adopted, new requirements were established for membership, plans were made for the coming semester, and the future of the club was discussed.

A meeting to elect officers and to finish important business will be called early in the second semester to which students, now considered members, will be asked by written card.

MEDILL SCHOOL OPENS AT N. W. NEXT SEMESTER

Some of the best known newspaper men of the Chicago field will be included in the staff of the new Medill School of Journalism, which will open February 7 at Northwestern university with classes evenings and Saturday afternoons, furnishing only part-time work during the opening semester. Following are the names of some of the various supervisors and their associates:

Editing, re-writing, copy reading—W. A. Dill, assistant manager, Chicago office Associated Press and formerly professor of journalism at the University of Kansas.

Editorial writing and policy—Tiffany Blake, chief editorial writer, Chicago Tribune, supervisor; Prof. James Weber Linn, chief editorial writer, Herald-Examiner; and Baker Brownell, editorial writer, Chicago Daily News.

Organization and management—W. A. Curley, managing editor, Chicago Evening American; James O'Donnell Bennett, Chicago Tribune; Walter D. Strong, business manager, Chicago Daily News.

In addition to the instruction in journalism itself, various educational courses are to be offered to the students of the new school. Once the full-time courses in journalism are established in Evanston, students having finished the four years' course will be awarded the degree of B. S. by Northwestern university.

STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTED AT NEW LUTHERAN CHURCH

Basic preparations for carrying on the necessary work for the remainder of the year were perfected at Calvary Lutheran church last Sunday evening when the last members of the new student council were elected. Calvary is a new student church at Wisconsin, having been organized at the beginning of this school year, and has been making rapid progress ever since.

Rev. A. Haentzschel, formerly professor at St. Paul's college at Concordia, Mo., and also at Concordia college at Conover, N. C., is the student pastor. Last year he occupied a similar position at Missouri university.

Members of the student council who were just elected are: Adelbert Gerhardt '21, president; Elsa Gimmmler '23, vice-president; Paul Friedrich '23, secretary; Edna Palechek '22, treasurer; Gerald Jenny '23, chairman of membership committee; Frieda Radke '22, program; Esther Zarling '21, refreshments; Carl Sibilsky '22, social; Victor Bittner '23, chairman of the board of ushers.

Visitors are always welcome and students are especially invited to attend the services and meetings, which are held in Wheeler hall every Sunday at 10:45 and at 5 o'clock. The church represents the Missouri and Wisconsin synods of the Lutheran church.

ROAD MACHINERY TO BE DISPLAYED AT ANNUAL SCHOOL

Beginning Monday, January 31, and lasting for five days, the annual road school, conducted by the Wisconsin State Highway commission for purely instructional purposes, will be held in the large brown tent which was erected yesterday on the lower campus.

This State Highway school of instruction is held primarily for the benefit of the state officials, although all county officials and principle employees, all city officials, and all contractors and engineers, are invited to attend.

The work to be considered this year involves a careful survey of tractors and road machinery in general, as well as a number of forms of constructional materials. This instruction will be given by the aid of practical demonstrations, lectures, and moving pictures.

The question of road building will also be discussed, which will include the up-keep of the road, road construction, and road contracts. Much of the road machinery to be used in the demonstrations is being furnished by out-of-state concerns.

HEADS PROM MUSIC COMMITTEE

PAUL FISCHEDICK
—Courtesy De Longe

Paul Fischedick is chairman of the Prom music committee which has secured Ischam Jones and his Rainbo Gardens orchestra to play at the 1922 Junior Prom, and also has charge of the ticket sale for "Up in Mary's Attic," the Prom benefit movie, to be given at the Grand theater Thursday and Friday of this week.

Fischedick, a junior in the College of Letters and Science, is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. He was in the University Glee club last year, and is on the organization staff of the 1922 Badger. His home is in Milwaukee.

"UP IN MARY'S ATTIC" IS AT GRAND TODAY

Peppy, catchy songs by the Glee club quartet, made up of Burl Slocum, E. Brown, R. Brown and N. Stearn, will furnish part of the fun for "Up in Mary's Attic," the Prom benefit movie to be shown at the Grand theater today and tomorrow. The quartet will sing at the performance this evening. Arrangements are being made by Paul Fischedick, chairman, for a special feature for Friday also.

The film is an uproarious feature comedy, the first six reel picture of its kind, and basis its appeal on something besides slapstick. The plot is a good one and ingenious in its picturization. Miss Novak, as the romantic heroine, strives to keep secret the fact that she has married the athletic instructor, and in her amusing escapades is found comedy that makes the film so uproariously funny.

Plenty of good looking girls in all varieties of costume fill the scenes. Dainty styles, and an abundance of fancy bathing suits are worn by the charmers in this feature. Another scene discloses a highly intelligent dog rocking the baby to sleep "up in Mary's attic."

Tickets are on sale at the box office of the Grand, at Morgan's, the University pharmacy, and on the hill. The price is 28 cents.

PETE ARRANGES TO DINE PROM-GOERS

Complete arrangements for the Prom supper have been made by the supper committee, Norma Kieckhefer, chairman. To accommodate the 600 couples expected at Prom the supper will be held at four different times starting at 11 o'clock. Part of the guests will be served in the Garden Grill and the rest in the Capitol cafe. Thompson's orchestra, including Juster and Hawkins, will play in the cafe. The following is the menu as arranged by the committee.

The menu will include:
Chicken Salad
Buttered Rolls Potato Chips
Salted Nuts Olives
Ice Cream, Cake
Caffee

JOURNALISTS BEGIN ON PROM CARDINAL

Letters have been sent to heads of all organized groups attending Prom by the members of Sigma Delta Chi, who are getting out the Prom edition of The Daily Cardinal, asking for information concerning the persons attending Prom in their box, the chaperons, and the post Prom activities.

This information will be incorporated in the Cardinal, which will be sold on the floor and delivered upon request to the boxes, at 10 cents a copy, at 12 o'clock Prom night. It will also be delivered to fraternity and sorority houses and rooming houses on Saturday morning upon request. Otherwise there will be no regular delivery of the Cardinal at all.

The Prom Cardinal will be the first one following vacation, and there will not be another one for three or four days after that, until classes begin again.

SOCIETY NEWS

Final Exams Cause Slump in Social Events

On account of the approaching final examinations, no dances or parties have been sanctioned for this week end. Fraternities, sororities, and other organizations are planning functions for the next semester, but are primarily concerned with scheduling Prom activities.

Dean Nardin's Illness Continues

Dean F. Louise Nardin is at home by physician's orders, suffering from a severe cold. She will probably return to her office Monday. Dean Nardin's tea for all university women will not be held Friday afternoon.

Personals

Miss Angeline Bates, a freshman in the university last year, will arrive in Madison, February 8. She expects to enter the university for the second semester.

Miss Helen Shipley is planning to spend the week end in Chicago.

Misses Eleanor Bauman and Joy Shadbolt are confined to the infirmary for a short vacation under physician's orders.

Monque Edler '19, basketball coach at Northwestern university, was a guest at the Beta house on Monday. He came to Madison to see the Michigan team in action against the Badgers.

are going to put up a debate which will rank in all ways with the very splendid joint debate which the men have already put up this year.

TEAMS SELECTED FOR PYTHIA AND CASTALIA DEBATE

Definite plans are now under way for the joint debate to take place some time in March between the two girl's literary societies, Pythia and Castalia. The question is: "Resolved, That the Philippine Islands should be given an independence equal to that of Cuba." The affirmative will be supported by Castalia, and the negative by Pythia.

The teams have been chosen as follows: For Castalia, Gladys Haskins, captain; Mildred Throne, and Florence Koltes; for Pythia, Eleanor Shearer, captain; Ferne Busby and Carol Conlee.

The choosing of the teams was very difficult for both societies this year, as there was an abundance of very good material. About 20 girls tried out for the Pythian team, all of which exhibited unusual ability. Castalia also had difficulty in choosing from her very fine material. Both societies, however, feel that they are putting up their very best team, and that the competition is to be keen.

The interest in the joint girl's debate is to be very wide this year. Professor O'Neil is encouraging the women of the university to go out for these debates as he is looking for material for intercollegiate work among women. There is rumor of a debate to be arranged between the women of Iowa State university and Wisconsin women next year. Places upon general intercollegiate debating teams will also be open to capable women.

The young women feel that they

PROFESSOR GILLIN TO HEAD BEGINNING RED CROSS COURSE

A Red Cross course, under Prof. J. L. Gillin of the department of sociology, will be given next semester as a four credit course for seniors and graduates who are doing social service field work. The course will also be open as a two hour subject to other undergraduates.

The course is being given with the co-operation of the Madison Public Welfare association, acting under the direction of the Red Cross headquarters in Chicago. The student is fitted by it for a subordinate position in a large social service organization. To stimulate interest in Red Cross, five scholarships have been granted to women from different cities of Wisconsin, for the study of the various branches of work in connection with Red Cross service. Similar scholarships are offered in several western schools, among them the universities of Chicago, Nebraska, and Iowa.

SALE OF SPECTATOR TICKETS NOW ON

All those having reserved Prom tickets may obtain them from Birney Miller, 200 Langdon street, on Saturday, Feb. 5. No charge accounts will be opened, according to the committee.

VACCINATE AGAINST SMALLPOX—CLINIC

Prevalence of smallpox in the city, cases of which have in the last few days entered the university section, has brought the statement from the clinic that all students who have not been recently vaccinated successfully, or who have never been vaccinated should do so at once. The operation will be done at any time during clinic hours.

"While the situation is in no way alarming," said Dr. Robert Van Valzah last night, "it is in the interest of the general student health that steps be taken to prevent an epidemic. We are requesting and advising the students to be vaccinated, but should additional cases of the disease be found, more drastic methods will be employed."

Only mild cases have been reported, and these for the most part from the east side of the city, until recently, when one or two typical cases were disclosed. Adequate precautions will prevent any liability of an epidemic, the medical authorities state, since, on the whole, the health of students is much better than it has been in several years.

At The Theaters

AT THE GRAND

"Up in Mary's Attic," the comedy de luxe feature, the attraction at the Grand theater this week, is a thrilling and amusing story of high jinks in a girl's seminary with the mirth-provoking incident and the melodramatic thrills brought out by Eva Novak, Harry Gribbon, a captivating baby, and a bevy of beauties. Miss Novak is cast as an undergraduate who will inherit a snug fortune on the day of her graduation.

If the faculty learns that she is married to the athletic instructor (played by Harry Gribbon) and that the couple are blessed with a charming infant, both she and her husband will be expelled and the fortune will be lost. Around the efforts of the duo to keep their secret away from prying eyes and ears rests the value of this picture. "Up in Mary's Attic" is one of the best comedy features ever presented to the public, a picture you will never forget.

NEW BILL AT THE ORPHEUM

Robert Hyman & Virginia Mann in "5,000 a Year."

The Breen Family, "Bits of Everything."

Harry & Anna Seymour, Mirth and Melody.

Harrison & Dakin, "The Three of Us."

Orr & Hagar, "Little Miss Innocence."

Barry Tsuda, He Smiles as he Thrills.

Hinogram Pictures.

The above six acts of Orpheum Circuit vaudeville and Kinogram pictures will make up the new program which opens at the Orpheum tonight, for the balance of the week, including the three performances Sunday. The feature acts are Robert Hyman and Virginia Mann in the playlet "5,000 a Year," full of clever situations and sugar-coated dialogue, and The Breen Family, offering bits of vaudeville. Harry and Anna Seymour do a song, dance and mirth act, which is sure to meet with the approval of local patrons, and Charles Harrison, Sylvia Dakin, assisted by Billy Hogue, present "The Three of Us," a nifty musical absurdity. The musical comedy favorites, Charles Orr and Etta Hagar, will be seen the sketch "Little Miss Innocence." Harry Tsuda, the man who smiles as he thrills, will complete the bill.

AT THE STRAND

Her wedding was the most gorgeous that London society had ever seen. And she thought it was the beginning of the most wonderful happiness in the world. But that night her husband told her that she was his wife in name only, that he knew how heartless and mercenary she was, and never wanted anything to do with her. Somebody had tattled, somebody had repeated a careless jest of hers, and suspicion flamed in his jealous breast. From that bitter night they were enemies, though the world looked on and envied their happiness, just as it had looked on at their beautiful wedding and envied them. But she knew and she knew that it was all a sham. They had to go through a fiery furnace of wretchedness before they came out into the safe peace of complete understanding and calm trust.

"The Furnace," which is now being shown at the Grand theater, is a tence drama with an all-star cast, including Theodore Roberts, Agnes Ayres, and Milton Sills.

In addition a comedy cartoon will be shown.

AT THE FULLER

With a solid year's run at the Knickerbocker theater, New York, to its credit, "Listen Lester," John Cort's musical comedy success by Harry L. Cort, George E. Stoddard and Harold Orlob, dances merrily on its way toward Madison, where it will be shown piling its road full of joyous gaiety on appreciative audiences. Admirably suited for your consumption is the story, breezy and amusing with lyrics that are catchy and pleasing to the ear, while the music ripples joyously throughout, lilting and tuneful. There are girls in dainty gowns, girls in fetching costumes, girls of every kind and description.

Among the many popular song hits are "When the Shadows Fall," "Feather Your Nest," "Waiting for You," "Show Me a Little Something New," "I'd Love To," and "Sweet Stuff." The splendid cast is headed by Fred Heider, who had much to do with the success of "Listen Lester" during its long run on Broadway. Other well known musical comedy favorites are June Roberts, Delano Dell, Earl Higley, Frances X. Donegan, Rene Brown, Betty Kirkbride, Claire Grenville, Dorothy Roberts and the Four Entertainers, and the daintiest, dancing chorus ever seen on the stage. "Listen Lester" will be the offering at the Fuller theater for two nights, Friday and Saturday, January 28 and 29, with matinee Saturday.

La Follette School at Linwood Dedicated

E. J. Ohnstad has returned from Stevens Point where he spoke at the dedication of the new La Follette school in District 1, Town of Linwood, Portage county. A new brick schoolhouse has just been completed. A large name plate bearing La Follette's name faces the road.

DIRTY WORK

Thrills, Mystery, and Murky Politics Make Pi Nite Playlet Real Melodrama

"A Dirty Case," smacking with thrilling incidents and melodramatic scenes, is the title of the one-act play to be given by thirteen members of the Press club at the annual Pi Nite celebration, February 18. Special stunts will be given during the dances, the music for which will be furnished by a Thompson five-piece orchestra.

As the title suggests, the play promises to shock the delicate sensibilities of even the masculine newspaper "hounds." Although no scandal is involved in the quick-moving plot which deals with the activities of a newspaper, the Daily News, yet the mystery of a political conspiracy well justifies the murky name. It was a dirty case, although the hero rescues the heroine just in the nick of time.

Firing revolvers is not quite in the line of a city editor even if he has a fiery temper. In order that the play may proceed without any mis-fire, the city editor, acted by David Lacy, has been privately practicing, it is rumored, for the big climax. The plot is all piled up, the hero, heroine, and villain being mixed up in regular newspaper style. An admonition is given out that all journalism students who have weak hearts should not attend.

The celebration which was given last year for the first time has proven the "scoop" of them all. Original stunts, dances, and a gold guarantee that it's different than a mixer, have made the affair a big success. The number of tickets will be limited, according to Ralph O. Nafziger '21, publicity chairman. Journalism students will be given train—just a little bit of a train, you know. I'll wear gray slippers and stockings and carry a gray fan, I think. O—there's my cue—" and she was off.

Marjorie Boesch, Wisconsin's twenty-sixth Prom queen, is a very busy person indeed at present. Few people have had the experience of being a maid one night and queen of a social world the next, but Miss Boesch will tell you that her dual role requires not only dramatic ability but an infinite expenditure of time and energy. Besides this, as one of the committee of three women which is judging the men tryouts for the Varsity Movie, Miss Boesch gives part of every day to picking a hero who will thrill us later on when the movie is shown. She herself will probably be included in the cast, which is not yet announced.

"And all this when I'm crazy to go skating or iceboating every minute of these perfect days!" she bewailed.

Miss Boesch is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, of Twelfth Night dramatic society, and of W. A. A. This is her second year at Wisconsin, her freshman year having been spent at Knox college, Galesburg, Ill. Her home is in Burlington, Iowa, and recently the Chamber of Commerce of that city wrote to the Madison chamber, congratulating them on Wisconsin's having such a charming Prom Queen and adding "Burlington is as proud of George C. Boesch as Madison is of Miss Marjorie."

the first privilege of purchasing them, however, and those remaining will be place on open sale. The price will be 55 cents.

The thirteen students who will present the playlet are Misses Helen Smallshaw '23, Mildred Gerlach '22, Dorothy Crook '21, Rosemary Lyons '23, Marguerite Daly '22, and Messrs. David Lacy '21, G. Lowell Geiger '23, John Baker '21, William Bloecher '22, Wymand Smith, grad., Russell E. Frost '21, M. A. Balling '23, and Richard J. Loewenthal '21.

WONDERLAND

Scene of Prom Will be Even More Marvelous Than Fairyland

What will Pro. look like? Why, that's a fairy story.

And when Alice had gone through the enchanted rose garden (which fourteen dozen American beauty roses will make of the governor's reception rooms), she stepped out into a perfect wonderland of marble pillars and balconies covered with quantities of real southern smilax over which played the most bewildering and dazzling magic of constantly shifting colored light that Alice had ever seen.

"Why, it seems to be all colors at once and none of them stay put," she whispered excitedly to the white rabbit, who, as of course you will remember, was her "Prom man."

At first she thought that the wonderful colors came from the myriads of tiny colored lights buried in the smilax which decorated the encircling balcony rail and which looked, as she explained afterwards, "just like a Christmas tree must look from the inside."

Then she noticed the regular lights, which had turned all pale blue and pink and golden yellow and were diffusing a dainty pale glow about them. But they weren't moving, she assured herself. She had just about given it up and decided that, after all, it was only a dream and things didn't have causes in dreams, when the white rabbit said:

"Why don't you look up?"

Alice did, and what she saw made her hold her breath and open her eyes and her mouth very wide. There, suspended just above the balcony was the most wonderful thing she had ever seen in her life.

"It's a multigon made of mirrors revolving constantly with the ever-changing colors of four search lights thrown on it," explained the rabbit, rather crossly.

"What's a multigon?" asked Alice.

"That's a secret. And one shouldn't tell everything one knows," snapped the rabbit.
